Nodd—Hello, old chap, that's quite a bundle you have there.

Todd—Yes. Taking home a bunch of skyrockets for the kids. Let's go in the smoking car and have a smoke.

"Thanks, old fellow. I won't smoke, just now."—Life.

At the Stock Yards.

Visitor—I have always understood the only thing you couldn't use was the squeal from the hog?

Manager—It used to be so, but since the tariff agitation started, we have an unlimited demand for the squeal from the Infant Industries, so we preserve it in these phonographs.—Puck.

WHEN THE WATER GETS WARM.

Probably it was the Boy who first made you aware of the imminence of "warm weather." Boys seem some how to receive advance bulletins of such things, writes Ernest Russell, in Recreation.

It is as if they had wireless communication with old Dame Nature that is utterly beyond our duller faculties. At any rate, it wasn't very long ago that you came home, "late as usual," to find the family at the evening meal. After your perfunctory apologies had been duly delivered by the Boy who had modestly observed, "Say, Dad, when you were a boy, when did your dad let you go in swimming?"

You cast a single suspicious glance at the lad's hair to assure yourself that previous mandate remained unviolated, ascended the parental platform, and delivered the time-honored fiction, "Well, son, it was 'when the water gets warm' in my day. Father used to fix the date for me—about the tenth of June, if I remember correctly. It's never really warm before that, you know."

The boys eyes were on his plate as he rejoined, "It's different this year, dad. Tomorrow's the first of June 'n' all the fellers have been in. Why, Easton was in—all over—more'n a week ago, over to Carroll's pond. He said 'twas warm as toast. Can't I go tomorrow, dad, with the rest of the fellers?" Of course the memories of boyhood were too much for you, the barrier of authority was lowered, and another jubilant soul had entered the gates of a boy's paradise.

Perhaps it was the boy's declaration, or it may have been that other and more potent influences awakened your subconscious self to the opportunities about you, but, in any event, it was not long there after that you found it incumbent upon you to go down to the lake after working hours and pull but the old punt, with her on a bit here and there, and overhaul her modest fittings. It means different things to different people—this season when the water gets warm—but one thing it means to all of us, it means getting into touch with nature in her most attractive mood. It means "Vacation!"

TIME TO READ.

Time to read will never come to the housekeeper who has a microscopic eye for dirt. She should occasionally turn the blind side of her vision to the furniture, to dust on the chairs and tables, that she can keep in view what is going in in the world.

This sounds like heresy to the conscientious homemaker, who hates a horrible bound by sweeping and dusting, but sees no way out of it. What she needs is to distinguish between good things and bad.

There are women to whom a grain of dust on the inside round of a chair spells dirt, and a book out of place gives infinitely more concern than does mud.

No one will deny the beauty of cleanliness and the advantage of orderly, systematic housekeeping. But, there is such a thing as paying too much for that ideal.

The woman who is regardless at the price of a family's peace of of the housekeeper's best self is the worst sort of an investment. You, the woman, are of vastly more importance than your surroundings. If you feel yourself becoming a mere drudge, if your family is growing away from you mentally, if your nerves are weakening under a fetich of cleanliness, get time to read if you have to steal it or let the baby's face to unwashed occasionally. — Philadelphia Press.

Canoeing in the Winter.

Winter cruising as a pastime is becoming more and more in vogue on Puget Sound, according to Recreation. Each year the fleet of boats hauled up on the beach at the close of the regular season is getting diminished by recruits to the new sport. "Wet bottoms $65 days out of every year is the ordinary boast of the Puget Sound boat owner. You see, smuggled out in behind the Cascades on one side and the Olympics on the other, with the warmer waters of the Kuroshiwo current pouring into the funnel-like Straits of Juan de Fuca, there is practically no such thing as freezing. In Seattle alone the estimated number of canoes exceeds 1,500. Even on New Year's Day, when regattas are held, Madison Park compares well with Riverside, Mass., or Belle Isle, Mich., in summer.

Too Polite.

First Tramp—After all, it pays to be perlite, pardner.

Second Tramp—Not always. The other day I was actin' deaf and dumb when a man gave me my sixpence. I says "Thank you, sir," and he had me arrested.—Tit Bits.

Anecdote from Real Life.

"Forty years ago I started in life without a dollar."

"Say on."

"And now I have $400 in the bank and a job lot of furniture worth as much more."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Favorites.

"What are you going to put in there?" asked his wife.

"Peas, dear," replied the man with the trowel. "Say, if you're going into the house, bring out a tan with you. You know—the kind we had for dinner yesterday!"—Puck.

The Constitutionalist.

AN INDEPENDENT WEEKLY.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1909.

CHAUTAUQUA FOUNDERS

Plainfielders Now Great Educators are Criticized by Elbert Hubbard.

WHAT THEY ARE NOW DOING.

George Vincent, P. H. S. Graduate, Now Dean of America's Largest University—To Attend Reunions Here.

In the current number of a monthly magazine, Elbert Hubbard writes of the history of two former Plainfielders, Bishop John H. Vincent and his son, George E. Vincent.

The article is written in Hubbard's characteristic flippant style, contains a fair share of grammatical errors, and gives the impression that the writer was thinking more about how he told his tale, than what he told. It deals with the Chautauqua movement, which was founded by Bishop Vincent, who formerly lived on West Fifth street at the corner of Arlington avenue. The movement, which in the ambition of Bishop Vincent was to be world wide, has been practically realized, but in its growth it has outgrown the expectations or financial generalship of its founder, who as a result of this, has been made a means of making numerous unscrupulous men enormously rich.

George E. Vincent, his son, who for some time was the head of the movement, and is the theoretical head now, was graduated from the city high school. He is now dean of the University of Chicago, whose enrollment is 6,000, making it rank first with Columbia in size in the universities of this country.

Bishop Vincent is characterized by Hubbard as a man who could never get over the fact that he was not a college bred man, and for this reason, began a series of local lectures for himself and others' benefit. This idea became popular and spread rapidly. An assembly was started at Chautauqua by Bishop Vincent who was assisted in this work by his son, President John H. Finley, of the College of the City of New York, and the late Ernest Lambert, of this city.

Cultured people gathered from all over the world and the scope of the assembly lectures grew. Now the movement is carried on in part by mail through the medium of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle.

Diplomas are granted for the completion of work embracing certain required readings with outline reports, and post graduate courses are also given. Among the celebrated men who have taken degrees there is Thomas Alva Edison, the inventor, and Hubbard, the writer of the article, received his education at Chautauqua.

George Vincent is now the theoretical head of the Chautauqua movement, but his interests are almost entirely absorbed by his work at the University of Chicago. Writing to a Daily Press reporter recently, Dr. Vincent said that he is planning to attend some of the annual reunions of the Plainfield High School, on Washington's birthday.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

"Paid in Full" at the Astor Theatre in New York last Monday night repeated the brilliant success into which it leaped on that same stage, when two seasons ago the Eugene Walter play had its first production. The triumph "Paid in Full" won at the outset was the dramatic sensation of the time, and the play has gained in popularity to the present, as was demonstrated by the enthusiastic audience that packed the Astor at the reopening of the special two weeks' engagement Monday night. This return of "Paid in Full," to the birthplace of its exceptional career is a notable event, which has awakened liveliest public interest. The Wagenhals & Kemper Company has given especial attention to the production, and has assembled the greatest cast that has ever been seen in this, the most celebrated play of the time. Fritz Williams as Joe Brooks, gave an ideal portrayal of this noted character, and it will stand as his most effective work and add distinctly to the fame of this talented actor. Katherine Florence as Emma Brooks was absolutely true in character. Never has this gifted actress scored so effectively as in "Paid in Full." The other parts were in the hands of players who and no doubt will, remain with them. William Riley Hatch was Capt. Williams, Ben F. Wilson was Jimsey Smith, Florence Robinson was Mrs. Harris, Pauline Darling was Beth Harris, and George Belden was Sato. The special engagement is for only a fortnight, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Everybody should see this great play with this great cast.

NEW JERSEY'S DAY AT THE EXPOSITION

New Jersey Day was observed Thursday at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition. Geo. V. Muchmore, of Summit, and Isaac A. Hall, of Paterson, N. J., the fair commissioners from New Jersey, were the principal guests of the exposition officials. Mr. Hall made the principal address at the New Jersey exercises. He congratulated the people of the Northwest for their energy and ambitions as personified in the great exposition and declared that New Jersey was proud of the Northwest's great advance. He added:

"Expositions of the character spread the gospel of business, and when President Taft touched the golden key that formally set in motion the machinery of this latest undertaking, he thus incidentally directed the attention of the people of the civilized world to a movement that to my mind means the still further spreading of Western territory, and the lesson to be learned will mean the building of many new industrial enterprises in this healthful country, where the opportunity is ripe and the conditions are congenial.

"New Jersey, the banner State, which I have the honor to represent, does not cover in miles the area of some of the Western States, but to me there is no State that surpasses it. I was born in the northern part of it, and when I recall the long list of men of my State who have been prominent on the field of battle, or in the halls of Legislature, I can truthfully say that any State or any nation might well feel proud to have the official sanction and approval of that that State which stands preeminent among the industrial States of the Union. Our State covers an area of 7,815 miles, and we have within our borders more than two and a half millions of people. New Jersey is noted everywhere for its natural beauty. We have fifteen hundred miles of macadamized roads, most of them built by State aid, for which about $3,000,000 is appropriated yearly, and $200,000 more is added fro mautomobile revenues for the necessary repairs, so that no State has built roads to the square mile than any other State in the Union.

"Recent progressive events will make us still a closer ally to the bustling city of New York, with the tunnels now completed under the Hudson River, and the bridge to be constructed between the two states, New Jersey will be the logical twin to the great Empire State. These massive improvements will go further toward advancing the values of New Jersey property and add to our general importance in the business world.

"As I said before, New Jersey looms large in importance in the industrial world, being the birthplace of many inventions and has been especially active in silk, cotton and machinery. The wizard Edison, whose master mind and hand is in evidence here at about this exposition, is a native of my State, and day in and day out he sits in his laboratory at Orange, from where he has already wired the world with his wonders, and is still engaged with new experiments and further perfecting those inventions that have revolutionized the power of the period.

"Our State is represented here today with many important industrial exhibits, not notably those of the great Roebling works of Trenton, which plant has a world-wide reputation, the great Brooklyn bridge, which stretches across the East River, connecting New York and Brooklyn, and regarded as one of the engineering feats of the day, being constructed by this firm. The Westinghouse company, with its vast enterprises, which reach to almost all quarters of the world, is also represented here today, and there are other industries scattered over the grounds that help to make New Jersey's name famous in industrial history. I can safely say New Jersey has been represented in every field of importance almost since its inception.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES PLANNED FOR BERKELEY LYCEUM.

The Berkeley Realty Company, composed of a large number of the voters of the township of New Providence, realizing the necessity for a suitable hall to entertain the children and the parents of the township, erected the Berkeley Lyceum. It was opened formally in May, 1908.

At a meeting of ten stockholders of the company, held last Monday in the Lyceum, a large attendance voted to enlarge the building, the improvements to cost $1,500, the increasing popularity of entertainments have attracted so many people that an additional floor space of about one thousand square feet is to be added, with women's parlor, smoking room, gymnasium, library, shower bath, heater and electric lights.

The officers of the company are William Jeffery, president; Frank C. Shaffer, treasurer; Robert G. Rogers, secretary.

Hits The Mark.

Two well-known Lebanon wags were ambling homeward at an early hour, after being up nearly all night.

"Don't your wife miss you on these occasions," asked one.

"Not often," replied the other; "she throws pretty straight."—Kansas City Journal.

DRYEST JULY IN 21 YEARS

Only 1.39 Inches of Rain Fell Last Month, Most of it July 23.

LAST FRIDAY HOTTEST DAY.

Mercury Reached 96 Degrees Then —A Record for the Month and the Summer.

According to the records of Weather Observer John Neagle, the rainfall during the entire month of July was but 1.39 inches, marking the month as the dryest July in 21 years. In the summer of 1883, there was but .75 inches of rain during the month, and in 1894, the official precipitation measurement was but 1.41 inches, the nearest approach to the record for a dry July since. Last month, there was .02 of an inch less rain than the summer of fifteen years ago. The normal precipitation for July is 6.14 inches.

There were but seven rainy days last month, but thunder storms are recorded for July 15, 16, 18, 27 and 30. Fifteen days were clear, fourteen partly cloudy, and two cloudy. The rain of July 23 was 1.09 inches in the twenty-four hours—tenthirteenths of the rainfall for the month. Up to July 15, but .02 of an inch of rain is recorded.

The long drought shows in the records of the local weather station, for the precipitation for the month is 4.75 inches below the normal for the month of July, and 3.21 inches below the normal for the year. The precipitation record for July for the past twenty-three years show that the wettest Julys were in:1897, when the rainfall was 13.92 inches, and in 1889, when the official measure was 15.52 inches. The rainfall record for the past twenty-three years follows:

1887, 9.31 inches; 1888, 1.25 inches; 1889, 15.52 inches; 1890, 6.49 inches; 1891, 3.38 inches; 1892, 3.87 inches; 1893, 4.62 inches; 1894, 1.41 inches; 1895, 5.64 inches; 1896, 7.02 inches; 1897, 13.92 inches; 1898, 5.42 inches; 1899, 6.65 inches; 1900, 5.79 inches; 1901, 5.96 inches; 1902, 4.71 inches; 1903, 3.61 inches; 1904, 8.06 inches; 1905, 8.19 inches; 1906, 5.99 inches; 1907, 2.26 inches; 1908, 5 inches; and 1909, 1.39 inches.

July was hot, too. Last Friday, the mercury reached the top notch for the month, recording a maximum temperature of 96 degrees. The coolest day was the first day of the Charter Day celebration, July 5, when the thermometer at one time sank to 45 degrees. The greatest range of temperature in a single day was 40 degrees. For the month, the mean temperature was 74.5 degrees; mean maximum, 84.9 degrees; mean minimum, 58.4 degrees. The monthly range was 51 degrees, the highest daily range, 40 degrees. The mean daily range was 26.5 degrees.

FREDERICK S. GREEN DIES IN MARYLAND

Frederick S. Green, for many years a resident of this city, where he had a host of friends, died Saturday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law, Meredith Dryden at St. Michael's Md., where he had been living for the past eight weeks, at which time he was stricken with paralysis. Prior to that he was living in Brooklyn, to which place he removed from Plainfield about eight years ago.

During Mrs. Green's long residence here she was greatly interested in local affairs. He was a prominent member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, and Plainfield Council, No. 60, Loyal Association. At one time he was one of the officers of the Crescent Athletic Association and was much interested in the old Crescent baseball team.

Mr. Green was a coffee and sugar broker, being of the firm of Volney Green & Son, of 112 Front street, New York, and was very successful. His son, Volney Green, who was also well-known here, was drowned a number of years ago in Wisconsin. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Meredith Dryden. Just prior to his stricken with paralysis, Mr. Green paid a short visit to Plainfield friends.

PLAN SEVERAL STORES FOR BUSINESS SECTION.

According to well authenticated rumors twelve one-story stores are to be built on Watchung avenue and two of the same dimensions on East Front street this fall. This is on the site of the Durlach property across the street from the Y. M. C. A. building.

Surveying for the work has been commenced and is well under way by Harry C. Van Emburgh. When asked by a Daily Press representative as to whether the stores would be built, he refused to either confirm or deny the report. The building of the stores will extend the business section of the town further eastward.

FIFTH UNION SERVICE

Another Large Congregation Hears Informal Story of Heaven.

TO BE UNITED AFTER DEATH.

Dr. Roberts Says Life is Certain Beyond the Tomb—Some Will Never Understand It.

The congregation made up of the First Presbyterian, First M. E. and First Baptist churches, which united with the Trinity Reformed Sunday equaled in size any that has been drawn together in the series, and they were amply repaid. Rev. W. Dayton Roberts, of Temple Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, preached an admirable sermon which he termed an 'informal story of the things which await the Christian in Heaven."

"The transition from the land of Hope to the land of Fruition," he said, "is not alone for the people who knew and believed in Jesus Christ 1900 years ago, but for the people of Plainfield, here tonight. I wonder if eternity with all its crowning joys and privileges is growing nearer and nearer to you in reality? Do we realize that to look back is paganish and to look forward Christian? The practical philosophy of the world is, 'here's the past, never mind the future, live only in the present,' but we must compare and realize both past and future in order that we may enjoy the present.

"Thoreau, when dying was asked what he thought of the next world replied, 'one world at a time'—the word of a brutish nature. It shows that the strong sceptical thought of today ignores the future and covers it with a veil of unreality.

"Should we be deprived of a right to hope that heaven holds our dearest possessions? I hope not. I would like to have a knowledge of the country to which I am going. Are we to be refused this information? I say no, and again no. I would give a great deal if I could, with the touch of a magic wand, bring everybody here into the world to be, for just a glimpse of its glory.

"The heroic self preservation of those whose hope has been highest, the utter forgetfulness of the unselfish mind, the giving of one's life for a brother, the lifting up of the fallen, the comforting of the sorrowful—these are the things in the immeasurable reward of heaven to heroes.

"What is it that awaits us? First, there is rest. Rest from toil, from sorrow and trouble. Being brought by the rapture of God. To bask in the glory of His smile to be with Jesus—that is rest.

"Do we expect to be united with those who have preceeded us through the tunnel, to come out again into the blessed sunshine and beauty of His presence? Yes, and that is the greatest thing I can tell some of you tonight, yet there are some who, if I should tell them would not understand my meaning. I have my doubts whether the reunited relationship will be satisfying to all, not do know whether it will be as it is here, but I know it will be most desirable, and we'll all be there.

"The most desirable of all, however, will be the presence of God. That will be the very crown and climax of heaven. When I come to die I want to think it is the Lord I am going to see, and you must think of death as going to Him. To see Him is to be like Him, forevermore. Let us ask God to give us the faith that proves the thing hoped for and reevals to us the things unseen."

In the absence of the choir, Horace Martin was precentor and the congregational singing was hearty. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, who was the only other minister at the service, read the scripture and offered prayer.

The next union service will be held next Sunday at the First Presbyterian church and the sermon will be preached by Rev. E. P. Johnson, D. D., of New Brunswick.

Playing Fine Golf.

T. W. T. Maxwell, of this city, who has been sojourning at Saranac Inn, Adirondacks, is now at Pine Grove House, Spofford Lake, New Hampshire. Since being away he has upheld the reputation of Plainfield on the golf links. Last Thursday he won a kodak as first prize in a handicap tournament against bogey and on Friday he won a kickers' handicap and tied for first place the same day in an 18 hole handicap match. Friday night he and Mrs. Maxwell received first honors at a bridge party.

The Proper Pose.

"I don't keer for the dress suit," declared the statesman.

"Afraid your constituents wouldn't like it?"

"No, it ain't that. But dress suits suits ain't got no buzzums to thrust your right hand inter."—Kansas City Journal.

You Know it.

"To first is human," says a Harvard professor. "To embrace divine," adds the gentleman who has just found out that she is willing to go that far.—Chicago Record-Herald.

CZAR'S GIFT TO Y.M.C.A.

Eric Moraller's Association at St. Peterburg Receives Donation.

YOUNG PLAINFIELDER'S WORK.

Extraordinary Success Has Crowned Efforts of Moraller While In Russia.

The Czar of Russia has just made a gift of $2,000 to the St. Petersburg Y. M. C. A., which has been materially built up through the efforts of Eric Moraller, son of Louis Moraller, of East Fifth street. The gift from the Czar may be interpreted as a special compliment to the work of the energetic young Plainfielder, who received his first training for the field and who was induced to take up the work as a career, at the local Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Moraller was persuaded to go to the Y. M. C. A. in St. Petersburg by the Socialist-Millionaire Stokes, who after careful examination of Mr. Moraller's fitness by trusted agents, sent him there. The foreign field, especially in Russia, is extremely difficult, and one that requires men of the highest calibre, of courage and of perseverance. Mr. Moraller is a young man of forceful and attractive personality and is well educated.

He went to Russia in 1906 and his labors there have been crowned with great success. He has introduced many new ideas in the association, and his tact and ability to deal with men has materially increased the efficiency of the association. He also made the trip from Greencastle, Indiana association was in such a healthy state recently, that the attention of the Czar was called to it. He was so well pleased tha he decided to encourage the work there of the Americans in the field by making the unusual gift. Others followed his stimulating example. Word to this effect has been received by Secretary Herbert Parker, of the local Y. M. C. A.

Eric Moraller was educated in the public schools here and became identified with the Y. M. C. A. work in this city. He was a member of the leaders' corps and played forward on the basket ball team when it boasted of one of the fastest teams in its history.

He worked his way through DePauw University by repairing clocks. Here, too, he became identified with Y. M. C. A. work and was made physical director of the College gymnasium in his junior and senior years ,and also general athletic director. His courage in fighting against the taint of commercialism in college athletics at DePaw won for him many friends, and the loyal support of his college mates years afterwards.

About a year ago he was married in St. Petersburg to a young woman whom he met while at college. She made the trip from Greencastle, Indiana, to St. Petersburg, practically alone.

During his work at St. Petersburg Mr. Moraller has passed through some critical periods in Russian history and has witnessed exciting times in the capital of the vast Russian empire. He likes the work there and is much encouraged with the success of the Y. M. C. A. in the foreign field. He is in St. Petersburg under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. workers. Franklin Gaylord, who is an American, who was graduated from college with high classical honors.

MISS LAURA ALBRIGHT THE BRIDE OF W. FLOYD DODGE.

The Misses Iona Wood and Gertrude Berry, of this city, acted as bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Laura Albright, of Leesport, Pa., to W. Floyd Dodge, of Callicoon, N. Y., at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. G. Merkel, of George street, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Anna Hanhan, of Hosensack, was the maid of honor and Austin Fish was the best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Colliden, of Rockland, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Dodge will live at Callicoon upon the completion of their honeymoon, which they are now spending at Ocean Grove.

Enjoying Life on Houseboat.

Among the many ways Plainfielders have of enjoying their vacations, none, perhaps, exceed the pleasure of living on a houseboat. "The Stroller," a houseboat now at Seabright and owned by T. S. Wheeler and J. Newton Porter, of this city, is one of delightful and comfortable craft of the kind in these waters. The Stroller is sixty feet long with a sixteen-foot beam and contains four large staterooms, with hot and cold water. The boat has a bathroom which is modern in every respect and a large smoking-room on the upper deck. A dining-room on the lower deck is capable of accommodating fourteen people. This boat made the trip from Daytona, Fla., to the Brooklyn Navy Yard in nineteen days by a twenty-five-horsepower gasoline engine, which drives her along at the rate of five miles an hour. Before departing for the South Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Porter will take a trip as far as Bar Harbor, Me.

THE MYSTERY ABOUT BAYONNE'S FAMOUS HEN

The famous hen which several weeks ago laid an egg on the desk of Recorder Hugh Mara, in the Police Court, at Bayonne, was again in the court room Friday in the city, and was submitted in evidence by Mrs. Dora Brook. The hen was dead, and, according to Mrs. Brook, had been killed by her neighbor, Mrs. Terrelli.

Owing to illness, Mrs. Brook was unable to appear, but she was represented by her husband and her daughter. The latter testified that she had seen Mrs. Terrelli with the hen in one hand and a knife in the other. Later, she said, the chicken was killed and was hidden in a washtub by Mrs. Terrelli. The latter denied having killed the hen and said she knew nothing of its death.

"It's up to you," said Recorder Mara, "to take it out of the court-room."

Mrs. Terrelli rebelled and before the court officers had a chance to realize what was happening fled from the room. She was captured, and the recorder ordered her locked up until today, when the case will be heard.

Both Mrs. Terrelli and Mrs. Brook claim ownership of the hen and as it was killed in the home, then by the other, its legs were painted various colors.

SEASHORE CARNIVAL DATE CHANGE MADE

The date set for the Deal lake fete in connection with the annual carnival at Asbury Park, has been changed from Tuesday, August 31, to Thursday, August 26, and the coronation, which was scheduled to take place upon the latter date, will now be held Tuesday, August 31. With the extra time afforded by the change in the Deal lake event, more chance will be given the carnival committee for the coronation plans. Following is a display arranged for the coming of Queen Titania that night, when she deserts in pantomime her woodland haunts and enters the universe of mortals to be acclaimed "Queen of the Carnival."

Following is a complete list of the carnival dates, as issued today by the committee:

The coming Titania, the queen of the fairies, Deal lake, Thursday, August 26.

Water sports, children's greeting, musical festival (800 voices), amphitheatre, Saturday afternoon and evening, August 28.

The coronation of Titania as "Queen of the Carnival," amphitheatre, Tuesday, August 31.

The aquatic fete with Puck, the merrymaker, amphitheatre, Wednesday, September 1.

Baby parade, reviewed by the queen and 100 of her court, Thursday afternoon, September 2.

The carnival program will be issued earlier than usual and will be planned on new lines. In the past, only the baby parade has been pictured. Photographs of the other events are difficult to get. Considerable effort, however, has been put forth to fittingly illustrate, has well as describe, each event oof the carnival. In issuing the program early, it is the resire of the committee to plan for the greatest possible distribution to order that both Asbury Park and the carnival may profit more largely.

The carnival office on the beach has been open for several days. Much interested is being manifested and already the entries have been received, nine of which reached there Saturday. Thirty-one cups have been placed in the window on the beach. About thirty more have been ordered and are being engraved, so that by Deliverly in a day or two. The grand prize in the baby parade this year, a cup, will be donated by a food company.

UP AROUND CALIFON THERE'S MONEY IN COWS.

"Nails and other foreign substances are often found in cows' stomachs when slaughtered, but yesterday was the first time I have found money therein," said Samuel Neigh, a local butcher, after slaughtering a cow purchased at the L. D. Sutton dairy.

A penny as bright as if just from the mint was found in the stomach. Mr. Sutton purchased the cow in New York-State. "Cows not only grow into money but money grows into cows at the Sutton dairy," said the local cut-up when told of the incident.

Dunellen Co. Organizes.

The directors of "The Dunellen Company" met July 30, 1909, at their office in the First National Bank building and organized with the election of the following officers for the year: President, Abner S. Coriell; vice-president, Lewis T. Churchill; Rulif J. Fisher; secretary, Harry R. Cooke; assistant secretary, William T. Piddington, Jr.; treasurer, Robert F. Bogardus, Jr.; assistant treasurer, William H. Nischwitz. The Dunellen Company is incorporated as a holding and organizing company under the las of the State of New Jersey, with the stock largely subscribed locally.

SOUGHT ETERNAL SLEEP

Edward E. White, of This City, Ends His Life in Asbury Park.

WAS VICTIM OF INSOMNIA.

Takes Lone Automobile Ride to Nearby Woods and Shoots Himself and Left Note to Wife.

Edward E. White, for many years a resident of Plainfield, committed suicide near the Interlaken Farm at Asbury Park Sunday afternoon after taking a lone drive in his automobile. He left two letters, one in the car he had been driving, and another, directed to his wife, which was found in the pocket of his coat. The note left on the tool box of the machine said "Please notify R. H. Schley, care Lakelyn Hotel. You will find the body lying in the woods of the left." The cause of Mr. White's self destruction is attributed to insomnia from which he had suffered for several years.

Mr. White was forty-seven years of age and had been living a life of leisure for several years past. He had a winter home at Ormonde Beach, Florida, where he was intensely interested in automobile racing. He wore a medal presented to him by Senator Morgan in recognition of valor he had shown in Cuba.

Daytona, last winter, when he assisted Senator Morgan in conducting automobile races.

About twenty years ago Mr. White established the first department store conducted in Plainfield. It was known as the "White Store" and is conducted under that name now by A. E. Force & Co. Mr. White conceived the idea of a department store after he had successfully conducted a similar store on East Front street. He bought out several small stores and opened a large one and ran into immediate success.

After amassing a fortune in this business he sold out to Crosby and Hill, who now occupy the Hill and Schupp, the latter selling out to the present proprietors.

The letter found in his pocket was addressed to his wife and was of a personal nature and not made public at this time. It is said that Mr. White had consulted many physicians recently looking for relief from his peculiar malady, but his search for health had failed to bring it.

Mr. White had been staying at the Lynchurst hotel at Asbury Park with his wife for the past three weeks. His sister and brother-in-law, R. H. Schley, of Maplewood, N. J., were staying at a nearby hotel. Besides the sister and widow he leaves a son, Harold, employed by Hamilton Gross, of Elizabeth, brother of Senator John Kean.

60-DAY REPRIEVE GRANTED THE BOY MURDERER

By using the long-distance phone, from the summer capital at Sea Girt to the State prison at Trenton, Governor Fort Sunday saved Walter Zeller, 19 years old, who murdered his aged grandfather at Vineland last October, at least temporarily from the death chair, granting him a sixty-day reprieve.

The boy was scheduled to die in a few hours. So near was the hour set for the execution that the Executive did not think it advisable to depend on the mail, or even a special messenger, and consequently gave his orders to the prison officials personally on the telephone.

All arrangements had been completed for the electrocution. Even young Zeller had given up hope and had begun his final prayers when the news of the reprieve was given him. The shock was so great that he fainted.

The executive was emphatic in his instructions to hold up the electrocution until the arrival of the formal documents allowing a reprieve of sixty days.

The executive did not give any explanation of his action. He sat with the Court of Pardons at Sea Girt last week, when it was decided the boy must die.

It is believed that the Governor gave the lad a new lease of life because of his mother's pleadings, and of his years. It is possible that his youth may eventually save his life.

Zeller has been in the death house since last January. Two youthful companions, who were implicated in the murder with him, were given long prison terms.

Julian Linke an Orator.

Julian Linke, he is touring the United States, as a member of the New York American's party of school boys and teachers, was at the summit of Pike's Peak one day last week and made a speech to his fellow travelers. While in Denver the youths called for the purchase of Indian blankets and other souvenirs of their trip. They are now on the way to the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle, by steamer from San Francisco. Young Linke writes that everyone in the party is well and they are learning a lot about their country that they could never gather from the reading of books.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST, 9, 1906 NO. 36.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

PLAINFIELD'S TAXABLE VALUATION $20,940,615

Elizabeth Hides Its Figures at Meeting of County Board of Assessors.

APPROXIMATE FIGURES

Complete Returns To Be Received At Session On Tuesday—To Be Compiled by September 11.

Many of the assessors throughout Union county complied with the new tax law and attended the meeting held in the Court House, Elizabeth, yesterday, presenting their assessment lists and duplicates to the County Board of Taxation. Some of the assessors were unable to do so, notably those of Elizabeth, who are behind in their work. There was an impression that the Elizabeth assessors held up their list for the purpose of first ascertaining what report Plainfield would make. The local assessors got wise and although they left their books with the county board, as required, they did not certify them, intending to wait until next Tuesday, to which time an adjournment was taken.

On the second Tuesday in August the county collector is compelled by law to lay county's apportionment of State school tax before the county board of taxation, also amount to be raised for county by taxation, and on the third Tuesday in August, the governing body of the taxing district is to certify amount to be raised by taxation to the county board of taxation.

The assessors from most of the townships, however, were able to hand in approximate figures, which the given below as taken by Clerk Thomas Hand:

Rahway—1905, $3,441,320; 1906, $4,049,550; increase, $607,730; Roselle Park—1905, $931,000; 1906, $1,679,658; increase, $748,658; Roselle Borough—1905, $1,270,000; 1906, $2,056,000; increase $816,000; New Providence Borough—1905, $220,000; 1906, $465,000; increase, $245,000; Plainfield—1905, $10,251,064; 1906, $20,940,615; increase, $10,689,551; Fanwood Township—1905, $862,527; 1906, $1,113,537; increase, $250,000; Fanwood Borough—1905, $1,000,000; 1906, $1264,500; increase, $7,869; Linden township—1905, $1,666,700; 1906, $3,197,755; increase, $1,531,055; Linden Borough—1905, $246,200; 1906, $404,825; increase, $158,625; Mountainside 1905, $141,650; 1906, $264,120; increase, $123,000; New Providence Borough—1905, $152,000; 1906 $249,000; increase, $97,000; Clark Township—1905, ...; 1906, ...; increase, $15,000; Cranford—1905, $1,781,792; 1906, $3,839,000; increase, $2,057,208; Springfield Township—1905, $402,200; 1906, $846,666; increase, $444,466; Summit—1905, $3,603,000; 1906, $8,700,000; increase, $5,092,000; Westfield—1905, $2,922,000; 1906, $4,300,000; increase, $1,263,000; Union—1905, $1,937,762; 1906, $3,000,000; increase, $1,072,218.

The Elizabeth assessors seem to be in trouble for their work is very incomplete at present, the time it should be ready for presentation to the county board of taxation. The board had not been in session long when the assessors began to fire a lot of questions at the heads of the tax officials.

While the Elizabeth assessors were behind in their work they were ready with all sorts of excuses for the delay. When all of the assessors had been heard from Caleb C. Pollard, chairman of the board, announced that all books would have to be ready for revision by next Tuesday. Instantly, the assessors, who have failed in their duty, were asking how they were expected to be able to do it. If the law is carried out they must have a completed book ready to leave in the hands of the board and another for their own use. None of them have as yet begun any work on the second book. "It's an utter impossibility," declared one assessor. "Why, there is three weeks' work to be done on my books yet." However, the assessors were informed that the law required them to have their books ready at the specified time, so that the board can complete its work by September 11.

One of the Plainfield assessors complained that he and his colleagues had no real idea as to how they were to act in the case of banks and trust companies who changed all their valuable funds into untaxable securities and then came to the assessors ready to swear off everything they had that was taxable, leaving him about $19,000 of a valuable taxable.

Chairman Pollard fell back on the law and informed the assessors that the Supreme Court was the safest to follow, and the board could not venture to give any further instructions along certain lines. From present indications the whole tax question as far as the assessors are concerned and the completion of their books is in a sorry mess and many left the meeting under the impression that there would be some lively times before they got through. It is held by the board that it can adjourn from day to day after next Tuesday until all of the books are completed and turned in, but the fact that they cannot begin their work until that time is a source of much concern for them.

One of the local assessors in speaking of yesterday's meeting said that so far as the Plainfield board is concerned it proposes to assess at the true value and make its returns accordingly, no matter what Elizabeth or any other city or town in the county does, but if it is learned that there are assessors who are not assessing at true value the matter will be reported to the county board of taxation and in case that body fails to do its duty it will be taken up with the State Board of Taxation.

AUDITORIUM TO BE BUILT FOR ST. STEPHEN'S PARISH.

Permits Granted For Erection of Addition to Seat 300—Building to Be Used For Parish Work.

The newly acquired parish house of St. Stephen's church, at Woodlawn and South avenues, is to be remodelled and improved and the permits have been granted for the work. The principal change to be made is an extension which is to be added to the east side of the building, along Woodland avenue. This extension is to measure 54 by 26 feet and is to be used as a parish auditorium. The plans were prepared by Architect Jacob Wind, of Elizabeth, and the mason work contract has been awarded to J. Stewart. F. H. Bowe is the carpenter.

The extension is to be one room on the main floor, and will have an entrance from the main building as well as from the street. It is to have a large stage and small rooms on either side of it; the hall proper will seat between three and four hundred people. Over part of the hall is to be a second story, which is to contain additional rooms to Rev. Arthur S. Peck's apartments, which are on the second floor. A balcony is to be constructed at the side of the house in connection with these apartments. The building is now being painted, John Heasey being the contractor.

The work is to be pushed forward as rapidly as possible and the extension will be ready for use by early fall. The main floor of the parish house, which was recently purchased, will contain a reading room, boys' club room, guild room, men's room, and the press room of the St. Stephen's Messenger, the parish paper. It is possible that the Sunday-school will hold its sessions in the auditorium.

GRADING SCHOOL GROUNDS.

Board of Education Will Do Work Itself, Not By Contract.

The Board of Education met in formal session last night only to pass bills, but a long consultation with Engineer F. J. Hubbard regarding the grading and gardening of the grounds preceded the meeting. That was practically the business of the session, although it was not touched on in the actual meeting. Messrs. Probasco, Lavell, Hale and Cave were present, the latter acting as secretary in Mr. Woodhull's place.

The work of beautifying the grounds is being done by the Board itself, and not by contract. Mr. Hubbard has been placed in charge of the work, and will oversee it all through.

E. G. Kraft Signed.

Edmund G. Kraft, of Raritan, has been signed by Barney T. Conkling, manager of the West Ends, Somerville, to twirl for the remainder of the season. Nafis, who has pitched a good game all the year for the nine, has been released, for no other reason than that it was the best to give "home" talent a chance. Kraft has been pitching a great game for various semi-professional nines and the one game he did pitch for the West Ends resulted in a victory over the Washington, Warren county, nine by a score of 9 to 0. The Roselles will be the opponents next Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Moldenke a Candidate?

Dr. Moldenke, of Washington Valley, builder of the locally famous Moldenke Castle, is said to be the Colbyites' choice for Assembly candidate in Somerset county. Dr. Moldenke is one of the best known iron experts in the country. He has dabbled in politics in the past few years.

NEW TAX LAW CALENDAR

Routine Schedule of Various Taxation Bodies Brought Up To Date.

RETURNS ON SEPT. 18

Taxes Delinquent On December 20—Rules Affecting Cities and Townships.

There are so many important changes in the laws affecting taxation that facts concerning them are of especial interest to Plainfield people just now. On the first Tuesday in August there is the annual meeting of the county boards of taxation and the assessors attend with their assessment lists and duplicates. Board of Freeholders shall determine amount to be raised by taxation for the county.

On the second Tuesday in August the county collector must lay county's apportionment of State school tax before county board of taxation, also amount to be raised for county by taxation, and on the third Tuesday in August, the governing body of taxing district is to certify the amount to be raised by taxation to the county board of taxation.

Tax collectors must give notice on October 1, by advertisements posted in at least four of the most public places in the taxing district, of the days and places where he will receive payment of taxes, and that all delinquents, on December 20, will be proceeded against. On this same date the amount of ratables and local tax rate must be certified by local authorities to the State Board of Assessors. On the first Tuesday in October the assessors' duplicate must be certified by county board of taxation, to be delivered to collectors.

On the third Tuesday in October the amount of franchise taxes on public service corporations is certified to local assessors by the State Board of Assessors for assessment and collection. Borough collectors must make and forward annual statement of receipts and disbursements and list of delinquent taxpayers and file with borough clerk within at least twelve days after the annual borough election. On the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November occurs the annual elections when a vote on tax levies is held.

Tax collectors are required to collect taxes only on such days in each week of December as the township committee may by resolution direct. December 20 is the last day for appeals to the county board of taxation, and taxes becoming delinquent after this date it is the duty of the collector or deputy to enforce payment of all taxes remaining unpaid, by distress and sale of any of the goods and chattels of the delinquents. Warrant for sale of real estate does not issue until the following July. Unpaid taxes on real estate become a first and paramount lien after this date. Tax collectors or receivers must pay county tax to county collector out of first moneys received on or before this date.

Life assurance companies must file annual statement of property and debts and liabilities as they exist on December 20 with assessors of taxing district where principal office is located.

THIEF IGNORED SILVER.

Amateurish Robbery at Hugh McMurray's House on Seventh St.

Hugh McMurray's house on West Seventh street was entered by a sneak thief yesterday and robbed of some plated forks, knives and spoons. From the way in which the job was done, the police believe a boy worked it.

Entrance was gained through a cellar window. Although there was considerable sterling silver and cut glass in the house, the thief paid no attention to it. A chisel stolen from the unfinished house of Councilman Randolph across the street was found near the cellar window. A mushy, three-volume love story was found beside the chisel.

The McMurrays have been away from town for a week. The robbery was discovered by Edward Kelly, the gardener, when he came around to cut the grass.

Freight Jumpers Arrested.

Robert Venus, 17 years old; Henry Nurge, 16 and Milford Battleson, 17, all of Bayonne, were arrested last night by Patrolman James McKeon for riding on a coal train. Mayor Buckle suspended sentence in the Police Court this morning, and chased them from town.

Soup's Band at Asbury.

When you're down at the shore with the Hope chapel excursion Saturday don't fail to hear Soups's band, which will be at Asbury Park for that day. The excursionists will be at the shore until 7:30 in the evening.

—Choice ripe watermelons, 25 cents each, at Scheuer & Co.

RULES FOR SCAVENGERS

Board of Health Orders Collectors to Use Metal Tight Wagons and Cans.

BETTER RESTRICTIONS

No Garbage To Be Gathered In Business Section After 9 O'clock in the Morning—To Be Enforced.

Many garbage collectors in the city having become more or less careless in their work, the Board of Health has felt obliged to adopt more stringent rules and regulations. At the meeting yesterday action was taken in the matter and in the future the garbage men will be compelled to abide by the new rules.

According to the new regime all garbage which is taken from dwelling houses, hotels and restaurants in the city, must be removed in water tight metal wagons with metal covers or in water tight metal cans provided with tightly-fitting metal covers, and not in wooden box wagons, wooden barrels or pails, as at present. The cans and wagons must at all times be kept in good repair and in a clean and sanitary condition. They must be thoroughly cleaned once each day. Lime, or other proper deordorizer, must be used at least three times a week during the months of May to October, inclusive. While in the city the cans must at all times be tightly covered.

Garbage collectors will not be allowed to collect garbage in the district bounded by Watchung avenue, East Fourth street, West Fourth street, Arlington avenue, West Third street, Central avenue, Grove street and Greenbrook, after 9 o'clock in the morning. Collections in that district must be made early in the morning. For violations such offenders will have their permits revoked and will not be allowed to collect garbage in the city. These rules are now in effect.

Resolutions were adopted putting the new rules and regulations in force. Health Officer L. B. Thurlow has been instructed to enforce the rules and to send a copy of them to every person collecting garbage in the city.

305 Children at Nethermood Camp.

With the arrival of a delegation of eighty mothers and children from New York city Monday afternoon, the number of the children from the tenement districts has increased to 305. Conditions are quite crowded at the camp, but the children are out of doors most of the time, and some of the mothers and older children have been sleeping out of doors during the extreme heat. The natatorium, which was a gift of David Hand, of Nethermood, is the most popular place on the grounds and the children spend much of the time paddling in the water.

Divorce Hearing Postponed.

Mrs. Annie Utzinger, of Jackson avenue, has commenced proceedings against her husband, Augustus Utzinger, for non-support. The action is brought in the borough court through Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker. Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy last night postponed the hearing until tomorrow evening. Mrs. Utzinger says that her husband has not supplied her with money to adequately run the house and provide food and clothing for the two-year-old child. She has retained Francis J. Blatz as her attorney.

Baseball Meeting Tomorrow Night.

In the absence of Judge William N. Runyon, president of the Plainfield Baseball Association, Vice President Newton B. Smalley has called an important meeting of the association for tomorrow night at the Hotel Iroquois. As matters pertaining to the future of baseball in Plainfield and other details will be discussed it is necessary that there should be a large attendance of members.

City's Health Good.

Not a single case of contagious disease was reported to the Board of Health during July, and at the meeting of the board yesterday, it was stated that the health of the city is excellent. There was reported fifteen marriages, fifty-three births and twenty-seven deaths during uly. The usual inspections were made by Health Officer Thurlow and conditions were found to be satisfactory.

Somerset's September Term.

The September term of the Somerset county courts will open on Tuesday, September 25. The petit jury will be drawn one month previously on August 28.

Hugh Higgins Promoted.

Hugh Higgins has been promoted from motorman to office assistant to Local Superintendent Davenport by the P. S. C. He is well known about the city.

JUDGE SITS AS SQUIRE

Booream Takes Place of Justice of Peace When Latter Refuses Women Bail.

MATRIMONIAL CHASE

Sandfords Cause a Lot of Trouble In New Market—Prosecutor Jumps Into Case.

Dunellen justice was put at a discount in the eyes of the law when a case before Justice of the Peace Rogers, of New Market, was settled by Judge Booream, who came up from New Brunswick for an automobile and contradicted the local justice's judgment in the case of Mrs. Samuel Sanford, of Newtown, Monday night. Mrs. Sanford was arrested on a warrant sworn out by her husband, who is retaliating for a recent complaint made against him by his wife. Mrs. Sanford is suing her husband for divorce.

The legal rupture was brought about by the warrants sworn out against Mrs. Sanford by her husband. There up from the charges against her—adultery, assault and battery and disturbing the peace. A warrant was also sworn out for Joseph Laurence, who, it is alleged, has been the companion of Mrs. Sanford at Erickson's boarding house in New Market. Justice Rogers was in charge of the court at New Market and Mrs. Sanford was brought in. He committed her to imprisonment for the night but she asked to be allowed to call up Prosecutor Dorlinn at New Brunswick. The Prosecutor requested that Mrs. Sanford and Laurence be brought before him at New Brunswick.

This could not be done, for the warrants were issued by the local justice of the peace and the case could not be removed from his jurisdiction. The Prosecutor became very angry when this was explained to him over the 'phone.

"Lock her up at Dunellen, then," he said, "I'll be there as soon as you will."

Mrs. Sanford was taken to Dunellen, where the Prosecutor was waiting when Justice Rogers, the constable and the prisoners arrived. He had come up from New Brunswick in an automobile, bringing with him Judge Booream, of that place. At the hearing held in Dunellen, the Prosecutor appealed to have Mrs. Sanford released upon her own recognizance before the grand jury in September. R. P. V. Von Minden, who is Sanford's lawyer in the divorce case as well as in the matter of the warrants, objected to this, and wanted a bond. Justice Rogers also refused to release the woman on recognizance. Then it was that Judge Booream took things in hand, fixing bail of $500 on the three charges.

In the action brought by Mrs. Sanford against her husband for assault and battery and breach of the peace, he was held on $500 bail several days days ago. With husband and wife thus soaking each other with bail, the family funds are going short, so Mrs. Sanford offered as bail the house in question, alleging that it was worth $18,000. It is claimed that it is assessed for $3,300 and mortgaged for $3,400, but here is where the local justice has the laugh on the legal men from down the road, for the farm was accepted as bail. To ease up the financial drain on the Sanfords to supply bail, Lawyer VonMinden appealed for a reduction of Sanford's bail from $500 to $200, on the ground that the charges brought against him were the same as two of the charges he brought against his wife. Judge Booream granted the appeal. Laurence was held under $300 bail on charge of adultery, the complaint being sworn to by Sanford.

Sanford is boarding in New Market, next door to the post office, and Friday, seeing his wife in a rig in front of the post office with Laurence, who has been her constant companion since her separation from her husband a month ago, it is alleged he went out and asked her about a newspaper article, alleging that the charges brought against him in it were untrue, and asking if she had furnished the material. Seeing Laurence in the rig, it is alleged, he blamed him for breaking up his home. Laurence, it is said, called him a liar, and Sanford, losing his temper, is said to have struck him in the face. Mrs. Sanford, it is claimed, seized the whip and attempted to strike her husband. He prevented her, it is said, and there was a struggle in the street. The following day, Mrs. Sanford brought action against her husband on charges of assault and battery and disturbing the peace, and he has retaliated by bringing action against her.

Builds Two Arbors.

Charles Goldsting has built two large, natural, arbors in his garden over which he will train rambler roses.

HALF MILLION MORE RATABLES IN BOROUGH

TOTAL VALUATION WILL AMOUNT TO ABOUT $3,000,000.

The Somerset County Board of Taxation met the county assessors at Somerville, yesterday, but little important business was done. Because some of the assessors were not quite ready to report an adjournment was taken until next Tuesday, when all the lists and duplicates will be presented.

North Plainfield's total valuation on the tax list this year will be about $3,000,000, a half million increase over last year. This will mean a decrease in the tax rate, but the taxes will be about the same as last year.

The present rate in the borough is $2.53, and it is estimated that the new rate will be a little higher than that of Plainfield. This is due to the fact that the borough has heretofore been assessed a little nearer true value, and the natural increase from year to year has not been as correspondingly large, as in some other sections.

Building in the borough, as in other places about here, was retarded some in the past year by the high price of materials and labor. The community, however, got its proportionate share of buildings, and enjoyed a slice of the general prosperity. The exact number of new house will be made known when the details of the assessment are made known after the County Board's meeting.

THE COW IN POLITICS WIELDS GREAT INFLUENCE.

Mr. Swackhamer Speaks On That Subject To Hunterdon Dairymen at Annual Harvest Home.

"The Cow In Politics" was the subject of a talk delivered by S. S. Swackhamer yesterday before the dairymen of Hunterdon county, at a harvest home celebration held by the Hunterdon County Dairymen's Association, at Readington.

Mr. Swackhamer showed how the cow was a great factor in the prosperity of the country and how the herds of the stockraisers and farmers were of immense value. He spoke of the political influence of the farmer and stockraiser, and how they often held the balance of power.

Humor marked the address, Mr. Swackhamer touching on the cow in literature, art, romance and anecdote. He told of a painting of eight cows in London, that sold for $32,000, "making each cow worth $4,000," and of a dairyman so successful that he turned out 1,000,000 pounds of cheese a year, and ran twelve saw-mills by buttermilk.

TO INDICT ICE MEN.

Paterson Aldermen Call on Prosecutor to Start Proceedings.

The suffering caused among residents of Paterson by the present high price of ice has resulted in a movement looking to the indictment of the dealers and others who have brought about this condition of affairs.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Monday night, Alderman Quigley introduced a resolution urging Prosecutor Raley to take steps at once to bring about the indictment of those who are alleged to have raised the price of ice by an illegal combination.

Mr. Quigley said similar action had been taken in other cities and in some instances had resulted in placing ice dealers behind the bars. He saw no reason why it could not be done in Paterson.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Aged Woman Severely Injured.

The mother of Mrs. Philip Geise, of Newark, who has been visiting her daughter in Westervelt avenue during the past three months, met with an accident on Sunday. She was fixing a hammock on the porch when she stepped over it and in falling fractured her knee-cap. Dr. Marc L. Clawson was summoned and upon his advice the woman was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital.

John L. Bird.

John L. Bird, of Chatham street, died today at his home after a long illness. He is survived by a widow. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

—Neuman Bros. are receiving daily shipments of the finest Delaware peaches and Maryland muskmelons of the choicest variety.

—John P. Emmons, agent for the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, of San Francisco, Cal., has settled with Wm. D. Bird, in full for total loss of his automobile which was destroyed by fire on July 12.

—William D. Thickstun, agent for the Philadelphia Underwriters of Philadelphia, Pa., has settled with William D. Bird in full for a total loss of his automobile shed at No. 323 West Front street, which was destroyed by fire on July 12.

READY FOR THE OUTING

Republicans Complete Plans For Their Annual Frolic on the Greensward.

A POLITICAL BALL GAME

Plainfield and Elizabeth Warriors Will Strive for Glory on the Diamond, Mr. McCardell Leading Plainfielders.

All plans for the annual outing of the Republican County Committee were completed by the Outing Committee last night. The details were decided upon at a meeting in Elizabeth.

The trip will be by boat to Witzel's Point View Grove, L. I., near College Point. The steamer will leave the Fulton street dock, Elizabeth, at 10 o'clock. The tickets state that the boat will go from the Chancellor Dock, but the arrangement was changed because that dock has been closed. The Fulton dock is on the other side of the Staten Island ferry, a block to the right as the excursionist leaves the West Jersey car, instead of one block to the left.

Plainfield will be well represented on the trip. It was reported at the meeting that 125 tickets have already been sold here, and more are to be placed among Plainfielders before Saturday. Tickets sell for $3.50, but the committee of a political outing never aims to make anything, so that the ticket-holders will get $3.50 worth of outing. There will be plenty to eat and drink aboard the boat, and a big dinner will be served at the grove.

Before and after the dinner ashore there will be a lively programme of athletic sports. The big feature will be a political ball game between teams representing Elizabeth and Plainfield party workers. Andrew McCardell will captain Plainfield and Jim Worth will lead the Elizabeth combinaties.

Much political significance is supposed to attach to a county committee outing, but we see smile when the pow-wow and side-making mysteries of the affair are mentioned. The pow-wow-slate-making feature of such affairs has become a pleasant fiction, maintained to add interest and atmosphere to the occasion. The leaders even go through the motions of conferring, but it is precious little information that the snoopers in search of "a line on the situation" get out of the affair. But everybody in the political game goes to it, and it is interesting to note how the humble laymas as a dress parade of the power behind the ballot box and the leaders of the plum tree.

ENJOYED EXCURSION.

One Thousand Spent the Day at the Shore.

The members of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school and their friends, to the number of about 1,000, enjoyed a fine day at Asbury Park yesterday, on the occasion of the annual excursion to the shore. There was a fine sea breeze all day at the beach front, to which the excursionists fully enjoyed after the extreme heat of the past few days.

Charles English, of Dunellen, assistant train master of the New Jersey Central, gave his personal attention to the arrangements made in it a point to see that the water coolers in coaches were well filled for the return trip. In the afternoon about 5:15 o'clock there was a heavy shower at the shore, but this did not interfere with the pleasure of any one and coming home, after the train started, it rained until the train reached South Amboy. During the day U. B. Crane and W. H. Kirch took a short ocean trip in a large row boat and displayed a catch of forty-two pounds of fish. The excursionist arrived home at 9:15.

While on the beach Deacon M. F. Gano suffered a severe attack of stomach trouble and the pain was so intense that he was taken to the Emergency hospital. After medical treatment he was able to take the train for home.

Midsummer Missionary Meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room, was addressed by Miss M. Carpenter, of Dunellen, for a number of years missionary in Japan. Her accounts of the Japanese homes and Japanese entertainments was full of interest and her contrast of Shintoism, Buddhism and Confucianism, the religions of Japan with the Christian religion showed to some extent how much woman had to gain by position and influence by the adoption of a religion "pure and undefiled." The meeting was conducted by Mrs. A. J. Cuhberley.

—Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Hyde have taken possession of their new home on Mountain avenue, near that of Mr. Hyde's brother, Francis De-Lacey Hyde.

Plainfield In Olden Days

WRITTEN BY L. E. B.

PART 1.

In attempting to write a partial history of Plainfield, the writer does it from information gathered from some old inhabitants who are now living and of whom there are very, very few, also from information gathered from some of the older ones that have passed over to the other side. Most of the writer's information has been gathered from old documents that he has had access to during the years that have passed. From the year 1835 is from my own memory.

Plainfield, as its name implies, lies at the present time in the counties of Union and Somerset, in the State of New Jersey.

We find some traces of history in regard to Plainfield reaching back to the Seventeenth century, before that time Indian wigwams were scattered along the Watchung mountain, and here and there a log house dotted the plain.

At Wetumpka falls at the head of Somerset street, may plainly be seen at this time holes cut in the solid rock supposed to be mortars where the natives pounded their corn with a pestle, getting it ready for food for Lo, the poor Indian.

At the foot of the mountains not far from Plainfield, resides (at this time) a farmer who has in his possession very many arrow heads he picked up when plowing in his fields. This plainly goes to show that the Indians were once numerous in this neighborhood.

Plainfield is its appropriate name. It is located upon a plain, extending some three miles in width, and about 8 or 10 miles in length, and is bounded as follows: On the east at a little distance by the thriving village of South Plains, on the west by the historic town of Bound Brook, on the south a few miles away lies the thriving and enterprising towns of Rahway and New Brunswick, while on the north rises the beautiful Watchung mountain, beautiful to behold when clothed in its liveliness with the verdant growth of the good old summer time, with the beautiful and sparkling Stony brook streaming down through the rocky gorge meandering along toward the Raritan river.

On one of the highest peaks of Watchung mountain in all its ancient grandeur stands the famous rock bearing the name of our illustrious Washington, where he once stood surveying with a father's pride while the movements of the hostile armies of the Revolution.

There is running through the centre of our beautiful city, the cooling and refreshing waters of Green brook, or upon the southern border runs the sparkling stream known as Cedar brook flowing hard by the residence of the farmer orator and our genial fellow townsman, James B. Martine.

About the year 1700 the first frame dwelling was erected in Plainfield. It was located on West Front street on the ground now occupied by Gavett's crockery store. Part of the old building was standing only a few years ago.

Very little improvement was made during the one hundred years that followed. For many years after the first settlement, the people had no house of worship. In the year 1738 the society of Friends erected their first place of worship in Plainfield. It was built comparatively in the woods, trees were cut down to make room for the building. The same trees were hewn and used in the construction of the meeting house which still stands on Watchung avenue, as the first public monument to the living God.

At the commencement of 1800, so far as we have been able to ascertain, there were only twenty houses in the village and about 160 inhabitants. Twenty-five years later there were about seventy dwellings and the inhabitants numbered about 450 persons.

In the year 1835 there were about 140 dwellings and about 1,000 inhabitants.

In the year 1818 the first Baptist church was built.

In the year 1825 the first Presbyterian church was organized with eighteen members. The cornerstone of the old church was laid on the 10th day of July in the same year; the first communion service was held in the shade of the overhanging branches of some large trees in the rear of the church near the mill pond.

In 1830 the society of Friends, Hicksite, was divided, and the orthodox built another house of worship. It was built of wood, but is now a brick structure and is located on East Front street near Washington.

In 1832 the First Methodist Episcopal church was built. The old church was afterward removed and remodeled and used as a public hall for many years. The old site is now occupied by a beautiful brick structure. It was remodelled and enlarged several times and is now one of the finest churches in the city. The present church was first built in 1848.

In the year 1838 the Seventh Day Baptist church was organized. The first church was built in the year 1839.

The first bank located in Plainfield was established in 1813 and was called the Plainfield Bank. It was started by Moses Y. Beach, the proprietor at that time of the New York Sun. (This same bank conducted a bank in Allentown, Pa., at the same time). The Plainfield Bank was operated by his brother, Abraham Beach, as cashier, with the assistance of Plainfield residents, Zachariah Webster as president and Robert Anderson assistant. It was located on East Front street and was in operation about three years. The "notes" payable at this bank were often called "Beech Leaves."

The first institution of learning of any account built in Plainfield was located on the same spot of ground that is now occupied by the Leal school on West Front street, and was called the Plainfield Academy. It was a two-story building with a cupola on the west end, in which hung a small bell. The building, or at least the upper story, was burned off in the year 1824. The bell was rescued and presented to the citizens of Quibbletown (now New Market), and was placed on an academy built similar to the Plainfield (which was also burned a few years ago).

After the burning of the Plainfield academy the lower story was moved across the street, built over and converted into a store, but afterward used as a dwelling. At the present time it stands as two small stores and a dwelling combined.

About the year 1820 a corporation was formed to build an institution of learning in the village. Meetings were held, plans were formed and everything seemed to move along very harmoniously until it came to the selection of the site for the building. On that point the committee split. Some wanted it up town and some wanted it down town. The dispute was the cause of the town's being divided. East Front street, (from Reuben Ayres lane, now Park avenue), was called Plainfield, and the settlement along West Front street was dubbed "Pinchgut."

The writer remembers several interesting customs that were in vogue during his early career as a Plainfielder.

First, for instance, there is a person living in this city at this time, that during his infant days was rocked to sleep by water power. Any person wanting further information can get it by applying at the Daily Press office.

I will continue my topic of the town division. The young men and boys of the town took sides with their fathers and the Plainfield and Pinchgut boys should meet across the line of division there was sure to be a rumpus.

On account of the division of the building committee of the before named society they were forced to erect two churches built, one in the year 1833 and is now standing on East Front street, the property of the Cornelius Boice estate. It was named the Green Brook Family School, the preceptor for many years was Ezra Fairchild.

The second institution was built in the year 1834 and was located on ground now occupied by L. L. Manning and Son on West Front street. It was named The Plainfield Classical Institute, with Preceptor "Daddy" Wood. The schools were opened before the railroad entered Plainfield and the scholars were conveyed to the town at that time mostly by private conveyance.

Between the fur mill at Scotch Plains and Sebring Mills there was in the year 1835 but one bridge that spaned Green brook, that was on Mountain road, or Somerset street, as it is now called. It was a two arched stone bridge built in the year 1818. At this writing there are no less than twenty-three bridges spanning this same stream.

DON'T WANT RECORD.

Some Colby Leaders In Essex Alarmed Over Popular Attitude.

It was learned Thursday in Newark that some of the Colby leaders have become alarmed over the popular lukewarmness of hostility toward George L. Record's candidacy for the United States Senate, and that plans are now afoot to persuade him to withdraw.

The Essex Assemblymen were never enthusiastic about Mr. Record, and they say that their indorsement of him was given as a personal favor to Senator Colby. Now that they realise the mistake made in selecting Mr. Record as their candidate there is some anxiety as to the best means of retrieving the error committed. Mr. Colby is believed to be still strongly in favor of Mr. Record, and it is possible that he may strenuously oppose any move made to retire his favorite.

In case Mr. Record should be persuaded to get out it is not certain who will be taken up by the Colby men as a Senatorial candidate. Organization Republicans who heard the rumors Thursday gleefully remarked that the handwriting on the wall was becoming more easily decipherable every day.

Colby Watch for Mayor Tune.

The summer boarders at Pluckemin have presented Mayor Tune Melick with a gold watch. An admirer of the mayor says "it has a Colby movement and gains a little every day."

COW RUINED CORN CROP 6 CTS DAMAGES AWARDED

WILLIAM URHAHN GETS LEGAL LIMIT OF DAMAGE IN COW TRESPASS CASE.

Six cents damage, the legal limit for trespass suits, and costs of action were awarded William Uhrhahn, of Somerset street, from damage done to his crop of corn and cabbages by cows belonging to Mrs. Mary Wyckoff, of DuPont street. The hearing was before a jury, with Justice of the Peace Clark Mundy on the bench at the borough court last night. A typical borough hearing, it lasted two hours and a half. The jury was composed of John Kitchen, foreman, Thomas Freeman, Frank Mohan, John Ryman, David King and E. R. Hartpence.

Uhrhahn's claim for damages was disputed by Counsel H. S. Swackhamer, who claimed that the damage had been done by cows belonging to Mrs. Lewis, who lives near the cornfield, at DuPont avenue and Stone street. Stonewall Jackson and D. W. Applegate, however, came to the stand and identified the cow seen doing the damage as the property of Mrs. Wyckoff. The animal had ruined the entire crop of corn, tearing up the hills and eating the shoots, which were just sprouting. Forty or fifty cabbage plants were also destroyed.

In summing up the case to the jury, Swackhamer appealed to the members on the grounds that Mrs. Wyckoff was unable to settle damages that she was powerless to prevent, and asked if she had done her to keep the cow fastened up. V. W. Nash, Jr., as attorney for Uhrhahn, summed up strongly, showing that the damage had been done and that Mrs. Wyckoff's cow had done it. The jury were out only a few minutes before returning a verdict for Uhrhahn.

FIFTEEN DUNELLEN PUPILS TO ENTER CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

Special Arrangement Made With Board of Education To Admit Dunellenites.

In accordance with an arrangement made by the Board of Education of the Dunellen schools with the board of this city, pupils of the high school grade are to be received at the city high school. The school system of Dunellen is inadequate to the high school department, while the city school has plenty of room for the accommodation of other pupils. Certain Dunellen pupils have been attending the local high school with tuition payment during the past year, but the new arrangement will make it possible for all grammar school graduates of Dunellen, who pass certain examinations to have free schooling at the city high school until the class-room accommodations there become so crowded that the room is needed for local pupils.

Fifteen Dunellen grammar school graduates have passed satisfactory examinations for admission to the high school here. Their names were approved by the Dunellen Board of Education at a recent meeting. They are Lul W. Brakeley, Benjamin Dodwell, Raymond W. Dutcher, John W. Dutcher, and the Misses Kathryn Samson, Pearl Dodwell, Emma Voorhees, Kathryn Moynihan, Meta Pennock, Lizzie Costello, Mary Logan, Edith Noah, Lizzie Reusch, Susan Lowrie, Ireng Bragg. These fifteen have passed examinations admitting them to high school work in this city, except those on the list who attended the high school here last year. Another set of examinations will be conducted just before school opens, so that those who failed to pass at the time these were successful will be given another chance.

PAT IS PAROLED.

Probation Officer Surprised That He Got Rum In Plainfield.

Pat Kearns had a new experience in court Saturday. The aged soak, arrested last night on the old charge, was turned over to the probation officer by Mayor Buckie.

Pat was interviewed in his cell an hour later by Cash Jones, the probation officer's deputy for Plainfield.

"I wor droonk, but not phwhat you moight carl discoorderly," explained Pat. "I wor droonk, as Oi say, but I thried to get home. Oi wud have got there but Oi fell down. Phwot was Oi to do, and not drink that brung me here."

Captain Irwin looked surprised.

"Can you get rum in Plainfield?" he asked. "On my word, I thought the town too clean. Was all this fuss about high license and districting scheme for nothing."

Pat was given another chance, but he will find himself in a lot of trouble if he comes up again. An effort will be made to have him put in a home should he fall into the net again.

Central Vets To Meet.

The New Jersey Central Veteran Employes' Association, of which there are several Plainfield members, will hold its annual meeting and reunion at Lake Hopatcong on Saturday, September 8. It is expected that many of the company officials will attend. A special train will be run from Jersey City to the lake.

NOBILITY NOTES.

Princess Ena of Battersberg is the only royal child born in Scotland for more than 400 years.

King Edward has nine motor cars. The king does not need to have his cars numbered and does not use a driving license.

The king of Spain and Prince Frederic of Schleswig-Holstein are generals of the British army. There is no foreign animus in the army.

Prince Louis of Bavaria is among the few royal doctors. He is a skilled surgeon and has performed several operations in Madrid, where he was staying before the marriage of his son.

Kaiser Wilhelm is of medium height, but the German emperor is tall, and that is why the German ruler will never consent to be photographed beside his wife, unless she sits while he stands.

The important news is officially announced by the British war department that horse No. 51,775, of the artillery, has been chosen for the use of the prince of Wales on public occasions.

The new sovereign of Norway, in all the speeches and orations of welcome to which he has been subjected since his arrival in Norway, has been addressed as "Mr. King" instead of "sire" or "majesty."

Queen Alexandra, of England is, like most women, ill at ease on the rostrum. Her voice is low and sweet, with just a suspicion of foreign accent about it. There is an almost pathetic appeal in tones that linger in the memory hauntingly. Hence, all her subjects loyally declare that she is a most charming speaker and that the foreign tinge is but an added charm to the voice.

The new queen of Norway is said to be a great admirer of Dickens and to have read the "Christmas Carol" so much that she can recite it from beginning to end. Not long ago she said: "No one can be really bad who can cry over Tiny Tim." Every Christmas she sends parcels of presents to the crippled children in the homes and hospitals of London and to each present is attached a card bearing the message: "With Tiny Tim's love."

MISQUOTED PHRASES.

Do you know that the word "dude" comes from the English word "duds," which means clothes? Hence, a dude is one very fond of clothes.

Do you know that the expression "Sure as eggs is eggs," was never meant to be as ungrammatical as it sounds? The original was sure as X is X.

Do you know why people say "I slept like a top?" They should say, I slept like a corpse, for top is the French word for dormouse, an animal given to sound and long sleeping.

Do you know why foolscap paper is so called? When Charles I was king of England, only certain people were allowed to manufacture paper, and it all had to bear the royal arms. Parliament made sport of the law, and ordered a fool's cap and bells to be used instead.

Do you know the origin of the phrase "Up Salt River?" Before steam, navigation along the Ohio was carried on by flatboats, which were rowed up stream. This was particularly hard work, especially up Salt river, a dangerous, crooked branch of the Ohio river in Kentucky. When slaves were to be punished, this was a common method employed by their owners. Hence, in election times, people refer to sending the defeated candidates "Up Salt River" as a penalty.

NOTES ON NATIONALITIES.

The Eskimo gives his doctor a fee as soon as he comes. If the patient recovers, it is kept; if not, it is returned.

Dry-salted salmon is much used in Japan for New Year's presents. After the New Year, the demand lessens, and prices decline 20 to 30 per cent.

Natives in the Zambesi valley in Africa are very fond of perfumes and the more violent kinds are especially in great demand. They are sold in cardboard boxes containing 12 assorted bottles.

The Swiss federal engineers, it is said, have succeeded with great difficulty in arresting the progress of two miles of debris, which threatened to destroy the villages of Gruquay and Chamoson, situated in the Canton of Valais.

The Hindu holy books forbid a woman to see dancing, hear music, paint her eyebrows, use her eyeglasses, eat dainty food, sit at a window, or view herself in a mirror during the absence of her husband; and allow him to divorce her if she has no sons, injures his property, scolds him, quarrels with another woman, or presumes to eat before he has finished his meal.

COSTLIEST IN THE WORLD.

The costliest building is the Milan cathedral.

The costliest dog was a St. Bernard, Plinlimmon, who sold for $21,250.

The costliest picture painting is Meissonier's "1814," which sold for $175,000.

The costliest cigars are the Vuelta Abajos, which sometimes retail at four dollars apiece.

The costliest government is the French. The government salaries aggregate $4,750,000.

The costliest diamond is the Imperial, for which the nizam of Hyderabad paid $2,150,000.

The costliest pipe belongs to the shah of Persia. It is a jeweled hookah, and its value is put at $400,000.

FACTS AND FINDINGS.

Icebergs sometimes last for 200 years.

The normal life of a mouse is three years.

Attentive is the name of Britain's latest 25-knot scout ship.

In England a man can take out an insurance policy against twins.

The young king of Spain is several inches shorter than his father.

Giraffes and ant-eaters each have tongues nearly two feet in length.

The British soldier is now to possess three shirts instead of two.

A silver coin remains in currency for an average period of 27 years.

Diamonds have been discovered in Kentucky—and of the first whisky.

The Japanese prefer soft wheat flour from the United States to the flour made in Canada.

Montreal has the largest flour mill in the British empire. It turns out 5,000 barrels of flour a day.

An Italian who tried to walk through the Simplon tunnel was stifled by the foul air and died.

British warships carry 36 out of every hundred of the total number of naval guns in existence.

The coach in which the lord mayor of London rides on state occasions has been in use since 1757.

M. Fallieres' election as president of the French republic cost $6,000. His salary is $20,000 a month.

It is stated that at least 20,000 square miles in Liberia are covered with dense rubber-tree forests.

Rome has a water supply of 200,000,000 gallons a day; London, only 160,000,000, and Paris, 50,000,000.

NATURALISTIC NOTATIONS.

Carrier pigeons never eat when traveling.

White cats with blue eyes are always deaf.

Domesticated dogs only—wild ones never—bark.

A sheep dog has the heaviest brain of any dog.

The smallest quadruped in the world is the pygmy mouse of Siberia.

Giraffes and ant-eaters each have tongues nearly two feet in length.

The only fish that never sleep are said to be the salmon, pike and goldfish.

Tunnels three miles long are dug by certain kinds of South American ants.

The ant, in proportion to its size, has the largest brain of any living creature.

Birds, when perched on trees or bushes, are natural weathercocks, as they invariably roost with their heads to the wind.

Humming birds are so short-tempered that if they obtain no honey from a flower, they have been known to tear it to pieces in their wrath.

The greenfinch is the earliest riser of the bird family. It sometimes begins to pipe at one o'clock on a summer morning. The blackcap comes next, and then the blackbird.

ADE'S ANIMADVERSIONS.

Many are called, but few deliver the goods.

As the father is bent the child is inclined.

A good jolly is worth whatever you pay for it.

It is a wise father that tumbles to his own son.

Some people are good because it comes high to be otherwise.

A patient woman can educate anyone except her own husband.

In all the learned professions, many are called but few are chosen.

Every man knocks his own line of work and sticks to it like glue.

In these days, chivalry must wear a tag or it will not be recognized.

A complete change will always do one good and sometimes do him to a finish.

FREAKS OF FORTUNE.

The great silver mine, the Silver King, has been discovered by the lucky accident of a prospector throwing a piece of rock at a lazy mule.

Ulysses Grant would not have been a military man had it not been that his rival for a West Point cadetship had been found to have six toes on each foot instead of five.

Oliver Cromwell was once on board a ship bound for America, but he was taken back by a constable, and the result was that he became one of the greatest men England ever knew.

Abraham Lincoln, after being a member of congress, desired to secure a clerkship in Washington, but he was defeated by Justin Butterfield. He was disappointed, but had he not been defeated he would have spent his life in obscurity instead of becoming president of the United States.

CONCERNING CITIES.

In five years Krupp's town of Essen has increased 61 per cent. Cologne, with its 426,036 people, has had an astonishing growth.

Any city of more than 100,000 inhabitants is considered a great city. Of these Germany has more than any other country, namely, 41.

Great Britain and the United States have 20 each. Then follow Russia with 16, France with 15, Italy with 12, Japan and Austria-Hungary with eight each.

When the present German empire was founded in 1871, Germany had only five such cities, but by 1900 they numbered 33. Five of them have more than half a million population each. Berlin, for instance, has more than 2,040 inhabitants. The next largest is Hamburg, 800,000, followed by Munich, Dresden and Leipsic.

DESERTED BY HUSBAND; CAME TO LOOK HIM UP

MRS. HULL OWNED THAT TELESCOPE BAG BOROUGH POLICE FOUND.

The telescope bag found by Chief of Police George Weiss, of the borough police, was claimed Friday by Frank Hull, a call man of the borough fire department. It is the property of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elwood Hull, of Newark. Mrs. Hull came to this city Tuesday looking for her husband, whom she had not seen for the past two weeks. She went to the home of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Hull, of Duer street, thinking perhaps that her husband had gone to her. She was unsuccessful in her attempts to locate the man, for his mother has been nothing of him for several weeks past. She left the heavy bag, which she discarded near the Duer street bridge. The marriage certificate was the proof of her marriage with Hull, at Newark in 1902. The coffin plate was a memento of her little one's death a year ago.

At Newark Wednesday Mrs. Hull wandered aimlessly through the streets with her child, finally going to the First Precinct Police station, where she was accommodated for the night. She said there that she was penniless, having expended what little money she had in searching for her husband. She said that he had left her a week ago, when the family moved to Newark from Suffern, N. Y. She has seen nothing of Hull since she left Suffern. Thursday morning Mrs. Hull appealed to Judge Sweeney, and he sent her to the Bureau of Associated Charities rooms, where word was forwarded to her father in New York city.

"TIP" COLLECTS MONEY FOR THE BABY CAMP

IF YOU SEE THE OLD DOG, DROP COIN IN HIS BASKET.

Among the friends of the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountains is an old fox terrier owned by a Plainfield man who is an enthusiastic supporter of that worthy charity. "Tip," for that is his name, is so anxious to help the camp work along that he starts out nearly every day and makes the rounds of the city and borough, carrying a little basket into which the kind voluntary contributions in support of the work. As soon as "Tip" collects a little money he hastens home with it to his master, who turns it over to the treasurer of the King's Daughters.

The little dog is frequently seen about town and it is a hard-hearted person who will not encourage him in his efforts to help the sick babies at the camp. A few days ago, a letter expressing "Tip's" sentiments, written by a friend of the camp, was carried to the mountain home of the sick babies and delivered to the matron in charge. "Tip" made the journey all alone. This is the letter:

"To the babies of the baby camp—With this letter I send you all my havings, and hope you may get as much pleasure from the money as I have had in accumulating them. The facts are, my teeth are quite worn out in getting together so much money, and as I am growing old, I enjoy thinking someone will derive benefit from my hard-earned money, while I am yet living. All this money is honestly mine, and the only taint about it is that it has all been in my mouth, and so I am sure none of it is counterfeit.

"I would like to call on you some day and see how much of it I could get back. Perhaps I will, but in hot weather I do not get very far from home. Now I'll tell you who I am—just a little old fox terrier dog, who can sit up and beg until some kind person will give me a coin, and then I go home and deposit it. Missus takes it away from me and puts it in my bank. Did you know dogs had bank accounts before? Here is all mine, and I hope to have another next year, and I'll send it all to you.

"Good-bye, babies, I don't like children around me, so I pay you to keep away.

"Yours for charity,

"TIP."

Borough Tax Sale.

The sale of borough property for back taxes will take place at the office of Borough Tax Collector George F. Brown, on Somerset street, Thursday afternoon, September 13, at 2 o'clock. A list of the borough properties to be disposed of will be printed in the Daily Press next week.

Poetic Appreciation of Gold.

Genius scorns the power of gold; it is wrong. Gold is the war-scythe on its chariot, which mows down the millions of its foes, and gives free passage to the sun-conquers with which it leaves those heavenly fields of light for the gross battlefields of earth.—Ouida (Louise de la Ramee).

RULING ON BISHOPS' BILL

Judge Schenck Issues an Important Order to Somerset County Saloonkeepers.

ON INTERIOR VIEWS

All Screens Down Except During Hours of Business—A License Application Order Too.

In view of the requirements made by the new law, known as the "Bishops' bill," Judge Schenck in the Somerset county courts at Somerville Wednesday issued an order relating to the removal of screens, and also promulgated a rule governing the additional requirements to be put in applications for licenses.

The order follows:

"In pursuance of the requirement of Chapter 114 of the laws of 1906 of this State, it is on this 30th day of July hereby ordered that in every place where the sale of liquor has been licensed by this court that is not an inn and tavern or hotel, having at least ten spare rooms and beds for the accommodation of boarder transients and travelers, or a restaurant where the business of furnishing meals to the public for compensation is regularly carried on, and which restaurant is conducted and operated on more than one floor or story of the building where such business is carried on, or a picnic or recreation ground, or a building with a bowling alley, or a building entirely occupied by a regularly organized club or association, the entire interior of the bar or business room in which such liquors and other intoxicating drinks are sold and served, shall be open to full view from the public street on all days and times when by law the sale of liquor and other intoxicating drinks is prohibited, and a full view of the entire interior of such bar or business room shall at all times, during the times so specified as aforesaid, be obstructed from the public street by the use of non-transparent glass, or by a shade, blind, shutter, screen, merchandise or any other article placed within or without the building in which such room is located.

"In the matter of granting licenses. It is hereby on this 30th day of July ordered that all applications hereafter presented to this court for license to sell either spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors shall, in addition to the facts heretofore required to be set out therein, contain a statement of such facts as will either show to the court that the person who makes the application for license is eligible to be licensed to sell liquor in the place applied for and that the place for which the license is applied is so situated and equipped that this court is authorized under Chapter 114 of the laws of 1906 to grant such license, and that, if granted, under which of the conditions therein specified the license will be exercised."

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD CUTS FARE RATES DOWN.

Will Issue a Thousand-mile Book Without Restrictions, Over Its Own Lines Only, for $20.

On and after September 1, 1906, the Pennsylvania Railroad will sell a mileage book over its own lines at a flat price of $20 good for one person to ride a thousand miles or a thousand persons to ride one mile. The interchangeable mileage book, good over other lines as well as the Pennsylvania, will remain at the same price as at present—$30 with a $10 rebate when used—and will not be transferable.

At the same time this news was given out it was announced that as soon as proper notification details can be completed, probably in November, the maximum rate of fare will be reduced from 3 cents a mile to 2½ cents a mile on all Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg and Erie.

This surprising news, which is a question of millions of dollars with the Pennsylvania Railroad, was made public yesterday afternoon following a meeting of directors of the company. By its action the Pennsylvania Railroad foregoes the privileges of its charter, which allows it to charge three and even three and a half cents a mile for passenger travel within the State.

Realty Sales by Jeffery Agency.

The Jeffery real estate agency has effected the following sales recently: 417 West Fifth street, Adolph Feeder to J. W. Mundy; 950 Park avenue, Hugh McDonald to Eugenia Vendome; 655 West Third street, Henry Kingslow to John Consales; 202 Spooner avenue, Elizabeth Sandford to M. Hardy; 947 West Fifth street, Mrs. Cobb to Alfred Harrald; 401 Plainfield avenue, Samuel Frucht to Abraham Kunzman; 932 West Third street, Bolton Hall to Henry A. Brancati; lots on Prescott place near West Third street, Bolton Hall to H. E. Brancati; two lots on Rock avenue, Investors Realty Company to Joseph Brandt; six lots, Berkely Heights, Berkely Heights Association to Abram Wyse; 427 Spooner avenue, Charles N. Rydell to William G. Mesler.

POINTERS FOR AUTOISTS

New Jersey's Auto Law as Seen at a Glance.

The following synopsis of the new auto law will be of benefit to Daily Press readers who own machines:

1. Automobiles and cycles must have signal device.

2. Automobiles, two white lights, one red. On lamps, numbers one inch high.

3. Cycle, one white light.

4. Automobiles above ten horse-power, two brakes. Cycles one brake.

5. No excessive noise or smoke; shall not use chains.

6. No person shall drive unregistered vehicle or one having fictitious number, or any other number than the registered one.

7. Manufacturers or dealers may operate five machines under one and the same number if followed by letter "M."

8. Every person driving automobile must have license and be at least sixteen years old.

9. Registered number, both back and front, in conspicuous place, bottom fifteen inches from ground and not more than thirty-six inches from ground, clean and plainly visible during daylight. Numbers to be Arabic, four inches high, stroke half inch. No other numbers.

10. Drivers shall keep to right. No intoxicated person shall drive car.

11. Not drive any automobile on bet or wager. Shall not drive car without owner's consent.

12. Give name and number of license and registration number in case of accident, and name and residence of every male occupant of the vehicle.

13. Speeds:

(a) On sharp curves of street or highway or on turning corner, 8 57-100 miles per hour.

(b) Junction of prominent streets or roads in open country, fifteen miles per hour. (Open country means where houses are an average of more than 100 feet apart.)

(c) In built up portions of towns, cities (built up where houses average less than 100 feet apart), twelve miles per hour.

(d) Within 200 feet of any house on highway, fifteen miles per hour. But automobiles in open country may speed up to twenty miles to pass a vehicle.

(e) Elsewhere, twenty miles per hour.

(f) No person is permitted to drive at any speed greater than is reasonable having regard to the traffic and use of the highways, or as to endanger the life or limb or to injure the property of any person.

14. Stop on signal from driver of horse.

15. Physician answering emergency calls may give license and registration numbers and be allowed to proceed.

16. A complaint being made in writing and verified before any magistrate, he may summon or issue a warrant to any constable, police officer or inspector, within thirty days. Magistrate shall summarily hear case.

17. The defendant may have case adjourned for a period not exceeding thirty days.

(a) Defendant may make cash deposit.

(b) Give bond worth one surety.

(c) Or qualify himself in twice the amount of penalty in real estate.

(d) Or leave vehicle.

18. Defendant may appeal to court of common pleas in same county by giving bond.

19. Appeal shall act as stay.

20. Proceedings valid on Sunday.

21. Constable, police officer or motor vehicle inspector or commissioner of motor vehicles may arrest without warrant for violation of law in his presence.

22. Defendant may on request be taken before magistrate in the county in which arrest is made.

23. If defendant is found not guilty, costs must be borne by the prosecutor.

(a) For failure to secure registration certificate. For failure to have numbers front and back. For displaying other numbers. First offense, fine not exceeding $100. Second offense, fine not exceeding $200.

(b) For displaying fictitious numbers; or driving without license; or driving while intoxicated; or without consent of owner, subject to fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days.

(d) Refusing to stop or knowingly causing accident; fine not exceeding $250, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

(e) Using without registration of automobile or motorcycle, fine not exceeding $100.

(f) Driving on bet or wager, or violating any of speed limits, for the first offense fine not exceeding $100. For second or subsequent offense, fine not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not exceeding twenty days, and in addition license shall be revoked.

(g) Failure to carry horn or trumpet; failure to carry required lights, motorcycle included, or proper numbers on automobile. Automobiles over ten-horse power have two breaks; motorcycle one brake; failure to produce license or write his name, fine not exceeding $10.

(h) Unless roads have one inch of ice or snow, no automobile shall have chain on wheels upon gravel, macadam or other made roads, except on natural dirt, asphalt, cobble, Belgium block or vetrified brick pavements, fine not exceeding $50.

(i) Failure of motor vehicle drivers to keep to right, fine not exceeding $25.

24. Magistrate may revoke for wilful violation of the law, but appeal to court of common pleas shall act as stay. Motor vehicle commissioner may always validate license.

25. Justice supreme court may review and set aside judgment.

26. License fees, fines, etc., to be used in maintenance of roads.

27. Commissioner of public roads may erect danger signs.

28. If any section is held unconstitutional it shall not affect any other section of the law.

LITERARY.

Three boys in a sailboat in a spanking breeze look out from the cover page of the August American Boy. The names of Stratemeyer, Tomlinson, Alger, and Harbour stand out in the text in four stirring serials now running. Every boy knows that where these names appear there is something of interest to him. The titles of the stories by these well-known writers are additional evidence of their stirring character—"In Defense of His Flag," "The Camp-fire of Mad Anthony," "The Young Book Agent," and "Four Boys in Camp."

In the August number of the Atlantic, as befits a midsummer number, fiction holds the first place. It is an uncommonly readable group of short stories that the editors have brought together, comprising some of the strongest work of our best story writers. Norman Duncan's "The Wayfarer" is one of the most imaginative and telling of his many stories of the sea. Mary Heaton Vorse has a very amusing story dealing with "Some Further Adventures of a Yachtman's Wife;" M. E. M. Davis has an effective bit of symbolism in "The Forerunner;" while W. J. Hokins, whose Clammer stories were such a success in the Atlantic last year, appears in a new field with "The Fall of the House of Johns." Related to the fiction of the number in its interest is a remarkable study of "The Novels of Mrs. Wharton," by H. D. Sedgwick, and a curious chance brings it about that two of the three notable papers on the negro question by distinguished writers of fiction, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and Thomas Nelson Page.

The Red Book Magazine for August is clearly designed to make its readers forget the torridity of midsummer in these United States. A remarkable variety of tales is embraced in the thirteen short stories that comprise the contents of the issue. From Regents Park, London, where a modern young American meets the daughter of an American peeress and conquers her, as occurs in the Frederick Orin Bartlett story "A Certain Miss Caxton Alliance," to the south sea islands, the locale of "The Outcast," by John Patrick and Ernest Boon, is a far cry but one that seems to carry clear. A story that is destined no doubt to provoke quite a little acrimony on granting statehood to New Mexico, no matter under what circumstances, is "Twelve Good Men and True" an extraordinary tale of justice as "she is administered" in the territory of erstwhile "Billy the Kid."

As an earnest that there is to be no cessation of its campaign against child slavery, the Woman's Home Companion prints prominently in its August number the "Anti Child Labor Creed" whose curt paragraphs clearly defining against the abuses of child labor. But that this serious purpose has not caused any neglect of entertaining features is shown by a collection of lively stories such as "The Spurs of Achilles," by Basil Sabatini; "A Lover's Pilgrimage," by Richard Le Gallienne; "The Wage of Sin," by Ellis Parker Butler, and "Al and the Buzzard Perplexed," by Cloudesley Johns. The "Preserving and Canning of Fruits," "Fashionable Mid-Summer Clothes," and "Cool Cushions for Summer Use" are among the practical articles on household affairs. Anna Steese Richardson gives valuable advice with needed facts and figures to county girls who have decided upon city careers; Marion Harland, considering the question, "Are New York Club-Women Shallow?" makes some pointed remarks; Adella Belle Beard describes original sea-beach games, and, in good time for the circus season, Claire Wallace Flynn tells of the merry little woman who attends to the "Dressmaking for the Circus Animals."

BOROUGH EXEMPTS NAME CONSOLIDATION COMMITTEES.

Exempt Firemen, No. 1 and No. 2 to Unite in One Association. Joint Committee of Six Chosen.

For the purpose of uniting the two Exempt Firemen's Associations of the borough, each held a meeting last Friday and elected a committee of three to manage the consolidation for their company. The joint committee of the six thus elected will meet at borough fire headquarters Monday evening and consider the question of consolidation.

At the meeting, Edward Terry, Frank Schack and John Mowry were elected, and No. 2 company elected Lafayette Rosenstiehl, Patrick McDonough and Walter Kettering. It is probable that no consolidation can be effected until fall, for the associations are awaiting their appropriation from the State to complete the arrangements.

WILL DARE DEATH AGAIN

Leach Offers to Take Another Trip Through Niagara Rapids.

HIS "BARREL" IS HERE

Brought Over From England To Be Tinkered Up—On Exhibition at the Iroquois Hotel.

Prepared to take another trip another trip through the seething torrent, Bobby Leach, famous throughout the country as one of the two men who have ever gone through the Whirlpool rapids at Niagara Falls and lived to boast of it, has had the queer craft in which he rode the stream brought to this city from Europe, to strengthen up the places weakened by the rush through the rapids. Leach exhibited the craft in England in the spring of last year. He came to this city to conduct an "owl" lunch wagon last summer.

The craft in which Leach made his famous trip was put on exhibition in front of the Iroquois Hotel Friday morning, directly after its arrival from the Cunard Pier in New York. Patrolman Overbaugh was kept busy handling the crowd that was attracted by it.

The craft is made of heavy plate steel, shaped like a regularly formed egg. Heavy blocks of wood are at each end to keep it from impact with the rocks. Leach was hermatically sealed in it on his ride, except for two small airholes on the top. He lay in a hammock that swung about every turn of the craft. Dents in the craft made by the big gouges in the wood show how terrific was the journey through which it passed. For all its massive construction, the craft only draws thirteen inches of water.

"I am ready to take the trip again at any time," said Leach this morning. "Plans are now afoot for a ride through the rapids in September, and I am going to have the barrel fixed up in preparation for the journey, should the trip be decided upon."

The "barrel" weighs 1382 pounds. It was teamed here from the Cunard Pier by Captain William Hand.

VOTE ON ELIZABETH'S MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT.

Public Ownership Idea May Be Put Before Electors in Near Future.

The Elizabeth Council last Wednesday passed a resolution, introduced by Councilman Nugent, directing the city attorney to report speedily what steps should be taken so that the question of establishing a municipal lighting plant may be submitted to the voters for a decision at the next election. A law passed by the last Legislature gives the city the right to submit the question at the home of the bride's parents in Worcester on Wednesday, July 25. The groom is a brother of Walter L. Hetfield, 2d, a prominent young lawyer who is a member of the Union County Board of Elections. The couple are spending their honeymoon at the home of the groom's parents.

The Elizabethtown Gas Light Company offered to furnish gas lamps, same as now in use, for $16 a lamp on a basis of a one, two or three-year contract, and for $15 on a basis of a four or five-year contract. The Consolidated Gas Company, candle power light on corner posts with street signs attached, at $24 a light, under a one, two or three-year contract, and at $23 under a five-year contract.

The charge to Elizabeth for lights under the contract which has just expired was $92.50 from the United Electric Light Company for a five-year contract for each arc lamp, and $15 a lamp from the Elizabethtown Gas Light Company under a five-year contract.

The experts that made a report to Council recently upon the cost of light from a municipal light for Elizabeth figured the cost for each arc lamp at $55.10 provided as many 250 lights were used. For a smaller number the cost, of course, would be higher.

To Locate at Berkeley.

William Jeffery, the Park avenue real estate agent, has sold a large tract of land at Berkeley Heights to the Atlantic Brick and Ballast Co., manufacturers of high grade building brick. This company has already made arrangements to construct on the grounds at Berkeley Heights a brick building plant to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. This in addition to the many sales made by Mr. Jeffery at Berkeley Heights, now practically assures the success of the entire operation, and his friends say great credit is due him for taking hold of land in that section for development, which was contrary to the opinion of nearly every dealer in this section of the country. This adds another link to the chain of land development, and that Jeffery's judgment in these matters means something.

DENNY CARNEY GOES TO JAIL FOR THIRTY DAYS

MAYOR OF COTTAGE PLACE ABUSED HIS WOMENFOLK ONCE TO OFTEN.

Two mayors clashed in the city court Friday, and one of them got much the worst of it. Denny Carney, "mayor" of Cottage place, faced Mayor Buckle, who is taking Judge Runyon's place, on a charge of disorderly conduct, and he was sent to jail for thirty days.

Denny, who is a familiar figure about the city and an odd character when sober, started a ruction at his home on Cottage place last night, in a drunken fit of rage. He fought with his son, Dennis, Jr., and then turned on his granddaughter and struck her over the head with a club. The row aroused the neighborhood, and Patrolman Payne, summoned by one of the neighbors, put a stop to the row. The family refused to make a complaint when Payne offered to arrest Denny, but Chief Kiely, when he heard of the affair Friday morning insisted on an arrest.

Mayor Buckle was indignant over the story of Denny's drunken tyranny over the rest of the family. The mayor of cottage place has a nasty tongue for his womenfolk, and Mayor Buckle grew more indignant with every chapter of the story the witnesses told.

"You're a shameful old man," he said in sentencing Denny to a month in jail, and scored him severely. The mayor of Cottage place was badly shaken by the raking over he received. It was a trembling little old man that tottered back to the cell room when Mayor Buckle finished.

Preliminary Plans Are Approved.

The building committee of the Dime Savings Institution, of which William A. Reid, of the First National Bank, is the chairman, has approved the preliminary plans showing the proposed new front and first floor as sketched by Architect A. L. C. Marsh, and have authorized Mr. Marsh to go ahead and prepare the working plans and get bids for the work. This work will require about ten days or two weeks and at its conclusion the plans and bids will be submitted to the building committee for approval or rejection. As soon as the plans are approved and the bids accepted the work of remodeling the Dime Savings Institution will be started. While this is in progress the institution will conduct its business in the building now occupied by The Plainfield Trust Company.

H. L. Hetfield Married.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Herbert W. Hetfield, son of former Councilman and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and Miss Elizabeta Sminck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sminck, of Worcester, Mass., on Wednesday, July 25, at the home of the bride's parents in Worcester on Wednesday, July 25. The groom is a brother of Walter L. Hetfield, 2d, a prominent young lawyer who is a member of the Union County Board of Elections. The couple are spending their honeymoon at the home of the groom's parents.

Euchre Party at Berkeley Heights.

To celebrate the event of moving into their new home at Berkeley Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer gave a very enjoyable euchre party last Thursday. Before purchasing their new home, the Schaffers were guests at "Ye Olde Mountain Camp," the result being that the entire camp was invited to the affair last night. Prizes were won by Mrs. Davis and Mr. Wahl. A collation was served with courses interspersed with good old time songs. William Jeffery sang a number of good songs and Mr. Schaffer played the banjo to the delight of all present. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery, of Plainfield; Mrs. Sedell, Mr. and Mrs. Wyse, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Manderville, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Wright, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Davis, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Hillyer, of Staten Island; Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Carr, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Fox, Miss Mabel Clark, Col. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Wahl, all of whom are summering at the camp, at Berkeley Heights.

P. S. C. to Build on Second Street

Building permits has been granted and contracts awarded for the erection of a building by the Public Service Corporation on the property owned by the company on West Second street. The new building is to be one story in height and will measure 48 by 22½ feet. It is to be used for the manufacture of storage batteries. C. J. Rock is the architect. The masonry contract has been awarded to E. Smith and A. Smalley will have the contract for the carpenter work. The work of erection will be commenced at once.

Lincoln Plats Sold.

The Murphy & Wilcoxin have been sold by Harris & Gifford, realtors, of Newark, to a New York man. The latter buys for investment. R. L. Pierce, of New Market, made the sale.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Helen K. Chamberlain to Howard S. Mason. The date for the wedding has not been set.

AUGUST AT SEA GIRT

Great Gathering of Military Rifle Shots on State Range This Month.

MATCHES SCHEDULED

Valuable Prizes for Team and Individual Scores—National Team Match.

From August 27 to September 6 there will be the greatest gathering of military rifle shots that this country has ever witnessed, the occasion being the rifle matches shot under the auspices of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, the National Rifle Association of America, and the New Jersey State Rifle Association, on the range at Sea Girt.

It is expected that there will be at least forty teams of twelve men each to compete in the National Team Match, while no estimate can be made of the number of marksmen who will enter the National Individual Match. This match is shot under the direction of the National Board, and Congress gives $390 cash prize money for this match, together with four gold medals, four silver medals and four bronze medals. Private parties have contributed $2,010 additional for cash prizes in this match, making a total of $2,400. This is by far the largest sum of money ever given in this country in cash prizes for rifle practice. There will also be special prizes of three gold medals and three $20 cash prizes. This match is open to the army, navy, marine corps, cadets of the United States Military and Naval Academies, organized militia of the States and Territories and the District of Columbia, and the members of the National Rifle Association of America and affiliated clubs.

The National Team Match, also under the direction of the National Board, is open to teams of twelve men from the army, navy, marine corps, military and naval academies, and the militia of each State, the army being allowed two teams, one representing the east and the other the infantry. In this match there will be the National Trophy, donated by Congress, and $300 in cash; the Hilton Trophy and $200 in cash, and the Soldier of Marathon, presented by the commander-in-chief to the best team of the army and $150 in cash. There are three other cash prizes, and each member of a winning team will be given a properly-inscribed bronze medal.

A large number of matches will be shot under the supervision of the National Rifle Association. Affiliated with this association are the State Rifle Associations of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Colorado, Illinois and Indiana, together with twenty-four other rifle associations, eighteen squadrons and company organizations and thirty-four rifle clubs, covering all parts of the United States.

The leading match is the Wimbledon Cup match, for the Wimbledon Cup, presented by the National Rifle Association of Great Britain. This is open to all citizens and residents of the United States, and any rifle and any ammunition may be used. It is shot for at 1,000 yards and carries the long range championship of the United States and four cash prizes. The President's Match carries with it the military championship of the United States, a championship medal and an autograph letter from President Roosevelt, together with four cash prizes. The membership match, for the championship of the National Rifle Association, is a gold medal and seven cash prizes. The regimental championship team match will this year have a new trophy, contributed by the regiments of the United States and valued at $500, to become the permanent property of the organization winning it three times. This carries with it a medal to each member of the winning team and $150 in cash, and there are three other cash prizes. The E. I. Du Pont Company has donated a solid silver trophy, valued at $250, for the championship regimental skirmish match, which becomes the property of any team winning it twice.

The Inter-Collegiate match carries a trophy, a medal to each member of the winning team and two cash prizes. This trophy was won last year by the team from Princeton University.

The Inter-Club match for the rifle club championship of the United States has a number of gold, silver and bronze medals and three cash prizes. This trophy has been won twice by the Manhattan Rifle and Revolver Association and once by the Ohio State Rifle Association. The National Marksman's match is open to any citizen of the United States between the ages of 18 and 45, and competitors making a total of fifty points will be enrolled in the office of the military secretary of the War Department as a national marksman, and also receive a national marksman's reserve button. There will also be a championship revolver team match for the Hale Trophy and three cash prizes.

The New Jersey State Rifle Association matches carry a large number of trophies, first of which is the Drydea Trophy match, the trophy presented by Senator Drydea, of New Jersey, and one of the handsomest trophies in the country. This carries with it three cash prizes of a total of $500. The company team match has a number of gold, silver and bronze medals and three cash prizes.

The Columbia match for the trophy given by the District of Columbia National Guard to the National Guard of New Jersey, carries a number of medals and three cash prizes, of which the highest is $100.

SENATOR SMITH INVITED TO MEET WM. J. BRYAN.

Former Senator Will Serve On Reception and Transportation Committees.

Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., is now added to the already long list of distinguished citizens who have united with the Commercial Traveler's Anti-Trust League in arranging a reception to be tendered William Jennings Bryan on the latter's return from a tour of the world.

The former Senator and leader of the State Democratic organization is in receipt of two letters from the Bryan Reception League announcing his appointment on two committees, both of which he has accepted. The first, which directly concerns the reception, was received Saturday, and reads as follows:

"Dear Sir—I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of the plan and scope committee to arrange for a reception to the Hon. William Jennings Bryan you were appointed a member of the reception committee, of which Governor Folk, of Missouri, is the chairman.

"Very truly yours,

"LEWIS NIXON,

"Chairman of Plan and Scope Committee."

The second letter, which is also signed by Mr. Nixon, announces Mr. Smith's appointment as a member of the transportation committee, of which F. Burton Harrison, of New York, is chairman. The other members of the committee are Harry W. Walker, George W. Plunkett and Joseph F. McLoughin, all of New York. This letter also announces a meeting of the executive committee at headquarters, room 100, Victoria Hotel, New York, August 2, and states that final reports of the various sub-committees are expected August 22.

"Oh, no, it does not indicate that I am back in the political arena again," said the former Senator when asked if his acceptance of the invitations could be construed to mean that. "I am out of politics and cannot be forced into a field that is so well covered by the many young men who are now at the helm.

"There is absolutely no political significance in my acceptance of the committee assignments tendered. While in the duty and the honor, I consider it a privilege to be one of those selected to do honor to one of our first citizens on his return from abroad.

"This country has produced few greater men in this age than William Jennings Bryan, and the reception tendered him everywhere as a typical American is an honor to the nation which he so well represents either at home or abroad.

"As a fitting climax to his world-wide reception as a loyal American comes the non-political greeting arranged for his home-coming on August 30 next. There is no body of men more in touch with popular sentiment with East, South and West than the women of Newark, and they have planned the reception.

"Like Governor Folk and others who personally admire the sterling character and patriotic devotion to American ideals of Mr. Bryan, I am willing, even at a sacrifice of personal comfort at this season of the year, in preparing and making the Madison Square reception worthy the occasion.

"When that duty is performed I hope to have Mr. Bryan come to Newark, where all our citizens will have another opportunity to greet the man whom 6,000,000 citizens endeavored by their votes on two occasions to make the Chief Executive of our nation."

TO CLEAN JEWELRY.

A sharp pointed implement should never be employed to clean rings, as it scratches the gold. Soak them in liquid ammonia and the dirt will be loosened. Afterward they should be polished with a soft cloth. It is a good plan to keep rings in sawdust, as it enables the gems to retain their brilliancy. Warm water and a little prepared chalk are all that is required to clean pearls or chased rings. Toilet articles, vinaigrettes and other small trinkets may be easily brightened without the use of powder by placing them in an aluminum receptacle and pouring boiling water over them. Polishing should be done by means of a piece of clean chamois leather, but in adopting this treatment it must be remembered that the silver should never be allowed to become tarnished.

Entertained Friends.

The Misses Clara and Florence Kanen, of West Sixth street, entertained a party of friends at their home, on Thursday evening. Those present were the Misses Cornelia Lounsbury, Elsie Knowlton, Bertha Jones, Ethel Rogers and Mary Mortimer, Herbert Smith, Milton St. John, Albert Hardcastle, Morris Hunter, Donald Mortimer, Orlando Lounsbury and Fred Kanen.

TILLMAN A CANDIDATE

Assemblyman From Rahway Asks Party For a Renomination.

PERKINS IS OUT TOO

But Tucker Won't Run—Lively Scramble for Elizabeth Man's Place—Is the Colby Camp.

Heeding the advice of his friends, Peter Tillman, of Rahway, has announced himself a candidate for renomination for the Assembly. There will be no opposition to him so far as his home town is concerned and his friends predict that there will be little objection in other districts. He is the first regular Republican to come out with a formal announcement of his candidacy.

It is taken for granted that Assemblyman Perkins, of Westfield, is a candidate for re-election. As floor leader of the House he proved valuable to the regular organization during the last session and it is generally understood that he will be a party choice this fall. Like his colleague, Tillman, Perkins is strong in his home town.

With Perkins and Tillman on the ticket, it will only be necessary for the regulars to find another candidate. Assemblyman Everard Tucker, of Elizabeth, has declined to become a candidate for renomination. He is one of the leaders in the Colbyite movement but it is understood that no protest would be made against him on that score by the leaders of the regulars. There are half a dozen men anxious to get the nomination and all of them hail from Elizabeth. That city is conceded to be entitled to name the man and there is apt to be a lively scrimmage for the place.

As yet the Colbyites have been able to find no candidate. Judge W. N. Runyon, of this city, Efforts have been made time and again in various parts of the county to get men to announce themselves as candidates but without success.

POWER PLANT FOR CO. COURT HOUSE

FREEHOLDERS WANT TO SAVE ELECTRIC LIGHT AND WATER BILLS.

With an idea of doing away with private patronage and establishing an electric light and water plant of its own, the committee of buildings and public grounds was authorized at a meeting of the Union county Board of Freeholders Friday to investigate the feasibility of installing a power and electric light plant in the Court House to light the building, also to investigate the question of driving wells, installing machinery for the purpose of furnishing the Court House with water.

This action would mean the cutting off of the patronage given to the Public Service Corporation and the Elizabeth Water Company, which amounts to considerable in the course of a year. It is estimated that the county can furnish its own light and water for a great deal less money than its costs to buy it from private corporations.

A communication was received from the Union County Board of Equal Taxation asking the freeholders to furnish counsel. The freeholders directed the clerk to inform the board of taxation that William J. Codington, Esq., of this city, is the county attorney and his services are at the disposal of the board.

HYMEN RULES WHERE CITY FATHERS HOLD SWAY

MISS ANNA FARLEY AND STEPHEN KENNETT WED IN COUNCIL CHAMBER.

Cupid and Hymen held sway Saturday where the grave and dignified city fathers are wont to conduct their prosaic deliberations. Romance displaced the atmosphere of city bills and contract cases in the council chamber, when Justice Hezekiah Hand married Miss Anna Farley, of Terrill road, and Stephen Kennett.

The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock, with District Court Clerk Horace Adams and Deputy Sheriff Peter V. Weaver as witnesses. The old-fashioned ring ceremony was used. It was a marriage with an atmosphere of the law all about it. The council chamber is not only the District Court room, but Justice Hand is sergeant at arms of the court, and Deputy Sheriff Weaver has been a county constable for years.

The bride is the daughter of the late Anthony Farley, of Terrill road, who lived for 70 years in one house. Judge Hand was a life-long friend of the old man. The groom is well known among machinists as an old employee at the Potter shop. He has been with the press manufacturers for twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennett will live at 433 West Fourth street.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published by

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1900.

Promises made by candidates for office are generally of the pie-crust variety and the public has grown accustomed to their being broken as soon as the successful aspirant lands in office. "Things are different now" is the way a politician put it when he clinched his job and that about sums it up with the majority of office-holders.

Over in Pennsylvania, Judge Green, who wants to occupy the bench in the Clinton-Cameron-Elk district, has made a pledge of a binding kind and if he lives up to it the citizens in that section are going to have a model judge. Here is his platform, as declared by himself:

"During the time that it is my privilege any my honor to preside over the courts of this district I shall not in any manner or in any way or particular try to be a Republican, Democrat or be to a partisan Judge in any sense of the word. I shall appear on the bench of this judicial district so long as it is my privilege to serve without any affiliation of any interest or person whatever. I will be my purpose, with the best of my ability, to treat every person, be he rich or poor, or to whatever political party he may belong, without fear or favor."

What in the name of common sense are the sober and sound Democrats of New Jersey thinking of when they let former United States Senator Jim Smith be the principal representative of their party at the Bryan ovation? The foxy man from Newark was against Bryan heart and soul both times the Nebraskan was a candidate for President and now that he sees some chance of his leading a winning fight he wants to get aboard the band wagon. Men of "Jim" Smith's type are responsible in a great measure for the bad reputation the party enjoys and the sooner he is kicked out of its councils the better it will be for Democracy.

Pretty soon the Middlesex "new idea" men may awake to the fact that Theodore Strong is not a candidate for State Senator this year, and that attacks upon him will fall flat upon voters who are demanding to be shown reasons why they should not re-elect the ablest Senator who has represented Middlesex county in modern times, a demand to be fair satisfied.—New Brunswick Home News.

My, my, how the warm weather effects the "man on the desk!"

A New York paper devotes a column to an interview with Lord Rothschild in which the eminent financier is quoted as predicting Republican success in the next Presidential election. Probably he is right but the means employed to insure victory will not be those employed in the last two Presidential campaigns. In other words the result of the next contest will rest on the merits of the issues and not on the dollars.

The best "new idea" that has been sprung lately is that which limits campaign contributions to one dollar per head. The Republican National chairman claims to have put the scheme into practise but a Plainfield office-holder was the original dollar man, that being the amount of his contribution for several years past.

The Elizabeth ice dealers raised the price to sixty cents a hundred a week ago but when they heard the public clamor the rate was cut down again to fifty cents. Do you imagine for one moment that the Plainfield dealers would do as much?

As her third matrimonial partner, Fay Templeton takes "a Pittsburgh millionaire," but it is to be hoped for the sake of the fair comedienne that he will prove an exception to the rule of the Smoky City.

Everybody knows what Record's principles are. What they want to learn is who his principals are beside Everett Colby.

Another safe bet—Either Griggs or Stokes will be chosen as the successor of Dryden.

"How would you like to be the ice man" in Toledo or Philadelphia?

One safe bet—Record's withdrawal from the senatorial fight.

In a drunken carouse at the house of Mrs. John McFadden, of Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, William Downey was stabbed in the hand by the irate woman and badly hurt. The two spent the afternoon drinking with a party at Mrs. McFadden's house, next door to Carney's Hotel.

There was a disagreement between Downey and Mrs. McFadden and high words passed between them. Mrs. McFadden became very angry and seizing a large carving knife, reached across the table and stabbed Downey in the right hand. The man's hand was badly gashed, the thumb being nearly severed from the hand. There were no arrests.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Prince of India" is the greatest dramatic production ever made in this country and represents an outlay of over $100,00 in scenery and costumes alone. This great play is staged in a prologue and six acts, with thirteen scenes. These massive stage pictures represent the rock-tomb of Hiram, King of Tyre: Constantinople and the Golden Horn from Galatea: the home of the Prince of Iadia in Constantinople; the gate of Bischere on the Golden Horn and panorama of the Bosphorus: the walls of Constantinople during the siege: without the walls during the siege: within the walls during the siege: without the walls during the assault of the Turks; night on the broken wall, where the Prince of India, really the Great Warder, has been again the voice "Tarry Thou Till I Come," and finally, under the dome of Sancta Sophia, where Mahommed and Irene meet, acknowledge their love and the conqueror promises religious freedom to all her race under the Moslem flag. The scenes of the great storm on the Bosphorus, the assault on the walls of Constantinople and the interior of the church of Sancta Sophia, will prove revelations in stagecraft, even to the most blase New Yorker who has seen the battle and church scenes over 500 people will appear.

Robert Mantell, the foremost actor of the robust roles of Shakespeare, has called his company for rehearsal at his summer place, "Cherrywoods," Atlantic Highlands, N. J. He is to have a repertoire of seven Shakespearean plays the coming season, which will be given in Canada. As yet, it is not settled where in New York city he will appear; but time is reserved for him in both the New Amsterdam and Daly's theatres, while his manager, William A. Brady, may decide to put him into his own theatre, the Manhattan, which will be torn down next May. Marie Booth Russell will again be Mr. Mantell's leading woman.

NEW ENGLAND TAVERNS.

Rough and Ready Liquor Laws of the Early Days.

In the early settlement of New England taverns were found to be a necessity, and hence were established by law. They were usually under the sanction and surveillance of the town officials, says Mr. Hudson in "The History of Concord, Mass." and these officials had to grant, limit or revoke an innholder's license, either as a victualler or a seller of liquors.

The keeper of the ordinary might be a deacon, a military officer, a civil official or a member of the general court. His house was a convenient place for convocations, important or unimportant, and there might be held in it a parish meeting, a military election, a council of clergymen or an assessors' table.

So important was the ordinary that its affairs, such as the establishment of prices, the limitation of patronage and the quality and quantity of goods to be sold, were regulated by colonial law.

In order to discourage the use of strong drink at these places it was enacted about 1634 by the colonial court that not over a penny a quart should be charged for all purchased out of doors. In 1645 it was also ordered that not more than a penny a drink should be charged for any beverage. This was done to make the business of drunkselling unprofitable. At another time it was enacted by law that vintners, when they should sell good beer, "lest a traveler for want of it might purchase wine."

A law was passed at an early date by which a person appointed for the purpose could join a drinking company at a tavern and countermand any order made by any member of it for a drink in case he believed the member was drinking too much, and he could also direct how much liquor could be drunk.

At one time no tavern keeper was allowed to permit guests to remain at his house "tippling in an idle way." In 1664 a penalty was enacted for rude singing at inns, and the court also undertook at one time to determine how much a man might drink without being considered drunk.

BUILDING MOVED FROM HERSH & CO.'S PROPERTY.

H. A. Weber Has Bought Marcley House and Will Move It to Liberty Street.

Permit has been granted for the removal of the house on the estate of Michael E. Marclay, at Central avenue and West Second street, to 120-122 Liberty street, where the recent purchaser, H. A. Weber, is to have it placed. George Moyle, the contractor, is to move the building, and it will probably take a week to transfer it. The contractor will begin the work of moving Wednesday.

When the lot has been cleared of the building, the Hersh Grocery Co., of Elizabeth, who have bought the land, will erect a large store house and distributing office for the firm. A Newark architect is now at work upon the plans and it is expected that the work of construction will be commenced this month.

HELD UP TROLLEYS.

Passengers Insist On Right to Have a Seat.

Because he desired to sit on the front seat of a special baseball trolley car, Saturday afternoon, Borough Councilman Charles Lee held the car up for fifteen minutes at the Watching avenue stand. It was the last special to the ball grounds and the car was crowded, the only vacant place being the front seat.

Motormen have all received strict orders not to allow anyone to sit on that seat and if a passenger persists in doing so, the motorman must not start the car until he moves. Mr. Lee finally gave up his seat and the car proceeded.

Another car was held up during the afternoon on the Arlington ave nue line by H. C. Squires, who also insisted in riding on the front seat of a car. The delay in this case was not so long.

NOT A "NEW IDEA."

"Farmer Orator" James E. Martine, of Plainfield, declares that there is nothing now in the so-called "New Idea" movement, excepting the men proclaiming it. And that's about the size of it. The object is old—to get the "ins" out and the "outs" into the offices, and to advocate the personal interests of Record, Colby and Parker. All the old issues that have been advanced and discarded in the past, have been gathered into a declaration of principles and an attempt is being made to organize a new party out of the disappointed office-seekers, political wreckers, men with grievances and newcomers into the State who are seeking a short cut to official honors. Mr. Martine says he was invited by Record to join the movement, but declined, as he "had been shooting those very principles from one end of the State to the other for the last forty-five years." And the voters reflected them, as they will this year.—Trenton Evening Times.

Miss Steele, of Worcester, Mass., who has been visiting her parents in the West End, has returned home.

Mrs. F. E. Meisel, of Springfield, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsay, of Mountain avenue.

Dr. Charles Moore, of West Front street, is home from a pleasant outing.

Mrs. V. L. Frazee, of East Front street, has recovered from a severe illness.

Charles Rocap, of West Front street, has returned from an outing in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Watchung avenue, are at Lake Mohonk, N. Y.

Mrs. J. B. Tiger, of Norwood avenue, is home from a sojourn at Ocean Grove.

J. Whitney Baker, of Stelle avenue, is spending his vacation at Eastham, Mass.

The Misses Wood, of East Sixth street, are spending the month at Booth Bay, Maine.

Mrs. Charles Lister, of Asbury Park, has been visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Beebe, of Madison avenue, are home from a sojourn at Ellenville, N. Y.

Mrs. Rufus Lincoln, of West Eighth street, has returned home from her summer outing.

Cecil Trimmer, of this city, has returned from a sojourn of several weeks in Hunterdon county.

Roy Woodhull, of West Front street, is sojourning at Lake Hopatcong for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Warren, of Hillside avenue, are sojourning in Massachusetts for the month.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Robins and family, of Norwood avenue, are spending the summer at Liberty, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, and children, of Madison avenue, have gone to the country for a couple of weeks.

General Manager and Vice President W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, accompanied by his family, is enjoying a summer outing.

Miss Grace Clark, of Grandview avenue, is spending her two weeks' vacation near Stroudsburg, Pa., accompanied by her cousin from Newark.

President R. I. Tolles, of the Common Council, will leave the last of the week for Woodmont, Conn., where he will join his family for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Schomp, of West Front street, who have been sojourning at Asbury Park, have returned.

Buy your winter's coal now and get the benefit of summer prices. Order of John Johnson, South avenue.

Best and purest syrups and ice cream go to make up the delicious soda sold by P. B. Hodge, East Front street.

TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are prepared to fill your order for the winter supply at lowest market prices.

Catering of all kinds expertly attended to by D. Demolli & Co., West Front street. Give them your next commission in that line.

This damp, humid weather makes clothes lose their shape very soon. Suits cleaned and pressed at Hirsch's, Watchung avenue. Excellent custom department.

THIS NEW JERSEY'S LIST OF CONGRESSMEN.

Their Successors to Be Elected Next Fall—Six Have Served for Many Years.

New Jersey has ten members of Congress and their successors must be elected next fall to take office next March.

Six of these members have served long enough to become old members and one experienced member is worth more than several new members. The influence of certain New England and of many Southern members has grown because of their long continuous service, and New Jersey has been getting a place among the States which have seen enough to retain effective members.

The Jersey City Journal gives the following review of the personnel of the New Jersey delegation, and reasons why the voters should select all:

"H. C. Loudenslager in the first district has served since 1893, and is chairman of the Congressional committee of his party. He served ten years as county clerk of Gloucester county before he was sent to Congress.

"John J. Gardner, known very generally as "Old Brains," served his county fifteen years as a Senator before he was sent to Congress and his fourteen years' service there has made his re-election almost a necessity.

"Charles N. Fowler, in the Fifth district, is next in length of service and a very prominent member. He has served twelve years.

"Richard Wayne Parker, of the Seventh district, have each served twelve years successfully.

"Allan McDermott, of the Tenth district, is rounding out his eighth year. He declined to be a candidate for re-election on account of failing health. This being a Democrat district he will be succeeded by a Democrat and it is understood that James Hamill is to be the representative. He served in the State legislature a number of years and was his party's leader on the floor.

"W. H. Wiley, of the Eighth district, and Ira W. Wood, of the Fourth district, have each served four years and have done acceptably.

"H. C. Allen, of the Fifth district, has served but one term of two years, and it is not known whether he wants to return or not.

"Marshall VanWinkle, of the Ninth district, has served but two years."

Ingenious Jerseymen.

Patents issued to Jerseymen, by Drake & Co., solicitors of American and foreign patents, corner Broad and Market streets, Newark: Folding umbrella, F. L. Atherton, Paterson; railway traffic-controlling apparatus and system, H. Bezer, Westfield; magnesia cement, E. Bidtel, Hoboken; laying patterned cement, floors etc., Bidtel, Hoboken; making hydrosulfite solutions, F. S. Clarkson, Beverly; switch and signal apparatus, C. W. Coleman, Westfield; railway traffic-controlling system, C. J. Coleman, Rockaway; artificial animal head, F. Frankl, East Orange; three internal combustion engines, A. B. Goodspeed, Roseville; case for phonographic outfits, M. Hemstreet, Jr., North Bergen; knockdown shelving, G. Krahmer, Butler; core-making machine, W. H. Larrison, Florence; pleasure railway, A. Lauster and F. Jandt, Paterson; friction clutch mechanism, T. S. Miller, South Orange; mold for babbitting bearings, C. Remelius, Newark; matchmaking machine, C. D. Shrady, Passaic, and W. D. Stivers, Jersey City; automatic worsted balling machine, G. J. Torrance, Harrison; velocipede, S. Tyesouthick, Jersey City; liquor-raising apparatus, C. R. Young, Ridgewood; (tradesmark) three, spool cotton, sewing cotton and thread, American Thread Company, Jersey City; Havana cigars, Havana Commercial Co., Jersey City; (labels) "Skidew" (for a breath purifier), L. A. Miller, Orange.

ZEPHYR H. AND L. COMPANY AT HOOLIGAN'S GROVE.

Firemen Spent Day at Mountainside Sunday—Games, Banquet and Speeches in the Afternoon.

Members of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company had their annual summer outing at Hooligan's Grove on the mountains Sunday. Fourteen members and twenty-seven invited guests formed the party, which went to the park by trolley at 10 o'clock in the morning. During the morning the members spent the time in playing quoits and other games under the trees.

A big collation was served at noon, and there were speeches by W. W. Coriell, Assistant Chief Andrew Jennings and Joseph Blimm, treasurer of the association. During the afternoon there was singing by a quartette composed of Joseph Martin, Calvin Sutton, "Bige" Southern and George Stites. The members were photographed in a group in the afternoon and there was also a picture of the entire party taken. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Joseph Blimm, chairman, George Mehl, Charles Glaentzer, George Studer and Thomas Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakley W. Wean, of Milford, have been visiting Mr. Wean's brother, George B. Wean, of West Fourth street.

Mrs. A. W. Shipman, of Uniontown, Pa., has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weinberger, of Craig place.

G. F. SCHOONMAKER WINS GOLF HONORS

RETURNS LOW SCORE AT PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB.

The smallest crowd of the season turned out at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday afternoon, to contest for the several events. This was no doubt due to the fact that many members are away and the day was too warm for the stay-at-homes. There were about twenty players who posted their names for play, but a small percentage returned their scores. Another handicap was that owing to the recent heavy rains portions of the course were thoroughly water soaked, in some instances the greens being inundated.

Play was commenced for the August cup, offered by Henry D. Hilbard, but on account of the conditions prescribed, the result will not be known until the last Saturday in the month, the winner being determined by the best score for each hole returned. A number entered for this event.

With a score of 81, George F. Schoonmaker won a leg on the semi-scratch cup, and he also won the first three points for the Golf Committee cup with a net score of 71. He has followed the game more closely than ever this season and his low scores gives evidence of steady improvement.

Herbert S. Rogers won two points by returning the second best net score of 79, while Charles A. Stover had to be satisfied with the one remaining point, his score being an 80. Several other scores being pretty high, were not entered on the score card.

NEGRO FINDS RESISTING ARREST IS PAINFUL.

Sylvanus Johnson Has His Head Broken and Loses Five Dollars.

As a result of fighting with his wife in public and resisting the arrest that followed, Sylvanus Johnson, colored, is nursing a broken head and recollections of $5 that passed over the city court bar.

Johnson started the row with his wife Saturday night in the yard at the side of the Hotel Iroquois. When Proprietor Leary heard the noise he sent for the police, and Patrolmen Martin and McKeon came around. Johnson defied them, to arrest him and started to fight. The cops handled him as gently as may be, until he made toward his hip pocket. Then they fell on him like a blue-coated avalanche, and Sylvanus emerged from the storm a deserted ruin. His head was laid open and he had a feeling of woosines that overcame all tendencies toward badness. No gun was found on him.

Mayor Bunker listened coldly to Sylvanus attempts to justify himself Monday in court. He gave him his choice of paying the five or going to jail for twenty days.

Governor On Public Light.

In a letter to Village President Robert S. Sinclair, of South Orange, Governor Stokes gives his reasons for not signing the bill providing for the erection of a municipal lighting plant in South Orange, passed at the last session of the Legislature. The Governor says, in part: "During the session of the Legislature a number of bills on the subject of electric lighting were pending, all overlapping or contradicting in provision. I then suggested to the Legislature that they provide some comprehensive scheme that we might act upon. That request the Legislature failed to heed. At that time I said that I would not feel warranted in signing but one bill, believing that the subject would otherwise be seriously confused and legislation would be halting and unsatisfactory. I have already signed one bill, and it seems to me it would be better to build on this than to add more to the statute books."

Miss Ethel Weseman Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Weseman, of East Sixth street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethel Weseman, to Wistar M. Wistraub, of Philadelphia.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

FRELINGHUYSEN QUITS AS GOVERNOR'S AIDE

GIVES AS A REASON THAT DUTIES TAKE UP TOO MUCH OF HIS TIME.

At the close of the Sea Girt encampment Saturday, Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, chairman of the Somerset County Republican Committee, presented his resignation to Governor Stokes as his military aide. Because of his business duties, Colonel Frelinghuysen said he did not feel that he could be away for such a length of time in the summer.

The resignation may mean the detailing of one of the officers of the National Guard to the position. It is rumored that Governor Stokes will give the appointment to one of the members of his personal staff, which comprise Captain Harry Cramer, Captain Joseph Vickers, Captain Walter Edge and Captain Mahlon Margerum.

Colonel Frelinghuysen was a trooper in the New York National Guard, and is a Spanish-American war veteran.

NOT THE GREAT DEEDS BUT THE LITTLE THINGS

THESE ARE WHAT COUNT IN EVERY DAY LIFE, SAYS CLARE.

Addressing the mothers and children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Sunday afternoon, Rev. D. H. Clare, of Hamilton, N. Y., spoke on "Little Things" and their good and bad influence in every day life. His talk was especially to the New Yorkers at the Home and was simple and forceful. He said that to most people a good Christian man or woman was one who in his or her life time was known for some special deed which lifted one's fellow men to a broader and higher plane of good living. There are church workers of broad field and missionary life sacrifice for the good of Christianity.

But, the speaker said, this is a wrong interpretation of the Christian. Such persons are Christians, of course, but much more can be done in every day life by the little things which tend to improve or debase the life of a community. He quoted the parable of the cup of cold water in illustration of this point and said that more good could be accomplished by the little deeds in everyday life than the doer could appreciate. The kind word, the tactful remark, the little speech of encouragement are what count in this world.

Then, too, there is the other side, the evil effect of a thoughtless act or word. In illustration of this, the speaker referred to the harm done by the mosquito—all the annoyance and discomfort of the momentary bite of the little insect. He warned both old and young against the dangerous results of a spiteful act, an unkind word, or even a gloomy doleful look.

B. F. Hadley, of Leland avenue, was the leader of the meeting, of which music was a special feature. During the service, several gospel hymns were sung by a mixed choir from local church societies and the New Yorkers at the camp. Whitney Gifford sang "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love" on the cornet, and Miss Mary Miller, one of the elder children at the camp, sang the Glory Song so frequently used in the recent revival. Miss Mary Clare played the melodian.

First Baptist Church Supplies.

The supplies for the First Baptist church up to and including September 2 will be as follows: August 12, Rev. Dr. Bergen D. Stelle, of Philadelphia; August 19, morning, Rev. Dr. Harvey Wood, of New York; evening service in the interest of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Miss Curry, with twenty-four children, will be in attendance; August 26, Rev. Dr. L. A. Clevenger, of Somerville, Mass.; September 2, Rev. Dr. Edward Braislin, of New York.

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot Liberty St., N. R.

In Effect June 24, 1900.

For New York—2.36, 3.34, 4.37, 5.04, 6.02, 6.36, 6.57, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00 a. m., 12.02, 12.44, 1.35, 2.31, 3.09, 3.44, 4.13, 4.47, 5.04, 5.30, 6.02, 7.00, 7.32, 8.07, 9.07, 9.40, 10.30, 11.30 p. m. Sundays—2.36, 3.34, 4.37, 5.04, 6.02, 6.36, 7.45, 8.01, 8.32, 9.34, 9.49, 10.02, 10.32 a. m., 12.02, 1.07, 2.31, 3.09, 3.44, 4.01, 4.33, 4.49, 5.13, 5.37, 6.02, 10.32 p. m.

For Newark—2.36, 4.39, 6.57, 7.46, 7.35, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.40, 1.40, 2.40, 3.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m. Sundays—2.40, 4.39, 7.46, 8.30, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30 a. m., 12.40, 1.40, 2.40, 3.40, 4.40, 5.40, 6.40, 7.40, 8.40, 9.40, 10.40, 11.40 p. m.

For Somerville—6.19, 7.11, 8.21, 9.17, 9.55, 11.00 a. m., 1.01, (1.41 Saturday only), 2.03, 3.17, 4.20, 5.25, 6.19, 7.11, 8.36, 9.57, 10.54, 2.15, 3.36, 7.12, 7.32, 8.06, 8.37, 10.32, 11.36 p. m. Sundays—Express only—9.17, 10.54 a. m., 2.40, 5.42, 9.45, 11.19 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 1.17, 2.03, 3.17, 4.20, 5.25, 6.19, 7.11, 11.36 p. m.

For Flemington—7.11, 11.00 a. m., 2.11, 5.25, 6.19 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 1.27 p. m.

For Phillipsburg and Easton—6.35, 8.21, 9.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.29, 6.47 and 6.55 p. m. Sundays—8.42, 9.45 a. m., 1.27, 5.29 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6.35, 8.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.29, 6.47 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 2.05, 5.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Milltown, Dunellen, Spring Lake, Sea Side—6.02, 9.45, 11.19 a. m., 2.02, 3.40, 5.37, 7.05, 8.30, 10.16, 11.14, 11.52 p. m.

For Flemington—7.11, 11.00 a. m., 2.11, 5.25, 6.19 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 1.27 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc. (Red Bank only)—7.11, 11.00 (12.44 Saturday only), 2.03, 5.25, 6.19, 11.36 p. m. Sundays—8.42, 9.45 a. m., 1.17, 2.03, 5.29, 6.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Red Bank—8.21, 9.36, 11.21, 11.00 a. m., 1.01, (1.41 Saturday only), 2.03, 3.17, 4.20, 5.25, 6.19, 7.11, 8.36, 9.57, 10.54, 11.36 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 1.17, 2.03, 3.17, 4.20, 5.25, 6.19, 7.11, 11.36 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—8.21, 9.36 a. m., (12.44 Atlantic City Express Saturday only), 1.01, (1.41 Saturday only), 2.49 p. m. Sundays—8.53 a. m.

For Toms River and Barnegat—8.11 a. m., 2.49 p. m.

For Philadelphia—8.16, 7.44, 9.25, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.22, 3.42, 5.06, 6.46 p. m., 12.17 night. Sundays—8.16, 9.25, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.22, 2.45, 5.42, 6.55, 8.39, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 12.17 night. Sundays—Express only—8.16, 9.25, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.22, 2.45, 5.42, 6.55, 8.39, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 12.17 night.

For Trenton—8.16, 7.44, 9.47, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 3.42, 6.44, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—8.16, 9.47, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 2.42, 4.55, 6.44, 8.46, 11.56 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Reading and Harrisburg—8.26, 9.55 a. m., 2.11, (6.47 through train). Sundays—8.53, 5.47 p. m.

For Pottsville, Sunbury and Williamsport—8.26, 9.59 a. m., 2.11 p. m. Sundays—8.53 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—1.17, 8.47, 10.42 a. m., 12.42, 3.42, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.42 a. m., 12.22, 2.45, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

Chicago cars at Round Brook.

W. G. BESLER, G. M. BURT, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Lehigh Valley Railroad

Time table in Effect, May 20th, 1900.

LEAVE SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.:

1.55 a. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Mauch Chunk.

8.42 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Rochester, Buffalo, Suspension Bridge, Principal intermediate stations.

10.30 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Ithaca, Buffalo and Chicago.

1.57 p. m. daily, local for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton, Pottsville and Shenandoah.

4.58 p. m. daily (except Sunday) "Wilkesbarre Express" for Scranton, solid vestibule train to Wilkesbarre, through Parlor Car to Buffalo. N. H. R. R. to Scranton and Carbondale.

6.21 p. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Easton.

6.40 p. m. daily, solid vestibule train to Buffalo, Toronto and Chicago and principal intermediate stations except Rochester.

FRANK ROWLEY, City Ticket Agent, 218 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 112.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m.

On Saturdays close half hour later.

Arrive—7.30, 9.40, 11.30 a. m.; 2.30, 6.00, 7.45 p. m.

Close—7.30, 9.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 7.45 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.30, 5.15 and 7.50 p. m.

Close—8.40 a. m.; 1.45 and 6.30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.20 and 5.20 p. m.

Close—7.30 p. m.; 2.40, 2.50, 6.00 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA—West (Market Street Station).

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.30, 5.20 p. m.

Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30 and 6.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7.30, 8.30, 11.30 a. m.; 2.30 and 7.00 p. m.

Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 12.35, 4.55, 7.45 p. m.

Through fast mail for West and South close at 1.30 and 7.45 p. m.

Through fast mail for East, close 1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

WATCHUNG, WARRENVILLE AND GALLIA (Mt. Bethel.)

Arrive—1.30 p. m. Close—8.00 a. m.

Watchung—Arrive—8.40 p. m. Close 1.30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9.30 to 10.30 a. m.

Mail closes at 4.15 p. m.

E. H. BIRD, P. M.

Miss Lillian A. Force, of Duer street, and Miss Ernestine C. Smith, of Madison avenue, have returned from a delightful two weeks' outing in the White Mountains.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who is spending the summer at Easthampton, L. I., was in town yesterday, being called her to attend the funeral of Charles E. Brooks.

Allen E. Beals, formerly of The Daily Press reportorial staff, but now with The Evening Times, Elizabeth, has been visiting Plainfield friends for a few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Jerome Brown, of New York, are spending the summer in the Adirondacks. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Grace E. Overton, of the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp and son, Wesley Sharp, of West Front street, are spending their vacation at Phillipsburg and other points in Hunterdon county.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Johnston, of Summit avenue, will start on their summer outing the latter part of the month, a portion of which they will spend in the mountains.

Mrs. Edward Feyffer and daughter, Miss Edna Feyffer, of Leroy, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Feyffer's brother, A. E. Willard, of West Front street.

HIS FIRST BALL GAME

Martine Sees Newspaper Men Play, and Has New Experience.

NEWARK WON AGAIN

Managed To Squeeze Out a Victory By One Run—Plainfielders Entertained At a Dinner.

For the first time in his life, James E. Martine saw a ball game, Saturday afternoon. He went with the Consolidated Newspaper team to Newark, where they met the Newark News nine in their second game. It was not much of a game that Farmer Orator saw, but what there was to it furnished him with a new experience.

He was stirred by the contest, and absorbed enough of the technique of the sport as the innings went on to follow the plays without too much entanglement.

In speaking of the sport at the dinner that followed the contest, Mr. Martine said he did not know just how it happened that he never had gone to a baseball game. He had always been interested in sports, and had always urged his friends, young and old, to engage in some or all forms of it. He believed Roosevelt would not be where he was but for his active interest in athletics. It was perhaps because his beloved politics had so filled his life that he had never seen two earnest bands of young men struggle for supremacy on the diamond.

Baseball had been called to his attention before that day, he continued humorously. A friend had said, for instance, that although he had never played on a diamond, he had been bawling in another way all his life.

Mr. Martine's introduction to the game was not exactly thrilling. It was not exactly baseball as it is played in the best circles that he saw. It was more like a hot competition between nines to see who could lose. Newark succeeded by one run. Captain Hacquer's men quit scoring at fourteen in their half of the ninth, and promptly seized the first chance that the Newarks' bat offered to let in the run that trimmed them.

True to their training, both teams had one frenzied blow-up, during the progress of which the ball went everywhere, seeking a friendly mitt in vain. Nobody would have anything to do with it. The batters stung it on the nose, and the fielders picked it up only to hurl it madly upon an unfeeling world far from home and kindred. Fozzy Firstbrook hated it so that he threw it from his ballwick at third cushion into a rainbarrel a quarter of a mile away. Banghart, the Plainfielder on the third sack, tried to outdo Fozzy and hit a chicken in the next lot.

There were some thrilling moments, though. Plainfield fought an uphill fight all the way, and gurgles and cheers were uncorked on occasion, when the losing host would fight to within striking distance of the enemy. In the ninth, a hangover batting rally and some errors brought them neck and neck with Newark, 14 to 14, and the noises the Plainfield rooters made, led by the Farmer Orator, made the air ache. The first man up for Newark, Reeves, scored the run that ended the game on a hit and a packet of bungles.

Bob Hoffman was in the box for Plainfield, with Scott at the other end of the battery. They worked snappily, but their mates wouldn't play up to them. Hoffman kept the balls where they could be reached for the most part, but none of the men back of him wanted to reach them.

Hughes, who pitched the winning game against Plainfield here, started in for Newark, but he tired in the seventh, and Reeves took his place. Reeves is a twirler that gets real money for wagging his arm, but he preserved the spirit of the contest and lobbed only slow curves over.

The game was played at Heidelburg Park, in Orange, on the grounds of the Maplewood Hotel. After the game the Plainfielders were entertained at a dinner at the hotel.

Mr. Martine was the guest of honor. His speech, heavy with sweet things about newspapers and newspaper men, made the longest hit of the feed. Frank Allen spoke for the Newarkers. R. L. Morrow, city editor of The Press, and Bob Hoffman, spoke in humorous vein. They tried to make Fozzy and "Colonel" Arch Hacquer speak, but they crawled under the table and refused to come out until speechmaking was called off. Ed Seering also ducked the oratorical glory. Sporting Editor Joseph Norton, of the News, was an admirable toastmaster.

The two games have led to such pleasant times, that arrangements for a continuance of the contests are being made. The News nine will come to Plainfield in two or three weeks.

The nines lined up as follows: Plainfield—Hoffman, p; Scott, c; Sullivan, 1b; Vail, 2b; Dunn, ss; Banghart, 3b; Hacquer, lf; Waters, cf; Woolley, rf. Newark—Hughes, Reeves, p; Higgins, c; Norton, 1b; Gunn, 2b; Reeves, Hughes, ss; Firstbrook, 3b; Flarity, lf; Feeney, cf; Allen, rf.

Umpire—William Tribune Lambert.

TWO NEW MEMBERS

To Meet at Elizabeth on Friday to Effect Permanent Organization.

First Registry Day September 2 and Second On September 11—Final Meeting on October 23.

The Union County Board of Registry and Elections will meet at the court house, Elizabeth, Friday afternoon, for the purpose of effecting an organization. Robert Kirkland, of Elizabeth, and Walter L. Hetfield, 2d., of this city, are two new members of the body, having been appointed but a few days ago by Governor Stokes. The meeting will be called to order at 2:30 o'clock.

The clerks at the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton were kept busy yesterday making preparations to notify New Jersey election officers for the preliminaries to the election November 6. Canvassing books, poll books, register books, copies of the election laws, pamphlets of instruction for election officers and voters, and blanks for election returns were received and filed. They will be sent to the county clerks next week.

The first registry day in the state will be September 4 in districts outside of cities having 20,000 inhabitants. On that day the boards will meet and proceed to make a house to house canvass, which must be completed on or before September 7.

The election boards of these districts will hold their second meeting September 11, when voters will register personally or by affidavit. The final meeting of the election boards of these districts will be held October 9 for the revision and correction of registry lists.

The first meeting of the election boards of cities of more than 30,000 inhabitants will be September 25, for the purpose of registering voters, and on the same day primary elections will be held in every election district in the state. A second meeting of election boards of cities of this class will be held October 9 for the revising and correcting of registers.

The final meeting of election boards of cities of this class will be held October 23. All of these meetings will take place between the hours of 1 and 9 p. m.

COCHRAN AND BROWN WIN COUNTRY CLUB TITLE

THEY ARE SEASON'S CLUB CHAMPIONS—PLANFIELD TITLE IN SINGLES.

By winning their match in the final round against Albert D. Beers and W. G. Glenney at the club courts Saturday afternoon, Harry J. Cochran and Wylie Brown secured the title of champion pair of the Plainfield Country Club for the season. The club tournament was begun several months ago and matches were played up to the final round. At this time Beers' team mate, W. L. Glenney, had trouble with his eyes and the final round was postponed until this month. The match went to Cochran and Brown in straight sets, 6-0, 7-5, and 6-3. At that time in the first set, the runners-up made their opponents fight hard for the second set, but weakened for the last. As holders of the club championship, Cochran and Brown received handsome silver cups, appropriately engraved, presented by the club.

Match play in the men's singles tournament for the championship title of Plainfield was continued up to the finals on the Country Club courts Saturday. This tournament was open to all Plainfielders, but the Country Club players put all others out of the running in the first two rounds. By winning their matches in the semi-final round, Albert D. Beers and Harry J. Cochran are to meet in the final play for the title. In the last match of the third round, Fred W. Goddard won from Harry Carter, 6-3 and 7-5, but in the semi-finals Goddard went down before Cochran in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. Beers won handily from W. T. Glenney in the other match of the semi-finals, 6-3 and 6-1. Cochran and Beers are to play the match in the final round at the Country Club courts next Saturday afternoon.

Cricket at Bound Brook.

An exciting league game in the New York Cricket Association tournament was played at East Bound Brook Saturday afternoon. Kings County 11 eleven defeated Bound Brook Cricket Club by a margin of one run. The score was 63 to 62. F. Gauthier, wh-oscored 12; J. Gordon, 16, and C. Nugent, 20, not out, for the Bound Brooks, did the best work, while L. Gould, 16; G. Hunt, 16, and A. Schooldon, 17, no out, did well. Bound Brook Club stands second in the tournament, having won seven and lost two games. Next Saturday Manhattan C. C., of New York, will play at Bound Brook.

PLAINFIELD AND QUAKER GIANTS

Play Great Game at Crescent Oval.

HENRIQUES FINE WORK

Deadstero and Dusky Brates Give Great Exhibition—Darkness Ends Contest.

When "Weather Prophet Devoe" predicted that the thermometer on Saturday would be 110 degrees he must have had in mind the baseball game scheduled between Plainfield and the Philadelphia Quaker Giants, for the contest was the warmest of the season. After stubbornly fighting for fourteen innings, neither side was able to get the advantage and the battle ended in a tie, 7 to 7. It was one of those hair-raising contests, abounding in brilliant, sensational plays, with "Mistah" Monroe thrown in to provide loads of fun for everybody.

"Phil" Smith occupied the box for the Daabsters, while he was opposed by Earl. The High School twirler did himself proud and had a little the best of the argument, allowing but eleven hits, while twelve were made off of Earl. The longer Smith pitched, the better he worked and barring a few misplays by his mates would have won out.

Stapleton, who covered left garden for Plainfield, was responsible for two runs in the fourth inning by an inexcusable error in misjudging a fly. He had plenty of time to get it, but was too late. He made another error in the eleventh inning and with O'Neil's assistance in failing to hold a ball thrown by Captain Leonard, allowed another run. However, Henriques prevented a defeat in the fourteenth inning by the quick return of the ball to O'Neil in completing a double play.

The locals scored two runs in the second stanza by the aid of a couple of free passes, a couple of errors by Binga, Goodman and O'Neil. They tallied in the next inning on singles by Heffron and Snow and an error by Molina. They were then shut out until the eighth inning, when they scored another run on an error of Buckner, a sacrifice by Snow and a hit by O'Neil.

The Giants tallied one run in the third, two in the fourth and one in the ninth and there was nothing more doing until the thirteenth inning, when the Giants by bunching three hits and a sacrifice scored three runs. It looked as though the game was won thy hem at this point, until the Daabsters connected with Earl for four singles, Stapleton, Goodman, Leonard and O'Neil each getting one. Henriques then brought the crowd to its feet by slamming the leather sphere to deep left for a double, bringing Stapleton, Goodman and O'Neil home and tieing the score. The Giants wanted to quit then, but were induced to play one more inning. No runs resulted and the game was called. A little shower stopped play for a few minutes at the end of the eleventh inning, but did not interfere with the game's progress afterward. The score:

PLAINFIELD.

	AB.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Stapleton, lf	7	1	1	2	0	1
Goodman, 2b	7	1	2	4	3	1
Henriques, 1b	7	0	1	19	1	0
Reardon, cf	5	0	0	1	0	0
Leonard, 3b	6	1	1	1	7	0
Heffron, rf	7	3	2	1	0	0
Snow, ss	6	0	2	2	2	0
O'Neil, c	6	1	3	10	1	1
Smith, p	6	0	0	2	5	0
	57	7	12	42	19	5

PHILA. QUAKER GIANTS.

	AB.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Monroe, ss	6	2	2	1	3	1
Valdez, 2b	7	0	2	2	3	0
Patterson, lf	6	0	1	5	0	0
Payne, rf	7	0	1	2	0	0
Buckner, 1b	7	0	1	14	0	1
Binga, 3b	6	1	1	2	3	2
Barton, cf	5	2	2	3	0	0
Molina, c	6	1	2	9	1	1
Earl, p	6	2	1	1	2	0
	55	7	11	42	17	5

Plainfield 0 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 3 0—7
Giants .0 0 1 2 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 3 0—7

Earned runs—Plainfield, 3; Quaker Giants, 3. First base on errors—Plainfield, 4; Quaker Giants, 4. Left on bases—Plainfield, 12; Quaker Giants, 12. Struck out—By Smith, 5; by Earl, 3. First base on balls—Off Smith, 3; off Earl, 6. Three base hits—Buckner. Two base hits—Goodman, Henriques, Valdez. Sacrifice hits—Henriques, Smith, Snow, Valdez, Molina, 2. Stolen bases—Heffron. Double plays—Smith to Henriques, Henriques to O'Neil, Monroe to Binga. Hit by pitcher—Molina, Binga and Monroe. Time—2 hours. Attendance—700. Umpire—Merkly.

A Belated Announcement.

Marriage of Katie A. Haley, of Park avenue, and Rudolph A. Bourgeois, of East Front street, took place in New York on December 15, 1905. The groom formerly worked in the Brooklyn Navy Yard but is now employed as superintendent of a large machine shop in Mexico. The bride says she expects to join her husband in the near future. The marriage was kept quiet on account of the death of the bride's mother.

NEW MARKET HAS A SABBATARIAN JUSTICE

SQUIRE CLARK, OF THAT VILLAGE, WON'T ISSUE BAIL ON SATURDAY.

Justice Clark Rogers, of New Market, is a Seventh-Day Baptist. He refused to desecrate his Sabbath on Saturday by issuing bail. The application was made on behalf of Edgar Caffee, of Lincoln, who was arrested Saturday morning, on a complaint sworn out by his wife, who charged him with threatening her.

The warrant was issued by Justice Rogers on Friday afternoon, on a complaint sworn to before Justice Von Minden. Friends of Caffee offered to go his bail, and application was made before Justice Rogers. He refused to consider him. His conscience, he said, would not permit him to do any sort of work not absolutely necessary on the seventh day.

Caffee's friends telephoned to Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, 2d., and he hurried to the prisoner's rescue. He got bail in $200 for his client before Justice A. W. Warden, of Dunellen.

PASTORS WERE AWAY; OTHERS PREACH HERE.

Local Pulpits Filled Yesterday by Visiting Ministers.

A majority of the local pulpits were occupied Sunday by out-of-town preachers. Rev. Dr. Bergen D. Stelle, of Philadelphia, preached at the First Baptist church, morning and evening, and had charge of the communion service in the morning. Rev. Daniel H. Clare, of Hamilton, N. Y., preached at the Park Avenue Baptist church in the morning. There was no evening service.

Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, of Marconnet, Va., occupied the pulpit of Rev. Cornelius Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church, Sunday morning, and delivered a fine sermon on "Our Fellowship with the Father and His Son Jesus Christ," taking his text from the last clause of the third verse of the first epistle of First John. The salient points of his sermon was our victory over sin, our perfect peace, our great joy—all these and more does the humble disciples of Christ enjoy on earth if they only live up to the teachings of the text.

Rev. Dr. John W. Hancher, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, occupied the pulpit at the First M. E. church. Rev. Dr. George Whitney, president emeritus of Centenary Institute, Hackettstown, preached at Grace M. E. church in the morning and the Epworth League took charge of the evening service. Frank Miller had charge of the song.

Rev. Dr. James M. Whiton, editor of The Outlook, occupied the pulpit at the Congregational church in the morning. There was no evening service. Rev. Dr. Henry L. Mott, of Trinity Presbyterian church, Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church in the morning. There was no evening service. Rev. William Dayton Roberts, of the Temple Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church, morning and evening. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor, preached at Warren chapel, and had charge of the communion service in the morning. Rev. George Bowers preached at Faith chapel, morning and evening.

Rev. Dr. John Egar, of the borough, officiated at the services in Grace church, Sunday morning and at the 5 o'clock service in the afternoon. A clergyman of the Church of England, officiated at Holy Cross church services.

WILLIAM JEFFERY ENTERTAINS

He Gives Clam-Bake at Berkeley Heights.

William Jeffery, the real estate broker, entertained over 100 friends at a clam-bake given in the old saw mill at Berkeley Heights, Saturday afternoon. In addition to the feast there were vocal solos by William Jeffery and Francis E. Bodin, banjo selections by Frank C. Schaffer, piano selections by Abraham Wyse and soprano solos by Miss Orpha Milligan. In the evening there was dancing and other amusements. Some of those present were:

William Jeffery and family, Francis E. Bodin and family, A. C. Pleydell, North Plainfield; W. R. Hillyer, Staten Island; R. W. Wright and family, Newark; A. J. Davis, New York; C. H. Clark, National City Bank, New York; R. S. Fiedler, Orange; W. Woolston, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beresford, C. Stagg, of New York; Miss Halsell, Brooklyn; Mrs. Seidel, North Plainfield; F. Holland, Col. and Mrs. Parker, Plainfield.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mamie Eick, formerly of Whitehouse, but now of this city, and George Herman, of East Third street. The wedding will take place in September.

Spraying Machine Damaged.

One of the machines to be used in spraying trees to destroy the elm beetle, dropped off a truck in the vacant lot back of Timbo's restaurant on Saturday and was damaged to such an extent that it will probably be necessary to get another machine. This work is to be in charge of A. W. Swain, of Boston, and will be under the direction of the councilmanic street committee.

PUBLIC SERVICE LINES SHORT OF MOTORMEN

EXTRA WORK FOR THOSE IN SERVICE—BREAKING IN RECRUITS.

Lack of motormen is bothering the management of the local division of the P. S. C. For nearly a week, the men on the front end of the cars have been doing extra tricks to keep the lines moving.

The shortage of men was explained at the district office on Watchung avenue this morning as due to the usual restlessness of the men, which leads to resignations and to sickness. It is the busiest season of the trolley year, all the lines running under full pressure, particularly those to the beaches.

Ten new motormen are being broken in, and it is hoped to have the complement filled by Thursday. In the meantime, the men now at work fill in on extra trips. It was explained at the office this morning that none of the men are compelled to work extra, but that a certain percentage of them are always glad of a chance to make the money they get for the extra tricks.

DUNELLENITES VICTIMS OF HARD LUCK.

Cranford Took the Game 1 to 0, Scoring on Pass, Error and Only Hit of Game.

Playing in most discouraging hard luck at Cranford Saturday, the Dunellen nine was defeated by a single run, the score being 1 to 0. It was a game in which there was every reason to suppose that Dunellen would win out, Randolph pitched a good game, allowing but one hit and fanning fifteen men, and the Dunellenites made but a single error. But there was a hoodoo in the air for the local boys. Sensational fielding by the Cranfordites, good playing on the bases, and rabbit's foot luck in the third gave them the run that meant the game.

In this inning Page drew a pass from Randolph and went down on a wild throw for Penrose, who got all mixed up trying to handle Whitemore's grounder. Banks then came to the bat and lifted a high fly to first base. Peacock misjudged the ball and Page came home with the only run of the game. The Dunellenites steadied down after this and though there were men on second and third, and none gone Randolph finished the session by striking out the next three batters.

The score:

DUNELLEN.

	R.	R.	PO.	A.	E.
Fletcher, 2b	0	0	1	1	0
Giles, c	0	0	14	3	0
Windblown, rf	0	1	0	0	0
Garretson, cf	0	0	0	0	0
Peacock, lf	0	0	7	0	0
Gilmore, 3b	0	0	2	0	0
Lake, lf	0	0	0	0	0
Randolph, p	0	1	0	4	0
Penrose, ss	0	1	0	0	1
	0	3	24	8	1

CRANFORD.

	R.	R.	PO.	A.	E.
Whitemore, lf	0	0	4	0	0
Banks, cf	0	1	1	0	0
Cooper, 1b	0	0	8	0	0
Bargoss, ss	0	0	2	1	0
Smith, 2b	0	0	2	2	0
Hoe, c	0	0	5	1	0
Edgecomb, p	0	0	0	1	0
Cox, rf	0	0	1	0	0
Page, 3b	1	0	3	5	0
	1	1	27	10	0

Dunellen .....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
Cranford .....0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 x—1

Earned runs—0. First base on balls—Off Randolph, 6; off Edgecomb, 1. Hit by pitcher—Smith. Struck out—By Randolph, 15; by Smith, 5. Umpire—Mr. O'Sullivan.

WON'T DENY RELIGION FOR BUSINESS' SAKE.

Italian Fruit Dealer Shows Scruples Over Sunday Law Evasion.

Giulian Cinquegrain, a wholesale and retail fruit dealer, was arraigned in the city court Monday morning for keeping his store at 405 Watchung avenue open on Sunday without going through the motions of being a Seventh Day worshipper.

Giulian has been in the city only a short time and he didn't know the intricacies of Sunday selling. Mayor Buckle suspended sentence with a warning to keep closed one day. One of the court officers suggested Saturday.

"Closa Saturday?" exclaimed Giulian indignantly. "I noa Jew. I noa change a relig' for beeziness. No! Not if I sell a slice on a Jew day."

A spectator explained the Sunday opening game to Giulian. He shrugged his shoulders.

"A funna beeziness," he said. "I closa on Monday."

Chief Kiely advised him to see a lawyer. The chief announced after the trial that he intended to get after several Italian storekeepers who have selling on Sunday as soon as Corporation Counsel Marsh got home from his vacation and could take charge of the prosecution.

"I am waiting for the Corporation Counsel," said the chief, "because I want to go at those people right."

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith, of 740 West Front street, this city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mabelle A. Smith, to Louis Olson Barton, a member of the Union County bar. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Miss Addie Weaver, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting her father, Peter V. Weaver, of East Front street, for several weeks, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Currin, of Mountain avenue, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. David Turkington and Miss Turkington, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Smith, of West Fourth street, have returned from their outing spent at Mt. Minsi, and Easton, Pa.

DIED.

O'SULLIVAN—In this city, August 3, 1906, after a lingering illness, Margaret, beloved wife of P. J. O'Sullivan, in her 38th year.

MILLER—On Thursday, August 2, 1906, Elmyra A., wife of Daniel R. Miller.

FRENTZ—At Scotch Plains, on Monday, Aug. 6, 1906, Emma, wife of Augustus G. Frentz, aged 63 years.

Funeral Friday, 2.30 p. m.

BROOKS—On Friday, August 3, 1906, Charles Edward Brooks, son of the late Mitchell C. Brooks, of New York.

GORMAN—On Friday, August 3, 1906, Russell B., son of Walter B. and May Gorman, aged 8 months.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare or valuable; write at once for full particulars and inclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago.

c 7 19 18

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO MINNIE HALL AND GRACIE ROGERS.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein William M. Stillman, executor of the last will and testament of Daniel F. Randolph, deceased, is complainant, and you and others, defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint on or before the twenty-first day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you. The said bill is filed for construction of the will of said Daniel F. Randolph and for the performance of contract of sale made between said complainant and Minnie E. Stephenson of certain lands and premises in the city of Plainfield aforesaid, known as No. 240 West Seventh Street in said city; that the names of all the defendants to said suit are as follows, Minnie E. Stephenson, Theodore F. Randolph, Lillietta F. Runk, individually and as executrix of the last will and testament of Mary F. Randolph, deceased, and as administrator of the estate of Alice F. Randolph, deceased, Minnie Hall and Gracie Rogers.

And you the said Minnie Hall and Gracie Rogers are made defendants herein because you have an interest in said real estate or in the proceeds of sale thereof, under the will of said Daniel F. Randolph, deceased.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. STILLMAN,
Solicitor for complainant.
Office and P. O. address,
Plainfield, New Jersey.

Dated July 20, 1906. 7 26 6

There are no more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other 10 cent pattern. This is on account of their style, accuracy and reliability.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern free each month.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or large cash commissions. Catalogue and sample copies and Premium Catalogue showing our premiums sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Burt L. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so popular. Each book is one of the best issued and fairly blossom with wit and humor. Attractively bound in cloth, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson in South.
Jack Henderson on Matrimony.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson on Expenses.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues. Price per copy 50c. per set, $2.50; postpaid. For sale at booksellers or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
395-397 Broadway, New York.

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books.

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 23d Street New York City

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I Believe in every man running his own business at all times and in cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

PATENTS

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second streets

Tinners,
Plumbers
and
Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers prices. Bring your tinware mending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We have none but very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Hangers, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. Good salary guaranteed or liberal extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house, fine chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income and future. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. B. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenues

First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGENT

OFFICE,

RECOMMENDS SPECIAL ELECTION ON CONSOLIDATION

But Action on Borough Consolidation Committee's Report is Deferred Until September.

THE PLAN PRACTICABLE

Report Relates Findings of Joint Committee and Suggests An Election Be Held In December.

Another delay of the consolidation question, so far as North Plainfield is concerned, was occasioned Friday night by the absence of Mayor Smalley and other members of the Borough Council at the meeting of that body last night. A favorable report was presented by the special committee, but after being accepted it was laid on the table until September, when it is hoped to have a better attendance.

Charles A. Lee, chairman of the consolidation committee, presided in Mayor Smalley's absence and the only other councilmen present were Edward P. T. Smith, Frank Krewson and G. VanArsdale. The municipal merger matter was the chief thing of interest.

The report favors consolidation without change of county lines and declares that the scheme is a feasible one. It recommends that a special election be held for that purpose in December and that in the meantime two citizens be named for membership on a commission on ways and means for consolidating. It is provided that Plainfield will also name two members and that the fifth be a Plainfielder chosen by the four appointed members.

The report follows:

"Your committee, appointed at the request of the Board of Trade, to meet with a similar committee appointed by the City Council of Plainfield and a committee appointed by the Board of Trade to consider the advisability of presenting to the people the question of consolidating Plainfield and North Plainfield without change of county lines, begs to report as follows:

"Your committee met on June 15th last, all the members of the committee being present, and the committees from the Plainfield Council and the Board of Trade being also represented at the meeting. An organization was effected by the election of the Hon. Charles J. Fisk, chairman, and Borough Councilman Lee secretary.

"It was the unanimous sentiment of this joint committee, expressed by resolutions adopted at the meeting referred to, that the people of the City and Borough should be given an opportunity at the ballot to decide whether or not they desire to consolidate the two municipalities under one local government.

"It was also unanimously agreed that the question of consolidation without disturbing county lines should be given a fair trial, and it was unanimously agreed to recommend to the governing bodies of the two municipalities that a special election be held in accordance with Assembly Bill No. 155 of the Laws of New Jersey of 1903, entitled "An act to unite and consolidate the municipal corporations known as the inhabitants of the city of Plainfield in the county of Union and the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield."

"It was the general sentiment at the meeting referred to that this election should be held in the latter part of September of the present year, but your committee has given the matter further and deliberate consideration and in view of the general elections to be held next November, and the campaign preceding such elections, we recommend that the date of this election be fixed at some time in December next instead of September.

"It was further unanimously resolved by the joint committee referred to that a commission be appointed by the governing bodies or elected by the people, such commission to consist of two citizens of Plainfield and two citizens of North Plainfield, and that these four commissioners when so elected or appointed should choose a fifth member, who should be a citizen of Plainfield.

"Your committee therefore recommends that the Mayor and Council of this borough proceed at once to the appointment of two citizens to serve on this commission. It being thought advisable that these commissioners should formulate a plan of consolidation in advance of the general election proposed so that when the question is brought before the people they may know as nearly as can be ascertained on what lines it is proposed to unite the two municipalities.

"It was further resolved by the joint committee referred to that all the acts of this commission should be subject to the control of the governing bodies of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

"In conclusion your committee desires to say that the proposition now before us differs from any heretofore made on this subject. In the first place, it is proposed that no disturbance should be made of county lines. The annexation election held about four years ago was based upon changing county lines, hence it cannot be said that those who voted against and succeeded in defeating the proposition expressed themselves at that time upon the present question. Furthermore your committee believes that conditions have changed, that certain sections of the borough at the present time are very much in need of sewers and that the Plainfield system has now been improved and developed to a point where it inspires confidence, so that it may be thought by certain of our citizens that the surest, quickest and cheapest way to sewer the thickly settled portions of the borough is to unite with Plainfield. In any case it seems to your committee fair that the people should have a chance to express their convictions on this subject by ballot.

"Your committee has also looked into the question of municipal consolidation in two or more counties and has found that in New York, London and elsewhere such a consolidation does exist and is practicable. This being an accomplished fact elsewhere it seems fair that we as the governing body should give the people of the borough a chance to say whether or not they wish to try it here."

12 YEARS PENALTY BELCHER MUST PAY

ABSCONDING EX-MAYOR OF PATERSON RECEIVED THAT SENTENCE.

Paterson, Aug. 4.—William H. Belcher, former mayor, was sentenced to twelve years in State prison yesterday by Judge Scott, who returned from Maine for the purpose. Belcher pleaded guilty to six indictments for embezzlement read by Prosecutor Emley, most of them in connection with the Manchester Building and Loan Association, which Belcher wrecked. The returned fugitive walked very lame with rheumatism, looked neither right nor left when he entered court, and walked out again and seemed to recognize no one in the packed room.

He took his penalty apparently unmoved. The sentence was for two years on each indictment.

The charges cover only a portion of Belcher's alleged misdeeds, which include extensive forgeries, duplicating of mortgages, misappropriation of State funds and victimizing friends through loans, in all to the estimated figure of a hundred thousand dollars. William J. Barbour, counsel for Belcher, made a plea for clemency, but if had no apparent effect on Judge Scott.

In pronouncing the sentence Judge Scott spoke as follows:

"In this case it is my duty as judge of this court to pronounce the sentence that should be meted out to you for the crimes to which you have pleaded guilty. It is my duty, and therefore I have returned to fulfill it, although it is the most painful one that I have ever been called upon to perform. I know, through poverty and toil, you have struggled up to become a respected member of the upper and lower strata of this large and prosperous city of Paterson. With hosts of friends and followers your future gave greater promise. A year ago while holding the office of mayor your flight disclosed to the astounded public these crimes, so manifold, so grave and apparently so deliberate that our people stood aghast.

"I shall not enter into the painful details. There are many indictments for forgery. I cannot altogether lose sight of these in dealing with the present indictments. You have injured others, but none more than yourself. Your return to be punished shows that you have suffered much, yet it is necessary to inflict the punishment of the law. Seems, particularly in this case, as an example to others, whose position and power in the community may not be used to abstain from trusting people their hard earned savings. There has been no restoration of money taken and cannot be now. There seems to be no reason for lessening the extreme penalty, except that mercy, which is usually exercised to temper justice. The intents of the court in this case is that you be confined in the State prison at hard labor for a term of two years on each indictment, the terms not to run together."

Belcher broke down and cried when Counsel William Barbour addressed the court.

Decline in Values.

Mrs. Nagget—"You don't love me as much as you used to."

Mr. Nagget—"Think so?"

Mrs. Nagget—"No; you used to say I was worth my weight in gold, and—"

Mr. Nagget—"Well, you're not so stout as you used to be, you know."—Stray Stories.

Judson Bonnell and family, of East Front street, are spending their vacation at Fenny Farm, Lebanon.

IDEAS OF INVENTORS.

A German has invented a means of using light rays instead of wires for telephony. The system has been found very useful at sea, the searchlight carrying the voice perfectly.

An Italian engineer has recently developed a very efficient and economic process for vaising steel and iron by means of acetylene gas. The heat produced by the combustion of acetylene and oxygen mixed at the moment of burning is about 7,200 degrees Fahrenheit, which is higher than the temperature of the oxyhydrogen flame and near that of the electric arc.

Instead of sending a cold and more or less formal written letter to a distant loved one, it is now possible to send by mail a verbal message, which may be as warm and thrilling as the sender desires. This has been made possible by the invention of two Frenchmen who have perfected a phonograph record of sufficient hardness to go through the mails and be ready to voice the message it contains upon delivery at its destination.

A very efficient stenotyping amchine by which a syllable (and in some cases two or three syllables) is printed in plain type at each stroke or the fingers, has just been invented by a Parisian. This result has been obtained by an ingenious arrangement of the letters of the alphabet. It is said that 50 words a minute can be written by an amateur, while a normal speed of 125 to 150 words can be obtained in two months, and in some cases as high as 300 words.

A mechanical device has been invented which is reported to be sure to break drowsiness and then sleep in ordinary cases of wakefulness. It is said to have almost hypnotic powers in that direction, though it consists in nothing but curiously shaped and irregularly placed "paddlers" attached to a slowly revolving wheel. It is claimed that if the sufferer from insomnia looks steadily at the contrivance while it is in motion he will be overcome by drowsiness and put to sleep.

INDIAN PROVERBS.

When a fox walks lame old rabbit jumps.

The paleface's arm is longer than his word.

No Indian ever sold his daughter for a name.

Small things talk loud to the Indian's eye.

A squaw's tongue runs faster than the wind's legs.

There is nothing so eloquent as a rattlesnake's tail.

The Indian scalps his enemy, the paleface skins his friends.

Better the paleface come there was no potson in Indian's corn.

There will be hungry palefaces so long as there is any Indian land to swallow.

When a man prays one day and steals six, the Great spirit thunders and the evil one laughs.

There are three things it takes a strong man to hold—a young warrior, a wild horse and a handsome squaw.

WORDS WRONGLY USED.

Never used the word "liable" when you mean "likely." Do not say, for instance, that "he is liable to come in at any moment." "Liable" implies misfortune, and means "exposed to," "subject to," "in danger of."

Why do most of us speak of "unravelling a mystery"? Any good dictionary shows that "ravel" means to "unweave." You "ravel" a mystery, therefore, when you solve it. In "Hamlet," Shakespeare says: "Make you to ravel all this matter out."

If you and your friend Smith know a man called Jones, do not speak to Smith of "our mutual friend"—meaning Jones. Jones is your common friend. If you are friendly to Smith, and Smith is friendly to you, you and Smith are "mutual friends;" but that is the only sense in which the term may rightly be used.

WHAT GIRLS SHOULDN'T DO.

Place reliance in the drawing quality of a graceful pose.

Talk about the extent of their wardrobe in public places.

Regard it pretty to pout when a man fails to notice compliments.

Speak to men with an air of authority that produces irritation.

Carry their jewelry so conspicuously as to be generally noticed.

Use tire forcible expressions which so easily can be misconstrued.

Show a desire for an extravagant display at a social assemblage.

Attempt to force a man into heavy expenditure every time they are taken out.

Give away the pretty little trinkets presented to them as evidence of good feeling.

ORACULAR OBSERVATIONS.

Some potters live by means of their urnings.

The man of letters cannot take his e's if he o's too much.

The fruits of the spirit are absent from many a family tree.

Man may eat but little here below, but he often longs for it.

The small boy with his first watch is having the time of his life.

Every dog has his day, but the fleas are on him both day and night.

It is a persevering undertaker who accomplishes all his undertakes.

Love seems to resemble a bottomless pit when some people fall in.

The bravest-looking underwear sometimes has a shrinking disposition.

PAYING OFF AT PANAMA.

Handling of the Money for the Workers on the Great Isthmian Canal.

No more interesting scenes could be imagined than those in the various camps on the Panama canal, when the great army of workmen employed by the United States government are paid their wages from a special train filled with money—chiefly bags of $1,000 each, weighing about 60 pounds. The skilled white laborers and office employes, about 2,500 in all, receive their pay once a month, amounting to about $250,000, in much the same way an ordinary government clerks are paid in Washington. Of the laborers, however—largely Jamaican negroes—there are at present 15,000 at least, and they draw about $60,000 a month in fortnightly payments.

One might think that the pay clerks in their train load of specie would feel uncomfortable among this army of dusky giants, especially when the train halts in some small tropical camp and great sacks of silver are unloaded in the jungle. The other day, writes a correspondent at Panama I saw $50,000 put on the pay car for the so-called "silver men" working at Tabernilla, San Pablo, Cristobal Gatun and Bohio. Some Jamaican colored police were watching the negro boys bringing out the sacks of silver, and others stood by the wagons while the money was put on.

"Sixty," exclaimed Mr. Waldrop, the chief cashier. A policeman climbed into the auto truck, the whips cracked, and off went the teams of mules with the cashier and pay clerks bringing up the rear in cabs. Mr. Waldrop did not seem to be afraid about leaving the $1,000 bags unguarded on the railway station, where altogether there must have been nearly three tons of coined silver. The pay car is, of course, specially constructed, and three lines of laborers face its side doors. These are in pairs, and the men climb up on the car trucks to one of the double doors, receive their money, pass out at the other, and leap down.

The pay counter runs the entire length of the car, close to the doors, and only one man can stand in front of it at a time. Each applicant presents a pink pay certificate giving his number, the amount of wages due to him, and the signature of an official, who certifies that the bearer is the proper person to pay and has given a *receipt by signing his name on the cer*tificate.

For further security the laborer shows his diamond-shaped metal tag with his number stamped on it. This usually hangs from his belt, but at the pay counter he holds it up in his left hand, puts down his certificate, grabs off his hat, and holds it out for the allowed of silver. The pay clerk compares the number, glances at the signature, and then reaches under the counter and throws rolls of coin and loose silver into the extended hat.

The rolls usually contain $25 done up in packages by Chinese boys whom the government employs. After having tried white clerks and girls, have found to be the most rapid and accurate money counters on the isthmus. Two of them are champions—Chong and Leon. These will count and roll up in packages over $25,000 worth of silver dollars in a day, and never make a mistake. These two Chinese boys have counted and wrapped millions of dollars, and not one package has ever been found wrong. Their pay is about $75 a month.

The train of the traveling pay train is most interesting. The canal laborers are paid at the rate of eight a minute at each door, or 24 minutes for the entire car. This rate can be kept up, provided no forged or imperfect certificates are presented. Forgeries there are, of course, but of a very stupid kind. Thus three dollars will be altered to $13 in the figures on the order to pay and not in the receipt! Detection and arrests occur every pay day.

These Jamaican negroes would never dream of stealing money from the pay car in the ordinary way, but such of them as are not wholly illiterate simply glory in trying to demonstrate to their less "cultured" brethren what a valuable thing "education" is, and how it can be turned into money.

On goes the pay train into the jungle at Tabernilla and Gatun, as well as the smaller camps, where the negroes, after getting paid, run screaming with delight into the bush, and play like children or monkeys with the glittering silver. The matter of currency in the isthmus is most intricate. Heavy Mexican dollars are furnished by the Panama government for the canal workers, and the "silver" men; but the "gold men" are paid on the 4th of every month in different currency altogether. The pay certificates are returned to the divisions for redistribution once more to the men; and the time books, time rolls, and pay rolls are sent to the disbursing officer to be checked and examined.

This official is under heavy bonds, and must audit every figure on the rolls. He is therefore obliged to go carefully over 12,500 names on the 1,700 big sheets every month before he will pay out a dollar. In a few weeks' time thousands of other laborers will be imported into the isthmus, when the actual work of "making the dirt fly" begins, and then the pay train will be longer and its staff larger than ever before.

Jamaican Finances.

Jamaica is now apparently out of her financial difficulties. The governor reports a surplus of $80,000, and the six per cent. tariax on imports has been removed.

CHARLES E. BROOKS DEAD

Prominent Citizen Succumbs to Heart Trouble After Long Illness.

A HOSPITAL GOVERNOR

For Many Years a Vestryman of Grace Church—Survived by Wife and Two Bright Sons.

Charles E. Brooks died Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home, 147 East Seventh street, following an illness from heart trouble with which he suffered for over a year. Since last spring and until a few weeks ago he was detained at home, but he was occasionally able to take short drives. During the past two weeks he failed rapidly and all hope of recovery was given up.

Mr. Brooks, since coming to Plainfield in 1882, the time of his marriage, has been prominent in the social and charitable activities of th city. He was one of the governors of Muhlenberg Hospital for several years and its secretary for five years. He was deeply interested in the hospital work and gave largely of his time and means towards the advancement of its interests. He was one of the few who could always be depended upon to do his share and more too if necessary not only for the hospital but for all local charities, including the Plainfield Relief Association and the Charity Organized Aid Association.

He was a faithful member of Grace church and was a vestryman until last year, when failing health compelled him to withdraw from all outside interests. He was well known to all the older residents of Plainfield and had a large circle of friends.

Mr. Brooks was born in New York and was a son of the late Mitchell C. Brooks, an old-time merchant of that city. He was a member of the class of 1870 in the College of the City of New York. As a young man he passed many years in business and travel abroad, spending much time in Paris and London. During the past eight years he was in the banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York.

He is survived by a wife and two sons. Of the latter, Ames Brooks, a graduate of Princeton, has taken up the practice of law in New York, and VanWyck Brooks is a student at Harvard.

The funeral services were held from the late residence, 147 East Seventh street, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ROUTINE BUSINESS IN BOROUGH COUNCIL

FOUR COUNCILMEN OUT—TWO FIREMEN RESIGN—BUILDING PLANS.

Routine business was transacted by the borough council at the regular meeting held in the council chamber Friday evening. Only four councilmen were out to the meeting —Messrs. Lee, Smith, VanArdsale and Krewson, and in the absence of Mayor Smalley, President Lee, of the council, took the chair. The committee on consolidation, consisting of Councilmen Lee, Smith and Krewson, presented a report on the question, which is published in full in another column.

The monthly report of Borough Treasurer George F. Brown showed $4,114.13 received from taxes and police fines and a balance of $1,327.77 and a batch of claims against the borough, amounting to $1,319.16, was referred to the finance committee for settlement. The resignation of Fireman Walter Emmons from Hose Co. No. 1 was tendered and accepted. It was reported that Fireman Spencer Scribner had moved from the borough limits and therefore resigned from the fire department.

Plans for the remodeling of his saloon and the addition of bottling works were presented by Henry Haurand. The building, at Somerset and Chatham street, is to be practically rebuilt, and the floor lowered to street level. The new building is to measure 100 by 60 feet with brick front and cement walls. The plans were submitted and referred to the fire committee with power to take action in the matter.

Mrs. Arthur T. Stryker and daughter, Ruth, of West Fifth street, are spending August at Chappaqua, N. Y.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR GANG.

Five Boys Confesses to Breaking Into West End Cigar Store.

Charged with breaking and entering a store, James Flaherty, Patrick Finnerty, John Dixon and Joseph Miner, all young boys, were arraigned before Mayor Buckle in the city court Saturday. The complaint was made by Mrs. Mary Shafer, whose store, 955 South Second street was robbed Thursday night of $2 worth of cigars and candy.

The boys confessed to the Mayor, amid a chorus of sniffs and sobs. His honor gave them a lecture that increased the sobbing, and suspended sentence. They will make good the loss to Mrs. Shafer.

TRUST COMPANY MOVES

Youngest Banking Concern Takes Possession of Its Handsome New Home.

A THING OF BEAUTY

Limestone Structure An Architectual Masterpiece—Luxurious Furnishings Throughout Stately Building.

After waiting a year for its completion the Plainfield Trust Company took possession of its handsome new building on Park avenue, Saturday. The company will use the structure exclusively for its business. It was designed only for banking, and the banking of the Plainfield Trust Company.

The structure is one of the finest bank buildings in the State. It is constructed of Indiana limestone; the fixtures are of marble and copper, and the furniture of mahogany. The ceiling in the main banking room is forty-five feet from the floor and is studded with electric lights; the rear is spanned by a mezzanine floor. The first story is to be devoted to the safe deposit department and officers' rooms, while the floor above will be devoted to a directors room.

In the arrangement of the banking room, the comfort and convenience of the many women patrons of the company have been carefully considered. To the right upon entering is a room for their exclusive use. This has a highly polished hard wood floor and handsome furniture; from this room the ladies pass directly into the tellers' department. Just beyond the women's room is the paying teller's department, which has two windows opening into the public space. Next to this is the receiving teller's department, which also has two windows opening to the public space. Just beyond the teller's cages is the bookkeeper's department, and beyond that the check desk. The space back of the department is enclosed with by wood and glass railing and filing departments. Just in front of the mezzanine floor a door leads from the public space to the room occupied by the officers. Adjoining this room is a consultation room where business of a confidential nature may be transacted.

To the safe deposit department the company is devoting special attention, having provided exceptional fa*cilities for the use of its patrons.* The vault, which is of the most modern construction, has a capacity of a thousand safe deposit boxes of various sizes. Adjoining the vault are coupon rooms, four in number for use in cutting coupons or examining papers. Each of these is at executive committee room for the use of the executors of an estate or a committee who may wish to examine the contents of their safe deposit box jointly. The ascent of a flight of stairs brings one to the mezanine floor, which will be used as a meeting room for the directors.

In the basement a steel lined stor*age vault has been constructed for* the safeguarding of silver and other valuables in bulk. Here are also located the work lockers, as well as the heating and ventilating systems, which are modern in every respect.

During the past four years the company's increase of business has been almost phenomenal. Starting in June, 1903, deposits have increased at the rate of $500,000 a year until now they amount to $2,000,000, while the number of their depositors is, it is understood, thirty-five hundred.

The Trust Company has paid to its depositors during the past four years more than one hundred thousand dollars in interest and has indirectly been the cause of distributing a much larger sum, so that as a result of its being, the people of Plainfield have been the recipients of interest on their deposits that *they would not otherwise have re*ceived.

Thirty-Seventh's Reunion.

Arrangements for the reunion of the Thirty-seventh Regiment Association Volunteers, to be held on Labor Day at Edgewater Park, Burlington, will be made at a meeting to be held tonight at William G. Campbell's office, 794 Bhoad street. The Thirty-seventh was known during the war as General Grubb's Game Chickens, and it is in his handsome estimate that the reunion will take place. Comrades from Elizabeth, Jersey City, Paterson, Morristown, Camden and other cities will take part.

Referring to the Odor.

"I notice," remarked the observant man, "that some physicians declare there is as much strength in a couple of eggs as in a pound of beef."

"Yes?" replied the barn-storming actor, "I suppose they mean the embalmed beef from Packington."

Misses Anna and Minnie Marsh, of Madison avenue, have gone to the Catskills? for a part of their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, of 1007 Watchung avenue, left today to spend the month of August at Mt. Pocono, Pa.

Among the recent arrivals of parties in automobiles at Stamford, in the Catskills, are Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkner, A. F. Kirkner and Miss Kirkner, of this city.

FOR THE TOILET.

A liquid powder that will whiten the neck in effect, is made of one ounce of pure oxide of zinc, one dram of glycerine, four ounces of rose water and fifteen drops of essence of roses.

Dissolve the zinc in enough of the rose water to dissolve. Mingle the essence with the glycerine, adding the remainder of the rose water. Then combine the two mixtures. Apply with a piece of gauze, shaking before using.

You can make your eyebrows thicker by applying a grower made by combining two ounces of red vaseline, one-eighth ounce of tincture of cantharides, fifteen drops of oil of rosemary and fifteen drops of oil of lavender.

For hair that is split at the ends a month is the only remedy. If you do not care to go to the hairdresser's, divide your hair in strands, twisting each strand tightly, then with a wax taper have some one pass it lightly over teh hair, singeing the short ends that stand out. I do know once a month for a while you will have no further trouble and I think you will not a difference at once in the growth of your hair.

Bran alone is used for the toilet, but is better scented with powdered orris root. The odor must be made to suit individual taste, but an ounce of orris to a pound of bran is a good average proportion.

The best neck bleech is made by preparing two and one-half ounces of cucumber juice first. This is done by washing the cucumber, skin and all, and cutting very fine. Put on to simmer with a few spoonfuls of water, and when mushy strain through a muslin. To this add eighty-seven and one-half grains of pulverized borax, forty-five grains of acetate of soda, one and one-quarter ounces of tincture of quillaja, two drams of tincture of benzoin and half a pint of rose water. Shake thoroughly, and apply morning and night to the neck, letting the preparation dry on.

The will remove that brown line made frequently by high collars, but when used for this should be applied several times a day.

Plain oatmeal, of the unprepared kind, first boiled for fifteen minutes and then strained, is delicious for the skin. Strain off the grains and put them in the bag, using orris to perfume with.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Clean flannale dipped in paraffin oil will satisfactorily remove finger marks on polished or painted wood if rubbed over for a few moments. Wipe with a clean cloth wrung from hot water to remove the odor. The oil will also prevent leather from cracking, and is said to make shoes take polish easier.

Flies will not settle on window panes that have been washed with water with which a little kerosene has been mixed.

Should an ignorant maid allow a wooden cooking utensil, such as the potato masher, to soak in dish water till the fibres press a stain into the fibre, then without rinsing and prop*erly drying tuck it into a drawer or* cupboard, if it can not be sandpapered to its original whiteness, better burn it and buy a new one, seeing that the new one has proper attention when soiled.

Sweeping the porch floors with a cloth-covered broom will preserve the appearance as well as the paint longer than if scratched with coarse broom straws.

A child's transparent slate makes a serviceable laundry list with the printed slip beneath the glass upon which numbers and date are written with pencil attached. The frame can be decorated with typography or paints or covered with passepartout.

Lemon juice thickened to a creamy state with powdered sulphur will effectually whiten straw hats. Spread on, and when dry remove with a stiff brush. Sometimes a strong solution of oxalic acid will also clean straw hats, but it is difficult for an amateur to use litle enough of the liquid cleaners.

A triangular piece of zinc nailed to the end of the ironing board over narrow strips of wood will be found a most satisfactory iron rest.

When the air is particularly close, and sleep seems out of the question, place a dish of very cold water under the bed, and refreshing sleep will come with the cooler air.

TESTING DRINKING WATER.

If your drinking water comes trdough lead pipes, test it to see whether it contains any lead. Some water acts strongly upon a leaden pipe, and a year or two of using such water will bring on lead poisoning. In rare cases the water will form a coating, which will protect it from further contamination. There is more danger in warm weather than in cold. To be on the safe side, use this simple test occasionally: Boil a quart of water always when only a gill is left. In this put a tablespoonful of a solution of potashsium iodide *and let it stand overnight. If a yel*low deposit has formed, lead is present in the water.

LUNCHEON HAMPERS.

One is noted at $2.

It pays to invest $6, though.

The cheapest are not very roomy.

One at $10 is designed for four and boasts an alcohol stove.

These handsome hampers contain various plates and cutlery.

There's an assortment of butter, sandwich and liquid carriers.

WHY SHE IS A POSER.

The favorite of the modern girl's poses is the athletic pose.

Nine girls out of ten if they followed their natural instinct would rather sit at home no a cool piazza and embroider a handkerchief or read a novel than go trudging off in the broiling sun a racket or golf stick in one hand and an unwilling man dragging at her heels.

But there are opporounities in the lonely loveliness of the golf links or the tennis court, in the wearing of a trig serge skirt and a scarlet sweater, in rolled up shirt sleeves and wind blown hair that to her are like so much stock in trade. And so, all down, she begins a series of poses which only end with the tolling of the midnight bell and the closing of the summer season at the fashionable hotel.

At 10 o'clock comes the pose on the beach. The summer girl does not really bathe. She flutters about the water in $25 worth of French corset, silk bloomers, and open work stockings.

She poses as a siren, and goes jovially through the thousand and one efforts to frick a bathing belle, fully conscious that when the man in question feels a peculiar pang he will look at her and look at the sea and fancy it is love, instead of realizing that he only wants a luncheon.

And if he proposes—where he sometimes does—she fondly takes him at his word, and never once allows for the fact that he is hungry. But the man who offers his heart and hand to you while you are giddily and none too modestly arrayed for your ocean plunge is not really proposing.

A year, a month, or even an hour later he may regret what he has done and said.

The girl who dresses thus to appeal to the sense of men need feel none too complimented by the attention they paid her and none too sure of the love they offer her.

In other words, a bathing suit proposal should be tucked in your mental belt, like a scalp—and forgotten.

It cannot in any way result seriously; for a man is not accountable when he is under the charm of a physical beauty, and to hold him to account is to take unfair advantage of him.

The after luncheon piazza pose and the after luncheon piazza proposals are alike—a nice, charming, comfortable, coquettish pastime—nothing more.

You would think that after a strenuous morning on the links and in the water the summer girl would be satisfied to take a mild vacation and to give a man a chance to find out how he is getting on; but you would fancy she might retire to her room and recuperate for the evening siege.

But not so the modern Diana.

She could not do this without a dozen haunting visions of her favorite on every sitting in a shaded corner of the piazza with "the man."

And so, regardless of fatigue, regardless of conventionality, regardless of everything, she puts on her next "pose," which may be a kimono or any loose and attractive one, lets down her still wet hair, and, book or fan in hand, plumps herself picturesquely in th hammock or on the piazza stoop, as watchful for any stray swain who happens to appear as a sentry at the post of duty.

Along comes the after luncheon proposal, whistling merrily as he comes.

It is so easy to make and to receive this piazza proposal, because you never take it seriously, and the man knows you never will take it seriously, and, since no complications can possibly arise, you can get the full enjoyment of the flirtation.

For a proposal made on the hotel porch, after a good luncheon, to a girl in a pink kimono, who is fanning her hair and eating chocolate caramels, is, at most, a pleasant bit of flirtation, and at the best a good joke.

A man's emotions are not stirred by a hot afternoon sun, a glass of lemonade and the proximity of the hotel gossip.

He feels lazy and pleasant, and fancies that there is no way of passing the time more agreeably than by telling the nearest pretty girl that he loves her.

FACTS ABOUT YOURSELF.

The average number of teeth is 32.

The weight of the circulating blood is 29 pounds.

The average weight of an adult is 150 pounds 6 ounces.

The brain of a man is more than twice that of any other animal.

A man breathes about 20 times a minute, or 1,200 times an hour.

The average weight of the brain of a man is 3½ pounds; of a woman 2 pounds 11 ounces.

Over 540 pounds, or one hogshead and one and a quarter pints of blood, pass through the heart in one hour.

The average weight of an American is 5 feet 9 inches; of a Frenchman 5 feet 4 inches; of a German 5 feet 7 inches.

There are 175,000,000 cells in the lungs, which would cover a surface thirty times greater than the human body.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Beggar Left $185,000.

An old beggar who used to frequent the doors of one of the principal churches of Rome, died lately. He was found to be possessed of $185,000, which he had left by a properly drawn up will to his three children, who were completely ignorant of their father's wealth.

WOMEN THE WORLD OVER.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts's recent celebration of her ninety-second birthday brings that famous woman again before the public. It had been almost generally forgotten that as Miss Angela Burdett-Coutts she was a bridesmaid to Queen Victoria, and it was "Good Queen Vic" who, thirty-five years ago, created her a baroness. As that time there was not a single peeress in her own right in the three kingdoms, but shortly after that Lady Bergers succeeded to a barony and there are now at the present time ten peeresses of England and two—Lady Kinloss and Lady Gray—of Scotland.

The baroness Burdett-Coutts is the oldest peeress in her own right; the youngest is Lady Clifton, who is a tiny girl of 6, and who succeeded as seventeenth holder of the barony when but a few months old. Two years ago on the birthday of the oldest peeress, the tiny Lady Clifton sent her a cluster of pink roses, the attached card containing the words: "From the youngest baroness to the oldest baroness in England."

Parents should train their daughters to enter on business life rather than take upon themselves the bonds of matrimony, in the opinion of Mrs. Harriet Van Der Vaart of the Chicago Neighborhood house. Only by thus directing their minds away from the frivolities of courtship, she declared, will the problem of woman's place in the industrial world be solved.

"The woman's own idea of her industrial position," said Mrs. Van Der Vaart Sunday, in an address at Lincoln Center, "is our most important problem. A girl is always talking of leaving her position, and the day when she 'quits' is her great day."

"Women always have performed her share of the world's works. The fact of her presence in industry is recognized. Only because women are being paid for their work that they are being questioned now."

Recently compiled statistics show there are fully 100,000 clubwomen on Manhattan Island. The clubs range from the Colonial and the Chorus Girls' Protective Union to the Emma Willard Association. It would create only mild surprise if Tammany Hall would soon have a woman's auxiliary.

Queen Marie Christina of Spain is said to be the only woman sovereign who has made a baloon ascent. She has a great love of advsaturous pursuits, and delights in reading books written for boys.

WAIL OF THE THIRSTY.

When you wake up Sunday mornings,
And your neck feels kinder dry,
Then you wish you were in Conev,
With a schooner big and high.
'Cause the "bishops' bill" has fixed us,
For it's closed 'em good and tight.
O there is no boozing Sundays
With a bar right plain in sight.

If you knew the way to work it,
You could always find it out,
Just the place to get a high one,
Though the way was round-about.
You stumbled through the alleys
And you went through family doors,
Just to get a little bracer
In spite of yells and roars.

Then the trolley to the country
On a Sunday dry and hot
With a froth one at your elbow,
That hotel was just the spot.
But now they're selling only soda.
As they can't sell lager beer;
For this thing, this bill, won't let 'em.
O say, boys, where the cheer?

You can bet you made excuses
On this Sunday just gone past,
Of how your heart was failing
And you'd surely breathe your last
If you didn't have a hooker;
Then the druggist was to blame.
"A prescription" and "what doctor?"
"Gee! I clean forgot the name."

So, I'll beat it on to Gotham
On the Sundays coming 'long,
Where the "bishops' bill" ain't pending,
There I'll celebrate in song.
Now I'll close this dirge and lament
And keep my conscience clear,
For week-days aren't Sundays—
Here goes the "duck" for beer.

A. J. W.

AS TO GUM CHEWING.

Don't.
Again don't.
And again don't.
It is a horrible habit.
It gives an idiotic expression.
The man who makes it says it is healthful.
The more he needs the money the more he insists.
Those who fancy gum chewing a good thing should take exercise, breathe deeply and drink plenty of water.
As a matter of fact, few sights are more suggestive of a season in an insane hospital than an average woman in a swaying rocking chair, chewing gum.

TO DARKEN RED HAIR.

To darken light red hair make a tea by pouring a pint of boiling water over an ounce of henna leaves broken. Cover and let it steep until the liquid is cold. Have the hair washed and thoroughly dried. Then apply the tea with a brush, letting it stay on for half an hour. Wash again in warm, clear water. The tint may be darkened even more by making the tea stronger and letting it stay on longer on the hair. The liquid is perfectly harmless, in fact, is a good tonic for the hair.

CARE FOR A PIANO.

A piano should be tuned at regular intervals, preferably after the beginning of each season.

It becomes out of tune as much by change of temperature as by use.

Too much stress cannot be placed upon the selection of a tuner, as an incompetent tuner can do great damage, and will usually magnify a slight trouble in order to justify a high price.

It is best never to engage an unknown tuner, or if he is engaged be careful to examine his references and be satisfied that he is reliable and experienced.

The jingling or singing sound at times noticeable when the piano is played frequently is due to what is called "sympathetic vibration."

This is produced by an ordinary article in the room vibrating in sympathy with some particular tone in the piano.

To ascertain the cause of this vibration the key which seems to produce the difficulty should be struck by one person and another should go about the room listening carefully, and thus the article which vibrates can be discovered and the cause removed.

Any hard substance, no matter how small, when dropped inside of a piano will cause a rattle or jarring noise.

If a pedal should squeak remove the bottom panel of the piano and apply a little black lead, powdered with a pencil, at the part where friction exists.

Cleaning the case may be accomplished by wetting a piece of canton flannel and dropping upon it a few drops of ordinary olive oil.

Rub a small portion of the piano at a time, wiping off thoroughly with a dry piece of canton flannel.

Afterward rub with a soft, clean chamois skin or another piece of clean canton flannel, always taking care to rub with the grain of the wood and occasionally to breathe on it in order to remove every particle of oily substance.

KITCHEN HELPS.

Dry your saucepans before you put them away.

Coffee grounds kept in the sink strainer will catch grease and thus prevent clogging of the pipes.

A cloth dipped in boiling water, wrung out and placed over fish that has been boiled will keep it warm for quite a while.

Sprinkle a little crushed borax on a flannel cloth that has been wet in hot water and well soaped. This will brighten the copper like magic. Rinse and polish.

The odor that clings so persistently to a utensil in which fish or onions have been fried may be dispelled by placing it back over the fire ten or fifteen minutes after washing and drying.

If a teaspoonful of concentrated tye with a cupful of water be put in a kettle whose contents have burned on the bottom and left to stand for a few hours there will be no trouble in removing the burned substance.

TREE BEAUTY.

(Red Maple.)

It's an early bird.
Remember its blossoms?
They are showers of crimson.
Oh, the beauty of those rare red blooms!

In the spring it was the one of the first to be "dressed."
In the autumn it will hurry into scarlet and orange splendor.
During the cold winter its twigs are of deep red shade.
It is undoubtedly one of our most beautiful forest trees.
Its hard wood is of a red-bbrown and is especially desirable when its shows the curly grain.
The dark red bark furnishes a dye for the Indians, and also a sort of ink.
This round-topped beauty of treedom with its beautiful leaves, grows from North to South and all the way out to Dakota.

TRIFLES OF INTEREST.

The Victorian era, England's most glorious period began when Princess Victoria ascended the throne on June 20, 1837, and continued through her illustrious reign until she was removed by death in 1901.

The most perfect teeth in the world are said to be those of the Thlebetans, although there is not a tooth brush in the country and no form of cleansing the teeth is ever practiced.

One of the largest graphite mining countries in the world is the Island of ejion. Large deposits of graphite are also being exploited in Siberia, chiefly in the neighborhood of Irkutsk, on Lake Baikal.

Only about 10 per cent. of the land of Arfentine is under cultivation, although there is a total area suitable for agriculture of about 850,000,000 acres. The live stock in that country is estimated in round numbers as follows: Horses, 5,000,000; cattle, 28,000,000; sheep, 11,000,000; hogs, 800,000.

Sunday closing has occupied the attention of thte reform government of Somerville for several months. The first steps, however, was in the reforming of the police force by the suspension for thirty days of a policeman for intoxication, after which the new chief of police, Edwin Brown, a real estate dealer, with offices in New York, turned his attention to the Sunday selling of ice cream and soda water, not even omitting thte peanut venders. As a result only newspapers can be bought in Somerville on Sunday.

FASHION FANCIES.

Armlet bracelets have developed since short sleeves came to fashion. They are seen with cloth tailor-mades and kid gloves, made of leather, studded with gilt buckles. With dressy costumes, chain bands clasped with pearl studded buckles keep the armlet or long glove up.

You lace the Oxford tie from top downward, of course, since the wide silk laces came to town. The bow just at the top of the vamp of the shoe has long loops and ends that just escape getting under the foot in walking.

The fancy for dog collars, which are useful in holding up lingerie gowns, has developed a great variety of collar-like neck fixings. Among them are bands from three-quarters of an inch to an inch and a half wide, made of gold or silver openwork braid, jewelled. The jewels come in initials and all the precious stones and can be bought by the dozen or on tapes by the yard. The braid is carved slightly to shape it to the neck. The lacy tinsel braids are the best for the purpose. Sometimes two are sewed together through the middle, instead of the wide one being used; then the top and bottom edges are outlined with the jewels.

Lace is always more or less popular, never more so than it is right now. From little yokes and collars and undersleeves to elaborate gowns and coats, it is everywhere in evidence and always pretty.

Of course there are endless varieties that may be bought, wonderfully good imitations of the "real thing" as well as the most expensive pieces of point lace and Brussels and valenciennes, but the woman who has rare old lace at her disposal is the one to be envied this season. It is difficult to imagine anything more beautiful in the way of dress than some of the lace robes that are now worn. A new model recently shown was of French chochet of Irish design. The groundwork was of finest make, showing a beautiful raised floral design, the petals of which were filled in with the finest imaginable openwerk chochet.

Another gown was of fine tambour lace of exquisite quality and superb Brussels applique. The skirt was made with three flounces edged with the Brussels lace and the elbow sleeves were treated in the same way, while a handsome bertha of applique made a charming finish. The beauty of these lace gowns and coats, too, is greatly enhanced by the linings of chiffon or nothing sets off their light and airy appearance quite so daintily.

Combined with other materials, too, laces are used in making the most elaborate and frivolous neckwear. A rich scarf of Lucerne lace, bordered with white ostrich feather, is suitable for either day or evening wear. A little cape of guipure lace and Marabout fastened with velvet ribbon is a pretty finish to an evening toilette.

The very natty afternoon frock is of green and white checked lawn, frilled with lace-edged ruffles and worn with shoulder straps and girdle of black ribbon.

A new blue and white checked silk just come from the dressmaker is strapped with white cloth.

A toque seen lately was of pale green straw, trimmed with a huge black taffeta bow and clusters of white cherries and foliage.

Blouses are being used in hats of ultra-fashionables here and in Paris.

The Peter Pan and tallored shirts are quite chic, and continue to be very popular.

Peacock plumes still brush the air. "Peter Pan" things are being a trifle overdone.

Those inexpensive skirts of white linene are all right for mornings.

Why can't we have colored hooks and eyes to match the gown? They'd be less obvious.

The fashion of using big pearl buttons on the front of the tub skirt seems to be growing.

Blouses of bright Scotch plaid silk are shown in shops—but they're not to be worn just now.

It seems that a girl really needs three white wash belts a day, to keep them immaculate.

Black patent leather ties with trimmings of white look very pretty indeed, worn perferably with black silk stockings.

Somehow the woman who can wear shades of brown becomingly never achieves quite such prettiness in any other color.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to give bead necklaces, jeweled dog collars, heavy bracelets, pins, trinkets and chains, a brief vacation during the hot weather? It seems too bad to perspire under unnecessary weight.

EDITORIAL FLINGS.

The meat packers are energetically remedying conditions that they say never existed.—Florida Times-Union.

Holders of public offices in Russia may seldom resign, but a good many of them die.—Chicago Record-Herald.

It is said that Goremykin walks for exercise. He will be fortunate if he doesn't have to run for safety.—Kansas City Journal.

The trusts must begin to suspect by this time that after all they are not the sole owners of this free country.—Philadelphia Press.

Somebody points with pride to the alleged fact that club women seldom get divorced. Of course not. The club woman needs a husband to buy new gowns and pay club dues.—Somerville Journal.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 25.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—Christ's Life: VIII. My favorite parable next how it helps me.—Matt. xiii. 10-17; Pa. cxix. 97-104.

To select any one of the many beautiful and priceless parables of Christ and to look upon it as a favorite parable would be to do most Christians he impossible. They are all favorites, for they are all the precious words of Christ, illustrating different forms of truth. And yet it may be that because of some association, some personal experience or spiritual temperament or condition, some one parable may appeal to us above all the others. To many prodigals who have returned to God the parable of the prodigal son would likely be a favorite. To those who have been influenced by the parable of the virgins no longer to delay acceptance of Christ and consecration to Him that parable would be especially precious. And hence it may be that many may have their favorites among the parables of Christ, and if so they should be of especial helpfulness to them.

Favorite parables should help us in many ways. They should help us to appreciate Christ as a teacher. Never man spake as He spake, and His most unique and forceful way of teaching was by parables. For beauty, interest and the power to instruct the mind and touch the heart the parables of Christ have never been equaled. And if we have not done so, some parable will without steady attention to its requirements?

In public worship the soul has opportunity to grow as it cannot when all the energies are absorbed in business, home cares or social tasks. In quietness for spiritual meditation; memories of past blessings call forth gratitude and fresh resolutions of usefulness; thoughts of mistakes and errors of heart and head bring sorrow, contrition, determination of amendment and reparation. The quietness of the place, the music, the attitudes of devotion, the Scriptures, all bring a spiritual culture nowhere else to be had. The religious life grows in this way. The sermon, the exhortation, the benevolent offerings, broaden intelligence, awaken emotions, strengthen purpose and aid in development of the soul powers.

Whoever does not maintain habits of regular attendance on public worship when it is possible to attend will inevitably lose the best things in religious life.

There is no substitute for this. No pressure of business or any other cause should be permitted to long interfere with regular attendance on public worship.

With children it is especially important that the foundation of the habit be begun early. As soon as a child can be brought to be quiet he should be taken to the public service, and this should be continued through all the years of childhood.

The service should be made to hold the children when they come to the restless age. This can be done so that the young men and boys will not willingly be absent from church service.

Only as we grow in grace we must use this means of grace, the public worship of God.

Job's Impatience.

The real grandeur of Job was his impatience. The impatience before God is but the more beautiful side of his anger with his friends, and his self abasement before his Maker is the crowning dignity of a self respect which is one of the epics of the world. The only proof he had of his righteousness was himself, and he bowed before his Maker and believed in Him because he dared to believe in that self against hall and fire and death and the words of men and the fear of their grim little dogma and their consciousness I held fast and will not let it go. The parable of every hero, wonderful now, but more wonderful then, when Job fought the mighty fight alone and went before us all down through sorrow to the heart of God.—Gerald Stanley Lee.

The Peaceful Life.

Let us not live fretful lives. God will never stretch the line of our duty beyond the measure of our strength. We ought to live with the grace of the flowers, with the joy of the birds, with the freedom of wind and wave. Without question this is God's ideal of human life.—W. L. Watkinson.

Sentence Sermons.

No nation can be destroyed while it possesses a good home life.—J. G. Holland.

He who persists in genuineness will increase in adequacy.—T. T. Lynch.

The truest end of life is to know that life never ends.—William Penn.

We cannot serve God and Mammon, but we can serve God with Mammon.—Robert E. Speer.

The real secret of an unsatisfied life does often lie in unsurrendered will.—J. Hudson Taylor.

The men who stand straightest in the presence of sin bow lowest in the presence of God.—F. B. Meyer.

Love prays, because before love can bless it must be allied with wisdom and power.—Henry Ward Beecher.

How unworthily of immortality do I bear myself when my impatience can not wait a year for a promised blessing!—Amos R. Wells.

To be able to have the things we want, that is riches; but to be able to do without, that is power.—George Macdonald.

You may have to suffer, you may have to die, but no power on the earth can make a man do wrong without his own consent.—Isaac Sharpless.

True kindness does not require that we try to suspend for any one the fit operation of the laws of human life or that we excuse him from obedience, most of all to the moral law.—N. P. Gilman.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Aug. 12: "Public Worship and Spiritual Refreshing"—Luke iv, 16; Neh. x, 28-39; Matt. xviii, 20; Ps. xxii, 1-5; cxxx, 5-8; Isaiah, lx, 19.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

It has been found that the tattoo marks on the skin of the arm of a sailor penetrated to the bone and were reproduced there, just as deeply into the constitution of the soul do the little habits of daily life penetrate and leave indelible impress.

The habit of evening prayer learned at the mother's knee held President John Quincy Adams to his death so that in all his busy mature life he never went to bed without repeating before he slept the prayer his mother taught him, "Now I lay me down to sleep," etc.

One of our old proverbs declares "As the twig is bent the tree is inclined." Habits of religious worship are among the strongest bonds which keep us in the path of rectitude.

The man who succeeds in business has regular hours and during those hours concentrates his attention and work on his business.

The student and professional man who get ahead have to do the same. Haphazard work and desultory studying never brought success. The same principle holds good in religious things. If it takes constant and long continued practice to become a violinist, a pianist, an elocutionist or anything else worth being, how can one hope to become rich and advanced in the religious life without steady attention to its requirements?

In public worship the soul has opportunity to grow as it cannot when all the energies are absorbed in business, home cares or social tasks. In quietness for spiritual meditation; memories of past blessings call forth gratitude and fresh resolutions of usefulness; thoughts of mistakes and errors of heart and head bring sorrow, contrition, determination of amendment and reparation. The quietness of the place, the music, the attitudes of devotion, the Scriptures, all bring a spiritual culture nowhere else to be had. The religious life grows in this way. The sermon, the exhortation, the benevolent offerings, broaden intelligence, awaken emotions, strengthen purpose and aid in development of the soul powers.

Whoever does not maintain habits of regular attendance on public worship when it is possible to attend will inevitably lose the best things in religious life.

There is no substitute for this. No pressure of business or any other cause should be permitted to long interfere with regular attendance on public worship.

With children it is especially important that the foundation of the habit be begun early. As soon as a child can be brought to be quiet he should be taken to the public service, and this should be continued through all the years of childhood.

The service should be made to hold the children when they come to the restless age. This can be done so that the young men and boys will not willingly be absent from church service.

Only as we grow in grace we must use this means of grace, the public worship of God.

Job's Impatience.

The real grandeur of Job was his impatience. The impatience before God is but the more beautiful side of his anger with his friends, and his self abasement before his Maker is the crowning dignity of a self respect which is one of the epics of the world. The only proof he had of his righteousness was himself, and he bowed before his Maker and believed in Him because he dared to believe in that self against hall and fire and death and the words of men and the fear of their grim little dogma and their consciousness I held fast and will not let it go. The parable of every hero, wonderful now, but more wonderful then, when Job fought the mighty fight alone and went before us all down through sorrow to the heart of God.—Gerald Stanley Lee.

REV. ROBERT BAHTZ.
(Lettish Christian Endeavor field secretary.)

June last at Rujen in the province of Livonia.

In Russian Poland societies exist among the Bohemian churches as well as the Polish, and good new conditionally comes to hand. The topic lists were published for the first time during the present year through the continually extending efforts of the German national union.

Never as Now.

Christian Endeavor never had so much to be thankful for as today; the sky of promise was never so bright, the open doors of opportunity were never so many, the long ringing cry for an exercise of the heroic never sounded as they do this hour; and best of all, the great army of the young never mustered so many valiant fighters as now. "Best of all," did I say? It should have been second best, for first and paramount stands the thrilling truth of power from on high, to be had for the asking—power that will vitalize our efforts and make our service of some avail. For ours is Christian Endeavor.—John R. Clements in Convention Bulletin.

Godlike Ideals.

It is worth more than one can measure to know that the world in America and throughout the world a band of several hundred thousand young men and women whose ideals are those of the Son of God.—Charles M. Sheldon.

Quality.

In striving for quantity let us not forget quality. Efficiency must never be sacrificed for numbers. Every new member should add vitality and power to the movement.—E. H. Beaney, Australasian Superintendent.

Worth It All.

To make Christian Endeavor the power it has yet to be will be of anxiety, hours of hard thinking, months of patience, years of toil will have to be spent. It is worth it all.—Rev. Hubert Anderson of India.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

If bread that has grown stale is rubbed over with a cloth dipped in cold water and then heated thoroughly in the oven, it will freshen it so that it will be quite palatable.

In order to get a desirable gloss on linen articles add to every pound of starch a piece of white wax about the size of a walnut. When ready for ironing, the linen should be laid upon the table, slightly moistened, and first ironed with a wide, coarse or box-iron. After this an iron rounded at the bottom, very heavy and very bright, is used for the polishing process.

Old felt hats will make good lamp-wicks and give a bright light. Care must be taken to cut them the exact width of the wick and not too narrow.

To make fly paper melt equal part of boiled linseed oil and resin and add some honey. Soak the paper in a strong solution of alum and dry and it may be used above mixture.

An admirable way to clean bamboo furniture is to wash it well in warm water containing a gill of salt to each quart. This will preserve the color.

Copperas mixed with whitewash used for store rooms will keep insect life away.

If white goods has become stained with vaseline dip the spots in kerosene before washing in water.

If the ivory handles of knives have become yellow they can be whitened by rubbing gently with fine sandpaper, then polishing with a clean chamois leather.

When making down pillows go over the inside of the case with an iron rubbed well with beeswax each time it is applied to the cloth to prevent the down working through the cloth.

CHINA AND BRIC-A-BRAC.

Because glassware, china and bric-a-brac gets broken is no reason for throwing it away, for unless some of the pieces are lost they can be patched and glued together and made to look like new, if one is careful to fit the edges closely together.

They should be practical for use, too, if water or liquid are not left standing in them.

Clear glass is the most difficult of these to mend because it must be done so expertly to prevent the crack from showing.

The best kind of glue for clear glass is made from a solution of two ounces of isinglass and a half a pint of gin poured into an open-mouthed bottle, and set in the sun until it dissolves.

It should be shaken well every day and before being used should be strained through a clean lawn cloth.

When ready for the glueing the broken glass pieces should be well washed in hot suds, especially on the edges, dried, and then with a small camel's hair brush the cement should be put on the edges of both pieces and when they are nicely fitted together rubber bands or clean strips of cloth ssould be bandaged tightly around the mto hold the edges well together until the glue dries.

The cement has been properly made the break should really not be visible when dry, for the reason many cracks look jagged when mended is because the edges have not been well joined, and, bubbles of air getting in, reflect the light, making the jagged, broken lines glaringly apparent.

Bric-a-brac that is part metal and glass should not be so difficult to fix over, particularly where the two materials meet, for often a paste of sifted plaster of paris mixed with the beaten white of an egg will make them as strong and good as new.

This work must be done quickly, for within five minutes after putting it on the pieces it hardens and holds the metal and glass or china tightly together.

Two metal pieces should be mended with solder. To do this, the edges should first be carefully dusted, washed if they are very dirty, and rosin brushed over them.

Then when fitted well together and tied in place a stick of solder should be laid above the break and a hot iron brought down lightly on it.

When the solder cools the melted rosin may be removed with a cloth dipped in alcohol.

ENGLISH STICHINGS.

Contributors to the London Times are paid $25 a column.

A record breaking plate glass mirror in the dining room of the Savoy hotel, London, is 118 inches square and half an inch thick.

Pupils in the English national schools are being taught the American custom of saluting the flag. But they do so on national anniversaries only.

For the best designs for the backs of playing cards, illustrating the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to India, the Company of Makers of Playing Cards, London, offers a prize of $50.

A London dentist made a novel proposal of marriage. He fell in love with an elderly patient who ordered a set of false teeth from him. When the teeth were delivered the woman found a neat little proposal engraved on the plate which held the teeth.

Sheriff a Partner.

The Warren Township Stone Crushing Company will hereafter be operated under the firm name of Cooper & Haver. Sheriff E. E. Cooper and James A. Haver are the owners. The plant is located at Scott Stirling.

CITY FATHERS' ROUTINE

Petitions and Reports Take Up Time at Common Council Meeting.

FIRE FUND INCREASED

Bids For Street and Sewer Work To Be Received Tuesday Night, September 4.

Among the many petitions received at the August meeting of the Common Council, last Monday, was one from residents of East Seventh street, asking that that street, between Leland avenue and Twelfth road, be opened up and graded; also that the sanitary sewer and water mains be extended 900 feet east of Leland avenue. The matters were referred to the street and sewer committee. Residents of Jackson avenue and George street petitioned for a fire hydrant and it was referred to the fire and building committee. William Morrison, who resides on Arlington avenue, asked the Common Council for information regarding its intention of widening that thoroughfare. He said that he was anxious to lay a concrete walk in front of his property, but does not want to go ahead until he knows what the city proposes to do.

The Plainfield Water Company reported that one two-way hydrant had been located on Rahway road, opposite the residence of Otto Arens and another two-way hydrant on the same road near Belvidere avenue, as ordered.

I. H. Boehm, the dry goods merchant, asked for a permit to build a vestibule at the main entrance to his store at 111 West Front street, and the matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

Upon the request of the Consolidated Engineering Company, of New York, which has received the contracts, and upon the recommendation of the fire and building committee, permits were granted to the company to erect one building at Watching avenue and East Front street for Dr. A. W. Anderson and other building on East Third street for Smalley Brothers, to be used as a packing house and flats combined. The buildings are to be of concrete.

Sidney E. Frazee's resignation as a full paid member of the fire department was received and accepted, the same to date from August 1. In view of the vacancies existing in the department by the resignations of Frank Carl and Mr. Frazee, Mayor Buckle appointed D. H. Kiederling and J. F. Fitzpatrick as regulars and the appointments were confirmed.

The renewed fire insurance policies covering the city sprinkling carts dated the 26, 27 and 28 inst., and June 26, 1907, were presented and in accordance with a suggestion by Chairman Daniel, of the finance committee, they were referred to Chairman Buxton, of the public affairs committee, for the purpose of having the policies amended to cover the carts wherever they happen to be.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that during July seventeen permits were granted.

Mr. Daniel reported back the petition of J. P. Cahill, representing Charles R. Meehan, of Newark, who purchased a West Fourth street property at a tax sale for $7.80 and paid $25 to have the title searched. It was learned that the property was sold in error and Mr. Daniel moved that upon the presentation of duly verified claims, the two amounts be returned to Mr. Meehan. The motion was adopted.

Another matter in which J. F. Cahill was interested was that regarding the sale of a property on Beatrice street, which he claimed was illegally sold. He says that former Collector R. L. Lee informed him that he would not receive any outside bid for the property, but that he afterwards learned that although the city was supposed to have purchased the property a certificate was given to Ralph Wilde Emerson. Mr. Cahill claimed that the holo matter was illegal. Mr. Daniel reported on the matter and also presented Corporation Counsel Marsh's opinion which was to the effect that Mr. Cahill had no redress. He said that Mr. Lee had no authority to make such a statement to Emerson and that he recommended that the claim be refused. Mr. Cahill will be informed of the decision.

Mr. Daniel stated that no action had been taken regarding the petition of the Board of Assessors for an increase in salary because Corporation Counsel Marsh is away.

Mr. Gloak offered resolutions, which were approved, adopting the plans and specifications for the southside sanitary sewer and providing that advertisements be inserted in the local newspapers and in trade papers calling for bids for the construction of the work. The bids will be received on Tuesday night, September 4.

Other resolutions by Mr. Gloak, which were adopted, provided for the appropriation of $125 to cover the expense of widening Sycamore street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, by the removal of trees and re-setting of the fencing and curbing; also fixing Tuesday night, September 4, as the time the Common Council will receive bids for the macadamizing of certain streets; also granting the New York and New Jersey Telephone *Company permission to open a num*ber of streets in the residential section to continue its underground work.

Upon the recommendation of Building Inspector Doane and the fire and building committee, A. M. Griffen, of East Front street, was given permission to remodel his building and erect a building in the rear to be used as a warehouse.

Upon the motion of Mr. Hibbard, one electric light was ordered placed on Leland avenue, between Front street and the bridge, three on Prospect and Woodland avenues and two on Rock avenue, all being granted upon the request of residents.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hand, of Netherwood, having given the city the right of way for the extension of the sanitary sewer and signed the papers, Mr. Daniel made a motion, which was adopted, authorizing the city officials to execute the deed for the city.

Mr. Daniel also moved that $1,200 be transferred from the general to the fire fund and $300 from the general to the poor fund. The motion was adopted.

For the purpose of meeting expenses incurred by reason of the extension and improvement of the sewer system, Mr. Daniel offered two resolutions, one providing for the borrowing of $2,500 and the other for the borrowing of $2,000, the same to be secured by notes.

On Mr. Gloak's motion the ordinance providing for the extension of the Richmond street storm sewer was called up and adopted on third reading. It was also the ordinance providing for the closing of Church street, from East Third street to the railroad. Mr. Gloak also introduced a new ordinance providing for the closing up of Johnston avenue and Hill street at the same time as known, and it was adopted on first and second readings. These streets are located in land owned by David T. Kenney, and where the vacuum cleaning plant is to be located, hence the petition to close the streets. A public hearing in the matter will be held on Tuesday next September 4.

"JIM" SMITH ABOARD

DEMOCRATIC BAND WAGON.

New Jersey Democrats are preparing to set the State machine in motion for the production of Bryan delegates to the National Convention of 1908. They have an idea that only harmony is needed to assure them of the victory in the next Presidential campaign, and the differences to which the mention of the Nebraskan's name gave rise in the two McKinley campaigns have disappeared. The first step in the programme is to make the most politically, of Mr. Bryan's return to these shores. A comparatively unknown Jersey City lawyer started the ball rolling when he organized a reception committee. The lawyer in question, it will it would not do to allow the control of the situation to pass out of their hands. Davis, the Democratic leader of Hudson County, had taken it out of the lawyer's hand. Mr. Davis' letter inviting Mr. Bryan to say a few words in New City on his homeward journey brought a gracious letter of acceptance that will make Mr. Bryan the guest of the party of a county that was against him six years ago.

When the news spread to Essex county the gatesmen there felt that they had missed a point, and began to look around for a way of getting their leader, ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., into the limelight. Mr. Smith had not been an enthusiastic Bryan man in the two campaigns in which Mr. Bryan ran. Report was at the time that his trip to Europe in the heat of the campaign of 1896 was undertaken to escape supporting Bryan, and that in the later campaign of 1900 he did not take down his check-book when the contribution box was "passed around.

Happily Lewis Nixon was a chief of the general reception committee that is planning a fitting greeting to Mr. Bryan. Mr. Nixon was head and front of the Shipbuilding Trust, the receivership of which has just been wound up by ex-Senator Smith with signal satisfactory financial results to all interested in it. It was largely through the influence of Mr. Nixon that the receivership was bestowed upon Mr. Smith. It is Mr. Nixon who has just invited Mr. Smith to play the leading part in the reception.

Mr. Smith accepts with a eulogy of Mr. Bryan that any of his friends ten years ago would have regarded as impossible.

"This country," he says, "has produced no greater man in this age than William Jennings Bryan, and I am willing even at a sacrifice of personal comfort at this season to assist in making the Madison Square reception to the man whom 6,000, 000 citizens endorsed in their votes on two occasions to make Chief Executive of the Nation worthy of the occasion."

"Significant of the turn in sentiment which these incidents bespeak is the proclamation of William B. Gourley, the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, that Mr. Bryan is in line of the nomination, and that his election in 1908 is assured. Mr. Gourley was "out of politics" when Mr. Bryan sought to reach the head of the Nation in the two campaigns *in which he has al*ready figured.

MOTORMEN MUST NOT IGNORE UPRAISED FINGERS

COMPLAINTS FILED BY CITY AND ACTED ON BY P. S. C. MANAGEMENT.

Acting on complaints filed with *him by Chairman Buxton, of the Pub*lic Affairs Committee, General Superintendent Albert P. Shanley, of the Public Service Corporation, has promised the Common Council that *any attempt for motormen to disre*gard signals to stop on the street would be promptly dealt with by the management.

Mr. Buxton was moved to call Mr. Shanley's attention to the subject by complaints made to him by residents of West Front street. It is said that motormen on the main line cars have a habit of staring stonily ahead, with power on, whenever they happen to be a little behind their schedule, remaining totally oblivous of the pleading or commanding finger that intending passengers may raise.

Mr. Shanley informed Mr. Buxton in a letter read before the Common Council, Monday, that the company would not countenance such work on the part of the motormen and requested that he or anyone else furnish him with the numbers of cars, dates, etc., figuring in such occurrences, so that action would be taken. He stated further that all motormen running in Plainfield had been given strict orders to be careful in this matter in the future.

BROKE SALE CONTRACT.

Property Case is Fought All Morning

The case of Kusel Sachar against Mrs. Anna C. Myers, for $300 damages for breach of contract, took up practically all the session of the District Court Tuesday. Judge Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, sat in place of Judge Newcorn. The latter vacated the bench because he had been counsel for the defendant before he became judge.

Sachar sued to recover damages alleged to have been inflicted by the sale of a piece of property to another purchaser after he had secured Mrs. Myers' contract to sell to him. The property is at 217 Plainfield avenue.

Mrs. Myers' defense was that the contract was signed with a tacit understanding that the sale would not be consummated if the third party desired to take over the property. It was brought out in the course of the trial that Mrs. Myers understood Samuel Drier was her surety against damages in case the breach of contract led to any.

Judge Swift reserved decision. Walter L. Nefield, Jr., was the plaintiff's lawyer, and F. J. Blatz appeared for the defendant.

CITY HOLDS UP P. S. C.

BILL FOR ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

With the exception of the electric light bill, presented by the Public Service Corporation, all of the claims against the city were paid at the Common Council meeting Monday. In holding up the electric light bill, Mr. Hibbard, chairman of the light and trees committee, stated that the company was indebted to the city to the extent of $21.27, which is due as a rebate for lights not found to be out during a period of five months. This estimate is made on a basis of 8½ cents for incandescents and five cents for arc lights.

Mr. Hibbard stated that he had called the company's attention to the matter, but it had not deducted the amount from the bill, neither had it given any reason for failure or in*tention of allowing the rebate.* The bill was accordingly held up and Mr. Hibbard will communicate with the Public Service Corporation about it.

HILLERY SUGGESTS DATES TO COLBY.

Wants to Begin Their Joint Debates In Morris County on August 29.

Senator Everett Colby received a letter from Senator Thomas J. Hillery, of Morris, in reference to the joint debate which the two Senators have agreed to hold in the later county. In his letter Mr. Hillery refers to the fact that the time for the debate is rapidly approaching, and requests the Essex man to agree as soon as possible to times and places for joint practices. The Lyceum at Morristown, he says, can be had on the nights of August 29 and September 4, 5, 6 and 7, and he asks Mr. Colby to select one of these dates that will be convenient to him. Mr. Colby will probably name August 29. Mr. Hillery also says that he will soon suggest dates for debates in Dover, Boonton and Madison.

Weather in July.

Weather Sergeant John Neagle has furnished the following statistics regarding the weather for July: Maximum temperature, 89, date, 17th; minimum temperature, 54, date, 7th; mean temperature, 73.4; normal temperature, 74.4; total rainfall, 5.99; greatest in twenty-four hours, 1.53 inches, dates 3d and 4th; normal precipitation, 2.11 inches; excess above normal precipitation, 3.88; number of rainy days, 14; number of clear days, 7; number of days partly cloudy, 21; number of cloudy days, 3; number of thunder storms, 9; prevailing wind, southwest. This was the first July in fifteen years when the maximum temperature is that month did not reach 90.

WOULD TELL CITY HOW TO GET LIGHTING PLANT

ENGINEER ASKS COMMON COUNCIL TO LET HIM SUBMIT PROPOSITION.

F. A. C. Perrine, an engineer with offices at 40 Wall street, New York, wants to tell the Common Council how Plainfield can operate its own electric lighting plant, to the great advantage of the city and its taxpayers. A letter from him, in which he set forth the advantages to be gained by the operation of a municipal plant, was read at the meeting of the Council last night.

The Jones law, which was recently signed by the Governor, makes it possible for the city to secure and maintain its own plant. The establishment of the law moved the engineer to lay the matter before the Council.

Mr. Perrine stated that he would like to furnish facts and figures showing how Plainfield would be able to save considerable money by such a system, and he would also like to submit a proposition and plans for the installation of it in this city. The communication was referred to the committee on public affairs.

CONTINGENT FUND FOR CITY PURPOSES.

Common Council Provides For Fund of $15,000.

It being necessary under the new law for the Common Council to certify to the local Board of Assessors the amount of money in taxes it will need, exclusive of that already fixed in the regular tax budget, Chairman Daniel of the finance committee, provided for this at the August meeting of the Common Council, Monday, by offering a certificate calling for $15,000 to be known as a contingent fund.

The amount of general tax to be raised has already been fixed, but with the establishment of the district court, which called for the raising of the salary of the district judge and other expenses besides, has made it necessary for the Common Council to increase the amount of money to be raised. According to law they can fix upon an amount up to ten per cent. of the whole sum to be raised, but Mr. Daniel decided upon five per cent. Heretofore, after the general amount has been determined and the rate fixed it was impossible for the Common Council to exceed that sum, unless it borrowed. This being considered an unwise procedure, the new law contains a provision which will obviate that trouble. The certification must be made to the Board of Assessors before the third Tuesday in August, and while it was decided necessity that the matter be attended to last night, Mr. Daniel thought it best instead of running the risk of not having a quorum at an adjourned meeting, and he prepared the certification. An adjournment was made for Tuesday night, August 14, to consider this and other matters which may come up.

In providing for this contingent fund of $15,000, the city will not only be able to pay Judge Newcorn's salary of $1,800, but will also be able to meet other expenses which the Common Council cannot foresee at the present time.

DUNELLEN TAX OFFICIALS VOTED INCREASED SALARY.

Tax Collector to Get $250 and Assessor $150. Routine Business Transacted.

At the third reading of the resolution to increase the salaries of the Dunellen tax collector and assessor presented last evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Dunellen council, it was unanimously passed. This motion, which has twice been refused, provides that the salary for tax collector shall be $250 a year and that for the assessor $150 a year. George W. Day is the present tax collector, but the motion will not go into effect until next term.

Surveyor F. A. Dunham presented a map of proposed street improvements in the borough. This provides for the grading of Washington avenue and the macadamizing of the street, together with macadamizing and resurfacing of several streets in the borough. The work is to be begun within a few weeks. In connection with the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to see that a brake was put on the fire engine, Councilman William Koehn, chairman of the committee, reported that the work had been done. There was trouble because of the bill for putting on the brake, for it appears that the work had been done by a blacksmith to whom the contract had not been awarded by the man who made the brake. It is probable, however, that both bills presented will be paid. A new joint jacket was voted to be purchased for the hose. Most of the time was taken up with resolutions regarding the payment of bills. The entire council was present at the meeting, which was in charge of John Moynihan, president of the council.

Dr. Davis To Attend.

Dr. T. S. Davis, of Park avenue, will attend the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy to be held at Atlantic City in September. This will be one of the largest gatherings of medical men in recent years.

MR. BURT'S ODD ANSWER

His Reasons For Refusing Better Express Train Service Cause Surprise.

DISAPPOINTS COUNCIL

Another Effort To Be Made When Jersey Central's New Passenger Agent Takes Office.

General Passenger Agent Burt's answer to the complaint over the express train service between New York and Plainfield, was presented to the Common Council Monday by Chairman Buxton, of the Public Affairs Committee.

The letter stated that the company *had always endeavored to give Plain*field the best service possible, but that in the adjustment of time-tables many things had to be considered. On account of the through traffic, *and the great competition for busi*ness between Philadelphia and New York, it had been found necessary to cut out some of the local stops. In Mr. Burt's opinion there was not a section within Plainfield's distance of New York that was so highly favored with fast train service as Plainfield. He cited the number of express trains operated on the Pennsylvania between New York and Metuchen, the Erie, from New York and Ridgewood, the New York Central between New York and Tarrytown, comparing them with the number Plainfield has. By Mr. Burt's comparison, Plainfield leads, with eleven express trains daily to New York and fourteen from New York.

The letter did not strike the councilmen as a masterly effort. Among the towns mentioned in comparison with Plainfield was Ridgewood and Metuchen. Both places, so far as population goes, would be lonely away in a corner of Plainfield and lost to sight.

So far as Mr. Burt is concerned the matter is ended. He will leave for Massachusetts September 1 to take charge of the Boston & Maine railroad. Mr. Buxton will probably take up the question with Mr. Burt's successor.

FITZSIMMONS TO SELL LION 'SENATOR REYNOLDS'

EX-CHAMP'S BIG PET GETTING TOO FIERCE FOR DUNELLEN.

"Senator Reynolds," ex-Champion Bob Fitzsimmons' lion, is to be sold. The big animal which has been the pet of the prize fighter for the past two years, is to be sold this week through the American Sales Stables at New York city.

The animal became the property of "Lanky Bob" in a rather peculiar way at Luna Park about two years ago. Fitz, who is an intimate friend of Senator Reynolds, of Brooklyn, was with him at the resort one day at the Bostock animal show. Senator Reynolds is an officer of the Coney Island syndicate and the two were talking about animals. When "Fitz" admired the lion cubs in the cage, the Senator asked him if he would like to have one.

"Sure, I would; I like animals," said Fitzsimmons.

"Well," replied Senator Reynolds, "if you can get possession of one of those cubs, you can have it."

"Fitz" never takes a dare. So it happened that the next day it was reported that one of the lion cubs was pinched. The prizefighter was nabbed and spent the night in a Coney Island cell. He appealed to the Senator, telling him he had called his bluff, and was released.

He brought the animal to Dunellen, where he lives, and has kept it as a pet ever since. The "Senator" has been growing since "Fitz" has had him, and is now about seven feet long, and a really husky animal. Only a short time ago, he got loose and attacked a horse, which was badly torn about the throat before the "Senator" could be recaptured by his husky owner. "Fitz" cleaned up a lot for charity at the recent Carnival by wrestling with the lion at the fair grounds in exhibition.

Crated up in a strong, iron barred cage, "Senator Reynolds" was taken to the Dunellen depot yesterday afternoon by Fitzsimmons himself. There was a big crowd at the Dunellen station to have a farewell look at the animal and "Fitz" himself superintended the loading of the cage upon the cars.

In speaking to a Daily Press reporter at the train, the prizefighter said: "Yes, I'm going to sell him. You see he's getting pretty big to keep as a pet any long. His temper isn't as good as it used to be and I'm afraid to trust him with people when I ain't around. I am going in to the city to start a theatrical engagement at Manhattan Beach, you know, and my wife is going with me. I guess it's time to say goodbye to the "Senator" and sell him. How much will he bring? Oh, five or six thousand dollars, I should say."

Colby To Speak.

Senator Everett Colby will be one of the speakers at the Masonic Fair being held this week at Clayton, Thousand Islands.

COURT BRINGS PEACE IN FAGIO HOUSEHOLD

ACTION FOR NON-SUPPORT AND DESERTION UNPROVED AT BOROUGH COURT.

After threshing over testimony for two hours at the borough court, last Monday, Vincent Fagio, of Somerset street, and his wife were finally placed on amicable relations with each other and went home arm in arm. The hearing was before Justice of the Peace Mundy and was an action brought by Mrs. Vincent Fagio through Borough Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker. The charge was non-support.

The man-and-wife rupture began on July 21, when there was a family quarrel between the two. Fagio is employed in the glove factory of Perlin Bros. and the family quarrel resulted in Mrs. Fagio's leaving home on the morning of July 21. Fagio said at the time that if she went she could not come back. During the day he took the two children to New York city to stay with his father. Testimony in the evening developed the fact that Mrs. Fagio returned in the evening and found the house locked. She went away and returning again on the following day, was again unable to get access to the house. Fagio's defense was that his wife kept home during hours of the day when he was at work and that the house was always locked during the day when no one was at home.

Mrs. Fagio's complaint that her husband did not keep her in funds to supply the needs of the house was easily disproved by tradesmen witnesses who appeared for Fagio and proved that as much was left at the Fagio house as would supply any family of the size comfortably. The hearing did not reveal any sufficient cause for a charge of non-support was justifiable, so Justice Mundy dismissed the complaint. Frank J. Blatz was attorney for Fagio and S. S. Swackhamer represented his wife in the case.

OPEN WAR ON SOFT COAL NUISANCE IN THIS CITY

PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION ASKS COUNCIL TO STOP USE OF FUEL.

Action against the soft coal nuisance has been taken by the Plainfield Protective Association. The organization is in earnest in its attempt to stop the use of bituminous coal within the city limits. The soot and smoke arising from the use of the soft fuel is regarded by the association as one of the greatest blots on the city's beauty, and unremitting effort will be made to stop it.

As the first move against it the P. P. A. communicated with the Common Council at its August meeting, Monday, complaining about the use *of soft coal by the New Jersey Cen*tral and the Plainfield Water Supply Company. The association stated that unless speedy action is taken in this matter it might be impracticable to prevent it later on.

The association suggested that by the adoption of an ordinance the use of soft coal in the city limits could be stopped, as it was done at *Mt. Vernon, N. Y., where similar ac*tion was necessary. The communication, which was signed by H. C. White, secretary, was referred to the committee on public affairs.

EVERY PLAYER WAS A LOSER

IN THIS GAME OF CRAPS.

The Police Made a Raid and the Half Dozen Players Had to Pay Fines in Court.

There were six North Plainfielders who took part in a game of craps at Greenbrook Road Monday afternoon, and every one of them was a loser. From the standpoint of one who knows the game, this is impossible, but the matter is explained by the fact that the borough police knew the game was going on. The loss was in fines. Chief Weiss heard of the game being in progress and walked out there, arresting the half dozen of them single handed. They were in a vacant lot at Grove street and Broonbrook road and were quiet enough in their violation of the law not to attract any attention.

Before Mayor Newton Smalley of the borough last Monday they gave their names as Charles Dean, James McKenna, Frank Deal, James Conahay, Charles Simble and Milford Darling. Their ages range from twenty years down to eleven, which is the age of the Darling boy. Deal, Dean and McKenna were fined $2 apiece and Simble and Darling each paid $1. There is but a lot of craps shooting in the borough this summer and the police are active in their efforts to stamp it out. The Mayor gave the offenders a severe talking to and warned them that the next time any of them were arrested, the full penalty of the law would be inflicted.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Waring, of West Seventh street, are spending the summer at Easthampton, L. I.

Col. and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street, have returned from a sojourn in Massachusetts.

FOR MUNICIPAL WEDDING

Councilman Buxton Introduces Joint Resolution Before City Fathers.

ACTION IS LAID OVER

Like the Borough Solons, Councilmen Put Off Subject Until Full Membership Is In Town.

Following the action of the North Plainfield Council and the Board of Trade, the Common Council, Monday night, received a favorable report on consolidation. Like the borough body, it laid action on it over until September, when a full Council will have a chance to discuss the subject.

Councilman Buxton, of the Public Affairs Committee and the Joint Committee on Consolidation, brought up the subject last night. At his request, George Wyatt, the city clerk pro tem., read the resolution adopted by the Joint Committee, which declare consolidation without annexation to be desirable and feasible, and favor action looking to its consummation. The clerk read the resolution from a copy of The Daily Press containing a report on the meeting at which it was adopted.

The consolidation matter now rests until September. The Joint Committee with which action started is composed of committees from the Board of Trade and the two Councils. The resolution received by the Council last night was adopted by the Joint Committee at a meeting held on June 10. Former-Mayor Charles J. Fisk is chairman of the committee, and Borough Councilman Lee is secretary.

Both municipal bodies have evinced a decided partiality for the plan to unite the communities. Action has been delayed simply to enable all the members who are on vacation trips to have their say upon the subject before the matter is disposed of. Both Councils will take it up early next month. Those who are in a position to forecast say that a vote on consolidation may be expected in December.

FITZ DISCOVERS PRIZE FIGHTER IN REDSKIN

HE WILL TRAIN FULL-BLOODED MOKI INDIAN FOR THE RING.

Another pugilist, and a red one at that, is to make Dunellen his training headquarters. He is Red Cloud, a full blooded Moki Indian, who has interested Bob Fitzsimmons, and is now recognized as the protege of the ex-champion.

Red Cloud is in the lightweight class. He is now attached to a Dreamland show at Coney Island, and permission will have to be obtained from the Government before he can enter the prize ring.

Fitzsimmons tried Red Cloud out Saturday, after he had drifted him in hooks and jabs. Fitz was pleased with the Indian's showing and tagged him for a big run in the fighting game.

Red Cloud has sent a challenge to Kid Harris, of Chicago, and while waiting for the red tape to unwind in the Indian Bureau department of Interior at Washington, he will train next fall under Fitzsimmons.

The Indian has all the litheness and catlike quickness of his race, and he is as sinewy as any story-book brave. Moreover, he has staring powers, and a natural love for glove fighting.

KATE STEVENS WAS "TIGHT."

SENTENCED TO 27 DAYS

Colored Woman With A Big Drinking Record at Police Court Gets Long Sentence.

Before Mayor Smalley in the borough court last evening, Kate Stevens, colored, who was arrested Sunday by Chief Weiss, made the astonishing statement that she was not "drunk." She was in a helpless condition from over free use of liquor when arrested, but she maintained that she was only "tight," not "drunk." In order that she might have ample chance to "loosen up," the Mayor gave her a sentence of twenty-seven days in the county jail. Chief Weiss took her to Somerville this afternoon.

Kate is an old offender in the borough, and her name appears several times on the police blotter. She used to live in Westfield but recently came to the borough, where she has been living for several weeks.

Clubs Invited to Send Entries.

According to the conditions on the programme of the Deal Golf Club's invitation tournament, to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 16, 17 and 18, clubs are invited to send four entries. As this annual fixture always fills well a large field of starters is expected. Cups will be offered for as many sixteens as return cards. There will be an eighteen hole medal play qualifying round.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST. 16, 1906 NO. 37.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

DO NOT NEED NEW IDEA

Somerset Co. G. O. P. Committee Expresses Confidence in Leaders and Legislators.

FRELINGHUYSEN'S RAP

Many Colbyites Are Actuated by Failure to Get What They Want Says County Chairman.

The Republican county executive committee has held a meeting at Somerville and adopted resolutions deprecating the efforts of Senator Everett Colby, George Record and Mark M. Fagan to place the organization under new leadership and indorsing and pledging loyal support to the administration in the future as in the past. The meeting was presided over by Senator Frelinghuysen, chairman of the county committee. The resolutions adopted assert that as an attack is being made on the Republican organization, which, it is believed, endangers the success of Republicanism, the Somerset committee decides to support the organization and to pledge its loyalty in the coming elections.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, An attack is being made upon the Republican organization, which we believe has a tendency to disrupt the Republican party throughout the State, whereby the success of Republicanism is endangered; we, as members of the Somerset County, Republican Executive Committee wish to place the following resolution on record:

"Resolved, First, that we are in perfect accord with the Republican administration of the State, relying upon it to make all necessary reforms in the future, as in the past, as has been evidenced in the administration of our Governor, the Hon Edward C. Stokes, and in the record of the last Legislature; we feel that any movement alien to the organization at this time is unnecessary, and we therefore intend to give the organization our loyal support during the ensuing campaign.

"Second, We emphatically approve the actions of our representatives in the State Legislature, and heartily commend their stand on various questions of State policy.

"Third, We deprecate the efforts of outsiders to form a new organization in Somerset county under new leadership, which we believe unnecessary, and therefore desire to express our entire confidence in the present leadership and organization, which has resulted in an unbroken chain of Republican victories, filling all offices with able and honest officials for the last four years; and we pledge ourselves to complete loyalty in the ensuing election to the organization which has made such success possible."

To a reporter Monday night Senator Frelinghuysen said: "There is no need of outsiders doing reform work in Somerset county. We have always been able to effect reforms when necessary in the past and will continue to do so in the future. There are many men, who have, no doubt, been disappointed in not getting just what they wanted, and, of course, these are disgruntled. I do not mean to infer that every man who espoused the cause of Senator Colby is prompted to do so by a desire for a office because of failure to secure something personally. But there are a good many of these reformers that have axes to grind, and no lasting reforms have ever been brought about by men actuated by selfish purpose."

GAME HERE SATURDAY.

Quaker Giants To Play the Baltimore Giants at the Oval.

There will be a fast game of ball in Plainfield Saturday after all. The Quaker Giants, who want to rent the grounds for headquarters during the season, have arranged to play the Baltimore Giants, in a championship game.

The Baltimore Giants are fast, and right in class with the Quakers. The fur will fly when the teams come together. Those well versed in baseball are sadly regarding the wreck of the P. B. A. are wondering what sort of a crowd the teams will draw.

Physical Department Plans.

Plans for the coming season in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium are being considered by the physical work committee. The arrangements will be made public by Physical Director Listman after the September meeting. It is expected that the department will widen its scope considerably.

Co. K Boys Going to Sea Girt.

A delegation of twenty members of Co. K will leave on the 7:45 train for Sea Girt, tomorrow morning, where they will finish their rifle practice on the State range. It is expected that practically every member will qualify. The delegation will be in charge of Lieut. Harry Kitchell.

MASTER BUILDERS REFER RADIATORS TO PLUMBERS

TRADES COUNCIL RULING ON PAINTING WILL BE CONSIDERED BY BOSSES.

Reports that the Master Builders' Association would decide important matters at its meeting last night, were not borne out. The session was devoted almost wholly to winding up the convention accounts, and other routine matters.

The communication of the Trades Council regarding the transfer of radiator painting, from the plumbers' field to that of the painters, which might have to something of interest, was simply referred to the Plumbers' Association. The communication dealt with a question that agitated the plumbers' and painters' unions for two years. The trade council finally decided that the painting of radiators was properly the painters' work and not plumbers', and ordered the plumbers to do no more of it. The Plumbers' Association will offer no objection to the ruling, except so far as it may interfere with contracts still to be filled and with their agreement with their bosses. The Somerset committee decided to support the organization and to pledge its loyalty in the coming elections.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, An attack is being made upon the Republican organization, which we believe has a tendency to disrupt the Republican party throughout the State, whereby the success of Republicanism is endangered; we, as members of the Somerset County, Republican Executive Committee wish to place the following resolution on record:

"Resolved, First, that we are in perfect accord with the Republican administration of the State, relying upon it to make all necessary reforms in the future, as in the past, as has been evidenced in the administration of our Governor, the Hon Edward C. Stokes, and in the record of the last Legislature; we feel that any movement alien to the organization at this time is unnecessary, and we therefore intend to give the organization our loyal support during the ensuing campaign.

"Second, We emphatically approve the actions of our representatives in the State Legislature, and heartily commend their stand on various questions of State policy.

"Third, We deprecate the efforts of outsiders to form a new organization in Somerset county under new leadership, which we believe unnecessary, and therefore desire to express our entire confidence in the present leadership and organization, which has resulted in an unbroken chain of Republican victories, filling all offices with able and honest officials for the last four years; and we pledge ourselves to complete loyalty in the ensuing election to the organization which has made such success possible."

To a reporter Monday night Senator Frelinghuysen said: "There is no need of outsiders doing reform work in Somerset county. We have always been able to effect reforms when necessary in the past and will continue to do so in the future. There are many men, who have, no doubt, been disappointed in not getting just what they wanted, and, of course, these are disgruntled. I do not mean to infer that every man who espoused the cause of Senator Colby is prompted to do so by a desire for a office because of failure to secure something personally. But there are a good many of these reformers that have axes to grind, and no lasting reforms have ever been brought about by men actuated by selfish purpose."

AUTOIST CHANGED HIS MIND ABOUT SETTLEMENT

DECIDED, AFTER EXAMINATION, THAT WAGON HE HIT WASN'T DAMAGED.

Swerving from the car tracks, a big touring car owned by P. J. R. Sjonstrun, of Westfield, struck Herman Deike's bakery wagon in front of the Home Savings Bank on East Front street at 9 o'clock this morning. The car was driven by Carl Sjonstrun, the twenty-year-old son of the owner. He was on his way, with Mrs. Sjonstrun, to Asbury Park.

The front of the car hit the rear wheel of the wagon a glancing blow. The machine swung toward the sidewalk, and was stopped just in time to prevent a smashup against the curb.

Deike claimed his wagon was damaged considerably, and demanded settlement of young Sjonstrun. The latter was about to agree to payment when his mother advised him to look the wagon over. He followed her advice and changed his mind about agreeing with him. Deike argued with him, and appealed to Patrolman Overbaugh for support. The officer said the question of damages would have to be settled through civil action.

Deike accused Sjonstrun of encroaching on his right of way. The autoist countered by charging the driver with pulling directly across his path. Overbaugh could find no justification for holding Sjonstrun, and the young man continued his journey. The front axle of the machine was bent badly, but he insisted on going ahead against the advice of Overbaugh, who was a machinist before he joined the force.

Deike took a memorandum of the autoist's name and number. He will take steps to collect the damage alleged to have been done.

Preparing to Make Improvements.

G. Thorn, the East Front street photographer, is moving today from the top floor of the Dime Savings Institution, where he has been located for a great many years, to East Second street. His removal is caused by the proposed plans of the bank to improve its building. It is expected that Architect A. A. Low will have the plans ready this week to submit to the building committee, after which bids will be received for doing the work.

Extra Trunk Lines to New York.

In the further improvement of its service to New York and Newark, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has just added three more trunk lines from this city to New York, making ten in all and two extra trunk lines have been added to Newark, making six in all. It is the intention of the company to establish other trunk lines between these points within a short time.

—Neuman Brothers are conducting a special sale of blue and Gage plums for preserving and fancy crab apples for jelly. Place orders early.

Robert Scott is spending the day on an excursion to Willow Grove Park, Philadelphia.

BOARD VOTES $150,000

Somerset Freeholders Pass Resolution on County Expense Appropriation.

THE BRIDGE ESTIMATES

W. T. Kirk Co. Gets a Contract—Frank J. Hubbard's Communication Was Tabled.

At a regular meeting of the Somerset Board of Freeholders, at Somerville, yesterday, the following estimate of the probable cost of bridges in the county was made: Bedminster, $4,000; Bernards, $3,500; Branchburg, $1,500; Bound Brook borough, $300; Bridgewater, $7,000; Franklin, $1,600; Hillsborough, $2,000; Montgomery, $1,600; North Plainfield township, $1,600; North Plainfield borough, $5,250; Warren, $2,400. A resolution was also passed ordering that an appropriation of $150,000 be made for county expenses.

Bridge matters of a various nature occupied the attention of the board, among them the receipt of bids for the new structure near the school house at Mine Brook. The contract for the superstructure was awarded to the W. T. Kirk Company, of Plainfield, at $716, and the masonry work went to John C. Conrad, of Somerville, at $4.70 per cubic yard.

Frank J. Hubbard, of the Union county board, sent a communication referring to a name plate for the new West End avenue bridge between Plainfield and North Plainfield and it was properly tabled. The matter of filling in the approach to the Leland avenue bridge in North Plainfield was left with the committee.

The Commercial Trust Company, of Jersey City, was made the depository of the money received from the sale of county building bonds in place of the New York Trust Company because the former institution pays a larger per cent. of interest. Messrs. Fitzgs, Smith and Coddington were appointed to confer with Prosecutor Reger relative to the prompt removal by undertakers of bodies in any part of the county in case of sudden death or murder.

County Collector Allen was given permission to borrow $20,000 in anticipation of taxes and Messrs. Fitzgs, Smith, Philhower, Emmons, Hoagland and Compton were appointed to confer in reference to an application of the Somerville Water Company to lay pipes through the township road from Somerville to North Branch.

CONTINGENT FUND CUT DOWN TO $9,000

COMMON COUNCIL RECONSIDERS ITS DECISION ON $15,000.

The resolution adopted at the August meeting of the Common Council providing for a contingent fund of $15,000 was reconsidered at the adjourned meeting last night, on a motion offered by Mr. Hibbard. Another ballot was then taken on the resolution and it was defeated, Councilmen Gloak, Hibbard, Mellick and Montgomery voting against it and Councilmen Buxton, Dantel and Frank Randolph voting in support of it.

Mr. Hibbard offered a resolution providing that the contingent fund be $9,000, which is not more than 10 per cent. of the whole amount to be raised. His resolution was unanimously approved. It is the opinion that $9,000 will meet all extra expenses.

Mr. Daniel then moved that a proper certification of the tax budget, the amount needed for school purposes and the amount decided upon for the contingent fund be annexed to the regular tax certificate and forwarded to the county tax board. The motion was adopted.

It is up to the county taxation board to revise the books of the assessors, and although the Plainfield assessors had a copy of their books at the meeting, the members of the Common Council did not go over them. A long recess, lasting over two hours, was devoted to general tax matters.

A Weather Guarantee.

Clear weather guaranteed for the Warren Chapel excursion to Asbury Park tomorrow, from the looks of the sky today. You can't afford to miss this outing. Train leaves at 8 o'clock, stopping at Netherwood, and starts home again at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Adaline Depatchs.

Adaline Depatchs, the three-months-old daughter of Philip and Caroline Depatchs, of Scotch Plains, died yesterday. The funeral and interment took place this morning.

A ONE-SIDED COMMITTEE

6 Out of 7 Members of Borough Sewer Board are From 1st District.

McCUTCHEN AT HEAD.

Absence of Several Members Delays Investigation—Engineers Preparing Some Plans.

With the appointment of the borough sewer committee of seven for the purpose of considering the question of sewering North Plainfield and deciding upon disposal beds, W. J. Buttfield, chairman of the recently dissolved committee of fifty, appointed by the Mayor, has resigned Mr. Buttfield, chairman of the new committee to Charles W. McCutcheon. In connection with the new committee, it is noticeable that of the seven men appointed, but one is from the second district of the borough. The committee, as announced by Mr. Buttfield, is composed of Charles W. McCutcheon, chairman; W. J. Buttfield, J. O. Osgood, Edwin S. Hooley, Henry A. McGee and Charles L. Nichols, from the first district, and Dr. Justus H. Cooley, from the second district.

This committee was appointed by Mr. Buttfield, who was made its chairman by the members of the committee of fifty, appointed by Mayor Smalley and recently dissolved. The large committee thought that the question of sewering the borough could be better threshed out and decided by a small committee and at their last meeting, held two weeks ago, appointed Mr. Buttfield chairman of a new committee of seven, which he was appointed. The members of the large commission will be privileged to attend the meetings and enter into discussion. Mr. Buttfield, in accepting the office of chairman of the new committee, said at the meeting of the commission of fifty that he felt the Charles W. McCutcheon would make a more able chairman than himself for the small committee, but that he would temporarily accept and would appoint the committee of seven with the understanding that he was to resign in favor of Mr. McCutcheon, whom he would appoint among the others. These conditions were accepted and the resolution for the dissolving of the commission of fifty and the appointment of the committee of seven was passed unanimously at the meeting of the commission.

The announcement of the names of Mr. Buttfield's committee has created considerable talk among the borough people, owners of both parties. With the second district represented by but a single man of the entire committee of seven, there is said to be a little dissatisfaction among the property owners living in that part of the town. The first district, the subsoil is mainly gravel and sandy, so that there is no trouble with disposal by cell pools as that experienced in the part of the city included by the second district. Here the soil is clay, which will not enable percolation in the drainage, and the need of a sewer system is more urgent.

The new chairman of the committee, Charles W. McCutcheon, is broad for the summer, and will not return home for several weeks, but the committee had a meeting Thursday evening at the Park Club to which four members turned out. The meeting was a short, one, and no definite action was taken. There was some discussion of the sewer system proposed by the commission of fifty by City Engineer Pierson and informal talk regarding sewer beds independent from the city of Plainfield. It is not probable that the committee will meet for any work until the return of Chairman McCutchen from his European trip. During the interim, it is possible that other engineers will be asked to suggest and figure upon other disposal systems.

Matches Rouse Suspicions.

Joseph M. Harper, who keeps the stationery store on Park avenue, near Fourth street, asked the police yesterday to be extra vigilant in watching the place. He found several burned matches on the floor when he got down to business yesterday morning and he is afraid sneakthieves were prowling about the store the night before. The doors and windows were all right, but he is sure the matches were not there when he left Monday night.

Mrs. Edward F. Milliken.

Mrs. Edward F. Milliken, who resided in this city on Central avenue for many years, died at Paul Smith's in the Adirondacks, Monday. She was the mother of the Milliken brothers who conduct the big structural iron works on Staten Island, opposite Elizabethport. Mrs. Milliken was widely known in Plainfield and much of her time was devoted to benevolent work. The interment will be at Lynchburg, Va.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE BUSY

Andrew McCardell Gets Place of Wm. Newcorn on Union County Committee.

A PRIMARY "A. B. C."

New Laws Compiled In Concise Form —Tucker Leaves Committee.

Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, who was recently made a member of the City Republican Executive Committee, was chosen last night by the Union County Republican Committee as a member of that body to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge William Newcorn, who had also withdrawn from the local committee. The session was held in the Dix building in Elizabeth and forty out of the sixty-eight members were present.

Another change made in the complexion of the body was the selection of Robert Waterbury, a former member of the Union County Board of Elections, to take the place vacated by Assemblyman Everard Tucker, who is also a resident of the Eleventh Ward of Elizabeth. No reason is given for Mr. Tucker's withdrawal, but that of Mr. Newcorn was due to the fact that he has recently been appointed district judge of Plainfield.

The committee named to compile a brief form of instruction on the primary election laws made a report which was received with much approval. It is intended to furnish the voters a pamphlet setting forth in a concise form the regulations for conducting the primary election in order that there be perfect understanding of the requirements by September 25.

The list of election officers for the county was gotten in shape, and it is reported that County Chairman Smith will make them public tomorrow. Among the other business transacted was a consideration of the naturalization matter. It was decided to ask the county clerk to have his office open on certain evenings for the purpose of allowing aliens to file their papers.

A report of the outing committee was filed during the meeting.

CAPT. KIRKLAND OFF CO. ELECTION BOARD

RECENT APPOINTEE RESIGNS AND GEO. STEWART WILL GET JOB.

Captain Robert Kirkland, of Elizabeth, has resigned as a member of the Union County Board of Registry and Elections. His appointment to that body was made a little less than a month ago by Governor Stokes, at the same time that Walter L. Hetfield, 2d., of this city, was named.

His successor has not been named as yet but it is more than likely that George Stewart, of Elizabeth, will get the plum. Stewart is an active worker and is well and favorably known about the county. Last night he received the unanimous endorsement of the Union County Republican Committee for the berth and as the governor looks to that body to recommend the candidate there can be no question about his appointment.

Why Captain Kirkland resigned is not known but it was reported today in Elizabeth that his business interests compelled him to give up the job. He is captain of the Singer's fleet of boats and it is rumored that he is to be advanced to the position of commodore.

MR. M'CARDELL ENTERS KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Factory Inspector Takes His First Degree in Watchung Council.

Watchung Council, No. 553, Knights of Columbus, worked the first degree in Columbus Hall, last night, with its own first degree team, and the event attracted members of the order from all parts of the city, a delegation being present from Rahway and other nearby points. Among the visitors were Grand Knight Van-Wyck, of Perth Amboy, and several members of his staff.

State Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell and John H. Coyle were two of four candidates who received the first degree. After the initiatory work supper was served by a committee of Watchung Council. Over 140 knights sat down to the tables. Other features were short addresses by the grand knight, other visiting members of the visiting delegations and the local knights.

—The Plainfield Art Store, in the Y. M. C. A. building, is headquarters for works of art and there is no better picture framer than the proprietor, John W. Brady.

RAILROAD FIREMEN BADLY BURNED ON ENGINE

Bursted Flue Pipe Forces Sheet of Flame Against Them Causing Frightful Injuries.

JUMPED IN A TANK.

Trained Nurse On Train Tears Skirt To Make Bandages for Temporary Treatment.

By the bursting of a flue pipe on Engine No. 517 attached to the Somerville local due in this city at 5:30, as it was pulling away from the Fanwood station, yesterday afternoon, Edward Kelley, of Somerville, the fireman, and George Teats, of Bayonne, an extra fireman riding with him, received frightful burns which will in all probability cause their deaths. Both men are at Muhlenberg Hospital still reetaining consciousness but in a very serious condition.

The accident was one of the most peculiar that has occurred on the New Jersey Central in this section in a long time. Kelley and Teats were standing in the tender near the fire box when the flue burst and it injected a terrific volume of steam into the mass of live coals. A withering sheet of flame was swept against both men and in an instant their clothing was burning from head to foot.

Though dazed and blinded by the blast, they instinctively jumped to the furthest part of the tender and Teats, who could see about him, jumped the coal bank and leaped into the water tank, calling Kelley to follow. His instructions were obeyed and the last bit of flame on the shreds of clothing were extinguished.

The engineer succeeded in shutting off the rush of steam and as quickly as possible summoned assistance from the rest of the train crew and passengers. The injured men were lifted out of the tender and placed in a baggage car where Mrs. VanHoesen, of Fanwood, a trained nurse, administered temporary treatment, ripping her underskirt to pieces in order to secure bandages.

A messenger was dispatched for Dr. Westcott and he reached the scene inside of five minutes and did all possible to relieve the sufferings of the victims. Both men were conscious of the proceedings and Kelley gained the impression that his death was a matter of but a few minutes. He requested Harry Slauson, of East Ninth street, this city, who had assisted in carrying him to the car, to take his watch and money and give them to his mother. He also insisted on bidding all the members of the train crew an affectionate farewell.

It was decided to hurry the men to this city first, when the engineer attempted to start up, he found the bursted pipe had disabled the locomotive. As delay of half an hour was occasioned and the train remained stalled until a Royal Blue express came up behind and shoved it to the Plainfield station. The ambulance was in waiting and the sufferers were removed to the hospital.

Kelley's burns are the worst and it was thought at first that he would not survive the night. He is twenty-seven years old, unmarried. Teats is twenty-nine years old and has a wife. He was on his way to Somerville to start on his own run when the accident occurred.

Thomas Dorgan.

Thomas Dorgan, for many years flagman on the Lehigh Valley crossing at South Plainfield, died at his home on Arlington avenue, yesterday. He removed to this city several years ago on quitting the railroad service. He leaves two sons and four daughters. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Friday morning at 9 o'clock and will be attended in a body by Divison No. 4, A. O. H., of which he was a member. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Clover Club Again Active.

The Clover Club, the organization of young people residing in the West End which recently gave a lawn fete for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, has decided to give another on a more elaborate scale. It will be held at 1012 West Third street, Saturday afternoon, and a feature of the attractions will be automobile rides for ra small sum.

Miss Lucretia Morris.

Miss Lucretia Morris, daughter of the late James L. and Lucretia A. Morris and who was well known in this city, died yesterday at her home in The Schuyler, 61 West Forty-fifth street, New York. She was a sister of Mrs. E. T. VanBuren and an aunt of Lewis G. Timpson. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS AGAINST GLAZER'S FACTORY

OWNER SERVED WITH SUMMONS TO APPEAR IN JUSTICE CLARK'S COURT.

After three years of continued agitation, the residents of Alton have at last been successful in having the Fanwood Township Board of Health take action against Theodore Glazer's fat factory, which they assert has been making life a burden to them ever since it was erected. The owner has been served with summons to appear in Justice Clark's court at Scotch Plains next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock when action will be taken under the State sanitary code to have the establishment declared a nuisance and menace to health.

Glazer has retained Walter L. Hetfield, 2d, as his counsel and will vigorously contest the proceedings, as he has done every time any move was made against his place. The local Board of Health will have many witnesses on hand from the residents of that end of the township are working with it to get ail the evidence possible.

Three years ago a complaint was made to the Fanwood township officials asking them to take the necessary steps to have the place declared a nuisance. The board looked into the matter and made a number of recommendations for changes at the factory, all of which Glazer complied with. It was then believed the trouble had been overcome but in a short time the residents were again up in arms, asserting that unbearable odors came from the building and in their effort to secure relief they carried the matter to the State Board of Health. An inspector was sent out but the nearby property owners assert that he visited Alton on a day when no wind was blowing and accordingly did not get a proper "line" on the situation. It reported that he did not deem the factory as bad as alleged and proceedings in that direction terminated abruptly. The matter then rested until the present time and the hearing next Wednesday will mark another step in the fight.

JERSEY CENTRAL TO HAVE NEW BRIDGES THROUGH CITY

BUT ITS PLANS ARE REFERRED BACK TO COMMITTEE BY COMMON COUNCIL.

It being the intention of the New Jersey Central to install new bridges in this city during the next year or two, the company, through Chairman W. G. Gloak, of the councilmanic street committee, presented a map of the proposed structures at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night.

In presenting the map Mr. Gloak stated that the railroad company is planning to tear down the present bridges and build structures of stone or concrete. By making this change the Central officials believe that much will be saved in the way of expenses for repairs, which it is now necessary to make with the iron structures.

Mr. Daniel wanted to know whether the filing of the map would obligate the city to approve the plans for the new bridges. Mr. Montgomery also wanted to know whether the map provides for a bridge at Rock avenue. If it did not, he thought it should. No one present being able to satisfactorily answer these questions, Mr. Hibbard offered a resolution that the city should not be obligated in any way by the filing of the map. This was adopted.

Mr. Daniel thought it would be best to reconsider the matter and on his motion the map was referred back to the chairman of the street committee with the understanding that he consult further with the railroad company and get additional information as to its purpose.

A communication was received from the Public Service Corporation informing the Common Council that three electric lights have been located as recently directed. After Mr. Daniel moved that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Thursday night, August 30, the meeting adjourned.

Funerals of Boy Victims.

The funeral of three of the boys who were killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad Monday afternoon, was held this morning at the Sacred Heart church, Elizabeth, this morning, and there was a large attendance, especially of boy and girl playmates. The interment was at Matawan. The funeral of the fourth boy who was killed in the same accident was held at the same church, this afternoon, and his body was buried in Elizabeth.

TUNXIS CLUB POPULAR

Resort at Tolland, in Massachusetts Hills, Attracts Plainfielders.

MILES ROBERTS' WORK

Local Man, Vice President of Club, Has Done Much To Develop Sporting Resort.

Developed into a thriving little village through the influence of Plainfielders, Tolland, a quiet spot among the hills of Western Massachusetts, has become this season a most popular summer resort for metropolitan pleasure seekers during the hot months of the year. Situated in the heart of the hill country, near Noyes Pond and in a valley crossed by numerous streams, the resort is a fisherman's and hunter's paradise and New York sportsmen are coming more and more to discover its possibilities for recreation and rest. Its territory adjourns the State of Connecticut, and it is situated in Hampden county, near Springfield, and but a few miles drive from Westfield, Mass.

This spring and summer the land has been opened up by the formation of several big real estate corporations and the Tunxis Club, a hunting, fishing and outing association, of which Miles Roberts, of Kensington avenue, this city, is the vice-president, owns a large tract of the choicest land of the region. As officer of this organization, Mr. Roberts was instrumental in the development of this region of sport and recreation. Walter W. Griffin, of East Seventh street, former consul from the United States to Limoges, France, also became interested in the place and is a member of the club. Several Plainfielders known of the place and some have spent vacations there. Edward E. Fray, of West Seventh street, is a member, and will go to the club Monday for a brief sojourn. Miss Halloway, of East Fifth street, also leaves the first of the week for Tolland, where she will spend a week or ten days at the club.

On the shore of Noyes pond was established about six years ago a Tunxis Hunting, Fishing and Outing Club. Noyes pond is a beautiful sheet of water, over a mile long and half a mile wide, almost entirely surrounded by woodland. The property is administered by a holding corporation called the Colonial Forestry Company. There are only five or six men interested. The president is A. S. Brownell, president of the New York Realty Trust Company and the secretary and treasurer is Miles Roberts, conected with the United States Realty Trust Company in Wall street.

The club owns about 4,000 acres, including all the land around the pond, and Mr. Brownell, its president, individually owns about 1,000 acres. The plans of the club are ambitious. It will attempt, it is said, to attract New York millionaires to Noyes pond. It will also give considerable attention to the subject of forestry, as a large portion of the estate is growing up to timber.

The plans of this club have been the object of considerable curiosity in Tolland. It is understood that the original purpose in buying land around the pond was to establish a clubhouse for the New York Athletic Club, but this plan was eventually abandoned, but the promoters have other ambitious projects on foot.

Mr. Brownell recently bought an estate several miles from the pond, where a lot of money is being expended in remodeling a large farmhouse and fixing it up as a fine country residence. The future ownership of the property is clothed in mystery, but it is believed to be some man of note.

Miles Roberts, whose home was formerly in Connecticut, a few miles from Tolland, attracted others to the place, as they began buying land there in 1900. They bought 1,300 acres for $5 an acre, 280 acres was bought at sheriff's sale for less than $1 an acre, and another tract of 300 acres was bought for $400. The highest price paid was $12 an acre for 60 acres with a house on it. Originally 30 farms were comprised in the club's holding of 4,000 acres.

Rising from the north shore of the pond is an elevation 1,500 feet above sea level commanding a beautiful sylvan scenery in the foreground while many remote mountains and villages are visible in the distance.

There is considerable pine growth on the preserve, and the club has had a forestmaster, a forester there thinning out one tract, while small pine trees have been set out in other parts.

The buildings of the club comprise a spacious farmhouse, cottage and annex, and a large barn, all within a few rods of the pond, where a boathouse has been built.

In an illustrated article in Country Life in America Miles Roberts says:

"In acquiring this tract, the purchasers had a two-fold purpose. Primarily we wished to found a camp and game preserve, where each member could build and do as he liked, with the privilege of a clubhouse for himself and family; where he could toss old clothes and wander over the fields and through the forests with a feeling of ownership in them and all they contain; where they should have room enough for each to have his own hobby, and add to the attractions of the place by putting it into practice; in a word, enjoy the privileges of a large country estate, freed from the conventionalities of city life and at a minimum of expense. Secondly, it was and is their desire, by proper management and scientific treatment of the large forest tracts, as well as the planting of vines and spruces on some of the rough pastures, to develop a magnificent forest that shall be a pleasure to them and their fellow members, and to their children after they are gone; and it is believed that, under a proper system of forestry, this can be done in such a manner that the forests will be continually increasing in value and attractions, and at the same time yield a permanent income that alone will more than pay all expense of maintaining the preserve."

Continuing, he says: "It is not the plan to have a large central clubhouse, nor yet a settlement of houses in close proximity, but rather to encourage the building of individual camps wherever the fancy of the owner shall dictate, removed far enough from each other, however, or hidden by throes in such a way that they should not be conspicuous, so that the occupants of each can have all the privacy of a single camp, yet conveniently near to the clubhouse."

The club has an initiation fee of $50 and annual dues of $20. Each member is required to subscribe for at least five shares of stock at $100 a share, and gets a deed of a camp site.

The territory of the club comprises the larger part of a great square bounded by four main highways. From a point south of Noyes pond it extends northward almost to Otis reservoir. The land contains a good deal of small timber and some of larger size, including pine, spruce, hemlock, beach, maple, ash and hickory.

In Noyes pond there is good pickerel fishing at times. There is a chance for great sport with a toboggan chute down the high hill and through the pond. The farmhouse is open the year round and the club members spend some time there in winter, as well as in summer. Mr. Diming and his wife, who superintends the property, possess unusual qualifications for the position and know how to make a place homelike. The annex is a shingled affair with a pleasant piazza and a stone fireplace inside.

The Tunxis club has a situation which, from its natural beauty, cannot fail to impress the visitor. The chief drawback, at the present time is that it is rather inaccessible, but this may make it all the more desirable for some. If a railroad should be built in this section, as Mr. Brownell has sometimes talked of, the club would be the possessor of some desirable property.

DEADLOCK OVER THE CITY OWNING LIGHTING PLANT.

Again the City Hall Commission of Newark is deadlocked over the question of installing a municipal electric lighting plant in the new public building in that city, which is to be ready for use in October. The members held a meeting Friday, but after wrestling with the problem until they got tired were at a tie so far as votes are concerned.

Lighting experts employed by the Common Council have shown that the city could save much money by establishing its own plant in the new Municipal Building. Recently the Aldermen were unanimous in requesting the commission to take this course. There is tract with the Public Service Corporation for furnishing the new building with illumination.

The Commissioner Cressey has favored a Public Service contract and his attitude in the matter has resulted in holding the matter up. President Howell of the other member of the commission in the city at present, favors a municipal plant. The third member of the commission is Gottfried Krueger and he is in Europe. Matters are likely to remain in abeyance until he returns.

FUNERAL SERVICES IN SIGN LANGUAGE.

Members of Deaf-Mute Guild Gave Responses With Aid of Their Fingers.

Using the deaf-and-dumb alphabet, the Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Manhattan, conducted Friday night the funeral services for Charles Edward Green at No. 213 Heyward street, Brooklyn. A delegation from the Deaf-Mute Guild of St. Mark's church, adjoining the church, made responses with the aid of their fingers.

Mr. Green lost his hearing and speech by an attack of typhoid fever when he was two years old. Thirteen years later he had another attack of fever and his faculties were restored. He rapidly learned articulation. His aptness in the sign language made him invaluable in court cases in which mutes were called to testify. A few years ago he married Miss Edith Averell, a deaf-mute.

When Boiling Turnips.

A spoonful of sugar put in the water when boiling turnips will prevent their tasting bitter.

Amber Color to Soup.

A teaspoonful of burned sugar will give an amber color to soup made from white meats.

Mrs. Elias Hyams and daughter, Miss Bella, of New York, spent Sunday with Miss Susie Parse.

Boat House On Noyes Pond, Near the Tunxis Club at Tolland, Mass.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Stories Dealing With Social Problems, Part 1.

Auerbach, Berthold.—Convicts and their children.
Convict system.
Beaconsfield, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of.—Coningsby.
English politics, 1832-1834.
Beaconsfield, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of.—Endymion.
English politics, 1880.
Beaconsfield, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of.—Lothair.
Rivalry of church and tenantry over men of wealth.
Beaconsfield, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of.—Sybil.
English politics, 1845.
Beaconsfield, Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of.—Tancred.
Relation of church and state.
Bellamy, Edward.—Equality.
Utopian.
Bellamy, Edward.—Looking backward.
Utopian.
Besant, Sir Walter.—Alabaster box.
Caste distinctions between wealth and poverty.
Besant, Sir Walter.—All sorts and conditions of men.
Sociological problems and institute work.
Besant, Sir Walter.—Children of Gibeon.
Chief drawback, at the present time is that it is rather inaccessible, but this may make it all the more desirable for some. If a railroad should be built in this section, as Mr. Brownell has sometimes talked of, the club would be the possessor of some desirable property.
Caste difference between children of wealthy and poor parents.
Besant, Sir Walter and Rice, James.—Chaplain of the Fleet.
The Fleet under George III.
Betts, L. W.—Story of an East-side family.
New York poor.
Borrow, George.—Lavengro.
Gypsie life in England.
Borrow, George.—Romany Rye.
Gypsie life in England.
Boyesen, H. H.—Falconberg.
Duties of emigrants.
Caine, T. H. H.—Eternal city.
Christian-socialism.
Caine, T. H. H.—Scapegoat
Jews in Morocco.
Charles, Mrs. E. R.—Against the stream.
English anti-slavery movement.
Chesnutt, C. W.—Marrow of tradition.
Position of the negro.
Chesnutt, C. W.—Wife of his youth.
Colored wives.
Cooper, J. F.—Bravo.
Dangers of republican government.
Cooper, J. F.—Chainbearer.
Puritanism and agrarianism.
Cooper, J. F.—Crater.
Utopian experiment.
Cooper, J. F.—Monikins.
Sociological satire.
Cooper, J. F.—Redskins.
Agrarianism and New York anti-rent riots, 1845.
Cooper, J. F.—Satanstoe.
Puritanism and agrarianism.
Cooper, J. F.—Ways of the hour.
Trial by jury.
Craigie, Mrs. M. P. T. R.—Robert Orange.
Spanish and English politics.
Crane, Stephen.—Maggie.
New York slums.
Crawford, F. M.—American politician.
Party politics.
Cross, Mrs. M. A. E. L.—Felix Holt.
English radicalism.
Cross, Mrs. M. A. E. L.—Daniel Deronda.
Re-establishment of Jews in Palestine.
Dahlgren, Mrs. M. V. G.—Lights and shadows of a life.
Misceganation.
Edgeworth, Maria.—Absentee.
Irish landlord absenteeism.
Elliott, Mrs. M. H.—Atlanta in the South.
Miscegenation.
Fawcett, Edgar.—Ambitious woman.
New York society.
Fletcher, J. C.—Vesticia.
Anarchism.
Ford, P. L.—Honorable Peter Sterling.
New York political life and methods.
Franzos, C. E.—Jews of Barnow.
Polodian ghetto.
Froude, J. A.—Two chiefs of Dunboy.
Irish sociological questions.
Glasgow, E. A. C.—Voice of the people.
Class conditions in the South.
Greg, Percy.—Devil's advocate.
Sociological conversations.
Hawthorne, Nathaniel. — Blithedale romance.
Brook Farm experiment, 1841-1847.
Helps, Arthur.—Story of Realmah.
Government.
Hornung, E. W.—Raffles.
Fashionable thieves.
Howells, W. D.—Hazard of new fortunes.
Society and socialism.
Howells, W. D.—Imperative duty.
Miscegenation.
Howells, W. D.—Traveler from Altruria.
Utopian.
Hugo, V. M., comte.—Les Miserables.
Police espionage.
Hugo, V. M., comte.—Man who laughs.
English aristocracy XXVII and XXVIII centuries.

Essays of Perennial Charm.

Addison, Joseph.—Selected essays. He is entitled to be considered not only as the greatest of English essayists but as the fore-runner of the great English novelists. His best essays approach near to absolute perfection; nor is their excellence more wonderful than their variety.—Macaulay.
Bacon, Francis, viscount St. Albans.—Essays.
They are deeper and more discriminating than any earlier, or almost any later, work in the English language; full of recondite observations, long matured and carefully sifted. . . Few books are more quoted.—Hallam's Introd. to the literature of Europe.
Birrell, Augustus.—Obiter dicta. 2v.
The work which established his reputation as a critic and humorist. Bright facile, urbane essays.—Saturday Review.
Burroughs, John.—Pepacton.
A delightful book: . . It is redolent throughout of the fresh air and the woodlands; and yet it is far full without of culture as an egg is full of meat.—Grant Allen, in the Academy.
Carlyle, Thomas.—Sartor resartus; the life and opinions of Herr Teufelsdrockh.
The most original, the most characteristic, the deepest and most lyrical of his productions.—Frederick Harrison.
De Quincey, Thomas.—Flight of a Tartar tribe.
The best passages of De Quincey have never been surpassed for sustained splendor of language, exquisite balance and modulation and rythmic charm.—W. J. Dawson.
Emerson, Ralph W.—Essays. Ser. 1-2.
It is just in the combinations of an ideal height and range of thought with balance and sanity that we find Emerson's charm.—Saturday Review.
Fiske, John.—Excursions of an evolutionist.
A luminous mind expressing itself through perfectly transparent language.—Atlantic.
Lamb, Charles.—Essays of Elia.
Everything that rises up before his mind is set before us in vivid beauty. The style of his prose is exceedingly beautiful in imitation of those rich elder writers of ours, but always easy, simple, graceful and concise.—Blackwood's magazine.
Lang, A.—Letters to dead authors.
One of the minor masterpieces of literature, the keenest and cleverest volume of playful criticism since the Fable for critics.—Brander Matthews.
Lowell, J. R.—Among my books.
Containing the deliberate words of perhaps the best of living English critics, the final judgments on many of the great names of literature; judgments which are the result of long and wide study and reading, of marvellous acuteness of sight and delicacy of sympathy; containing a poet's opinion of other poets, a wit's of others who . . . one of the best gifts that for many years has come to the world of English literature.—Nation.
Montaigne, Michel Eyquem, de.—Essays.
Prince of egotists, admirable gossip. The sincerity and marrow of the man reaches to his sentences. . . I know not anywhere the book that seems less written. It is the language of conversation transferred to a book. Cut these words and they would bleed.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.
Pater, Walter. — Appreciations; with an essay on style.
An unusually catholic spirit; he takes genuine and cordial delight in the qualities of the men he writes of. A predominant sense of beauty in form, of charm in the spirit, of truth in the matter characterizes his work. —C. E. Woodberry.
Stevenson, Robert, Louis, Balfour. —Virginibus puerisque.
The collection of short essays which is most a record of his opinions—that is, largely, of his likes and dislikes. . . Before all things he is a writer with a style.—Saturday Review.
Thoreau, Henry David.—Walden; or, Life in the woods.
Describes his attempt to solve the problem of simple living by building and occupying a small house in the woods. Keen observation on animals, plants, and birds.—Leypoldt and Has.
Warner, Charles Dudley.—Fashions in literature and other literary and social essays and addresses. . . 1902.
We find genial humor, unfailing but not unreasoning optimism, and infectious enthusiasm for the best in American life and letters; and we close the book with a sense of widened reach and deeper insight.—Dial.

Battles and leaders of the Civil War: contributions by Union and Confederate officers edited by R. U. Johnson and C. C. Buel.
"So arranged as to make a consecutive history, beginning with the bombardment of Sumter." Larnard's Literature of Amer. history.
"The novel scheme of printing side by side the story of battles and movements as told by men of opposite sides who participated in them, was a delicate experiment, but has proved a great success. Union and Confederate soldiers have told their reminiscences in a generous spirit, and the presentation of both sides has never degenerated into controversy or lost its dignity." Nation 46:36.
Champlin, J. D.—Young folk's history of the war for the union.
"Can be heartily recommended, as designed to meet a real want, and meeting it well. . . It is equally well adapted to general readers who are not young folks." It is, in short, a well-written and entertaining history of the War of the Rebellion, very fair and impartial in tone, and aiming rather at incident and graphic narrative than at political and strategic analysis, although these are not neglected; affording, therefore, probably as good an account of these events as most will desire." Nation 33:419.
Comin, C. C.—My days and nights on the battlefield.
"The book is especially valuable as it describes from personal observation the first battles of General Grant. It has no better war-pictures than the taking of Fort Donelson and the Battle of Shiloh or Pittsburg Landing. . . This battle-book for boys will hold no unimportant place in the wayfarery of the times." Atlantic monthly 13:816.
Dana, C. A.—Recollections of the Civil War.
Partly published in McClure's magazine. Perspicuous descriptions of several great campaigns; numerous character sketches; many passages of a high order of literary merit." Amer. historical review 4:568.
Famous adventures and prison escapes of the Civil War.
Contents. War diary of a Union woman in the South; The locomotive chase in Georgia; Mosby's "Partisan Rangers;" A romance of Morgan's rough-riders; Colonel Rose's tunnel at Libby prison; A hard road to travel out of Dixie; Escape of General Breckinridge."
Gordon, J. B.—Reminiscences of the Civil War.
"Recollections covering entire war, in form of history, anecdote and critical comment. States the issues involved fairly and temperately and estimates at their true worth characteristics displayed by confederate leaders." Dial 25:302.
Grant, Gen., U. S.—Personal memoirs. 2v.
"These volumes cover the course of the author's life down to the close of the Civil War. . . When one considers that the writer was a man of action, altogether without experience in literary work, one is surprised at the remarkable skill with which the narrative is written. . . As a general he massed details but was not overwhelmed by them: so here, he sees the whole field and leads the reader easily along from one principal event to another. The narrative simplicity and lack of affectation so characteristic of the author are noticeable features of the work." A. C. McLaughlin, Prof. in Univ. of Michigan.
Livermore, Mrs. M. A.—My story of the War.
"Commencing with the first gun at Sumter, Mrs. Livermore outlines the progress of events to the assassination of Lincon, dwelling upon the work of the Sanitary Commission as it came under her notice during a close acquaintanceship with the horrors of war. Seldom does one meet with so rich an experience of human nature. The reader must be made of stern or indifferent stuff who can peruse this book without having his heart deeply stirred." Nation 48:471.
Longstreet, James.—From Manassas to Appomattox; memories of the Civil War in America.
"A work without which the literature of the war would be incomplete. His methods of action and of thought, his canons of military judgment, his influence on officers and men, are all worthy of careful study." Nation 62:146.
Morse, J. T., Jr.—Life of Abraham Lincoln. American statesmen series. 2v.
"Test best brief life of Lincoln. Condensed but quite clear. Very careful of facts and inviting confidence. Slightly marred by hero worship. First volume gives a graphic description of Lincoln's early environment, but minimizes his early political struggles. The second volume is thoroughly up to the conduct of the war." E. E. Sparks, Prof. in Univ. of Chicago.
Paris, L. P. A. d'O., comte de.—History of the Civil War in America.
"No other historian of the Civil War can compare with him in grasp of the subject as a whole, and in judicious proportioning of the parts." Nation 47:379.
"The Count's history is so animated, so vigorously written, so fair, so full of just and generous appreciation of the military virtues of the contesting armies and their leaders, that it is a great gift to the people of this country." Dial 9:3.
Ropes, J. C.—Story of the Civil War.
"It is incontestably the most intelligent as well as the most complete and impartial analysis of the campaigns and battles of the great Rebellion, so far given to the world. Mr. Ropes' narrative is remarkably free from prejudice, and is nowhere marred by the bias of personal friendship or personal enmity." Amer. historical review 5:592.

TRENTON FAST LINE WITH ELIZABETH TERMINUS.

Promises to Be in Operation by the End of Next eYar if Franchise be Given.

The Third street trolley care in Elizabeth now connect directly with Kenilworth. Within a month, the county seat will have connection with Summit and, pending the granting of a trolley franchise to the Public Service Corporation connecting this city with Rahway, an automobile bus line has been established. With these two cities now positive connected with Elizabeth by trolley, it is believed that business here will be materially better than it has been.

The cars connecting Elizabeth with Kenilworth began running yesterday on regular trips. The cars have a blue sign on the front announcing that "this cars connects with Kenilworth."

Kenilworth is a village of about 1,000 people lying to the north of Cranford about five miles. The route of the trolley line lies out Westfield avenue, to Aldene and from Aldene to the rapidly growing litle village where in a week or two a weekly newspaper will be started and several factories will be located. About the village is a large number of valuable farms.

In connection with the announcement of the new trolley line between this city and Kenilworth and Summit, a reporter has learned that in another week the fast line trolley road will be in operation between this city and Trenton. A reporter visited Metuchen and several places Thursday between that borough and the city of Rahway and saw what work was being done in the way of laying tracks for the new trolley road. The grading has been pushed as far eastward as four miles west of Rahway. The line crosses the Perth Amboy tracks of the Public Service corporation just one and one-half miles east of Metuchen and then comes directly toward Elizabeth, entering Elizabeth near where the proposed new Pennsylvania freight line is to enter Elizabeth. Fully two thousand Italian laborers are employed on this line.

To the north of Woodbridge another gang is at work filling and grading for this road. This gang will bring the line into Elizabeth. It will probably enter through the South Broad street terminus of the Public Service Corporation if the city council can be induced to give the promoters a franchise.

A little auxiliary railroad has been constructed upon which dirt and sand is being carted from hills in the vicinity for filling purposes. At the upper end of the work, near Metuchen, deep cuts, fully twenty feet and in same cases more, have been dug so as to make the grade conform with that of the rest of the road, now in operation between Trenton and New Brunswick.

Beautify your lawn and grounds by shrubs and flowering plants. Big assortment ready for setting, at Forrestel's nursery, of Belleview avenue.

BIG RECORD SQUAD OF RIFLE SHOTS

GREATEST GATHERING EVER KNOWN EXPECTED AT SEA GIRT.

Entries for the big rifle tournament which will be held at Sea Girt commencing August 27, and ending September 6, are beginning to come in, and General Bird W. Spencer, president of the National Rifle Association and inspector-general of rifle practice of New Jersey, says that the assemblage of riflemen this year will probably be the greatest gathering of rifle shots ever known in this country. In addition to the national matches there will be matches to be shot under the auspices of the National Rifle Association and also of the New Jersey State Rifle Association.

Among the State teams that are expected here for the national matches are those from Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, Georgia, Kentucky, Maine and Tennessee have not decided. There will also be teams from the different branches of the army and navy, and it is believed there will be forty-five teams to shoot in the matches.

Thirty-seven teams took part in the competition for the national match last year. New York won with a score of 4,528; United States infantry was second, with an aggregate of 4,400, and, Ohio third, with a total of 4,381. It is open to teams of twelve men from the various branches of the "regular" establishment and the National Guard. The first prize is the national trophy, donated by act of Congress, and $300 in cash, to be divided among the members of the winning team; the Hilton trophy and $200 in cash for the second prize, and the Soldier of Marathon trophy and $150 in cash for third prize. There are also three other cash prizes.

It is probable that the national individual match will tax the capacity of the Sea Girt range. Last year there were 367 entries, and as there are plenty of cash prizes, as well as lots of glory, it is expected that nearly every member of the forty-odd teams will take part in the team match will also shoot in the individual match. The sum of $390 was donated by congress, and private parties have donated $2,010, making the total cash to be distributed $2,400.

Presented to the National Rifle Association of this country by the kindred organization of Great Britain, the Wimbledon cup is looked upon as one of the desirable trophies for a rifleman to capture. It was won last year by Lieutenant W. A. Tewes, of the First New Jersey, of Newark, with a score of 91. It is shot for at 1,000 yards, and there are four cash prizes. The president's match, carrying with it the military championship of the United States, was won last year by Sergeant W. Fry, of Ohio, with an aggregate of 291. He received an autograph letter from President Roosevelt congratulating him upon his marksmanship. Ohio also captured the Leech cup match last year, having been won by Captain W. H. Richards, with an aggregate of 99.

One of the handsomest trophies for which the rifle teams will compete is the prize donated by United States Senator John F. Dryden. This trophy will be added to the regimental championship team match. It has been donated by high regiments of the United States and is valued at $500.

There is sure to be considerable interest taken in the interclub rifle match for the championship of the United States. The match has been won twice by the Manhattan Rifle and Revolver Association of New York city, which has a splendid aggregation of expert shots in its ranks. There will be a number of squadded matches, as there were last year, and plenty of cash prizes for the "pot hunters" who want to shoot for "what there is in it," rather than for glory.

Lieutenant Colonel Peter Bomus, of the Sixth Cavalry, United States army, will act as executive officer for the national matches, which will begin on Tuesday, September 4. General Bird W. Spencer, it is expected, will act as executive officer for the matches of the National Rifle Association and the New Jersey State Rifle Association. Major William S. Stryker, of the Second regiment, New Jersey National Guard, will be the post adjutant and Colonel William Early the post quartermaster. It is expected the teams will begin to arrive about August 22. The camp for their accommodation will be in readiness by the twentieth of the month.

—Eugene MacLaughlin, of the local telephone company, commenced his two weeks' vacation today.

Among other improvements planned by the Public Service Corporation is that of laying new rails and ties on West Front street, between Plainfield and Grant avenues. The rails now used were installed several years ago.

MR. BAILEY OF TEXAS

The typical gentleman from Texas would be expected to put small restraint upon himself when occasion seemed to call for strong language, but in Senator Bailey, in many ways typically of Texas, we find a Westerner whose thoughts are so strong he feels the only language that would fully express them would be of the kind absolutely impossible in the senate—although the ears of the senate walls in their day have listened to words unpretty as well as pretty. Senator Bailey's thoughts have been stirred to unmentionable depths by the man with the muck rake. Concerning this man and others of his ilk Mr. Bailey bears witness: "It is a great temptation for me to say what I think about these people, but that would offend the dignity and proprieties of the senate, and I forbear."

Perhaps he would not have forborne had he been really a son of Texas—but come to think of it, does Mississippi raise milder men? Mr. Bailey began to call himself a Texan not until he was born in Copiah county, Mississippi, did not take up residence in the Lone Star state until his school days and preparatory work for a professional career were ended. He was admitted to the bar in 1883, two years later removed to Texas and at Gainesville began the practice of law.

From the first he took an active interest in politics; in 1884 we find him a presidential elector, in 1888 a delegate at large. From 1891-1901 he served as member of congress, the latter year took his place as United States senator.

He was 22 years of age. He was born in Copiah county, Mississippi, did not take up residence in the Lone Star state until his school days and preparatory work for a professional career were ended. He was admitted to the bar in 1883, two years later removed to Texas and at Gainesville began the practice of law.

From the first he took an active interest in politics; in 1884 we find him a presidential elector, in 1888 a delegate at large. From 1891-1901 he served as member of congress, the latter year took his place as United States senator.

SOCIALISM AND JUDGE GROSSCUP

In this day of increase in socialist ranks it is of interest to hear what a man of Judge Grosscup's authority may have to say on the subject of socialism. He gives his judgment: "A doubling back on the road along which the race has come from the days when no man had a hope of his own for an individual part in the destiny of things." Socialism, then, Judge Grosscup thinks, is a stepping backward.

But he makes full allowance for present ills, and gives suggestion for dealing therewith; avers that what is needed is not prosecution of corporations simply because they are, but "what is wanted is the correction, the old title, so rebuilt that in the vast domain of property covered by it the people, who with their hands have created every dollar of it, shall have way to participate." The jurist does not think the reforms are to be brought about by act of congress, but that state legislatures should step along and form in whose law the foundations for the new corporation," and then the people themselves be called on to look after their interests.

Judge Grosscup was born in Ohio, is 54 years old, was graduated at Wittenberg college, Ohio, and at the Boston Law School.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA

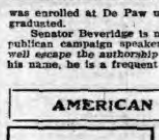
It was the gentleman from Indiana, Hon. Albert J. Beveridge, who introduced the agitating meat-inspection bill in the senate.

Senator Beveridge's name has frequently been before the public of late years. He is one of the many instances in this country of rise from obscurity and poverty to place of prominence, one of the many instances that serve as inspiration for young America.

He was born in Ohio state, that has turned out so many public men. He first saw the light of day on a farm, and at the tender age of 12 was put at the helm of following the plow. This was in Illinois, his family having removed thither after the war. Young Beveridge was given some schooling, but had to toil laboriously for, say being beyond the little schoolhouse. After his plowboy experience he led for several years a life of privation; at 14 was a railroad laborer at 15 a logger and teamster. About this time he found himself able to attend high school; later was enrolled at De Paw university, Indiana, from which institution he was graduated.

Senator Beveridge is noted as an orator, has won no small fame as Republican campaign speaker. His home being in Indianapolis, he found no well escape the authorship microbe; "The Young Man and the World" bears his name, he is a frequent contributor to the magazines.

AMERICAN PROFESSOR AT BERLIN



We have all heard more or less in the last few months of the plan for the exchange of professors in German and American universities, of this means of strengthening the bonds uniting in friendliness Germany and the United States. In December of this year an American professor begins work at the University of Berlin, Prof. John W. Burgess, Theodore Roosevelt professor of American history and institutions for 1906-07. In the Roosevelt room at the University of Berlin are to be placed pictures and portraits of the men from this side the water most prominently connected with the Roosevelt professorship: Theodore Roosevelt, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Prof. John William Burgess.

Prof. Butler is head of Columbia university, Prof. Burgess member of the faculty at Columbia. Prof. Burgess, while not so widely known as President Butler, is a noted educator, since 1890 has been dean of the faculty of political science at Columbia. He is author of several works: "Political Science and Comparative Constitutional Law;" "The Middle Period;" "The Civil War and the Constitution;" "Reconstruction and the Constitution;" and has contributed to reviews on historical, political and legal topics.

Dr. Burgess was born in the south, is a native of Tennessee; attended Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tennessee; in 1867 was graduated from Amherst, received from that university the degrees of Ph. B. and LL. D. He studied law and in 1869 was admitted to the bar. For two years Dr. Burgess was professor of English literature and political economy at Knox college; was professor of history and political science at Amherst, from Amherst went to Columbia as professor political science and constitutional law.

ACTRESS AND AUTHOR

Clara Morris, the actress once so prominent in emotional roles, has of late years taken to writing. Miss Morris says of her book, "Life on the Stage," it was calmly offered out of bounds less courage and perfect ignorance; in her later "Life of a Star" the author has arrived at, or affects, a diffidence come of experience in the literary field.

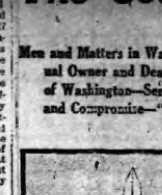
Miss Morris in her time has known a long procession of interesting people, chronicle and chronicler both hold one's attention. And note the list the actress-author has put forth since taking her pen in hand: "Life on the Stage;" "My Little Jim Crew;" "Life on the Stage;" "A Pasteboard Crown;" "Stage Confidences;" "The Trouble Woman;" "Life of a Star." In addition, Miss Morris has contributed to numerous periodicals; the Century, St. Nicholas, North American Review, etc. Her sketches have been syndicated in the newspapers, and the star who retired into obscurity, the actress who held the older generation enthralled, reappears to entertain a younger set—as well as the elders who have not forgotten her sway.

She began her stage career as member of the ballet in the Academy of Music at Cleveland, Ohio, back in '61. The young girl advanced rapidly, at the age of 20 was leading lady at Wood's theater, Cincinnati. The following year she became member of Daly's Fifth Avenue company. Miss Morris soon rose to prominence in theatrical roles, and appeared as star in the principal theaters of the country. Her principal roles were Camille, Alice, Miss Multon, Mercy Merrick in the "New Magdalene," and Cora in "L'Article."

Clara Morris was born in Canada in 1849, her childhood was spent in Cleveland. Her present home is at Riverdale-on-Hudson, New York. She is married to [illegible] known as Mrs. Frederick Harriot.

The Country's Capital.

Men and Matters in Washington—Procter of Vermont Largest Individual Owner and Dealer in Marble and Granite—Believes in Future of Washington—Senator from Iowa Held to a Policy of Pacification and Compromise—"Getting Even."



WASHINGTON.—One of the old men of the senate who does not rush off immediately upon the adjournment of congress is Senator Redfield Proctor, of Vermont. The reason he does not join the early exodus after congress adjourns is that he has some of his principal business interests in this city. No one knows how wealthy Mr. Proctor is, as he is as mum as a clam of his own granite or marble regarding his personal affairs, but by inference from his recent acquisition he is the largest individual owner and dealer in marble and granite in the world. He is very fond of these two stones, and he is gradually putting them into buildings of considerable consequence here in Washington. He owns many granite and marble front houses and has just completed a very large apartment house with glistening white marble front.

Like some of his wealthy colleagues and predecessors in the senate, Mr. Proctor has faith in the future of Washington and has made many investments which are turning out exceedingly profitable. As he grows older he seems to take a deeper interest in these real estate deals and much of his time, even in hot weather, is spent at the national capital ready to turn an honest penny, and a good many millions of them, in real estate transactions.

MEN OF EXPERIENCE IN ADMINISTRATIVE BRANCH.

It is regarded as something of an advantage for a man in the senate or house to have had experience in the administrative branch of the government. The senate is pretty well stocked in this regard, as there are at present five ex-cabinet officers in that body, men who have had to do with the administration of government and whose practical knowledge of executive affairs is of great benefit in the consideration of legislation. Probably the most effective of these ex-cabinet officers is Senator Knox, who was attorney general under the administration of McKinley and under President Roosevelt. His experience in that office secured him an appointment to the judiciary committee and to the committee on interoceanic canals and privileges and elections, where legal knowledge is of particular advantage.

The venerable Senator Teller, of Colorado, served three years as secretary of the interior under President Arthur, and to this day the experience he then gained shows in his handling of bills that relate to matters in the interior department. Anything relating to Indians or public lands must be shrewdly straight before it can pass the scrutiny of Mr. Teller, who knows all about those affairs and who does not hesitate to expose any suspicious dealings which his experience as secretary of the interior may enable him to unearth.

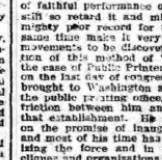
There are three veterans of war in the senate, all of them men of ability and who are especially qualified to discuss legislation relating to the army. There is Senator Proctor, who served as secretary of war under Harrison, and Senator Elkins, who succeeded him at the war department under the same administration. Then there is Senator Alger, of Michigan, who was President McKinley's secretary of war all during the trouble with Spain. When technical questions affecting the war department arise, these three gentlemen are called upon to explain them and they are usually found possessed of very illuminating information.

SENATOR ALLISON AND SOBRIQUET OF "PUSSY-FOOT."

A spirit of sadness spread over the senate in the closing hours of the last session, because of the absence of William Boyd Allison, the venerable senator from Iowa, and for 33 years a member of the senate. This veteran statesman has been ill much very much in the past year, and it was with the deepest sorrow that his colleagues saw him compelled to yield the leadership on appropriation bills to another. For many, many years Mr. Allison has been chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, and in that position has directed the distribution of billions of dollars. No one in the senate understood the construction of appropriation bills and what were necessary expenditures so well as he.

It is feared that the final break has come and that Mr. Allison will never again be able to assume the leadership that he has held in the past. He was 77 years of age last March, and it is not reasonable to suppose that at that advanced age he can hope to recover sufficiently to undertake as heavy work as he has in the past. Mr. Allison was known as the great pacificator. His has always been a policy of compromise and peacemaking. He has gone about the advancement of his principles in the most suave and gentle manner, and it is said that no man in either branch of congress has ever been able to accomplish so much in such a quiet way. He years and years ago earned the sobriquet of "Pussy footed."

THE PUBLIC PRINTER, RECEIVES A BLACK EYE.



Subordinates in government offices in Washington have a way of getting even with superiors whom they do not like. The printing of appropriation bills and other measures during the last hours of congress had hitherto been kept right up to the hour. On this occasion, however, the printing office fell back and the most unaccountable errors were made and delays ensued that kept congress in session at least 12 hours longer than would have been necessary under the old regime. The president was also subject to annoyance by being kept at the capitol several hours beyond the time usually necessary to sign bills.

It is pretty well understood that all this confusion, errors and delay were worked for the purpose of reflecting upon Public Printer Stillings. An investigation has been ordered by the senate, but it is surmised that the investigators will have a hard time finding a culprit in this case. The printers who caused delay are blaming the latter on bad copy and mistakes of enrolling clerks in the house and senate.

ATTRACTIONS OF THE "GREAT FALLS OF THE POTOMAC."

It is not generally known that the largest falls east of Niagara are located in the Potomac river, some 16 miles northwest of Washington. They are called the "Great Falls of the Potomac," but have achieved in all their history little more than local fame and a very small percentage even of the inhabitants of Washington have ever witnessed their beauty. The progress of this locality, however, is now to bring this natural wonder within the view of residents and visitors in Washington. A line has been constructed to the point where the noble Potomac is a mere river of rapids and falls tumbles over a good sized hill and makes one of the most attractive natural bits of scenery in the east.

Hitherto the Great Falls has been known principally on account of its good fishing in their vicinity. The small mouthed Potomac black bass is found here in large quantities and neighboring pools were the favorite fishing grounds of some of the noted statesmen of the past. Ex-President Cleveland has his eight years' residence in Washington was a frequent visitor in this neighborhood, and with his old fishing crony, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller, a gentleman of equal piscatorial delight and breadth to Mr. Cleveland, took many a string of fine bass from these waters.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic for the Week Beginning Nov. 18, 1906.

By Rev. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic—What is the sin of Pharisaism? —Luke xi. 1-44.

The Pharisees were a religious party in the time of Christ. The word Pharisee means "separatist." They were distinguished from the leading opposite sect of their day, the Sadducees, in that they believed in a physical resurrection, while the Sadducees believed in a spiritual exaltation in the future. In addition to their acceptance of the written law of Moses they believed in tradition, in the theory that Moses had given also an oral law to explain the written law, which had been handed down by word of mouth. The Pharisees were not wealthy nor did they live luxurious lives, as many suppose. They were also free from personal vices. Josephus declares that they lived frugally, in no respect giving in to luxury. Among them also were many individuals who were pure and upright, examples of which we find in Nicodemus, Gamaliel, Joseph of Arimathea and Paul. Yet with all that can be said in its favor, Pharisaism was far from being a true form of religion. The teaching of Christ in many respects was antagonistic to theirs, and His denunciations of them were most severe, and in these denunciations the sin of Pharisaism may be seen, and being seen must be shunned. "For except your righteousness exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees ye shall in nowise enter the kingdom of heaven."

The chief sin of Pharisaism was formalism. To them the letter of the law was everything, the spirit nothing. And, having surrounded the law with numberless traditions, considered equal with the law, they made religion a *burdensome thing indeed. They com*prehended not the love of God nor the true spirit of religion, but made it to consist of rounds of irksome and often valueless duties. "The letter killeth; the spirit giveth life." Let us be on our guard against formality in religion. Another sin of Pharisaism was pride. They "loved the uppermost seats in the synagogues." The praise of men was more to them than the commendation of God. Even their devotions were performed that they might be seen of men. Pride enters easily into the religious life unless we guard carefully against it. The Pharisees were also the most bigoted of men. They cared not for the opinions of others and looked down upon their fellow men who were not of their nation or their class.

BIBLE REFERENCES.

Ps. xciv, 2; ci, 5; cxxxviii, 6; Matt. v, 20; vii. 1-8; xii, 1-21; xv, 1-11; xvi, 1-6; Mark iii, 1-6; vii, 1-9.

A Christian Endeavor Guard.

The New York Sun of Nov. 6, 1905, printed the following interesting letter:

To the Editor of the Sun:

A stranger boarded a Harlem elevated train yesterday during the rush hour. The platforms were crowded. The question of the man from out of town was first directed to the railroad official by his manner in closing the gates. He had been used to the slap bang order. A young artisan, with a strong face, made a rush to get on the moving train. The guard leaned over and said: "Now, be reasonable, old man. You can get home in time for dinner. The next train is right behind us." The man swung off good naturedly with, "Say, you're all right, Bill." The bystanders were smiling at the little display of diplomacy.

My stranger friend was somewhat encouraged and asked the knight of the gates several questions regarding locations, etc., and found that information was handed out to him in a way that was positively refreshing. In leaving the train he noticed that the guard wore a little silver Christian Endeavor pin!

From China and India.

Writing in the British Convention Herald (of Leeds), a missionary of Swatow, China, says that in the English Presbyterian mission of South China a corner of the field is set apart as the Endeavorers' corner. It is a fortifying corner, removed from Swatow, the local center, by a very rough sea journey of a day and a night, or by land, five days' chair travelling. Already there are a ministerial missionary and his wife, and also a doctor and his wife. A fine hospital, opened some months ago, shows what Endeavorers can do in the way of raising money.

During the past eight months the Endeavorers of the Chittoor union of India preached the gospel to 2,330 people in seventy-three places. The societies supported a special evangelist through the entire year.

The Goal.

If here and there Endeavor seems to be an end in itself, it has been false to its first and never repealed motto, "For Christ and the Church." To keep this object plainly in sight to make it the driving force of all the machinery, to have it assume constantly a larger meaning, has been the aim of the directors of the movement through the twenty-five years. May it never lose sight of that goal, and may it be able so to reinterpret and apply its *governing purpose in the light of to*day's demand upon every Christian organization that its next quarter of a century shall be even more fruitful than the one which we are just celebrating.—Congregationalist.

A Brace With Foreign Flavor.

Certainly so far as the name is concerned Allahabad has most appropriately been chosen for Christian Endeavor headquarters in India, for the name means "the city of God."

Bishop Hasse, president of the British Christian Endeavor union, visited during recent months four of the English cathedral cities and found Christian Endeavor flourishing in each of them.

The Interest In Missions.

I am interested in missions because missions are interesting.—Von Ogden Vogt.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Aug. 19: Organ School Duties and Lent? Sunday School Interests. Sept. 2nd: [illegible] Prov. xxii, 24; Rom. xii, 21 John xiii, 35; 1 Sam. xii, 23; 1 Tim. iii, 15; 1 John iv, 19.

By Rev. Wallace J. YATES, D. D.

The methods of work may change as years pass and may vary in different places and under different circumstances. But human nature does not vary greatly from age to age, is much the same in all lands and races, and the cardinal principles of truth and righteousness are the same through all ages and worlds.

The young have capacity for religious knowledge, and the development of character depends directly on the kind and amount of religious training given in the early years. The lessons to be learned are both facts and their practical application to the work of common life.

The modern Sunday school is the best means which has ever yet been devised in any region for the imparting of Christian instruction and the development of the young in the practices of the Christian faith.

In all ages the church of Christ has had some means of instructing her youth in her beliefs and in the practice of her religious ceremonies. These have varied in different lands and at different times. The Sunday school is the practical outgrowth of modern conditions and needs.

It has resulted in a wider diffusion of Bible truth and a more accurate understanding of the history of the Bible, the church, the progress of divine revelation and establishment of Christianity, the missionary interests of the church and the principal truths of the gospel and requirements of salvation.

The co-operation of the different churches in this work to aid weak and destitute communities and provide proper literature for all the schools has, caused the formation of the union. Collections for its maintenance are taken in all our churches, and the funds thus raised have made it possible to open Sunday schools in the south among the negroes and also among the poor of the white class; have carried the Bible and teacher over the plains of the far west and northwest as well as into the alleys and streets of the cities among the foreigners who have swarmed all over the eastern section of our country.

The union should have hearty and liberal support so that all departments may be developed and maintained in the highest degree of efficiency.

The local interests must have the special consideration of the church. The best possible teachers should be secured. Constant improvement in the course of study and the books used in teaching are requisite to the proper development of our young people into robust, well rounded Christian character.

Much has been done, yet to the earnest, intelligent worker the possible development not yet accomplished seems immense, and the call to secure it is well nigh imperative.

Deeper consecration to the Lord's service and the application of all the best methods of work used in modern educational institutions is our pressing need. Above all, the presence of the Holy Spirit and the increase of personal heart devotion among officers, teachers and scholars are the prime objects to be sought.

Rules of Fate of Nations.

The ancients believed in a serene and beautiful genius which ruled in the affairs of nations, which with a slow but stern justice carried forward the fortunes of certain chosen houses, weeding out single offenders or offending families and securing at last the firm prosperity of the favorites of heaven. It was too narrow a view of the eternal Nemesis. There is a serene providence which rules the fate of nations, which makes little account of time, little of one generation or race, makes no account of disasters, conquers alike by what is called defeat or by what is called victory, thrusts aside enemy and obstructions, crushes everything immortal and obtains the ultimate triumph of the race by the sacrifice of everything which resists the moral laws of the world. It makes its own instruments, creates the man for the time, trains him in poverty, inspires him with great thoughts and great hopes, and then leaves him for his task. It has given every race its own talent and ordains that only that race which combines perfectly with the virtues of all shall endure.—Emerson.

He Is Near.

Jesus is nearer than the seat you sit upon, nearer than the handkerchief that wipes the tears away. He is nearer than the arm of the loved one upon which you lean. Jesus is where you are at this moment. He is pausing by. He is going to speak to you. He is going to call you. He is going to lay that wounded hand on your heart to arrest your attention and open your eyes, to awaken new ideas, new loves, new fountains. He is going to touch new springs. He is going to give you a chance. God help you to take it!—Gipsy Smith.

The Vesper Hour.

Breaking the silence of the waning day
There comes a sound of distant church bells ringing,
And from the little house across the way
I hear the mother to her children singing.

Those two sweet sounds alone, oh, grant me now
Of human love and holy invitation.
Over my doubting heart display your power
And in my sorrow bring me consolation.

So with the ending of the long day's strife,
Earth's bitter doubts, its changing pride and fashion,
Be mine once more, commingled, life with life,
The voice of human love and God's compassion.

—Isaac Ogden Rankin in Forward.

COAL KING IN PARLIAMENT.

Lord Joicey Had Disadvantage of Starting in Life Rich—Knows Business Thoroughly.

London.—Decidedly the most interesting of the new peers is Lord Joicey, who has been raised from a baronetcy to a barony, and has taken the title of Baron Joicey of Chesterle Street in the county of Durham, a district which he has represented in parliament for ten years. But he has won another title which will stick to him longer than that which carries with it a seat among the hereditary legislators of the realm. It is that of the "Coal King," for he is the largest individual producer of coal in the world. The output of the Lambton and the Joicey Colliery companies, which he practically owns, amounts to 5,000,000 tons a year, and he has besides large interests in several other coal companies.

Lord Joicey cannot be described as a self-made man according to the pop- ular definition of that much-abused phrase. He did not start in life with what Andrew Carnegie has repeatedly declared is the most valuable aid to success—poverty. He belongs to the rarer type of men who acquire vast fortunes without the early stimulus of a dire struggle for the necessities of life. His father was a fairly prosperous coal mine owner. He could have well afforded to send his boy to Eton, Rugby or some other famous public school, where he might have made the acquaintance of several future dukes and earls, and aristocratic scions of lower degree, and have obtained a sort of education which is supposed to best equip a man for the job of going through life without working for a living. But young Joicey's father was a level-headed man. He sent his son to a good middle class school, where there was no danger of his being infected with snobbery, and where a thorough grounding in science took the place of Latin and Greek. There young Joicey studied hard, carried off a lot of prizes, joined his father's business when he was 19, and devoted himself to mastering all its details. He was constantly in the pits and about the workings—so much so that an old work*man one day said of him that he be* pleased with dirty overalls on:

LORD JOICEY.
(Coal Baron Is One of Interesting Characters of British Parliament.)

"Why, young master, you'll soon know as much about the pit as we do."

"That's just what I want to do," answered young Joicey.

"KATIE QUAGUA'S CAMP."

Relic of Indian Days of Michigan Still in Existence in Wayne County.

Willow, Mich.—While all of the white settlers who traded with the Indians in this vicinity at the beginning of the last century have passed away and the reds have long since gone, to the happy hunting grounds, there are a few landmarks which still recall the stories and legends of those times; not the least interesting of these is the old log hut, built nearly 100 years ago on the banks of the Huron river two miles east of this town.

In the early days it was known as "Katie Quagua's Camp," and was at that time inhabited by the Indians holding a big reserve in this vicinity.

LANDMARK OF INDIANS IN MICHIGAN.

This reserve granted to the Wyandottes by the United States in 1818 was located in the southeast corner of Huron township, Wayne county, and included 4,896 acres. By a treaty of March 17, 1842, this tract was ceded back to the government and the Wyandottes were removed to Kansas.

The familiar landmark to old settlers known as "Katie Quagua's Camp," was a favorite camping ground of the red men when they came to this section on their hunting and trapping excursions. Katie Quagua was the wife of James Clark, who lived near Amherstburg, Ont., and with his daughter, Mary McKee, was among the last of the once most powerful tribe of Wyandottes who inhabited this territory.

It is related that Katie offered a half bushel of silver dollars to any white man who would marry her daughter, who was almost as fair as any white girl. After the tribe was removed Katie visited this place annually for several years and it was believed by the old settlers that she had money buried in this vicinity.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1908.

ALL QUIET POLITICALLY.

Indications point to a dull season in politics until after Labor Day despite the fact that the Colbyites launched their campaign early in June. The "new idea" people have found that the voters do not take any deep interest in political affairs during the summer and for that reason it is hardly likely that they will make any further attempt until September rolls around.

With one exception, the Republican organization in the county has settled upon its Assembly ticket. To fill the vacancy caused by the refusal of Everard Tucker to run again, it is certain that an Elizabeth man will be chosen. James McMasters is hot after the job, but knowing ones say that Charles Halsey is more likely to pluck the plum.

In the Colby camp matters are more unsettled. So far Judge Runyon is the only avowed candidate. It is quite well known that William F. Grover, of Elizabeth, would like to be one of his running mates, but up to the present time he has received little encouragement.

Just what strength the Colbyites have in the county is problematical. The regulars declare that outside of Plainfield their effort has been a flat failure. On the other hand the "new idea" contingent says that the movement is spreading all over the county and that the "machine" will meet its Waterloo on September 25. It is hard to get any definite line at all on the situation for a man's political predictions depend generally on his own wishes. At the end of the first week in September, however, the people will know just how the land lays.

John Moody, originator and chief mogul of the True Democracy, otherwise known as "the new idea" of the minority party in New Jersey, has taken his gun down from the rack again. This time he is hot after "Jim" Smith. The Cranford statesman doubled the word of New Jersey's Belmont and takes the position of "the man from Missouri." What Moody demands is that Smith produce the letter alleged to have been received by him from "our peerless leader," William Jennings Bryan, accepting an invitation to visit Newark under his chaperonage. Being a warm friend of the Nebraskan he doesn't care to have Bryan fall in with such company. It may be only "a tempest in a tea pot," but it is certainly up to Newark man to make good. Show the letter.

When a reporter has the impudence to ask Peter McDonough, president of the Natural Ice Company, whether there has been any increase in the wholesale rate, that king bee of the ice barons is polite enough to tell him to get his information elsewhere. For Mr. McDonough's benefit it may be said that some information that may prove interesting is being gotten elsewhere.

This is apt to be the ticket for the Assembly provided the regular Republican organization is not defeated by the Colbyites: Randolph Perkins, Westfield; Charles Halsey, Elizabeth, and Peter Tillman, Rahway.

All signs point to a Democratic victory at the coming Presidential election.—Bound Brook Centre-Record.

Now what is there about that to remind you of "Jim" Martine?

Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte suggests the rope and lash as a cure for anarchism. The shot gun might be preferable.

A BLACKBERY SHO'CAKE.

Good mawnin', Mistah Sho'teake!
Ah's glad ter see yoh back;
Sence yoh be'n gone, Ah's boun' ter say

Ah's missed yoh, fo' a fac';
Good mawnin', Mistah Sho'teake!
Yoh 'pearin' pow'ful sweet;
Dem berries peepin' out yo' sides
Dee mek yo' looks complete.

Good mawnin', Mistah Sho'teake!
Yo' coming mek me smile;
Ah'll git yoh cream ter wash yo' face,
An' fix yoh up in style;
Goodsky, you Mistah 'Lasses!
Dar's blossoms on de limb,
An' Mistah Sho'teake come ter call,
Ah got ter 'tend ter him.

—Denver Post.

He Didn't Lie.

There is in the service of a Baltimore man an elderly darky who is much given to rebuking the mischievousness of his grandson, also in the employ of the Baltimorean. One day the latter chanced to overhear a conversation between the first and third generations, from which it was at once apparent that old Moses was scolding the boy for some trifling fault. The cross examination appeared unsatisfactory of old Mose, he suspecting the pickaninny of concealing something.

BEAUTY HELPS.

A discovery in the beauty world is that sweet-smelling rooms and dainty perfume have a decided effect upon the expression of the face. As bad odors give a very pained expression, so pleasant odors give a very pleased look, and so it is well [illegible] to be careful in choosing her perfume that it should be the kind that will produce the much sought restful and happy countenance.

The wearing of good clothes is another means which produces beauty of countenance. The satisfaction a woman feels when she knows she is well dressed goes a long way toward giving her beauty of face, and then, of course, the careful study of becoming colors and styles greatly aid in giving the complexion the added touch.

A bad breath is probably the most distressing thing a woman can inflict upon her friends, and sometimes even the best-groomed types are [illegible] this blemish. A good tooth powder, a simple one, such as French chalk and powdered orris root, is the best, and a good mouth wash of listerine is another good aid in this trouble. It is also a good plan to keep small pieces of orris root handy and by chewing a piece as small as a pea just once a day the chances for a good breath are very fair.

For those who can afford it the French custom of washing the hair with champagne is being revived. It is said to give the hair a beautiful lightness, gloss and color.

SOME GERMAN PROVERBS CONCERNING THE WOMEN.

Watching a woman is labor in vain.

Woman, fortune and gold favor fools.

Woo a widow ere she sheds her weeds.

Women are watches that keep bad time.

Who is the man never fooled by woman?

A woman strong in flounces is weak in mind.

Women speak the truth, but not the whole truth.

Woman, like fortune, loves youth and is fickle.

The best of women is never at a loss for words.

A bag of fleas is easier to watch than one woman.

A young wife is an old man's post horse to the grave.

Where the devil cannot go himself he sends an old woman.

Where woman rules the house the devil is the serving man.

Woman's beauty, rainbows and forest echoes soon pass away.

Summer-sown corn and women's advice turn out well every seven years.

IMPROVE THE KITCHEN.

Hang at least one picture in your kitchen in such a place that it will meet your eye a score of times daily. Let it be a landscape or a figure or a picture "that tells a story," only be sure that it is not a scene that reproduces something of the daily routine.

If practicable, change the picture for another once a week or month. Good prints of the best pictures can be had. Take a look at the picture often, seeing what it means, or, rather, realizing each time what it says to you personally.

This will break up the monotony, which is the deadliest thing about housework, and will help to prevent the formation of the "fixed idea," which is the seed of most mental and emotional troubles.

Just try this for a month. You will find the suggestion one to be thankful for, always bearing in mind that "the point of the idea lies in the application of it."—Exchange.

Sons of Skiddoo.

The "Sons of Skiddoo," composed of such afflicted citizens as were born on the 23d day of the month, has been formally organized in this city. Defiance to those who point the finger of scorn at 23 will be hurled during birthday dinner of 23 courses to be served at 23 small tables on the 23d of the present month. Legally qualified Sons of Skiddoo from all over the State will be invited. The movement had its inception with City Clerk William H. Sandland, who was born on July 23, 1868. At the last city election he was the only Republican to win at the polls. Cooperating with Mr. Sandland is City Sheriff M. J. Smith, a Democrat, who was born on the same day of the same year. Sheriff Smith won his election by the scantiest of majorities. He attributes his victory solely to the fact that his patron voodoo descended upon the other fellow. The constitution of the organization states that its purposes are the abolition of foolish superstition and the exaltation of the name of Skiddoo. Any person who is at least 23 years of age may become a member upon proof of his birth date. It is proposed to make the organization national.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Milk Displacing Alcohol.

In a speech at the Bishopsgate Institute Sir Victor Horsley gave some remarkable figures to show how the use of alcohol in hospitals is declining. In 1862 nearly $40,000 was spent on alcohol in the London hospitals and $15,000 in milk; in 1902 the situation was almost exactly reversed.

Harry Williams, of Somerset street, who has been abroad, representing a large New York wholesale house, has returned home.

TROLLEY TURNED TURTLE

Fourteen Passengers Juggled About When Car Left Track at Westfield.

NONE SERIOUSLY HURT

Twelve of the People On Board From Plainfield—Motorman Took Curve Too Fast.

Travelling at a high rate of speed, trolley car No. 1769, of the main line, westbound, jumped the tracks at the curve at Grove and Summit streets, Westfield, Saturday night at 11:45, turned a complete somersault and landed in a ditch. There were fourteen passengers in the car, twelve from Plainfield and two from Westfield. No one was seriously injured. Drs. Cooper and Sinclair, of Westfield, were summoned, and after attending to those most hurt, they were able to return home on another car.

The Plainfielders injured were:

John R. Giles, 1220 Highland avenue, bruised about the body; hand and elbow cut.

Mrs. John R. Giles, head cut and bruised and suffering from shock.

Michael Maher, 605 Richmond street, scalp wound and left arm injured.

Clarence Leland, 125 Elmwood place, back and head bruised and cut; also suffering from shock.

George Conover, 95 Jackson avenue, abrasions of legs, head and body.

Powers Conlin, bruised and cut about the head and legs.

Fred Jacobus, fractured rib of the right side.

Francis Connolly, Essex street; contusions and severe shock.

Miss Sadie Jones, bruised, cut and nervous shock.

Morris Powers, 605 Richmond street, arm and hand cut.

U. G. Force, , Richmond street; contusions of right eye, and injury to right leg and arm.

Bert Cranmer, conductor, fracture of collar-bone.

Chester Moffett, of Westfield, received an injury to his knee, and William Moffett, also of Westfield, arm, wrist and back injured.

The car was in charge of Motorman Robert Benner, a new employee who has been working as a motorman at Allentown, Pa., for five years, and Conductor Bert U. Cranmer, both of Plainfield. Benner escaped with a severe shaking up.

In explaining the cause of the accident, Benner said that he fully realized that he was approaching the curve, but did not rightly measure the distance. As soon as the car struck the curve, Benner says he reversed his controller and applied his air brake. The front wheels of the car took the curve with such force as to throw the body off the tracks and before it landed in the road at the side of the road, it made a complete turn.

There was a panic among the passengers and between their screams and the breaking of glass, it was at first thought that several persons were fatally injured. As soon as the car stopped rolling passengers began scrambling out of the wreckage and it did not take long to learn that no one was seriously hurt. However, aid was summoned from Westfield, and the trolley officials were notified. Shortly after midnight a wrecking crew arrived and within a half hour the road was opened again for travel and the wrecked car was taken back to the car barns at Cranford Junction.

NEWMAN WAS "ALL IN" WHEN RESCUERS ARRIVED.

Former Councilman Came Near Drowning at Witzel's Grove.

Former Councilman W. J. Newman, of Richmond street, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday afternoon at the Union County Republicans outing at Witzel's Grove, L. I. After dinner was served in the big pavilion, "Jeff" decided to take a swim. Not realizing that the tide at that point was very strong, he got beyond the lines. He got winded and yelled for help.

Newman had been down once when John Smith saw his plight and he quickly jumped in the water. Swimming to where Newman was he grabbed hold of the man and at that moment one of the employes of the bathhouses reached him with a boat. Newman was brought ashore, but it was some time before the Plainfielder recovered from the shock and excitement of his experience.

He Could Take a Joke.

The other day a benevolent old gentleman was stopped by a tramp, who asked for money for a night's lodging. "Well, look here, my man," the old gentleman said, "what would you say if I offered you work?" "Bless yer life, sir," came the reply, "I wouldn't mind a bit; I can take a joke same as most people."

John L. Bird Buried.

The funeral of John L. Bird was held at his late home on Chatham street Saturday evening at 5 o'clock. The service was conducted by Rev. Lewis Bond, many friends and relatives being present. The body was taken to Liberty Corner for interment.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

Important Changes in Law Passed by Congress Now in Effect.

On September 29 there will go into effect a naturalization law far more drastic than any previous legislation by Congress on the subject of admitting citizens to the United States. The provisions which will tend most toward lessening the number of applicants to citizenship is that which has to do with qualifications. Besides, the requirements of the former law in regard to the applicant residing in the United States for five years, residing in the State of New Jersey for twelve months previous to his application, having a good moral character, renouncing allegiance to his former country and taking an oath to support the constitution, while having a sufficient knowledge of the manner in which this country is governed to satisfy the judge that he is fitted for citizenship, he must now also be able to sign his own name and to speak the English language.

Instance of citizens, but the latter will probably prove to be a severe stumbling block, if the law is strictly enforced.

What the authorities will consider a sufficient knowledge of the language to admit a man to citizenship, it is impossible to foretell. The county clerk and the judge of the State court, in examining the man have not, however, entire charge of the proceedings under the new law, for the power is explicitly given to the United States to appear in naturalization proceedings for the purpose of cross-examining the petitioner and his witnesses, as well as to call witnesses, produce evidence and be heard in opposition to the granting of any petition of naturalization. This power will give the federal authorities a right to object if State authorities become too lenient in the enforcement of the new law.

Another important point in which the law has been changed is in the provision requiring a man to wait not less than two years nor more than seven after taking out his first papers before he can apply for his final papers. Formerly a man could take out the first papers, and wait an indefinite period before applying for his final ones. Meanwhile the county clerk had to keep on file all the data regarding his first application. Now, after seven years have elapsed this data will be worthless, and it will probably not have to be kept at hand.

In another respect the naturalization law has been made more stringent. Whereas previously an applicant could submit affidavits to produce witnesses to prove that he had resided in the United States five years previous to the granting of final papers, the alien must now produce a certificate of registration from the bureau of immigration and naturalization if he lands after September 29.

These certificates will be given all immigrants upon landing in this country, certifying the place of birth, date of arrival, intended place of residence, and giving also a complete description if the immigrant himself. Through the use of such certificates it will be impossible for an alien to be admitted before the five years' residence are up, as duplicates of all certificates will be kept on file by the bureau of immigration and naturalization, and dates of landing may thus be easily verified where there arises any doubt as to the correctness of the statement of the applicant.

There has been incorporated in the new law also the provisions of an act passed by Congress shortly after President McKinley's assassination, providing against the admission to citizenship of any person professing anarchy. The applicant must now swear that "he is not an unbeliever in or opposed to organized government, or a member of or affiliate with any organization or body of persons teaching disbelief in or opposition to organized government." There is as well a clause which makes it necessary for the applicant to swear that he is not a polygamist or a believer in the practice of polygamy.

The fees to be charged for filing the various documents necessary to naturalization have been more than doubled by the new law. There is now a charge of $1 upon taking out the first set of papers, $2 with the petition for naturalization, and $2 upon filing with the county clerk the "city paper." The only fee not changed under the new act is that to be paid to the clerk of city or town in which application is made upon receiving his "city paper."

"Portland Cement."

On the island of Portland, in the south of England, there are certain quarries of limestone, which have been famous for many years, in former times producing building stone. In 1824 an Englishman named Joseph Asplin, of Leeds, patented a process for mixing and burning lime and clay. The product looked so much like the Portland limestone that he called it "Portland cement," from which commonly known name given to nearly all kinds of hydraulic cement was derived.

James Anderson.

James Anderson, the two-year-old son of Allen and Frances Anderson, of West Fourth street, died Saturday night, after a brief illness. The parents of the child have also been ill, the father recently undergoing an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital.

EXTRA LEGISLATIVE SESSION SEPT. 5

GOV. STOKES WILL CALL IT TO CONSIDER PASSAIC VALLEY SEWER.

Gov. Stokes has decided that he will call an extra session of the Legislature September 5 to enact a law for the Passaic Valley trunk sewer, unless the authorities of Paterson and Newark request him to let the matter go over for the regular session next winter. He contends that this was the agreement last winter, and must be carried out unless all parties consent to a change. There is considerable sentiment in favor of letting it go over.

A delegation each from Paterson and Newark waited upon Gov. Stokes last winter and arranged with the Executive to have the special session September 5. It now appears that Paterson will continue the fight against the heavy expense a trunk sewer will entail upon that city and put off the project as long as possible. The Paterson men, it is believed, will try to have the special session called off.

TRIPPED OVER LIVE WIRE; FELL 30 FEET FROM POLE.

Warren Welp, P. S. C. Lineman, Severely Injured While at Work In New Market Yesterday.

While at work on an electric light pole at New Market early yesterday morning, Warren Welp, an employe of the Public Service Corporation, fell thirty feet to the ground, sustaining sever injuries.

Welp, who lives at 127 North avenue, was sent out on a repair job late Saturday night, and was working on a pole repairing a broken electric light wire when the accident occurred. He tripped over a charged electric light wire and fell heavily. His right leg was fractured and his face was severely cut, his right eye being gashed. He was also slightly burned. Fellow workmen summoned assistance and the injured man was brought to this city, and he is now at Muhlenberg Hospital. The broken bone has been set and his other injuries are not serious.

A Wedding Announcement.

Miss Sarah E. Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Drake, of Smalleytown, and Edward L. Saunders, of Elizabeth, were married Tuesday, August 7, at Bath Beach, L. I., by a local minister. Announcement of the affair was made today. The couple will remain at Bath Beach until September 1, when they will make their home in Elizabeth, where the groom has a furnished house in readiness. The bride wore a gown of white lace over pink silk and carried lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by Miss Kitty Saunders, of Elizabeth, sister of the groom, and the best man was Edward Drake, brother of the bride. Among the gifts to the bride was a handsome upright piano from the groom. Upon the return of the now [illegible] reception will be held in their new home. The groom is engaged in the furniture business in Elizabeth.

Cricket at Bound Brook.

A championship game in connection with the Metropolitan Cricket League, was played at Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, between the Bound Brook team and Manhattan V. The result was a victory for the home team. The visiting batsmen made a poor showing against the bowling of George Bridge and Leonard Spencer, both of this city, the former taking five wickets for eleven runs and the latter four wickets for nine. The Plainfield members also showed up well in run getting. George Bridge scoring 27, not out; A. Schoolden 16, and W. Bucknell 11, being chief contributors. Scores—Bound Brook 39 and 89; Manhattan B 20.

Miss Catherine Stewart Knox, of Woodbine avenue, is spending the month of August at Jamestown, R. I.

Miss Margaret Cramer, of Park avenue, is entertaining her sister, Miss Cramer, and several friends from Hunterdon county.

SOMERSET REPUBLICANS MET AT SOMERVILLE

J. H. COOLEY AND CHAS. MOLDENCKE ATTENDED AS DELEGATES.

Members of the Somerset County Republican committee convened at Cawley's Hotel, Somerville, Saturday afternoon at the call of Senator Frelinghuysen. Dr. Justus H. Cooley, borough committeeman from the Second district, attended, together with Charles Moldencke, the delegate from North Plainfield township. Wm. G. Debele, the representative from the first district, was unable to attend.

The meeting was attended by eighteen or twenty members of the committee from various boroughs and townships of the county, and convened at Cawley's Hotel at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Little was done about mapping out a campaign for the fall, though Senator Frelinghuysen referred to the active work which had been done by the supporters of the "New Idea" and spoke of the necessity of having a strong man nominated for the assemblymanship, the only nomination to be made this fall in Somerset.

There was an informal discussion regarding the appointment of the county election officers, but no definite action was taken. This board of election officers does not have to be chosen until August 20, but names were talked over, though not made public. There was also discussion about the commission of freeholders soon to be selected. The meeting lasted about two hours.

SALVATIONISTS FAREWELL.

Heads of the S. A. Post Here Prepare to Leave.

Adjutant Annie Hopkins and Capt. Eva MacDonald, who have been detached from service here by the Y. M. C. A., held a farewell service at the hall on Second street last night. There was a large attendance, the hall being filled.

Both officers spoke. They expressed deep regret at leaving the city. While the service was in progress a woman stepped forward and announced her conversion.

Adjutant Hopkins and Capt. MacDonald will go on a six weeks' vacation, before returning to duty. They have not yet been assigned to posts. They came here seven months ago. Their successors will be Adjutant and Mrs. Johnson, of Chicago.

Funeral of Mrs. W. J. Mattox.

The funeral of Mrs. William J. Mattox, who died Friday, was held at her late home on Webster place, Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. George B. Shaw and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Two solos, "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung by Elmer D. Cutting. There were numerous floral tributes, among them a basket set piece from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., of which Mr. Mattox is a member. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery Monday, the pall bearers being Thomas Osment, William Mills, Philip Jahn, Elmer D. Cutting, Elmer Mills and Arthur McGinley.

A Quiet Place.

A nervous-looking man went into a store the other day and asked for a half hour or so, when a clerk asked him if there was anything she could do for him. He said, "No, he didn't want anything." She went away and he sat half an hour longer, when the proprietor went to him and asked if there was not he shown anything. He said, "No, I just want to sit around. My physician has recommended perfect quietness for me, and says above all things I should avoid being in crowds. Noticing that you do not advertise in the newspapers, I thought that would be as quiet a place as I could find, so I just dropped in for a few hours' seclusion." The merchant picked up a bolt of cambric to brain him but the man went out. He said all he wanted was a quiet life.

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney, of the borough, who have been sojourning at Spring Lake, have returned.

Radium Radia

Is admired by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot Liberty St., N. R.

In Effect June 24, 1906.

For New York—4.17, 5.37, 5.56, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.50, 9.05, 9.20, 9.35, 9.50, 10.05, 10.20, 10.35, 10.50, 11.05, 11.20, 11.35 a. m., 12.05, 12.20, 12.35, 12.50, 1.05, 1.20, 1.35, 1.50, 2.05, 2.20, 2.35, 2.50, 3.05, 3.20, 3.35, 3.50, 4.05, 4.20, 4.35, 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.50, 9.05, 9.20, 9.35, 9.50, 10.05, 10.20, 10.35, 10.50, 11.05, 11.20, 11.35 p. m., 12.05 night. Sundays—4.17, 5.37, 5.56, 6.02, 6.29, 6.57, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.50, 9.05, 9.20, 9.35, 9.50, 10.05, 10.20, 10.35, 10.50, 11.05, 11.20, 11.35 a. m., 12.05, 12.20, 12.35, 12.50, 1.05, 1.20, 1.35, 1.50, 2.05, 2.20, 2.35, 2.50, 3.05, 3.20, 3.35, 3.50, 4.05, 4.20, 4.35, 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 8.30, 10.15, 11.14, 11.35 p. m.

For Newark—4.04, 4.29, 4.57, 7.05, 7.25, 7.36, 7.47, 8.03, 8.17, 8.32, 8.46, 9.00, 9.15, 9.30, 9.45, 10.00, 10.15, 10.30, 10.45, 11.00, 11.15, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.15, 12.30, 12.45, 1.00, 1.15, 1.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.15, 2.30, 2.45, 3.00, 3.15, 3.30, 3.45, 4.00, 4.15, 4.30, 4.45, 5.00, 5.15, 5.30, 5.45, 6.00, 6.15, 6.30, 6.45, 7.00, 7.15, 7.30, 7.45, 8.00, 8.15, 8.30, 8.45, 9.00, 9.15, 9.30, 9.45, 10.00, 10.15, 10.30, 10.45, 11.00, 11.15, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night. Sundays—4.04, 4.29, 4.57, 7.05, 7.25, 7.36, 7.47, 8.03, 8.17, 8.32, 8.46, 9.00, 9.15, 9.30, 9.45, 10.00, 10.15, 10.30, 10.45, 11.00, 11.15, 11.30 a. m., 12.00, 12.15, 12.30, 12.45, 1.00, 1.15, 1.30, 1.45, 2.00, 2.15, 2.30, 2.45, 3.00, 3.15, 3.30, 3.45, 4.00, 4.15, 4.30, 4.45, 5.00, 5.15, 5.30, 5.45, 6.00, 6.15, 6.30, 6.45, 7.00, 7.15, 7.30, 7.45, 8.00, 8.15, 8.30, 8.45, 9.00, 9.15, 9.30, 9.45, 10.00, 10.15, 10.30, 10.45, 11.00, 11.15, 11.30 p. m., 12.00 night.

For Elizabeth—5.19, 7.11, 8.21, 9.17, 9.55, 11.00 a. m., 1.01 (1.41 Saturday only), 2.05, 3.11, 4.20, 5.27, 6.04, 6.28, 6.57, 6.54, 6.19, 6.35, 7.12, 7.32, 8.04, 9.37, 10.22, 11.36 p. m., 12.59 (except Monday) night. Sundays—5.19, 7.11, 8.21, 9.17, 9.55, 11.00 a. m., 1.01, 2.05, 3.11, 4.20, 5.27, 6.04, 6.28, 6.57, 6.54, 7.05, 8.30, 10.15, 11.14, 11.35 p. m.

For Plainfield—5.19, 7.11, 11.00 a. m., 2.11, 5.28, 6.19 p. m. Sundays—8.42 a. m., 5.27 p. m.

For Phillipsburg and Easton—6.25, 8.21, 9.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.28, 6.47 and 8.38 p. m. Sundays—9.55 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6.25, 9.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.28, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—9.55 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—9.55 a. m., 2.02, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—9.55 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—8.37, 8.51, 11.06 (12.44 Saturdays only) a. m., 1.18, 2.31, 3.44, 4.47, 6.29, 11.39 p. m. Sunday—8.52 a. m., 2.30, 5.12 p. m.

For Red Bank—8.37, 8.51, 8.11, 11.00 a. m., 12.44, 1.18, 2.31, 3.44, 4.47, 6.29, 11.39 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.30, 5.12 p. m.

For Toms River and Atlantic City—8.37, 9.39 a. m., (12.44 Atlantic City Express, Saturdays only), 2.31, 6.29 p. m. Sundays (Atlantic City only), 2.49 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m.

For Toms River and Barnegat—8.11 a. m., 1.18 p. m.

For Philadelphia—6.16, 7.44, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.39, 3.42, 5.50, 9.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.43 a. m., 12.53, 5.05, 11.49 p. m., 12.38, 3.45, 5.45, 6.39, 6.44, 7.45, 9.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Trenton—6.16, 7.44, 8.47, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 3.42, 6.44, 8.56, 9.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.43 a. m., 12.53, 11.49 a. m., 2.42, 6.55, 6.44, 9.46, 11.38 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Reading and Harrisburg—5.25, 9.55 a. m., 2.11 (5.47 through train). Sundays—10.05, 5.47 p. m.

For Pottsville, Sunbury and Williamsport—5.25, 9.55 a. m., 2.11 p. m. Sundays—10.05 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—1.17, 8.47, 10.43 a. m., 12.38, 2.45, 6.44, 7.45 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.43 a. m., 12.38, 2.45, 6.44, 7.45 p. m., 1.17 night.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Manager. G. M. BURT, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Lehigh Valley Railroad

Time table in Effect, May 31st, 1908.

LEAVE SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

7.55 a. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Mauch Chunk.

8.43 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Rochester, Buffalo and principal intermediate stations.

10.08 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Scranton and Chenango Points.

1.57 p. m. daily, local for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton, Pottsville and intermediate.

4.55 p. m. daily (except Sunday) "Wilkesbarre and Scranton Express" Solid vestibule train to Wilkesbarre, through Parlor Car via D. & H. R. R. to Scranton and Carbondale.

6.21 p. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Easton.

6.40 p. m. daily, solid vestibule train to Buffalo, Toronto and Chicago and principal intermediate stations except Rochester.

FRANK ROWLEY, City Ticket Agent. 118 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 118.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m.

On Saturdays office closes 10 p. m.

Arrive—7.30, 8.48, 11.28 a. m.; 2.50, 5.00, 8.05 p. m.

Close—7.20, 9.28 a. m.; 1.00, 2.20, 5.00, 7.45 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 1.29, 3.15 and 7.08 p. m.

Close—7.20 a. m., 1.45 and 4.30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND RARITAN.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.20 and 5.25 p. m.

Close—7.20 a. m., 1.00, 2.20 and 5.00 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA—West of Easton.

Close 12.55 p. m.

NEW YORK—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m., 2.20, 5.25 p. m.

Close—7.20 a. m., 1.00, 2.20 and 4.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—8.40, 11.50 a. m.; 2.20 and 7.00 p. m.

Close—7.15, 7.20, 9.25 a. m.; 12.25, 4.45, 7.00 p. m.

Through fast mail for West and South close 4.30 and 7.15 p. m.

Through fast mail for East, close 1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

WATCHUNG WARRENVILLE GALLOWAY AND ATLANTIC CITY.

Arrive—1.29 p. m. Close—8.30 a. m.

Watchung—Arrive 8.40 p. m. Close 4.30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9.30 to 10.30 a. m.

Mail closes 24 4.15 p. m.

E. H. BIRD, P. M.

The High Compact.

The highest compact we can make with our fellow is: Let there be truth between us two forevermore.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Miss M. E. Martin, of Clinton avenue, is sojourning at Bethlehem, N. H.

J. P. Laire, of Truell Court, is spending a few days at Annandale, Hunterdon county.

Miss Ethel Tilsworth, of West Fifth street, has returned home from her summer outing.

Mrs. A. E. Hoagland and son, Elston, of West Front street, accompanied by Miss Comiskey, of Flatbush, L. I., are visiting at Griggstown.

Miss Mabel Vanderhoef, of West Front street, left yesterday for Asbury Park, where she will spend a week with her mother at the Albion.

Mrs. S. G. Bok, sister of Cornelius vanHerwerden, of South avenue, and mother of Edward Bok, editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, is stopping at Truell Court for a time. She recently returned from a trip abroad.

George R. Vanderhoef, of West Front street, has returned from Asbury Park, where he has been enjoying a week's vacation. Mrs. Vanderhoef will remain there for another week, where she is stopping at the Albion.

ONLY ONE BOOM STARTED

James McMaster Sole "Buttonholer" on Republican Outing Saturday.

POLITICIANS HOBNOB

Half of Party at Witzel's Grove Were Plainfielders—Baseball Game a Feature.

The second annual outing of the Union County Republicans held at Witzel's Grove, N. J., on Saturday, produced but one candidate, James McMaster, of Elizabeth, who wants to succeed Assemblyman Everard Tucker, of that place. Throughout the day he was seen interviewing the politicians and it is said that he received more encouragement. It was admitted by all that Assemblyman Randolph Perkins and Peter Tilman will be candidates to succeed themselves and no one appeared anxious to deprive them of the honor.

Plainfield rivaled Elizabeth in the size of its delegation, which was marshalled under the leadership of Judge William Newcorn, chairman of the outing committee, Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell and County Chairman Frank H. Smith. The State factory inspector used a large megaphone to keep the members of the party informed as to the programme of the day's events. Each one recognized "His master's voice."

The crowd left Elizabethport at 10:30 in the morning on the Steamer "Isabel," and enjoyed the delightful sail up the East River to Witzel's Grove, where it arrived at 12:40. The committee provided generously for the party, there being plenty to eat, drink and smoke, while an orchestra enlivened the trip with a popular programme.

After arriving at the grove the party assembled at a nearby point and had a picture taken. A little later it was discovered that Andrew McCardell and a few others did not get in the first picture, and on the pretense that the negatives were spoiled, all hands got together again for another snap-shot. They did not learn the true reason until afterwards.

From that time until 2:30 o'clock, when dinner was served, the time was occupied playing baseball, a scrub game being arranged by Captain McCardell, Plainfield, and Captain James White, of Elizabeth. Everybody agreed that Plainfield won, even though Elizabeth did have the help of Frank Burke, of the Elizabethport Stars.

The best amusement was furnished by certain members of the party who entered the foot races. An eighth of a mile track was used to try out candidates. Police Judge Charles Angleman, of Rahway, defeated Assemblyman Perkins, of Westfield, and Mayor Fuller, of Rahway, defeated Wm. DeMeza, of Plainfield. There was also great rivalry between John Hill, George Overland and John McCauley. When the boat landed at Elizabethport in the evening the trio were still arguing the question. Another diversion was the running jump. This was won by Edgar Sheppard.

It was 5 o'clock when the "Isabel" sailed away from the grove and pointed her bow homeward. Instead of going direct to Elizabethport, the captain was instructed to run down as far as Coney Island and then return to the place of starting. It was just 8 o'clock when the boat reached her dock and inside of an hour from that time the Plainfield delegation arrived home. It was not until the party reached the New Jersey Central station and was about to board their train for home that they learned that several members had been left at the grove and were compeled to return by another route. They did not know that the boat was to start at 5 o'clock.

The committee in charge of the outing comprised Judge William Newcorn, chairman; Herbert Buxton, Plainfield; S. Rusling Ryno and James White, Elizabeth; Edward Bauer, Rahway. Among those who went on the outing were the following:

Plainfield—Mayor James F. Buckle, Judge William Newcorn, Councilmen Frank DeW. Randolph and Herbert Buxton, County Registrar of Deeds F. H. Smith, chairman county committee; State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker, Prosecutor S. P. Wilbur, Assessor A. Hetfield, 2d., secretary county board of elections; Health Commissioner Charles H. Dunham, Assistant Chief Andrew Jennings, of the fire department; Sergeant of Police Chris. Frederickson, Patrolmen Herbert J. Overbaugh, Horace G. Adams, clerk of the district court; former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell and William T. Kirk, Thomas Hanna, clerk county taxation board; Overseer of the Poor Alex. Sifers, Rutherford Dalley, Postmaster S. H. Bird, F. R. Brennan, Edgar Sheppard, secretary to Senator Ernest R. Ackerman; "Chief" MacDuff, State Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, George J. Tobin, Charles Ward, Fred Vieweg, Amos Andrews, Sandford Robinson, William R. Townsend, Charles Borster, John Traynor, Frank Dunham, George Johnston, J. E. Flannery, Arthur Adams, William DeMeza, Jerome Leary, Thomas Buckley, John Kritzer, Fred Hand, Scott Terry, William Craig, Robert Craig, Frank Linke, John Smith, Patrolman John Kelly, John Gallagher, James Stewart, Francis J. Blatz, former Councilman W. J. Newman, Frank Nelson, Jacob Dunham, William Mayhew, Alfred White, Elbert Matthews, Captain William Townley, of the fire department; William Hutchcroft, John Hill, George Overland, John McCauley, John McNally, Samuel Terry, John Bowman.

Elizabeth—County Clerk James C. Calvert, Hamilton F. Kean, County Collector Nathan Leavitt, City Chairman James White, Edward Bauer, clerk of the district court; Captain Robert Kirtland, Charles S. Moore, Postmaster Charlock, Frank Burke, Durward Smith, Dennis Burke, W. F. Kelly, William Hulskamper, Aldermen Harry Rath, Peter Schreif, assistant postmaster; Charles Furman, former Assemblyman Henry Clauss, George Selber, Captain Peters, Michael Gannon, James McMasters, John Bergen, Daniel Fallon, Charles A. Flynn, Commissioner Gallagher, Aldermen Geary, Assistant Prosecutor John English, John Cosgrove, walking delegate Carpenters' Union; Coroner Hagan, Assessor Hill. Summit—Sheriff W. L. Lawrence, Postmaster Jones, Editor Cliff, Ruford Franklin, (known as "Pinochle Elizabeth"). Springfield—Freeholder Peter Meisell and Robert Gillespie, Rahway—Mayor Furber, Charles H. Angleman, assistant journal clerk of the Assembly; Assemblyman Peter Tallman, Jones, Editor Reed, Charles F. Abbott, James Marsden, John F. Miller, Fred Abbott, assistant superintendent of the Reformatory; Richard Cross. Clark Township—Major King, director Board of Freeholders; Justice Charles Maxfield. Westfield—Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, Justice Toucey. Cranford—James Stansfield and James Warner. Scotch Plains—Justice Clark, Constable Robert Walpole and George Weisman, custodian State House.

INFLUENCE OF THE CIGARETTE.

Looked Upon in Business World as Deadly Enemy to Advancement.

I leave it to others to discuss the moral side of cigarette smoking, writes O. S. Marden in Success. I denounce it simply because of its blighting, blasting effect upon one's success in life; because it draws off energy, saps the vitality and the force which ought to be made to tell in one's career; because it blunts the sensibilities and deadens the thinking faculties; because it kills the ambition and the finer instincts, and the more delicate aspirations and perceptions; because it destroys the ability to concentrate the mind, which is the secret of all achievement.

The whole tendency of the cigarette nicotine poison in the youth is to arrest development. It is fatal to all normal functions. It blights and blasts both health and morals. It not only ruins the faculties, but it unbalances the mind, as well. Many of the most notable cases of insanity in our asylums are cigarette fiends. It creates abnormal appetites, strange, undefined longings, discontent, uneasiness, nervousness, irritability, and, in many, an almost irresistible inclination to crime. In fact, the moral depravity which follows the cigarette habit is something frightful. Lying, cheating, impurity, loss of moral courage and manhood, a complete dropping of life's standards all along the lines, are its general results.

A chemist, not long since, took the tobacco used in an average cigarette and soaked it in several teaspoonfuls of water and then injected a portion of it under the skin of a cat. The cat almost immediately went into convulsions, and died in fifteen minutes. Dogs have been killed with a single drop of nicotine.

Cigarette smoking is no longer simply a moral question. The great business world has taken it up as a deadly enemy of advancement, of achievement. Leading business firms all over the country have put the cigarette on the prohibited list. In Detroit alone, sixty-nine merchants have agreed not to employ the cigarette user. In Chicago, Montgomery Ward & Co., Hibbard, Spencer & Bartlett, and some of the other large concerns have prohibited cigarette smoking among all employes under eighteen years of age. Marshall Field & Co., and the Morgan & Wright Tire Co. have this rule: "No cigarettes can be smoked by our employes." One of the questions on the application blanks at Wanamaker's is as follows: "Do you use tobacco or cigarettes?"

The superintendent of the Lindell Street Railway, of St. Louis, says: "Under no circumstances will I hire a man who smokes cigarettes. He is as dangerous on the front of a motor as a man who drinks. In fact, he is more dangerous; his nerves are apt to give way at any moment. If I find a car running badly, I immediately begin to investigate to find if the man smokes cigarettes. Nine times out of ten he does, and then he goes for good."

The New York, New Haven and Hartford, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the Lehigh Valley, the Burlington, and many others of the leading railroad companies of this country have issued orders positively forbidding the use of cigarettes by employees while on duty.

Mrs. William S. Bullock, of East Second street, who has been spending some time at Asbury Park with her sister, Mrs. Harry Hull, of Jersey City, has returned.

P.B.A. WANTS TO KNOW

Manager Daab Will Be Asked to Explain Team's Withdrawal.

WAS NOT AUTHORIZED

Neither Stockholders Nor Executive Committee Gave Permission To Break the Schedule Of and End Season.

In taking the P. B. A. team from the city, Manager Daab has aroused a chorus of questions from members of the association. They want to know where he got his authority for the step. The members of the Executive Committee, who might have had some shadow of excuse in waving the time aside, are as anxious for an answer to the question as the humblest stockholder.

Manager Daab is said to have acted without a shadow of authority in withdrawing the team. No meeting of the association or of the Executive Committee preceded the action, and no legal authorization for it was given him. It is contended that even the Executive Committee could not have authorized the suspension of play, but that only a vote at a stockholders' meeting could legalize the withdrawal of the team.

Manager Daab is being criticised somewhat caustically for his alleged disregard of the association. It was the general impression when the association started—and the stock was purchased under that impression—that the team would stay here all season. It was understood that the association was organizing a team, to be managed by Mr. Daab, to go straight through the summer to Labor Day. No individual, manager, officer or committeeman had any right, it is contended, to halt the schedule without the express authority of the people who held the stock. It is a fact, of course, that half of the stock is owned by Mr. Daab, but the other fifty per cent. had no word in the action he took.

Mr. Daab has announced that the team will play in Red Bank the rest of the season. It is not at all probable the association will demand its return, but the organization will put the Missouri statement before Mr. Daab, as a matter of principle.

NEARLY LOST HORSE.

Camp McVoy's Pack Animal Scared Into Bolting For Home.

P. A. McVoy, who drove down to Sea Breeze Point, opposite Perth Amboy on the Staten Island shore, last Friday for a three-days' camping trip, nearly lost his horse Saturday night. The animal was picketted outside the tent, when a siren whistle from the Staten Island ferry boat breaking loose and started it on a wild run. The horse dashed up into Tottenville, headed straight for the ferry. Ineffectual attempts to catch it were made all along the road, and it was on the edge of the ferry slip—ignored when a burly waterman seized its halter and brought it to a stop.

It was turned over to the police, who put it in a stable. McVoy did not learn where it had been caught until yesterday morning. The horse was uninjured.

Except for that incident, the camping party, which included George McVoy, John Linbarger, of Brooklyn, and John Linbarger, Jr., had a fine time. They broke camp last night. Mr. P. A. McVoy and John Linbarger visited the camp yesterday, and stayed until the tent was struck.

SECTION HAND KILLED.

Struck By Royal Blue Express at Fatal Spot.

Frank Cackoko, aged twenty-three years, a section hand on the New Jersey Central, was struck and instantly killed by a Royal Blue express, near the Fanwood station, Saturday. He was sent down the track by the foreman for some tools and failed to hear the train come up behind him. He was struck by the engine and hurled twenty feet away.

The body was brought to Cole's undertaking rooms in this city and was sent to his home in Jersey City Saturday night. He leaves a wife and two children in Italy.

Cackoko was the third man to be killed near the Fanwood station in as many weeks. All were members of the same section gang.

"Roan View" the Winner.

Only one event was run off at the matinee races at the Gentlemen's Driving Park, Saturday afternoon, the rain interfering with the programme. In the first and only race, George Conover's "Roan View," won the first and second heats. B. R. Waldron's "John Wilson," finished second and J. W. Johnson's "Hartwood Belle," third. The time was 2:29. The other races will be held next Saturday.

Entertained State Councilor.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, entertained State Councilor Mrs. L. A. W. Perkins, of New Brunswick, and her daughter, who is also a State officer of the organization. There was one initiation and several propositions received. Mrs. Perkins addressed the council, and remarks were made by other officers and members, after which refreshments were served.

REV. WM. B. HAMILTON AT NETHERWOOD HOME

ELIZABETH CLERGYMAN ADDRESSES CHILDREN AT YESTERDAY'S SERVICES

Speaking on the subject of "Keys," Rev. William B. Hamilton, of Elizabeth, made a strong address to the 360 children now at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home at the regular Sunday afternoon meeting held on the lawns of the home yesterday afternoon. Dr. Hamilton is a practical speaker, who makes his talks clear by the use of numerous graphic illustrations. He is a great favorite with the children at the camp, having spoke there last summer on the topic "Nails."

Yesterday's topic was taken in connection with the text: "And the greatest of these is love," which formed a part of the scripture lesson read by Dr. Hamilton during the service. He spoke of various qualities and attributive traits which all should cultivate as "keys" to be made use of by each and every one on various occasions through life. A key, he said, meant an opener, and spoke of education and self confidence as important keys for opening and broadening the life of a child. Then he referred to the key of service, stating how every one could do something and how much any service meant to the door as well as the one for whom it was done. In connection with every day life, he spoke of the keys of self control and thoughtfulness for others, which should prompt us to restrain the tongue at all times and control our feelings.

Near the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Hamilton displayed three two flit keys cut from cardboard, and labeled "Faith" and "Hope," and a larger key labeled "Love." These, he said, were the most important of keys. These are the three golden keys for every day life, and are prominent in religion. The key of faith, he referred to as unlocking many of life's hard problems and of especial value to the Christian, and he spoke of the inspiring influences gained through the use of the key of hope, without which life would lose all value. "But the greatest of all these keys is the key of "Love," said Dr. Hamilton as he displayed the third and largest key and he went on to speak of the valuable influence of love in the world every day, of the inspiration and helpfullness it brings about, and of its power in a charitable way. He concluded his talk by a strong appeal for all to seek the love of Jesus, the greatest of all love, and referred to its exemplification in His Life and the preservation and care of His people.

The meeting was in charge of Clarence Titus, of Roselle, who came to the camp with a party of people from Elizabeth, including a quartette of singers. During the service, this quartette, composed of Thomas B. Beale, Robert Given, A. D. Evans and Clarence Titus, rendered the gospel hymns, "I've Found a Friend" and "Riches of Love." Miss Emma Faust, of Elizabeth, played the melodian. The children took part in the singing of several gospel hymns in connection with the service. The concluding prayer was led by E. H. Hand, of Netherwood.

JOHN CONROY'S FUNERAL.

His Death at Trenton Due to Stroke of Apoplexy.

The funeral of former Special Officer John Conroy, who died Thursday in St. Francis hospital, Trenton, was held yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church. It was conducted by Rev. Father Delehanty and was followed by interment at St. Mary's cemetery. Previous to the church services a short ceremony was observed at the undertaking rooms of T. A. Moore for the benefit of friends.

Conroy's death was due to apoplexy, a sudden stroke affecting him as he was walking to one of the main thoroughfares of Lambertville. He was hurried to the Trenton institution but died a half hour after being placed on a cot.

Changes at Driftwood Cottage.

The party of Plainfielders composed of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Slater and family, of Jackson avenue; Mrs. Frank Webster and children, of Duer street, and Miss Rachel Daudt, of Front street, who have been occupying Driftwood Cottage, at Lake Hopatcong, returned home Saturday. For the remainder of the month the cottage is to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Stephen Higham, of West Sixth street, who have been occupying the cottage for the month of July.

Thronged.

"There were eight farmers in town at one time Saturday afternoon," wrote the editor of the Plainville Palladium. "There are occasions when our thriving village fairly teems with life."

Mrs. Reardon, of West Fourth street, is spending her vacation at Asbury Park, being a guest at the Albion.

Miss Jessie Patterson, of West Front street, who has been spending two weeks in Connecticut, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearer, of Madison avenue, left yesterday for the seashore, where they will spend their vacation.

RECORD MAKES DENIAL

Declares His Confidence is Betrayed by Riparian Commission Secretary.

PAYNE IN BAD LIGHT

Man Who Tried To Blacken Record's Character Is Exposed In Good Fashion.

George L. Record returned from his vacation Saturday and promptly made a reply to the attacks upon him made by John C. Payne, secretary of the riparian commission, in the investigation of the board. He denounces Payne as an ingrate, charged that he stole his private papers and denies the allegations of defrauding the State in toto. In regard to the investigation, Mr. Record says:

"This whole proceeding of this committee seems to be grossly unfair and obviously intended not to investigate the riparian commission, but to obtain political capital by hook or crook, if need be, against me in the hope of discrediting the political revolt against the State machine in the Republican party, which is now in force all over the State.

"The attorney general obviously knew of this testimony. In common fairness I should have been notified that it was forthcoming and given an immediate opportunity to cross-examine the witness and to present my version of the fact under oath. Instead of this, the committee allows these scandalous and false statements to be promulgated without giving me an opportunity to be heard, and adjourns until September. In the meantime, I understand, the committee has ordered several thousand copies of Payne's testimony to be printed, solely for circulation around the State in the attempt to influence the political fight now pending."

Mr. Record then proceeds to show that Payne stole his papers and otherwise betrayed him, and was apparently engaged in a conspiracy against him, notwithstanding many favors received. He offers numerous proofs that Payne stole information dishonorably.

Mr. Record narrates his connection with the board, through his partnership with Mr. Bacon, son of the former secrtary, and tells of his appointment as counsel. He admits taking fees in addition to his salary as counsel, but says this was the custom of the board, and that it was known of and approved by the members. The office rent was paid on joint account, he says, but he claims to have paid fully his share of the expenses, and denies that he received any advantage by the joint occupancy of the rooms by the commission and the use of clerks in common. The stationery bills, he says, were of the same nature, he paying his full share. If there was any benefit obtained it was by Payne, the secretary, and now makes the charges. Mr. Record admits having interested in some riparian grants, but claims he had the right to be. He asserts that his advice to the board in regard to grants was fully sustained by the several attorneys-general.

Mr. Record's reply is based upon newspaper reports. He has been unable to obtain copies of the testimony and makes his reply, as he says, under this disadvantage on account of the political prejudice used against him by the attorney-general and the committee.

NETHERWOOD HOME REPORTS SHOW SUCCESS.

Booklet Issued Showing Season's Work In 1905 With Reports and Reviews.

Copies of the annual report of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home for the season of 1905 were distributed to visitors at the close of the afternoon services Sunday. The report is an eight-page book, neatly gotten up, with a green cover. Rev. Brenton M. Rodman, president of the Plainfield Fresh Air Association, was in charge of the booklet, which was from the press of the North Plainfield Review.

An excellent picture of Miss Sara Curry, matron of the home, forms the frontispiece of the report, which is prefaced by a brief review of the objects of the work, written by Dr. Rodman. The report of D. M. Runyon, the treasurer of the association, shows receipts for 1905 amounting to $1,648.96, of which $1,040.82 was raised by individual subscriptions and the balance by churches, societies, entertainments and special collections. The expenses of running the camp last year were $1,522.81, and the work this season was started with a balance of $125.25. An itemized list of individual donations during the season of 1905 is printed, together with the report of Miss Florence G. Hawkins, chairman of the devotional committee of the home, and an appeal for the support of the work, issued by George A. Chapman, chairman of the finance committee, showing that 1,745 children and 425 mothers were brought to the Netherwood home during the season of 1905. A section of the report is devoted to some personal reminiscences of Miss Curry in connection with her experiences among the poor in New York city.

DIED.

FOUND—Entered into rest on Wednesday, Aug. 8, 1906, after a lingering illness, Mary S. Pound, daughter of the late David and Sarah A. Pound.

BUTT—On the 10th of August, 1906, at his residence, 348 Huron street, Toronto, Canada, James Butt, aged 91 years and two months.

MATTOX—In this city, August 10, 1906, Hattie E. Snow, wife of William J. Mattox, aged 44 years.

BIRD—On Wednesday, Aug. 10, 1906, John L. Bird, son of Rachel E. and the late John Y. Bird, aged 42 years, 6 months, 8 days.

VAIL—Arietta Vail, at the home of her grandson, C. V. Woodward, 234 East 61st street, Chicago, aged 97 years and 6 months.

DE MARIS—On Monday, August 13, 1906, Sadie E., wife of William H. De Maris, aged 52 years, 4 months, 10 days.

LA MATTY—In North Plainfield, Tuesday, August 14, 1906, Hazel E., daughter of George A. and Ruth E. La Matty, aged 2 months and 25 days.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago.

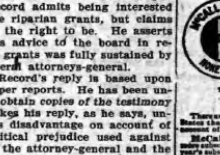
c 7 19 18

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO MINNIE HALL AND GRACIE ROGERS.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein William M. Stillman, executor of the last will and testament of Daniel F. Randolph, deceased, is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of complainant on or before the twenty-first day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you. The said bill is filed against you and others, for the sale of said Daniel F. Randolph and for specific performance of contract of sale made between said executor and Minnie E. Stephenson of certain lands and premises in the city of Plainfield aforesaid, known as No. 260 West Seventh Street in said city; and you are made defendants because you have an interest in said real estate or in the proceeds of sale thereof, under the will of said Daniel F. Randolph, deceased.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. STILLMAN,
Solicitor of Complainant.
213 West Front St.,
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated July 20, 1906. 7 26 4 c



There are more McCall Patterns and in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is explained by their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has over a million regular subscribers. Its subscription price (which includes a free pattern each month) costs 50 cents. Lesson leaves, 5 cents. Cloth-bound, 50 cents. Sold by dealers, or sent to you by the publishers.

Free. Cut this out. Send it to us with your name and address and 2 cents in stamps, and we will send you a McCall Pattern of any number you may name, and the current issue of McCall's Magazine containing Fashion Plates, Patterns Catalogued at fac-similes of the Patterns, Lessons in Dressmaking, Fancy Work, Stories, Poems, Fashion Notes, etc., etc. Send for free sample copy. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Rear. H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so prevalent. These books are the best issued and fairly bloom with wit and humor. Bound in cloth, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson Up North.
Jack Henderson on Tipping.
Jack Henderson on Bridge.
Jack Henderson on Economy.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues and keeping down doctor bills. Price per single volume, post-paid, $1.00; per set, $5.00, postpaid. For sale at booksellers or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
395-399 Broadway, New York
Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books. 6 26 6

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 22d Street New York City

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barbey shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorile line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second streets

Tinners, Plumbers and Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your tinware mending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, Jeremiah Manning, } Vice-Pres
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel, appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. Good salary guaranteed yearly; expenses advanced; all expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income and success. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

W. R. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenues First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGENT

OFFICE,

DID SMITH GET LETTER?

Former Senator's Statement Bryan Wrote Him Accepting Invitation is Questioned.

MAY CALL OFF HIS VISIT

Troup Says That Arrangements for Nebraskan's Appearance in New Jersey Were Made by "Bob" Davis, Through Him.

Newark may not have a chance to hear and see William Jennings Bryan this year, unless former Senator James Smith, Jr., and the leaders of the True Democracy and the Democratic League can get together and arrange some mutually satisfactory plan for sharing the honors of chaperoning the Nebraskan politician and statesman.

The whole trouble is over the announcement of Mr. Smith, made Thursday, that he had received a letter from Mr. Bryan accepting an invitation to come to Newark, September 1, as his guest, or under his auspices. Mr. Smith didn't give out the full text of Mr. Bryan's letter, but he said he had received it on Tuesday, and told what Bryan said in the epistle.

When the leaders of the True Democracy and the Democratic League read Smith's announcement they immediately started out to prevent the Nebraskan's visit, being used to give indorsement to the Smith leadership and the regular party machine. John Moody and Edmond A. Whittier, of True Democracy, and Franklin H. Halliday, a member of the league, spent two hours in Jamerson House, shortly after the national Democratic committee at the Bryan reception headquarters in the Victoria Hotel, New York, yesterday afternoon. They told Secretary Mack, National Committeeman Alexander Troup, of Connecticut, and Lafayette Nixon, to whom they talked, that it would kill Bryan's chances in New Jersey for him to visit any part of the State under Smith's guidance.

After the conference Troup, Halliday, Whittier and Moody issued separate defiances and dares to Smith to prove he had received any letter from Bryan. It was suggested that if there was no other way of preventing the New Jersey visitation under Smith's auspices, it would be better for Bryan, New Jersey and everybody else concerned, if excepting possibly Smith, to have the visit called offentirely. One of the ways that it might be done and everybody let down easily, somebody proposed, was by having it announced that Bryan had taken a cold at the last minute and would be unable to visit the date.

Troup flatly declared that Smith could not produce a letter from Bryan accepting an invitation to come to Newark September 1 or at any other time. All the arrangements for Bryan's visit here, he asserted, had been made through him.

How Visit Was Planned.

Sometime early in July, said Troup, "Bob" Davis, the little Hudson county boss, was written to Bryan asking him to visit Jersey City and speak there upon his return. In reply Davis received a letter from Bryan, written at Rome, telling him that he would be glad to come to New Jersey if it could be arranged, the arrangements would have to be made by Troup. At about the same time Troup received a letter from Bryan, in which the latter wrote that he would like to speak in both Connecticut and New Jersey, and if possible would prefer to have things so arranged that he could cover both States in the same day. If that were not possible he would remain two days and give a day to each State.

Somebody representing Davis, whose name Troup didn't remember, he said, afterward called on the Connecticut man, and it was arranged that, as both Jersey City and Connecticut wanted night meetings, Bryan should go to Connecticut August 31 and come to New Jersey the next day. They even discussed reception plans, and it was agreed that either the Connecticut committee should escort the great commoner to Jersey City, or that the New Jersey committee should go to Connecticut to meet him and bring him here.

According to Troup's story, Smith first appeared in connection with the Bryan trip two weeks ago, when the former Senator visited headquarters in New York and made a contribution to the reception fund. How much the contribution was Troup would not say.

"After we had talked over the reception plans," said Troup, "Smith called me up and said: 'Now, see here, Troup, I want to arrange to have Bryan come to Newark.' I told him that I had allotted September 1 for New Jersey, and that he would have to see Davis and arrange with him for a division of the day. That was the last I heard of it until I received the resolutions offered at the Democratic League denouncing the old leadership and organization. In fact, I hadn't head until today, when Moody, Halliday and Whittier came over to see me, that Smith had injected himself into the New Jersey programme by taking credit to himself for arranging the Bryan visit to Newark."

"Clever Deceiver."

"Mr. Smith may be a clever deceiver," said Moody, "but he makes a false move once in a while. The New Jersey delegation to the national convention in 1904 will remember how he caused a report to be circulated that he had a letter from Mr. Cleveland authorizing him to present his name before the convention. They will also remember that he did not produce this letter.

"Perhaps some will remember that it afterward transpired that Mr. Cleveland's letter, which Smith secretly kept, contained a request that his name be not presented under any circumstances, and also that the letter was intended by Mr. Cleveland for the entire New Jersey delegation, and was not a personal epistle to Senator Smith, as the latter asserted in the corridor of the St. Louis Hotel.

"It is now in order for Senator Smith to produce the alleged letter from Bryan. Those who know Mr. Bryan better than Smith are confident that he has written no such letter, and that he will not appear in the State of New Jersey on September 1 under the auspices of the New Jersey Belmont."

NO SEPARATE NEWSPAPER FOR NEW JERSEY CATHOLICS.

Plan Did Not Commend Itself to Priests of the Newark Diocese.

The movement to start a Catholic newspaper in the Newark Diocese has been stopped, so far as the raising of a fund for it is concerned among the churches of the diocese is concerned. It had been planned to assess each church a fixed amount, and the total sum thus acquired was to be used to purchase a plant. The amount requested from each parish was said to be $500.

The scheme, however, did not commend itself to a majority of the rectors, and Bishop O'Connor, when seen by a reporter, said that the project had been dropped, the clergy having lost interest in the undertaking.

The project was launched and handled by a committee appointed at a meeting of the Seton Hall Seminary Alumni Association, composed of clergymen from all parts of the diocese, held several months ago. Many members advocated the publication of a newspaper in Newark, but when the cost was ascertained, opposition arose.

William P. Lawber, a New York newspaper man, was engaged to point out the possibilities of a Catholic newspaper. The committee went over the mater in all its phases, and the raising of a fund was decided upon, but a large number of priests were of the opinion the publication would not pay.

FIREWORKS AND CONCERT
DESPITE CLOUDY EVENING.

Singers Make Hits at Concert Park Band Concert Friday—Fireworks Enjoyed by All.

Threatening weather Friday evening kept many away from Concert Park where LaVere's band rendered an excellent musical programme and where there was a display of fireworks. The crowd numbered about 2,000, many of whom came late, and promenaded near the park rather than take grand stand seats.

Two soloists, Billy Redmond and Jack Drislane, rendered selections which won them a good reception from the crowd and called them back for encores. Redmond made a hit with "I'd Rather Be on the Outside A-Lookin' In Than on the Inside A-Lookin' Out," and Drislane's rendition of "When Mose With His Nose Leads the Band" wot three encores. This piece, a Yiddish dialect, is one of Drislane's own compositions, and his imitations during the rendition of it added greatly to the song.

The fireworks were set off between each of the band numbers. There were lots of them and as a whole the display was good. There was a tendency on the part of some of the big revolving set pieces to get jammed and several of them lasted but a minute or two. The fireworks company from Jersey City was in charge of the display, and handled the crowd well, preventing accident by keeping the roped off spaces clear.

LEARNED TO LOVE HER AS NURSE IN HIS FAMILY.

When Sick Person Recovered George Leonard Pledged Himself to Miss McGuinness.

Miss Margaret McGuinness, of Secaucus, was married Wednesday night to George Leonard, of East Rutherford, by Justice Ludlow, at his office, Eighth street, Jersey City.

The marriage was the culmination of a romance that began in the home of Mr. Leonard's widowed mother two years ago. Miss McGuinness was called to the home of Mrs. Leonard as a trained nurse to take care of a serious case of sickness.

Mr. Leonard was supposed to be an unimpressionable bachelor. He fell in love with her. She reciprocated. The sick one was restored to health and when Miss McGuinness left the Leonard household it was with a promise that she would marry George.

About tow weeks ago Miss McGuinness was called as a trained nurse to Manhattan. When returning home Wednesday night by previous arrangement over the 'phone she met Mr. Leonard at the Erie Railroad station at Jersey City. The two weat to the office of Justice Ludlow, who married them.

MARTINE GIVES ADVICE

Bryan Warmest Friend in Jersey Deplores Wrangling Over His Visit.

TEMPEST IN TEAPOT

Farmer-Orator Says It Doesn't Matter Who Receives Bryan —All Whoop It Up.

James Edgar Martine, "the farmer-orator of Cedarbrook" and consulgeneral of William Jennings Bryan in New Jersey, is much wrought up over the wrangle between the "True Democracy" and the party organization concerning "the peerless leader's" visit to Newark. Martine is friendly to John Moody, of Cranford, and very friendly to James Smith, of Newark, the rival leaders playing the heavy parts in a "Much Ado About Nothing." Consequently while he does not "view with alarm" or "arraign with indignation," he frankly states that petty jealousies and factional feeling should be cast to the winds when once the Democratic leader and phrase-maker makes his grand entry into this State.

"What does it matter," says the farmer-orator, "whether 'Jim' Smith got a letter from Bryan or not, or later? It Smith refuses to show the letter he is doing right for no man should be called upon to produce private correspondence just because some other fellow is envious. I believe that all this tot and nonsense about who should receive Bryan is harmful. Let's all receive him—that's the way to settle it."

Continuing Mr. Martine declared: "It doesn't matter much to me whether James Smith or John Moody or some 'Tom, Dick or Harry" man ushers Bryan about. For my part I'm going to all of the receptions and help in the hurrah, no matter where he is entertained and no matter whether I get an invitation or not. Bryan is my leader and he's the leader of every other good Democrat."

TAXATION MIX-UP AT COUNTY SEAT

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION ORDERS REASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY.

The State Board of Equalization of Taxes late Thursday afternoon decided the appeal taken by the city of Elizabeth against the assessment made by the State Board of Assessors of second class railroad property belonging to the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Elizabeth. It was alleged that the railroad property had been assessed below the true value. In turn the railroad company alleged that all the assessments in Elizabeth had been assessed above true value. The State Board of Equalization of Taxes after having given both sides a hearing on May 28 decided that there should be a reassessment of all the property in Elizabeth for 1905, the appeal having been taken on the assessment of that year.

The board realizes that this will cause great confusion, inasmuch as a great part of the taxes of 1905 have been paid, but the board says that it can see no other way out of the difficulty than to order a reassessment.

In the appeal proceedings the railroad company claimed that its property had been fully assessed and that it had been assessed at a far greater rate than other local property.

The city of Elizabeth maintained that the whole question under discussion was whether the railroad property had been assessed at its true value and declined to enter a discussion as to the assessments of other property in Elizabeth.

The board in its decision, given out yesterday by Secretary Lehlbach, says that it is unable to state the true value of all the property in Elizabeth, but it believes it to be considerably above the amount of the assessments and that some of the pieces of property involved are not assessed in excess of thirty-five per cent. of their true value by the State Board of Assessors.

The State Board of Equalization says that in view of the untrue and unlawful valuation placed upon property surrounding railroad property, it feels that it is only just to order a reassessment for the year of 1905.

The board will settle the terms and the conditions to be signed on the first Tuesday in September when the counsel of both sides will be present.

The decision is taken to mean that assessment on second class railroad property must be made at true value and it must necessarily follow that local assessments must be made at the same value in order to avoid discrimination.

Inspecting Roads.

State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker and County Engineer Dougherty, of Somerville, inspected the Wagner's Corners and North Branch roads on Wednesday, the latter now under construction. The Rocky Hill road is about completed and ready for acceptance.

SOME MODERN BUCCANEERS

Scheme for Revolution in Panama That Was a Purely Business Enterprise.

I happen to know of two Americans of position who had inside information of the conditions in Panama, and who sat in a room in the New Willard in Washington, one night in the fall of 1903, consummating plans for putting through the revolution, obtaining a charter from the new republic, and forming a company of capitalists, writes Capt. Lloyd Buchanan, in Lippincott's Magazine. Mr. Pierpont Morgan was to be asked to organize the company. The total cost of the revolution was to be under $150,000, and all the equipment needed in addition to what the junta could supply was a pair of moderately fast small steamers, chartered, four six-inch guns, with ammunition, and 50 Krag rifles. The steamers and weapons were to be handled by Americans and Englishmen who had no special calling on earth. I have every reason to believe that, if Mr. Roosevelt had failed to act as he did, and any private concern had taken up the construction of the canal, a revolution would have gone off with an accuracy and style that has never been surpassed. But, unfortunately for art, Mr. Roosevelt did act.

South America, Mexico and the West Indies are threaded everywhere by the trails of these adventurers of fortune. Every coup and hatching any sort of scheme you choose—from a plan to smuggle a couple of bolts of silk and a case of champagne into Venezuela, to a plot to overthrow a republic and putting a new dictator on the throne—is under way. I met one day a ruined American gambler, begging his passage back to the states, and the sons of Guzman Blanco, the banished ex-president of Venezuela. The former stopped me opposite a Dutch cigar store and told me with much pathos and frankness what he wanted, but the latter, over their cigarettes and long iced glasses, mourned evasively of exile and confiscated estates in general. It is then, not for me to say why they were frizzling on that sun-baked islet within 50 miles of the Venezuelan coast, when they might as well have been in the dear Paris that they know and love so well. But probably they knew—and Castro. I think I did, too.

HONOLULU POULTRY EXPERT

Claims to Be Able to Predetermine the Sex and Fertility of an Egg.

C. W. Weatherwax, a chicken fan*cier of Honolulu, claims he has discovered* a process whereby he can tell the sex of an egg and whether it will be fertile or not. Weatherwax has been experimenting with eggs since 1894 and is now in a position to give the results of his investigations to the world. He has used thousands of eggs in his experiments and kept two 50-egg incubators going all the time.

He claims he is able to tell whether the produce of an egg will be a rooster or a hen, and if the chick has a fair chance to reach maturity.

"I am willing to make a public test with 100 eggs," said Weatherwax, "in order to prove my assertions. The eggs may be marked, giving my prediction with an indelible pencil before being put in the incubator. In nine cases out of ten it will be found that I am right."

Mr. Weatherwax claims that he is the first white man to possess the remarkable knowledge. Poultry papers are unanimous in declaring that there is no way of telling a fertile egg before putting it in the incubator. They maintain that even if the egg be broken, the germ cannot be seen with the naked eye.

Weatherwax undertakes to teach the whole thing in five minutes. He declares that no mechanical devices or chemicals are used.

AWFUL DISEASE ON GUAM.

Gangrosa, Which Destroys Upper Part of Victim's Face, Worse Than Leprosy.

Gangrosa, a tropical disease more repulsive than leprosy, has become so prevalent on the island of Guam that Lieut McNamee, U. S. N., acting governor of the island, has recommended the establishment of a hospital for the isolation of the disease, which is believed to be highly contagious. Admiral Mayo, surgeon general of the navy, has approved the recommendation and it is probable that a $5,000 hospital will be erected immediately near the leper hospital on the island. Lieut. McNamee says the disease destroys the upper part of the face in slow ulceration and is more horrible, both to the victim and to his companions, than leprosy. As 400 cases have developed its isolation is imperative.

Naval surgeons have investigated the disease in parts of South America and the West Indies, but their reports indicate that there can be little doubt that it is a distinct malady, and one which does not yield to the treatment given tuberculosis, leprosy and other diseases common to tropical countries. Cases of gangrosa have been treated in New York which are believed to have come from Brazil and Panama.

When News Reached Honolulu.

The cable as it comes here is abbreviated. For example the name of John J Smith comes as "Jewish." It was this custom that led a local paper one day to announce that "Mrs. Jaiogan had been elected president of the Red Cross Society." Mrs. J. A. Logan is still the president.—Hawaiian Star.

LAWYERS WERE DRUBBED

Newspaper Men Trim Them Although Strengthened By Outside Talent in NEWSBOY—BARRISTERS

Willie Mullen and His Ball-Playing Pals Become Lawyers Very Suddenly—Nash's Curves Pounded.

Leading a make-believe team, Captain-Manager V. William Nash, of the Lawyers' Nine, assailed the Newspaper Men on Crescent Oval Friday afternoon. It was a real sour one he got. Size, weight and color, 14 to 4.

Manager Nash's outfit was a legal fiction. It did look something like a baseball team at times, but some of the lawyers who pranced out in the uniform of the barrister bunch were regarded with suspicion by the Newspaper Men. They remembered having seen Fred Huff, Henry Crane and the pushful V. William in the guise of lawyers before, and it seemed as if something had been said in duly attested records of Philip Leichentritt's good standing as a law student, but they couldn't recollect when Willie Mullen, "Bill" Coriell, "Ike" Elliott, Con Schropfer and Willie Lambert became barristers or earned the straits of Coke on Littleton and the other mysterious things of which lawyers are made.

Manager Nash submitted a brief to Manager Hacquer, in which he argued for a rule to clothe Mullen et als with the rights and privileges of the law while on the field. He said the real lawyers whose places they took got cold feet when they heard Bob Hoffman would twirl, and barricaded themselves behind statutes and precedents when he ordered them out. Willie and his pals were admitted to the bar, under the rule asked for. They played with the dignity becoming barristers, taking only one chew apiece, and cussing not louder than seven tones above the "Wuxtry!" yell.

Manager Nash twirled. He worked hard, but it was no go. The heartless umpire behind his offerings to all sections of the lot. He did a few fanning stunts, but there was no comfort in it, because the fannees had a mean habit of coming back at him the next time with a healthy lick to the grass. Nash's pals couldn't complete the stunt, although he showed them how to swat. Hoffman held the lawyers, real and otherwise, in fast grip, and his infield was a stone wall. Firstbrook and Norton, of the Newark News team, were in the Newspaper ranks, and they lived up to pace. Foxy made some big league stops, and Norton, at first, smothered all the things within his reach.

Henry Crane surprised the talent *by eating 'em up at short. He look*ed like a real promising player. Fred Huff created a furore by freezing to a line drive, and once he almost hit the ball.

The Lawyers will play another game with the scribes, next week, with nine actual and undoubted barristers in action. Hoffman has twenty-three strike-outs framed up.

The line-up: Newspaper Men—Hoffman, p; Vail, c; Norton, 1b; Sullivan, 2b; Firstbrook, ss; Colthar, 3b; Hacquer, lf; Waters, cf; Bangbart, rf. Lawyers—Nash, p; Elliott, c; Coriell, 1b; Schropfer, 2b; Crane, ss; Mullen, 3b; Leichentritt, c, 3b, lf; Huff, cf; Lambert, rf.

After the game, the social committee took charge of Norton and made him forget home and kindred. He lost three trains Friday night and nearly missed another Saturday morning.

"It's a lovely town," he said as he clung to a fleeting handrail in the dewey dawn, "I'm coming back when I have a week in which to get home."

CO. K'S SIX-MAN TEAM
TO COMPETE AT SEA GIRT.

Captain William B. Martin to Choose Membership of Team Today.

Captain W. B. Martin, of Co. K, will today select the six-man team from the company that is to compete for honors at the State range at Sea Girt on Monday, August 27. The team will probably be made up as follows: Captain W. B. Martin, Sergeants Albert I. Littell, George Apgar, Nathan Hort, Corporal Bilyeu and Private Porst.

*This team will be expected to com*pete against the crack teams of the naval navy, for any ship's company or National Guard, as well as the regulars are privileged to enter a team of six men in the shoot. The entries will probably be large.

Big Ox Roast.

Plans for an ox roast to be held on the Mowrey farm, Rock avenue, Sunday, August 26, have been made by a coterie of Saengerbund members. Jules Hietel is head of the committee. The roast will be a big affair. An 600 pound ox has been ordered from the Swift beef house, and feasters enought to clean it up are expected. The ox is to be roasted over a huge fire, above which an eight-by six-foot oven has been built. There will be a programme of athletic events.

SOME CURRENT VERSE.

How I Feel.

Feel just like goin'
Those days, I do.
Where trees are blowin'
And sun drips through,
An' the waters lay
As brown an' still
As they used to. Say!
An' the ragged hill
Rose right straight up,
'Till you'd almost think
You was in a cup
Where the fairies drink!

I feel like fishin'
Again; yes, sir!
An' set here wishin'
I'd hear th' whirr
Of the insects, like
I used to do
When I used to hike
Through morning dew,
With my lunch held tight
To my hopin heart,
By the morn's dim light
For an early start.

An' hear the singin'
O' mockin' birds
Above the swingin',
An' see the herds
Come a-crowdin' down
To the water to drink,
Just to stan' aroun'
An' gut a drink.
Just all to myself
Is some of time joy,
An' a chance to fish
Like a boy, a boy.
—J. M. Lewis, in Houston Post.

Measurements.

Says I to Susan Simpkins,
In a friendly sort of way,
As we jogged along the turnpike
One pleasant summer day:
"I have thought this matter over
And me far as I can see,
I guess you are the biggest woman
That is just the size for me."

I was rich and Susan wasn't,
For I owned a farm and more,
I owned a tract of timberland,
A mine and a store.
While Susan earned her living
As a hired girl, and did
Her duty by her employer
And a little orphan kid.

But Susan, she was thrifty,
And so plump and fresh and fair,
That compared with other things I wasn't
Any fixer anywhere.
Of course she wa'n't my equal,
And I knew it from the time,
But as Mrs. Hiram Higgins
She would have a chance to shine.

Then Susan Simpkins halted,
And she looked into my eyes,
With—of course—a modest blushes
Or natural surprise:
"I'm sorry, Mr. Higgins, sir;
Indeed I am," says she,
"But when it comes to sizes
You are one too small for me."
—W. J. Lampton, in N. Y. Sun.

Water Lily of Hampshire.

In Hampshire was (slightly) resting
Snow white and (slightly) protesting
The lily lies, the dancing ripples breasting,
How like it seems to some new-fallen star,
Low lying on a liquid sky
Where shadow clouds go drifting slowly by.

Above its bed the mountains tower
For upon peak is placed grandeur vast,
Among the clouds they rise in conscious power,
Rugged and grimly bold, and yet at last
How scarred and seamed their lofty forms,
On highest paths still fall the fiercest storms.

But here with sunlight round it streaming
Its sleep is undisturbed; no sound is heard
To mar the rapt, still current of its dreaming
Save flapping water of sweet-piping bird;
The pulsing air around it filled
With quivering wine from Summer's beaker spilled.

Not for those petals glowing blushes
Such as suffuse the petals of the rose;
Nunlike, it peereth from a hood of rushes,
Clasped in the loving water's close embrace.
—Ernest McGaffey, in Chicago Chronicle.

Judge Not.

When some one sings a little song,
And asks you what you think about it,
Do not reply, with face drawn long,
"It may be good, but yet I doubt it;"
For every song has worth
With hope, and joy, and gladness ringing.
Will reach some heart where sorrow dwells,
And echo there its voice of singing.

When some one does a little deed,
And you, perchance, observe the action,
Do not conclude with thoughtless speed
That it is worthy your attention;
For blessed deeds, like bells of snow,
Kept rolling on through life's rough weather,
Enlarge their fullness as they go,
Until they bind the world together.

When some one lifts a whispered prayer
From motive pure, or gilded alloy,
Doubt not that God is waiting there
To hear the lips that lisp, or falter;
But know, if faith and love exceed
So full of doubt and cold misgiving,
These little gems, which all may find,
Make earth a heaven, and life worth living.
—John Philo Trowbridge, in Boston Transcript.

An Invitation.

"They have said; they will say;—then let them be saying.
The World's an old woman, but we'll go a-Maying."
The bluebird has come in the wake of the swallow;
Anemones, columbines, dance in the hollow;
The river is laughing; the hedgerow dim
A present of lilacs, a promise of roses;
And sweet from the orchard, where blossoms are swelling,
That tempter, the Wind, like a truant is calling.
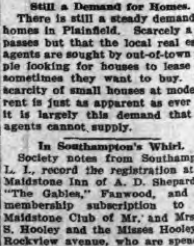
"They have said; they will say;—e'en let them be saying!
Away! Little Gipsy, for we'll go a-Maying!"
—Arthur Quiller-Couch, in The Criterion.

The World's Tryst.

We fain would walk abroad with Spring,
Impatient to begin it;
Like other fain ones sweet, she calls:
"I'm with you in a minute."

We fret, and fuss, and watch the clock,
The minutes larger looming;
Springs dons a robe of tender green
A dash of faint performing.

And when at last she comes to us
So fair do we behold her;
So radiant and beautiful,
We have no heart to scold her.
—Puck.



HOPE IN BURT'S PLACE

Report That New General Passenger Agent 's Position Will Go to Roselle Man.

LONG ASSISTANT G. P. A.

North Plainfielder Leaves Jersey Central to Go With Boston and Maine September 1.

It is reported on the best of authority that the successor to Charles M. Burt, as general passenger agent of the New Jersey Central, will be W. C. Hope, of Roselle, who for many years has been the assistant general passenger agent. It was thought for a time that a man from the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road, would be chosen for the place, as in some respects there is a community of interest between the two roads. However, there was a persistent rumor that Mr. Hope would be selected. It is said that official announcement will be made within a few days.

It is said that Mr. Hope would be in every way satisfactory to all interests concerned. He was associated for a long time with H. P. Baldwin, when he was general passenger agent and he has full knowledge of that department of the business and is well qualified for the advanced position.

Charles M. Burt resigned his position recently to accept a similar one with the Boston and Maine Railroad, with which road he was connected as assistant general passenger agent for one year, prior to coming with the New Jersey Central five years ago. It is said that the salary of his new position with the Boston and Maine will be about $10,000 a year.

HETFIELD SECRETARY OF ELECTION BOARD

YOUNG PLAINFIELD LAWYER CHOSEN OFFICER OF UNION COUNTY BOARD.

When the Union County Board of Elections met at the Court House, Elizabeth, Friday afternoon, for organization, Robert McAdams, Democrat, of Elizabeth, was chosen chairman, and Walter L. Hetfield, a 2d, Republican, of Plainfield, the new member, who succeeds J. W. Murray, Jr., was chosen secretary. The other members of the board are Fred Zior, of Elizabeth, Democrat, and Captain Robert Kirkland, also of Elizabeth, Republican. This makes the board bi-partisan. According to the annual custom, S. Russling Ryno, of Rahway, was elected clerk of the board, and Oliver Conlin, of Elizabeth, sergeant-at-arms.

Several matters of more or less importance were discussed while the *board was in session, and adjourn*ment was taken to Thursday afternoon, August 16, at 2 o'clock, when several important matters will be taken up. For that time until after election the members will be kept pretty busy.

M. G. A. GOLF TOURNEY
CONCLUDED AT HOLLYWOOD.

George Low, Baltusrol, Wins Title—"Marty" O'Loughlin Does Better in Second Day's Play.

Play in the second annual open golf championship tournament of the M. G. A., at the Hollywood Golf Club was concluded Friday the second day of play. George Low, the professional of the Baltusrol Golf Club, won the title, with a score of 294 for the seventy-two holes of play.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the only local contestant, finished in ninth place among the "pros," showing a card of 307 for the two days play. His score Thursday, when Jerome D. Travers, the Metropolitan Golf Association amateur champion, only succeeded in getting him 153 in 36 holes, was 154 and yesterday he did one stroke better, going out with a 78 and coming back in 75. His total of 307 is five strokes poorer playing than he did in the VanCourtland Park tournament. The links at Hollywood made trouble for many others of the professionals, for the course is sandy and in many cases the ball would get a bad lie from a drive or iron shot. "Marty" had this happen Thursday. When he got a lie in deep sand that made him work a 6 for the hold.

Still a Demand for Homes.

There is still a steady demand for homes in Plainfield. Scarcely a day passes but that the local real estate agents are sought by out-of-town people looking for houses to lease and sometimes they want to buy. The scarcity of small houses at moderate rent is just as apparent as ever and it is largely this demand that the agents cannot supply.

In Southampton's Whirl.

Society notes from Southampton, L. I., record the registration at the Maidstone Inn of A. D. Shepard, of "The Gables," Fanwood, and the membership subscription to the Maidstone Club of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hooley and the Misses Hooley, of Rockview avenue, who are spending the summer at Southampton.

TAX ASSESSORS' DILEMMA

Piano Man Willing to Pay Tax on His Stock but Officials Hesitate to Demand It.

NOT DUE UNTIL DEC 20

In the Meantime the Goods May Be Removed—Collector Declines to Get in Mix-up.

In the performance of their official duties the Plainfield Board of Assessors are confronted with a knotty problem which they are trying to solve. During the past few weeks a piano concern came to Plainfield and leased a store on East Front street, where it has been conducting what is called a "manufacturer's sale of pianos." Soon after the concern began to do business some of the assessors got busy. The could see no reason why the pianos in the store should not be assessed the same as other property.

Three members of the board called on the man in charge of the piano store and informed him that he must be assessed and pay a tax, even though he did not intend to remain indefinitely. The proprietor showed his willingness to be assessed and pay the tax, but he wanted to know how much he would be assessed.

One of the assessors, acting as a spokesman for the others, fixed the amount to be assessed upon as $2,000, which appeared to be satisfactory to the proprietor of the store, but when he asked what the rate would be on the $2,000 the assessors were "stumped." They could not apply the old rate of $2.48 and they were also unable to quote the new rate, as it has not been fixed yet.

"If you will tell me how much tax I owe I will gladly pay it," declared the piano man, but the assessors could not give the information and besides they could not compel the man to pay a tax until it is due, which will be December 20, after which time it will be delinquent. There is some talk of threatening to close up the business if a tax was not paid. The matter was referred to Tax Collector J. W. Murray, Jr., and not being absolutely certain of his position as to whether he ought to try and collect a tax sought further information. He was advised not to try to force payment for the reason that taxes will not be due until December 20.

In the meantime the piano concern will enjoy immunity and should it leave town the collection of tax begins it will escape entirely and there is no power to force payment.

STOREKEEPERS AROUSED.

Plan to Buy Carloads of Ice Independently Is Blocked.

Meat dealers have been forced to pay an increase rate for their ice by the Natural Ice Company. Along with the saloon man, they were raised 35 to 40 cents a hundred.

The storekeepers are becoming aroused over the steady lacking of the rate. Action is being advocated by the energetic ones among them, and a move to break the shackles the ice men have hung about them is likely to be made next week.

"The only thing to do," said W. G. Debele, of Debele & Stahl, Somerset street, this morning, "is for all of us in business to get together and buy our ice on the co-operative plan by the carload. It can be done every season, and all through the season, keeping us permanently free from the hold of the ice dealers. I am willing to go into that at any time."

RAIN DIDN'T SCARE THEM.

Hope Chapel Excursionists Turn Out In Their Usual Numbers.

Weather vagaries had no terrors for the Hope chapel excursionists Saturday. Fifteen carloads of pleasure-seekers defied the rain and the threat in the leaden sky.

Whatever the committee may have felt, the excursionists never had a doubt as to whether the excursion was to be run. They came out in old-time numbers at the Grant Avenue station on time, and another big crowd swarmed up and took possession of North avenue.

A telephone message to Asbury Park brought them cheering news. The sun was shining there, and no hint of rain was in the air.

Crowded to the limits of its capacity, the fifteen-car train left at 8:30. Thirty minutes after it went, Old Sol, as if shamed by the spirit of the excursionists, assailed the clouds and pushed his way out.

A MODERN FAMILY.

Grace is in her "study"
Modelling in clay.
Maude is getting ready
For the matinee.
Jane is writing verses
In the lower hall
Where Genevieve rehearses
Plays at basketball.
O'er a love tale sighing
Edith hides her face
While Antoinette is trying
To decorate a vase.
Brother's at the casement
Bawling for his lunch.
And ma is in the basement
Cooking for the bunch.

—Louisville Courier-Leaves.

CARNIVAL AT RED BANK

Marine and Land Parade on the Varied Program of Amusements.

DRYDEN WAS ON HAND

Carlisle Indian School Band a Card —Firemen Contested For Valuable Prizes.

Red Bank's most successful carnival was held Thursday. The town never before contained so many persons, and the visitors were entertained with a varid programme of amusements provided by the carnival committee. The day broke with a cloudy sky, which threatened to empty rain upon the carnivalers before the day was done, but in the middle of the morning the sun came out and the weather was ideal for the remainder of the day.

The motor launch races were held in the morning, and they brought together a lot of the best boats in this part of the State. The opening contest was a five-mile race for pleasure launches. It was won by Fred S. Solomon's Eclipse.

A large number of firement took part in the parade, which was reviewed by United States Senator Dryden, State Senator Brown, Representative Howell and others. The towns represented in the line were Red Bank, Fair Haven, Sea Bright, Summit, Long Branch, Freehold and Atlantic Highlands. The Long Branch company was accompanied by the Carlisle School Indian band. The 2d Cavalry Troop, Captain Edwin Field, headed the procession. After the parade the firemen dined at the Town Hall.

Special prizes for the best appearing apparatus and best appearing company were won by Fair Haven and Sea Bright. The firemen also engaged in several contests, which consisted of a hook and ladder race and a hose-laying race. The contests were won by Sea Bright and Long Branch. Tonight an illuminated boat parade and display of fireworks were the features.

A baseball game Thursday afternoon between the Red Bank and Matawan teams was won by Red Bank by the score of 6 to 3.

$50,000 CIVIL SUIT SANFORD'S COUNTER MOVE

NEW MARKET COUPLE, SEPARATED A MONTH AGO, BOTH SUING FOR DIVORCE

Taking active initiative in the divorce suit brought against him by his wife, Mrs. Alice Sanford, Samuel Sanford, of New Market, today filed an answer to a cross petition in the suit, in which he alleges several violations of statutory grounds entitling him to divorce. He has further authorized his attorney, R. P. F. Von Minden, to prepare papers in a civil suit for $50,000 for the alienation of affections of his wife by Joseph Lawrence, an eighteen-year-old boy, whom Sanford claims is now living with his wife at New Market.

The couple became alienated about a month ago, when Sanford left the home of his wife at Newtown and went to New Market to board. The young man Lawrence is alleged to have been a constant companion of Mrs. Sanford for many weeks past, and his alleged infatuation with Sanford's wife brought about the separation. Sanford alleges that his wife has brought Miss May Grundy, of New York, to New Market to live with her; and that she did this in order to secure evidence against him in the divorce case.

Mrs. Sanford has engaged County Prosecutor George Berdine, of New Brunswick, as her attorney in the case, which is to come up before the grand jury in the September term of court at New Brunswick.

VALUABLE INFORMATION

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Do you know that rust, or ink stains, may be removed from white goods by hanging in the sun after salt and lemon juice have been applied to the stain?

That brooms, if occasionally washed in strong hot suds, will last longer and do better work?

That a few spoonfuls of kerosene added to the water used for washing windows will leave them sparkling and bright?

That English mustard, if mixed with lemon juice, instead of water, or vinegar, will loose that disagreeable wild taste and will be ready to use immediately after mixing?

That a lump of common charcoal placed in the ice chest will keep the food sweet and wholesome at all seasons of the year?

That eggs beaten with a silver fork with be lighter and foamier than if any other implement is used?

That celery salt, which may be purchased at the grocers, will take the place of celery for seasoning when the vegetable cannot be procured?

That raw tomatoes, or the pulp of lemons, will remove fruit or vegetable stains from the fingers?

DAAB QUITS PLAINFIELD

Baseball Association Decides Upon an Amateur Team For Rest of the Season.

TO SETTLE ACCOUNTS

Daabsters to Play at Red Bank in the Future—No Game This Week.

With the idea of "making good" by finishing the season, as originally planned, the Plainfield Baseball Association decided last Thursday night, to get together a strong amateur team and play the remaining dates up to and including Labor Day. Assurances were given that a good team could be organized among local players and it should be impossible to secure the services of a strong local pitcher it was stated that a well-known out-of-town amateur twirler would be available. It was suggested that a series of two or three games be arranged with Somerville, and Manager Daab, of the West Ends, will be seen within a few days with that end in view.

It is believed that with an amateur team here, Somerville will be willing to entertain a proposition for a series and that such contests will be the means of reviving interest in the game as nothing else will at this time.

It was announced that so far as Manager Daab and his team is concerned they will not play here again this season. Mr. Daab has made arrangements to go to Red Bank on Saturdays for the rest of the season and represent that town in the Atlantic Coast League. In consequence, "Dave" Driscoll, "Al." Farmer, "Red" Waller and the other members of the Red Bank team will not play here. It is understood that he will go to Elizabeth and play Saturdays and Sundays for the Invaders.

The local baseball association will pay all of its indebtedness as soon as the bills are collected, and after this is done there will be a surplus with which to complete the season as planned with an amateur team. There was no discussion regarding next year, except that if the remaining part of the season should be successful with an amateur team, it might be possible to continue the game next season along the same lines.

Manager Daab and the baseball association are owners of the local franchise and the question of disposing of that will come up at some future time. It cannot be sold without the consent of both parties.

The members at the meeting were of the opinion that considering the many things that have worked against the interest of the game here this season, the association has done as well as could be expected. There were such counter-attractions as the hospital carnival, three Saturdays, the horse show, the steeplechase and several Saturdays when it rained.

An amateur team would not cost one-half that of the present aggregation and with moderate guarantees would make it possible for the association to make some money during the remainder of the season.

Treasurer Charles W. Runyon informed the association that the manager of the Philadelphia Quaker Giants, which team played here last Saturday, had opened negotiations with him with a view to securing the oval for the remainder of the season.

The Quaker Giant manager offers to give the local association one-third of the profits. Mr. Runyon will confer with the management of the colored team and learn more about his plans. It is understood that the team would play such aggregations as the Cuban X Giants, the Cuban Stars, Royal Giants, Philadelphia Giants and teams of like strength. The manager while here last Saturday was much taken with Crescent Oval, expressing the opinion that it is one of the best in this part of the country, and if he could arrange it would like to play here instead of at Atlantic City.

MISS IRENE HOPE

NOW MRS. WELLBROCK.

A Daughter of Mrs. C. R. Hope Was Married Quietly Last Thursday.

Miss Irene Hope, daughter of Mrs. C. R. Hope, of West Fourth street, and George D. Wellbrock, of Brooklyn, were married Thursday at 8 o'clock at the home of Rev. Dr. George W. Whitney, who performed the ceremony. Miss Violet Hope acted as bridesmaid and Benjamin J. Davis was the best man.

The bride was gowned in white batiste and wore a large white hat. The bridesmaid was also gowned in white, trimmed with blue. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's mother, where an informal reception was held for the relatives and a few friends.

The groom, who is employed in New York as an electrician, is well-known here. Last night the couple left for a wedding trip through the South and upon their return will reside with the bride's mother in West Fourth street.

BRYAN TO VISIT NEWARK

Democracy's Leader Accepts Invitation of Former Senator Smith.

FOR SEPTEMBER 1

To Spend Three Hours In Essex—Also To Visit Davis at Jersey City.

William Jennings Bryan, twice Democratic nominee for President, will visit Newark on the afternoon of September 1, and make three speeches at outdoor gatherings. This, in effect, is an announcement made by former Senator James Smith, Jr., yesterday morning. Mr. Smith has notified the county committee of Mr. Bryan's acceptance of the invitation he sent him some time ago, and has requested it to make all the necessary arrangements.

Mr. Bryan's visit will be of short duration, not extending more than three hours, but in that interval he will be a busy man if the tentative programme given out by Chairman David F. Howell, of the county organization, is adhered to. The distinguished Nebraskan while here will be the guest of Mr. Smith, and the Hudson County Democracy will have Mr. Bryan Saturday night.

The letter of acceptance was sent from London, which city Mr. Bryan has been making his headquarters. Mr. Smith said he did not care to make public the contents of the letter sent by the leader of the Democracy. All that could be learned was that Mr. Bryan had expressed gratification at the loyalty of Jersey Democrats, and recalled his visit here in 1900 while making a campaign for the Presidency.

August 30, upon his arrival from Europe, Mr. Bryan will be tendered a reception in Madison Square Garden.

As matters now stand he will arrive in Newark between 12 and 1 o'clock the following Saturday afternoon, coming over the Pennsylvania. He will be met at the Jersey City terminal by Mr. Smith and Robert Davis, leader of the Hudson County Democracy.

At the Market Street station the Essex County Democratic organizations and delegations from Union, Morris, Passaic and Bergen counties will be in waiting, it being the intention of the county committee to send invitations to every Democratic organization within convenient distance to join in the welcome. They will escort Mr. Bryan to Mr. Smith's residence, 10 Washington place, where he will hold a levee. Mr. Howell says the prominent men of the county, regardless of political affiliations, will be asked to meet Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan will likely make his first speech in Centre Market Square. The second will probably be at Springfield and Belmont avenues, and the third at Washington Park. The exact sequence has not been determined upon, as Mr. Howell will have to secure the consent of the city authorities to the plans. Mr. Howell thinks it would be foily to engage a hall, for there is none, he says, large enough to accommodate the crowd.

The speeches will not be of a partisan nature, Mr. Howell says.

"Mr. Bryan is coming simply because the people want him," said Mr. Howell yesterday morning. "He is coming as a distinguished American citizen, and his speeches will be in conformity to that idea."

The tentative programme will allow Mr. Bryan to depart for Jersey City shortly after 4 o'clock. A meeting of the county committee has been called for next Tuesday night to take necessary action.

AT THE FOUNTAIN.

Hear the gurgle of the fizz—
Sparkling, foaming!
Singing songs of soda biz—
Good cash biz.
As it spurts, spurts, spurts.
What a lively stream it squirts—
Stuff that's fizzy, but never hurts.
Hear it sizz!

Note the draft tube's merry gush—
Aqueous gush!
All around through a bush
And a crush.
Never were such throngs, I wis;
Stately dame crowds pretty miss.
Certainly, sir, with this Needs no hush.

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

James W. Davis Leaves Cab Co.

James W. Davis, for six years manager of the Plainfield Cab Company, has resigned to accept the management of the R. F. Munn stables in Chestnut street, Newark. The Munn stables are one of the largest in New Jersey. During his service as manager of the local cab company Mr. Davis has built that business up from almost nothing to one of the largest in Union county.

Played at a Wedding.

James Vail, age 13, of this place, played at the wedding of Miss Lila Rankins and George Hafner at Princeton. During the reception which followed he played five different selections and is highly praised.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Applegate, of West Second street, announce the engagement of the latter's sister, Miss Mary Snyder, to H. Theodore Gierse, of Newark, N. J. The date for the wedding has not been set.

JOHN MOODY IS INVITED

To Be a Member of Reception Committee When Mr. Bryan Comes Home.

CRANFORD MAN ACCEPTS

Said To Be Unlikely That Nebraskan Will Speak Under Auspices of Either Smith or Davis.

Lewis Nixon, chairman of the Plan and Scope Committee for the reception to William Jennings Bryan, upon his return from Europe, has just sent to John Moody, of Cranford, President of the True Democracy of New Jersey, a letter notifying him that he has been appointed a member of the Committee of Reception. Mr. Moody has written to Mr. Nixon a letter of acceptance.

Mr. Moody's reply follows:

"Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor, informing me of my appointment by your Plan and Scope Committee as a member of the Committee of Reception to the Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

"Feeling as I do that Mr. Bryan, more than any one man in public life today, represents the principle of True Democracy, particularly as we understand it in New Jersey, I accept the aforesaid invitation with great pleasure. It is a high honor to join in the public welcome to a man whose ideals of manhood and of citizenship are as high as are those of Mr. Bryan.

"Very truly yours,
"JOHN MOODY."

SOME CAMPAIGN DATA

ON THE BISHOPS' BILL.

A Recapitulation of the Vote on Final Passage in Senate and House.

Considerable discussion is arising these days over the attitude of the Democrats, "regular" Republicans and Colbyites on the so-called "Bishops' bill" when it came up for final action in Senate and House. The matter is one which promises to furnish the basis for a vast deal of campaign discussion, and which will undoubtedly give rise to no end of confusion. It would be simple enough had not the original bill been so radically changed by amendments. The bill, as passed by the Senate on April 6, was so changed from the form it bore when introduced, that many who had been its most ardent champions practically repudiated it. The House still further amended it and the Senate accepted the House amendments.

Voicing a prevalent lack of certain knowledge on the subject, an inquirer writes to the Sunday Call asking for "the vote by party affiliations on the 'Bishops' bill' on final passage in Senate and House." The bill, as it passed by the Senate on April 5, by the following unanimous vote:

Ayes—Ackerman (R.), Avis (R.), Bradley (R.), Brown, (R.), Colby (R.), Frelinghuysen (R.), Hillery (R.), Horner (R.), Jackson (R.), Lee (R.), Mitsch (R.), Naturan (D.), Wakelee (R.). Total, 13—Republican, 12; Democratic, 1.

Cornish (D.), Cresse (R.), Hutchinson (R.), McKee (R.), Plummer (R.), Price (D.) and Shinn (R.) were not among those who voted.

The bill, with its amendments, was passed by the House on April 11. The vote was as follows:—

Ayes—Barber (R.), Buck (R.), Burk (R.), Cattell (R.), Chaplin (R.), Crowther (R.), Doppel (R.), Drake (R.), Eggers (R.), Elvins (R.), Galvin (R.), Gibbs (R.), Haines (R.), Heck (R.), Henry (R.), Hoagland (R.), Irick (R.), Jones (R.), Mabie (R.), Mills (R.), Morris (D.), Perkins (R.), Prines (R.), Reed (R.), Robbins (R.), Scott (R.), Scovel (R.), H. D. Thompson (R.), H. F. Thompson (R.), Vanderveer (R.), Warren (Ind. R.), Wise (R.), Woolley (R.), Wright (R.). Total, 34, Republican votes, 32; Democratic, 1; Independent Republican, 1.

Nays—Berg (R.), Bierck (R.), Colgate (R.), Coyle (R.), Everett (R.), Firth (D.), Hines (R.), Holcombe (D.), Kayser (R.), Marelli (R.), Martin (R.), Miller (R.), Morgan (R.), Patterson, (R.), Roeber (R.), Serbe (R.), Sommer (R.), Tucker (R.), Underwood (R.), Walsh (R.). Total, 20. Republicans, 18; Democratic, 2.

Not recorded as voting—Arrowsmith (R.), Hildreth (R.), Hunt (R.), Joers (R.), Smethurst (R.), Tillman (R.). Total, 6.

On the following day, April 12, the Senate accepted the five House amendments by a vote of 13 to 0 for the first, 14 to 0 for the second, 11 to 6 for the third and 13 to 1 for the fourth and fifth. Party lines were split on such of the amendments as were not unanimously carried.

The bill was signed by the Governor on the day following.

Mrs. William J. Mattox.

After an illness of but three days' duration, Mrs. William J. Mattox died Friday of apoplexy. Mrs. Mattox, formerly Harriet E. Snow, was the daughter of Alexander and Harriet Snow, of Newark. She was forty-four years of age. She is survived by a husband and six children.

RULES FOR LEARNING TO BE FAST SWIMMER

L. E. B. HADLEY ADVISES USE OF "TRUDGE" AND "CRAWL" STROKES.

The great interest in swimming races this year has imbued many with the ambition to go in races. Many are without a teacher, and dozens have inquired for the best method of fast swimming.

Most prominent coaches and instructors of the day have come to the conclusion that the fastest racing stroke is the best for any distance. They claim that if a certain set of movements carries you through the water at the highest rate of speed in sprinting they must of necessity do the same over the distances. The problem is to time these movements so that you can hold them without becoming tired. Thus if you use thirty trudgeon strokes to the minute in swimming the hundred yards, you should use about twenty-six to the minute in swimming the mile.

In America we recognize only two standard strokes—the trudgeon and the crawl. The crawl is still too young among us to be advised as a distance stroke, though the time will come when it will be used for all distances.

The trudgeon is the most desirable at present for endurance swimming. It is more rational than the breast stroke in the position of the body. It gives far greater speed and it is no harder to learn properly than any of the slower strokes.

To learn the trudgeon lie on the side that comes most natural to you, with arms stretched up over your head, parallel and perpendicular to the shoulders. Hands with palms turned away from you. Legs straight, close together and toes pointed downward. Bring upper arm down almost straight at the elbow and a little below the surface of the water; when it reaches the hip bend at the elbow, lift over the water and carry forward to original position. Bring under arm down almost parallel to the upper, then when it reaches the hip roll the body on its face so as to be able to get it out of water and carry it forward as the other, bent at the elbow, until on the full reach again. The legs are opened as in walking, not sideways; the upper leg is kept almost straight and the under is bent as in kneeling. When the feet are about 18 inches apart they should be snapped together sharply. Open very slowly and bring together with force. The time the upper arm starts first, the under follows it shortly and the leg are opened as the under arm goes forward. Breath is taken as the upper arm is being brought down.

For the crawl lie flat on your face with arms bent slightly at the elbow and a short reach; hands should be at the height of the head. Take a short stroke, not finishing at the hip, and keep elbows well up in the air all the time. Legs are started as in the trudgeon, and don't kick but just from the water up and down alternately. They should move from the knee down only, and brush against each other, never more than six or eight inches apart. Legs and arms are moved independently of each other, and breath is taken every two or three strokes by a quick turn of the head. The body should travel on its face and the movements should be very rapid when sprinting.

To a novice the crawl is advisable if he intends to confine himself to sprinting—otherwise the trudgeon is the best.

MARTINE AWAITS BRYAN.

Farmer Orator Counts the Days Until He Grasps Leader's Hand.

James E. Martine, "the farmer-orator, of Cedar Brook," is counting the days until September 1, when William Jennings Bryan, "the peerless leader," will visit Newark. He has postponed his summer outing in order to be on hand when the Democrats' National leader puts his foot on Jersey soil.

Mr. Bryan and Mr. Martine are close personal and political friends. The Nebraskan was a guest at Cedar brook farm in 1896 and the latter has visited Mr. Bryan at his Lincoln home on one or two occasions.

THE PERFECT HOSTESS.

You know her as soon as you step over the sill.

She has diffused an atmosphere of welcome over the entire house.

You feel at home in every room, even those left alone.

And you are left alone sometimes.

For the perfect hostess doesn't dog your footsteps every minute.

She knows that you will want to write letters, and nap, and read.

She gives you the house to entertain yourself in, and you can have her, too, whenever you want her.

She does not wear you out with too many entertainments or too many persons.

She doesn't make you feel that you've got to "pay for your keep" by doing chores.

Neither does she refuse to let you help her, if she sees it would make you happiest.

She gives you the impression it's a joy just to have you in the house.

And you always want to see her again.

WANT AMATEUR LEAGUE

Favors Begin to Talk of a Four Town Pennant Race.

GAMES NOT SO FREQUENT

A Plainfield-Scotch Plains - Dunellen - Westfield Organization Is the Plan —Firstbrook Favors Franchise In Lackawanna League.

With the virtual abandonment of semi-professional ball in this city, renewed talk of an amateur league has arisen. There is no hope, of course, of starting up this season, but the organization of a league next year is being urged in several quarters of the baseball world.

The plan that seems to meet with the most favor among those who have talked over the subject is for the promotion of an intermunicipal league composed of, say, teams representing Plainfield, Scotch Plains, Dunellen and Westfield. Four teams is believed to be enough to furnish strong rivalry, and the games will be few enough each week to attract interest, but not enough to keep the club-owners on edge for the sport. The four towns are within easy travelling distance of each other, and on the through line of the trolley. Every game would draw the full strength of the travelling fans and make it the contests, wherever played, well attended.

Scotch plains and Dunellen have now as swift amateur teams as a lover of the sport could wish to see in action, and they can hold the combination together for the proposed league. Plainfield for the first time in years form a most formidable nine from among the players now in the game here and Westfield would have no trouble in matching the strength of the other teams.

For the local management, it is proposed to maintain the present association, re-shaped so far as Mr. Daabs' holdings are concerned, to centralize support and tend stability to the combination. Judge Runyon, Mayor Smalley and other men of influence would be needed to stand by, in command, and make the team thoroughly representative of the city and its spirit of conquer-or-die.

G. E. Firstbrook, the baseball writer, father of the old city league, maintains that the fans here would warm up to the game with their old-time fervor if the city was represented in the Lackawanna league. A sweeping victory in a league like that would be worthy of more than passing comment, he points out, and games would be played here only bi-weekly, egectually checking any tendency to the satiity with which the people now seem to be afflicted. With the Plainfield team in a league of that sort, the team would be certain of victory would not kill the interest as it has done under independent management. No matter how easily the Plainfield nine won, the fans would have the acild satisfaction of knowing that it helped to swell their percentage, and they would leave the park with the comfortable feeling of having something stored up against a day of reverses.

FOR THOSE IN QUEST OF HEALTHY BEAUTY.

For tender eyes make an infusion of one handful of cornflowers in a pint of hot water. Let it stand one hour. Strain and use either tepid or cold.

Don't cut the cuticle or any part of the flesh around the nails. Don't polish the nails too highly; they should have only a natural gloss. Don't cut the nails in points, but carefully arch.

Boiling vinegar, as hot as can be borne, to the gum and cavity of an aching tooth will allay the pain. Use a bit of absorbent cotton to pack the tooth cavity and apply until relief is obtained.

For itching of the skin many skin doctors recommend lotions of bromide of potassium. The strength may be one part of the salt in sixty parts of water. It is not a poisonous preparation, and may be tried without fear.

Don't wash the hands oftener than necessary; dry them thoroughly after every washing. Don't wear gloves that are a size too small or that fasten too tightly. This prevents free circulation and makes the hands red.

Oatmeal Lotion for Whitening the Skin—Take two tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, adding a quart of water, and boil for ten minutes. Cool and strain and to the liquid add the juice of one lemon and dessertspoonful of alcohol. Wash the face in this, or, rather, apply it with a cloth, not wiping it all away.

Thick lips can be overcome to a certain extent by acquiring the habit of holding the lips close to the teeth and keeping the muscles about the mouth firm and tight. The woman who stands about with her mouth open permits the muscles to become large and relaxed, and the result is anything but conducive to fair looks.

Formula for Nail Powder—One-half ounce of powdered talcum, one-half ounce of boric acid, one-half ounce of powdered starch, fifteen drops of tincture of carmine. Apply oil of sweet almonds, cold cream or white vaseline to brittle finger nails. Any one of these three remedies will make the finger nails soft and delicate. Lime acid in the system often produces ridges in the finger nails.

BURIED IN THE NORTH

Bernard E. Kissam's Body to be Interred Near His Camp.

MEMORIAL STONE HERE

Monument Will Be Erected In the Family Plot—One Above the Body In Alaska Also.

Receiving word by letter from A. G. McClelland, camp companion of Bernard E. Kissam, whose body was discovered and identified by the Canadian mounted police in scouring the range in the Yukon district where he lost his life eight months ago, the members of his family were notified that the body had been found upon their return to this city from Asbury Park Sunday evening. His sisters, Mrs. Milton C. Harlelow and Miss Josephine Kissam, of 85 Duer street, have decided that the body shall be interred in the west, and directions for the burial have been forwarded. The body was discovered by the mounted police who have been looking for it since the fatality on De*cember 8 of last year, at the foot of* a canyon near Kluahue, Yukon territory, where the unfortunate man had been carried by a snow slide while out hunting. It is to be removed to Klauhue and will be interred near the site of Kissam's camp. The family will have a stone monument erected there in memory of Mr. Kissam, and his effects are to be sent east by McClelland, his camp companion. There will also be a monument erected to his memory in the family plot at Fairview cemetery in Westfield.

Identified by the perfect imprint of his features in the hard snow where the remains had been lying at the bottom of a gluch under tons of ice and snow all winter, the body was discovered this summer by the Canadian mounted police. Kissam met his death in a Yukon blizzard on December 8 last, while out alone hunting mountain goats. He was a prospector, and had a gold claim staked in the Yukon territory near Kluahue. He left his home at Oyster Bay, Long Island, where he was a carpenter and contractor, early last summer. He was most enthusiastic over his claim, which had not amounted to much as "pay dirt" and, meeting A. G. McClelland, a prospector, in the west, took him as a camp mate. The two went to the claim, where they spent the summer prospecting. When overtaking them, they decided to camp at Kluahue until it was possible to re-open the claim again in the summer. During the winter they spent much of the time hunting—mountain goats being the quarry.

Early in December the saw a large flock of goats near the camp and on the following day, December 8, Kissam announced his intention of going after them. McClellan was unable to go with him and tried to dissuade him from making the trip, pointing out the dangers of the mountain passes at that time of year. But Kissam started off alone. He was overtaken by a Yukon blizzard and, it is supposed, lost his way. McClelland went out to look for him that night, but was unable to discover any traces and returned to camp, setting out again with a search party the following morning. He tracked Kissam by his foot prints in the soft snow to the edge of a cliff, where there had been a great snow slide. The Canadian police were commissioned to search the range for the body, which has just been found, where the melting snow left it revealed at the foot of the cliff.

Kissam used to be a resident of the borough, living with his sisters at 87 Duer street. He moved to Oyster Bay about thirteen years ago and was in business there until last year when he started west. His brother, William Kissam, is a carpenter at Great Neck, Long Island, and his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Kissam, were residents of East Orange at the time of their death, about a year ago.

MAIN LINE TROLLEY STRIKES LITTLE GIRL.

Bewildered As She Attempts to Cross the Street.

Becoming confused while trying to cross the street opposite her home shortly after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, a young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert H. Redmond, of 630 West Front street, was struck by the fender of a Westbound main line trolley in charge of Motorman Seeder Staats and Conductor Redmacker, of Elizabeth. In addition to receiving a bad cut in the forehead the girl sustained a severe shock. She was carried into her home and the ambulance was summoned, it being the intention to take the girl to the hospital. When the ambulance arrived Mrs. Edmonds refused to allow her daughter to go to the hospital and Dr. Zeglio was called in. It is not believed that the girl's injuries are serious.

Those who saw the accident say that the motorman did all that was possible to avert striking the girl. He believed that she would get across the street before he reached that point, but she hesitated and it is said that she was standing still when the fender struck her. As an Elizabeth crew was in charge, the accident is being investigated by the superintendent from the Elizabeth district.

BERT BEERS WINS CITY TENNIS TITLE

VICTORIOUS IN FIVE SET MATCH WITH HARRY J. COCHRAN AND GETS TROPHY

After a hotly contested match of forty-seven games with Harry J. Cochran in the final round of the tennis play for the championship of Plainfield, Albert D. Beers, of Watchung avenue, finally won the fifth set after an uphill fight and captured the title. The match was played Saturday afternoon on the courts of the Plainfield Country Club and was watched by a big gallery of spectators. It was anybody's match up to the last game and the final scores were 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 3-6 and 6-4 for Beers.

Evenly matched and playing about the same style of game, the two contestants for the title, survivors of the seventeen local tennis players entered at the beginning of play two weeks ago, fought hard for each game in the tiring match. Of the forty-seven games played, Beers won twenty-five and Cochran twenty-two. Part way through the third set, the match was interrupted by a shower, but the courts soon dried off sufficiently to allow the players to go on. Victory in the first sets alternated by practically the same scores, the players having long rallies in most of the games. The seventh game in the fourth set ran to eighteen points. In the last set things looked bad for Beers, the younger player. Both men were pretty well tired out, but Cochran's serving, drives and strokes gave him a lead of four games to one in this set. Then Beers began to come up, pacing his strokes hardier, placing more accurately and improving at the net and took five games straight and the match. Wylie Brown acted as referee during the match, while lasted over two hours.

Both men are members of the Plainfield Country Club and fast players in singles and doubles. Last week Cochran, paired with Wylie Brown, won the club title in doubles by defeating Beers and W. L. Glenney. Beers has been a member of the club for several years and was runner-up in the last Plainfield championship tournament in singles in the summer of 1903. At this time the title was captured by Duncan Bulkley, who beat Beers to set fight.

As title winner, Beers received a seven inch loving cup, appropriately engraved. The cup has three handles, and is tankard shape. It was presented by Thomas M. Day, chairman of the club tennis committee. Seventeen local players, representing the Country Club, Park Club, Cedar Brook Tennis Club and other organizations, were entered in the tournament play which began two weeks ago. The Country Club players forced the title out of the running by the end of the second round, so it has concluded as practically a club tournament.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED.

Mumford's Carpet Cleaning Works to Be Moved to Rose Street.

Benjamin A. Mumford has secured a permit to tear down and remove the building where he conducts his *carpet cleaning and mattress renovat*ing business on East Third street. The building is to be re-erected at 1061 Rose street.

James C. Manning, of Madison avenue, has filed plans for the erection of a two and a half story frame dwelling on Evergreen avenue, near Kensington avenue. The building is to measure 42 by 30 feet. William Clum is the architect, the mason work will be done by William Pangborn and Manning himself will be the carpenter.

Permit has been granted to William Nichols, of Arlington avenue, to erect a dwelling house on Union street, near Arlington avenue. The building is to be two and a half stories in height and will measure 22 by 32 feet. M. D. O'Keeffe is architect and carpenter and Frank T. McInery contractor for the mason work.

Patrick McDonough is to build on West Sixth street, near Monroe avenue, and the plans have been filed and permit granted. The building will measure 22 by 33 and will consist of two stories and attic. Frank T. McInery is in charge of the mason work and M. D. O'Keeffe, the architect, is to be the carpenter.

New Democratic Election Board.

Fred Zior, of Elizabeth, secretary of the Union County Democratic Committee, has announced the new Democratic election board for Plainfield, as follows: First Ward, first district, Jules P. Owens; second district, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.; Second Ward, first district, Charles A. Sturtevant; second district, J. V. F. Dilts; Third Ward, first district, Albert H. Atterbury; second district, Michael D. O'Keefe; Fourth Ward, first district, Stephen H. Schlei; second district, Patrick J. Reville; third district, John P. McInerney.

Farewell Service Sunday Night.

Adjutant Annie E. Hopkins and Captain Eva H. MacDonald will hold their farewell service at the Salvation Army Hall Sunday night. They have been given a vacation and at the end of that period of rest they will be assigned to another post. Their successors in Plainfield will be announced later.

SLIGHT COUNTY BOARD

Summit's Assessors Quit Conference With Union's Board for Equalization of Taxes.

ELIZABETH'S TACTICS

County Seat Assessors Holding Back Their Report—Want to Assess Court House.

Being disgusted with the further delay of the Elizabeth Board of Assessors in not presenting their list of assessments at a meeting of the county boards of assessors, Monday, the assessors from Summit "beat it" and were followed by several other assessors as they marched out of the court house. It was the opinion of the other assessors that Elizabeth is trying to make a farce of the proceedings. There was much surprise that the Union County Board of Taxation, before whom the assessors appeared, allowed the bolting members to leave without a protest.

The Elizabeth assessors are apparently not nearly through with their work, and they intimated this morning that they would need considerable more time to finish. One member said, "why we haven't placed a value on the court house yet." The greatest difficulty seems to be in assessing the various industrial plants in Elizabeth.

H. C. Runyon, of the local board of assessors, who is also chairman of the county board, was the only member present from Plainfield. The board's complete assessment has been turned in, but not sworn to, and the assessors declare that they will not swear to them until Elizabeth does and no one seems to know when that will be.

This delay is worrying the county board of taxation, because it will curtail the time allotted them to go over all the books of the assessors and verify them according to law in time for the collector's to start their work.

Assessor Runyon appeared disgusted with conditions when he returned from Elizabeth, and did not hesitate to declare the whole business was a farce. He is of the opinion that Elizabeth is delaying mat*ters to ascertain what Plainfield will* do. He says that the assessors from other parts of the county have the same opinion.

After the departure of the assessors from Summit the meeting was abruptly terminated. In consequence no time was set for another meeting. Assessor Runyon says that so far as he can see there is no necessity for another session until Elizabeth is ready to make a complete report.

PIANO MANUFACTURERS CLAIM THEY PAY A TAX.

Board of Assessors Fail to Effect a Settlement With Local Concern.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors has not yet come to a settlement with the East Front street piano concern which came to town to conduct a "manufacturers' sale of pianos." It has been a question as to whether the board would have the right to assess the stock of pianos in accordance with the law which says that they are compelled to wait until the new rate is fixed and then collect accordingly.

The matter has been reported to the manager of the piano business here and he has put it up to the company he represents, the headquarters being in Trenton. He claims that the company as a corporation pays a corporation tax and is privileged to sell pianos anywhere in New Jersey. He cannot see what right the Plain*field assessors have to assess them* for stock here, and furthermore, he says that when the pianos are sold to individuals the new owners will also be assessed on the same pianos.

The assessors claim that the pianos are made in Pennsylvania, shipped to Trenton and then sold in various parts of the State, and that they should be compelled to pay a local tax, wherever they are doing busi*ness. They further say that such a* concern should be willing to pay this tax for the police and fire protection which is accorded to them the same as everyone else living in the city. The piano company is not adverse to paying what is right, and the question is now being considered by its law department which will communicate with the local officials regarding the tax assessment.

BOY GETS DAMAGES.

John Raymond Works Case Up Successfully Against Colored Driver.

Oscar Green, colored, who drove his wagon into John Raymond's bicycle on Liberty street two weeks ago, has been compelled to pay for the damage he did. From the evidence brought by Raymond, who, although only fifteen years old, worked up his own case, Green was shown to be in the wrong, and Judge Runyon ordered him to pay for the damage sustained by the bicycle.

Young Raymond had a lot of trouble working up his case. After the collision he was forced to trail Green to be sure of his identity and address, and after he had sworn to a complaint he spent a week getting his witnesses.

NOT AS SMITH'S GUEST

Moody Says He Has Proof Bryan Will Not Fill That Roll.

EX-SENATOR RETICENT

Waves Aside Question About Letter With Remark, "Too Small a Matter to Talk About."

John Moody, of Cranford, president of "The True Democracy of New Jersey," declared yesterday afternoon that he had absolute proof that William J. Bryan would not go to Newark September 1 under the auspices of former United States Senator James Smith, Jr. Mr. Moody said he was not at liberty to say what this "proof" consisted of.

Mr. Moody did not imply that Mr. Bryan would not go to that city, but he was positive in his assertion that the Nebraskan would not go there under Mr. Smith's auspices. The Cranford man did not say who would have Mr. Bryan in charge while in Newark.

Mr. Smith, at his office in the Fed*eral Trust Company, Newark, yes*terday morning, was asked if it was true, as intimated last week, that he had received no letter from Mr. Bryan concerning the latter's proposed visit to Newark. Mr. Smith replied in his characteristic way:

"Oh, that's too small a mater to talk about!"

As the reporter was leaving the office the former Senator, as though a second thought had occurred to him, called him back and added: "The committee which has charge *of Mr. Bryan's reception has ar*ranged all those matters, you know."

Bryan is coming to Newark September 1 as announced; at least I have heard nothing to make me think otherwise," said David T. Howell, chairman of the Democratic county committee, today. To Mr. Howell was delegated the duty of arranging for the Nebraskan's visit to Newark. He has called a meeting of the county committee for tomorrow night to settle the preliminaries, and he has issued invitations to the Joel Parkers, the Jeffersonian Club, the Gottfried Krueger Association, the Democratic League, the East Orange Democratic Club and the East Side Democratic Club to take part in welcoming Mr. Bryan to Newark. Mr. Howell says he has had an offer from the president of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club to supply as many automobiles as will be necessary to convey Mr. Bryan and the reception committee around the city.

Former Assemblyman John Dennis, chairman of the committee that is to welcome Mr. Bryan to Jersey City, this morning gave out the names of the committee of one hundred who are to plan for Mr. Bryan's welcome and take care of him after he arrives in town. In giving out this list Mr. Dennis took occasion to remark that in all probability Mr. Bryan would not get any nearer to Newark than Jersey City, September 2.

With regard to Mr. Bryan's visit to Newark there is some unrest among the Hudson Democracy. Many are inclined to think that that letter Mr. Smith claimed to have received from Mr. Bryan was in reality a myth. tI is whispered in Democratic circles that when the newspapers published Mr. Bryan's statement that Mr. Bryan would be in Newark Sep*tember 1 a prominent Democrat in* Hudson County paid Lewis Nixon, chairman of the committee of arrangements of the Commercial Travelers' League, that is to welcome Mr. Bryan to New York, a visit, and asked how Mr. Bryan could be in Newark and Jersey City on the one day. To this query, according to report, the interviewer received an answer to the effect that Mr. Bryan had not written Mr. Smith and that no plan had been made to have him visit Newark September 1.

In appointing the committee of one hundred, Mr. Dennis has selected men who have made a success in commercial, professional and industrial life. His effort was to make the reception not so much political as one representative of Hudson County. Even Republicans are named on the committeeh and Robert Davis himself is not one of the number.

A few of the men appointed are: Former Mayor Edward Hoos, of Jersey City; Charles Cy Black, former Governor George T. Werts, Joseph D. Bedle, Senator James F. Minturn, Mayor George C. Stiles, of Hoboken; Congressman Allan L. McDermott, former Senator Robert B. Hudspeth, former Assemblyman Carl G. A. Schuman, William G. Hoppenheimer, banker and financier; Vice Chancellor Linley M. Garrison and E. F. C. Young.

Fine Bathing All the Week.

The bathing at Boynton Beach this season has been more popular than ever. Yesterday the water was swarming with young and old people. Boynton Beach is perfectly safe because of its gradual slope and for this season many older people are able to enjoy the bathing. This week the tide is running fine all the afternoon and a great number will probably take advantage of the new bathing pier and other attractive features at this popular resort.

DONELLEN LOST CLOSE GAME TO THE GIANTS

PEACOCK PITCHED A STRONG GAME AND SHOULD HAVE WON.

Timid base running and errors at critical moments cost the Donellen nine the game in the contest against the Plainfield Giants on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon. The score was 3 to 2.

Jack Peacock, the North Plainfield High School pitcher, was on the slab for Donellen. He twirled a good game, holding the colored team down to three hits, and deserved to win. He fielded his position beautifully.

The Giants were shy a third-baseman when the game was called, and Taylor Mehaffey, the crack infielder who has been signed for the new Plainfield team, went in for them. *Mehaffey lives more or less on Cres*cent Oval, and would get up in the middle of the night to play.

The score:

Donellen.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
W. Garner, 2b	1	1	0	1	0
Fletcher, 1b	0	1	7	0	0
Nelson, c	0	2	8	1	2
H. Giles, rf	0	0	0	0	0
Gilmore, ss	0	1	0	1	1
Brakley, 3b	0	0	2	0	0
Garretson, cf	0	0	1	0	0
Lake, lf	0	0	0	0	0
Peacock, p	1	1	0	6	0
	2	6	18	9	2

P. Giants.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Joe Garner, ss	0	0	0	0	0
Carter, cf	1	4	0	0	0
M. Kline, 2b	0	0	2	0	0
Hatchett, lf	1	1	0	0	0
Jno. Garner, p	1	0	0	8	1
Haman, c	0	0	6	2	0
Pollard, 1b	0	0	5	2	1
U. Kline, rf	1	1	0	0	0
Mehaffey, 3b	0	0	2	2	0
	3	3	21	16	2

Donellen	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	—	2
P. Giants	0	0	0	0	2	1	0	1	—3

Earned runs, Donellen 2, Plainfield Giants 1; first base on balls, off Peacock, 2; off Garner, 1; struck out by Peacock, 6; by Garner, 5; hit by pitcher, H. Giles and Haman.

Umpire, Fred J. Huff.

RENOVATING Y. M. C. A.

Swimming Pool Is To Be Re-Enameled and Lockers Renovated.

From Thursday until September 1, the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be closed to allow workmen to overhaul and renovate it thoroughly. The gymnasium proper, the locker rooms and the natatorium are to be put in first class shape.

The lockers are to be thoroughly overhauled, and members have been asked to take out all their things until after the work has been done. The above baths are to be put in better working order and the swimming pool will be repainted and re-enameled.

Several new pieces of apparatus will be installed on the floor. What they all will be has not been decided, but two have definitely been settled upon. A new horizontal bar and a new punching bag will be the first things purchased.

MRS. WILLIAM H. DE MARIS.

Brief Illness Terminates Fatally at* Muhlenberg Hospital.

Following a brief but very painful illness, Mrs. Sadie De Maris, wife of William H. De Maris, of Church street, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Monday, of internal complications. She was removed to the institution yesterday morning at the advice of Drs. Jenkins and Endicott, after a consultation, but the nature of her trouble was such that she sank rapidly. Beside her husband she is survived by three brothers, Elwood Graham, of South Jersey; William Graham, of St. Louis, and Harry Gra*ham, of Bridgeton, and one sister,* Mrs. Crafts, of West Philadelphia.

Mrs. De Maris came to this city with her husband from Bridgeton several years ago and in that time had become widely acquainted. She was of a noble Christian character and devoted much of her time to independent benevolent work. Nothing pleased her more than to be able to administer consolation to friends in sickness and distress and her loss is keenly felt.

LAURELS WIN.

Olympic F. C., of Elizabeth, Unable to Hit Harney Effectively.

Unable to hit Harney with any effectiveness, the Olympic F. C., of Elizabeth, lost to the Laurel nine, of Bound Brook, at Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, by 7 to 2. They were outbatted and outplayed. Score by innings:

Laurels	R.	H.	E.
...0 0 0 3 1 0 2 1 x	7	12	3
O. F. C. ...0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	2	5	5

Gymnasium Shut Down.

From August 17 until September 1 the Physical Department of the Y. M. C. A. will suspend for repairs. The whole department will be gone over, including the pool, which is to be repainted.

TAUGHT.

He taught her how to skate,
He taught her how to swim;
They are married now and she is teaching lots of things to him!
—Puck.

HOBOKEN WHITEWASHES PHILA. QUAKER GIANTS

DAAB'S TEAM DEFEATS COLORED AGGREGATION BY SCORE 6 TO 0.

"Willie" Deegan allowing the Philadelphia Quaker Giants but five hits, the Hobokens gave the dusky aggre*gation a coat of whitewash yesterday* at St. George's Cricket Grounds, the score being 6 to 0. The Daabsters got a total of seven hits, including two two-base hits, one by Leonard and the other by Henriques. The score:

HOBOKEN.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Bertwhistle, lf	1	2	1	0	0
Smith, 2b	1	1	2	5	1
Henriques, 1b	1	2	12	1	0
Reardon, cf	2	1	5	0	0
Leonard, 3b	0	1	0	3	0
Heffron, rf	0	2	1	0	0
Snow, ss	1	0	1	1	0
O'Neil, c	0	0	2	1	0
Deegan, p	0	0	1	1	1
Totals	6	7	27	12	2

PHILA. QUAKER GIANTS.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Monroe, ss	0	0	3	4	*1
Valdes, 2b	0	0	2	4	0
Patterson, lf	0	2	0	0	0
Payne, cf	0	1	1	0	0
Buckner, p	0	1	1	3	0
Earl, rf	0	1	0	0	0
Robinson, 1b	0	0	9	1	1
Brown, 3b	0	0	0	1	1
Malina, c	0	0	7	1	0
Totals	0	5	24	14	3

Hoboken	2	1	2	0	0	1	x	—	6
Phil. Qu'ker G'ts.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—	0

First base on errors—Hoboken, 3; Philadelphia Quaker Giants, 2. Left on bases—Hoboken, 5; Philadelphia Quaker Giants, 8. First base on balls —Off Deegan, 1; off Buckner, 3. Struck out—By Deegan, 2; by Buckner, 4. Two-base hits—Leonard, Bertwhistle. Sacrifice hits—Henriques, Leonard, O'Neil. Stolen bases —Bertwhistle, 3; Reardon, Snow. Umpire—Mr. Merity. Time of game —1 hour and 50 minutes.

ABBOTT TAKES HONORS AT COUNTRY CLUB LINKS

INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPION MAKES LOWEST SCORE FOR CUP.

Robert Abbott, the intercollegiate champion, who has recently been taking part in several tournaments in the Metropolitan district, won first honors for the Golf Committee Cup at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday. With a net score of 78, he won the first three points for the trophy. Frank C. Talmadge, who has also returned to the game, finished second with a net score of 79, thus winning two points, while the one point was divided between Julius E. Erickson and W. P. Boggs, each returning a score of 80.

There was a good sized field on the course and while throughout the city the people suffered greatly from the heat, there was a cool breeze blowing over the course, making play a pleasure.

The leading scores returned for the Golf Committee cup follow:

Robert H. Abbott, 76, plus 2—78; Frank C. Talmadge, 80, 1—79; Julius E. Erickson, 85, 5—80; W. P. Boggs, 99, 19—80; George F. Schoonmaker, 88, 7—81; C. B. Morgan, 86, 3—83; Charles A. Stover, 94, 10—84; W. D. Riggs, 100, 11—89.

In the competition for the semi-scratch cup, Julius E. Erickson won a leg with a score of 93. There was also the competition for the August cup, presented by Councilman H. D. Hibbard, but the result of this play will not be known until the last of the month.

Busy As Horse Show Judges.

Lewis E. Waring, who has been dividing his time this summer between New York and Easthampton, L. I., and other points of interest, will leave Monday for Virginia, where he is to be a judge of hunters and saddle horses at one of the big southern horse shows. The week beginning Labor Day he will go to Newport to be in a similar capacity at a horse show to be held there. Mr. Waring and Robert A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, have been greatly in demand this year as judges at horse shows.

Improving Water Supply Equipment.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company is now changing the service pipes running from the houses to the main in West End avenue, to a larger size, the pipes in use now being inadequate for the increased service there. Eventually the company will connect the water pipes on West End avenue, the borough, with those on the other side of the city, so that water may be furnished through the new section in the borough which is being developed.

Contentment.

Do not seek to have all things happen as you would choose them, but rather choose them to happen as they do, and so shall the current of your life flow free.—Epictetus.

UNION MADE TO ORDER

Telephone Manager Satisfies Scruples of Ironworkers by Shrewd Device.

GAVE CARDS TO HELPERS

Union Men Accept Them at Face Value and Call Off Threatened Tie-Up On New Building.

Resourcefulness on the part of Manager Charles W. Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company saved the corporation from the labor tangle on its new building on East Fourth street, and a consequent delay in construction. In settling the difficulty, Mr. Runyon saved four men their jobs, and satisfied the scruples of two conscientious union men.

The union men were expert iron workers brought here from New York. They were hired to set the heavy steel beams that enter into the construction of the building, and at just the period they were brought here work in other directions on the structure was at a standstill awaiting the placing of the girders. To have everything in readiness for the iron workers, four helpers were detailed for them, and the contractor and the telephone people thought the way of the workmen had been made easy for speedy consummation of the job.

The ironworkers upset the plans for rapid construction by springing the union regulations on the contractor. They demanded to see the union cards of the helpers, and they announced that they couldn't work with them if the helpers had no union cards to show—which they hadn't.

"Is it their union cards you want?" asked Manager Runyon. "That's easy. We'll get them cards from the union all right."

Then Mr. Runyon called Issac Randolph, John DeMeza and some other men together and organized a union of his own. He had Issac Randolph elected president, and Mr. DeMesa secretary, and they immediately executed four artistic and businesslike cards of membership for the four helpers. The headquarters of the union was very plainly stated to be Paterson on the cards.

When the ironworkers saw the cards they were a bit doubtful, but they could put their finger on nothing irregular enough to warrant a kick from them. There were four union cards, vouched for as many men, and as far as a simple-minded, honest ironworker might say offhand, things were as they should be from the union standpoint. Anyway, it was too subtle a matter for plain wage-earners to struggle with, so the ironworkers spat on their hands, grasped their hammers and ordered the work ahead. They carried it through without any more talk of union cards, and Mr. Runyon smiles now whenever he hears "Union" mentioned.

FOUR RUN DOWN BY PENNSY FLYER

ELIZABETH BOYS CAUGHT ON TRESTLE* UNABLE TO ESCAPE.

Four boys were killed on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Elizabeth Monday. They were run over by an eastbound express. Two of the bodies fell on the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and one landed in Broad street. The fourth rolled *down the embankment of the Penn*sylvania tracks. The train was traveling so fast that although the power was shut off before the boys were struck the train ran almost to North Elizabeth before it could be stopped.

The dead boys are Floyd Griffin, 10 years old, and his brother, Walter, 8 years old, sons of John Griffin, of Catherine street, Elizabeth; Willie Griffin, 9 years old, son of Michael Griffin, of Wilkesbarre, Penn., and Raymond Daubner, 9 years old, son of John Daubner, of 148 Catherine street, Elizabeth. The Griffin boys were cousins.

The boys had been out on the meadows in the direction of Elizabethport to see a ball game. They were on the way home when they were killed. At the point where the accident occurred there are three levels. Broad street is depressed there, and the Central Railroad passes over it, while above the Central stands the tracks of the Pennsylvania line. The railroads form an "X," with the arched street passing between them at the crossing. The boys apparently did not see or hear the express as it bore down on them. There is a slight curve, and the train was coming very fast.

The body of Willie Griffin, which was thrown into Broad street, fell among persons passing through the arch and the cut. Several women fainted when the body dropped in to the roadway. Another of the dead boys left the Central's embankment and then rolled down almost to the street level in view of many persons.

The bodies were taken to the morgue, where they were identified by relatives.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, AUGUST, 23, 1906. NO. 38.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

NO TRACKMEN AT WORK

Construction Superintendent Stops Those Not Affected By the Strike.

STRIKERS ON THE MARCH

Gang Armed with Picks and Shovels Started Down the Line from Bayonne This Morning.

All the trackmen of the New Jersey Central between Somerville and Jersey City are idle, those who have not joined the strike started at Netherwood Monday having been ordered home by the company. The strikers still demand an increase, and efforts are being made by their leaders to draw all the laborers into their ranks.

Word was received here this morning that a gang of 200 men or more had started from Bayonne to march along the line, to see that no laborers were put to work. They are said to be armed with pickaxes and shovels, and ready for trouble. Nothing had been seen of them this far down the road up to 2 o'clock. It is not expected that the gang, which necessarily marches slow, would get here much before late in the afternoon.

The strikers belong to what is known as the "floating gang." There are really two gangs—"Kelly's Gang" and "Derrick's Gang," so called after the men who are in charge of them. The strike started with the section of Kelly's gang that was at work at Netherwood, Monday afternoon. By agreement with the men at the Jersey City end of the road, they quit work and started along the line to force out all the workers on the road. As soon as Superintendent Griffin, who is in command of the road work, heard of the general strike, he ordered all the trackmen not already affected to cease work. Not a trackman was at work yesterday along this section, and there was no indication of a resumption of work this morning.

The men struck, as far as can be learned, for a fifteen-cent increase in wages. They are not well organized, and do not appear to know just what they do want in the way of an advance. It is said the strike was brought on by the refusal of the road to give a class of laborers who were receiving $1.60 a day a ten-cent raise. Two other classes, getting $1.50 and $1.10 cents were raised ten cents, and the $1.50 men were angered at the supposed discrimination. The men are said to have been urged on by padrones, who get a percentage of their earnings, and consequently have a lot of interest in the amount they get.

Acting-Chief Frederickson, of the police department, had received no call for help from the railroad or any intimation of trouble expected, up to this afternoon.

"I know nothing of the strike except what I read in the papers," he said. "I will, of course, watch the road, and if any trouble-makers put in an appearance we will handle them. The first attempt at disorder will be promptly dealt with."

THE FAITHFUL DEPART.

Good-sized Delegation Left for the Democratic Outing.

Among the members of "True Democracy" from Plainfield who left Plainfield this morning to enjoy the annual outing at Donnelly's Grove, College Point, L. I., given by the Union County Democrats, were Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., James E. Martine, Frank Shattle, Patrick Reville, Chris. Bock, Joseph Harrigan, J. V. F. Dilts, John P. Owens, Meyer Leichtentritt, Stephen H. Schleif, Hezekiah Hand and James Guttridge. Others, whose names could not be ascertained, went to Elizabeth by trolley, starting at an early hour. A majority, however, left here on the 8:46 train.

The excursionists left the Crescent Shipyards, Elizabethport, at 10 o'clock on the steamer Cepheus. It is a two hours' sail to College Point, where after spending the afternoon in a game of baseball and other athletic events, the start for home will be made at 6 o'clock. The word has been passed around that every member of the party must strive for harmony, if he is to be successful in the coming campaign, and all hatchets were buried before the boat left Elizabethport. As one Democrat expressed the situation this morning, "the office must seek the man and not the man the office."

Fishermen's Luck.

James R. Blair, P. C. Langhorne, Elvin VanNamee, George Fering and Charles Kreyon made up a party of fishermen who visited Gifford's at Staten Island, on Monday. The weakfish were biting fine and within a short time the party pulled in seventy-three good sized ones. Monday night the neighbors of Mr. Blair on Duer street, were generously supplied with fresh fish which was greatly enjoyed.

COUNTY TAX BOARD HAS MANY PROBLEMS

JOINT MUNICIPAL SEWER AND OTHER PUBLIC UTILITIES INVOLVED.

As the members of the County Board of Taxation wrestle with the problems presented in the books handed in from the different parts of the county for examinations they find undreamed-of questions cropping up that emphasize in most perplexing fashion the truth of the assertion that their job is by no means an easy one.

Within the past week they struck a snag in the section of the new law providing for taxing by each municipality of any property within its borders belonging to another municipality.

The question came up first while the Essex county board were in session. Someone, after looking carefully over the law, expressed the belief that under its provisions the county board was required to assess the land upon which stood the county buildings. When the local board studied the matter they were puzzled over the suggestion that they would have to assess the ground on which the new county court house stands.

They sought advice from the county attorney, and he expressed the opinion that they had better make the assessment. They also wrote to the Essex County Board for a record of their action and were informed that they had assessed the courthouse land. It is therefore probable that the local assessors will assess the courthouse property on Broad street, Elizabeth, at the property collectively of that city and the other municipalities of the county.

The object of the law as explained by one of the local officials is to cover such questions as that presented by Westfield, which owns some twenty acres of land in Cranford township which is used for disposal purposes. In this way is explained the idea of assessing the county property without assessing the improvements thereon.

The matter of the trunk sewer taking in the flow from Vailsburg, Irvington, Summit and other towns which runs down along Bayway has also been the cause of much vexation of spirit on the part of the tax board. Some hold that it is one of the public utilities and should be exempt, while others say that it should be assessed against the sections outside of Elizabeth.

The Elizabeth also has the right to its use and may tap it to carry off the flow from any of its intersecting streets it is likely that it will be considered exempt.

It is, however, a matter for a closer study by those accustomed to the consideration of such problems, and the board will not act until certain of the proper course to pursue.

PRIVATE APARTMENTS FOR CRESCENT AVENUE

CHARLES H. HAND AND FRANK H. SMITH BACK OF THE PROJECT.

Plans are complete and work will be started soon erecting seven three-story private apartments on Crescent avenue on the vacant property extending from Augustus J. Brunson's home to 159 Crescent avenue, having a frontage of 110 feet and 115 feet deep. Charles H. Hand and Frank H. Smith, registrar of deeds, are undertaking the improvement and it is expected to have the apartments ready for occupancy next spring.

Each apartment will have three rooms and a reception hall on the first floor, three bed-rooms and bath on the second floor and four bed-rooms on the third floor. The buildings will be constructed of a yellow mottle brick and will be equipped with all modern improvements throughout. Contracts for the work will probably be given out within a short time. The great demand for this style of houses has induced Mr. Hand and Mr. Smith to build and the location is considered one of the best in the city.

Week's Meetings at Netherwood.

A delegation of sixteen young people from the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope Chapel were present at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home last evening. A helpful meeting of song and scripture was held in the large dining room, in which all the children at the camp took part. Tomorrow evening, the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel will be in charge of the meeting and on Saturday evening the society from the Baptist church of Westfield will conduct the meeting.

John G. Hall, formerly of this city, but now aproseperous lumber merchant at Williamsport, Pa., is visiting friends in town.

DO GLAZER WORKS SMELL

One Set of Witnesses Says Yes and Another Swears No.

COURT HOLDS DECISION

Judge Clark Will Decide Fate of Fertilizer Works on Saturday —Defense Charges Spite Work.

Theodore Glazer, owner of the Glazer Fertilizer Works at Alton, was arraigned before Justice Clark, of Scotch Plains, this morning, to answer to a complaint made by Frederick Masker, an Alton resident, that his place of business was a common nuisance and deleterious to the health of the community. After hearing testimony all morning, the court reserved decision until Saturday morning.

The testimony offered by the defense was squarely opposite to that of the prosecution. A half a dozen or more witnesses appeared for the prosecution to swear that the odor from the works was intolerable, and as many swore for the defense that the smell, when noticeable at all, was not offensive.

Masker, John Mair, Ernest Tietz, Miles Rouch, and John Potter testified for the complainant. They live near the works. They swore that the odor was sickening; that they frequently had to close their windows to keep it out, and that it had been known to cause the neighbors to vomit. Dr. Tomlinson, of this city, testified that if the stories were true, the odor was harmful to health.

Henry Parks, John Payne, William Hetfield, John Ridell and James Taylor were sworn by the defense. They asserted, as earnestly as the witnesses for the prosecution had, that they had never noticed any smell; or, if an odor seemed perceptible, it caused no inconvenience. They live as near to the works as the other witnesses. Taylor Parks lives 1,000 feet nearer than any one of the others. W. L. Hetfield, 2d, appeared for the defense. S. S. Swackhamer conducted the case for the prosecution. Mr. Hetfield brought forward witnesses to prove that Masker, Mair and Rouch had had personal quarrels with Glazer and were actuated by spite.

LACK OF PROPER FOOD HINDERED HIS PITCHING.

That's Why "Smiling Jimmie" Quit the Empire League.

Lack of substantial food in the Empire league is what caused "Smiling Jimmie" Montross, now twirling for the Washington A. C. of Newark, to come home from the Auburn N. Y. Club, last month, for which he was pitching. Montross went to Auburn shortly after the season opened and was doing satisfactory work in the box until he was taken sick with stomach trouble. He ascribed his ailment to eating at irregular hours and the quality of eatables served up.

Owing to the close proximity of the towns, he said, the clubs in most cases jump home several nights a week with the result that supper would be eaten on the way home on cars. The managers of the team, he said, in some cases carried the eatables along with them in dress suit cases, the diet generally consisting of canned beans and soda crackers, it being necessary to wash this down with water served from the ice cooler in the car.

Jimmie was no doubt right in his contention as when he returned to his home in Plainfield and got three square meals a day he quickly rounded back into form again, and is now pitching fast ball. He declares that it will be his last appearance in the Bush league.

FOURTH WARD COLBYITES.

Newark Speaker to Address Them at Organization Meeting Tomorrow.

Organization will be effected by the Fourth Ward Colbyites tomorrow night, at a meeting to be held in the rooms of the Grocers' Association, North Avenue. Temporary Chairman Elmer D. Cutting has sent out notices of the meeting to all the charter members, and a big attendance is looked for.

Mr. Cutting communicated with the City headquarters at Newark, and a forceful speaker was assigned to attend the meeting. The gathering will be largely in the nature of a Fourth Ward rally, and hot shot will probably fly freely. There is a strong Colby sentiment in the Fourth, and a determined effort to cut the ward from under the feet of the regulars is to be made.

A special sale of 100 baskets of splendid quality Jersey peaches will be commenced by Neuman Brothers tomorrow. The varieties include Reeves' Favorite, Mountain Rose and Old Mixen.

COUNTY W.C.T.U. TO MEET

The Twenty-Second Annual Convention to be Held at Westfield September 19.

THE DAY'S PROGRAMME

Plainfield Union Will Be Largely Represented—Mrs. Tomlinson to Preside.

The twenty-second annual convention of the Union County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, Wednesday, September 19, and as usual the Plainfield Union will be largely represented at the gathering. The convention will be held under the direction of the following county officers:

President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Morris L. Rarick, Dunellen; recording secretary, Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Plainfield; treasurer, Mrs. Mary T. Cox, Cranford; honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. Scriven-Stoddard, Elizabeth; Miss Julia A. Barker, Rahway.

There will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening. The morning session will open with the crusade psalm and hymn and prayer by Miss Julia A. Barker, of Rahway. Then will follow the appointment of committees — courtesy, resolutions, pages, credential. Miss Emma L. Starr will extend the greeting from the Union and Rev. W. I. Steans, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will give the greeting on behalf of the church. Mrs. B. F. Carpenter, of Roselle Park, will respond. Following the minutes of the county institute, the president's address will be delivered by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, followed by the annual reports of the corresponding secretary and treasurer. There will be the report of the credential committee, prayer by Mrs. Scriven-Stoddard and the election of officers. At 12 o'clock noon there will be the noontide prayer and adjournment for lunch. Between 12 and 1 o'clock there will be executive committee, superintendents' meeting and a meeting of the resolution committee.

The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock with a Bible reading by Mrs. T. C. Bodine, of this city, and the reading of the minutes of the executive committee. There will follow a discussion of department of organization to be presented by these officers: Loyal Temperance Legion Secretary, Miss May E. Hewlett, Plainfield; work among foreigners, Mrs. Thekla Hoffman, Elizabeth; Preventive-Medical temperance, Mrs. August G. Schmidt, Elizabeth; Education-Scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. D. D. Irving, Cranford; Sunday-school work, Mrs. P. R. Baker, Rahway; anti-temperance literature, Mrs. W. H. Morse, Westfield; the press, Mrs. L. H. Noe, Elizabeth; medal contests, Mrs. E. R. Fuller, Rahway; anti-narcotics, Mrs. C. W. Scott, Elizabeth. Evangelistic—Mrs. Hetfield and almshouse, Mrs. W. B. Daland, Elizabeth; systematic giving, Mrs. J. E. Brewer, Westfield; unfermented wine at sacrament, Mrs. Scriven-Stoddard, Elizabeth; soldiers and sailors, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Plainfield; prison and jail, Miss S. J. Keron, Elizabeth; Sabbath observance, Mrs. M. Winter, Plainfield; purity and mothers' meetings, Miss Julia A. Barker, Rahway; railroad men, moormens and firemen, Mrs. E. A. Parse, Plainfield. Social—Flower mission, Miss M. L. Underhill, Rahway; social meetings and red letter days, Mrs. M. F. Francis, Elizabeth. Legal—Legislation and petition, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield; Christian citizenship, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Elizabeth; franchise, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Elizabeth; cleanings from State report, Mrs. L. H. Noe, Elizabeth.

The afternoon session will be concluded with a memorial service, report of resolution committee, questions answered, miscellaneous business and adjournment for supper.

The evening session will begin at 8 o'clock, with song service and devotions in charge of Rev. Dr. W. I. Steans. The feature of this service will be the address on "The Need of the Hour," by Rev. Florence Randolph, of Jersey City.

Senator Colby in a Social Role.

Senator Everett Colby, who married Miss Edith Hyde of East Front street, and who is occupying the cottage on Bluff Island, had the honor on Monday of formally opening the festivities at Frontenac, N. Y., when Mrs. Walter M. Duryea, of New York, gave a lawn party for the benefit of the Boys' Club at Clayton, N. Y.

A Band Dance.

The Plainfield Band will give the first of a series of dances in its rooms in the Taylor building tonight. In the fall and winter they will be held every Wednesday and Friday evening. The committee to have charge tonight comprises Charles Fisher, Charles Hewitt and John Emory.

BOROUGH FIREMEN UNITE

Volunteer and Paid Relief Associations Complete Combined Organizations.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

Chief Howard Woolston Made President—Delegates to State Convention Named.

By the consolidation of the borough volunteer firemen's relief association and the relief association of the paid department in the borough, a joint organization, known as the North Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association, was effected at a meeting of committees of the two associations at headquarters last evening. Three representatives from the volunteer department, J. J. Stahl, William Demarest and Charles Keller; Edward Terry, Frank Schuck and John Morris, from No. 1 company of the paid association, and Walter Kettering, Lafayette Rosenstiehl and Patrick McDonough, of No. 2 company, met with Chief Howard Woolston for the election of officers.

By virtue of his office as chief of the borough department, Chief Howard Woolston was made president of the consolidated association, David C. Allen, of the volunteer exempts, was elected vice-president; W. W. Rowley, the treasurer of the borough fire department and of the exempt association of paid firemen, was elected treasurer, and David Bodine, of the volunteer exempts, secretary. With the election of this set of officers, the consolidation of the two organizations is completed and the joint exempt association will hold regular meetings on the first Tuesday of each month at the rooms of the paid department, in the borough fire house.

So far as the value of the consolidation of the association is concerned, it is a natural result of the life of the two co-ordinate associations, for it has long been merely a matter of time before such consolidation would be possible. The report of the treasurer of the individual associations, as made by J. J. Stahl, of the volunteers, and W. W. Rowley, of the paid association, show a balance on hand of $4,200, of which $2,000 is out in bond and mortgage.

At the conclusion of the business of consolidation, the first thing to come up under the joint association was the election of delegates to attend the State convention to be held at Atlantic City, September 13. The balloting resulted in the election of Walter Ketteering, Edward Terry and David C. Allen as delegates. As head of the borough department, Chief Howard Woolston will also attend the convention.

SNEAK THIEF WORKED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

Forced Entrance to Max Weinberger's Home and Got Silver Pitcher.

Forcing an entrance into the house of Max Weinberger, of Duer street, in broad daylight, yesterday afternoon, a sneak thief made away with a valuable silver cream pitcher from the sideboard in the dining room, and had at one time, but for interruption, might have made a big haul. The robbery was committed about the middle of the afternoon, Mrs. Weinberger and other members of the household being upstairs at that time.

The intruder forced an entrance through the screen door of the dining room, which opens to the side piazza. The wire netting was pushed in, so that he could reach his hand up and unlock the door on the inside. The robbery was not discovered until late in the afternoon, as Mrs. Weinberger heard no one down stairs. It is evident, however, that the thief must have been frightened away by some of some noise, for the silver pitcher is the only thing missing. There were other articles of silverware on the sideboard and valuables in the room and on the lower floor.

The loss was reported to Chief of Police George Wells, of the borough force, but no clue has developed.

Complain of Bull Terrier.

Complaint was made at police headquarters this morning of a bull terrier owned by Nathan Tiswood, of Bound Brook, who has been boarding the dog on Madison avenue, near Sixth street. The animal is said to be extremely vicious toward other dogs, fighting and killing at every opportunity. It is charged that he put three small dogs out of business in one day last week. One of the indignant Madison avenue residents told Acting-Chief Frederickson at police headquarters this morning that unless the dog was muzzled he would borrow a thoroughbred fighting bulldog from a friend and turn him loose on the killer. The bull, he said, had a pet grip that was warranted to make any dog on which it was clamped quite gentle and ladylike.

PRICE OF ICE AGAIN ADVANCED TO DEALERS

NATURAL COMPANY RECEIVES NOTICE OF FIFTY CENTS A TON INCREASE.

The Natural Ice Company received word yesterday of another increase in the wholesale price of ice, the raise this time being fifty cents a ton, but according to Manager Wilson the company has not increased its price to private consumers. The independent dealers, John Morton and F. T. Ostrom, have been notified of the increase in the wholesale price and they will have to pay more for their supply.

This morning wholesale customers of John Morton were notified that they would have to pay more. The increase, it is said, would be twenty cents more a hundred. Earlier in the season the wholesale price was raised five cents, which was later advanced five cents. With a twenty cent increase the price would be the same as the retail, sixty cents.

Manager Wilson, of the Natural Ice Company, says that it is now difficult to get ice in large quantities, even if the dealers are willing to pay any price that might be asked. He has been informed that the supply at Lake Hopatcong, where the company is getting its ice, will not last over a couple of weeks, while the shortage is just as bad throughout New York and Pennsylvania.

In addition to the supply being received from Lake Hopatcong, the local company is running the hygeia plant day and night and in this way the local trade is not suffering as in some places. Mr. Wilson declares that he ice condition this season is the worst since 1890, when it was necessary to ship ice here from New York and Philadelphia. Conditions have changed since then and it is now impossible to get ice from those States.

SPRAINED BOTH ANKLES WITHIN THREE WEEKS

ALFRED LIEWALD HAS HARD LUCK IN HORKYING FOR FERRYBOATS.

Within three weeks Alfred Liewald, of Cushing road, has put both his ankles out of commission. He is now laid up at his home, nursing his limbs back into usable shape.

Mr. Liewald suffered the first accident in hurrying for a ferry boat in New York on his way home. He slipped in running out on the pier, and fell with his left ankle doubled beneath him.

A week ago, his ankle was strong enough to use, and he took his first journey from home, going to Hoboken on a business trip. While he was springing aboard a car there—again on the way to the ferry—a small camera dropped from his pocket. The car was starting as he dropped off to recover the camera, and he fell heavily, his right ankle went under this time. The sprain was worse than the first one, and he required a cab to make his way to the ferry.

Salvation Army Member Buried.

Simple but impressive was the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Anne Coriell, of Dunellen, which was held at Salvation Army Hall on East Second street yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Coriell has been for fourteen years a soldier in the local corps until failing health forced her to give up the active work. The services yesterday afternoon were in charge of Adjutant James Johnson and many Salvation Army workers were present. Thomas Marker, William Sharkey, Rudolph Kerstine, William Boulter, James Winn and Raymond Watrous acted as pall bearers and the interment was in Evergreen cemetery. A special memorial service for Mrs. Coriell will be conducted at Salvation Army Hall Sunday afternoon, when there will be special singing.

Assessors' Books Accepted.

Mayor Newton B. Smatley, of the borough, as member of the Somerset County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, spent yesterday in Somerville working with the other members of the board on the assessors' books. Tax Assessor Justus H. Cooley, of the borough, was also there. The books of the assessors of the various districts were accepted yesterday, but it is still necessary for the equalization board to go over the valuations and even to visit certain properties before the tax rate can be made. The work of the assessors is now completed and it is expected that the county board of equalization will finish their work done within ten days, at the end of which time the tax rate for the borough will be made public.

Edward T. VanWinkle, clerk at the postoffice, has commenced his vacation. He is at present at Atlantic City.

MARRIED SEVENTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Halsey H. Baker are Today Quietly Observing the Anniversary.

WEDDED AT BERLIN, N.Y.

Both Celebrants Hale and Hearty and Able to Receive the Congratulation of Friends.

Rev. and Mrs. Halsey H. Baker, of East Fifth street, are today celebrating the seventieth anniversary of their marriage and they are receiving the congratulations of their friends. No special celebration has been arranged for the event, the aged couple preferring to observe the day in a quiet manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker are among Plainfield's oldest inhabitants. Mr. Baker was born on July 4, 1813, and Mrs. Baker on August 12, 1817. The couple was married at Berlin, N. Y., on August 22, 1836. Mr. Baker was born in the town of Schroon, Essex county, New York, while Mrs. Baker is a native of Berlin.

Mr. Baker lived at Schroon until he was twenty years old, attending the district school there. He then went to Madison county, New York, where he helped to build DeRuyter Institute. A little later he was licensed by the M. E. church to preach. Afterward he located at Alfred, N. Y., where he became interested in building Alfred University. He also organized a singing school which grew to a successful organization. It was about this time that he identified himself with the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination.

It was while preaching at Berlin, N. Y., in 1836, he met Miss Cynthia Green, to whom he was married a year later. Soon after he engaged in holding evangelistic meetings in different States. His first pastorate was at Waterford, Conn., where he remained two years. He then returned to Berlin where he engaged in the wood engraving business for several years.

He received a call to the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at New Market, where he remained for five years, after which he moved to Plainfield. He and Mrs. Baker have resided here ever since, thirty-five years. Before the Civil War he invented a planer and met with much success. The factory was located at Westerly, R. I. Later he sold the business to a southern concern.

During the past few years Mr. Baker has devoted much time to literary work, a notable achievement being "The Pearl," a religious library of sixteen volumes. Last year he wrote a book "The Creation Described," illustrating the first week of time. This book has had a great sale. Mr. Baker is also a regular contributor to "The Sabbath Recorder" and his scientific articles have attracted widespread attention. Hhe published the Plainfield city directory for many years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Baker are hale and hearty and can see no reason why they should not live to celebrate several anniversaries. They have one daughter, Mrs. Charles Crawford, of New York.

SCOTT'S GREAT RECORD.

Only One Earned Run Off His Delivery in 14 Games.

Jim Scott, of the Clinton Avenue twirler, has figured out his record for the season so far, and it looks like the best thing in its line in this section of the ball world. He has pitched in fourteen games, and only one earned run has been worked off his delivery. That was a home run, knocked out by "Red" Alberts in the first game against Scotch Plains. Figuring hits and strike-outs on the average, the former have come up three a game, and the latter total nine.

Jim is a steady twirler, and only needs passable support to get away with the game. He will make his debut with the New Jersey Central team next Saturday against Glen Gardner.

Fair at Netherwood.

In connection with the fawn festival to be held on the grounds of the Netherwood Hotel Saturday afternoon will be all sorts of fetes and events in booths to be especially erected. There will be fortune telling, automobile rides and a "mystery tent," which no one knows anything about. The affair will be given for the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and the children from the home will be present during the afternoon and are to have supper on the hotel lawn.

To Build in West End.

Permit has been granted to L. E. Hart for the erection of a house on West Second street, near New street, and the work of erection will be commenced at once. The building will measure 16 by 35 feet, and will be two stories in height.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

IS PRISONER FOUR MONTHS ON A SHIP

BOY SHANGHAIED AND MADE TO WORK LIKE A SLAVE.

GETS FREEDOM BY ACCIDENT

Falls Through Open Hatchway and Taken to a Philadelphia Hospital —Worries About Fate of Mother and Sister.

Philadelphia. — Shanghaied five months ago and forced to ship with the crew a tramp steamer which has been almost continuously at sea since January 24, worrying night and day over the safety of his mother and sister, whom he has not heard from since he left San Francisco, William O'Brien lies in a cot at the University hospital suffering not only from a broken arm and shoulder but enduring such pangs of anxiety that his life is seriously endangered by his mental state.

O'Brien was brought to the hospital from Wilmington. While swabbing off the decks of the steamship Craigard, into the service of which he was impressed five months ago the night before it left San Francisco on its cruise around the continent, he fell through an open hatchway. He was allowed to lie there unconscious until a member of the crew more humane than his fellows picked him up and carried him to his bunk. Then a Wilmington physician was called to Pigeon Point, where the ship was anchored, and he diagnosed O'Brien's injuries as compound fractures of the shoulder and elbow. He advised his removal to a hospital.

All the way up on the train O'Brien disregarded the pain his injuries were giving him and begged that information be given him concerning his mother and sister whom he left so unexpectedly and so suddenly on the Pacific coast.

"They have always depended upon me for their support," he moaned. "And now I don't know how they have managed to live since I left. I don't even know if they are alive. They may have been killed, both of them, in the earthquake."

After the doctors had finished dressing his injuries O'Brien began again on the recital of his troubles. He told how after talking with a sailor about the pleasures of a life on the sea he had suddenly been attacked from the rear. When he woke up again he felt the rolling motion of a ship. He scrambled out of a dirty bunk and went on deck to find that the ship was already out of sight of land.

When he attempted to register a complaint to the officers of the ship he was told roughly to "shut up" and was set to work swabbing the decks. Every outburst of anger on his part was met with blows and curses. Because he complained he was given the hardest and dirtiest work to do.

Never having been at sea before, he soon became seasick, but he was compelled to do more than his share of the work in spite of his illness. He had to rise two hours before anybody else in his watch and he was always the last to get through at night.

HE WAS CONSTANTLY BEATEN AND CURSED.

Instead of being allowed to eat the food given to other men he was often forced to forego his breakfast and then eat only biscuits and tea. Though he shipped January 24, there was never a letup in the cruelty with which he was treated, he says.

On its long journey the Craigard stopped at many ports in South America, but though shore leave was accorded the rest of the crew O'Brien was ordered to stay on deck. During a stop of a week at the mouth of the Orinoco in Venezuela O'Brien was the only member of the ship's company who was not allowed to land.

When the ship put into the harbor of Barbadoe June 1 a sailor brought on board a copy of a New York paper in which O'Brien read for the first time of the calamity that had visited San Francisco. Since then his worry has increased a hundredfold. Unable to land anywhere, he had no opportunity of communicating either with his family or his friends in the stricken city.

O'Brien is 22 years old, clean-cut in appearance and talks like a man of refinement. When seen at the hospital he said:

"I used to think I liked the sea, but my liking has been cured forever. All I want now is to get back to my poor mother and sister at home.

"Just think of it!" he broke out tearfully. "I was their only support. What can they do without me?" He has little fear of the earthquake though that is an added anxiety.

"Just as soon as I get out of the hospital I'll go back to them if I have to walk all the distance," he concluded. "And, besides, I am going to make it hot for the people who are responsible for my being shipper on a filthy tramp steamer against my will."

BOY LEADS SEARCHERS TO RESCUE OF FATHER

Man, Hurt in Woods, Near Death from Starvation—Is Found in Exhausted Condition.

St. Louis.—A fallen tree, a runaway horse, and a badly sprained back combined to force F. C. Pfander, a former lumberman of St. Louis, to spend several days in the swamps of southwest Missouri without anything to eat, and part of the time without any water to quench his thirst.

Pfander left recently for Earle, Mo., where he contemplated accepting a position with a lumber company. He started out on a trip of inspection through some timber land belonging to the company, and, after having made the inspection, started home late in the afternoon.

HE WAS FOUND IN AN EXHAUSTED CONDITION.

As it was getting dusk, he urged the horse he was riding to a faster gait, and when about half way out of the swamp the horse attempted to jump over a small tree which had fallen across the path, and stumbled and fell, pinning the rider to the ground. Pfander got his horse to move a little, and so extricated his right leg from under the horse, but in attempting to help the horse up he fell again, and his left leg slipped under the horse.

This time Pfander was forced to dig the pinioned limb from under the horse with his hands. As he tried to remount his horse Pfander experienced severe pains in his back, and had to give up the attempt.

In the meantime Pfander's son, Walter, had arrived at Earle on a visit to his father, and was told where his father had gone and that he would return in the evening.

After waiting until the next evening without any word from his father, Walter Pfander started parties out to find him, thinking that perhaps his father had been lost in the timber. Three days later one of the searching parties found the elder Pfander lying close to a small stream running through the woods in an exhausted condition.

He was taken to town as quickly as possible, and ate for the first time in several days. He said that he had been forced to sleep the first night with the saddle for a pillow; that he had kept hold of his horse's bridle reins day and night to keep the animal from leaving him, and that, after being without water or food for two days he finally dragged himself through the brush until he came to the small stream beside which he was found.

He allowed his horse to drink, and while he himself was enjoying his first drink in two days his horse slipped away from him, and he would no doubt have starved to death if his son had not rescued him.

Town Has Rain of Frogs.

Alton, Ill.—A heavy rainstorm, accompanied by a gale, swept over Alton the other day and a deluge of little green frogs was precipitated. They fell in plentifully all that thousands were hopping around the streets. Pedestrians and vehicles crushed them by hundreds, so thickly were the streets strewn. It is believed the frogs were scooped up from the marshy lowlands by the heavy wind, carried over the city and dropped.

Cat Steals Rat Trap.

Greenfield, Ind.—Mrs. Matilda Caldwell, of this city, is the owner of a cat that has collected more than half a hundred mouse-traps, presumably from as many houses. The cat comes to the screen door and scratches until Mrs. Caldwedd releases the mouse from the trap the cat has stolen. The cat then carries the mouse to her favorite resort. The collection of traps is increased each day.

FOLLY OF LEGAL PHRASES.

Senator Knox Points Out How Much Verbiage Could Be Cut from Documents.

Senator Knox in his picturesque manner at Valley Forge was recently asked what he thought of the movement in France toward the simplification of legal French—the simplification of the wording of wills, deeds, mortgages, etc.

"I deem this movement is a wise one," said the senator. "I think that in English, also, many documents would be the better for simplification. Much of our legal phraseology is uselessly prolix and redundant. Why, if you want to deed a farm an automobile instead of writing simply 'I give you this automobile' it is necessary to write something like this:

"'I give you all and singular, my estate and interest, right, title and claim, the advantage of and in the said machine, with all its 60-horse power engines, cylinders, tonneau, tire cushions, direct drive, sliding gear transmission, three speeds and reverse and all rights and advantages thereunto, with full power to drive, speed, race, rent the same automobile or give the same away, with or without its said engines, cylinders, tires, cushions, sliding gear transmission, anything heretofore or hereinafter, or in any other deed or deeds, instrument or instruments, of what kind or nature soever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.'"

TRAINING UP A HUSBAND.

Authority Gives Advice to Brides Which Need Not Be Followed Too Literally.

A great many bridegrooms are like jelly. It is only when they begin to grow cold that they become set in their ways, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. It is at this time, therefore, for the bride to remember this and while there is yet time to mold him into the proper form for future keeping.

I would admonish all brides, therefore, to obey their own blind instincts and to train up their husbands in the way they should go. Mere man thinks he knows something and he is inclined to act upon this fatal assumption too often.

The bride, however, does not know—she thrives, and she should hold him sternly fast to her intuition, selecting for him the things that he needs—or doesn't—feeding him on the things that are good for him—or are not—taking him to the place where he is anxious to go—or isn't—and, in short, doing for him all the things that he likes—or doesn't like—in the firm assurance that her own sweet incompetence is by far the best guide.

Cushion and Life-Preserver.

"The life-preserver cushion," said a boat salesman, "is a wonder.

"These cushions are pneumatic and strong. They make perfect life-preservers. They have saved hundreds of lives.

"Take an average launch that is fitted with them and imagine this launch wrecked.

"The wrecked launch overturns and sinks. The passengers fall screaming and struggling into the water. And at once between bands, so to speak, carefully and promptly place avoid the frantic people a goodly number of strong and commodious life-preservers, more than enough to sustain all hands twice over.

"In launching canoes skiffs and every kind of pleasure craft the pneumatic life-preserver cushion will be found this summer. Wherever it is found sitting will be robbed of nine-tenths of its danger."

Deep Question.

The man with the deep set eyes heaves a sigh, uncrosses his legs, recrosses them the other way and again buries his chin in his hand.

"What are you studying about?" asks the man with the opal scarfpin and the trusting face.

"I can't decide it," replies the other. "I've been trying to figure out which is the most embarrassing: To meet some one you have forgotten and to pretend that you remember him, or to meet some one you remember and try to pretend that you have forgotten him."

"In such a case," replies the man with the opal scarfpin, "I should go across the street."

Bricks from Sand.

Great sand dunes extend for miles along the north coast of Breconshire, Wales. They are a menace to the narrow strip of lowlands between them and the hills. A company of business men has determined to put the sand to some use. The plan is to manufacture bricks from sand. The experiment has proved a success on the continent of Europe where the bricks are produced in several colors and take a glaze satisfactorily. Some experts claim that these bricks made of sand will be the building brick of the future in the United Kingdom.

Not In.

Doctor (preparing to lock himself in his study and work)—I am not in if anyone calls, mind.

A quarter of an hour later he rings the bell. No answer. He rings again. Still no answer. He opens the door furiously and cries to the page boy:

"Did you hear me ring?"

"Yes, sir; but you told me you weren't in, and I didn't like to take a bell's word before yours, sir." —Stray Stories.

SHELTERED KING PHILIP.

Interesting Group of Trees at Medfield, Mass., Under Which Indians Feasted in 1676.

Boston.—On February 21, 1676, 239 years ago, the town of Medfield was burned by the Indians. The town at that time was a small frontier settlement having been set off from Dedham 26 years previous.

King Philip and his dusky warriors had been waging war for several months against the English settlers of eastern Massachusetts, and had already attacked them at Swansey and other towns of Plymouth colony. July 14, 1675, four or five settlers were killed in Mendon.

The rest of the inhabitants fled to Medfield which then became the outermost settlement in the Massachusetts colony.

During the summer of 1675, many other towns were visited by the Indians, the buildings burned and the settlers either killed of carried into captivity.

KING PHILIP TREES.

The allied colonies of Massachusetts, Plymouth and Connecticut raised a force of more than 1,000 men and defeated Philip at his swamp stronghold in Rhode Island, December 19, 1675. More than 1,000 Indians and 100 whites were slain in this fight.

Philip escaped and the Indian forces were cut up into small bands, which preyed on isolated settlements and farm houses. Medfield, Lancaster, Weymouth, Groton, Warwick, Sudbury and other towns were attacked during February and March, 1676.

As soon as the settlers of Medfield realized the full extent of their peril they fled the one common which the town possessed as a signal to the settlers in Dedham. On the second discharge of this "grate gune" a panic seems to have seized the Indians, and they fled across the old North bridge. The bridge was set on fire to hinder pursuit. On a hill west of the town and in full view of its outraged settlers the Indians roasted an ox and enjoyed a savage feast.

This spot is marked by a clump of "impello" or "Swamp Hornbeam" trees, which tradition says were standing at the time of the feast. These trees have been known for at least two centuries as the "King Philip" trees.

WOMAN HEADS LAW SCHOOL

Mrs. E. S. Mussey Founds College at Washington Especially for Members of Her Sex.

Washington.—A woman at the head of a college of law is an unusual feature even in this land of progressive women. Mrs. Effen Spencer Mussey, of this city, ranks not only as chief, but also as founder of the Washington Law College, which she established in order that legal-minded women might have a law college instituted for them, specially. Nearly half of its student body in the last year was composed of women.

Born in Geneva, O., in 1850, Mrs. Mussey is the daughter of Platt R. Spencer, author of the famous Spencerian system of penmanship. After a thorough training, she, at the age of 21, entered into matrimonial and business partnership with Gen. R. D. Mussey, who died a year later. Mrs. Mussey's legal career covers a period of 35 years. She is a member of the bar of the supreme court of the United States, attorney for several foreign legations and counsel for a number of national, patriotic and labor organizations. She was one of the founders as well as attorney for the American Red Cross society, and has served as president of the Legion of Loyal Women.

MRS. ELLEN S. MUSSEY.
(Woman Who Founded and Is Dean of Law College at Washington.)

She has always been busy. Legislation for the betterment of woman's conditions in the District of Columbia has constantly received her ardent support. Among the laws which she has helped to obtain are the bills giving mothers the same right to their children as fathers; and married women the right to transact business and to control their own earnings.

THEIR GIFT TO "TEACHER"

Little Ones Meant Well and the Incident Is One of Instructor's Treasured Memories.

She was one of the prettiest little schoolteachers you had ever taught in the district and so easily won the adoring love of all people. At the close of the term it was thought a proper time to show esteem in which she was held. So it turned the young women with a gift. Although the schoolhouse was four miles from the city, at an early hour of the last day of school the boys and girls on the committee trudged into town, in person, and each basket-laden. They were not rich, these little people, and the cents meant a good deal to them. Hopefully they visited store after store, but nothing was good enough for "teacher." Finally nearly every store in town had been visited, without finding the desired present. At last [illegible] was perfectly [illegible] they gave her the treasured gift. Proud indeed were the little faces as they [illegible] thought as to [illegible] has never been revealed. After much tissue paper and [illegible] the parcel was unrolled to view a big [illegible] shaving mug, with her initials in [illegible] lettering upon it! Deep down in the mug lifted a much [illegible] cent. It was a bottle of witch hazel, whose [illegible] "teacher" inhaled in despair. With many tears she expressed her pleasure for the [illegible] and the [illegible] she [illegible] with [illegible] of the day performed. To [illegible] long since she forgot [illegible] but [illegible] memory of those little [illegible] fever fresh in her heart, and the shaving mug is still among her most treasured keepsakes.

STAIR MOVED UP THE WALL

Explanation Was Simple, but Clerk May Be Pardoned for Seeing Unlucky Omens.

"An old gentleman," remarked the [illegible] a Portland Express reporter, [illegible] some stairs from me one day last week, that sites mightening one of which I slipped from his finger and fell to the floor. He did not [illegible] pick it up right away, fearing another stamp on his letter left the store and I forgot all about the incident. A few minutes later my clerk came into the store from the rear room, and at once his face attracted my attention for he seemed to be troubled about something, while he gazed fixedly in a certain direction. Calling over to me he said: 'I do not think I am crazy, but I do see something that I cannot understand.' I looked where he pointed and distinctly saw the postage stamp moving steadily up the side of the wall!

"The explanation is this: The stamp which the old gentleman dropped had fallen on a fly and stuck to it."

Vast Grass Carpet.

In the making of one gigantic carpet 63,000 feet in area, 200 people—practically the entire population of the village of Glemsford, Suffolk, England—have been for many weeks employed. Woven of accoonut fiber and ramie grass, with a "pile" 1½ inches in thickness, and dyed green, the carpet looks and feels like genuine turf. It can be rolled smooth, like a real lawn, and cricket, tennis and rockey balls "play" off it in precisely the same fashion as they do off the real growing grass. In the making of the carpet, which will cost $25,000, more than 20 tons of raffia grass were used. When finished the carpet will weigh 46 tons. During the winter croquet, lawn tennis, cricket, football, hockey, polota and other games will be played on it.

Vive la Culture!

A modiste lecturing before a dressmakers' club told the members that the dressmaker must know more than anyone else in the world, and she advised them to study art, music, literature and the drama. "Vive la culture! We cannot have too much of it. Hereafter, when madam goes to have a fitting, she will not only hear of chiffon, but also of Chaucer, of passementerie and Pater, of mousseline de sole and Mendelssohn, of shirring and Shaw, taffeta and Turner. But, horrors! what if the barber should add art, music, literature and the drama to his conversational repertoire! — The Reader.

Extra Precaution.

"Stranger in town, eh?" ventured the New York man who was standing on the corner of Halsted and Taylor streets.

"Yes, by gum!" drawled the old farmer with the yellow valise. "And Cynthia sewed my pockets up twice before she would let me come to Chicago."

"Ha, ha! That's pretty good on Chicago. You bet she wouldn't have to sew your pockets up twice if you were a resident of Chicago."

"No, by heck! She would sew them up three or four times!"

Victor Hugo's Vanity.

One day a letter was received at the post office in Paris bearing the following inscription: "To the Greatest Poet." The letter carrier was instructed to deliver it to Victor Hugo, who refused to receive it and sent it to Lamartine. This genius also declined to accept the letter and passed it on to Alfred de Musset. The latter, equally modest, returned it to Victor Hugo, who finally accepted it. The letter had reached its destination.—Lippincott's Magazine.

COUNT BONI IS CAST OUT.

French Chamber of Deputies Annuls Election of Castellane on Bribery Charge.

Paris.—Despite a protest from the count the French chamber of deputies the other day by 253 votes against 221 decided to invalidate the election of Count Boni de Castellane, husband of Anna Gould, as the deputy for the Basses Alpes.

Berest first of his little American wife and no longer to scatter the millions she brought him from the coffers of Jay Gould, Count Boni found himself arrived at the limit of humiliation when the chamber of deputies ousted him from his seat and besmirched him with insinuations of political corruption and open charges of bribery in buying his election.

COUNT BONI DE CASTELLANE.
(Husband of Anna Gould, Ousted from French Chamber of Deputies.)

Truly the dapper little Frenchman finds that money makes the gentleman, the lack of it the fellow.

He now has few friends. Once the flattered little spendthrift of the boulevards, the pet of idle women, on whom he lavished diamonds and jewels until his wife showed his supply of money, he has sunk into the position of a man ridiculed and laughed at. Former friends who frowned on him and escaped the evils of his sensational methods of getting rid of his wife's money now look upon him as a fool who has permitted himself to be fooled out. Not until the present, however, was any thought ever taken that he might find enemies enough in the chamber to throw him out of his seat.

Now he is mournfully aware of how far fortune has turned against him and at one of the clubs from which he is not yet excluded he declared that the action of his fellow deputies was the result of his "painful family difficulties," made public through his wife's action for divorce.

How the French aristocracy regards Count Castellane in his actions is best shown by the fact that when he offered himself as a member of the Jockey club he was "pilled" by the largest number of black balls ever received by one man.

'FRISCO HOME FOR FELINES

Interesting Place Destroyed by Fire —Cats Taken Care Of by Old Lady.

San Francisco.—Among the interesting struggling that the earthquake life stirred in San Francisco is the $30,000 home for cats perched high on the slope of Telegraph hill. The woman who used to own the house, a two-story structure with an attic and sun parlor, was a great friend of cats. Every bolt of her heart was for the snugly of cats and mice.

When a big Maltese was not feeling well and had chills running down its back, with a quick pulse and high complexion, the mistress of the dwelling immediately opened her medicine chest and administered the proper remedies—everything from pare-goric to squills. The time came, however, when she found it to be out of cure cats, even when they had fits, could not cure herself. Then she died, but the cats were not neglected.

HOME FOR CATS AT SAN FRANCISCO DESTROYED BY FIRE.

She left $30,000 in cash to be used in behalf of the animals, who were given the house for a place of residence. Her will was carefully drawn and stipulated just what should be done and how the cats should be cared for. Probably no puss was ever more satisfied than when the earthquake shook the flames around Telegraph hill set fire to the house. Interspersed with the cats were all kinds of [illegible] Immediately this house was declared that the cats not killed were [illegible] over the city in search of [illegible]

Wolf with Tricks on His Head.

Pocahontas county, (Mo.) farmers have offered $100 reward for a large gray wolf that killed many sheep during the last winter. Many attempts have been made to catch the animal and the [illegible] of people come to his depredations is estimated to be more than [illegible]

GOOD TASTE.

Its bite may lead to marriage
But I can tell you this—
That I don't blame a microbe
For lurking in a kiss.
—Houston Post.

The Shortest Story.

Waggsby—Once there was an Orangeman at a Hibernian picnic.

Naggsby—Well, go on with the story.

Waggsby—That is all there is of it.

Naggsby—It's mighty short.

Waggsby—But just as long as the Orangeman's stay at the picnic.—Judge.

Quite So.

"Your husband is so full of fun, Mrs. Newriche," he makes people fairly shriek. He is always chaffing, isn't he?"

"Yess, indeed; I tell him he is quite a chauffeur."

Theatrical Roast.

"How shall we treat our critics?" asked the theatrical manager.

"Well, for gracious sakes! Don't give them five-cent cigars!" replied the leading man.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Workers.

First Tramp—I t'ink I'll go inter de insurance business, Bill.

Second Tramp—Huh! Dere's nuttin' doin' in dat.

First Tramp—Exactly.—Judge.

An Opportunity.

Opportunities are very sensitive things; if you slight them on their first visit you seldom see them again. —John Ruskin.

Black Under the Eyes Explained.

"In the north country," so goes the story in "Sun Babies," by Cornelia Sorabja, "in the month of Kartik is worshipped by the women folks the great and terrible god Bhishma. Lighted lamps must be placed at the cross-roads of the village, under the sacred fig tree, at the shrine of Shiva, and one little lighted lamp is sent adrift on a raft in the village tank. When the lamps have burned low it is good to rub the black from the wicks under the eyes. It keeps away the evil one. So that is the reason to this day we women put the black beneath the eyes."

Pick the Blossoms.

Plants like sweet peas, nasturtiums and pansies, that produce a succession of flowers, should have the blossoms picked daily to stop the formation of seed pods and consequent decrease in number of blossoms; but in the case of such plants as have but a short period of bloom, and but one during the year, the formation of seed is prevented to increase growth of roots and branches on which the next year's blossom depend.

Utopia.

There is a farm in Maine where the farmer never allows wild creatures to be molested. Consequently they have come to know that they are safe there, and it has become one of their favorite haunts. Nearly every afternoon the deer come out and feed in a field near the house, and the farm people can go very near without frightening them. The farmer thinks that this is much more interesting than hunting.

Yellow in the Diamond.

If you wish your diamonds to be "dew white" don't let any yellow furnishings come near them. Women with splendid parures have found that yellow satin and brocade "kill" their gems, and even jewelers are careful to show diamonds where no yellow light can touch them. The "off color" stone is brilliant, but doomed.

The 40,000.

The 40,000 college graduates who this year wrote volumes to tell how they were going to succeed might have summed it all up in two words, probity and labor. These, and these only, are unfailing.—Louisville Herald.

Disastrous Year.

Of course the misfortunes of the present year may arise from the fact that the 23d of three months and the 13th of two others fall on Friday.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

THE NATION'S UNREST.

No politics can move me—
Kaze all I want's a tree
On de green side or a river
Whar de fish bite free.
—Atlanta Constitution.

The Crocodile.

The moment that a young crocodile breaks the shell it is to all intents and purposes as active as it is at any time during its life. It will make straight for the water, even if it be out of sight and a good distance off, and it will pursue its prey with eagerness and agility during the first hour of its free existence.

Salt Water More Buoyant.

Ocean-going ships carry much heavier cargoes, on the same draft, than they could if they were used in the fresh water of the great lakes. The difference amounts to several hundred tons, for the largest vessels.

Mrs. William Rockfellow, of The Bronx, returned home Saturday after a five weeks' stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey F. Stout, of Madison avenue.

William W. Moore, Francis G. Moore and Miss Moore, of West Seventh street, have been sojourning at Spring Lake, having been registered at the New Monmouth.

HOUSEHOLD TOPICS.

Minced olives sprinkled over an omelet before it is folded gives an appetizing flavor.

Over in Connecticut ripe pears are cut up like peaches, sprinkled with sugar and served with the dessert. Keep the pears on ice for a time before. Cream adds to their deliciousness.

The piece de resistance at a recent luncheon was creamed shrimps heaped in the middle of a platter and surrounded by a ring of green peas.

A tasty salad combines cold boiled beets, potatoes and string beans.

Beter than scalding tomatoes to loosen the thin skin, is rubbing the back of the knife against the fruit. Press on the dull edge of the knife gently from the stem end downward until all the surface has been covered. Once the process becomes familiar it is as quickly done as scalding and the skin comes off with equal readiness.

Pickled peaches, home prepared, are delicious with the meat course. Select perfect fruit and rub the down from the skins with a rough towel. Weigh the fruit and for every six pounds allow three pounds of sugar and a quart and a half of vinegar. Have ready squares of muslin and into each tie a portion of the following mixed spices: Two teaspoonfuls each of ground mace, cinnamon and allspice and a teaspoonful each of ground celery seed and cloves. Blend the spices thoroughly before tying the mixture in the little bags. Prick the peaches with a fork, put them into a kettle, turn in cold water to barely cover them and bring to a boil. Then take out the fruit, turn in the sugar and boil a quarter of an hour with the bags of spice. Next put in the peaches and cook them until they are tender. At the last remove the peaches to glass jars, boil the syrup down thick and turn it over them.

Fresh or preserved peaches are tasty served with whipped cream. In either case, put a half section of the fruit on a plate, cut side upward, and cover with the cream, which has been lightly sweetened. If fresh peaches are used, keep them on the ice for a time before peeling and cutting in two. The liquor from the can, if canned peaches are used, should be saved for fruit punches. Very ripe fresh pears, peeled and cored, or canned ones may be served in the same way.

This recipe for gingered pears was taken from an old housekeeper's well-thumbed cookbook of her own compilation: Allow for four pounds of fruit three and a half pounds of sugar, three small lemons, half a cupful of water and four ounces of ginger root scraped and cut into thin slices. Bring the sugar and water to a boil, add the fruit, the ginger, the thin yellow rind of one lemon cut into stripes and the juice of the three lemons, simmer for an hour and can at once.

PORCH AS A LIVING ROOM.

Make things look cool and you'll feel cool—even the scientists admit there's a lot in it.

Every sensible person nowadays who possesses a porch turns it into an outdoor living-room, the furnishings simple as possible, but, of course, nothing tha won't stand careless usage.

The porch is entitled to dashes of brightness—even crude colors are good as they never would be indoors. Linen-colored articles are especially pleasant.

It's a spot that can't have too many cushions to sit on or lean against.

Some made expressly for coolness are filled with "floss," a sort of vegetable down.

The clippings of the lawn when turned over several days and dried in the sun makes an excellent filling that is cool to the touch and emits a pleasant odor.

The covers may be bright and showy or in the natural linen tints worked in Oriental colors and effects, in fact anything that strikes one's fancy may find a lodging place here, as nature mingles beautifully with any tint or color.

But is well to select covers that will bear the rays of sun as well as moisture.

For wicker furniture and the porch floor the cosmos cushions are favorites. They are very light and Japanese-looking.

They come mostly in plaids, though a few regular Jap designs are seen.

A little tabouerette is handy to drop books or work on.

The wood is stained, and mahogany sealing wax red, and a soft cool green are popular shades.

Matting box seats with bamboo trimmings make good catch-alls and are very serviceable.

They are also admirable in the house later as shirtwaist boxes or any use a chest would be put to.

Some have a tray or tray and drawer inside. Hats, fancy work, magazines and the innumerable things one uses in the porch can be stored here when not in use.

A matting settee with a box in it has a back that folds over to form a table, and can quickly be converted into use to serve afternoon tea or lunch.

Table and pillow covers of grass cloth are linen-colored and summery looking.

Some have designs worked in coarse floss, others lace insets and a border of coarse linen color lace.

A hammock or porch swing is indispensable and a mattress and plenty of pillows filled with dried grass should be provided for real comfort.

AS IN A MIRROR.

The girl in the looking-glass is a very close friend.

Her looks each day have an uplifting or a depressing effect on one's spirits.

Everyone likes to see a pretty, cheery, sweet, dear looking girl, and who is there who has even a glance for the other kind?

It's a fine thing to want to look nice, and feel still more beautiful to want to be young in heart.

The woman with the graven image face has no excuse for her plainess, since it is her own doings.

Physical sufferings never imprint such unpleasant lines as do envy, malice, jealousy and general bitterness of mind.

The thoughts inside your head make beauty or ugliness.

If you can't be attractive to yourself you can't possibly be to others, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Just sunny up. That's the secret of beauty.

There are worse conditions than those caused by hard work and poverty.

And you will always have both troubles with you if you look soured and fretful.

The girl who permits herself to be unattractive is not only doing herself a great injustice, but she is giving her friends an unfair deal.

The road to good looks leads to good behavior, sweet thoughts, generosity, neatness—in fact, everything worth while.

A QUEEN'S IDEA OF A LADY.

When the dowager Queen Margherita of Italy recently was asked her idea of a lady, she described her as "soft of speech and manner," but with perfect control of herself, loyal, with the courage of her convictions and the ability to practise self-denial and self-restraint.

This royal definition of a lady opens the door to all womankind. There is no exclusion here, no mention of the 400 or of any other limited body of fashion. Every woman may be a lady, according to Queen Margherita's generous inclusiveness.

Shakespeare, when he made King Lear speak of the dead Cordelia, his youngest, and in his affliction his only loyal daughter, had in mind such a lady as Queen Margherita describes:

Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle, and low, an excellent thing in woman.

Only, by the use of the word, woman, it is evident that his idea was that the finest woman is the finest lady.—Boston Globe.

A WRAP OF THE HOUR.

It was a long, pointed shawl of black net.

A well-known French woman wore it.

A fringe finished it all around the edge.

All over it was embroidered with little bunches of pink roses and green leaves.

It was undoubtedly an heirloom from the sixties.

It was worn over a white lingerie gown.

Accompanying it was a broad white straw hat with pink ribbon and roses.

Strings of the ribbon passed about the back of the head, tying in a bow a little one side of the chignon.

A tiny parasol of black chantilly over pink silk was carried.

Both hat and parasol were evidently gotten up to fit the shawl, and the whole was quaint and pleasing.

GOOD TO KNOW.

Bathing behind the ears with right hot water will remove a headache.

Hold the hammered finger in water as hot as can be borne for a few minutes. This treatment will draw out the inflammation almost at once.

When a cut will not stop bleeding apply ground rice or flour. Either one will be found very efficacious, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

A small onion eaten before retiring will often induce sleep. The taste may be removed after eating by chewing a bit of parsley or a few drops of eau de cologne on a lump of sugar.

A good long stretch immediately upon waking in the morning is excellent exercise with which to begin the day.

At the first intimation of a sore throat try a gargle of one teaspoonful of salt and one of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.

THE HOME DRESSMAKER.

No woman can look well dressed or "well put together," as the French say, unless she has a clearly-defined waistline, and this must be given by the belt. A belt should fit each individual figure quite as much as a sleeve or a skirt. A woman would never dream of making or buying a coat with a sleeve several sizes too large or too small; she is particular that the sleeve shall fit her arm—and yet this same woman will pay but little attention to the fit of her belt. A belt should, generally speaking, fit the curve of the waistline. This curve varies on every woman, but it is a simple matter to find out its shape and learn to fit the belt just as one learns to fit the sleeve and the skirt.

If one is tall and desires the trimming line high a little may be added to the skirt at the foot if care is taken to graduate the line of the seam at the bottom. Linen should be shrunk before being used. Allow it to remain in water over night; hang it up and iron it before it is quite dry.

After the waistband is properly adjusted see that there is a sufficient amount of fullness across the bust line. Formerly, and in many cases still, the amateur, in order to give sufficient fullness at the bust, will take the waist out from the under-arm seams. This should not be done. All needed fullness at the bust should be let down the centre front seam, and the under-arm seams made to fit snugly. This is necessary in order to keep the sleeves in their proper position. This is a most important point in the new bodices, owing to the fact that the shoulder seams are much longer than formerly.

The same idea is followed in the boning of the collars of lingerie waists, many of the collars being finished with a very small featherbone run through a narrow casing all around the top. If you bone your collars in this way two very small upright bones for the sides and one for the back are often all that are required; these bones may be omitted, as the top bone holds your collar with comfort at the desired height.

Some of the newest French waists are made with very small casings for narrow featherbones across the top of the arm's-eye itself; this is done to make the arm's-eye fit as smoothly and tightly as possible across the top of the arm. This method is especially adapted to the thin, unlined, lingerie blouse.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Stories of the Civil War Period, and Later.

Alcott, L. M.—Hospital sketches, and camp and fireside stories.
Cable, G. W.—The Cavalier.
Scene laid in the South.
Churchill, Winston.—The Crisis.
Scene laid in St. Louis.
Coffin, C. C.—Winning his way.
Grant's campaigns.
De Forest, J. W.—Bloody chasm: a novel.
Eggleston, G. C.—Daughter of the south.
A war's-end romance.
Fox, John.—Crittenden.
Spanish-American war, 1898.
Glasgow, E. A. C.—Battle-ground.
Goss, W. L.—Jed, a boy's adventures in the army of '61-'65.
A story of battle and prison, of peril and escape.
Goss, WW. L.—Tom Clifton.
Western boys in Grant and Sherman's army, '61-'65.
Harris, J. C.—On the plantation.
A Georgia boy's adventures during the war.
Henty, G. A.—With Lee in Virginia.
Bull Run to Chancellorsville.
King, Capt. C.—Between the lines.
A story of the war.
King, Capt. C.—Colonel's daughter; or, winning his spurs.
King, Capt. C.—Iron brigade.
A story of the army of the Potomac.
Mitchell, S. W.—In war time.
Murfree, M. N.—Storm centre: a novel.
Page, T. N.—Among the camps.
Young people's stories of the war.
Page, T. N.—In ole Virginia: short stories.
Page, T. N.—Two little confederates.
Roe, E. P.—Barriers burned away.
Chicago fire, 1871.
Roe, E. P.—His sombre rivals.
Battle of Bull Run.
Seawell, M. E.—Throckmorton.
Scene laid in a lowly Virginia neighborhood immediately after the war.
Sinclair, Upton.—Manassas: a novel of the war.
Stoddard, W. O.—Little smoke.
Custer massacre, 1876.
Trowbridge, J. T.—Three scouts.
Woolson, C. F.—East Angels.
Scene laid in Florida before and during the rebellion.

DRESS HINTS.

The rule for frilling is one and a quarter the length of the edge to be trimmed.

Gathers should always be set on the right side, but never with a needle; use a large pin.

If the material just under the neckband is all right, but has become worn insert a tiny yoke or chemisette made of all over lace.

In sewing a seam put the stitches closely together, but lightly, into the cloth, being careful not to pull the thread tight, as this causes the seam to draw.

When cutting out sleeves to avoid the disaster of cutting both for the same arm fold the material either face to face or back to back. Place the pattern on it and cut both together.

To put on the tape that holds the blouse in position around the waist sew up the shoulder and underarm seams, slip it on and tie the tape around the waist, pinning it at the right place in the center of the back.

The Misses Alice and Anna Lear, of Richmond, Va., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Fillmore Elderton, of West Front street.

Rev. and Mrs. Burton, of Highwood Park, have been visiting Mrs. Burton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stevens, of Grandview avenue. Mr. Burton preached at Grace M. E. church, yesterday.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. T. MacMurray, of Sandford avenue, has returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Moore, of North avenue, are spending a week at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Titsworth, of West Front street, have returned from their outing.

Mr. and Mrs. James Everett Kimball, of West Seventh street, have returned from their outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, of West Front street, are spending their vacation in the mountains.

Mrs. Fred Dixon, of West Fifth street, who has been sojourning at Asbury Park, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Arens, of Rahway road, who have been abroad for several months, have returned.

Mrs. George G. Davidge, of Rockview avenue, has been stopping for a time with friends in Middletown, N. Y.

Charles M. Hand, of Florida, is visiting his uncle and aunt, Captain and Mrs. William Hand, of East Second street.

The Misses Margaret Hammill and Mary Kyle, of West Sixth street, are spending two weeks with friends in Philadelphia.

Miss Sarah Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ball, of Rockview avenue, has gone to Budd's Lake for a short stay.

Frank Harder, of J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store, is spending his vacation at his former home in Williamsport, Pa.

O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, who has been spending the summer at Watch Hill, R. I., with his family, has returned to town for a short time.

Mrs. Henry Hand, of Sanford, Fla., who has been visiting Captain and Mrs. William Hand, of East Second street, is now sojourning at Long Beach.

Walter Walker, of Jackson avenue, leaves tomorrow for Sayre, Pa., where Mrs. Walker has been spending several weeks. He will remain there for his vacation.

Anna Edmonds, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Edmonds, of West Front street, who was struck by a trolley Monday afternoon, is slowly improving.

George L. Babcock, of West Eighth street, who has been visiting at Westerly, R. I., has gone to Watch Hill. He is travelling considerable this summer in his White steamer auto.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Decker, of Staten Island, who have been visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Decker, of West End avenue, have returned home.

H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street, accompanied by his son, Frank Newman, will leave today for Belgrave Lakes, Maine, where they will spend the remainder of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard, of West Seventh street, who are spending the summer at Weekapaug, R. I., were guests of Governor George H. Utter at his home in Westerly, on Sunday.

Miss Mabel Bogardus, of this city, has been visiting Miss Stephanie Krom, who is spending the summer at "The Watchung," Bound Brook.

Miss Nolle and Miss Emma Miller, daughter of Major and Mrs. Miller, of East Seventh street, have been spending a few days at Budd's Lake.

Health Inspector William Addis, of Orange street, left yesterday for Winthrop Highlands, Mass., where he will spend his vacation with his family.

Hugh Sweeney, of Liberty street, and William Firstbrook, of Grant avenue, left Saturday for Asbury Park, where they will remain for ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Higgins, of Schenectady, N. Y., have returned home after visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Higgins, of West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis V. Tallamy, of West Front street, and Miss Caroline Beekman, of Clinton avenue, left today for Honesdale, Pa., where they will spend two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bartine, of this city, are sojourning at Saunderstown, R. I.

Robert Muir, of Essex street, has returned from a visit with Jersey City relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. George Angleman, of New York State, are visiting relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Laing, of the borough, are sojourning at Kennebunkport, Me.

Mrs. H. E. Underwood, of this city, has returned from a visit with relatives at New Hampton.

Mrs. C. W. King, of Watchung avenue, and Mrs. M. Martin, of West Fourth street, are registered at the Ocean View, Bay Head.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow, who has been spending his vacation at his former home in Brookline, Mass., returned home today.

Fred Dunavan, of North avenue, left today for Portland, Me., where he will spend his two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Freeman, of South avenue, are among the guests at the Wesley House, Cottage City, Mass.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Aug. 30: "Filling the House of God." Luke viii. 14; I John ii. 15-17; Prov. i. 24-33; Matt. xxiii. 24-28; Ezek. xviii. 23; I Tim. ii. 3; Luke xiv. 15-24; Acts viii, 4.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

That the average church is not well filled is a fact well known. The cause of this condition is not too many and too large edifices, but lack of attendance on the part of the members and their families. A profound change has come over our land in this matter during the last two generations. Formerly every one attended church. Not to do so was to subject oneself to adverse criticism and quite likely to suspicion and social ostracism. The reverse of this condition seems approaching. It is doubtful if the majority of the people have any habits of regular church attendance. This is, of course, more largely the fact among the non-Catholic than among the Catholic population. The working people do not as a class attend church except on special occasions.

The causes and remedy have been much discussed. People vary widely in opinion on these two points.

Some ministers always have well filled houses wherever they go. The methods employed by them vary as much as the men differ in personal appearance. No two preachers use just the same methods. Beecher and Talmage in the same city drew the crowds. They had the same opportunity. Their modes of attracting men. Either one anywhere would have had marked effect on the community.

We are safe in saying that the minister must in considerable degree be the force upon which the people. The average minister delivering the average sermon is not calculated to enthuse or strongly attract any one. This is a plain way of stating a fact too long denied and carefully concealed. It is a fact, however, very plain to all who will use common powers of observation. The minister does not, as he used to do, lead in most localities. He used to be "the parson"—that is, the most important "person" in the community. He should at the present time wield no influence that he may not be necessary to do it in a different way. The minister must have an attractive, even a compelling, personality. He must be possessed and on fire with his mission; then his part will be safe, so far as having a message to the people is concerned. He will preach, and that is what many ministers have never yet done.

The membership needs arousing to their personal part in this matter. The average church member never conceived that he had any obligation to go to church unless he felt like it. And when he goes it is to be pleased with music or an able sermon.

The average family no longer thinks of requiring the boys and girls to go to church. If they attend Sunday school and league meeting it is all they can be expected to do so long as they work so hard in school and in business. The remedy for this wrong condition is not in hired professional musicians, *not in merely sensational topics for ser*monettes, not in any undignified performances or extravagances, but in downright soul conviction of the pressing needs of the unsaved, common sense application of the highest and best talents to the work of God in the most approved manner, and, above all, the sincerest love of men and devotion to God.

The Joys of Eternity.

In eternity will be consummated all the blessings of time. Whatever is best here will be better there. The good things that God has prepared for those that love Him pass the conception of mortal mind. But we may feel sure that there is naught excellent in this world that will not be excelled in the world to come. In the new life we shall be the subjects of love of earth and the added joys of heaven.—William T. Ellis.

One Way Christians Are Known.

As when the storm ariseth the good mariner is known so in affliction God's children are easily known from Satan's servants.

Gems In Brief.

A sharp tongue is the only edge tool that grows keener with constant use.—Washington Irving.

Full joy does not exclude sorrow, but it is a joy so deep that no sorrow can get below it.—G. H. Morgan.

God bases His rewards not on consciousness of service, but on fidelity to opportunity—G. Campbell Morgan.

If a man wants to live the great life, all the laws of the universe range themselves on his side.—J. D. Jones.

Deep in faithful persons lies, opens the mind to truth, both being of one family, alike immutable, universal and everlasting.—Channing.

If the Master of the harvest can bear with the tares His children need not be too impatient with the tares of earth. What you think to be tares may be God's wheat.—H. H. Jessup, D. D.

Religion is not a strange or added thing, but the inspiration of the secular life, the breathing of an eternal spirit through this temporal world.—Henry Drummond.

Some people live looking within at their failure. Some live looking around at their hindrances. Some live looking at their Saviour—they face the sunny south.—Mark Guy Pearse.

Keep one thing forever in view—the truth. And if you do this, though it may lead you away from the opinions of men, it will assuredly conduct you to the throne of God.—Horace Mann.

Things which could never have made a man happy develop a power to make him strong. Strength and not happiness, or, rather, only that happiness which comes by strength, is the end of human living.—Phillips Brooks.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic for the Week Beginning Aug. 30.

By HENRY H. BOYLE.

Topic.—The snare of worldliness.—John xiv, 27; xv, 18, 19; Matt. vi, 19-24.

As the result of the coming of sin into the world we live in a world of two kingdoms—the kingdom of God, to which the people of God belong, and the kingdom of the world, to which the children of the devil belong. These two kingdoms are opposed to one another, and the world delights in laying the trap for the people of God and in winning them from His kingdom. Nor are the allurements of the world to be despised. They are powerful in fascinating even those who have been born anew into the kingdom of heaven; hence, all Christians, and especially young Christians, need to constantly "watch and pray," lest they be entrapped by the snare of worldliness.

Worldliness promises what it cannot pay. To His disciples Jesus said, "Peace I leave with you; My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you." His reference to the world means that it promises peace, but cannot give it. He actually gives it. The world holds out many rewards to men that seem most alluring—pleasure, prosperity, success, fame—but they are vain promises. If won at the cost of sacrificing right they give no satisfaction. Let no one be deceived or ensnared. What the world has to give will never compensate us for the price it exacts. "What would it profit a man if he should gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

The Christian who refused to be ensnared by the world will be hated by it. But that matters nothing. The world hated Christ and crucified Him. "Is the disciple above his Lord?" It is a recommendation to have some people our enemies. The Christian should so consider the enmity of the world. "The world loves its own," and if it does not love us we need no surer proof that we belong not to the world, but to God.

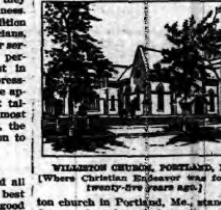
Life in this world is but temporary; that beyond is eternal. How foolish in any one to sacrifice eternity for a few years of time! What are the things the world can give us are but toys in comparison to the immortal joys which God has in store for us, and will we "sell eternity to obtain a toy?" Nor can we divide our allegiance between God and the world. "No man can serve two masters." It is God or the world. It cannot be God and the world. Which will we choose?

BIBLE READINGS.

Matt. v, 11, 12; vi, 33, 34; x, 16-25; Mark x, 24, 25; Luke xii, 4-9; Rom. xii, 9; II Cor. vi, 14-18; Eph. v, 11-20; Col. iii, 1-17; I John ii, 15-17.

A Famous Church.

The church where the Christian Endeavor movement had its first beginnings will always be a place dear to the Christian Endeavor heart. Willis-



WILLISTON CHURCH, PORTLAND, ME.
(Where Christian Endeavor was founded in 1881.)

ton church in Portland, Me., stands today much enlarged from its appearance on the February night twenty-five years ago when the faithful minister and the little company of young people gathered hand themselves together for Christian service and to do a deed that should echo around the world; but Williston church today is the same seat of enthusiasm it was then and in many ways intensified through its growth and prosperity. An appropriate bronze tablet on the front of the church, put there by the Endeavorers of the world, tells to the stranger and the unfamiliar that the first society of Christian Endeavor had its birth here.

Peace.

True peace is when the soul revolves around its center, Almighty God, craving for nothing beyond what God continually supplies, its passions subdued to itself, itself lovingly loyal to God, in harmony with its God and His laws. God made the soul for Himself, to have its bliss in this infinite, unchanging, eternal love. The soul then "must needs be restless" until it repose in Him." Everything, whether it belongs to the keenest intellect or the lowest senses, is an idol if the soul rests in it, apart from God. The soul craving for peace is its natural yearning for its end, its Maker and its God. Since the *soul is large enough to contain the in*finite God, nothing less than Himself can satisfy or fill it.—E. B. Pusey in Christian Work and Evangelist.

Broad Enough to Embrace All.

The Lutheran Evangelist declares that it "is for the unifying of all young people's organizations under the banner of Christian Endeavor. None of us is the less loyal to our several denominations by reason of our enthusiasm for Christian Endeavor. The spirit and aim of Christian Endeavor are broad enough to embrace all young people's organizations that stand for Christ and the church." That is good sense and good Christianity.

A Lookout Committee Acrostic.

Yoke together for a call together.
Persuade the indifferent to come to the meetings.
Speak to those who give not keeping the pledge.
Commend those who do well.
Examine into the cause for absence.
—Free Tree Endeavorer.

TERSELY TOLD TALES.

The Minister's Vacation.

Bishop McVicker, of Rhode Island, said one day in Providence, apropos of vacations:

"It is sometimes asserted that clergymen take too many vacations. This is an important question, and an original light was once thrown upon it by a prominent Philadelphian.

"A gentleman, just back from Europe, said to this Philadelphian:

"By the way, I met your minister in Parisiast month.'

"'Yes, sir,' drawled the Philadelphian with languid interest. 'And what did he have to say for himself?'

"'He said, replied the tourist, 'that he was taking a long vacation. It seemed to me, though, that he looked remarkably well. He didn't seem in any great need of a rest.'

"'No,' said the Philadelphian calmly; 'and he wasn't, either. It was his congregation that needed a rest.'"

A Test That Failed.

"A stupid class of employers," said W. S. Allen, secretary of the Federated Charities, of Baltimore, "have a way of testing the honesty of new servants and clerks by leaving money about. They don't realize, so profound is their stupidity, that they are putting a great temptation in the way of honest people by these tests. They can't possibly understand that, when the employees trip up, it is their fault, because they were the ones who set out the stumbling block.

"Hence I am glad when one of these narrow and stupid employers tests goes the wrong way by these tests. My heart still rejoices over a happening that I heard of yesterday.

"A lawyer had engaged a new office boy. To test the boy's honesty he put a $20 note under the electric fan on his desk, letting the end protrude, of them just enough to be visible.

"On his return, a couple of hours later, the note was gone. A silver quarter occupied its place.

"Pale with rage and horror, the lawyer called the new boy to him.

"'Look here,' he shouted, 'when I went out I left $20 under this fan. Now there's only a quarter there. How do you explain it?'

"The boy smiled brightly.

Cigarette Popular in the East.

Says a writer in the Pekin and Tientsin Times: "The cigarette has caught the popular favor in the east and farcast, being a smoke seemingly peculiarly adaptable to Asiatics. The long-stemmed pipe is giving way everywhere to the cigarette. All classes of Chinese take to it, even rickasha coolies, some brands of the cigarette being so cheap that the beggars in Peking are seen often indulging in a quiet smoke."

Oh, What a Fall!

The Hackman (at Niagara)—That's the Horseshoe Fall.

The Tourist (from Eden Valley)—I see. An' that there other one's the Horse-power Falls, eh?—Puck.

What Made It Valuable.

An excited individual ran up to a porter at a railway station and asked: "Have you seen a parcel I left on this seat?" The porter replied that he had not. "Oh, what shall I do?" exclaimed the excited passenger; "it contains three poems I have written." "Can't you write them again?" asked the unsympathetic porter. "Yes, I can do that, but," hesitatingly, "there were two sandwiches in the parcel as well."—Christian World.

Miss Bessie Fitzgerald, of West Second street, has returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Henry C. Squires, of Watchung avenue, is registered at the Coleman House, Asbury Park.

Mrs. Ellis Ward and family, of Duer street, have gone to Bangor, Pa., for their summer vacation.

Mrs. Samuel Porter Williams, of Hartford, Conn., has been spending some days in town with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. F. Randolph, of Grant avenue, are sojourning at Asbury Park for the rest of the month.

Dr. Charles B. Lafburrow, of West Front street, is enjoying his outing at his old home, Atlantic Highlands.

Miss Mary Peterson, of West Third street, left Saturday for New Bedford, Mass., to remain several weeks.

Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Long, of Park avenue, have been entertaining friends from out of town.

Mrs. James D. Moon, of Norwood avenue, has been stopping at Gray Swan Inn, Spring Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch, of West Eighth street, are registered at the Eagle Mountain House, Jackson, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Osland, and Miss Dorothy Osland, of East Front street, are at the Clifton, Asbury Park.

Miss Helen Ingham, of Fort Wayne, Ind., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Titsworth, of West Front street.

The Misses Lenora and Ella Miller, of this city, have been spending their vacation at Asbury, Hunterdon county.

Dr. Ralph W. Emerson, of West Front street, who has been spending his vacation at Swartswood Lake, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Reimer, of East Second street, are entertaining the former's parents from Catasaqua, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Koons and Miss Olive Koons, of Sandford avenue, are registered at the Ocean Hotel, Asbury Park.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST,

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per, year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1906.

The investigation just begun by the State Census Bureau into the records of the New Jersey divorce courts for the past twenty years is one of the greatest importance and will be momentous in its consequences. It is sought to ascertain from these documents, among other things, the number of years the plaintiff and defendant had been married, the number of children affected by the decree, whether alimony was asked and granted, the occupation of those concerned, whether intemperance was the cause and whether the suit was contested. When gathered into a comprehensive report the data will make such a showing up of the divorce evil that must inevitably lead in time to the adoption by the states of uniform divorce laws, which at present are scarcely the same in any two states. In recognition of the results of this lack of uniformity, leading to all sorts of complications, attempts have been made for a number of years to rectify it. Commissions have been appointed by many states to make a study of the question and agree on a uniform law, but nothing has ever come of it. The work of the Census Bureau will impart a new zeal to this movement. Some of the oldest states and several of the new ones in the West derive a considerable revenue from their divorce mills and cupidity has stood in the way of sorely needed reform. The coming exposure will shame them into joining in it, or the other states, roused by the records, will force them into it by putting a ban upon them, refusing to recognize the validity of their decrees. Some of these easy divorce grants have already been declared invalid in New Jersey and other states and if the ban were made general the recalcitrant states would soon fall in line.

The action of the Middlesex Water Company in placing a large main in the South Plainfield pond for the purpose of increasing its water supply is a matter of vital interest to residents in that section of Piscataway township and one that will undoubtedly lead to legal complications. Aside from the question of safety in using the water, it may mean the lowering of the level of the pond and its attractiveness will be destroyed and also that of the lake at New Market, which is fed from the same source. In both these villages the water sheets are the means of bringing in many visitors and their loss will be irreparable. Their depth is not any too much at any time of the year, even during the spring freshets, and the deviation of thousands of gallons of the supply a day is certain to result in the loss of boating and kindred pleasures. The company claims ownership of the South Plainfield pond and the right to use the water after proper filtration, but this is challenged by the people directly affected. They have looked into the matter carefully and discovered other points which will permit them to invoke the aid of the courts. As Senator Kean and Frank Bergen are members of the company and take no important move without due deliberation, a protest of any kind is sure to be vigorously opposed by them and so make the battle a memorable one.

The action of the North Plainfield Council in keeping its budget the same as last year is one that indicates capable management of its affairs and will meet with the approval of every property owner. A total of $21,800 was agreed upon as the amount needed for the borough's expenses in the next twelve months and despite drains from every department a fair-sized sum was saved from it. An opportunity was thus provided for taking care of some improvements that have been asked for but the councilmen preferred to let them wait still longer and apply the sum to current expenses. As a result $21,800 was again made the sum total for the ensuing year and the balance in hand will provide for the natural increase. An incident of this kind is a rare happening and is especially noteworthy from the fact that the borough has been called upon to pay for sewer investigation work and several other matters not expected when the budget was made up in 1905.

Justice Reed has filed in the Supreme Court an opinion declaring unconstitutional the fifth section of the "Bishops' bill" which provides for the appointment of excise boards in first-class cities by judges of the Common Pleas Court. The effect of the opinion is to set aside the excise boards named in Newark and Jersey City by the judges, and to restore to office the old excise boards named by the local authorities.

Physicians have succeeded in removing from the eye of a Harrisburg, Pa., man, a piece of steel that had been imbedded there for fourteen years. Now, if they would only come over this way and extract the brass from the Plainfield ice trust the citizens would rise up and call them blessed.

John D. Rockefeller's announced intention to endow a home for chorus girls is worthy of commendation, but he should go further. A building with padded cells for stage-door Johnnies of the type revealed by the White-Thaw episode is sadly needed.

A settler writing from South Africa asserts that appendicitis is unknown to the natives of that continent. We accept the statement and hasten to add that B. R. T. riots and Packingtown methods are also.

That awful sound as if someone were demolishing a soap box in the kitchen was made by the local Democratic party righting itself after hearing of V. P. Frazee's appointment to the Republican election board.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

Never in the history of parliament have the full number of members been present at one sitting.

The salaries committee of Stockport, England, has advanced the salary of the municipal draftsman $2.50 a year—about 5 cents a week.

For throwing a bottle from the window of a carriage on the London and Southwestern railway, between Surbiton and Vauxhall stations, a man was fined 60 shillings and 40 shillings costs.

On the banks of Norwich, England, the children enjoy one of the finest sports possible—tobogganing down a steep sand hill. The sand bluff is 130 feet high, of soft sand, and the coasters slide down by hundreds.

The first death in Westminster abbey since that of Henry IV., who died there in 1413, recently occurred during a meeting under the chairmanship of the dean. Rev. Ma. Shepard dropped dead just as he had finished his speech.

The Day of the Scarf.

It must be admitted that some of the new scarfs are so displanous that their quality for warmth exists in name only. Soft, delicately tinted and shaded cobweb tissues, the most charming of them are fitting accompaniments to the most elaborate evening gowns, but as these are not of much use when the weather is really cool, society has taken up in earnest the mannies and capes of the late Empire date. The wide cloaks of light cloth, unlined and with bright colored collars, worn by the men of the First Empire have been adapted to suit modern feminity. Sort jackets, too, cut in points like a shawl, have come to the front again. These fasten in front with heavy cords, and are trimmed with fancy buttons and balls and insertions of guimpe and point d'Alencon.

NEWEST CORSET MODELS.

The greatest contour of the corset still remains the same, youthfully rounded curves and the tapering lines being at present the effects most in demand.

Of course, novelties are constantly being introduced upon the market, with more or less success according to their design, but they are all designed to further the interests of the princess models, rather than create any innovation in outline.

The habit-backed corset is a novelty that has been placed upon the market to aid in fulfilling the demand for an unimpeachable fit in the princess costumes.

These corsets are adjusted to the form either by one lacing directly in the center of the front, with the clasp at one side or by two lacings, one on each side with the clasp in the center.

The idea of the side clasp is the one lacing model, is to insure pulling the corset correctly about the figure in tightening. it.

These samples are developed in the most seasonable class of goods, and the most exquisitely brocaded silks and broche patterns are used to further their attractiveness.

The lightest and coolest of batistes are greatly in demand by the summer trade, and any device that is practical and calculated to further the comfort of womankind during the warm months, is hailed with enthusiasm.

Many of the models that have been designed practically for stout figures have been made with ventilated busts, and their manufacturers claim for them that they add materially to the comfort.

For stout figures a forked front corset has been devised that will aid greatly in keeping the abdomen flat, and giving the entire figure a far more girlish appearance. The two front steels are made with an additional piece that forks away from the main stay about five inches from the bottom, and when held in place by a firmly adjusted garter, is calculated to reduce the figure and fulfill its mission perfectly.

A Polite Editor.

"Why did you tell that poet to hitch his wagon to a star?"

"That," answered the editor gloomily, "was my polite way of saying I wished he'd get off the earth."—Exchange.

An Early Bird.

"Procrastination is a dangerous thing in business, isn't it?" said the young man who is anxious to learn.

"I should say so," answered Dustin Stax. "You don't know how thankful I am that I made my pile before all that furore for investigation started in."—Washington Star.

DEFEATED GLEN GARDNER.

Dunellen Team Has An Easy Time of It Up State.

Dunellen scored enough runs in the first inning to win Saturday afternoon's game at Glen Gardner, but the visiting team did not stop until it made six runs, while the home aggregation had to be satisfied with one tally.

W. Giles, the first man up, hit for two bases, Fletcher then singled, allowing Giles to go to third. Fletcher stole second and both came home on Piddington's long single to left field. Randolph pitched a fine game, holding the one team down to three scattered hits, which coupled with superb support almost whitewashed the Glen Gardner boys.

In the home team's half of the ninth inning, Morgan, the first man up, struck out. Miller singled past short, stole second and went to third. The next man up fanned, making two out. L. Miller could not connect with Randolph's wide out curves. Before he was retired, he was hit on the wrist by the ball and given a pass. A passed ball by Howard Giles allowed Miller to come home. Glen the Glen Gardners their only run. This was practically the same team that lost to Dunellen last year by a score of 8 to 4, when "Phil." Smith pitched for Dunellen. Features of the game, outside of Randolph's pitching, was the playing of Miller at third for the home team, the batting and fielding of W. Giles, Fletcher and Piddington for Dunellen. The score:

DUNELLEN.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
W. Giles	2	2	3	0	0
Fletcher, 2b	1	2	1	2	0
Piddington, 1b	0	2	8	0	0
H. Giles, c	1	1	8	1	1
Peacock, lf	0	0	3	1	0
Brakeley, 3b	0	0	3	0	0
Garretson, cf	0	0	3	0	1
Lake, rf	0	0	1	0	0
Randolph, p	1	1	2	0	0
	6	9	27	8	2

GLEN GARDNER.

	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
Siegfried, 2b, ...	0	0	2	2	1
Morgan, ss	0	0	0	2	0
T. Miller, 3b	1	1	2	3	0
A. Gardner, lf	0	1	2	0	0
L. Miller, cf	0	0	2	0	0
G. Gardner, 1b	0	0	8	0	0
Green, c	0	0	10	1	0
Runyon, p	0	1	0	1	0
Rush, rf	0	0	1	0	0
	1	3	27	7	1

Dunellen .....2 0 2 0 0 0 0 2 0—6
Glen Gardner ...0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1

Earned runs—Dunellen, 5. Two base hits—W. Giles and Piddington. Double play—W. Giles and Piddington. First base on balls—Off Runyon, 1; off Randolph, 2. Struck out—By Runyon, 9; by Randolph, 8. Hit by pitcher—L. Miller. Passed ball—H. Giles. Umpire—Mr. Devlin.

CUBAN X GIANTS DEFEAT DAAB'S HOBOKEN TEAM.

Perez Allows His Opponents But Two Hits in the Contest.

The Hobokens were defeated at St. George's Cricket Grounds, yesterday, by the Cuban X Giants, for the second time this season. The score was 4 to 2. A few weeks ag the Cubans were victorious by a score of 2 to 1 and later a fourteen inning tie game was played by these teams. Perez only allowed his opponents two hits, Snow being the lucky man to connect for a single. A wild throw in the second inning netting them two runs and a base hit and wild throw in their half of the fourth brought three more runs across the plate, making the score 5 to 0. Rausch, in the box for the Magnolias, proved a very clever man

MARTINE TO MOODY

He Says Papers Misquoted Him Regarding Bryan Visit Scrap.

LIKES CRANFORD SAGE

Never Questioned His Honesty of Motive "In This or Any Other Matter," He Writes.

Disturbed by reports of what he was alleged to have said regarding John Moody's efforts to discredit Former Senator Jim Smith with William Jennings Bryan, James E. Martine has made an explanation of his position to the sage of Cranford and of True Democracy. He smooched Mr. Moody down with the following cordial and comforting letter:

"Plainfield, Aug. 14, 1906.

"Hon. John Moody.

"My Dear Friend:—In my interview with reporter I certainly did not intend, nor did I criticise your action. I distinctly stated that I had the utmost confidence in whatever you might do as being for the best interest of the Democratic party—that I claimed to be a warm personal friend and admirer of you. At the time of interview I had no reason to doubt that Senator Smith had received a letter from Mr. Bryan. This being the case, you will readily understand the prompting of my remarks. I said that I regretted any friction, and was personally glad that men who had opposed Mr. Bryan were now ready to give him attention and honor. The papers make me say things that were never spoken.

"There has never arisen a question in my mind as to the honesty of your motives in this or any other matter.

"Your friend,

"J. E. MARTINE."

Mr. Martine knows Jim Smith pretty well, but nobody has heard that he sent him a letter. The farmer orator has always been opposed by the bonds, and it is only those who know him are not surprised that he hastens to call the anti-gang leader of the True Democracy his friend.

Bryan, despite Mr. Moody's work, is going to Newark. It is not believed, however, that he will allow Mr. Smith to gather undue glory or prestige from the visit.

CLOVER CLUB NETS $32.84 FOR CHARITY

ORGANIZATION OF YOUNG PEOPLE HAS FAIR FOR NETHERWOOD HOME BENEFIT

As a result of a succesful fair and lawn party at the home of John D. McAleer, of West Third street, the Clover Club, an organization of boys and girls of the West End, turned over to Miss Sara Curry at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Monday afternoon the sum of $32.84 to be used in connection with the work at the home. This makes a total of $44.00 the young people have netted for the work during the summer, for a fair in July netted $11.76 for Miss Curry's work.

The fair was held Saturday afternoon, every member of the club taking part in the preparations and in conducting the many prettily decorated booths built upon the lawn. The ice cream booth was in charge of Miriam Emery, Madeline Pennington and Bessie McAleer; Carol Nelson was the master of the grab bag. At the cake and candy booth were Beatrice Shelmadine, Lydia Nelson and John McAleer and a "Happy Hooligan" baseball shooting gallery was conducted by Louis Nelson and Richard Scott.

A feature of the fair was a "bat," carefully caged and exhibited by George Martine, who "caught it." It was closely protected in a small wooden box, and for the payment of a small sum, one could look in and see—a half brick, for it was a "brick bat" on exhibition. The secret was well kept and everybody was "stung," so the fierce creature helped swell the funds. Lemonade and soft drinks were sold at a tastefully decorated booth by Fred McAleer and Joseph Pennington. During the afternoon a chicken was raffled off at the fair, finally being won by Mrs. W. Jones, who has since donated it to the Netherwood Home, where it will be caged as a pet. Through the kindness of F. L. C. Martin, many took a spin in an automobile which was at the grounds. The tickets were sold by Russell Crateley.

The Clover Club is an organization of fourteen boys and girls, the eldest of whom is fourteen years of age. The present officers of the club are Richard Scott, president; Fred McAleer, vice president; Louis Nelson, recording secretary; Russell Crateley, treasurer; and Joseph Pennington, financial secretary.

Sign of the Cherry Tree.

The enterprising landlord who advertised his house as being located "in a grove of gigantic cherry trees with a ladder for each guest," writes to say that advertising pays and none others need apply.

PUT SPEAKER'S DOCTRINE INSTANTLY IN PRACTISE

CLOVER CLUB GIVES MONEY TO CAMP AFTER ADDRESS ON "SERVICE."

Immediately putting into practise the doctrine of doing good for others, and of scattering, not gathering blessings in this world, which had formed the theme of Rev. Fletcher Humphrey's address at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Monday afternoon, John D. McAleer, of West Third street, presented to Miss Sara Curry, the matron of the home, $32.84 in money, the proceeds of the Clover Club lawn festival, at the conclusion of the address of the afternoon on "Love and Service." The entire club of fourteen members, wearing white caps with clover blossoms on the front, were present at the service and showed much interest in the work during a tour of inspection after the service.

Rev. Fletcher Humphrey, who addressed the meeting, was formerly general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of the State of Indiana and is an earnest, whole souled speaker. He spoke principally to the children at the home yesterday afternoon, impressing them with the idea of God as a loving Father rather than a mere creator or force and cause of things, as scientific research might lead the Christian to believe. He urged the mental conception of God as a friend, always watching over the world He has created and seeking to comfort and uplift all in it to the life hereafter.

The second part of the address was upon the gift of service. The speaker said that the main part of life in this world was not what we get out of it from others, but what we put into it for others. He cited as an example of this sort of thing the home at Netherwood, where Miss Sara Curry and others interested in the work have made self subservient and have endeavored primarily to benefit others. The true Christian should do good for good's sake and should aim to scatter, not to gather, blessings. Each life should be enriched by the knowledge of having lifted up some one and been of some help to him or her as a Christian.

Singing was a feature of the service, which was conducted by Benjamin Hadley, of Netherwood. Aside from the rendition of several gospel hymns during the meeting, there was a duet, "Just For Today," by Misses Nellie and Elsie Tudor, two of the New Yorkers at the camp, and a cornet solo by Whitney C. Frazee, who, with Miss Mary Clark at the melodian, accompanied the singing. A poem composed by Mrs. Frank, one of the New York mothers now at the camp, was read during the course of the service from the platform. The initial letters of the first word of each line taken together spell the name "Sara Curry," the "Mother Carry" of the 300 children now at the camp. The poem follows:

Show some kindness toward our captain
As we follow in her band,
Reaching out to every captive
As her work spreads through the land.

Caring for the sick and weary
Uniting all with loving care,
Ready, if the days are dreary,
Running always everywhere.
Yes, she gives a mother's care.

A Buenos Ayres Host.

"The Standard," of Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, of recent date, contains the following interesting item about a former Plainfielder: "Last Wednesday night, William R. Sweeney entertained "The New School" at dinner at the "Bliss Mange" in Calle Florida. Professor Page provided the music. Included among the guests were Messrs. Ricardo, Fernandez, Miguel Cadret, Manuel Cadret, Ercardo, Moreno, Henry Emthoven, Pablo Sivori, Bennet Lamb, Dominico Pidanga, Matias Garrisa, J. C. Sidebottom and Daniel de Amadeo." Mr. Sweeney has been in Buenos Ayres the past six months looking after mining interest for a big concern.

Miss Johnson Entertains.

Miss Mary Johnson, of 90 Myrtle avenue, entertained a number of friends at her home, Friday night. There was vocal and instrumental selections and at a late hour refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson, Miss Rasefield, Miss Johnson, I. H. Bailey, of Plainfield; Miss White, of New York; L. B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl B. Cash, of Trenton.

Dinner Date Changed.

Because of C. M. Burt having a previous engagement for August 28, the contemplated dinner to be given him at Paxinosa Inn, Easton, by newspaper editors along the line of the New Jersey Central, has been changed to Monday, August 27. From present indications it will be largely attended.

Walter Colombo Improving.

Walter Colombo, the eleven-year-old lad from Jersey City, who had his right foot cut off and his left one badly lacerated on a farm at Murray Hill last week, is improving at Muhlenberg Hospital. It is now believed he will recover, and the chances are the left foot will be saved.

ESCAPED FROM CITY JAIL

Lewis Milligan Gets Away Through Officer's Carelessness With Key.

BAFFLES PURSUERS

Has Only One Leg, But He Manages To Get Clear Away and Leave No Trace.

Finding the key to his cell handy, Lewis Milligan, the young man who was arrested Saturday by Captain Irwin, of the Probation Officer's staff, for commitment to the Reformatory as an habitual criminal who showed no signs of becoming anything else, unlocked himself yesterday afternoon and walked out of the city jail. He is still out, and there are no indications that he will be put back in a hurry.

Milligan made his escape with absured ease. There was no deep plotting, no cunning manipulation of bolts or bars. He simply used the jailkeeper's own key, which was left where he could reach it by putting out his hand.

Milligan was locked in at the end of the steel cages. Inside cell next to him Sunday was Edward Carroll, who had been arrested Saturday night for drunkenness. It is customary to release Saturday drunks over Sunday, on Judge Runyon's order, for appearance on Monday, and the magistrate came to the station house at 12:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon to free Carroll. Patrolman Charles Flynn was acting as jail keeper. He took the big master key back to the cell room and opened Carroll's cage. The cell doors swing back all the way against the next cage, and Flynn flung the one he opened about as far back as it could go. He left the key in the lock, and it stared Milligan in the face, about three inches from the first opening between the bars of his cell.

Flynn left the key in the open door and took Carroll to the court-room. Carroll was promptly released, and Flynn gave no further thought of the cell room key in the door, inadvertingly before the shifty Milligan. As soon as the latter saw that Flynn was not going to hurry back, he put out his hand, plucked the key from the door and worked it on his own lock. In ten steps he was in the hall leading to the rear door, which is never locked—it leads to the barn, and Driver O'Gorman uses it every ten or fifteen minutes—and in half a dozen more steps he was out in the open and ready for flight.

Milligan has only one leg, and the cork substitute for the other hampers his gait considerably, but he managed to lose himself so effectually by the time the police started in pursuit that they could get no trace of him. The escape was discovered about an hour after it happened. Sergeant Frederickson came to the station house at 2 o'clock to take Milligan to Elizabeth, from where he is to have been committed to Rahway. When the Sergeant went back into the cell room after his man, the open door with the key on the inside told its story. Pursuit was organized at once. All the officers who could be located were started on the hunt, and every barn and hiding place for two blocks around was searched. Not a trace of Mulligan was discovered, and the sergeant telephoned the alarm to all the villages, towns and cities along the railroad and the trolley. He was told later that the fugitive was in Scotch Plains at 2:45 o'clock, but a Daily Press reporter knows to a certainty that Milligan was on Second street near Park avenue at about that time. Where he hid himself between the time of his escape and 3:45 o'clock is a mystery.

Milligan is a facile traveller by freight trains, and the police expect him to get far enough away from safety before they can take up his trail. They also expect him to stay away from Plainfield for good. He will be hustled to the Reformatory the first time the local police get their hands on him, and he knows it. The Probation Officer has a direct interest in Milligan's recapture, because he was a probationer when arrested.

This is the first escape effected from the new cells, which were installed about two years ago. They are supposed to be impregnable before saws, files and picklocks.

ROEBLINGS DEFEAT HOBOKEN AT TRENTON.

"Phil." Smith Hit Hard By Mercer County Players.

Daab's Hoboken team visited Trenton Saturday afternoon, and met the Roeblings for the second time this season. The "Dickensmiths" were victorious again, defeating the visiting team by a score of 5 to 2. "Willie" Deegan pitched four innings for his team, when he was relieved in the fifth by "Phil." Smith. The latter was hit pretty hard by the Trenton bunch, scoring three and in the sixth inning. The Roeblings secured a total of seven hits, while the Hobokens only got four off of Hart. The score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Roeblings	0	0	1
Hoboken	0	0	2

Batteries—Hart and McCune; Deegan, Smith and O'Neil.

ROOT ABBOTT DEFEATED BY GILMAN P. TIFFANY

C. B. MORGAN WINS CLUB CUP IN DEAL GOLF TOURNEY.

Gilman P. Tiffany, of the Powelton Golf Club, won the annual invitation golf tournament on the links of the Deal Golf and Country Club, Saturday. He defeated Robert Abbott, of this city, intercollegiate champion, by 2 up and 1 to play, in the final round, after the Plainfielder had defeated W. T. West, of Princeton, in the morning round. E. M. Wild, the sixteen-year-old player from the Cranford Golf Club, won the second cup, Tiffany, with a card of 79, set a new competitive record for the course.

In the morning, in the semi-final round for the President's cup, Abbott was opposed to W. T. West, of Philadelphia, while Tiffany had S. D. Bowers, the Brooklawn veteran, for an opponent. The Abbott-West match was marked by flashes of brilliancy and streaks of play decidedly mediocre. Abbott won by 3 up and 2 to play, returning a card of 86 to 91 for his opponent.

The largest gallery seen at Deal in a long time followed the finalists in the afternoon. It was conceded at the start that Abbott would outdrive the Powelton expert, but the latter was expected to off-set this with a more deadly short game. At the outset Tiffany penalized himself by pulling his drives. Abbott plays all his full shots in good form, but his half-irons are weak. His card to the turn showed an even 40, as against 42 for the Hudson River Golf Association champion. Tiffany was 2 down. Abbott's fatal score was 83, while the winner of the tournament showed a card of 79.

For the Vice President's cup, semi-final round, Dudley H. Barrows beat R. D. Stoutenburgh, Deal, 5 up and 4 to play, and in the final round Barrows was defeated by E. M. Wild, of Cranford, 1 up.

In the semi-final round for the Club cup, C. B. Morgan, Plainfield, beat C. A. LaBarre, Navesink, 2 up and 1 to play, and in the final round Morgan won the cup by defeating G. H. Bowly, Roseville, 3 up and 1 to play.

FINISH OF MATINEE RACE IS POSTPONED

HARNESS HORSES WILL FIGHT IT OUT NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Two events were on the cards at the matinee meet of the Driving Association at the Driving Park, Park avenue, Saturday afternoon. One of them was not finished.

The first race was between J. W. Johnson's Hartwood Bell, B. Waldron's John Wilson, Mr. Sterling's Florence D. and Somerville Maid, and George Conover's Roan View. Roan View won the first heat in 2:27½; Florence D. took the second in 2:30, and John Wilson won the third in 2:28¼. The race will be finished next Saturday afternoon.

Only two horses started in the next race: William Hobbie's bay pacer and H. E. Blair's trotter, Bluemont. Bluemont took two straight heats and the race, in slow time.

The Westfield horses that were expected did not put in an appearance. It is understood that they will perform on the track next Saturday. Some fast heats are looked for.

Inventive Jerseymen.

Patents issued August 16, 1906, reported by Dyke & Co., solicitors of American and foreign patents, Broad and Market streets, Newark: Rubber printing stamp, L. Blackmore, Arlington; machine for closing receptacles, M. M. Burchett, Glenridge; flexible roller-bearings, S. S. Crane, Orange; sound-box for talking machines, J. C. English, Camden; water heater, G. R. Fickert, Jersey City; producing flat-molded sound-records, W. H. Hoyt, Wyoming; separator for twisting machines and the like, J. A. Jamieson, Harrison; arm rest, S. Kline, Trenton; stenciling machine, E. F. Kunath, Jersey City; means for harvesting ice in the field, F. E. Losee, Newton; elevator gate, B. Lovette, Newark; valve or stopper, C. W. Meinecke, Jersey City Heights; caisson, D. E. Moran, Mendham; shafting for caissons and the like, D. E. Moran, Mendham; seed distributer, D. V. C. Rapp, Jersey City; garment hanger, M. L. Shanbury, Highwood; (designs) badge, C. S. Hurd, Newark; badge or pin, B. Joachin, Newark.

Plainfielders at Mount Washington.

Among the arrivals on Saturday at the Summit House, Mount Washington, N. H., noted in "Among the Clouds," a semi-weekly published on the summit of Mount Washington, were Mrs. A. C. Nickerson, Mrs. Daniel Rapalje and daughter, Miss K. W. Rapalje, Miss Carlton Avenue, this city. "Among the Clouds" is published 6,300 feet above the sea and is an interesting summer resort paper.

W. P. Spangenberg and Albegt Spangenberg, of Netherwood, have returned from a visit with friends at Bound Brook.

TAX RATE STILL PENDING

Impossible to Announce It Until Assessors in County Complete Their Work.

WILL PROBABLY BE $1.25

Not Likely That Plainfield Will Have To Help Make Up Any Elizabeth Deficiency.

Until all members of the county Boards of Assessors complete their work and the amounts to be raised for county purposes are determined, it will be impossible for the Plainfield Board to make any announcement about the local tax rate for the coming year. While there has been an impression that the Elizabeth assessors have been holding back for the purpose of ascertaining first what the rest of the county would do, it can be stated authoritatively that Elizabeth's report will be up to those of the rest of the county, and the county seat will have a showing that will equal that of Plainfield, if not better.

As far as can be ascertained at present, Plainfield will not have to pay any extra tax to help make up any deficiency at Elizabeth. It was thought that the county seat assessors would fail to assess at full value as required by law and that other parts of the county would be expected to even the matter up.

All of the county assessors, with the exception of those at Elizabeth, have completed their work, and it is believed that those at the county seat will finish this week. The county Board of Taxation has been busy revising the books of the assessors and by the time the Elizabeth assessors complete their task the taxation board will be ready to go over their books.

It is still maintained by the local assessors that Plainfield's tax rate for the coming year will probably be $1.25 or $1.26 per hundred and as they are thoroughly acquainted with conditions they should be able to make a fairly accurate guess.

The books of Assessor Young, of Fanwood borough, not having come up to the standard required by law which compells an assessment at full value, have been returned by the county board of assessors. Arrangements have been made for the county board to meet Collector Sheelen, of Fanwood borough, tomorrow and Wednesday and go over the entire borough, with a view to raising the assessments where they belong.

Assessor Young appears not to have understood the provisions of the new law, for the assessments he returned this year were identical with those made last year by the said assessor, William R. Staubery. This work was not satisfactory, hence the plan to make another assessment. Collector Sheelen being thoroughly familiar with every property in the borough, will be able to give the county board valuable assistance.

BERKELEY HEIGHTS GETS A THOROUGH BEATING

GILLETTE-STIRLING TEAM SLUGS THE BALL FOR 22 RUNS TO 1.

What happened to the Berkeleys, of Berkeley Heights, when the Gillette-Stirling combination met them on their own grounds Saturday afternoon was enough to lose any ordinary team for a season. Capt. Jacot's men piled up 22 runs on seventeen hits and five errors, and the pride of William Jeffery's pocket borough could only manage to pull one tally through.

Neither Exner nor Rogers could hold the slugging Gillette-Stirlings down. They piled out hits and scored runs in every inning but one, and they made a whirlwind finish by tallying a total of thirteen marks in their last two possessions. The artistic ting of Capt. Jacot was a feature. He hammered the ball safely four times in six cracks at it. Berkeley was completely outplayed. Lindimeyer held them in tight check all the way, and four hits was the best they could do with his delivery. Miranghi pulled off a spectacular play on his own hook in the seventh, by stealing home cleanly while Exner held the ball.

Batting order and score by innings:

Gillette-Stirling—Loolian, rf; J. Jacot, 1b and capt.; A. Jacot, lf; Duffy, 2b; McCue, 3b; Moffett, c; Miranghi, ss; Lindinmeyer, p; Wahl, cf.

Berkeley Heights—C. Burgmiller, 1b; Schwartz, cf; W. Burgmiller, ss; Fuchs, c; Debbie, 3b; L. Burgmiller, rf; Hansen, 2b; Exner, lf and p; R. Rogers, p and lf.

	R.	H.	E.
G.-S.	1	1	2
B. H.	0	0	0

Easton M. French, of Somerset street, who made a trip to Wofboro, N. H., last week in his auto, will return home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of the borough, who are sojourning at Mouse Island, Me., are expected home September 1.

Lost Money by Theft.

The Misses Martine and Edith Tracy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, of West Eighth street, are spending a part of the summer in Canada.

DIED.

MILLIKEN—At Paul Smith's, Adirondacks, August 13, Cecile Isabel, wife of Edward F. Milliken.

DORGAN—In this city, August 14, 1906, Thomas Dorgan.

CORIELL—At Dunellen, Sunday, August 19, 1906, Sarah Anne, widow of the late Richard Coriell, aged 76 years.

MARTIN—In this city, August 15, 1906, Elizabeth, wife of Adam Martin, aged 56 years, 10 months and 2 days.

HANSON—On Thursday, August 16, 1906, Millard A., only son of Millard E. and Henrietta Hanson, aged 12 years.

DALEY—In this city, Aug. 15, 1906, Catherine, wife of William Daley, aged 48 years.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 B. Lake St., Chicago.

C T 19 18

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO MINNIE HALL AND GRACIE ROGERS.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein William M. Stillman, executor of the last will and testament of Daniel F. Randolph, deceased, is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the twenty-first day of September next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you. The said bill is filed for construction of the will of said Daniel F. Randolph, deceased, and for specific performance of contract of sale made between said executor and one Minnie B. Stephenson of certain lands and premises in the city of Plainfield aforesaid, known as No. 502 West Seventh street in said city; that the names of all the defendants to said cause are as follows, Minnie E. Stephenson, Theodore P. Randolph, Gilbert F. Hall, individually and as executrix of the last will and testament of Mary A. Randolph, deceased, and as administratrix of the estate of Allen F. Randolph, deceased, Minnie Hall and Gracie Rogers.

And you the said Minnie Hall and Gracie Rogers are made defendants hereto because you have an interest in said real estate or in the proceeds of sale thereof, under the will of said Daniel F. Randolph, deceased.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. STILLMAN,
Solicitor for complainant.
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated July 26, 1906. 7 26 4 9

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of pattern. This is on account of their style, accuracy and perfect fit.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other fashion publication. It is the authority on correct dress. Every issue contains a dozen or more full-page designs in colors, and hundreds of other illustrations. Price, 50 cents a year; 5 cents a copy. Subscriptions received today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue of the up-to-date McCall Patterns, and Premium List sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Rose H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is the rage of the day. Each one is the best novel and fairly blossom with wit and humor. Attractive colors, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson in the South.
Jack Henderson on Monday.
Jack Henderson on Tuesday.
Jack Henderson on Christmas.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues and keeping down doctor bills. Price 50c per vol; per set, $2.00; postpaid. Sold at booksellers or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
398-399 Broadway, New York

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books.

Beautify Your Home

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 22d Street New York City

Guaranteed Salary

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel, appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses paid for advancement. Old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position; liberal income for future. New, brilliant ideas. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. R. CODINGTON,
Counsellor-at-Law
Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park Avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN
Livery & Boarding Stables
FOURTH ST.,
between Watchung and Park avenue a first-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff
Fire and Life
INSURANCE AGENT
OFFICE,

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

a now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,
Between Front and Second streets

Tinners,
Plumbers
and
Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your tinware mending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Grates of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, Cashier.
Jeremiah Manning, } Vice-Pres
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January 5th will draw interest from the first.

ENGINEER TEATS DEAD

Fanwood Accident Claimed Its Second Victim at 5:20 This Morning.

RECENTLY PROMOTED.

Was for Many Years Fireman on the 7:55 Plainfield Express—Leaves Wife and Child.

George Teats, the second victim of the peculiar accident which occurred on the New Jersey Central at Fanwood Tuesday afternoon, when a flue pipe burst on engine 517 on which he was riding to Somerville, died at 5:20 Saturday at Muhlenberg Hospital, without the knowledge of the death of his friend, Edward Kelley, who was the fireman on the same engine. Kelley died yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock. All day yesterday Teats' condition grew rapidly worse and he was delirious most of the time.

At the time of the accident it was reported that Kelley's condition was the worst, but later it was learned that Teats was burned just as badly and there was very little difference in the condition of the two men. It was Teats who rescued Kelley from the water tank on the engine.

Teats, who was twenty-nine years old, was promoted about two months ago from a fireman to an engineer. For many years he was the fireman on the 7:55 morning express from Plainfield to New York, and he won his promotion by strict attention to his duties and efficiency. He is survived by a young wife and an eighteen-months-old child. His residence was at Bayonne, but he formerly lived at Somerville and was the son-in-law of George Mundy, of that place.

Dunster & Sutphen, undertakers of Somerville, removed the body of Teats to the latter place this morning, where the funeral services will be held.

Kelley and another brother were the support of a widowed mother and she is prostrated by the death of the young man.

GEORGE L. RECORD MUST WAIT FOR A HEARING.

Investigating Commissioners Are Present On Their Vacations.

George L. Record received a letter from Senator Edmund W. Wakelee, chairman of the Senate Committee, to investigate riparian matters, stating that it would probably not be possible for the committee to meet until September for giving Record an opportunity to make a defense to the charges in the testimony of Secretary Payne of the Riparian Commission.

Senator Wakelee says in his statement that when the committee had its first meeting, it adjourned until August 15, with the understanding that if thereafter the adjournment would be until sometime in September, after the summer vacation of the members and the committee's counsel was finished, that he had already discovered that some of the committee had gone on their vacations and that others intended to go immediately, and he feared it would be a practical impossibility to convene the committee and its council before the first week in September, which will be less than three weeks from date.

Mr. Wakelee states that he would, however, call a meeting as soon in September as possible, and with the concurrence of the committee, afford Mr. Record or anybody else who desires, an opportunity to appear and testify before the committee, and that he did not see how Mr. Record could be injured by this short delay, because he is informed that Mr. Record has already given an elaborate statement to the newspapers on the subject.

Mr. Wakelee's attention was called to the fact that in some quarters there was criticism of what had been designated the "undue haste" with which the committee had ordered printed the testimony thus far taken in the investigation and to the intimation that that was done that the testimony might be circulated through the State before the primaries as a campaign document. These intimations the Bergen Senator resented warmly. In ordering the testimony printed as it had, he said, the committee had done no more than the insurance investigation committee did, and as far as he knew the committee had no intention of having the testimony circulated as a campaign document. Mr. Wakelee expressed the hope that the testimony could be written up by the stenographer and printed in time to be circulated throughout the State to any extent before the primaries.

Mr. Wakelee added that the time required to get the stenographer's notes written up would also preclude an early session of the committee, as the testimony would have to be available for the cross-examination of Mr. Payne or any other witness who has already testified.

Mr. Record rebels against the delay. He says the committee is unfair, and continues to insist that the entire fabric is gotten up as a campaign trick to hurt his candidacy for the seat of United States Senator Dryden.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN WILL NOT VISIT NEWARK

SQUABBLE OVER THE NEBRASKAN SET AT REST BY CABLEGRAM FROM HIM.

The Democratic squabble at Newark over William J. Bryan's visit there on Sept. 1 was settled somewhat yesterday by the publication of a cablegram from Mr. Bryan to Tom L. Johnson, Mayor of Cleveland. It is said Mr. Bryan is not to go to Newark. This is a victory for the "True Democracy."

Former United States Senator James Smith announced August 2 he shad received a letter from Mr. Bryan to the effect that the former Presidential candidate would be in Newark and make an address September 1.

John Moody, President of "The True Democracy of New Jersey," Franklin H. Halliday and Edmond A. Whittier, members of the State Committee of that party, challenged Mr. Smith to produce the communication, and denied the truth of Mr. Smith's statements. They were positive in their declarations, but, like Mr. Smith, declined to produce documentary evidence to back up their assertion. Mr. Smith has not yet produced the letter, but Mr. Moody gave out yesterday the following cablegram he sent to Mr. Bryan at Paris:

"James Smith, Jr., publishes announcement he has letter from you accepting invitation to visit him in Newark, N. J., speaking under his auspices. Smith is the Belmont of New Jersey; his machine is discredited. To ally yourself with him would cause consternation among your true friends. Tom Johnson and others have cabled; letters on the way. Reform movement jeopardized unless you reply."

Mr. Bryan does not seem to have replied to Mr. Moody, but he did reply to Tom Johnson in this fashion:

"Have accepted Davis invitation, Jersey City. Not going to Newark."

Mr. Moody also made public a cablegram received by Alex. Troup, of Connecticut, in reply to one announcing the arrangement for Mr. Bryan's three appearances in the East outside of New York city. Mr. Bryan cabled:

"New Haven, Bridgeport, Jersey City satisfactory."

Mr. Moody also brought up a statement made by former Gov. George T. Werts in Jersey City Wednesday night, talking to the Bryan reception committee of the city. Ex-Governor Werts said in part:

"I met Senator Smith today and he spoke about Mr. Bryan going to Newark Sept. 1. He asked me if it would not be possible to arrange with the Hudson county organization to have Mr. Bryan for the day, as the people of Newark are anxious to hear him."

BOROUGH FIREMEN WILL PARADE OUT OF TOWN.

Two Invitations to Take Part in Firemen's Parade to be Considered Monday Evening.

Having received two invitations to participate in firemen's parades out of town early in October, the North Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association will hold a meeting in their rooms on Somerset street to decide which invitation they will accept. The two received are from the Rahway firemen, who parade October 9, and the Elizabeth firemen, who have a big celebration and parade October 11.

At this meeting Monday evening, the firemen will elect representatives to the North Plainfield Relief Association meeting Tuesday evening, when the two associations will elect deleates to the firemen's convention to be held in Atlantic City for three days, beginning September 12.

Buys Home in Thousand Islands.

Edson C. Leland of the former firm of Woodhull & Martin, who has been spending his vacations during the past few years in the Thousand Islands, and who has been there this season, is so well pleased with the country that he found a cottage there that suited him and purchased it. He will obtain possession this year after which he will make some improvements with the intention of occupying it next season.

Runaway in Brook.

Frightened by boys in swimming, a team of horses driven by Culbert Reed, of North Plainfield township, ran away on the Washingtonville road yesterday afternoon, and wrecked the wagon. They swung from the road and plunged down the slope into the brook, where they were brought to a stop by the tangle of wagon and harness. Reed was not hurt, except from bruises and abrasions.

Struck by Trolley Pole.

In alighting from a trolley car at Gallagher's corner, James McDonald, of that vicinity, was struck by a pole standing close to the track. He received a scalp wound and other injuries which made it necessary to call Dr. C. B. Tufburrow. McDonald has determined to bring suit against the trolley people and has retained Walter L. Hetfield, 2d.

Fair Play.

"Fair play" is the name that everyone gives to the condition which makes it certain that he will have a shade the better of it.

WATER PEOPLE PROCEED

Middlesex Company Carries Out Plan to Tap South Plainfield Pond.

LARGE MAIN INSTALLED

Action Opposed By Villagers and the Matter May Be Carried to the Courts.

Carrying out its original plan, the Middlesex Water Company drained the pond at South Plainfield Thursday and connected that water way with a large main through which water will be carried to its filtration plant and pumped into the company's standpipe from which point it will be distributed throughout its territory. As previously told in The Daily Press there has been opposition to this plan on the part of the citizens of South Plainfield, who are against the idea of large water taken from the pond.

The company has resorted to this means of obtaining a water supply because the supply at present from its twelve wells at South Plainfield is not sufficient to meet the demand. The company distributes water over a territory extending between South Plainfield and Metuchen, which includes Metuchen and all the intervening section. Owing to the fact that there are a number of factories at Carteret and other places throughout the section the demand for water is very heavy. The Middlesex Water Company's control absolutely all of the water rights at the South Plainfield pond and for this reason it is believed that the opposition will not be successful in an attempt to stop the taking of water from this source of supply. The company also owns the mill at the head of the pond, and it is a question as to whether there will be enough water to operate the mill, which is leased by F. R. Kellogg.

The company says that it is its intention of using this supply temporarily, or until such time as other supply can be driven to increase the supply.

The fact that the water was drained out of the pond and a pipe connection has been made will probably result in litigation between South Plainfield and the water company, as threatened a few weeks ago. There has also been a question as to whether the water is safe to use, but it is said that the water company has had it analyzed and finds that it is.

In the case of all water used from a pond of that kind it is necessary to filter it, and the water company has made every provision for doing so with the water taken from the pond, taking every precaution. There was a curious sight yesterday after the water was let out of the pond. The water has been well stocked with fish and as soon as the pond was drained they were helpless. Thousands of fish died during the process. As soon as the water pipe conection was made the gates at the mill were closed and the pond was allowed to fill up again.

The action of the water company has brought out some fine points which may only be settled in the courts and the matter will probably be taken there soon.

The Middlesex Water Company has its main office at Metuchen. United Sates Senator John Kean and Frank Bergen are the principal owners and stockholders.

DR. M. S. SIMPSON PROBABLY FATALLY HURT

FORMER PLAINFIELD PHYSICIAN VICTIM OF A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Dr. M. S. Simpson, who formerly practiced in this city and who started the drug business at Fourth and Liberty streets, now conducted by Alex. Mallinson, was seriously, if not fatally, injured in a runaway accident at Middle Valley several days ago. He is now at his home in that village and the physicians hold out but little hope for his recovery.

The doctor was driving a very-spirited horse hitched to a road wagon down the Middle Valley hill when the animal took fright and dashed off at top speed. The doctor was thrown from the wagon and when picked up he was unconscious. He was carried to his home on a stretcher and Dr. Hinch and Morris Topkins summoned. They found him badly cut and bruised about the head, face and limbs, and probably internally injured. The horse ran into the iron bridge that crosses the South Branch river and, leaving the wagon behind, continued his mad flight to the Andrew Dufford farm, east of Middle Valley, where it was caught. The wagon was wrecked and the harness badly broken, but the cause of the trouble was not injured.

Dr. Simpson left Plainfield to accept an appointment as surgeon in the United States Army, serving in the Philippines. He returned to America six years ago and located at Middle Valley. He has made frequent visits to this city since there and several times gave lectures in local churches on life in the Philippines.

TRICKY LINEN PEDDLERS

They Sell Good Stuff Cheap But Have No Licenses and Don't Like Police.

A PARTY OF THEM

May Be the Same Who Swindled Westfield Woman Friday—The Source of Supply Unknown.

By the arrest of two Italian peddlers by Chief George Weiss, of the borough police force, yesterday, it may be that a party of similar peddlers who are operating a rather thin sale game through this part of the country will be broken up. The two men arrested yesterday were Jim Seudino and Santo Dennick, both from Newark, and they were arraigned for peddling without a license. At the session of court last evening, each was fined $5 by the Mayor and ordered to get a license or leave town. They appeared to be very much frightened and paid the fine, soon afterward leaving town, though they said they would get a license.

An examination of their packs showed that they were selling linen of a first class quality for fifteen or twenty cents a yard, in lots of ten yards or more. Some boroughites who have bought the stuff have tested it and find it to be first class fabric, worth from forty to sixty cents a yard. The question as to where the Italians get their supply is unsolved, but from their behavior it looks like crooked work. Chief Weiss was informed that the two were peddling through the second district yesterday, without license, and went around to arrest them. He found them on Jackson avenue, separated and selling from house to house. One of the men spied the chief and ran into a yard, throwing his pack under a bush and making good time over two fences to another street. The chief got him after a short chase. The other peddler was stalked by the chief who finally cornered him trying to sell his wares to a woman at the back door of a Jackson avenue house. The man was talking volubly in good English when the chief came up, but feigned all he did not understand anything that was said to him after his arrest and at the hearing last evening. People who have watched the peddlers say that they seemed very much afraid of a police uniform and were always anxious to get away if they saw a cop coming.

During the past few days it is reported that several of these Italian peddlers have been seen with their packs, peddling from house to house in both the city and borough. Saturday afternoon one of them was up in the east end of town, near Netherwood, selling linen at twenty cents a yard. The two arrested in the borough had licenses, one from Newark and the other from Jersey City, but the others working in town had not seen fit to secure one at least in sight. The party, whoever they are, seem to work together, for they are all selling linen.

At Westfield yesterday two Italians put up a tricky game on several women by the sale of linen. They went from house to house with their packs, offering it in twenty yard pieces for $5. One woman, the wife of a well known Broad street merchant, bought and paid for twenty yards of the stuff, supposed to be like a piece the peddler showed her. She found that the package which the Italian gave her contained only a cheap grade of calico, nothing like the sample shown. Another Westfield woman bought twenty yards of the stuff, but when the peddler gave her the package, she thought she didn't want the entire twenty yards and opening the package wanted to cut the piece and give back half. She found that the stuff was of inferior quality and refused to pay for it. The peddler, angered at the woman telephoned for the police, but the peddler, joined by his companion, jumped on a trolley car and came toward this city.

Unique Bible.

The most costly book in the royal library at Stockholm is a Bible, and there is not another just like it in the world. In weight and size alone it is unique. It is said that 160 asses' skins were used for its parchment leaves. Each page falls but an inch short of a yard in length. The width of the pages is a foot. Inch by inch corners are solid planks four inches thick.

Personal and Otherwise.

Thackeray's Lord Steyne is said to have been a pen portrait of an ancestor of Lord Yarmouth, who married Mary Thave's sister. The Lord Yarmouth whose picture was painted in Steyne married Mlle. Fagniana, who inherited from George Selwyn £30,000, £100,000 from another man, and still another immense sum from Fagniana.

Not Well to Live Alone.

Professional Carpet Beater (during one of his many rests from his labor)—It's funny how a man gets out of practice. Since my divorce a month ago I haven't been able to raise the dust with a single lick!

Particular as to Quality.

A London butcher has in his window a placard reading: "Wanted, a respectable boy for sausages."

AFTER THE NETHERWOOD

Rumors That Several People Are Anxious to Reopen Big Hostelry.

MRS. TRUELL, PERHAPS.

Her Name Associated With Stories of a Possible Deal—Mr. MacDonald's Statement.

Persistent rumors are heard from time to time regarding a possible change and the opening of the Netherwood Hotel, which has been closed since the late Major Coleman was in charge there. These rumors have associated the name of Mrs. J. R. Trivelwel, of Truell lan and Truell Court, with the new enterprise and it was even stated yesterday that the deal had progressed so far that it would be closed with Mrs. Truell within the next ten days.

A reporter for The Daily Press interviewed J. Fred MacDonald today about the rumors. Mr. MacDonald has been in charge of the hotel property for some time and is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions. He declared today that for over a year Mrs. Truell had been seriously considering the proposition to lease the hotel, but that she had not made up her mind as yet. It is understood that Mr. Truell is of the opinion that the hotel would be too much of an undertaking for his wife, who has been so successful in the management of Truell lan and Truell Court, and that for this reason no decision has been reached.

Mr. MacDonald took a party of New Yorkers to the hotel on Thursday, they having heard of the place. They inspected the place thoroughly and were favorably impressed, as many others have been, and said that they would communicate further with the owners of the property. It is known that several persons have all but decided to take the hotel and open it, but failed to do so.

It is the opinion of those acquainted with the conditions that the hotel can be opened and made a successful venture if the right party gets hold of it. While some people have failed to make it a success, this has been due to other reasons than equipment and the natural beauty of the surroundings. Well known hotel people have declared that the site is ideal and that they cannot see why the hotel should not be made to pay as a well-conducted place. The train accommodations between Netherwood and New York are almost equal to those at Plainfield and in these days when city conditions are not as desirable as they might be, it is believed that people from the metropolis would be glad of such an opportunity to live within a short distance of New York.

During the past year many prospective out-of-town people have looked over the hotel and surroundings, but for various reasons have not been willing to undertake the management of the place. However, it is thought that sooner or later the hotel will be either leased or sold and will eventually become a popular summer and winter resort.

WILL MANAGE HUDSON COUNTY NEWSPAPER

ROBERT V. HOFFMAN WILL BEGIN EDITING WEST HUDSON PRESS MONDAY.

Robert V. Hoffman, of Westfield, well known in this city as a newspaper worker, will take charge of the West Hudson Press, of West Kearney, on Monday, as managing editor. City Judge Joseph Branegan, of Harrison, will be associated with him in the management of the paper.

The Press is published by a corporation, recently reorganized as the West Hudson Publishing Company. The corporation consists of William J. Davis, a prominent Jersey City lawyer and president of the Hudson County Park Commission; Judge Branegan and Mr. Hoffman. The Press plant has been enlarged with new machinery, and the paper will soon move into new and bigger quarters.

Mr. Hoffman has been on the editorial staff of the Courier-News for nearly two years. He is a graduate of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, Hackettstown, of the class of 1902, and studied at New York University to the middle of his junior year. He left college to join the Courier-News staff. While at college he was correspondent for the New York Globe and the Evening Post.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKeon, of West Front street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine McKeon, to Culver B. Rose, of Jersey City. The wedding will take place in September.

Comprehensive.

A correspondent reports seeing this comprehensive sign over a store: "Dealers in everything, from a ratskin to a ranch."

Miss A. E. Lincoln, of East Fourth street, has returned from a trip abroad.

LEW MILLIGAN ON HIS WAY TO REFORMATORY

PROBATION OFFICER ARRESTED HIM WHILE GOING TO CITY COURT.

Capt. Irwin, of the County Probationer's office, who comes to this city every Saturday to hold a session of the Children's Court, acted in the capacity of an officer Saturday. He picked up Lewis Milligan, a young man with a long police record, on the street, to start him on his way to the reformatory.

Milligan has been in trouble a dozen times. Last month he was sent to jail for thirty days and Chief Kiely meant then to have him committed to the reformatory. He forgot to bring Milligan's case before the Probation Officer, and Milligan was released before action was taken. The Chief met Capt. Irwin on the train Wednesday and spoke of the case to him.

Capt. Irwin knew Milligan, and when he ran across him on the street Saturday, when on his way to the City Court, he decided to take him along with him. Milligan was arraigned before Judge Runyon on a technical charge of assault, and sentenced to 30 days in jail. He will be committed to the reformatory as soon as the necessary papers can be filled out. He was a visitor of the institution as a young boy, after he and another youngster had stolen $2,000 from a neighbor.

SERVICE OF SONG AT THE NETHERWOOD HOME.

Musical Meeting Conducted by G. E. Hall Made Successful by Solo and Chorus Singing.

At the Netherwood Fresh Air Home last evening, George E. Hall, of the camp devotional committee, conducted a song service, assisted by several from local church societies. M. J. Geary, of Netherwood, sang several selections, and Miss Baron also sang. Mary Miller and Lillie and Ethel Tudor, New Yorkers staying at the camp, sang solos and duets. Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, M. J. Geary and Mr. Radley rendered a gospel hymn as a quartette selection, and other hymns were sung by a chorus of the children at the camp. Miss Baron and Mrs. Lewis acted as accompanists during the song service.

At the conclusion of the evening's service, Mr. Hall distributed candy among the children and mothers at the camp and all enjoyed an informal social time.

TRUST CAUSED HIS SUICIDE.

Since It Ruined His Cigar Business Couldn't Make Enough Money.

Sigmond A. Neustadt, an insurance agent in the employ of the Metropolitan Company at Paterson, went to the Eastside Park in that city late Wednesday night and sent a bullet through his brain. His body was found early yesterday morning by a grocer who was driving through the park grounds.

The cause of the suicide was that Neustadt was compelled to sell a house in order to pay the running expenses of his family. At one time the suicide was one of the largest cigar manufacturers in Paterson, but was forced out of business by the trust. He was fairly successful in the insurance business, but always complained he was not making money fast enough.

A WEDDING ANNOUNCED.

William Leland and Miss Thomson Married at Scranton.

Cards have been received here from Scranton, Pa., announcing the marriage of Miss May Thomson and William Leland, of 914 West Fifth street, which took place on Thursday, August 2. While to some the announcement may be a surprise, there were other friends who had heard the rumor that the couple were married.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Hannah Thomson, of West Fifth street, is well known as a music teacher. Mr. Leland is a contractor mason and has resided in the West End for many years. The couple is now enjoying a honeymoon and upon their return will reside with the bride's mother in West Fifth street.

Stanley Emmons Hurt.

Stanley Emmons, of this city, a lineman in the employ of the Public Service Corporation, is carrying his left arm in a sling as the result of a recent accident in the Raritan Woolen Mills in Raritan. Emmons was up on a pole, when he lost his footing and fell thirty feet, lacerating his left arm and cutting his face.

Firemen's Relief Delegates.

The Firemen's Relief Association of Scotch Plains elected the following delegates to the State convention, which is to meet at Atlantic City September 13, 14 and 15; Edward Hand, William B. Noble and William Van Valkenburgh.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. DuMont, of Somerville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Frances Mallaby DuMont, to Leroy Speir Radford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Radford, of Park avenue, this city.

LOCK OUT, NOT A STRIKE

President Krom, of Krom Machine Works, Makes a Statement.

HE BLOCKED AGITATORS

Met Strike Talk With a Complete Clean-Out of the Force—New Workmen Installed.

President S. Arthur Krom, of the Krom Manufacturing Company, made a statement Friday regarding the labor trouble at his plant, North avenue and Berckman street.

"There was no strike," he said. "The men were discharged. It was a lock-out, not a strike.

"The whole trouble started with union agitation in the shop. Some agitators stirred up the men, and made a demand that all the force be paid 30 cents an hour. About half of the force were getting that. A union delegate came here, but we eliminated him from the situation by making it plain that ours was an open shop, and that we could not recognize, nor treat with, the union.

"Then the agitators organized a regular union meeting, and voted on a strike. The motion was lost, and then they proceeded to get strike agreements individually.

"When I saw how things were going, I ordered all the men out. It was a complete clean-out. When I find it necessary to make a move of that sort, I believe in doing it thoroughly. I do not think it wise or profitable to attempt to figure just who are the guilty ones and who are the innocents. It is best to make a clean sweep.

"I have engaged men to take the places of the displaced force, and there will be no shut-down of the plant. It was not shut down today. The doors were merely locked, to keep the agitators out. We didn't want any of them hanging around inside the shop. Their tools were passed out to them through a window.

"I don't look for any more trouble. I will keep my eyes open for developments, of course, but I think the matter has been disposed of. We don't want the dissatisfied men, and we can get along without them, and I think they will accept the situation without useless kicking against the pricks of disappointed aspirations."

Mr. Krom is a young man. He is noted for his energy and decisiveness of character among his trade associates.

President Krom supplemented his statement Saturday with the following:

We note in your issue of August 17 an article stating that there has been a "strike" at our factory. The actual facts of the case are as follows:

Strike talk of the "hot air" variety have been mingling with the air of the shop for sometime but there has been no "strike." Saturday, August 11, some fifteen men were getting 28 cents per hour asked as individuals for a raise to 30 cents per hour. As these men were getting more than they were worth then, being really worth about 8 cents per hour, the request was naturally refused and their work greatly to our relief. When labor gets so scarce that we cannot run our lathes for 28 cents or less we will put on men worth 30 cents and not 8 cents.

The "hot air" talk continuing and making the sultry weather more disagreeable than absolutely necessary we decided to have our regular fall house-cleaning a little earlier than usual so as to have our jawcrushers ready for those who wish to give them as Christmas presents. We recommend them to some husbands but only for cleaning and not for any time. So on Thursday, the 16th, we sent a lot of our gay "hot air" minstrels out on the road for the benefit of our health if not for theirs, as most of them were getting 30 cents per hour.

We have men engaged to fill their places and under no circumstances will any of those discharged be reinstated. We are on the corner of North avenue and Berckman street for business, not for talk and foolish agitation.

Krom Machine Works,
S. Arthur Krom,
President.

No disturbance is expected at the shop by either Mr. Krom or the police. Chief Kiely said this morning that nothing had occurred to draw his attention to the place. It is said the men are not well enough organized to threaten any inconvenience to the company.

Improvements on the L. V. R. R.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has recently ordered the following new equipment and will install: 1000 coal cars of 100,000 lbs. capacity; 500 gondolas of 80,000 lbs. capacity; 100 cinder cars of 60,000 lbs. capacity; 102 produce cars of 60,000 lbs. capacity; 25 automobile cars; five Atlantic type passenger locomotives; 20 express and baggage cars; one dining car and 14,700 tons of steel rails.

His Curiosity.

Scientist—I know I haven't long to live, doctor, and when I die I want you to perform an autopsy, I'm very anxious to know just what's the matter with me.

MOWER CUT OFF HIS LEG

Romping About Machine at Murray Hill, Jersey City Boy Was Caught By Knives.

NARROWLY ESCAPED

Hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital for Treatment — Father Was Greatly Affected.

While romping about a mowing machine on a farm at Murray Hill, where he had been spending his vacation, Walter Colombo, eleven years old, of 1135 Summit avenue, Jersey City, got in front of the knives Thursday afternoon and received terrible injuries. His right foot was cut off just above the ankle as clean as if it had been done by a surgeon, while the left one and part of his body was fearfully lacerated. He fell with a scream and before the frightened driver could pull his horses to a stop, he narrowly escaped decapitation.

There were a number of farm hands at work in the field at the time and one of them was quickly dispatched to the home of a trained nurse who lives close by. She reached the boy in a few minutes and probably saved his life by stopping the flow of blood with temporary bandages. He was then hurried to this city in a carriage and taken to Muhlenberg hospital, where it was said today that his chances of recovery were excellent.

At the time the accident occurred young Colombo was "helping" the machine driver, as he expressed it, by driving flies from the backs of the horses. With a small switch he would brush from one of the animals and then run around back of the mower to the other. He was informed by other field hands several times that it was dangerous to play about the machine but he said he would be careful and that "even if he was from the city he knew how to take care of himself."

Word was telegraphed the boy's father immediately after the accident and he came to Plainfield last night. He was greatly affected by his son's plight and almost collapsed on first seeing him.

HUSBAND COMPLAINS.

As a Result Mrs. Schneider, of Union, Is Sent to Jail.

Mrs. Bertha Schneider, wife of Jacob Schneider, of Union, was committed to jail Thursday afternoon for ten days on a charge of disorderly conduct. The complainant was her husband, and the committing magistrate Justice of the Peace Robert Bond, of Union. In what particular the woman was disorderly the commitment papers do not say.

Mrs. Schneider is about fifty-three years of age, and is the mother of fourteen children, ten of whom are living. For two years or more Mrs. Schneider and her husband have been living an unhappy life, and at the present time divorce proceedings brought by the wife are said to be pending.

Mrs. Schneider appears to have the sympathy and support of her children, and especially of the elder boys.

Schneider owns considerable land at Union and near Berkeley Heights. For the he has been engaged in the timber business.

Brook Improvement At Standstill.

As it is getting rather late in the season it is not likely that anything will be done this year in the effort to clean and widen Green brook in the city. Chairman W. L. Gloak, of the Councilmanic street committee, called the attention of the Common Council to this matter several months ago, believing that the Board of Freeholders in both Union and Somerset counties would be willing to co-operate with the city and borough in the improvement. At first the local freeholders said that it was a matter that did not belong to the county, but later the members in Union county decided to investigate, but no report has been made. Efforts will be made to have this work attended to early next year.

Annual Outing of Elks.

The third annual outing of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. Elks, will be held at the springs of the Watchung Spring Water Company, Saturday, September 16. Wagonettes will leave the Elk's Club at thirty minute intervals between 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The bake will be held at 3 o'clock.

Consolation.

A minister, who has since attained prominence in New York, says a writer in the Sun, was a his earlier years called from a village church. One of the sisters expressed grief at his going. "They will get a better preacher to take my place," the consoled her. "No, that's just the trouble," she said. "Every preacher, lately, is worse than the last."

To Clean Eye-Glasses.

Let eye-glasses lie in alcohol for a few moments, then polish with chamois. If the glasses are set into gold frames a fine camel's-hair brush will lift the dust from the edges and make them look like new.

HOPE CANTON ENTERTAINS

Many Delegations Its Guests at District Meeting of Odd Fellows' Encampment.

GD. PARTIARCH PRESENT

Street Parade and Banquet Features of the Evening's Programme —Committees in Charge.

Hope Canton, of Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., entertained the grand lodge officers and delegations from Newark, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Hoboken, Morristown and Elizabeth at a district meeting, Thursday. The local canton, headed by the Plainfield band, met the Grand Patriarch W. C. Taylor and the Essex Canton, of Newark, at the North Avenue station, and a short street parade was held through North and Park avenues and West Front street to the Babcock building where the meeting was held. Along the line of march there was a display of red fire and rousing cheers from friendly onlookers.

In addition to the delegations from the various cantons in the district, there were present Grand Patriarch W. C. Taylor, of Newark; Grand Scribe Frank Jummel, of Trenton; Grand Guardian C. L. Erb, of Newark; Past Grand Representative Gus. Grassman, of Hoboken; Grand Warden Frank Crowther, of the grand lodge, of Perth Amboy; Adjutant-General Williams, of Long Branch; Past Grand Patriarch Samuel Karn, of Morristown. The delegations were from Hornet Encampment, of Perth Amboy; Middlesex Encampment, of New Brunswick; Columbia Encampment, of Elizabeth. Several were in full uniform and made an imposing appearance.

Stephen H. Schleif's term as district deputy expired at this time and Simon Monroe, of Hornet Encampment, was chosen as his successor for the ensuing term. The reports from the several encampments showed that they have a membership of about 100 members during the past year, and every encampment reported itself to be in good condition, financially and otherwise.

During the meeting there were some excellent speeches by the grand lodge officers and other members of the delegations. After the business session Hope Canton entertained the visitors at a banquet. The committee in charge of the entertainment comprised Stephen H. Schleif, Harvey L. Schmeyer and A. G. Martin.

HARD TO FIND BOTTOM TO RIVER.

3060 Piles Being Driven for New C. R. R. Bridge—Sink 75 Feet in Mud.

Because the Raritan river bed is so soft where the piling for the new C. R. R. bridge between Union and Elizabeth is being placed, the workmen are having all sorts of troubles these days, and it is only possible to use the longest poles, which are 95 feet in length, and these nearly always run 75 feet in the mud before they strike anything hard enough to give a foundation.

The piling is being driven for the piers, of which there are to be 30. For each pier 102 piles are allowed. They are cut off five feet from the river bottom by a diver, who will then place stone between the poles. A caisson will then be sunk so that it rests on the piling, and in this way the company expects to make a strong bed.

The contract for all the sub-work provides that the job be completed on the last day of December, but it is now known that much more time will be required.

The steam dredge which is used to dig out the river bottom is now at work where the draw is to swing, and it can be worked at certain hours only. The mud is sent up to Slippery meadows night and day, and the old pond is about filled in.

Safety in Numbers.

Cassidy—Come home wid me fur supper, Casey.

Casey—Go 'long, man! Shure, 'tis long pasht yer supper-time; yer wife'll be mad as blazes.

Cassidy—Faith, that's why I want ye to come; she can't lick both of us.

Plausible

"Say! I wonder what's the derivation of 'college.'"

"Maybe it hasn't any."

"Nonsence! The word must be derived from something that means—"

"Oh! I'll bet it was just a word faked up by some poet who needed a rhyme for 'knowledge.'"

A Criticism.

Kloseman—I gave you one of these cigars the other day, didn't I?

Wiseman—Yes, I remember it very well.

Kloseman—How would you like to have one now?

Wiseman—Boiled, I guess. They don't seem quite wholesome raw.

Sequences.

"He's very proud now that he's got his new auto."

"Naturally. You know the old saying."

"What's that?"

"Pride goes before a fall."

V. L. FRAZEE AMONG REPUBLICAN APPOINTEES

HE IS ON ELECTION BOARD LIST FOR THE FIRST WARD.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith announced Thursday the list of election board officers chosen by the Republicans for this city. The list is as follows:

First ward, First district—Percy A. McVoy, Vincent L. Frazee. First ward, Second district—Horace G Adams, Mark Beekman. Second ward, First district—J. Hervey Doane, Whitwell Drayton. Second ward, Second district—W. R. Townsend, H. W. Farley. Third ward, First district—Theodore LaRue, Elston Leonard. Third ward, Second district—F. J. Dixon, C. A. Smith. Fourth ward, First district—Daniel Force, John DeMeza. Fourth ward, Second district—Edward Mosher, Walter F. Clark. Fourth ward, Third district—Edward S. Brown, Garret Q. Dunham.

In Fanwood township the appointees are Joseph Clark and James E. Johnston. In Fanwood borough, Charles Scheelen and Edwin C. Fancher have been selected.

The surprising thing about the list is the presence of the name of Vincent L. Mazee among the nominees in the First Ward. Frazee has been a Democrat hitherto. He was one of the party's leaders for several years, and ran for Mayor on the ticket.

He seemed unwilling to talk about his association with the Republicans this morning when a Daily Press re*porter saw him. He said something* about "letting the others do the work now," in a tone that indicated dissatisfaction with the make-up of the Democratic ruler in Plainfield. His appointment was rumored in the Democratic camp for two weeks.

BOB FITZSIMMONS AND WIFE IN ACCIDENT WHILE DRIVING.

Ex-Champ and Wife Upset On West Front Street When Horse Stumbled.

While on his way to the New Plainfield theatre with his wife Thursday, Ex-Champion Bob Fitzsimmons, of Dunellen, had an exciting time when the rig in which he was driving ran into a pile of earth in the roadway and overturned. The big fighter's experience in wrestling with his pet lion, "Senator Reynolds," came in handy in his management of the pugnacious mule and following the pile of earth. Fitz jumped from the rig as it upset and was at the horse's head in time to prevent a runaway when it struggled to its feet. Aside from the snapping of a couple of the harness, there was no damage and neither "Lanky Bob" nor his wife were injured.

The accident happened on West Front street, near Rock avenue. The gauge of the trolley tracks is being adjusted here, and the roadway is torn up. There were some holes along the way, but no lantern stood on the pile of earth the horse tried to climb. Fitz was driving and the rig was bowling along fast when the horse stumbled on the pile of dirt and upset the carriage. Bob jumped, and Mrs. Fitz was thrown, sustaining no injury. The prize fighter continued to Plainfield after the accident, where he and his wife witnessed the performance of "Panhandle Pete."

"PANHANDLE PETE" IS NOW A STAGE FAVORITE.

The Comic Supplement Hobo Made His Bow from the Footlights Thursday Night.

In the person of James Harrigan, "the tramp juggler," "Panhandle Pete," Artist George McManus' happy hobo in the Sunday World comic supplement, was transferred to the stage for the first time Thursday. In a three act musical comedy that pleased a good-sized audience, at the New Plainfield theatre, "Pete" and a company of forty people furnished a fund of good humor, catchy songs and dances that made him a greater favorite than ever. It was Harrigan's debut as a star and he made good from the start.

The comedy has been cleverly staged and is mounted far better than the average musical show. Artist McManus, whose "work" is responsible for the production; Managing Editor Johnson, of the World; Willard Holcomb, author of the book, and Edward Laska, the lyric writer, saw the show from orchestra chairs. After a short tour which will include Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburg, "Panhandle Pete" will go into New York for a run.

Stock Quotations Supplied to Passengers on Trains.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has arranged to provide stock quotations on its through trains between New York and Buffalo. These stock quotations will be placed in board trains at Buffalo and at Glen Summit Springs, Pa.; being received direct at these points by private wire.

Notice will be displayed in the smoking rooms of coaches and of Pullman cars on Lehigh Valley trains.

This innovation will no doubt be popular with the operators on the market who make business trips over this line.

THIS GAME BROKE ALL BASEBALL PRECEDENTS

COLORED TEAMS BANISH TWO UNSATISFACTORY UMPS, ON ONE KICK.

Spicey incidents marked the meeting between the All-Americans and the Virginia Giants, of Montclair, on Crescent Oval, Thursday afternoon. The Giants were beaten to the small end of a 10 to 5 score.

The first incident of a giddy nature came in the fourth, when Warwick, the All-American shortstop, became the cynosure of all eyes in rounding second base. He hit to Scott, and Queen chucked the ball low. Warwick sailed around first, shot into right field on a tangent, and made a cut on the bias for second. His legs worked so strenuously that his right shoe went over his head. Warwick held second with one shoe off and one shoe on, like the little boy in the nursery rhyme. He teethered back and forth on the stockinged foot, but the heartless Giants gave him no chance to grab up the shoe. They clutched their noses, but sternly refused to halt the game. Warwick waited until they grew careless, and swopped down on the shoe and took it along with him a jump for third. He was left there, and he sighed with relief as the side retired.

In the next inning, before the excitement had passed, the untoward display of hosiery had fairly died down, Capt. Anthony, of the Giants, performed the surprising exploit of making the umpire change his decision, and followed that with the unique feat of causing Scott, having the umpire chased from the game. John Crite was the downtrodden ump. He was pensively gazing at the blue patched sky when Smith made a play at a runner, and he didn't see the throw that went back to the ball. "Out," he warbled, and Capt. Anthony threw a fit. He called in his men, and started to shoo them from the grounds. A hasty caucus resulted in a complete surrender by the ump and the All-Americans, and the truant went back to the bag. Then the gentle ump was banished, and a husky voiced expert from Montclair took his place.

Things went peacefully until the next inning, when the ump called a ball that Joe Garner sized up for a strike. Instead of making a face, and calling the ump names, like big league players do, Joe actually wanted the game stopped. He said the ump was a robber, and insisted that the kick proved it. And just to show that the theory was as cute as clever as the visiting brand, he had the ump fired.

Dr. Anderson was called from the bleachers and made permanent ump. There were no more kicks from the Plainfielders. Cap Anthony said a few spicey things to him, but he didn't know he was talking to the colored Ward McAlister. He faded away when the social register was read to him, and there were no more howls at the ump.

Capt. Carter's men won by outplaying and outbatting the visitors. They were scared to death of them in the first inning, but they overcame the stage fright in the next session, and things came their way. After that first session, when they garnered two runs on a bundle of bunglers, the Giants were held in check all the way. They couldn't hit Garner, and they buried themselves by a blowup in the eighth, when the All-Americans, hitting some to help, piled up five runs.

The game was witnessed by 150 colored fans. There was a lot of rooting, and Joe Garner did a fancy imitation of Monroe along the first base line.

The line-up: All-Americans, Warwick, ss; Carter, cf; Joseph Garner, c; Coleman, rf; Hatchett, lf; Smith, 2b; Phillips, 1b; Kline, 2b; John Garner, p. Virginia Giants, Dawson, rf; Tamridge, 2b; Lee, c; A. Neal, lf; J. Neal, cf; Baker, 1b; Queen, ss; Anthony, 2b; Green, p.

Templars Will Go to Asbury Park.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will make a pilgrimage to Asbury Park on Temple Field Day, September 6, and take part in the exercises in observance of field day. As Wm. Carman, of Metuchen, former sheriff of Middlesex county, is grand commander of the Knights Templar of New Jersey, Temple Commandery, of Metuchen, expects to go to the shore in a body.

Running Full Time.

The South Plainfield mills under the management of F. R. Kellogg are running full time and giving universal satisfaction to all who patronize the mills. Mr. Kellogg gives his personal attention to all orders left with him and has many friends of friends since he assumed ownership of the mills.

Miss Edna Oliver, of East Fifth street, is visiting relatives at Lebanon, Hunterdon county.

Among the recent arrivals registered at the Ocean View, Bayhead, N. J., are Mrs. C. W. King and Mrs. M. Martin, from this city.

H. H. Curtis, of this place, is among the automobile tourists who have arrived at Atlantic City this week in a Mercedes machine.

Charles W. King and son, Charles A. King, of Watchung avenue, left today to spend Sunday at Asbury Park.

OMER C. MOORES IN NEW HEADQUARTERS

CAPT. FLANNERY HOLDS OPEN HOUSE FOR THE NOTED ORGANIZATION.

To mark the erection of the new blacksmithing shop of Capt. J. E. Flannery—their new "Flannery Hall"—the members of the Omer C. Moore Association held open house about the forges Thursday. With plenty to eat and drink, they and their friends, and Captain Flannery's neighbors made merry.

Informality marked the housewarming. The shop was thrown open at 8 o'clock, and the neighbors dropped in. The neighborhood femininity took an active part in the first hour of the function, but it dropped out of sight at 9, when the old Omer's began to drop in with their cronies. The great Omer himself was there early.

A piano was in the shop, and a sheaf of jolly songs was sung. Robert Fulton, Edward Searing, William Fehring, Harry Roberts and John Todd, of the Gold Medal minstrel troupe, were the singers. Mr. Roberts sang "When the Old Mill Wheel Turns Round" and "When the Whippoor-will Sings, Marguerite." Mr. Todd sang "Pretty Mary Ann" and "You're As Welcome as the Flowers in May." The singers were not skimping of their talent. Duets, trios, quartettes and choruses were liberally interpersed between the solo numbers. Herbert S. Martin, a New York fireman, who came with Billy Mills, a boxing Enemy, assisted.

*The Omer C. Moore Association al*ways held their meetings in "Flannery Hall." The new "Hall" is opposite the old one, which is to be torn down. Capt. Flannery arranged the affair Thursday to mark the passing of the old "Hall," as much as celebrate the opening of the new.

NEWSPAPER FRATERNITY TO HONOR C. M. BURT.

Editors Along Jersey Central Lines To Tender Him a Dinner at Paxinosa Inn.

Members of the newspaper fraternity along the lines of the New Jersey Central have banded together as a committee to tender an invitation to their brethren along the same line to attend a complimentary dinner to be given Charles M. Burt, of North Plainfield, the retiring general passenger agent of the road. It will be held at Paxinosa Inn, Easton, Pa., on Tuesday, August 26, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The city is located midway between Scranton, Pa., one terminus of the road, and Point Pleasant, N. J., the other terminus.

The committee which is arranging the plans comprises the following: F. Hall Packer, Sea Bright; News; W. R. R. Mason, Bound Brook Chronicle; Asa. S. Crane, Elizabeth Journal; David McCormack, Lehighton, (Pa.) Press; C. A. Gischel, Prillipsburg Patriot; L. C. Edwards, Long Branch Record; H. F. Heat, Mauch Chunk (Pa.) Times; E. W. Rush, Glen Gardner Avalanche; J. W. Maloy, Lansford (Pa.) Record; Hon. E. Chapin, Newark Railroad Employe; Eugene W. Farrel, Newark Evening News; William F. Agate, Newark Daily Advertiser; M. J. Lynch, Phillipsburg Post.

MONEY FOR CHURCH.

Three Days Fair Concluded Last Night by A. M. E. Zion Church.

The three days lawn fete and social given for the benefit of the trustees' fund of the A. M. E. Zion church, which was concluded last Thursday, has proved a great success. The affair has been well supported by the parishioners and a large crowd was out last night at the concluding entertainment.

The church people had a large tent erected at Plainfield avenue and Fourth street and the grounds were *tastefully decorated. During the eve*ning, refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cake, fruit and soft drinks, in charge of Miss Fannie Olen, were served.

The Tony Brothers, a local musical trio, rendered several selections which were well received. The committee at the head of the affair consisted of Spencer Kelly, Mrs. Carrie Hemons, Mrs. Lindora Brown, Mrs. Susan Rogers, Mrs. E. B. Maynard and Miss Fannie Olen. Olmer Tomlinson acted as officer during the fair and Mrs. Josephine Taylor was chairman of the finance committee.

Superfluous Hair.

"Just one kiss," dutifully demanded Mainchanz after he had been accepted by Miss Hare, the swarthy and exceedingly homely heiress.

"Oh!" she gasped, coyly, "I don't like to kiss a man with a moustache."

"Oh, come, your moustache isn't so heavy as all that."

Framed Up.

"My daughter tells me," said Miss Yerner's father, "that you wanted to see me."

"That's strange!" stammered the youth. "Why, she—er—told me you wanted to see me."

The Limit.

"He's very gallant, at any rate."

"Oh yes, but he goes to extremes. I just heard him telling Miss Muddleigh that moles are merely convex dimples."

WON THE RUBBER GAME

Police Have No Trouble Defeating the Newspaper Men.

LATTER VERY WEAK

Fooled In Their Fielding, and Helpless at the Bat—Willie Mullen Twirled a Swift Game.

The Police nine had a field day at the expense of the Newspaper Men Wednesday afternoon, on Crescent Oval. They took kindly to the offerings dished up by Bob Hoffman, the pencil pushing stunt artist, and ragged infielding did a lot to help their scoring along. They tallied eight times to the Newspaper Men's four.

Bill Mullen and his brother, Tommy, did the heavy battery work for the cops, and there was not the faintest suspicion of a fix on their performance. Bill had speed to throw away, and the twist to his out curve held the Newspaper batters hitless. Even Taylor Mehaffey, who played short for the scribes—he once worked in the advertising department of a Brooklyn paper, and got sneezed into the game under a stretching of the rules—fanned twice. He played brilliantly in one inning, retiring the side with three snappy catches, one of which was a Hal Chase performance, but the others were a spasm and he was far from enough to redeem the side from the big black marks that scored during the other sessions.

The Newspaper Men couldn't hit to keep their feet warm. Only three safe swats were torn from Mullen's delivery. All but one of the cops skidooed in the seventh to get ready for pounding sidewalks, Cap Payne alone remaining at the front. He goes on at 9, for the late shift, and didn't have to hurry. He went into the box, while Bill held down short. A buzz-saw assortment of players, including Pat Connolly, the ump, went into the game back of him, and held the Newspaper Men to two runs.

Hoffman retired in the sixth in favor of Harry Hughes, the Newark News twirler, who came out to perform with his country cousins, and the change checked the cops' hitting bee. They scored twice, but the runs came in on errors and misjudgements.

The cops played scarcely better than the Newspaper Men. Barring a surprising pick-up by Cap Payne, they were about on a par with Manager St. John's unbroken colts. It was Mullen's pitching that undid the Newspaper bunch.

The victory gives the cops the bulge on the Newspaper Men. The series stood 1-1 before the meeting.

The lineup: Police—W. Mullen, p; T. Mullen, c; Payne, 1b; Dobson, 2b; McCarthy, ss; McGinley, 3b; Flynn, lf; Messler, cf; McKeon, rf. Newspaper Men—Hoffman, p, 1b; Vail, c; Nash, 1b, 3b; Sullivan, 2b, cf; Mehaffey, ss; Colthar, 3b; Hacquer, lf; Hughes, cf; Lambert, Waters, Nichol, rf.

A SOUTH SIDE BOOM.

Many New Buildings Going Up On Former Martine Tract.

There is at present a healthy real estate boom on in that section of the city formerly owned by James E. Martine, in the south part of the city. It includes the property on Martine and Evergreen avenues, where several handsome dwellings are now in course of construction. One of these has just been started by James Manning, of Dunellen avenue, who will occupy the home when completed. Edward K. Sloopum, of New York, is also building a handsome dwelling for his occupancy. E. S. F. Randolph, of Grant avenue, who is also interested in real estate, is building two houses on the developed section, one of which he may occupy himself. The *other one has been sold. Mr. Ran*dolph also owns considerable property in this section upon which he intends to build.

An attractive new avenue has been opened up and is now being flagged and curbed and later it will be macadamized. City water has been extended there and other improvements are assured. The Central Realty Company, successors to F. M. Wells, who originally began the development, is now the prime mover in the building operations. Mr. Cooper, of the well known New York firm of Seigel & Cooper, is the principal member of the realty company and is personally giving his attention to the development of the property.

Only high grade dwellings are being built and in this respect the section will be restricted. This territory includes what was formerly well known as the Martine farm and was owned by James E. Martine. He sold it to F. M. Wells, of New York, who remained here long enough to open up the tract. He then disposed of his interests to the Central Realty Company, which now controls the property.

Beggars Collect Large Sum.

The London Police think that the beggars of that great metropolis collect about $15,000,000 every year.

Many "Jags" in Storage.

The number of quart bottles of champagne on stock in the French caves last year was 190,698,862.

HORSE SHOW IN OCTOBER

Planning Event for Exhibition of Union and Somerset Thoroughbreds.

PRIZES FOR WINNERS

To Be Held by the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club Following Show in Morristown.

With a view of promoting even a greater local interest in fine horses, the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club is planning to hold a horse show at its show grounds on Randolph road about the second week in October, which will be an exhibition of thoroughbreds in Plainfield and possibly from towns between and including Somerville and Elizabeth. The matter has been discussed to some extent and seems to meet with the unanimous approval of the officers and members of the club.

Such a show will tend to interest the local owners of fine horses to enter and it will also give them an opportunity of winning prizes which are generally carried off by outside horses. This was true at the show held in June, when a majority of the prizes were taken by C. W. Watson, the Elsinor Stock Farm, J. H. Harriman, Joseph Larocque, Jr., Tomso Sivertsen and many other well-known out of town entrants. There are many Plainfielders who own fine horses, but their animals would not be expected to compete with those entered by the outsiders, in consequence they did not enter.

The information received from the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club believe that by arranging an exhibition for local horses that the entry list will be large and it will serve to awaken more interest among owners of fine horse flesh living in this vicinity. It is quite likely that owners of horses in Somerville, Elizabeth and intervening towns will be invited to enter their horses.

It has not been definitely decided yet whether to make the show a two-day affair or one. Some of the members favor the latter for the days, while others believe that one full afternoon would answer the purpose. If two days is decided upon Friday and Saturday will be chosen, and if one day Saturday will be fixed upon.

The show will follow the one to be held in Morristown in the first week in October, and while horses from that place will not be entered it is more than likely that a number of well-known society people from Morristown will attend the Plainfield show. Another horse show will be held at Bernardsville in October, but the dates chosen for that one will not interfere with the one here.

Suitable prizes, including ribbons, will be offered for the local exhibition and in every respect to be the well worth while for owners of fine horses to enter the several classes and give lovers of the equine an opportunity to see thoroughbreds under favorable conditions. Plainfield can boast of many fine steeds and equipages and the owners will no doubt enter heartily into a scheme to make a creditable show, besides the rivalry between Plainfield and other towns along the New Jersey Central will add to the interest. Early in September, when a majority of the people return from the city, the return from their vacation, a meeting will be called and arrangements completed for the show. Lewis H. Waring is one of the prime movers in the affair and it was largely through suggestions made by him that the other members have grown so enthusiastic about it. The expense attached to such an exhibition would be small in comparison to the June show and could be conducted probably at a profit.

Ten Days' Holiness Meeting.

Commencing September 7 and continuing until the 16th, a holiness meeting will be held by the Pentecostal Union church, of Bound Brook, known as the "Pillar of Fire Movement." It is planned to take this the first year of what will become a regular annual camp-meeting. The meetings will be held on the farm given by Mrs. P. W. Garretson for the Children's Home and missionary work. A building is being erected that will be used as a part for the meeting and the entertainment of the people. The farm is located three miles west of Bound Brook, on the Delaware and Raritan Canal, one mile from Weston. Persons wishing accommodations should write Kent White, Bound Brook. Services will be held at 10 a. m., and 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

To Build at Highland Park.

Luther W. Spear, of West Seventh street, has awarded contracts for the erection of three houses at Highland Park. One of the buildings will be on Leland avenue at George street, and the other two will be adjacent to it on George street. Each building is to measure 22 by 43 feet, and will be two stories in height.

Too Much For Him.

"I was held up for a few minutes by Miss Gassaway just now," said Towne.

"What did she have to say?" asked Mrs. Towne.

"Heavens! woman," he cried, "haven't a stenographic memory."

BOROUGH BUDGET FIXED

Total of $21,800 Needed to Meet Expenses For the Coming Twelve Months.

SAME AS LAST YEAR

Sewer Committee Of Seven Appointed By W. J. Buttfield Approved By the Council.

At an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council, Monday night, the budget for the coming year was made up, the total amount of money asked for aggregates $21,800, to be apportioned as follows: Police Department, $3,000; Fire Department, $3,000; Street Department, $6,000; Lights, $5,000; Water, $1,300; Poor, $1,500; incidentals, $1,000; Watchung avenue bond, $1,000, and Somerset street bond, $500. The total of $21,800 is exactly the same as last year's budget, and though it will cost slightly more to run the borough affairs during the coming year, the committee feels that the reduced assessments have been saving in the past, and there is a small balance left over from this year's budget, which tends to keep down the budget for the coming year. After due consideration of the budget estimate as presented, Councilman McGee offered the resolution for its adoption, which was carried.

Announcement of the sewer committee of seven recently appointed by W. J. Buttfield, who was elected as the chairman by the borough sewer commission of fifty, showed the appointment of the following men: Charles W. McCutcheon, Frank Del. Ryde, Dr. Justus H. Cooley, Edwin S. Hooley, Charles L. Nichols, Henry A. McGee and W. J. Buttfield. Of these men, all are from the first district except Dr. Cooley and Mr. Hyde. On resolution of Councilman Van Arsdale, this committee was accepted by the Council. It was understood at the time of the meeting of the commissioners of fifty that W. Buttfield would not serve as chairman of the committee of seven after appointing the members. To him it seemed best to have Charles W. McCutcheon act as chairman. Mr. McCutcheon is abroad now, but will in all probability accept the chairmanship upon his return next month. The committee has had one meeting, attended by three of the members, but no report was presented to the Council last evening as to what had been done. It is probable that as some of the members of the committee are away on vacations, no definite action about the sewers will be taken until next month.

Informal discussion as to the probable tax rate brought forth the general idea that it would be no higher than the $2.45 rate of last year. While the increase in assessed valuation will tend to make the borough rate lower, there is reason to believe that the county rate will be higher for next year. The borough rate in 1905 was 76 cents, a decrease of two cents from 1904, and there is every reason to believe that it will fall a couple of cents for the coming year. There will probably be a slight increase in the county rate, which was 44 cents last year, but it is generally considered that this will not overbalance the decrease in the borough rate. The State school tax of 16 cents and the special school tax of 98 cents will still be imposed.

The meeting adjourned after a session of about an hour. All the councilmen were present except Councilman VanWinkle. In the absence of Borough Clerk Frank Rowley, ex-Councilman James K. Arnold acted in that capacity.

THOUGHT LUMBER YARD AFIRE.

Reflection of Piscataway Fire Fooled Patrolman, Who Pulled Box.

Deceived by the reflection, Patrolman Saunders brought out the firemen Tuesday morning, when Howard Bird's barn at West Dunellen burned down. Saunders saw the glare in the sky from Front street, and it looked as if Loizeaux's lumber yard was going. He hustled to the firebox and pulled it. The department had a wild 'chase after the reflection, and the men were a bit sore when they discovered that the fire was not in their jurisdiction. Chief Doane, however, had no fault to find with the officer. The Chief's standing advice to policemen has always been to pull the box on the least suspicion of a fire.

The firemen have been called out for free miles away, in the same way, several times before. Not so long ago, Roundsman Flynn pulled the box when he saw the reflection of a big blaze in New Brunswick.

Bank's Condition Unsatisfactory.

The condition of Fireman Harry Bush, who was injured in an accident several weeks ago, is not at all satisfactory to his physicians. The improvement has been very slow and the fractured ribs are giving him a great deal of trouble. The doctors are to hold a consultation tomorrow to decide upon a future course of treatment.

Among the arrivals of automobile tourists registered at the Wendell Hotel, Pittsfield, Mass., this week are Elston M. French, of Somerset street and party, who are touring the Berkshires.

"NEW IDEA" STRONG IN DUNELLEN POLITICS

NO ORGANIZATION, BUT IN DETERMINATION TO OVERTHROW ONE-MAN RULE.

Since the recent petty ruptures and jars between Mayor Wyckoff, of Dunellen and the Town Council, there seems to have sprung up a general distaste for politics and political office. The terms of four of the local officials, three councilmen and tax collector, expire on January 1, 1907, and in the cases of President Moynihan of the Council and Councilmen Starker and Ryno, there seems to be no willingness to run for the office again. Councilman Starker is an appointee of Mayor Wyckoff and it is possible that he may accept renomination for a full term. Tax Collector George W. Day has held down his job for the past twelve years, ever since the incorporation of the borough and thinks he has had about discharged his duty as a citizen.

Although it is still a month before primaries, there is beginning to be talk about nominees for these offices which will be left vacant. The town is thoroughly waked up to the "new idea" and during the past year, the so-called "machine" party has decidedly weakened itself, so that the general feeling is strongly in favor of the "new idea" movement. But there is no sort of organization for this new movement, though it has spread lately through town and has many supporters.

The current issue of "The Dunellen Call," in speaking of this matter of machine politics in the borough says: "The election last fall in this borough would seem to be proof enough of this 'new idea' in politics to convince those desiring office for either pleasure or gain that they must be nominated by the people and not by the boss." There is a strong feeling of one-man power in the town politics and an effort will be made to break this up in filling councilmanic vacancies this fall.

SECOND REGIMENT MEN ON STATE RIFLE TEAM.

Captain W. B. Martin of Company K One of the Six Appointed.

Six members of the Second Regiment have been given places in the State team which will represent the New Jersey National Guard in the national matches and in the Dryden trophy match to be shot at Sea Girt *during the tournament of the Na*tional Rifle Association of America. The Second Regiment men on the team are: Captain William B. Martin, Company K, this city; Lieutenant Charles F. Silvester, Company L; Sergeant Marcus F. Farr, Company L; Sergeant Fisher Howe, Company B; Sergeant John R. Williams, Company L; Corporal George W. Silvester, Company L.

Company L is located at Princeton, and it contains an unusual number of good marksmen.

The other members of the team are: First Regiment Officers Major Arthur Rowland, Captain Kenyon A. Rice, First Lieutenant Herbert L. Smith, Corporal Theodore Gabriel.

Besides the above First Regiment members, the team make-up is as follows: Major Winfield R. Price, Third Regiment; Captain John Nolan, Company D, Fifth Regiment; Capt. John Malcolm, inspector of rifle practice, Fifth Regiment; Captain Earl T. Dabb, commissary, Fourth Regiment; William A. Baker, Company C, Fourth Regiment; Sergeant Adolph Pfeil, Company B, Third Regiment; Private Ettore Minervini, Company C, Fourth Regiment.

Cranford's Valuation.

The Cranford assessors' valuations just completed show $4,923,317. Last year the figure was $4,848,500. The highest price paid for land was by J. Z. Smith, $200 a front foot for five feet fronting on Union avenue. The Public Service Corporation was the only corporation that failed to comply with the assessors' request for the valuation of its power-house and machinery at Cranford. The reply stated that the same valuation as last year would be fair.

Charity Lawn Festival.

For the benefit of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, a lawn festival will be held on the grounds of the Netherwood Hotel Saturday night, August 25. It will be an elaborate affair, with a number of special attractions.

To Build on Evergreen Avenue.

Ernest Sharp, of Watchung avenue, acting as vice-president of the Central Park Realty Co., of New York city, has secured a permit for the erection of a 2½ story 27 foot dwelling house on Evergreen avenue, near Edgewood avenue. E. V. French is the architect and the work of erection will be commenced at once by W. Pangborn as mason and J. C. Manning as carpenter.

Plainfield's Assessment Equitable.

Corporation Counsel Williamson and the board of assessors, of Summit, who visited Plainfield a few days ago to learn something about the new assessments here, declared that the work in this city appealed to them as being the most equitable of any found in the county and they proposed to follow Plainfield's example at Summit.

COURT SESSION WAS BRIEFEST ON RECORD

JUDGE NEWCORN FINISHED UP HIS CALENDAR IN TEN MINUTES.

Judge Newcorn held his shortest session of the District Court Tuesday morning. Ten minutes served to wind up the business of the court. There were only five cases on the docket, and none of them was contested.

John W. Moynihan was granted possession of premises at 205 Liberty street, which had been occupied by Margaret Warren. The tenant moved away, locking the doors, and the action in court was necessary to enable the owner to take possession.

The contract cases brought by Guy H. Hillmer and M. C. Van Arsdale against C. E. S. Bellows were discontinued at the request of the plaintiffs' attorney, G. W. V. Moy.

The contract cases of the Consumers' Coal Company against J. Lisa Edsall and E. T. Hand against Firman Gise were not moved.

The contract case of Joseph Kingston against Elizabeth Gill was decided for the plaintiff. He was awarded $87.53, for mason work.

Prospects for a busier session of the court next week are slim. There is only one case, an adjourned action, on the docket.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS BURIED.

Funerals of Edward Kelley and Treats Held Monday.

The funerals of Edward Kelley and George Teats, the two victims of the accident at Cranford on Tuesday, when the fine pipe of a New Jersey Central engine bursted, were held at Somerville, Monday. Both were very largely attended.

The services over the remains of Edward Kelley were at 9 a.m. in the Catholic church, Rev. Father Boggard officiated. Loving friends sent many pretty floral tributes. He was unmarried. Burial in the cemetery on Union avenue.

The funeral of George Teats was held in the First Methodist church at 2 p.m. Rev. Edwin N. Crasto officiated. Flowers in profusion were sent. Deceased was a son-in-law of George Mundy, of Somerville, and a widow and one child survive. Burial was in the new cemetery.

DECLINE OF THE HAIRPIN.

The long militant hairpin has at last been forced to yield the palm as a feminine indispensable to the despised chewing gum, aided by the adhesive postage stamp.

This was how the tragedy came about: A pretty woman, who asked her husband to buy her an automobile, was told that until she became intimately acquainted with the interior workings of the machine desired he would not willingly permit her to possess the desired treasure.

Being a woman of an active mind and of somewhat mechanical turn, she at once took him at his word and qualified for ownership.

True to his promise, the husband purchased the machine, and since that time the woman has been greatly envied as she flashed by in her swift machine, minus the usually necessary chauffeur.

All went well until one day when, as fate decreed, she was enjoying a little journey, accompanied by her husband.

Suddenly a report like that of a pistol conveyed the information of a puncture—one difficulty which the fair chauffeuse had not before encountered.

She became nervous as she glanced through the repair kit, to find the punctured outfit missing, and the quizzical glance of her husband waiting to see her meet her Waterloo almost unnerved her.

Mother wit, however, did not desert her, for with a triumphant glance at her amazed spouse, she bravely caulked the puncture with a piece of chewing gum, over which she pasted a postage stamp.

OUT-DOOR CHAFING DISH.

Hot creamed eggs and cheese; lettuce sandwiches; olives; coffee; little tea cakes; orange marmalade.

Veal loaf; hot scrambled eggs with tomato; cream-cheese sandwiches; pickles; fresh gingerbread; coffee.

Cold sliced ginger; creamed canned chicken; cucumber sandwiches; coffee; and lady fingers.

Creamed hard-boiled eggs; chicken salad; lettuce sandwiches; olives; cakes; and coffee.

Eggs scrambled with chopped green peppers; shrimp salad; olive sandwiches; spongecake; and coffee. —Harper's Bazar.

Jaybird as Public Benefactor.

"At Mound Bayou, Miss., recently, a large-sized jaybird attracted attention and excited commotion in a hen yard by picking up one of the young chickens, which he proceeded to make a meal of. A day or two later the same jay was observed to be feasting off the body of an English sparrow. If this story is true a possible solution of the sparrow nuisance presents itself.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, August 2d, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholders Adams and Klipstein.

The minutes of the previous meeting (reading of bills being omitted), were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From board of taxation of Union county, N. J., as follows:

July 19, 1906.

Gentlemen: The county board of taxation recently appointed by the Governor, and who have duly qualified and organized, find that there are constantly questions arising respecting the manner of procedure with their work as indicated in the act under which they are appointed, and it is sometimes quite difficult to determine just the manner of procedure in certain cases, and find the assistance of counsel would, at times, be very acceptable; accordingly we would respectfully petition your honorable body for the services of such counsel upon whom we may call for advice and instruction when required.

Board of Taxation of Union county per Thomas Hanna, Secretary.

After some discussion, and no objection being offered, the clerk was directed to notify said board that the county attorney would act in all cases when legal advice was needed.

From B. E. Merritt, secretary, etc., as follows:

Elizabeth, July 31, 1906.

Dear Sirs: We have been instructed by Local No. 9, Polishers, Buffers, Platers, of Elizabeth, to request permission from your honorable body for the use of the court house steps for the purpose of having our picture taken in a body on Labor Day, preceding the parade. Our Local considers that the steps of the court would be no other suitable place in the city. Hoping your honorable body will grant this request, and with best of wishes, I remain most obediently yours,

B. E. Merritt, Secretary, Etc.

On motion of Freeholder Gruener, the communication was received, and the permission asked for was granted unanimously.

From Louis Keller, calling attention to condition of Morris avenue where trolley tracks had been laid, and that the work had been very badly done. Also, to bad repair of Morris avenue from the outer edge of Springfield to the line of Summit. The construction of the trunk sewer two years ago has left this road full of depressions and hummocks, and the manholes, which have been surrounded by concrete, noticeable cobble stones are much above the present street level.

On motion of Freeholder Cady, referred to the county road committee.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By committee on bridge, on St. George avenue, Rahway, as follows:

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to examine the bridge in Rahway on St. George avenue, near Jaques avenue, would respectfully report that we have examined same and found same much in need of repair; your committee would therefore recommend that said bridge be repaired as soon as not to exceed $800.

Respectfully submitted, Adolph H. Gruener, Noah Woodruff, Henry Krouse, W. A. Westphal, Committee.

By committee on bridge, Alston road, Westfield, N. J.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to examine the bridge on Alston road, in the town of Westfield, would respectfully report that we have examined said bridge and find the temporary structure, in a dilapidated condition and unsafe for public travel, and we would recommend that a new bridge be built of concrete, reinforced with steel bars, at a cost not to exceed $800.

Respectfully submitted, C. A. Smith, C. E. Chandler, Peter H. Meisel, Committee.

Freeholder Cady moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By committee on bridge, Alston road, Westfield, N. J.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed to examine the bridge on Alston road, in the town of Westfield, would respectfully report that we have examined said bridge and find the temporary structure, in a dilapidated condition and unsafe for public travel, and we would recommend that a new bridge be built of concrete, reinforced with steel bars, at a cost not to exceed $800.

Respectfully submitted, C. A. Smith, C. E. Chandler, Peter H. Meisel, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By the committee on Scott avenue bridge, Plainfield, N. J.

Resolved, That the committee on the Scott avenue bridge, Plainfield, be empowered to construct the easterly abutment of said bridge of concrete, as the city of Plainfield is going to widen the roadway 11½ feet, and present wall is not deep enough for such improvement, the additional cost not to exceed $400.

C. E. Chandler, John Robison, Geo. B. Cladek, W. A. Westphal, Committee.

Freeholder Gruener moved that the report be received and resolution adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the committee on public grounds and buildings, with the co-operation of the county finance commissioners, investigate into the advisability of the installation of power and lighting plant in the court house building, for the purpose of supplying the county buildings with electricity and electric light, and report to this board at the next meeting the probable cost of the same, and the cost of maintenance thereof.

And be it further Resolved, That *they also investigate into the advis*ability of installing the necessary machinery, to the purpose of supplying the county buildings with water, and report to this board at its next meeting the probable cost of the same, together with the cost of maintenance.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Jensen:

To the Board of Freeholders:

Gentlemen: As chairman of the committee on drawbridges, Elizabeth, I beg to report that I have discharged H. Bush as keeper of the South street bridge. This action was taken because of alleged indifference to duty which upon personal investigation I found to be true, therefore took summary action in discharging Bush. I have engaged Robert Kolber to act as bridge tender of the South street bridge, and believe that he will attend to said bridge properly, salary $250 per annum.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received, and the action taken by Freeholder Jensen, confirmed, which was so ordered on roll call by a unanimous vote.

By Freeholder Jensen:

To the Board of Freeholders:

Gentlemen: Complaint has been made that during the early evening rush hours, the South Front street bridge, Elizabeth, must be opened in order to allow small launches in and out that are usually running evening there are anywhere from 10 to 15 small launches that pass through, causing inconvenience to factory men on their way home, also at times badly blocking truck traffic.

I understand it is a law not to open a bridge for any sail boat unless it has a 6 inch mast, and that the bridge board can legally take any action which would tend to properly regulate the opening of bridges for launches. It would seem advisable to do so. It is suggested that most of the small launches could be easily fitted with adjustable canopies instead of permanent ones as is now the case.

For the purpose of presenting the matter to the Board of Freeholders for consideration, I offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That every launch equipped with a regular enclosed stationary cabin may pass through the bridge in a recumbent, but that the bridge tender be instructed not to open a bridge for launches less than 30 feet in length which are equipped with cabins that could and should be made adjustable, so as to permit them going under the bridge without opening same and thereby avoid any unnecessary delay of traffic, etc. Also that the secretary of the board post printed copies of this action on conspicuous places on each bridge.

On motion the communication was received, and referred to the committee on legal questions and the county attorney.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine the inlet at the Park avenue bridge over Cedar Brook, Plainfield, N. J. Myself and Freeholder Perry went to the *same and found that the water over*flowed the sidewalks every time it stormed. I would advise enlarging the same at a cost not exceeding $150.

Freeholder Gruener moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

The Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Wilbur, Krouse and Jensen.

By Freeholder Perry:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to examine the bridge on South avenue, Westfield, near Cedar avenue, and report as to the advisability of constructing a new bridge at that point, the committee to report at next meeting.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Perry, Westphal and Gruener.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read, and on roll-call unanimously ordered paid, viz.:

Members' Pay Account—C. A. Smith $30, P. H. Meisel $40, S. P. T. Wilbur $34, Jno. N. Cady $14, C. S. Chandler $45, Noah Woodruff $50, W. Westphal $43, Jno. Robinson $26, Henry Krouse $42, E. K. Adams $26, Dennis S. Murphy $26, Chas. J. Jensen $46, A. H. Gruener $72, Benj. King $20.80, Geo. B. Cladek $20, L. F. Wahl $32, George B. Cladek $40.

Committee Expense Account—Geo. W. Cole $18, P. H. Meisel $3.15, S. P. T. Wilbur $34, Jno. N. Cady $14, Murphy $4.25, Chas. J. Jensen $6, W. A. Westphal $6.45, Henry Krause $21.65, Chas. A. Smith $7.30, Noah Woodruff $20.80, Geo. Cladek $16, E. K. Adams $13.95, John J. Wahl $4.75, Chas. R. Baker $15.00, Benj. King $20.87, John N. Cady $11.70, Geo. B. Cladek, $4.25.

Salary Account—N. R. Leavitt $208.33, James W. Pink $60.

Salary of Secretary of County, Board of Taxation Account—Thos. Hanna $100.

Stationery Account — Elizabeth Daily Journal $51, J. F. Cahill $65.-49, J. F. Cahill $11.50, F. E. Norris & Co. $9.20, F. E. Norris & Co. $11, F. E. Norris & Co. $3.75, Elliott Fisher Co. $5.50.

Jail Account—Alonzo Pettit, M. D. $62.50, Henry J. Schmidt $14.75, J. J. Coughlin $9.20, W. A. Lawrence, Sheriff $626.85, West Disinfecting Co. $70.20.

Incidental Account—Thomas Hanna $3, H. Cheshock, P. M. $2, Wm. J. Shearer $132.85, James W. Pink $12.50, Frank H. Smith $165, S. Rusling Ryno $88.35.

County Road Repairs Account—Wm. H. Weldon $1,562.69, Wm. H. Weldon $6,172.93.

Publications Account — Advocate Pub. Co. $89.75, Lewis S. Hyer $31.25, New Jersey Advocate $31.25, Sunday Leader $31, Summit Record $31.25, Elizabeth Evening Times $31.25, Dunellen Citizen $31.25, Summit Herald $31.25, Standard Publishing Concern $31.25, Westfield Leader $31.25, New Providence News $31.25, Elizabeth Daily Journal $31.25.

New Court House Account—W. S. Ackerman $69.

Public Buildings Account—W. S. Ackerman $187.75, Kate Runyon $27, J. J. Carey $50, The Elizabethtown Water Co. $347.20, The Elizabethtown Water Co. $272.16, The N. Y. and N. J. Tel. Co. $2.75, The N. Y. and N. J. Tel. Co. $9.85, The N. Y. and N. J. Tel. Co. $5.70, The N. Y and N. J. Tel. Co. $2.20, N. Y. and N. J. Tel. Co. $5.50, N. Y. and N. J. Tel. Co. $3.15, The Elizabeth Ice Co. $74.73, W. H. Hulskämper $267.95, H. P. Vanderveer $11, Edwin H. Oswald $11.50, Wm. Schaefer $7.05, Laggren Bros. $82.94, Victor Manufacturing Co. $22.50, W. A. Mulford $18, J. W. Brucklacher $52.95, Elizabeth Harrow Co. $9, $31.48, Clark Hardware Co. $12.80.

Court Account—Chas. F. W. Eckhardt $5, Chas. F. W. Eckhardt $32.-50, Robert Walpole $21.56, Peter V. Wood $20, Frank Brower, $34.70, $34.70, H. A. Pierson $6.60, George Angen $100, Patrick S. Kiely $35, Henry J. Schoppe $75, John A. Galatian $117.50, Wm. H. Thompson $150, Jno. K. English $208.33, N. C. J. Rusch $500, Edward S. Atwater $416.66, Frederick Teipel $30, Frederick Teipel $13.50, F. J. Hubbard $35.35, $120.50, Joseph Kingston $210, F. J. Hubbard $62.75, Milton Mills Co. $70, J. L. Bauer $42.50, $50, John S. Mathers $557, D. J. Muddell $48.05, F. J. Hubbard $100, George Ditzel $19.87, Jas. G. Moore $200, The W. T. Kirk Co. $36.50, S. Marks $13.70, The W. T. Kirk Co. $410.

Freeholder Krouse moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, September 6, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

THE GHOST WHICH FLASHED THE LIGHT.

Which Frightened Roselle Park Benedict and His Bride.

Borough Marshal Birmingham, of Roselle Park, has been successful in locating a ghost which annoyed a young married couple on the upper end of Grant avenue.

Every night the ghost would appear, flashing a lantern into the room, with the result that the young couple became so thoroughly frightened that they decided to call upon the police. Accordingly the husband told his story to Marshal Birmingham, declaring that it was impossible to sleep nights on account of the lantern flashes.

Marshal Birmingham spent a few minutes on Grant avenue a few evenings ago and located the ghost which flashed the light. The marshal could not arrest the ghost, which proved to be nothing more spectral than the big searchlights of the Public Service trolley cars passing over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Aldene. Marshal Birmingham declares that the searchlight makes a big swoop and flashes a light into the Grant avenue windows.

SHERIFF MAKES SIX RAIDS AT NEWARK.

Proprietors of Alleged Disorderly Saloons Are Arrested by Sommer's Constables.

Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Essex county, continues his housecleaning efforts in Newark over the heads of the local police officials. Late Saturday night he sent out a squad of constables under command of Under-Sheriff Mason, and before midnight six places of alleged disorder and their proprietors made prisoners.

The Sheriff's men directed their efforts against alleged disorderly houses and saloons that catered to the trade of women and permitted them to frequent their resorts.

The proprietors arrested were Solomon Krutzog, No. 34 Lafayette street; Sadie Leuts, No. 12 Columbia street; Charles Stashie, No. 12 Beaver street; Alexander McCarthy, Market and Somerset; William Tyler, No. 146 Halsey street, and Wm. H. Yan, Warren and Washington streets. All were held yesterday in $1,500 for a hearing.

Lost Valuable Cat.

Mrs. Clara Benedict, of West Seventh street, has asked the police to help her find a valuable Angora cat which strayed away from her home last week. She brought the cat with her from Brooklyn three weeks ago and fears the animal is wandering about in search of it and its way back to its old home.

"Why, sir,' he said, 'just after you left, a gentleman walked in with a wine and cigar bill that he said he knew you were dying to pay, because it had been owing for four years. So I settled it with the $20 in the fan. It was $19.75. Here's the receipt, sir.'"

TO BE LEAGUE PITCHER

Willie Deegan Signs With Toronto Club For Next Year.

DEAL HAS BEEN CLOSED

Manager Barrow Delighted to Land the Plainfield Twirler—Fozzy Firstbrook Gets a New Hat.

Rounded into shape for the fastest company by six years of steady pitching against the pick of the independent teams in this vicinity, Willie Deegan, the strong-armed mainstay of Manager Daub's team, will go into the Eastern League next season as a member of the pitching staff of the Toronto team. He closed arrangements with Ed Barrow Monday, at Jersey City, to join his team in 1907.

The Toronto Club has been in need of a stronger pitching staff for some time, and when Manager Barrow heard that Deegan was prepared to go out into league service, he opened negotiations with him at once. Barrow, like practically all the Eastern League managers, is familiar with Deegan's work in this section, and he had him sized up for just the recruit he was in search of. At Barrow's solicitation Deegan met him at Jersey City, while the Toronto has been playing, yesterday, and the agreement that will make Deegan a Toronto pitcher next season was speedily entered into. Barrow wanted Deegan to join him at once, but Willie was averse to starting so late in the season, and the matter of a new hold off with the contract until 1907.

Deegan's ability to make good in the Eastern League is regarded as a certainty by those who are familiar with his performances in the box. He is rated as a top-notcher among the pick of the local baseball twirlers, and could have gone into the league several seasons ago had he felt so in*clined. Barrow wanted to sign him* in 1904, but at that time Deegan believed his interests were best served by independent pitching, carried on in conjunction with his work at a school for deaf mutes, where he taught and pursued a special course of study.

Deegan started pitching in fast company in 1900. He drew attention to himself by clever work for the Orange A. A. team with Jack O'Neil, his present backstop, at the other end of the battery. This is his second consecutive season with Manager Daub. It was his work in the box that, more than anything else, wrested the pennant from Westfield in the county championship series a year ago.

Last winter Deegan purchased the old hotel at Scotch Plains, and has conducted it since. He was thinking of selling the place a short time ago, but he has decided to hold onto it. Just before he bought the hotel he married.

Deegan and Barrow were brought together by George E. Firstbrook, formerly baseball expert on The Daily Press, now the same thing for the Newark News. Deegan has the reputation of being contract-shy, and when Fozzy suggested him to Barrow, when the latter was sighing for a new twirler, the Toronto manager gave him the gentle cackle.

"If Deegan comes to Jersey City and asks for Barrow, 'Tell make a sound like a new hat.'

Last night, Fozzy was looking up a hook in his closet for a discarded lid.

EMIL M. MESSERSCHMIDT.

Lifelong Plainsider Passed Away at His Home Yesterday.

Emil M. Messerschmidt died at his home, 327 East Fifth street, Monday afternoon, following an illness of ten weeks with a complication of diseases, during which time he was detained at home. He was a son of the late Nicholas and Elizabeth Messerschmidt. He was born in this city fifty-five years ago and always lived here, with the exception of two years spent in St. Louis.

Mr. Messerschmidt was a clothing cutter by trade and was employed for a number of years by Schepflin, Baldwin, Tweedy & Co., and later by Wallace Brown, successor to the firm. During the recent years he lived in retirement. He was for many years a member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, also the First Presbyterian church, where he was a regular attendant until illness prevented.

He is survived by a wife, a daugh*ter, Miss Henrietta Messerschmidt;* also a brother, William J. Messerschmidt, of Washington street, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Faber, of Baltimore.

The funeral services will be held from the late home Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the interment will be made in the North Plainfield cemetery.

To Build Conservatory.

The work of building a conservatory has been begun by Palmer & Westphal, contractors, at the house *of Louis P. Chatel, of Jackson ave*nue, Netherwood. It is to be built at the side of the house, with a new porch in the rear.

Festival at Marconnier Chapel.

A peach and ice cream festival will be held on the grounds adjoining Marconnier chapel Wednesday night, August 29. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the chapel.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVIII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1906 NO. 40.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Consent of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

WANT INCREASE IN PAY

Voters to Decide Whether Firemen and Policemen Shall Get More Money.

AT THE NOV. ELECTION

Petitions Presented to the Common Council Last Night—Resolutions As Next Meeting.

Simultaneous action was taken at the September meeting of the Common Council, last night, by Chairman Mellick, of the finance committee, Chairman Frank Randolph, of the police committee, looking toward an increase in the pay of the men in both departments, under the provisions of two acts of the Legislature passed sometime ago, giving cities of Plainfield's class the rigt to vote on it at a general election. It requires a majority vote of all persons voting to grant the increase, and both Mr. Mellick and Mr. Randolph, who had received petitions from their departments asking that advantage of these laws be taken, reported back the petitions and stated that at the next meeting of the Common Council they would offer a resolution providing that the question be refered on the ballots at the November election.

The law provides that in all cities of this State, other than those known as seaside resorts, are privileged to vote on this question. In the case of the police department the pay or salaries of the officers and patrolmen would be as follows under the new law:

Aids, sergeants and lieutenants, each not less than $1,350 per year; detectives, each not less than $1,300 per year; round-sergeants or roundsmen, each not less than $1,100 per year, and policemen, each not less than $750 for the first year of service, not less than $800 for the second year, not less than $850 for the third year, not less than $1,000 for the fourth year, and not less than $1,200 for the fifth year; provided that each policeman now receiving $1,000 per year, and each policeman who under the provisions of this act shall have served for two years at $1,000 per year, shall receive each year an increase of five per cent. per annum on his salary until such salary shall reach the sum of $1,200, when the increase shall cease.

If a majority of those voting for or against the acceptance of the act shall be in favor of its acceptance, the provisions will be deemed to be accepted by the city, and the city will be bound by the terms of it. The law further provides that there shall be printed upon the official ballots for every election district the word "for" and the word "against" above and immediately preceding the words "the act to increase compensation of police department." If the word "for" be marked off or defaced upon the ballots, it shall be counted as a vote against acceptance of the act; of the word "against" be marked off in a similar manner, it shall be counted as a vote in favor of the acceptance of the act, and in case neither word is marked or defaced, it will not be counted either for or against. In any city in which the act becomes operative in the manner stated, the increase of pay or salaries will go into effect on the first day of the next calendar month, notwithstanding that there may not be any existing appropriation or fund sufficient to permit such increase, and the board or authority having control of the finances of such city shall borrow a sufficient sum to cover such increase for the remainder of the current fiscal year, or may permit the same to be paid out of any money of the city, and shall put such sum in the next tax levy raised.

The law is practically the same in the case of the police department, the only difference being the amounts paid the employees of the two departments, that of the fire department being more than that of the police.

The salaries in the police department at present are as follows: Chief, $1,400; sergeant, $1,200; round-sman and patrolmen, first year, $600; second year, $65; third and fourth years, $70; fifth year, $75, which is the maximum.

In the case of the fire department should the law become operative it would mean a total increase at present of $2,300 a year. Under the present order of things Chief Doane receives $900 a year as chief of the fire department, and Assistant Chief Drew Jennings receives the same salary, but Chief Doane also receives a salary as building inspector. The regular men receive salaries ranging from $600 to $840, while under the new law men who have been in the service one year or less would receive $480, those less than two years, $600; two years and less than three years, $780; those three years and more $960, which would be the maximum salary. Of course, this increase salary refers to continuous

(Continued on Page 4.)

NO POLITICAL MEETINGS IN NEW HIGH SCHOOL HALL

BOARD OF EDUCATION REFUSES A REQUEST FOR ITS USE.

But for the fact that Howard Tracy had made application for the use of the new High school auditorium in which to hold a "new idea" meeting, the city Board of Education would have had very little to do at its regular meeting, last night. Only three members were present, President Probasco and Secretary Woodhull not appearing.

Charles F. Abbott, who was acting secretary, stated that Mr. Tracy had spoken to him about the auditorium matter and had requested him to make formal application to the board. He was told, Mr. Abbott stated, that the use of the place had been restricted and it was not the intention of the board to allow all manner of gatherings to be held in it; that it had been decided when the school was first completed to devote the hall to the furtherance of education.

In reply Mr. Tracy contended that the Board of Education had no right to decide as to who should or who should not use public property and that furthermore a political gathering was to "educate" voters and that it would come under the trustees own ruling.

The application was discussed at some length but it resulted in the agreement on the part of the members present that the auditorium should not be given over to political meetings. It was stated that a gathering of this sort would be one not inclined to use the place to the best interests of the tax-payers and that Mr. Tracy's request be refused.

It was stated by Mr. Abbott that no provision had been made for a flag and pole for the new High school and the matter was referred to the buildings and grounds committee. The custodian reported a balance of $17,855.96 on hand and the tax collector's report show that $1,111.54 had been received during the month.

MISS SMITH THE BRIDE OF LOUIS OLSON BARTON.

Plainfield Lawyer Quietly Wedded in New York on Monday.

Miss Mabelle A. Smith and Lawyer Louis Olson Barton, both of this city, were quietly married by the Rev. George C. Houghton, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, New York, on Monday. After a honeymoon spent among the Shasanguin Mountains, Upper county, New York, the couple will return to this city and reside on Sandford avenue.

Miss Smith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Smith, of West Front street, this city, and is known in musical circles, being contralto soloist in the church of the Holy Cross, and a member of the Plainfield Operatic Association. The groom is one of the younger members of the bar of this city, with a wide acquaintance. He is also a member of the Plainfield Operatic Association, tenor of the Church of the Holy Cross and a member of the Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS.

Little Business at Regular Monthly Meeting.

There was very little business transacted at the September meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday afternoon, Drs. T. S. Davis and R. VanD. Hedges and Charles H. Dunham being the only members present. The reports show the sanitary condition of the city to be very good. During August there was but one case of contagious disease. A case of slanders was reported on August 31. The horse was killed and the stables thoroughly disinfected.

The usual number of milk samples were analyzed, and dairies inspected. Permits were granted to James W. Mitchell to sell milk and Charles Brunjes to collect garbage. The plumbers' bonds of Harry N. Taylor and Louis Goldstein were filed.

Knights Templar Field Day at Asbury Park Tomorrow.

Special train under auspices of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., leaves Plainfield at 8 a. m.; Asbury Park at 6 p. m. Tickets, including luncheon, $3.00; without luncheon, $2.00, may be purchased of the committee, N. Y. Dungan, Somerville; W. J. Pinto, 711 West Eighth street, F. W. Butler, 117 East Ninth street, or at the train tomorrow morning.

***

—Allan Vanderhoef, of The Plainfield Trust Company, has returned from Asbury Park, where he spent his vacation.

—Peaches are plentiful at Neuman Brothers. They had a fine consignment of 250 baskets, white and yellow fruit, reach the store this morning. Just the thing for canning and preserving.

WANTS DUNELLEN GIRL

Rancher In North Dakota Asks Mayor Wyckoff to Help Him Wed.

CHANCE FOR 50 LASSES

John Rinacker, of Perry, North Dakota, Hears There Are Many Old Maids In Suburban Borough.

Echoes of the story of Dunellen's besaless maids, which was published two years ago, are still travelling about the West and the West, with characteristic gallantry and wife-hunger, hastens to the rescue of the manless girls.

The offer of the West to save the old maids of Dunellen from continued single-blessedness came Monday to Mayor Wyckoff from John Rinacker, of Perry, North Dakota. John wrote a letter to the Mayor, offering himself and fifty other strong and able North Dakotans to the old maids of Dunellen.

Rinacker writes that he has just read of Dunellen's population of old maids. He wants Mayor Wyckoff to pick one of them out for him and send her to Perry to be married. Rinacker describes himself as a young man, a rancher and well-to-do. He has a preference for a dark damsel, somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty-five.

He says there are fifty other wifeless men in and about Perry who are yearning for helpmates, and fifty Dunellen lasses would be enfolded to as many manly bosoms, if they came West. He is sure the girls would be happy.

Rinacker evidently is very much in earnest. He authorizes the Mayor to draw on him for $50, to pay expenses and for this time in finding him a wife. The Mayor doesn't know just exactly what to do, but he holds himself ready to consider applications from dark young women who may wish to go on a North Dakota ranch. The commission for fifty other brides he is afraid he cannot fill.

CITIZEN CONWAY TACKLES WIFE BEATER

ESCORTS HIM TO JAIL AND THEN SECURES HIS CONVICTION.

William Conway, a well-known borough citizen, proved that he was made of the right sort of stuff, last evening, when without aid of any sort, he tackled Andrew Monctmorso, a French baker, twice his size, and hustled him to the borough jail for wife beating.

Conway was walking along Harmony street on his way home when he heard calls for help coming from the Monctmorso residence. He ran into the front part of the house and found Monctmorso beating his wife, the woman doing her best to ward him off and emitting piercing screams. Conway's indignation made him forget the odds against him and he gave battle to the husband. The latter immediately beat a cowardly retreat for the back yard and attempted to escape but Conway was after him and quickly made him realize the stempt was useless.

Monctmorso admitted that he was cornered and consented to accompany his captor to the lock-up. When they reached headquarters no one was about and Conway stood guard over his prisonar until a marshal could be secured to put him in a cell. The regular session of court followed a short time afterward and Monctmorso was haled before Mr Smalley. Conway's evidence was in itself enough to convict him but a dozen neighbors appeared to tell how he abused his wife continually and the prisoner was given twenty days straight.

Plainfield Assessors Meet Today.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors will meet this afternoon to consider matters pertaining to their assessment report which must be sworn to before the County Board of Taxation. Members of the Board visited Elizabeth yesterday and learned that the assessors intend to complete their work on Friday, and the Plainfield assessors want to swear to their assessment lists by that time.

Will Be Held for the Grand Jury.

Joseph Myerson, of Pearl street, North Plainfield, who was caught robbing the hous of Henry R. Ganno in Elizabeth, on Saturday, is still detained at the county jail. Although he has not been arraigned as yet, he will undoubtedly be held for the Grand Jury.

John H. VanWinkle and wife and John H. VanWinkle, Jr., have returned from Asbury Park, where they spent the month of August.

MAY USE NEW SPELLING

School Pupils Have Choice Between "Archaic" and "Simplified" Forms

MR. TRAVELL'S VIEWS

He Uses Some of the New Forms But Draws the Line at Others —Takes Broad Stand.

No order establishing the so-called simplified system of spelling will be issued in the schools of this city. Principal Fk W. Travell, who returned from his vacation last night, made a positive statement to that effect this morning.

"Some time ago," said Mr. Travell, "when the first list of twelve common words was issued by the men at the head of the movement, it was posted at the High school and the pupils were told that they might adopt the new spelling of them if they saw fit. There was no compulsion then, and there will not be any now. The 300 words approved by the Spelling Board have been posted at the school and the privilege of using the system will continue to be offered the pupils. But it will be wholly a matter of choice with the pupil.

"The so-called Carnegie system never had any existence. The scholars who interested themselves in the campaign for simplified spelling were at work long before Carnegie identified himself with the movement; the newspapers called it Carnegie's system when he gave $10,000 a year to those scholars to pursue their work. Now that Roosevelt has come out for the system the papers have taken to calling it his.

"Personally, I am not a spelling reform crank. A few of the 300 words I use, but others are too much for me. I wish the high school pupils to have the same privilege. All I demand of them in the matter is that they spell consistently. If a pupil spells it 'catalog' in one place in a paper he must not spell it 'catalogue' in another and expect to have both forms tolerated. I allow pupils who were trained in England to spell honor h-o-n-o-u-r, but they must maintain that system of orthography all through their papers.

"The whole object of the simplified list is to give the people an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the new system. A word here and there is picked out and gradually becomes common and its 'simplified' spelling becomes the everyday form. The National Review has been using the new spelling for some time, and a number of magazines and papers have adopted it."

NO BIDS TO BE ASKED FOR SOUTHSIDE SEWERS.

Proposals Received, However, for Macadamizing Several Streets.

It was expected that bids for constructing the proposed Southside sanitary sewer would be received at the September meeting of the Common Council, last night, but to the surprise of the lobby and several bidders present, Mr. Gloak offered a resolution rescinding the action calling for bids.

This was done because the specifications are not completed. It is difficult to get iron pipe and there was an apparent lack of interest among contractors to bid at this time.

A resolution was offered later in the evening fixing Monday night, October 1, as the time when these bids will be received.

Proposals were received for macadamizing several streets in the city. There were two bidders—C. M. Meeker and W. B. Emmons. Their bids per lineal foot are as follows: C. M. Meeker—Park Terrace, $1.10; Berkeley avenue, $1.04; Webster place, 95 cents; Berckman street, 94 cents; Richmond street, 94 cents; Kensington avenue, 92 cents; Division street, 94 cents; John street, 90 cents.

W. B. Emmons—Park Terrace, $1.20; Berkeley avenue, $1.10; Webster place, 98 cents; Berckman street, 98 cents; Richmond street, 98 cents; Kensington avenue, 98 cents; Division street, 98 cents; John street, 98 cents.

The bids were referred to the street committee for further consideration. Later Mr. Gloak offered a resolution accepting Mr. Meeker's bid, it being the lowest.

No one speaking for or against the ordinance providing for the vacating of Johnston avenue and Hill street, at the public hearing granted, the ordinance was adopted on final reading.

Mrs. Mary Sutphen.

Mrs. Mary Sutphen, widow of Peter Sutphen, died this morning at her home in Central avenue. She was eighty-six years of age. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

CONVENTION DATE SET

Congressional Candidate to be Chosen at Elizabeth on Sept. 28.

RENOMINATION LIKELY

Fowler Is Unopposed But He Is In Vermont As Unusual and Has Not Announced Himself.

The congressional convention of the Fifth district, which includes Union, Morris and Warren counties, will be held at Elizabeth on Friday, September 28, to nominate a representative and unless he declines to run Charles Newell Fowler, of Elizabeth, will be named. The time and place for holding the convention was agreed upon at a meeting of the congressional committee held in the Dix building, in Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon. Plainfield was the only other place considered, it being suggested by former Mayor C. J. Fisk, of this city, but he waived any claim in favor of the county seat.

Mr. Fisk and C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, were present for Union county, while H. A. VanGilder and George A. Squire, who held the proxy of Jacob W. Welsh, were there for Morris. J. E. Fulper was the sole committeeman from Warren. Mr. Holmes was chosen chairman and Mr. Fulper secretary. After the time and place were agreed upon a committee on arrangements was selected, consisting of one committeeman from each county. They are Mr. Fisk, for Union; Mr. VanGilder, for Morris, and Mr. Fulper for Warren. The next meeting of the congressional committee will be held just prior to the convention on Sept. 28.

Even the closest political friends of Congressman Fowler profess ignorance of his intentions and as he is now in Vermont, where he spends most of his time when outside of New York city, it is impossible to learn whether he will be a candidate. The wiseacres say that he is laying low to see if there will be any opposition from the Main people, which would mean his defeat for the nomination. The friends of Senator Kean declare they will raise no hand against him.

MOTORMAN ASSAULTED; HIS CONDITION SERIOUS

DONNELLY'S SKULL FRACTURED AND HE IS NOW IN HOSPITAL.

James Donnelly, a motorman on the trolley running between Bound Brook and Raritan, was assaulted about midnight last night between Raritan and Somerville by a gang of Italians. Donnelly was running his car from Raritan to Somerville, when he heard someone call out as though he wanted to catch the car.

Donnelly stopped his car and looked around. Being no one he stepped on the ground to continue his investigation. As he did so several men jumped on him and struck him in the head with a club. Leaving him in the road, the gang made its escape.

There was a new conductor on the car and the assault was made so quickly that he scarcely realized what had happened. After the assailants disappeared he ran to where Donnelly lay in the road and found him unconscious. He placed him on the car and then run the trolley to Bound Brook, where Dr. Fisher was called. The physician found that Donnelly's condition was serious and he called up Dr. Longaker at the Somerset Hospital. Instructions were given to take the injured man to the hospital and he reached there at 2 o'clock this morning. An examination disclosed a fracture of the skull and up to an early hour this afternoon Donnelly had not regained consciousness. His condition is considered serious. This afternoon there will be a consultation of physicians.

The police are making efforts to locate the assailants, but as yet have been unsuccessful.

Miss Ohl May Go West.

Miss Adele Ohl, of this city, who was a prominent figure at the Hippodrome last winter, has not yet decided to return there this season, although the management has made her several offers. If she does not go to New York, she will probably accept an engagement in the West.

Bank Buys Building.

The Dime Savings Institution has acquired or purchase the property now occupied by it on East Front street, from the estate of the late Captain J. Frank Hubbard. It is proposed to make extensive improvements in the building within a short time.

REGULARS WILL PICK CANDIDATES MONDAY NIGHT

PETTY THIEVES AT WORK ON WEST FRONT STREET

FOUR STORES ENTERED AND ATTEMPT MADE ON A FIFTH.

Petty thieves entered four stores and tried to get into another in West Front street last night. In money and other things the value of their loot didn't amount to more than $5.

From the way in which the places were entered it is supposed boys did the trick. The stores of Harry Weber, Druggist Frank Rowley, Sigmund Frucht and The Blue Front were entered. An unsuccessful attempt to get into Putnam & De Graw's was made. All the stores are on the same block.

Entrance was gained through the cellar in each case. A fountain pen and some change was taken from the pocket of an office coat left in Werner's by Harry Rottberg, a clerk, and $2.50 in stamps and money was taken from Rowley's. Nothing was missed from The Blue Front and Frucht's.

The grating leading to Putnam & De Graw's store was found up this morning, but no trace of the thieves was found inside. Mr. De Graw dropped into the store at 11 o'clock last night to see if everything was all right, and he thinks he frightened the thieves away then.

Detective McCarthy was detailed in the case by Chief Kiely this morning. An investigation convinced him that boys committed the thefts.

It was reported that the post office had been tried by thieves, but the police say there is no evidence of that.

F. S. C. TEARS UP STREET WITHOUT ANY PERMISSION.

Common Council Takes Action. Is Being Found No Permit Was Granted.

For the purpose of ascertaining if any individual has the right to tear up Park avenue and lay iron pipe without securing the permission of the Common Council, a resolution of Chairman Gloak, of the street committee, was adopted at the September meeting of this Common Council, authorizing the committee to employ counsel.

It is believed that the action of the Common Council is aimed at the Public Service Corporation which is now engaged in digging a trench between this city and Metuchen on Park avenue, and laying a large gas main there. This, it is understood, will be a part of the main gas line which will extend from Camden to this city.

A large steam machine is being used to open this trench, about 2,000 feet being excavated a day. A large force of men is also employed on this work which has been in progress for some time. Mr. Gloak's attention was called to the matter, inasmuch as no request has been made for permission to lay the gas main.

CONSIDERATE DRUNK.

Callahan Stowed Himself Away When Brandy Overcame Him.

Charles Callahan was arraigned in the city court this morning charged with drunkenness. He was arrested back of French's Mill last night.

Callahan frankly confessed. He said he took three drinks of blackberry brandy for a pain in his stomach, he said, and then he felt himself getting drunk. He said he went back of the mill to get out of the way.

He promised to take the pledge, and with that understanding the Magistrate suspended sentence. Callahan was instructed to go to Father Bogan for his pledge and to bring it back for filing at police headquarters.

Board Increasing Valuations.

The Somerset County Board of Assessors met at Somerville yesterday and went over the books of the assessors of Bridgewater Township, increasing the personal valuation $25,000. Some changes were also made in the real estate valuation bringing it nearer the full value. Tomorrow the Somerset County Board of Taxation will make a tour through Montgomery township for the purpose of investigating the assessment. It is expected that the report of the taxation board will be completed by Monday.

New House Physician at Hospital.

Dr. Anthony, who has been house physician at Muhlenberg Hospital during the past six months, will complete his term on October 1, when he will practice outside. Dr. Jacob Hemstead, of Paterson, a recent graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, will succeed Dr. Anthony and he is now at the hospital, and will assume his duties upon the retirement of Dr. Anthony.

Advisory Committee, Just Announced, to Meet With Executive Committee.

TO MEET AT CASINO

Complete List of Advisory Committee—All Republicans Are Invited to Attend Meeting.

A joint meeting of the Republican city executive and advisory committees will be held at the Casino Monday night to discuss and agree upon candidates for the various city offices, members of the city and county committees and delegates to the city, county and congressional conventions. Every Republican voter is invited to attend and every opportunity will be afforded for any one to voice his opinions and suggestions.

City Chairman C. J. Fisk explained to a representative of The Daily Press last night that the meeting Monday night was agreed upon between himself and former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, chairman of the advisory committee, and that it is to carry out the promise made sometime ago that the voters themselves must choose their candidates without any suggestion from the leaders. The membership of the advisory committee, he added, was made up of voters of all shades of opinion. He and Mr. Gilbert had had several conferences regarding the complexion of the body and now that it was completed he felt much pleased. "There is nothing to hide, so I have no fear except for the voters to go ahead and tell us whom they desire as their candidates. The city committee will support only those they name and will take no part in picking out the men."

The advisory committee, as announced by Chairman Alexander Gilbert, follows:

First Ward.

Armstrong Mulford, Captain William Hand, Isaac L. McVoy, Joseph B. Coward, Eugene Cave, U. B. Crane, F. H. Coward, Moses Schloss, W. E. Dunn, A. Kahrmann, C. A. Stadele, Smith, Lester Walton, Amos Anderson, Rowland Hazard, Charles Geer, William McCann, H. Hansen, Charles Backer, Edwin Maynard, J. C. Allen, Walter Scott, Dr. A. E. Pittis, A. E. Edgar, George Hall, Fred Van Epe, Sandford Robinson, Edgar E. Shepard, William Douglass, Jefferson Newman.

Second Ward.

Robert Keeler, R. A. Book, Dr. T. S. Davis, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, William T. Gough, R. T. Guttridge, W. W. Cotrell, S. A. Crulkshank, Edgar S. Hyatt, F. J. Pope, W. S. Crock, George F. Mellick, V. W. Nash, Sr., Thomas A. Moore, J. M. Rubsenstein, W. M. Alling, John Johnson, William H. Clark, L. Austin Johnson, W. T. Griffin, F. E. Hammond, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, W. H. Murray, Daniel F. Ginna, W. F. Arnold, Joseph Sattell, L. I. VanAlstyne.

Third Ward.

William Mosher, Alexander Gilbert, John B. Dumont, O. T. Waring, George B. Ring, W. C. Kinney, Dr. F. C. Ard, Harry McDonald, H. M. Stockton, E. H. Ladd, Jr., E. R. Ackerman, David E. Titsworth, William A. Pinto, Roger Murray, Robert Rushmore, A. C. Stebbins, L. M. Dauley, H. G. Runkle, B. R. Park, Chas. Abbott, William Mayhew, Dr. P. B. Cregar, Henry E. Butler, Charles Randolph, William Campbell, Fred Lind, Edwin M. VanBuren, George H. Batchelor, J. W. Murray, Jr.

Fourth Ward.

John Carty, Arthur G. Adams, Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, Otto Wolgang, H. C. Runyon, Charles W. Runyon, Ged. McIntyre, Arthur Pruden, Frank B. Boose, W. L. Hatfield, Jr., James Stewart, John Bowman, J. B. Higgins, John Trainer, Abraham Angleman, F. T. Woodhull, William Faber, John Kriney, Blanchard Randolph, Cormick Caulfield, Carlos Gallop, James Craig, William Craig, Gustav Gerwein, William Whitehead, William H. F. Minor, George S. Dedford, Daniel Brown, Isaac A. Hulitt, Chas. Grant, Arthur Cose, James Patterson, Robert Storah, Jr., J. R. Martin, Jr., R. Rottberg, E. B. H. Dalley, Fred J. Huff, Nathan Pollard, William Kline.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

First Ward.

H. Adams, Jr., F. Buckle, O. L. Jenkins, J. T. MacMurray, S. P. T. Wilbur, W. L. Gloak, Charles H. Smisck.

Second Ward.

J. H. Doane, John Keeley, W. Townsend, F. L. Montgomery,

(Continued on Page 8.)

PUTS THEM OUT OF AGONY

Physician Admits Leaving Poison Where Hopelessly Sick Patients Can Reach and Take It.

The question of euthanasia has been exercising persons in various parts of the country of late, and while it has always seemed to me that certain incurables in extreme pain ought to be put out of their agony, I never met but one physician who openly confessed to having intentionally killed any one. He is an old army surgeon, now retired from practice, and I asked him one day what treatment was given abdominal gun-shot wounds during the war, for I had heard that abdominal surgery was almost undreamed of in those days.

"A big drink of laudanum," he answered. "At least that's the treatment I gave. It saved 48 hours of agony. Since then I've never let anybody suffer if I could help it. When I have patients with cancer in the last stages, say, I call one day and leave three powders with a pinch. Then I say, 'To make you sleep,' I say. Be very careful not to take more than one at a time. You'd never wake again if you took two!'

"I could tell you of at least 20 patients who have taken the overdose before I called again, and my conscience has never troubled me about one of them."—Washington Post.

SHE WAS SO THOUCHTFUL!

But We May Be Permitted to Doubt If Every One of the Party Was Grateful to Her.

The family picnic has reached the selected spot. It is a full mile from nowhere. Papa puts down the hamper and packages with a sigh of relief.

"Now, children," he says, "we will begin the festivities of the afternoon by shooting our fireworks."

Laying out the chance crackers and other things he cautions the children to be careful, while he searches through his pockets for matches. Finding none, he hastily turns over all the bundles and packages, and then says:

"Mamma, I put a box of matches in one of these baskets. Did you see anything of it?"

"Yes, my dear."

"Where is it?"

"Locked in the pantry at home. I have read so much about terrible accidents happening because matches were kept near fireworks that I was determined to remove all possibility of such a thing occurring if it could be prevented."

Odd Origin of Custom.

In Abyssinia the emperor is commonly called "Jan hoy," meaning "his majesty." The words have a strange history. It is given by a passage in the chronicle of Mahdara Maryam. The King Barga Dengel while engaged in a military expedition camped in Dambya, was surprised to hear the inhabitants about "Jan hoy," which means "Hi, elephant!" at an elephant which was destroying a field of corn, and fled when thus accosted. Then the king said that whenever he went to pillage corn, if the people cried "Jan hoy!" he would consider their claims and redress their wrongs. From this arose the custom of addressing the king as "jan hoy," as an excellence for asking for justice, the expression gradually losing its special significance and becoming the ordinary term of address when speaking of his majesty.

What Is a Gentleman?

Among the Persians at the time of Cyrus the boys were taught to ride, to speak the truth and to draw the bow. That meant manliness, truthfulness and courage, all essential to the character of a gentleman. The knights of chivalry, who were the gentlemen of their time, added the duty of rescuing the oppressed and distressed and this completed the ideal by teaching unselfishness and service. If a boy is taught to be always self-respecting, courageous and truthful and invariably considerate, not outwardly but as the expression of true kindliness of spirit, of the rights and feelings of others, he will grow up, whether he be rich or poor, a professional man or a laborer, to have the right to claim not by any artificial distinction, but in his own right, all that it implies, "the grand old name of gentleman."

All Doubtful.

"Dat was ll great wedding, Sam."

"Deed et was."

"Well, who was de lucky man?"

"Dat's hahd to say. De groom thought he was de lucky man till he squinted at de bride and foun' out she had wrinkles lak a weddeh map."

"Yeah?"

"Den de best man thought he was de lucky man till he foun' out de rabbit's foot de groom had gibbon him was er cat's foot."

"Lawd, I reckon de preacheh mus' hab been de lucky man?"

"Well he kinder puffed up det way till arter de ceremony en den he discobered dat de dollar de groom had passed him es a fee was lead."

A Tramp's Philosophy.

The correspondent of a New York paper writes of a philosophical tramp whom he met in Massachusetts. The man, who said his name was William Hicks, had clothes that hung in looped and windowed raggedness, but he refused to accept others. In the course of a lengthy interview Mr. Hicks uttered this piece of more or less conclusive philosophy: "I do what I please, and doing what I please, I have my will, and having my will, I am contented, and when I am contented there is no more to be desired, and when there is no more to be desired there is an end to it."

TRUE COURAGE.

"The best hearts are ever the bravest," said Sterne.

"Courage is adversity's lamp," Vauvenargues wisely stated.

"Cowards have no luck!" Queen Elizabeth Kulmann's brave words.

J. Brisben Walker believes that "No man can be truly a gentleman if a coward."

"Fortune favors he'rs the man whose courage fails." This is a bit of the wisdom of Sophocles.

Says George Horace Lorimer: "No man is a failure until he's dead or loses courage—and that's the same thing."

Sydney Smith long ago remarked that "A great deal of talent is lost to the world for the want of a little courage."

"When moral courage feels that it is in the right there is no personal dread of which it is incapable," was Leigh Hunt's conviction.

Said Rochefoucauld: "True bravery is shown by performing without witness what one might be capable of doing before all the world."

"Fear, which only is another name for ignorance, is all that ails us. Understanding alone conquers fear." This is the successful creed of Helen Williams Frost.

CONFESSIONS OF DODD GASTON.

I have noticed that about the only place "silver threads among the gold" are really popular is in a song.

I feel reasonably sure of one thing: When I die nobody is going to claim that it was the result of overwork.

I do not much mind playing against a visiting man, but I do hate to be hooked in competition with a baby.

Nothing would so completely reconcile me to death as the appearance, at my bedside, of some of my relatives.

I would really like to be fatter, but realize that I cannot afford it. Being fatter would mean a new dress suit.

I find that every young girl has a wild desire to wear her hair "up" and every old girl has the same desire to appear with "down."

I have noticed that the only time the banana does much business is at a season of the year when it has no competition.

I find that one of the hardest duties of the dramatic critic is to reconcile the average society play with the average stage furniture.

About all the ambition I have left is to grow rich enough to have a book waiting for me while I lounge around inside smoking and "gassing."—Topeka Capital.

JUST JOTTINGS.

In gaining a poor grocer the world has often lost a good poet.

Good luck is like a faultless wife. Somebody else always has it.

No man has ever been able to find out why he should be expected to make party calls.

It is pretty hard to get people to think much of a man whose wife insists that she made him what he is.

After a woman has been carried in her night clothes down a fire escape she always regards herself as a heroine.

Adam and Eve were lucky. They had no fool friends who wanted to be funny when they started away on their honeymoon.

After a woman has failed in every other way to create a sensation she can put on a heavy black veil and go to the funeral of some other woman's husband.

Divorce statistics indicate that in about three cases out of ten it would have been better to have loved and lost, and still better never to have loved at all.

WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS.

Attention to small things is the economy of virtue.—Chinese maxim.

The ways to enrich are many and most of them foul for you.—Terence.

Provided a woman be well principled she has dowry enough.—Plautus.

Where the love of the people is assured the seditious are thwarted.—Bias.

He is truly rich who desires nothing, and he is truly poor who covets all.—Solon.

It is a greater offense to steal dead men's labors than their clothes.—Syneslus.

To do a kindness to a bad man is like sowing your seed in the sea.—Phocylides.

We ought either to be silent or speak things better than silence.—Pythagoras.

The public has more interest in the punishment of an injury than he who suffers it.—Cato.

WOMAN ATE THE CONTRACT

With Document in Her Mouth, She Asks, "What Are You Going to Do About It?"

The boom in real estate at Flushing, L. I., has landed part of a valuable contract in Mrs. W. S. Eardley's midst and stirred up no end of trouble between her and Thomas Pritchard, of Boorsam avenue, Flushing.

Mrs. Eardley, who lives in Brooklyn, sold six lots in Flushing to Mr. Pritchard, Mr. Pritchard paid a deposit, and Mrs. Eardley signed a contract agreeing to surrender the lots to him for a certain price. Prices of Flushing property have jumped up as much as 25 or 50 per cent. in one day. Mrs. Eardley heard of this, and her soul was sad. She called at Mr. Pritchard's office.

"I want to keep my lots," said she, briskly.

"Madame, you can't," he replied with utmost suavity.

"Let's see the contract," said she, soothingly.

Mr. Pritchard handed her the precious paper, and in the twinkling of an eye she had bitten a big piece out of it. Mr. Pritchard grabbed her throat. Then came a fierce struggle between hand muscles and throat muscles, and throat muscles won, for Mrs. Eardley swallowed a large chunk of the contract and smiled in bitter triumph at her foe.

"I'll have the law on you!" he cried.

"Possibly!" sneered she. "I've got the evidence in my midst, and I'd like to see the court that can find out anything about it."

And there the matter rests.

SALMON NEEDS SALT WATER

Confined in Lake, with No Approach to the Sea, the Fish Rapidly Become Dwarfed.

The name salmon is given in England and all eastern states to a large, trout-like fish which lives in the sea, chiefly about the mouths of rivers, and which enters the streams to spawn, running for a considerable distance up the stream and returning to the sea after the act of spawning is accomplished, says a writer in the Pacific Monthly. The old males become somewhat distorted, especially through the lengthening of the jaws, but the changes with age and season are not much greater than in any large trout. The name salmon, like the true trout, is black spotted. It is called in science Salmo salar, and along with the true trout it belongs to the genus Salmo. There is only one species of Atlantic salmon; it is found on both sides of the ocean, and on both sides it becomes sometimes land-locked and dwarfed when it is shut up in a lake and when it cannot or does not go to the sea.

Harnessing the Mississippi.

Work will be begun before the year is out on a dam across the Mississippi river, at the foot of the Des Moines rapids, for the development of water power. It will be the greatest project of the kind except the combined works at Niagara, the dam the greatest in the world except those built by the British in the Nile. A minimum of 54,000 horse power is to be obtained and transmitted to factories in the heart of the agricultural center of the nation. The dam will be in sight of the three states of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, the legislatures of each state having adopted resolutions approving the work and promising all possible assistance. The estimated cost of the work will be $6,000,000, which is $100 per horse power on the minimum power capacity of 60,000 horse power. The cost of supplying power, including all fixed charges, maintenance, operation and all expenses, is closely estimated at eight dollars per horse-power year, the cost of steam power in the territory within 100 miles now being from $40 to $65 per horse-power year, with $55 as a conservative average.—The World Today.

Cry for Land and Liberty.

It is stated that the estimate of the money needed by the Russian government for aid to the famine-stricken provinces would amount to nearly $40,000,000 this year. The peasants are starving, partly in consequence of lack of land to cultivate, partly because of specially bad crops this year. Meanwhile the rent of land is steadily rising. According to the latest report of the Peasants' bank the average rent per desiatin rose in 12 years from 39 rubles to 108 rubles. No wonder that the cry of the peasants is for "land and liberty." And the only reasonable hostile land remaining is that of private owners, the public domain being mostly swampy or forest land.

Too Appropriate.

In a small town in California a new hospital has recently been erected on Salsipuede's street, and the board of directors, when they were doing better, suggested that the hospital bear the name of the street. One more cautious than the rest suggested that it would be well to know the meaning of such a name before making it indiscriminate use of it, and it is to this man that the present success of the hospital is due, for finding that Salsipuedes meant "get out if you can," the name was hastily changed to something less suggestive of "who enters here, leaves hope behind."

The One Who Fills the Bill.

"The man who wins my admiration," said the serious girl, "must be one who can stand firm in his convictions in the face of ridicule, opposition and personal danger."

"I see," said Miss Cayenne. "Your ideal is a baseball umpire."

NOT THERE TO SING.

Applicant for Position on Stage Had No Ambition to Be One of the Chorus.

The following story is told at the expense of a New York theatrical manager:

"We were engaged one morning testing voices for a summer production, the manager, musical director and myself; there was a rather long line and all looking for positions in the chorus, and nearly every voice was rejected. I noticed a certain feeling to surrender the lots to him for a certain price. Prices of Flushing property have jumped up as much as 25 or 50 per cent. in one day. Mrs. Eardley heard of this, and her soul was sad. She called at Mr. Pritchard's office.

"I want to keep my lots," said she, briskly.

"Madame, you can't," he replied with utmost suavity.

"Let's see the contract," said she, soothingly.

Mr. Pritchard handed her the precious paper, and in the twinkling of an eye she had bitten a big piece out of it. Mr. Pritchard grabbed her throat. Then came a fierce struggle between hand muscles and throat muscles, and throat muscles won, for Mrs. Eardley swallowed a large chunk of the contract and smiled in bitter triumph at her foe.

"I'll have the law on you!" he cried.

"Possibly!" sneered she. "I've got the evidence in my midst, and I'd like to see the court that can find out anything about it."

And there the matter rests.

SALMON NEEDS SALT WATER

Confined in Lake, with No Approach to the Sea, the Fish Rapidly Become Dwarfed.

The name salmon is given in England and all eastern states to a large, trout-like fish which lives in the sea, chiefly about the mouths of rivers, and which enters the streams to spawn, running for a considerable distance up the stream and returning to the sea after the act of spawning is accomplished, says a writer in the Pacific Monthly. The old males become somewhat distorted, especially through the lengthening of the jaws, but the changes with age and season are not much greater than in any large trout. The name salmon, like the true trout, is black spotted. It is called in science Salmo salar, and along with the true trout it belongs to the genus Salmo. There is only one species of Atlantic salmon; it is found on both sides of the ocean, and on both sides it becomes sometimes land-locked and dwarfed when it is shut up in a lake and when it cannot or does not go to the sea.

Harnessing the Mississippi.

Work will be begun before the year is out on a dam across the Mississippi river, at the foot of the Des Moines rapids, for the development of water power. It will be the greatest project of the kind except the combined works at Niagara, the dam the greatest in the world except those built by the British in the Nile. A minimum of 54,000 horse power is to be obtained and transmitted to factories in the heart of the agricultural center of the nation. The dam will be in sight of the three states of Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, the legislatures of each state having adopted resolutions approving the work and promising all possible assistance. The estimated cost of the work will be $6,000,000, which is $100 per horse power on the minimum power capacity of 60,000 horse power. The cost of supplying power, including all fixed charges, maintenance, operation and all expenses, is closely estimated at eight dollars per horse-power year, the cost of steam power in the territory within 100 miles now being from $40 to $65 per horse-power year, with $55 as a conservative average.—The World Today.

Cry for Land and Liberty.

It is stated that the estimate of the money needed by the Russian government for aid to the famine-stricken provinces would amount to nearly $40,000,000 this year. The peasants are starving, partly in consequence of lack of land to cultivate, partly because of specially bad crops this year. Meanwhile the rent of land is steadily rising. According to the latest report of the Peasants' bank the average rent per desiatin rose in 12 years from 39 rubles to 108 rubles. No wonder that the cry of the peasants is for "land and liberty." And the only reasonably hostile land remaining is that of private owners, the public domain being mostly swampy or forest land.

Too Appropriate.

In a small town in California a new hospital has recently been erected on Salsipuede's street, and the board of directors, when they were doing better, suggested that the hospital bear the name of the street. One more cautious than the rest suggested that it would be well to know the meaning of such a name before making it indiscriminate use of it, and it is to this man that the present success of the hospital is due, for finding that Salsipuedes meant "get out if you can," the name was hastily changed to something less suggestive of "who enters here, leaves hope behind."

The One Who Fills the Bill.

"The man who wins my admiration," said the serious girl, "must be one who can stand firm in his convictions in the face of ridicule, opposition and personal danger."

"I see," said Miss Cayenne. "Your ideal is a baseball umpire."

QUIET STREAM OF ANTIETAM

Pretty Little Brook on Which Banks Was Fought Most Terrific Battle in American Annals.

But for the most terrific battle in the annals of America's wars a pretty little stream that flows through the heart of Maryland would be unknown beyond its immediate locality. Winding sluggishly down from the Pennsylvania hills, it bends romantically in its course, now past the ancient mill, under its quaint bridge, stone-arched, singing on its way through sun and shadow and, like Tennyson's brook, going on forever.

There is no more picturesque part of our country than that through which the Antietam flows. It skirts the most beautiful farms of Maryland, laves the rounded limbs of the kine which they drink, in the shadows of the trees that line its banks, and finally loses itself in the broad Potomac.

Time was, and not very long ago, when the farmers of the Antietam, fording its shallows, dreamed not of the great drama to be enacted there. No tourists from afar sought this entrancing region. Artists, the hero-worshiping, who collect the beauties, angled for eel with the patrons of the renowned Izaak Walton.—From "Where the Antietam Flows," by Thomas C. Harbaugh, in Four-Track News.

HIS REMARK QUITE UNKIND

Caddy's Comment Failed to Give Satisfaction to Golfer Already Disconsolate.

Walter J. Travis, the golfer, set up his ball, and then made a half dozen swishes at the short grass with the driver.

"I am not in good form," he said. "I am playing like a broker we had here last week.

"This broker played one round, making a dreadful exhibition of himself. Of the fourth he was not aware. He was doing pretty well for him.

"The man's caddy was an unusually quiet, stolid lad, a boy with a freckled face quite devoid of expression.

"And since the caddy never once laughed or sneered at the bad play the broker took a fancy to him. And he said at the end of the rounds in the hope of getting a compliment:

"'I have been traveling for the last six months. I am quite out of practice. That is why I am in such bad form to-day.'

"The caddy replied calmly:

"'Then you've played before, have ye, sir?'"

Kindling Wood as Diet.

John Stegina, a well-educated Londoner, has gone to America on a bet. Among other of his new foods and health foods are messes that closely resemble excelsior in taste and food value, but it was left to the above-named person to discover that wood, ordinary kindling wood, is an excellent food and medicine. Imagine chewy bits of wood as any ordinary sore being would chew a delicious bit of tenderloin, and he hypnotizes himself into believing that it is superior to the best brand in flavor.

Unfortunately the dentures stopped the fool act at it were evident that he was slowly committing suicide. It would have been better if he had been allowed to go on, so that his ultimate death might serve as a warning.—Health.

The Scientific Method.

"George Bernard Shaw," said an editor, "likes to poke fun at scientists. He ridicules the high regard in which scientists are held. He says if a clergyman dared to make a startling assertion, he is disbelieved and reviled, whereas the rashest, the most unfounded claims of scientists are accepted reverently by the world as so much gospel. Mr. Shaw once declared to me that the utility of scientists was overrated. He said that was a typical scientific toy whom a young man took a superb cigarette holder of clouded amber. 'Some one claims,' said the young man, 'that this amber is imitation, sir. Will you tell me how I may prove conclusively its genuineness?' 'Just soak it,' said the scientist, 'for 24 hours in alcohol. If it is genuine, it will disappear.'"

The Goose That Lays the Pay Check.

The railroad men of this country are good and patriotic citizens; they are representative members of the communities in which they reside; they stand for a class of workingmen who generally think before they act, who weigh both sides of a question before deciding. They are as anxious to cleanse corporate life from graft and favoritism as the most radical modern reformer, but they will resent, and that most strenuously, any course of action outlined by those who have the destinies of the nation in hand that will tend to "kill the goose that lays the pay check."—Railroad Employes.

Just Possible.

Clara—I wish I could believe what he says, but—

Mande—What does he say?

Clara—Why, he says he loves me, yet he has only known me two days.

Maude—Well, perhaps that's the reason.

One Great Advantage.

"Of what benefit to society will the discovery of the north pole be?"

"Well," answered the scientist, "for one thing, it may put a stop to the loss of life and property among the explorers who want to be the first there."

SAITH THE OWL.

In the comic opera of life the chorus girls are cooks.

The girl with the money to burn usually has plenty of flames on hand.

One good thing about rainbow gold is that we can't squander it on bargains.

Many a fond young writer's hopes come home confined in long white envelopes.

The only jewels that man should not be ashamed to wear are the heads of hoped ties.

Go abroad and C-fered you, my friends. But forget the slights you see before you get back again.

A modern financier is a youth of today who can marry and run a thirties-in-law take care of them both.

Consider the wars of the country chargeon. The boys are there all right and some that obstinately refuse to build anything.

BIBLICAL BASEBALL.

A Canton (O.) baseball enthusiast interested in baseball wrote a composition "Baseball Among the Ancients," from which are gleaned the following facts:

Abraham made a sacrifice.

The Prodigal Son made a home run.

Cain made a base hit when he killed Abel.

David was a great long-distance thrower.

Moses shut out the Egyptians at the Red sea.

Moses made his first run when he slew the Egyptian.

The devil was the first catcher. Eve stole first—Adam stole second.

When Isaac met Rebecca at the well she was walking with a pitcher.

Samson struck out a great many times when he beat the Philistines.

REST THAT RESTS.

Rest means rest.

"Cut out" worrying.

Rest with a capital R.

Few persons know how to rest.

Rushing for trains and boats isn't resting.

Being elbowed by a vulgar mob isn't resting.

Neither is staying home and being annoyed by endless details.

Overdressing, overeating and too much excitement are not restful.

Over Sunday rest is best, accomplished by a trip to some restful place.

The idea is to discover what best agrees with one and then to follow it as well as possible.

FACTS ABOUT HUMANITY.

The average number of teeth is 32.

The weight of the circulating blood is 29 pounds.

A man breathes about 20 times a minute or 1,200 times an hour.

The brain of a man is more than twice that of any other animal.

The average weight of the brain of a man is 3½ pounds; of a woman 2 pounds, 11 ounces.

Over 540 pounds, or one hogshead and one and quarter pints of blood, pass through the heart in one hour.

The average height of an American is 5 feet, 9 inches; of a Frenchman 5 feet, 4 inches; of a German 5 feet, 7 inches.

SANE SENTIMENTS.

There's no argument equal to a happy smile.

The black sheep in every family was once the most petted lamb.

Did you ever notice that the size of trouble depends on whether it is coming or going?

People who can "turn their hand to anything" seldom turn up higher in the scale of life.

Beware, of the man who boasts of his good deeds; he probably only awaits a favorable opportunity to do a mean one.

When a man fails in business, his wife tells the neighbors that he was too honest to succeed, but what she tells him in private is another story.

HOW TO LAND HIM IN A WEEK.

Monday—Be pretty—smile once.

Tuesday—Be prettier—frown at him.

Wednesday—Be pensive—sigh once.

Thursday—Laugh at him.

Friday—Confess your love for him.

Saturday—Be "out."

Sunday—Accept him.

ADVANCEMENT IN JAPAN.

Great Step Forward Taken by Female Subjects of the Mikado—More Girls Attend School.

The remarkable increase during the last few years in the number of women employed in various branches of commercial life in Japan must be regarded as a very significant sign of the times. Not content with the occupations which have almost exclusively belonged to females, they have now invaded those fields which the men admire best reserved as belonging to the male sex exclusively. The employment of women in these directions will do much toward emancipating the Japanese women, who have hitherto been entirely dependent on men for the shaping of their destinies. It is only natural that the men of the country should resent female encroachment upon their favorite situations. The number of girls receiving a school education, it is stated, is now more than eight times the number of those at school ten years ago. Above these, also are the figures given by the Tokyo Educational society. Fifteen years ago the percentage of females admitted to the training school for teachers was less than 20, as compared with the men, but to-day the rate has been completely reversed, the number of male applicants being now about 15 per cent of the total. It is said that women, as teachers, are proving themselves superior to men, and that there is consequently more demand for the former than the latter. There is no doubt that the employment of women in the various branches of business activity will steadily increase with the advance of education among them.

RUM QUEERED STORY.

Considering Ship's Cargo It Was Little Wonder the Sailor Had Seen Sea Serpent.

The young Earl of Yarmouth took out his notebook and jotted down a recipe for egg-nog.

"Rum," he wrote. "Three noggins of Jamaica rum."

And then he paused and smiled.

"I am reminded," he said, "of my last voyage.

"During the voyage I made the acquaintance of an old sailor, and many a chat I had with him on deck. In my deck chair, he with his eternal pipe, I with book and brush, painting away at smokestack and what not, as sailors do.

"We saw one morning a jet of water shoot up, fountain-wise, from the calm sea, and the sailor said:

"'It's whales, sir.'

"And sure enough, a moment later we saw the whale, a big fellow.

"'Did you ever see a sea serpent?' said I.

"The old sailor paused a moment in his painting.

"'Yes, my lord,' he said. 'I seen a sea serpent wunst. We had started from Jamaica with a cargo o' rum, and—'

"'But I had heard enough.

"'Go back to your painting,' I said."

Diamond Cut Diamond.

G. T. Brokaw, the noted golfer, made a tremendous drive and lost the ball. As he looked for the ball he said:

"Once, in Scotland, I saw a lost ball cause a great commotion. Over there, you know, a lost ball means a lost hole.

"Two professionals were playing, and one of them lost a ball in the tall grass. He searched for it a long time. Nearly half an hour passed. His opponent kept urging him to admit that the ball was lost, and to forego a hole, but this the other refused to do.

"Finally, with a triumphant laugh, he pounced down, fumbled in the weeds, and rose with a ball in his hand.

"'Here's my ball. I've found my ball!' he shouted.

"'Yes, a liar,' said the other professional, 'for I've got it here in my pocket.'"

More Than Likely.

John Kendrick Bangs, the humorist, was discussing in a New York club a case of plagiarism.

"The man admitted that plagiarism was suspected of him," said Bangs, smiling. "He almost admitted it was proved. He reminded me of a Yonkers boy I met one day.

"The boy said to his chum one morning:

"'I hid under the parlor sofa last night to hear what young Softleigh would say to my sister.'

"'Well, what did he say?' the other boy asked.

"'He only talked religion and politics, and he kicked me about 30 times on the head.'

"'Guess he knew you were there, I guess,' said the second boy.

"'I'm afraid he suspected it.'"

Rio de Janeiro English.

A firm in Rio de Janeiro recently sent out the following advertisement placing olive oil on sale:

"Our olives oils have guarantized of fitts quality. Diligently fabricated and filtrated; the consumer will find with them, the good taste and perfect preservatias. For to escape to any contenfeit it is necessary to require on any bottles this contremire deposed conformably to the law.

"The corks and the boxes hare all marked with the fire."

SETTING THE TABLE.

In the well regulated household the setting of the table is an important and carefully executed duty, for by the manner in which the table is laid can be judged the degree of refinement and taste of the housewife.

A few definite and simple rules are here given:

Lay the cloth even and straight.

Place the knives and spoons at the right of the plates with the handles just touching the edge of the table; the knives nearest the plates with the sharp edges toward them; the bowls of the spoons up.

Place the forks at the left with the tines up. On the right and at the point of the knife place the tumbler.

The napkin should be folded flat and laid at one side.

FOR THE TOILET.

Mutton tallow is not desirable for the complexion; a good cold cream or skin food is much better.

A simple remedy for freckles and tan: Ten grains of borax, two ounces of lime water, two ounces of oil of sweet almonds. If this irritates the skin at all, as it may slightly, use cream camphor as a soothing lotion in the morning, applying the bleach at night.

Now that cucumbers can be bought, the cosmetic mixer can compound this very excellent formula: Slice without peeling four large cucumbers and add to them one pint of cold water, cool and strain. To one and one-half ounces of juice add equal portion of alcohol and one-fourth ounce powdered castile soap; let stand over night, add eight ounces of cucumber juice, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds, a scant drop of the tincture of benzoin and a pinch of boric acid. Shake well. Apply twice a day with sponge.

Use tincture of benoin very sparingly. Its purpose is to help the skin to rid itself of the old, dead particles, and if used too freely it will cause the service to become roughened and flakey. The lavender lotion is very much nicer and safer for softening the bathing water. Here is the formula: Four ounces of alcohol, one-half ounce of ammonia, one dram of oil of lavender. A teaspoonful is sufficient for two quarts of warm water.

It is quite impossible to say just how many bottles of the Vancaire remedy must be taken before the figure will be fully developed. Cases differ widely and so much depends upon the state of the woman's health. A strong, well woman will respond at once; others take a little longer.

FOR THE HOSTESS.

Grape Fluff—Take one-fourth of a box of shreded gelatin, one-fourth of a cup of cold water, three-fourths of a cup of sugar, one cup of grape juice, the juice of one lemon and the whites of three eggs. Soften the gelatin in cold water and dissolve by standing the dish in hot water. Dissolve the sugar in the fruit juice, and strain the genatin into it. Set in ice and water, and stir occasionally until the mixture begins to thicken, then add gradually the well-beaten whites of eggs, and beat until the whole is very light and stiff enough to hold its shape. Pile lightly in a glass serving dish, or mould and serve with whipped cream or soft custard.

Apple Tapioca—One-fourth of a cup of granulated tapioca, one tablespoonful of sugar, salt to taste, one pint of boiling water, three tart apples, sugar and nutmeg. Mix the tapioca, sugar and salt, pour in slowly by the boiling water, and cook in double boiler for fifteen minutes. Pour this on the apples, which have been pared and cored and the holes filled with sugar and a little nutmeg. Cover the dish and bake for one-half hour. Serve with cream and sugar.

Green Gooseberry Batter Pudding—Make a batter of three eggs to a pint of milk and four to six ounces of flour. The less flour the lighter the pudding, but the greater the difficulty of baking it. Beat yolks and whites separately, and mix the flour and milk carefully together. Then add these to the beaten eggs and stir thoroughly. Pour into a shallow baking pan to cover the bottom one-half inch deep. Cover the top with gooseberries as close as they will go. Bake thirty to forty minutes in a quick oven and serve hot with butter and sugar. Like many English puddings, this is made without sugar, but the combination of the crisp brown edges of the crust with the acid of the fruit add the melted butter and sugar scattered over it, makes one of the most delicious puddings.

Mexican Chocolate—Scald one quart of milk with a four-inch stick of cinnamon and three tablespoonfuls of ground coffee. Strain through cheesecloth. Reheat and add two ounces of vanilla chocolate heated over hot water and diluted with one-half cup of boiling water. Flavor with brandy or rum if desired.

Sweet Potatoes, Southern Style—Boil and pare solid sweet potatoes and cut them in medium-sized pieces. In an iron spider place one-fourth of a cup of butter and a cup of light brown sugar. Cook the potatoes in this mixture on the back of the stove until the whole is soft. Let it cook very slowly, watching to see that it does not burn or stick. These potatoes are very rich, but appetising, especially with game or poultry.

Fancy and staple groceries and fresh fruits and vegetables at H. A. Weber's, the Liberty street grocer.

HINTS TO THE HOSTESS.

Pop-overs—Mix one cupful of pastry flour (once sifted) and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Add gradually while stirring constantly seven-eighths of a cupful of milk in order to obtain a smooth batter. Add two eggs beaten until light, and half a teaspoonful of melted butter. Beat two minutes, using an egg beater. Turn into hot buttered earthen cups (which come for the purpose), and bake in a hot oven from thirty to forty minutes. Not buttered iron gem-pans may be used if one is not the possessor of the pop-over cups.

Deviled Tomatoes—Select five medium-sized tomatoes; wipe, peel and cut in slices. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and saute in butter. Place on a hot serving dish and pour over the following dressing:

Denver Dressing—Cream four tablespoonfuls of butter; add two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne, the yolk of one hard boiled egg rubbed to a paste, one egg beaten slightly, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens, using a silver-plated or wooden spoon.

Fresh or preserved peaches are tasty served with whipped cream. In either case, put a half section of the fruit on a plate, cut side upward, and cover with the cream, which has been lightly sweetened. If fresh peaches are used, pour over them a few tea for a time before peeling and cutting in two. Th liquor from the can, if canned peaches are used, should be saved for fresh peaches. Very ripe fresh pears, peeled and cored, or canned ones may be served in the same way.

Corn Oysters—Grate the uncooked corn from a dozen cobs, getting as much of the milky pulp as possible and no tough skin. Add an equal quantity of cracker-crumbs, little pepper and salt, and enough milk to make a stiff batter, so will drop from the spoon. Drop spoonfuls about the size of an oyster into hot lard and fry a light brown. These are delicious to serve with fried chicken.

HOUSEWORK IN SUMMER.

The burden of Summer housework can be lightened materially by any housewife who is willing to trend toward the simple life.

If she does not like it for its own sake, let her make believe she is simplicity out and take it as a Summer revel.

Have you any idea what a tremendous saving in laundry can be effected by the use of paper napkins, lunch cloths and doileys?

These products of the paper makers' ingenuity are so exquisite nowadays that it is only a hopeless snob who will sneer at them.

They are soft as satin, fine and dainty and are printed in gorgeous designs which make a table blossom like a parterre.

The shops of Chinatown yield little carved wooden trays that are invaluable for serving bread, rolls and cake, with a paper doiley slipped underneath to save the tray from possible grease; and these plates need never be washed, for they are never soiled.

Meats, fish and broilers can be cooked on a plank, which, of course, is never washed; and delicious French pancakes may be baked on a soapstone griddle, which also makes no claim on the dishpan.

Serve your salads in grape fruit shells or orange shells, or the scooped-out rind og bananas, split down the middle.

But they must rest on a plate? Oh, yes, a wooden one, with a doiley on to protect it.

Chinese or Japanese lacquered trays also have a number of uses which will not be born, and besides they are beautifully ornamental.

ANOTHER COUNTY LEAGUE.

Four-City Amateur Combination Suggested By Manager Murphy.

Manager Charlie Murphy, of the Summit Club, has added a hopeful word to the discussion of baseball's future in Plainfield. He thinks a Union county league of amateur nines, made up of teams from Plainfield, Summit, Elizabeth and Rahway, would pay.

Murphy spoke the scheme to a Daily Press man yesterday. His idea is to make the nines strictly amateur with the exception of the battery. If the expense is sternly held to the points, and spend-quick insanity doesn't seize the management in handling that department, he is convinced the league will pay. Keen interest in the contests, he believes, will be developed. The fans of the four places will rouse up and root wildly for their team, and a peppery scramble for premier honors will take place.

Jimmy Beisel, who would not shrink from donning the toga of the managerial player, approves of the plan. He would make a rattling good pitcher for the team, and is battling for the glory of his home town he would naturally plunge into the fray with heartwhole interest. Jimmy is a good coach, and has the earmarks of a successful manager. If another pitcher is wanted, local talent is still available in Jimmy Montrose.

Mrs. C. L. Brownell and mother, Mrs. F. E. Remis, of Elmwood place, are spending several weeks with relatives at "The Maples," Worcester, Mass.

BUTTER ON YOUR HOUSE GIRL.

The home girl should be as helpful as possible in the household and should endeavor to make the home as bright and comfortable as she can for the weary ones who are away all day when they return at nightfall. It is well to have certain duties to keep one busy, and there are many things around a house that are not absolutely necessary, and which the busy housewife has not the time to attend to, but which give pleasure and add to the attractiveness of the home.

What does not love flowers, for instance, and yet you know that it takes considerable time to keep all of the vases and jars filled with fresh blossoms every day. This is an easy matter for the daughter of the house, however, if she makes it a duty and attends to it every day, says the Pictorial Review.

Then there never is a time when the mending basket is quite empty, yet the stay-at-home girl can decrease to a wonderful extent the amount of accumulation in this line of work. Place a glass of hot soapy water, for instance, on a hot serving dish and pour over the following dressing:

Denver Dressing—Cream four tablespoonfuls of butter; add two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne, the yolk of one hard boiled egg rubbed to a paste, one egg beaten slightly, and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens, using a silver-plated or wooden spoon.

Then there never is a time when the mending basket is quite empty, yet the stay-at-home girl can decrease to a wonderful extent the amount of accumulation in this line of work. Place a glass of hot soapy water, for instance, on a hot serving dish and pour over the following dressing:

During the summer there are always salad dressings to be made and berries to be hulled, and a thousand and one small errands that willing feet can accomplish in no time, and though all of these duties are arduous, yet they are a wonderful help and take many a care off the mind of the busy mother, besides giving to you the assurance that you are something more than a gay butterfly.

—Michael Griffen, night telegraph operator at the Western Union, is taking his annual vacation. Frits Harding is taking his place.

Careless Blasting at Quarry.

Rocks were tipped somewhat at Smalley's stone crusher are complaining about the carelessness in management of the blasting there. On Wednesday rocks and stones were hurled for a considerable distance by a heavy blast at the quarry. One large stone struck a horse, which was passing at the time and several hit Hermann's mill, breaking holes in the roof. A good sized stone crashed through the window of James Sutton's house on Somerset street. It was the window where Mrs. Sutton generally sits at her sewing machine, and it struck the chair where she had been sitting but a short time before.

George Endicott, of Park avenue, has returned from his summer vacation.

P. P. VanCleef, of Newark, has been visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Miss Mayme Hyland, of Somerville, is visiting her uncle, Thomas Hyland, of this city.

Mrs. Edward Ryder, of Central avenue, has returned from a pleasure trip to New Haven.

Albert Usinger, of Grandview avenue, has returned from a visit with friends at Holyoke, Mass.

Daniel R. Page, of Harrisburg, Pa., is spending a week with Herbert Templin, of North avenue.

Miss Nellie Williams, of West Fourth street, has been entertaining Miss Hamilton, of Perth Amboy.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Clay, of East Seventh street, have returned home from their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Sullivant, of Watchung avenue, have returned from their summer outing in Maine.

Herbert Douglass, of West Front street, who has been spending his vacation in Maine, has returned home.

Robert Schreiner, of West Sixth street, left yesterday for Atlantic City, where he will remain for two weeks.

C. B. Morgan, of Madison avenue, will leave on Saturday for Greenwood Lake, where he will remain for a week.

Mrs. William VanDuyne, of the borough, who has been spending two weeks with relatives in Somerville, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Decker, of West Second avenue, have returned from a several days' visit with Staten Island relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, who have been spending several weeks in Watch Hill, R. I., have returned home.

Arthur Templin, of North avenue, has gone to Steelton, Pa., where he has taken a position with the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

Charles D. Wheeler and family, of Stone street, returned home yesterday after a delightful week's rest at VanOver Cottage, Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. and Mrs. B. St. John McCutcheon, of the borough, who have been in Germany visiting their son, William McCutchen, are expected home September 15.

Isaac L. Miller and Brockholst Miller, of Watchung avenue, have returned from Sullivan county, New York. Mrs. Miller and Miss Miller are expected home in about three weeks.

W. G. Besler, of the borough, vice president and general manager of the New Jersey Central, and his family, are now occupying their bungalow at Deer Park, Md., are expected to return home this week.

It was Miss Helen M. Cahoone, and not Miss Frances Wolcott Cahoone, of Watchung avenue, who climbed Mt. Washington with Mrs. Grover Cleveland, recently. Miss Helen M. Cahoone is spending the summer at Littleton, New Hampshire.

FOR THE HOSTESS.

Banana Dessert—A delicious dessert of bananas is made by splitting the bananas into two lengthwise; spread each inside strip with orange marmalade, put together with a thin slice of sponge. Lay the sandwiches on a pretty glass dish and cover them with whipped cream, which has been sweetened and flavored with almond extract. A few blanched and chopped almonds mixed with the cream are no detriment to this dessert.

A Dainty Dessert—First a slice of fresh pineapple, then a slice of orange, and on top of this a mold of wine jelly. This is surmounted by a dab of whipped cream and the whole surrounded by tutti frutti sauce. Small squares of unfrosted sponge cake should be served with this.

Johnny Cake—Take one half cup each of corn meal, flour and sugar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, and one-half teaspoonful of salt, thoroughly together. Add one and one-fourth cups of sour milk. Use buttermilk if you have it. Beat thoroughly, pour into cake pan and bake in a hot oven.

Sponge Cake—Take four eggs, one cup of powdered sugar, three-fourths of a cup of bread flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and three tablespoonfuls of cold water. Beat eggs separately, very light. To the yolks add the sugar and lemon, sift in carefully the flour and beat about five minutes. Then fold in the whites. Bake in a moderate oven. Bake is done if when tested with a straw it comes out clean, or when the cake shrinks from the pan.

Boston Brown Bread—One cup of granulated Indian meal, one cup of rye flour, one cup of graham flour, one teaspoonful of salt, two cups of sour milk, two teaspoonfuls of soda and three-fourths of a cup of molasses. Mix dry ingredients (except soda) together; dissolve the soda in sour milk and add, then molasses. Pour into buttered tins and steam for three or four hours.

THE PLAIN GIRL.

The plain girl was "tired to death" of being mentioned as "that plain girl over there," and looked long and scrutinisingly at her figure one day in the glass. After this scrutinizing progress she determined to kill the faults of "plain Mary Brown." First of all she began some exercises for rounding out her figure. The one she used most frequently was this:

Stand erect, with the head held easily, arms at the side. Taking in a full breath very slowly, lift the arms shoulder high, at the same time rising on the toes, now bend the knees very slowly, keeping the body in a well-poised position; then rise very slowly, still on the toes—then sing back to position.

This exercise she found developed a back full worthy of standing sitting and rising correctly, straightened the shoulders and rounded out the hollows. Bending the knees did away with the stiffness and with that the awkwardness disappeared.

Her face, neck and arms she bathed and rubbed every night, rubbed in a good cold cream or rubbed out every suggestion of a line or wrinkle. In the morning she washed her face with hot water, making a lather of soap on her hands, not touching a cloth to her skin; this was followed by a good dashing of clear hot water, and that in turn by a vigorous spatting with the fingers dipped in cold water.

She practised smiling to make the corners of her mouth turn up, and soon she found the corrective smile had become a natural one, that the contented spirit within generated by the "smiling habit" was beginning to show itself in a happy expression, brightened eyes and an utter rooting of the "plain" idea, and gratefully marked her face.—Woman's Life.

Care of Umbrellas.

When coming in out of the rain, let the umbrella down and stand it on its handle that it may dry in that position, as the water will thus drip from the frame and the cover dry uniformly. If placed with the handle upward, as is often the case, the water runs to the top of the umbrella and the moisture is retained in the lining underneath the ring, causing the silk or other fabric to become tender and soon rot, says Home Notes. A silk umbrella, especially, is much injured by being left open to dry; the silk becomes strained and stiff, and if that treated will soon split.

Steel and Concrete Shop.

The actual work of erecting the new building of the Ransome Concrete Machinery Co. at Rock avenue and South Second street was begun Thursday. The plant will be for the manufacture of concrete mixing machinery. The main building of the first is 105 feet long and 54 feet deep in depth. It is constructed of concrete, steel frame girders and beams. A big crane will travel the entire length of the building on tracks set in the walls. Departments in the shop will include a room for the rough stores, a machine shop, sheet iron shop, room for finished stores, assembling shop and shipping rooms, on the Rock avenue end. About 150 feet of the building are within the city limits, but the construction is under the supervision and approval of Building Inspector T. O. Doane.

Rev. W. E. Honeyman, of Lincoln place, has returned from a stay at Dover.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic: For the Week Beginning Sept. 8.

BY REV. W. H. DOYLE.

Topic—The Triumphs of Christianity.—John xii, 31; 1 Cor. xv, 57.

Christianity is a triumphant religion. Every possible power at Satan's command has been arrayed against the power and kingdom of Christ, and yet it goes on, "conquering and to conquer." The powers of hell shall not prevail against it."

Christianity has triumphed over material opposition. It has ever been opposed by powerful enemies, yet in the end it has come off victorious. It was opposed first of all by Judaism. Paul was constantly followed and persecuted by those among the Jews who rejected Christ and adhered to the Mosaic rites and ceremonies, yet Christianity spread most rapidly under his ministry. The Roman empire bitterly opposed the Christian religion and persecuted Christians in a most cruel manner, yet it was not long until in Constantine a Christian emperor sat upon the throne. All other such opposition has been a failure. The heathen have raged, but God has laughed and Christ's kingdom has advanced.

Christianity has triumphed over sin. In Christ man has the power to receive pardon for sin and power to overcome sin. This was proved when Satan in the wilderness Christ stood the test of all his temptations. "He was tempted in all points as we are, yet without sin." What He did for Himself He is able and willing to do for those who are His. Because of His death our sins may be pardoned, and by His strength we may overcome sin, as He overcame it.

Christianity has triumphed over death and the grave. In the raising of Lazarus Christ demonstrated His power over the grave. And this demonstration was further emphasized when He Himself came forth from the tomb. Death, the greatest enemy of mankind, was thus overcome. Death lost its sting and the grave its victory, for Christ's resurrection is the pledge of the resurrection of all mankind. "Now is Christ risen from the dead and hath become the first fruits of them that slept."

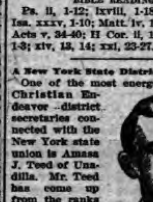
The triumph of Christianity is abundant proof of its divine origin. Nothing else can account for its wonderful growth from the feeblest origin and in spite of all opposition except that it be of God. This fact should cause us to rejoice if we are Christians and to accept Christ if we be not.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. ii, 1-12; lxviii, 1-18; lxxii, 1-20; Isa. xxxv, 1-10; Matt. iv, 1-11; ix, 18-26; Acts v, 34-40; H Cor. ii, 14-17; Rev. vi, 1-3; xiv, 13, 14; xxi, 23-27.

A New York State District Secretary.

One of the most energetic, hustling Christian Endeavor district secretaries connected with the New York state union is Amasa J. Teed of Unadilla. Mr. Teed has come up from the ranks and by strik-ing example of what Christian Endeavor can do in the development of young men and the broadening and strengthening of life purposes and resolves.



AMASA J. TEED.

Christian Endeavor Housekeeping.

Shake up all the inactive members and bring them out for an airing. If they show signs of being moth eaten, sprinkle them freely with the spirit of enthusiasm.

Sweep the corners carefully to get rid of the shreds and tatters of worthless members. Put the shreds and tatters of worthless members apart to the ragman. The bargain counters are loaded with bright, new plans. Dust off the roll book with loving assiduity toward each member and you will be surprised to see how some that have appeared very dull will brighten up. Set the social committee to cleaning your doorstep of the ice of inhospitality, and maybe you will have more visitors.

Make a boufire in the corner of the back yard of all the petty feuds and misunderstandings and other causes of cliques and coolness.—Rev. John F. Cowan, D.D., in Pine Tree Endeavorer.

Be a Man.

Do not think for a moment that to be a Christian means a melting away of all manliness. Far from it. The Christian ought to be the very highest type of man, and, while we would entreat him to become gentle and affable, and if that treated will soon split.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Sept. 8: (For the Prayer Meetings.) "The Power and Attendance of United Prayer"—Matt. xviii, 19; Mal. iii, 16-18; Jas. v, 16; Acts xii, 12; x, 19, 24.

BY REV. WALTER J. TATES, D. D.

We are so constituted that we crave companionship. In no other way is our fraternity more clearly expressed than in our conversation and friendly association. Regard for others finds its natural expression in talking together and companionship. We are social in nature. So it arises that in our religious life we wish others to share with us their thoughts, possessions and cares, and we desire to share with others our opinions and hopes and burdens.

Private, personal devotion and secret prayer are most helpful in the Christian life and are indispensable to growth in Christian virtues and graces. But whoever neglects public prayer and cultivates only private worship is as if he should never talk except when alone. Yet how many Christians never uttered a syllable of prayer in public and never enter sympathetically into the spirit of devotion when others pray!

This public prayer, what should it be and of what should it consist?

We have blessings and benefits as communities, as a country, a nation, a church, a league chapter. It is well to clearly recognize what these are. What have I as an American to be thankful for more than if I were a citizen of some other country? What have I as a member of this chapter to bless God for which I get from companionship with these other members? What is my church home worth to me? How does it stand for? Am I thankful for all benefits I have? If so, why should I not say so to God in the presence of my fellow members?

The consolations and sense of strength which come to one in public prayer are different from all other experiences. It is unwise to cut all this out of one's life. What is lost by neglect of this means of growth cannot be realised by the one who omits it and is lost sight of by the one who has once been active and who has relaxed diligence.

The difference in tone between the chapter which has a strong force of praying members and the one which lacks them is apparent to even a casual visitor.

Too much we have been content to have our members rise and repeat a short verse of Scripture, quote a line of a hymn or a verse of poetry or read a short extract picked up at random. Perhaps this is better than nothing, but it is a poor substitute for genuine personal testimony and individual public prayer.

Of course it is not easy to pray in public for most people. Very few people are good public speakers without long practice, but as few ever play the piano acceptably without practice. But to make the excuse of "lack of gift" cover the neglect of prayer in public is a very poor plea.

Better begin, keep at it and conquer diffidence, indolence, pride and all other hindrances. Why should you be absolved from the duty? What right have you to defraud yourself of the possible power and blessing which follow faithful performance of duty?

The Untold Prayer.

They were talking of prayer, and the woman who owned that she had not been much used to praying—to carrying everyday needs and wants to God—said: "I did so want something once, something that I thought it would be right to have, that I tried to pray for it. But all at once there came over me a thought of all that God had done for me, how unworthy I was of it. He had put into my life—so many more than I had ever deserved—that I was ashamed to ask for another thing. I came away and left my prayer unasked."

She need not have left it unsaid, though the unuttered petition was borne all the same on the wings of her gratitude to the Father's listening ear. But all unconsciously she had offered the truest, most acceptable prayer of all—the thrill of heart thankfulness which, realising all the tender mercies of the past, grows suddenly content to trust the future and all its needs to the love that has never failed. That, indeed, is the great blessing of constant communion with God and the carrying to Him of all life's common daily interests and wants. It helps us to remember how He has always known more of our needs than all our prayers have told, and how fully and unweariningly He has supplied and anticipated them through all the changing years. It is a poor prayer that does not awaken the soul to fresh faith and loving gratitude.—Forward.

Consecration and Rest.

To step out of self life into Christ life; to lie still and let Him lift you out of it; to fold your hands close and hide your face upon the heart of His garment; to let Him lay His soothing, soothing, healing hands upon your eyes and draw all the hurry and fever from its veins; to realise that you are not a mighty messenger, an important workman, full of care and responsibility, but only a little child, with a Father's gentle bidding to heed and fulfill; to lay your busy plans and ambitions confidently in His hands, as the child brings its broken toys at its mother's call to serve Him by waiting; to praise Him by resting; to say, "Holy, holy, holy," to cease to hurry so that you lose sight of His face; to learn to follow Him and not to run ahead of orders; to cease to live in self and for self and to live in Him and for Him; to love His lower more than your own; to be a clear medium for the life tide to shine and glow through—this is consecration, this is rest.—Christian Work and Evangelist.

TO THE GIRL WHO WOULD ELOPE.

If only girls could be taught to see the folly of runaway marriages what a blessing it would be.

There is always something wrong about the love affair that has to be kept a secret from the girl's parents.

But so often a foolish little girl is much more ready to believe in the man who asks her to run away for months than the mother who has watched over her all her life.

She never stops to consider that if the man were honorable and above board he would go straight to her parents like a man and ask for her.

Filled with a foolish idea of romance, she listens to his smooth pleading and plunges headlong into matrimony.

Matrimony more than anything else in the world needs thought and deliberation, and the girl who elopes gives less thought to it than she would to buying a new hat.

For one moment's impetuosity she runs the risk of paying a lifetime of regret.

If you should she be able to extricate herself from her predicament, it is at the expense of the indignity and notoriety of the divorce court.

If a man is enough in love with you to want to marry you he is enough in love to wait and win you in the honorable, prescribed way.

The minute he counsels you to keep his attentions a secret from your parents is the minute for you to begin to doubt him.

A young, unsophisticated girl has no means of learning much about a man's life and character nor of judging him properly, no matter what she may know.

She may be too lenient, she may not be lenient enough.

She may be too seriously object to a man she at least should wait until their objections are verified or found to be groundless. It stands to reason that they, with their superior knowledge of the world, should know more of human nature than she.

TO MAKE GOOD TEA AND COFFEE.

In making coffee and tea use freshly boiled water always, because water that has been out of the kettle lost a large amount of its atmosphere, that is, the oxygen it contains, so that water should be as fresh as possible. Scald a granite coffeepot. That is to have it heated thoroughly and also clean. Put in one-half cup of coarsely ground coffee, one egg and one-half cup of cold water, then add six cups of boiling water and boil three minutes, commencing to count after it begins to boil, says Good Housekeeping. The boiling coffee will draw to itself the coffee grounds, keeping the egg and coffee into a ball. Then to clear the coffee, but in one-half cup of cold water. As the cold water contains more air than the boiling water, it is heavier and settles to the bottom of the coffeepot, carrying the grounds with it. Do not move the pot. As the coffee boils up the first time, the nozzle may receive some of the grounds. To avoid getting these in a cup of coffee, pour one cup out so as to clear the nozzle and then put it back into the coffeepot. This recipe makes about six cups of coffee. If your family is small mix up this recipe and use half one morning and then half the next. This is better than using half an egg and leaving the other half to use after. After having once mixed your egg and coffee, put it away in a glass jar so that the air will not get to it. Always use a silver fork in mixing egg and coffee, never a steel or iron one, as too much egg is used the coffee is not as good. One egg will clear two cups of the grounds of coffee. The only thing about egg shells that helps to clear coffee is the membrane on the inside of the shell.

HINTS TO THE HOSTESS.

If eggs are a little short for the breakfast omelet, or if a change is in favor and appetites are wanted, soak half a cupful of bread crumbs in half a cupful of milk, mix with them three well-beaten eggs (do not separate whites and yolks), add two tomatoes that have been pressed through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and turn into a pan in which a tablespoonful of butter is bubbling.

Smothered tomatoes make a delicious dish and one that may be prepared with very little trouble. Wipe medium-sized tomatoes and cut in two crosswise. Put in a hot granite-ware omelet pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with butter, using half a tablespoonful to each half tomato. Cover closely, set on the back of the range and let cook until soft.

Fried tomatoes served with white sauce are far from being new, but they are sometimes forgotten from the culinary repertoire.

Baked chicken is a savory and welcome hot weather dish and should be prepared in the following manner: Order a chicken dressed as for broiling. Wipe with a cheese-cloth wrung out of cold water. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, place in a dripping pan and dot over with butter, using three tablespoonfuls. Bake thirty minutes in a hot oven, basting every five minutes with two tablespoonfuls of butter melted in one-fourth cupful of boiling water. Remove to a hot platter and garnish with French-fried potatoes and parsley.

TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are ready to fill your coal bin for winter supply. Only the best coal sold and at lowest prices.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. POPE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1900.

The newspapers are spreading lots of ink to state that Newall street needs money." We could use a little ourselves but didn't think it necessary to proclaim the fact from the housetops.

The nu style ov spelling is going to be all rite when the pepul get usd to it, but it will be a long time before they can get over the idea that the person who spells fonetikly doesn't kno how to spell rite.

If the Standard Oil Company is convicted on every one of the 6,428 counts found against it for accepting rebates and has to pay $125,000,000 in fines, a rise in the price of kerosene may be looked for.

Natural history has just received a fearful jolt in Lexington, Ky., where a whistling rat has been discovered. "With the exception that it is a brilliant yellow," said the Colonel who made the find, "and its toes are of a beautiful indigo, the rat, which is no tall, is similar to the common variety. But the unusual feature is that it whistles with rare accuracy." Queer how a few drinks affect some people.

As yet we have not heard of Colonel Roosevelt sending Mr. Bryan a message congratulating him on his return home.

Uncle Sam, for some reason not yet explained, desires only slender girls to print his bank notes. But just the same any kind of a girl can spend them.

Since ballooning has become a fad in New York and vicinity, dodging the anchors of the big gas bags has been the daily exercise of the residents. At Middletown yesterday a woman was caught by one of the hooks and carried 600 feet. In a few years the people will long for the old days when their lives were endangered only by the speed-mad automobilists.

All Plainfielders share James E. Martine's gratification over the little affair of Bryan's visit to Newark. A city is honored as its citizens are honored, and Plainfield shares in what glory there may be in the evidence that Mr. Bryan trusts the word, and takes the advice, of Mr. Martine before that of any other Democrat in New Jersey. Mr. Bryan's esteem of Mr. Martine is, above all, a conspicuous tribute to the great forcefulness and impressive sincerity of the noblest figure in Plainfield's political life.

NEW JERSEY MARKSMEN WIN THE DRYDEN TROPHY.

Captain W. R. Martin, of Company K, Among the Successful Contestants.

New Jersey's marksmen covered themselves with glory in the annual shooting tournament of the National Rifle Association at Sea Girt, on Saturday, when they recaptured the famous Dryden trophy, finishing first out of a field of twenty-three teams, representing sixteen States, the District of Columbia, the United States infantry, calvary, the navy and the marine corps.

New Jersey's grand total was 991 points out of a possible 1,000. Thirty-two points behind came the District of Columbia team. Thus the trophy, donated by Senator John F. Dryden, and emblematic of the championship at 200, 600 and 1,000 yards, comes back to its native State. The score of the New Jersey marksmen was twelve points better than the record made last year by the Ohio team, and they improved their own score of last year by thirty-five penad that Mr. Cannon, employed Henry Kelleran, a young man living nearby, to watch his home during his absence, and he saw Ryerson enter and leave the place. He reported the fact to Chief of Police Tenney.

On Saturday Chief Tenney went to the house and caught Ryerson there. In answer to his question as to what he was doing, Ryerson said that he was a detective and had been sent there to investigate a robbery committed the day before. The Chief then took him in charge and escorted him to police headquarters, where he is now being held.

Mr. Cannon, whose home was robbed, is one of the oldest citizens of Elizabeth, and the oldest person in this vicinity, being one of the first masters of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., of this city.

"The Dignity of Labor."

"The Dignity of Labor" was the subject of a interesting discourse delivered at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, Sunday night, by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Roberson. There was a large congregation present, including many men from the shops in the West End, and all were much impressed with the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Eoff, of East Second street, are registered at the ... office of the New York Herald ... list of American tourists.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Academy of Music management announces for three weeks beginning with a matinee on Labor Day, September 3, "The Heir to the Hoorah," the new comedy which kept Broadway laughing from early Lent till dog days last season. "The Heir to the Hoorah" was written by Paul Armstrong, a former New York newspaper writer, as well known in the West as in the East, who has already made some reputation as a playwright through his previously produced pieces, "St. Anne's", "A Blue Grass Handicap," and the "Superstitions of Sue." It was staged by the late Kirke LaShelle, and it is said that, like all the amusement productions offered under his name, "The Heir to the Hoorah" is most exquisitely acted and invested.

Blanche Walsh has achieved a sensational triumph, and the "Kreutzer Sonata" a wonderful ovation, as produced by Managers Wagenhals & Kemper at the Manhattan theatre. The audience crowds the playhouse to the doors every night and is wildly enthusiastic. At the conclusion of the play, with its terrific catastrophe, Miss Walsh rises to a tragic height that electrifies the audience. She is forced to respond to curtain calls. There is no question but that Miss Walsh and the "Kreutzer Sonata" will remain the popular and sensational success of this season. Despite the heat, the house has been crowded to the doors since the opening, and advance sale promises that the play will be talked of in town. The purpose of the play is to illustrate the possible crimes that may be attributed to racial prejudice and the tendency of domestic ties to degenerate when the younger generation is suddenly bereft of the conditions which surrounded its childhood. There are noticeable more tragedies among the families which have migrated here from foreign countries than among those who have been here for more than a generation, and the "Kreutzer Sonata" is illustrative of why this is so. Jacob Gordin, author of the "Kreutzer Sonata," has been called the Yiddish Shakespeare. He has written more than seventy plays during the past fifteen years, all of which have been acted in the Yiddish language. Although such a prolific writer, the "Kreutzer Sonata" is the first of his plays to be heard in English.

The first new attraction Col. Henry W. Savage offers in New York this season is presented at the New Amsterdam theatre, Harry Bulger in the new music play, "The Man From Now," which exploits a very novel and interesting idea, conceived by John Kendrick Bangs and Vincent Bryan, with music by Manuel Klein. The story is told in two acts, preceded by a brief prologue. Prof. Forcasta, a learned scientist, has endeavored to discover a magic fluid which will enable present-day dwellers on earth to a perfect land in the far future His quest is not successful until a wandering mendicant called "Steve Waffles" appears in his laboratory with a bottle of a secret concoction of his own make. One drop of this mixed with the fluid compounded by Prof. Forcasta perfects the latter's research. Forcasta, Waffles, Pennypacker, a billionaire, and a bucolic Sherlock Holmes called Beasley, partake of the fluid, and, in an instant, are whirled from the laboratory to the campus of "Gamma College" in "Screamland" in the year 2906. Here many queer customs are in vogue. The possession of more money than one can legitimately spend is a crime and women rule everywhere. Harry Bulger is the center of the curriculum of the college presided over by "Matricula." The advent of the quartette from the present day becomes a great event in this future time, as it brings about the introduction of another figure into that era, called a "man," a term who is in love with a woman one thousand years in advance of the women of today. The musical side of the new piece is very strong. There are more than twenty numbers possessing that harmonious tingle which has proved so fascinating to the popular ear. The principal numbers are "The Dainty Music Maid," "Girls, Girls, Girls," "Love's a Lesson," "I Will Love You Forever," "The Scientific Classes," "I Want To Go Home," and two songs rendered by Mr. Bulger, written in his own peculiar style, called "College Chums" and "There's Nothing That Can't Be Cured." The company numbers over 100 people and the principals include Sallie Fisher, Walter Lawrence, Helen Hale, Gilbert Gregory, Hattie Arnold, George Backus, Lucy Tonge, Phil Branson and Marie Keller.

Smallpox Stamped Out.

Newton, Sept. 5.—The outbreak of smallpox, which started here on July 15, when several persons were found suffering from a mild type of the disease, which had previously been styled chickenpox, was finally stamped out Friday, when the last patient was discharged from quarantine. The Board of Health and local physicians have worked together throughout and prompt and rigid measures proved successful in confining the trouble to the part of town where the disease first was located and a general spread of the trouble prevented, in spite of the fact that it had existed for several weeks prior to July 15 and some of the earlier patients had recovered.

Patrick Breen, of this city, has returned home after visiting his sister in Jersey City.

DISTRICH FAMILY REUNION.

Plainfield Realized Among Those Taking a Prominent Part.

Col. John F. Districh, of Arlington avenue, was among the 5,000 persons who attended the third annual reunion of the Districh family at Kutztown, Pa., on Saturday, and if tradition be true, there was plenty of royal blood in the crowd. It was one of the largest family reunions ever held in this country, people from twenty-five States and the Dominion of Canada being present. Of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania, fifty were represented.

According to the old chronicles, these Districhs are descended from Dietrich von Bern, who was King of the Ostrogothe in Southern Europe from 454 to 526 A. D. The American branch is more immediately descended from Adam Districh and his brother, who emigrated here from the Palatinate in 1767.

At the reunion Col. Districh dilated on the family achievements. He is almost 56 years old, and was a personal friend of Presidents Lincoln and Grant. At the latter's request he took command of the First Mississippi regiment after the fall of Vicksburg. He also served as collector of the port of Galveston.

GROCERS' BIG EXCURSION.

Over 700 Plainfielders Enjoy Labor Day at Coney Island.

The annual excursion under the auspices of the Plainfield Grocers' Association to Coney Island, Monday, was a success. There was only one incident that marred the pleasure of the day and that was a delay of one hour at Jersey City in the morning waiting for the steamboat to arrive at the pier. There was some misunderstanding which has not been explained, but it is presumed that the boys stayed on a holiday had something to do with it.

The train left Plainfield at 3 o'clock in the morning with 700 excursionists aboard and it was nearly noon when they arrived at Coney Island. Soon after arrival there was a shower which lasted but a short time and the rest of the afternoon and evening was delightful. It was about 12 o'clock last night when the crowd reached home, tired but well pleased with the day's programme. F. W. Inman was chairman of the general committee of arrangements.

GIRL CYCLIST HURT.

Losing Control of Her Wheel, Is Thrown Against Railroad Bridge.

Miss Edith Ayers, of Lafayette place, met with a painful accident Saturday afternoon, while riding her bicycle. She started down the hill at Clinton avenue, from West Front street, when her feet got off the pedals, causing her to lose control of the bicycle. At the foot of the hill the wheel crashed into a stone bridge of the railroad bridge, throwing the rider into the net work of iron. Her right arm was fractured in two places and she received a deep cut in the forehead.

Patrolman Kelly was in the vicinity at the time and he hastened to the girl's rescue. Although suffering intense pain, Miss Ayers was very brave and insisted that she was not injured much. The officer could see *otherwise and he summoned the pa*trol wagon and at the girl's request took her to the police station's office, where the broken bones were set and the gash in the forehead attended to. She was then taken home.

SAFE MEN'S CLAM BAKE.

Participants Afterward Listen to and Applaud "New Idea" Addresses.

Employees of the Manganese Steel Safe Company conducted a clam bake and outing at "The Pines," beyond Metuchen, Saturday afternoon, which will be the forerunner of several similar events. About seventy-five men in all were in attendance and the clams, served by "Pete" Feller was greatly enjoyed.

Following the disposal of the last course, an impromptu political gathering was held at which addresses in favor of the Colby movement were made by gifted speakers. It was intended to have Judge Runyon present to speak to the men on the progress of the "New Idea" but another engagement prevented. Those who spoke were enthusiastically applauded.

Off on a Camping Trip.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorn, Miss Marguerite Thorn and Charles Thorn, of West Fourth street; Mr. and Mrs. Olsen and Guy Olsen, of Elizabeth, left Sunday morning for a point near Lake Hopatcong where they will camp for a week.

A Successor to Dr. Boone.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold its next regular meeting on monday night, September 10, when the business for the month, as well as that left over from last month, will be considered and a successor to Dr. W. C. Boone, as a member of the hospital staff, will be chosen.

Hold-Up Man Transferred.

Thomas Francis Donahoe, alias Joe Collins, the hold-up man, was taken to the county jail Saturday afternoon by Sergeant Frederickson. He made no trouble on the way, and seemed relieved when the cell door was closed on him. He will be indicted by the next grand jury.

Miss Emma J. Bainbridge, of East Fifth street, is enjoying the ocean breezes at Ocean Grove.

ELIZABETH POLICE ARREST SODOMITE.

Joseph Ryerson Charged With Burglary; Struggle In This Local.

By Police Say.

Joseph Ryerson, thirty-five years old, of Front street, Elizabeth, City, was arrested in Elizabeth Monday charged with burglary. Chief Kiely was notified of the arrest and asked to look up the man's record here.

The Chief said Tuesday that little was known of Ryerson here. He is said to have come to Plainfield, with his wife, from New York a few months ago, to work at McVey's hotel on West Front street.

According to the Elizabeth police, Ryerson robbed the home of Henry R. Cannon on East Jersey street, the owner being away on his vacation. Ryerson effected an entrance to the cellar through a window and forced the door leading to the kitchen, where he found about $100 worth of clothing all wrapped in paper. He did not continue his search, but made an escape with his clothing, intending to return the next day and finish the job.

Ryerson took the clothing to Newark and disposed of them to a clothing dealer in Canal street. It so happened, that on the Nation, the Dryden trophy match is the most important team competition in the tournament. By virtue of its victory the New Jersey team retains the trophy for one year and received in addition a cash prize of $150.

The individual honors on the New Jersey team were well divided. Captain W. B. Martin, of Co. K, this city, led the team at the 200-yard range with a score of 44 out of a possible 50. Captain Martin scored 44 on the 600-yard range, 40 on the 600-yard range and 43 on the 1,000-yard range for a total score of 127.

JUNIORS GIVE FLAG TO DUNELLEN SCHOOL.

Audience Cheers as Old Glory Is Run Up the Flagpole.

William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. O. A. M., of Dunellen, presented the Dunellen Board of Education with a large American flag for the Whittier school house, Monday afternoon. The presentation exercises were held in the Whittier school assembly hall. Over 200 citizens and pupils attended them.

The members of the order met in their rooms in Apgar's hall before the exercises and marched, with the flag, in a body from there to the school. Rev. A. F. Todd opened the exercises with a prayer. Harry C. Runyon, past councilor of Benevolent Council, this city, made the formal presentation. The flag was received for the Board by Superintendent Lesand. Soon afterwards a shower which lasted but a short time and the rest of the afternoon and evening was delightful. It was about 12 o'clock last night when the crowd reached home, tired but well pleased with the day's programme. F. W. Inman was chairman of the general committee of arrangements.

COLLYITES PLAN TO HOLD NOON-DAY MASS MEETINGS.

"New Idea" Speakers to Address Machinists on the Issues of the Campaign.

Noon-day meetings are to be held by the Collyites in Elizabeth, and other parts of Union county including this city. The plan to have leaders in the "new idea" movement address the machinists on the issues of the campaign was agreed upon at a conference of some of the active spirits at Elizabeth yesterday. Among those who had a voice in the proceedings was R. Henry Depew, president of the Plainfield Protective Association, and probable candidate of the Collyites for mayor.

The idea is to have mass meetings at the Singer shops at Elizabethport and at other large factories at the county seat. Those meetings it is said will be held daily. Before primary election day, noon-day meetings will also be held near the large shops in the west end of this city.

Enjoyed Superintendent's Hospitality

According to his annual custom, Superintendent Charles E. Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company's Plainfield district, entertained and employes an outing to Mauch Chunk, yesterday. The trip was made in a special car attached to the Central's excursion train and was greatly enjoyed both ways. While at Mauch Chunk Mr. Ball guided the men over the famous switchback railroad and presided at an elaborate lunch served in the afternoon.

Miss Lillian A. Force, of Duer street, has returned home from Hamden, Hunterdon county, today, after a very enjoyable outing at the home of her friend, Miss Todd.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Samuels, of Somerville, are the parents of a young son who came to their home Sunday. Mrs. Samuels was formerly Miss Nettie Leichtentritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Leichentritt, of West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Grim and daughter, Loretta, have returned home from a few days' visit with Mrs. Andrew Kenney, of Watchung avenue.

The Misses Hannah and Sarah McGrath, of this city, has returned home after spending two weeks with their sister, Mrs. Francis Stafford, in Boston, Mass.

COLONIAL SILVER FOR U. S. S. NEW JERSEY.

Ten Thousand Dollar Set Ready For Delivery—Public Presentation Planned.

Governor Stokes has been notified by Tiffany & Co. that they have completed the $10,000 silver service which will be presented by the State to the battleship New Jersey, recently assigned to the North Atlantic squadron. The service is now ready for delivery to the State authorities whenever desired.

As yet plans for the formal presentation have not been made and it is probable that it will remain in the Tiffany vaults until plans are perfected. Some have suggested that the service be exhibited in some of the principal cities of the State. This suggestion is under consideration.

Once on board the battleship it is not likely that any large number of Jerseymen will get even a glimpse of the silver gift, but considerable trouble and expense would be involved in any general plan for its exhibition. Governor Stokes, however, that a special detail from the National Guard might accompany the service if it is thought advisable to display it in a few of the larger cities. This might be done at the armories or other public places.

The complete set consists of 57 pieces and contains about 1,500 ounces of sterling silver, 925.1000 fine. The keynote of the design is colonial, symbolizing the colonial period of the State's history.

GEORGE R. NICHOLL, DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Passed Away At His Home in Scotch Plains At An Early Hour Tuesday Morning.

George R. Nicholl, one of Scotch Plains' oldest residents and widely known throughout this vicinity, died at his home in that place early this morning. He had been seriously ill for several months with a complication of troubles and his death had been expected for the past week.

Mr. Nicholl was in his eightieth year and had been prominently identified with the affairs of the township for a long time. He held office frequently and was connected with the Scotch Plains library up to the time his last illness began. In politics he was a Democrat and he was ready at all times to advocate the principles of the party, but would not support Bryan. He leaves one son, Thomas J. Nicholl, of Scotch Plains, chairman of the Township Committee, and two daughters, Mrs. George B. Randolph and Miss Lizzie Nicholl.

MRS. JOEL D. HEDDEN.

Passed Away at Her Home Monday After a Long Illness.

Mrs. Estelle A. Hedden, wife of Joel D. Hedden, died at her home on Summit avenue, Monday. She had been ill for a long time but bore her suffering with Christian fortitude and patience.

Mrs. Hedden was fifty-two years old and was the daughter of Mary A. and the late Charles E. Stanford. She was a native of Plainfield and had resided in Plainfield a great many years and was greatly liked by a large circle of acquaintances for her many estimable qualities. She is survived by two sons.

The funeral will be held at her late home Thursday morning at 10:30.

Mrs. Susan E. Wagenhals.

Mrs. Susan E. Wagenhals, mother of Mrs. Harry Hood, of this city, died at her home in East Orange, Sunday, from a general breakdown caused by excessive grief over the death of a favorite daughter several weeks ago. Mrs. Wagenhals was seventy-six years of age and beside Mrs. Hood leaves another daughter and five sons, one of the latter being Lincoln A. Wahenhals, of the theatrical firm of Wagenhals and Kemper. The funeral was held at her late home Tuesday afternoon.

Theodore Craig, of New York, has returned home after a short visit with his cousin, Leslie Allen, of West Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Snyder, of Grove street, have returned from their outing at Ocean Grove.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

MORTGAGES FOR $5,000,000 FILED IN PATERSON.

Part of Plan of Reorganization for the Interstate Telephone Company.

A deed transferring the property of the Interstate Telephone Company of Trenton from Bayard Stockton, trustee in bankruptcy for the Court of Chancery, has been filed in the county clerk's office at Paterson. The consideration mentioned is $575,000. The deed covers a tract of land at Smith and Union streets, Paterson, on which it was the original intention of the company to erect an exchange building.

The company holds the controlling interest in the Paterson and Passaic Suburban Telephone Company as well as in several other companies in various parts of the State. The deed covers all the company's lines.

Two mortgages covering the properties were filed with the deed. One, a gold bond, first mortgage, bearing 5 per cent. interest, is in the sum of $1,000,000 and is drawn in favor of the Trenton Trust and Safe Deposit Company. The mortgage is given for thirty years.

The second mortgage is drawn in favor of the Mercer Trust Company and secures a loan of $4,000,000. The filing of these mortgages, together with the deed, is a part of the reorganization plans of the company.

IN REGARD TO MANNERS

Some persons air their good manners as they do their good clothes, on holidays and other occasions of more than ordinary moment. These manners being assumed for the time, are unnatural and are readily distinguishable from the genuine article. It is too often the case that persons will be churlish and disagreeable to those at home, their nearest and dearest, and yet when they appear among strangers will be courteous in the extreme, winning golden opinions for their affability and distinguished manners.

There are others whose amiability can be seen at its best in the home circle; these are the ones who can always be relied upon, whose steady *cheerfulness in times of trouble en*dear them to every one with whom they come in contact, says the Boston Traveler.

Good manners are innate with some people with others they are more or less acquired. Where ignorance of prescribed rules exists, tact will often lead them out of social difficulty immediately. An important for the scholar or man of genius not to neglect the minor courtesies of social life.

A proper regard for the feelings of others will often cause a person ignorant of all social usages to hit the proper vein in good manners.

Heedless people bring up topics of conversation regardless of the feelings of a portion of those whom they are addressing. The latter may hold different views on religion and politics, but on goes the heedless one, ruthlessly trampling on the most tender corns of opinion, cherished by some sensitive one among the number, who is too well bred to make any reply.

Those possessed of truly good manners, as distinguished from surface polish, will always and on every occasion have a proper regard for the aged. What more beautiful sign is there than deevotion from youth to the aged around them? On the other hand, to see, as is frequently the case, children allowed to mimic and ridicule tottering age is a shame and disgrace to the age in which we live! It is true that "it is never too late to learn," but those that have the most agreeable manners and who exhibit urbanity under any circumstances, are the ones in whom good manners were instilled in early childhood.

Promotion for Harry Holmes.

Harry Holmes, of Duer street, who has been clerk in the local store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, has been made manager of the store at New Britain, Conn. He left this afternoon to enter upon his new duti

James Richmond, of New York, has been spending a few days at the home of Councilman and Mrs. W. L. Gloak, of East Second street.

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot Liberty St., N. R.

In Effect June 24, 1900.

For Bound Brook—3.37, 5.37, 8.05, 9.05, 9.30, 10.30, 11.30, 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 p. m. Sundays—3.37, 5.37, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 p. m.

For Somerville—3.37, 5.37, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 a. m., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 p. m. Sundays—3.37, 5.37, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 a. m., 12.05, 1.05, 2.05, 3.05, 4.05, 5.05, 6.05, 7.05, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, 11.30 p. m.

For Newark—3.30, 3.37, 4.37, 7.05, 7.35, 7.50, 8.47, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, 11.35, 12.05, 12.35, 1.05, 1.35, 2.05, 2.35, 3.05, 3.35, 4.05, 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.40 p. m. Sundays—3.30, 3.37, 4.37, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.40, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, 11.35, 12.05, 12.35, 1.05, 1.35, 2.05, 2.35, 3.05, 3.35, 4.05, 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.40, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, 11.35 p. m.

For Plainfield—7.11, 11.48 a. m., 2.11, 5.18 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m.

For Elizabeth—7.11, 11.48 a. m., 2.11, 5.18 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m.

For Rahway—7.11, 11.48 a. m., 2.11, 5.18 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m.

For Philipsburg and Easton—6.25, 8.21, 9.55, 11.15 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 and 6.38 p. m. Sunday—8.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—6.25, 8.21, 9.55, 11.15 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 and 6.38 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.06 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—8.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—7.11, 8.55, 9.15, 11.48 a. m., 2.11, 5.18 p. m. Sundays—8.55 a. m., 1.16, 7.21, 9.44, 4.47, 11.28 p. m. Sunday 5.53 a. m., 3.30, 5.18 p. m.

For Red Bank—6.27, 8.36, 9.11, 11.06 a. m., (12.41 Saturdays only), 2.18, 3.23, 5.44, 6.47, 11.28 p. m. Sundays—7.32 a. m., 3.30, 5.18 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—3.37, 9.30, 11.15 a. m., 2.11 Atlantic City Express Saturdays only) (11.15 Lakewood only), 5.47, 6.38 p. m. Sundays—1.02 p. m.

For Toms River and Barnegat—8.11 a. m., 1.16 p. m.

For Philadelphia—6.15, 7.44, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 2.29, 3.42, 5.50, 8.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—6.15, 8.05, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 2.29, 3.42, 4.55, 8.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Trenton—6.15, 7.44, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 2.29, 3.42, 5.50, 8.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sunday—6.15, 8.05, 11.42 a. m., 2.29, 3.42, 4.55, 8.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Reading and Harrisburg—5.26, 9.55 a. m., 5.47 p. m. (through train). Sundays—2.02, 5.47 p. m.

For Pottsville, Sunbury and Williamsport—9.55 a. m. Sundays—2.02 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—4.17, 5.47, 10.43 a. m., 12.32, 3.45, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.43 a. m., 12.32, 3.45, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Manager. C. M. BURT, Vice Pres. & Gen. Pass. Agt.

Lehigh Valley Railroad

Time table in Effect May 13th, 1900.

LEAVE SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

7.56 a. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Bethlehem.

8.48 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Rochester, Buffalo, and principal intermediate stations.

10.59 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Ithaca, Buffalo and Chicago.

12.07 p. m. daily for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton, Pottsville and Shenandoah.

4.58 p. m. daily (except Sunday) "Wilkesbarre and Scranton Express" Solid vestibule train to Wilkesbarre, through Sleeping Car to Buffalo. Dining Car Service and Carbondale.

8.21 p. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Easton.

9.40 p. m. daily, solid vestibule train to Easton, Wilkesbarre, Buffalo and principal intermediate stations except Rochester.

FRANK ROWLEY, City Ticket Agent, 218 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 113.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office opens 7 a. m., closes 7 p. m.

On Saturdays close half hour later.

Arrive—7.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 8.00 p. m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 2.30, 6.00 p. m.

Arrive—8.59 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 7.45 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.50, 4.40 and 7.00 p. m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 1.40 and 4.30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.50, 4.40 and 8.30 p. m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA—West of Easton.

Arrive—1.00 p. m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30 and 6.00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.50, 4.40 p. m.

Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30 and 6.00 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7.30, 8.40, 11.50 a. m.; 2.30 and 7.30 p. m.

Close—7.15, 7.30, 9.30 a. m.; 12.35, 4.30, 7.45 p. m.

The first mail for West and South closes 6.30 and 7.15 p. m.

The first mail for East, close 1.00 and 4.30 p. m.

WATCHUNG, WARRENVILLE AND GALLIA (Mt. Bethel.)

Arrive—12.30 p. m. Close—2.00 p. m.

Watchung—Arrive 6.45 p. m. Close 8.00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9.30 to 10.30 a. m.

Mail closes at 8.30 p. m.

E. H. BIRD P. M.

Mishap Follows Mishap.

Rockaway, Sept. 5.—Three men arrived here yesterday in a top wagon, drawn by a team of horses. One of the men who gave his name as James Brown, which is supposed to be fictitious, had a big gash in one leg and had the wound dressed in the drug store. He said that they drove from Mendham to Mt. Tabor, where his leg was caught in the wheels of a trolley. They came to Rockaway to get surgical assistance. When the three started to drive away the front wheels of their wagon stuck fast in the trolley track in Main street and both were wrecked.

Ricks His Life to Save Boy.

Rahway, Sept. 5.—As a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad was waiting on the track here today for some parcelers to get on board a crowd gathered to hear the band. T. W. Robinson, looking down the track, saw an express coming at full speed. A colored lad was standing in the middle of the track, and at the risk of his own life Mr. Robinson sprang for the boy, caught him by the collar and fell backward with him on the platform as the flier sped by. The rescued boy was so scared that he dashed down Cherry street and was running when last seen.

The Y. M. C. A. directors will meet Thursday night.

MARTINE ESCORTS BRYAN

"Farmer Orator" Accompanies "Peerless One" on His Visit to Jersey.

HEARTY RECEPTIONS

Both Defeated Candidates Address Big Audiences and Get Enthusiastic Ovations.

Although his visit lasted in all but about two hours, William Jennings Bryans appearance in Newark, Saturday afternoon, was greeted with the utmost enthusiasm and he was cheered to the echo from the time he entered the city until he left. Crowds lined the streets all the way from the Market street depot to Military Park where he spoke to 10,000 people for about fifty minutes. It was a Bryan crowd, at least for the time being, and his sentiments were applauded repeatedly.

In response to a telegram, "Farmer Orator" James E. Martine, of this city, was brought about with the "Peerless One's" visit to the State's metropolis, met Mr. Bryan at the Victoria Hotel, New York, Saturday afternoon, to make ready for the trip. The party consisted of these two, ex-Governor Jennings, of Florida; Congressman Sulzer and Senator James Smith. They were first driven to the Democratic Club on Fifth avenue, where an informal reception was held, Mr. Bryan making an address to the gathering which numbered about 150. A light lunch was served and several souvenirs were given the visiting guests.

From the Democratic Club, the party was driven to the Twenty-third street ferry, taking a train for Newark at the Jersey City side. They were joined there by "Bob" Davis, Carteret Club. At its conclusion, Mr. Bryan spoke to a crowd of 5,000 people opposite VanVorst Park, reviewed a big parade in his honor and then made another speech to a crowd that packed Elks' Hall for two hours. At the hall Mr. Jennings and Mr. Martine also spoke, the latter holding the attention of the gathering until the arrival of "Peerless One." Even this second address did not satisfy the Jersey City Bryanites and another meeting was held at Peters' hall. There Mr. Martine spoke again and when he concluded Bryan was announced. He made a short speech and then with the party journeyed back to New York.

Mr. Bryan and the members of his family and the Nebraska delegation that came to New York to welcome him back from Europe, left for Lincoln, Neb., Monday morning.

MANY NEW MILLS

BUILT IN NEW JERSEY.

Remarkable Development of Industrial Construction in the State

Since the first of the year New Jersey has been going through a remarkable industrial development, as evidenced by the unprecedented volume of the building operations in factories and mills in the State. Statistics available from several cities indicate that the building operations of this character throughout the State between January 1 and August 1 of the current year aggregated about $8,000,000. This constructive evidence of industrial growth is not confined to any one section of the State, but is distributed.

This increase in manufacturing plants will further enhance Jersey's manufacturing prestige. Already, according to the last Federal census, Jersey is far ahead of any other State of its population in the amount of money invested in lands and buildings devoted to manufacturing purposes. Alabama, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, all States of a population about equal to that of New Jersey, averaged about $45,880,000 in lands and buildings so invested. Jersey's figures were about three times this amount.

The new building construction means that Jersey has factory plants in hand that will provide work for 25,000 additional wage-earners, and there is every reason to believe that, while Western States are at their wits' end to get laborers and workers generally, Jersey will have little trouble in getting the necessary quota of operators for its factories and mills. Manufacturers have learned by experience that New Jersey is an excellent State in which to get and keep labor of all kinds for manufacturing enterprises.

Church Hold a Clam Bake.

The Organ Club of the Mt. Olive Baptist church gave a clam bake and lawn fete at the church Labor Day, from 12 o'clock noon until 8 o'clock in the evening. The affair was a success under the direction of the president, Mrs. Lulu Dempsey, and Mrs. Henry Kingslow, chairman of the committee on arrangements, together with other faithful workers.

Miss Zinkhiser, of Rockview avenue, returned Saturday after a three months' tour in Europe.

INDEPENDENTS HAVE GREAT DAY WITH GUN

MERCHANDISE EVENTS AT TRAP-RANGE; YEARLY PRIZES.

Special events and the award of prizes marked the annual King and holiday shoot of the Independent Gun Club Monday, on the Maple avenue grounds. The shooting began at 10 o'clock in the morning and lasted until dark. There was a large attendance.

The King shoot was won by Edward Sebring, who made the best center shot on a German ring target. He received a medal, and after the shooting, was invested with floral crown and sceptre as the King of riflemen. Capt. Henry Haurand made the presentation and crowned the King.

In the merchandise event at the rifle range, D. E. Gavin was first and got a cigar case; C. W. Leonard was second, prize, gold club badge; Henry Haurand, third, marble sporting hatchet; F. J. Leonard, fourth, hunting coat; C. W. Krause, fifth, recapping tool; F. S. Sabocher, sixth, wine set; T. H. Laury, seventh, rifle cleansing rod. In the trap merchandise event, C. W. Krausse won first prize, gold badge; F. S. Sabocher, second, leather shell case; H. F. Vesseler, third, wine set; B. F. Leonard, fourth, gun case; D. E. Davis, fifth, loading tool; Henry Haurand, sixth, gun protector; Edward Sebring and Harry Dreier, seventh, two and one box of cartridges respectively. C. W. Leonard won the rifle event with as follows: B. F. Leonard, D. E. Gavin, Henry Haurand, T. H. Laury.

Medals won in the yearly shoot were presented by Capt. Haurand.

In the yearly contest, rifle shooting, the first prize was won by B. F. Leonard, who will receive a gold medal. This shooting was at a German ring target, with inch and a half bulls-eye. It was a ten score shoot, with a handicap for each score. Leonard, with a handicap of 36, made a net score of 1902 points in the ten scores. F. S. Sabocher, with a handicap of 36, won second prize—a gold medal—with a total of 1754. Dr. S. Dandt, handicap, 45, got third prize, a gold club badge, with a score of 1706, and Henry Haurand, handicap 30, total 1574, won a silver medal as fourth prize. The fifth prize was awarded for improvement in shooting during the year. It was won by Edward Sebring, and is a beautifully made windguage rifle sight.

Capt. Haurand's prize of a medal for the five highest scores during the year was presented to C. W. Leonard.

ONTARIO MAN'S QUICK PLUNGE INTO MATRIMONY.

Young Woman He Met On Friday Became His Bride the Following Sunday.

Charles W. Henderson, who formerly resided in Plainfield, but lately has been employed in Coalingwood, Ont., came to this city last Friday to visit his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramberger, of Essex street. While there he was introduced to Miss Margaret Bogan, who has been stopping with the family and in a short time they were fast friends.

Sunday morning, Henderson called on to escort Miss Hauser to St. Mary's church and after the early mass they informed Father Bogan that they wished to be married. The necessary witnesses were procured at once and the knot was tied. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson returned to the home of their friends where, after the first surprise of the announcement was over, they were tendered an informal reception.

They left Monday for Niagara Falls and from there will proceed to Coalingwood, where Mr. Henderson will furnish a home.

LOST IN HIGH BRIDGE.

Dunellen Couldn't Hit Ramsey, but Fielded in Fine Shape.

Dunellen's baseball zing got the sour end of a pitching duel in High Bridge Saturday afternoon. They could not hit Ramsey, the High Bridge twirler, and lost by a score of 4 to 1.

Dunellen fielded fast, and embellished the contest with two lihtning double plays. Randolph, Dunellen's pitcher, twirled what would ordinarily have been a winning game, but Ramsey met his ait and went him a notch better. Ramsey fanned nine and held the batsmen to two swats, while Randolph had to be satisfied with seven whifts and allowed one more hit than his opponent. One of them was a two-bagger by Ramsel.

Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Dun. A. C.	0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	1	2
High B'ge	0 0 0 0 0 0 2 2 0	4	3

Batteries—Randolph and Giles; Ramsey and Dekman.

Killed on the Track.

Jacob Suydam, a butcher of Whitehouse, and a brother of the late Mrs. J. T. Fritts, of Park avenue, was killed at the Whitehouse Station, Saturday. He drove to the station to get a load of meat and got in front of a train backing down to the station, which he did not see approaching, and was run down.

George Pope, of Manning avenue, has gone to the home of Mrs. Pope's parents near Reading, Pa., to spend two weeks.

FRESH AIR HOME CLOSES

Farewell Service Held on the Lawn on Sunday Afternoon.

PURSE FOR MISS CURRY

Gift of the Executive Committee, For Her Personal Use—Interesting Figures From the Secretary's Report.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will close for the season this week. Miss Sara Curry, the matron, took most of the mothers and children home Monday, and the few that remained behind to clean up and prepare the Home for closing will be gone by the middle of the week. It is expected that the Home will be locked up Thursday.

The last of the weekly services on the lawn before the Home, Sunday afternoon, was very largely attended. The service was in the nature of a farewell, and special music marked it.

The service was led by George E. Hall. The musical programme included selections by the Y. M. C. A. string orchestra, of six pieces, under the leadership of C. W. Myers, vocal duets by the Misses Nellie and Elsie Tudor and Mrs. W. H. Sebring, of Brooklyn, and Miss Florence G. Hawkins. Miss Mary Miller and Mrs. Sebring sang solos.

David Hand, chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee, delivered the chief address. He spoke of the work about the Home through the season, summing up the record made by Miss Curry, the Executive Committee and their supporters.

On behalf of the Executive Committee, Miss Florence G. Hawkins, the secretary, presented Miss Curry with a purse collected on the grounds. The offering amounted to $76. It is intended for Miss Curry's personal use. Last year the Committee and their friends gave Miss Curry $150, which she refused to keep. They made the offering modest this year, in the hope that she would see her way clear to keeping it. In the modest speech with which she acknowledged the gift, Miss Curry did not say she would repeat her refusal to accept it.

Miss Curry made a brief address regarding her work. She spoke of her labors at the Little Missionary Day Nursery in New York, where she helps her "family" of unfortunates through the months when the Home is closed.

Miss Hawkins read a report of the season's work. The Home opened on July 5, and between then and yesterday, 1,674 children have been kept there. Mothers and fathers to the number of 561 were cared for. Of the inmates, 503 were sick. The meals served reached a total of 62,428. The consumption of milk reached 2,759 quarts, and 8,149 loaves of bread were eaten.

In connection with her report, Miss Hawkins announced that Mrs. E. B. Clare, of North Plainfield, was devoting the proceeds of the sale of flowers she is raising to the support of Blind Jenny, whose pathetic battle with affliction and disease was told in the papers last week.

Mr. Hall announced that the recent carnival at the Netherwood Hotel grounds had netted $111.

MADE NINE ERRORS BUT WON THEIR GAME.

Suburbans Had One Very Fruitful Inning Off Berkeley Heights' Slab Artist.

Counterbalancing bungles with bingles, the Suburbans, of Clinton avenue, tore a near-baseball game from the grasp of the Berkeley Heights team on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon.

Up to the sixth inning, the Berkeleys had things all their own way. The Suburbans made eight errors in three innings, and by that time the mountaineers were reaching for victory with the score 7 to 2, and nothing to indicate a check to the reach. But something happened to the Suburbans and they tightened up, and at the same time something happened to Exner and he loosened up, and in the sixth inning, the balance of tighten and loosen having been completely reversed, the Suburbans fell on the twirler from the mountain-top and hammered him until his eyes became crossed watching the globule fit hither and yon. They mauled him for six swats and carded seven runs, which was just enough to win the game. Berkeley Heights managed to squeeze in another tally in the seventh, but that was their last bolt. Score, 9 to 8.

Bolmer pitched a heady game for the winners. He had a lot to discourage him in the early innings, but he held his nerve and worked without letting up. He got eight strikeouts and held the visitors to four hits.

Line-up and score by innings:

Suburbans—Gordon, 2b; Mullen, ss; Beekman, 3b; Bolmer, p; Exner, 1b-cf; Rosenow, c; T. Mullen, lf; Terry, cf-1b; Elliott, rf. Berkeley Heights—Montross, lf; W. Bergmiller, ss; Fuchs, c; Debbie, 2b; Hansen, 2b; Exner, p; Rogers, cf; L. Bergmiller, Curtis, rf; C. Bergmiller, 1b.

	R.	H.	E.
Suburbans	2 0 0 0 0 7 0 x —	9	10	9
B. H.	0 1 3 1 0 0 0 0 —	5	4	3

HOLIDAY ON THE LINKS

Fall Season Opens Auspiciously on Country Club Course.

PLAY FOR TROPHIES

Arthur Murphy and W. D. Riggs Tied for First Honors for Committee Cup.

There was a renewal of activity at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, which really marked the opening of the fall season on the links. Arthur Murphy and W. D. Riggs were tied for first honors for the Golf Committee cup and also for a leg on the September cup, each returning a net score of 76, giving them 2½ points a piece, while Dudley H. Barrows got the one remaining point in the weekly competition.

The leading scores for the cups are as follows:

Arthur Murphy, 86, 10—76; W. D. Riggs, 87, 11—76; Dudley H. Barrows, 77, plus 1—78; C. B. Morgan, 83, 2—80; Charles A. Stover, 91, 10—81; Edward J. Patterson, 96, 14—82; Henry D. Hibbard, 87, 5—82.

There was also the first round match play for the semi-scratch cup, with this result:

Frank O. Reinhart beat George F. Schoonmaker 4 up and 4 to play; C. B. Morgan beat Henry D. Hibbard 3 up and 2 to play; W. Lester Glenney beat Julius E. Erickson 6 up and 5 to play; C. A. Stover and Arthur Murphy each drew a bye; Frank C. Talmadge and Robert Abbott defaulted, and Dudley H. Barrows won from Morris J. Dumont by default.

The semi-final play for the semi-scratch cup was one of the interesting events of Labor Day at the Plainfield Country Club and the results afforded some surprises. C. B. Morgan beat Dudley H. Barrows 2 up and 1 to play; W. Lester Glenney beat Charles A. Stover 3 up and 2 to play; Frank O. Reinhart beat Arthur Murphy 5 up and 3 to play; and W. Lester Glenney beat Frank O. Reinhart 2 up and 1 to play. This puts Glenney and Morgan in the finals to be played later.

While there was a large field out to take part in the various events not many posted their scores for one reason or another. C. B. Morgan was the honor man of the day. He won the Barrows potato for the Golf Committee cup with a net score of 78. He also won the Men's Handicap cup, 36 holes, with a score of 155 and the Labor Day cup with a net score of 77. He played a very strong game in all of the events, proving that he continues to improve in the finer points of the game.

The leading scores for the Golf Committee cup were as follows:

C. B. Morgan, 81, 2—78; George E. Cathcart, 99, 18—81; Stuart H. Patterson, 94, 9—85; G. F. Earl, 111, 18—93.

The best scores for the Men's Handicap cup follow:

C. B. Morgan, 161, 2—156; George E. Cathcart, 195, 18—157.

During the afternoon there was a clock golf competition for women, Miss Marjorie Fleming winning the event with a score of 24. In the play-off for the August cup, C. B. Morgan was the winner, defeating W. Lester Glenney.

Aside from the events on the course, the social features attracted an unusually large number of members and friends to the clubhouse, which was decorated with American flags and a profusion of flowers. Throughout the afternoon an orchestra rendered a program of popular selections and later played for the dinner-dance. Many remained for dinner and the dance which was held until 11:30. The attendance indicated the return to town of a host of Plainfielders who have been away for the summer, and from now on social functions will be weekly features at the clubhouse.

All of the tennis courts were also well occupied throughout the day, the devotees of this popular game playing from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

On account of the heavy shower during the forenoon yesterday many members of the Park Golf Club were kept away from the course. In consequence there was little doing there. When the weather cleared in the afternoon the course was pretty well occupied with enthusiasts, but they failed to return their scores in the scheduled events.

There was a full programme at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday, the home team defeating the team from the Arcdale Golf Club by 8 points to 3. The summary:

Westfield—Sherman, 3; Carroll, 0; Cruse, 0; Creesey, 3; James Woodward, 2. Total, 8.

Arcdale—Baker, 0; Woodward, 2; Fayling, 1; Natle, 0; Fullerton, 0. Total, 3.

This was the result of the first round match play for the September handicap cup:

Class A—Joseph Sherman beat Samuel Poor 5 up and 4 to play.

Class B—H. L. VanDyke beat R. F. Middleditch 2 up and 1 to play; Joseph Graham beat William Marsters 2 up and 1 to play; William Taylor won by default. Ray Carroll won the Labor Day competition at the club.

WANT INCREASE IN PAY.

(Continued from Page 1.)

service in both departments. The new law would give Chief Doane a salary of $1,500 and that of Assistant Jennings $1,200. The total increase in the police department salaries would not be quite as much as that of the fire department.

In the petition presented by Patrolmen Herbert L. Overbaugh, Charles Flynn and W. F. McCarty, it was stated that during the past year the patrolmen have put in 438 2-3 hours overtime for which they received no compensation, that they are obliged to equip themselves when entering the service at an expense of $125 for the first year and $90 for every year thereafter. The petition also stated the salaries now paid to the officers and patrolmen which it is claimed are not adequate for the service rendered.

WILL PICK CANDIDATES

(Continued from Page 1.)

ion S. Ackerman, R. A. Meeker, C. VanHerwerden.

Third Ward.

B. F. Coriell, Charles Foster, C. J. Fisk, Joseph Sheilabarger, George D. Beaton, George J. Tobin, William T. Kirk.

Fourth Ward.

H. Buxton, Frank H. Smith, J. Harry Cook, Charles T. Dunham, F. D. Randolph, A. McCardell, W. S. Angleman, W. G. Hutchcroft, Fred H. Firstbrook.

MALE VOTERS IN WESTERN STATES RECOGNIZE WOMEN.

Western voters in the Democratic and Republican parties alike have lately given marked recognition in a political way to women. In Illinois, both parties have nominated women for minor offices, while in Ohio, during the convention of Mahoney county Democrats, a resolution was passed as follows: "We favor complete woman suffrage."

The Republicans of Illinois have nominated Miss Carrie A. Alexander, as one of the trustees of the State University. The Democrats of the same State have nominated Clara P. Bourland, for the same position. The Democrats have nominated Miss Caroline Groats, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Her nomination aroused greater enthusiasm in the convention than that of any other candidate. When called upon for a speech the band played "Good Morning, Carrie," and the convention went wild.

Woman's ingenuity was exemplified in the way the Iowa suffragists took to bring their question before the recent Republican State convention. The weather was intensely hot and the air supplied all the delegates with fans. On the back of each fan were quotations in favor of woman suffrage from prominent Republicans, beginning with President Roosevelt. The perspiring delegates received the fans with delight and during the four hours of waiting for the report of the credentials committee they had plenty of time to read the mottoes.

SEA GIRT TO LOSE BIG TOURNAMENTS.

That's What the Opposition to Gen. Spencer Means.

Sea Girt, Sept. 5.—At a stormy five-hour meeting the National Rifle Association elected a board of directors that is pledged to oust the present board from control. General Bird W. Spencer, of New Jersey, inspector-general of rifle practice, who has held office ever since the association was reorganized six years ago.

The association also voted to request that the national matches be held next year in Ohio, a request which practically amounts to a decision of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice, which decides the matter.

Furthermore the association voted that hereafter the matches of the National Rifle Association which have for years been held here, be held in connection with the national matches.

The effect of this is practically to kill the tournament at Sea Girt, where the State of New Jersey has expended $350,000 in the range to equip it for the national and the association matches. The vote to take away the national rifle association matches was the effect of the combination of heavy delegations of members from the West which wants the big shoot at a more central point, and certain opposition to General Spencer.

Ball Player Killed by Train.

Stanhope, Sept. 5.—While attempting to board a train here Saturday, Joseph Fleming, twenty-two years old, of this place, slipped under the wheels and was instantly killed. He was on his way to play a game of baseball at Andover. He leaves his mother and two sisters and was engaged to Miss Alice Grogen, of Netcong.

A Slight Chimney Fire.

A chimney at the home of Rev. H. H. Baker on East Front street caught fire Sunday afternoon. Fire headquarters was notified by 'phone and Chief Doane and a hose wagon responded. The flames were put out with one extinguisher.

Thus far over 200 persons have applied to Judge Edward S. Atwater, of the Court of Common Pleas, for naturalization papers.

DIED.

BROWN—On Aug. 29, 1906, Mary F., widow of Wm. S. Brown.

NICHOLL—On Sept. 4, 1906, at Scotch Plains, N. J., George B. Nicholl, in his 80th year.

MAN—On Friday, Aug. 31, 1906, Juliet D., widow of Walter Man and daughter of Richard B. and the late Eliza H. Duyckinck, formerly of Brooklyn.

LORD'S PRAYER AS TEXT FOR LABOR DAY SERMON.

Rev. L. R. Howard Urges Workers to Think of God.

Taking for his subject the Lord's Prayer, and particularly that sentence, "Give us this day our daily bread," Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, preached a strong and impressive sermon Sunday night, appropriate to Labor Day. The discourse was delivered at the request of a member of one of the labor unions in this city, and many members of the local unions attended.

Mr. Howard's chief points was first, that the life of workers individually would be greatly benefitted if they would carry into their daily lives and occupations the thought of God, and secondly, that the lives of workers would also be benefitted socially if employers and employees alike would join in that part of the Lord's Prayer which speaks of "our daily bread," his idea being that if a person sincerely and honestly joins in that prayer his attitude as well as that of his fellow-workman would be far different. Regard God and it would tend to obviate many of the troubles which have herstofor existed between employer and employes.

INJURED BY AUTO CRASH.

Small Bone of L. K. Hyde's Wrist Broken In Peculiar Accident.

Louis K. Hyde, president of the City National Bank, was injured in a peculiar auto accident Saturday afternoon, in front of W. W. Dunn's grocery at Duer street and Lincoln place. In turning the crank on his Pierce car to start it, the handle slipped, flew back, and struck him on the wrist.

The blow caused excruciating pain, putting the hand and wrist out of use entirely. Mr. Hyde went into the grocery, where neighbors provided liniment and bandages, affording temporary relief. Dr. Fred Hughes was called and accompanied Mr. Hyde to his home on Mountain avenue, when Dr. H. VanD. Hedges, the family physician, took over the case. An examination of the wrist was made with the X-ray and Dr. Hedges found that a small bone was fractured.

Miss Weiss, If You Please.

A bouncing baby daughter is now the center of attraction at the home of Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough. The little lady came Sunday morning.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago.

s 7 19 18

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Jean R. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so prevalent. These books are filled with humor, fairly bubbling with wit and humor. Bound in cloth, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson at Saratoga.
Jack Henderson on Tandem.
Jack Henderson on Bicycle.

Per set, $1.50; per set, $1.60, postpaid. For sale at booksellers or will be sent direct by

HURST & COMPANY
395-399 Broadway, New York

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books. 8 24 4

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 23d Street, New York City

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnaces
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,
Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second streets

Tinners,
Plumbers
and
Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your tinware mending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel, appointing agents; others for local work. Salary $900 per year, extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement; old established reliable house; chance for earnest man or woman to secure permanent, lucrative position; experience unnecessary; references required. Enclose stamp. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. R. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master in Chancery, Notary Public, Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenues

First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGENT

OFFICE,

HITS LOCAL ASSESSORS

Tax Collector Sheelen, of Fanwood, Says They Did Not Give True Values.

QUOTES SOME FIGURES

Says There Would Be No Trouble In Getting $1.25 Rate If the Work Was Done According to Law.

In a communication received by the Daily Press Friday, Charles H. Sheelen, Fanwood's tax collector, charges that Plainfield's assessors have not fixed true valuations on local properties. He has made the matter one of personal interest and to bear out his statements quotes figures taken from the assessors' books and compared with the prices asked by owners. In some instances, Mr. Sheelen states, property is assessed at half its value and that if it was done at the law demands the city would have no trouble in securing a tax rate of $1.25 or even lower.

Mr. Sheelen's letter in full is as follows:

"I notice in your issue of the 29th inst. that if the county seat raised their valuations proportionately with Plainfield's matters would be eased up, and that the rate of Plainfield would not exceed $1.25 per hundred assessed valuation; also that the County Board of Taxation has brought Fanwood Borough valuations up to the mark. In reply to the above remark will say that the board did re-assess our borough with entire satisfaction to the taxpayers, and if Plainfield would assess their valuations according to law at its true value, it would have little difficulty to place the rate at $1.25 or even lower. I have examined some of the assessments made by one of the assessors of your city and find that some of the property is assessed at half its true value. I noted a handsome house in one of the restricted districts assessed at $2,000, which could not be built for over double that amount; another house at $4,000 on the house and $1,200 on the lot that could not be bought for less than $10,000. Then comes one of your large factories assessed at $31,000 which is less than one-fourth of its value; also taxes sworn off for debts on promissary notes which decreased your revenue. Is this what Plainfield calls Equal Taxation? I think there is lots of room for our county board to enter Plainfield and do as they did in Fanwood borough, and then the rate would not exceed the $1.25 mark and every taxpayer would have a 'Square Deal.'

"Respectfully,

"CHAS. SHEELEN,
"Collector."

FOURTH WARD COLBYITES.

They Are Looking For a Chairman and Planning Meetings.

No plans have been made by the Fourth Ward Colby Club for the selection of a chairman, tg take the place of Henry Liefke, who declined to serve after his election last week. The head of the organization now is August Lange, the vice chairman. The executive committee will select a new chairman at a meeting to be called by Mr. Allen some night this week. No names have been talked of in connection with the vacancy.

The Fourth ward reformers are busy planning a mass meeting, as well as an election. It is the intention to hold the gathering about the second week in September, in Reform Hall. J. F. Goldenhorn, of Jersey City, will be the chief speaker.

Some of the Fourth ward Colbyites are suggesting the advisability of holding district meetings in the districts, instead of a big ward meeting, out of the ward. Where the meetings would be held, unless in the open, is a problem. Hope chapel and Monroe Avenue church lecture rooms would afford room for good sized gatherings, but it is doubtful if the churchmen would consent to allow a political gathering in them.

MENAGERIAL JEST.

E. S. Hooley Gets Bear and Leopard Cubs By Express.

When a ventilated box that was delivered at his house by the express company was opened by E. S. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, a few days ago and a fuzzy little bear cub was disclosed. Mr. Hooley was perplexed, but not displeased. Some friend was evidently sending him a memento of a Western trip, and it had an entertaining aspect. The cub was chained up, and Mr. Hooley waited to hear from the unknown donor.

Thursday, the expressman brought another ventilated box to the house. Mr. Hooley's smile of welcome faded as he peered into the vent holes. A baby leopard reposed within. Mr. Hooley politely but firmly refused to accept the box. The express company shipped it back to the sender.

Mr. Hooley has no idea who has been sending him the animals, but he supposed some friend thought it would be a good joke to unload a juvenile menagerie.

Thomas Chuck, Jr., of New York, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] P. Chuck, of West End avenue.

MANHATTAN GIANTS FAILED TO SHOW UP

MULLEN'S PICK-ME-UPS PLAYED IN THEIR PLACE AND LOST.

Somebody started a society crap game in New Brunswick Thursday, and the Manhattan Giants forgot about the ball game they were to play with the All-Americans on Crescent Oval. They were so interested they forgot to send Captain-Manager Carter word, and the Plainfield colored athletes turned out for an almost bootless appearance. It was not quite a useless trip, because Willie Mullen hustled a team together when it became certain the dusky ball tossers from New Brunswick were not coming, and gave the All-Americans something to do. Capt. Carter's mess, 4 to 2.

Willie turned a varigated team loose on the All-Americans. He started to pitch, with Brother Tommy back of the bat, Con Schropfer at first, "Nig" Hand at second, Ikey Elliott at short, and Taylor Mohaffey at third. He started with Pat Connolly, Will Callahan and Johnny Lyness in the field, but Callahan wouldn't stay to the bitter end; He grew peevish and resigned because Joe Garner wouldn't throw the ball where he could hit it.

Willie started to pitch in fairish shape, but hits sneaked in when he wasn't looking, and Mohaffey trotted in to do the rescue act. Despite heroic notions on Taylor's part, the tide remained steadily in the direction of the All-Americans. Garner moved up a bit, but the pick-me-ups wouldn't have scored their second run.

Pat Connolly hung up a record with a lovely single, and sternly resisted the temptation to strike out. He checked such a good bet at the plate that Garner was actually seared of his swatting.

Jack Lynch made a hit as ump. He made decisions unhesitatingly, and only reversed after careful consideration and testimony from the player chiefly interested. Jack grew tired in the seventh, and when he discovered that there was no scorekeeper and he was lord of all the baseball world in sight, he arbitrarily called it the ninth inning, and ordered more strokes and the finish.

Dave Carney drove down to see the Giants perform and cast maledictions on them for their non-appearance. He was hurt over the fizzle, because he gave up a chance to look on William Jennings Bryan at the Democratic reception in New York, just to see the expected game.

NEW WEST END BRIDGE READY IN THREE WEEKS

PROPERTY IMPROVEMENTS IN THAT SECTION TO FOLLOW COMPLETION.

The contractor having charge of the work of building the new bridge on West End avenue over Green brook, expects to complete the job within the next three weeks. The work of covering the three arches with concrete was completed Friday and the gang of Italians were started at once filling in between the arches with cinders and dirt preparatory to macadamizing the roadbed of the structure and laying the concrete walks on either side. The walks are to be ten feet wide. In the meantime the parapet walls on the side of the bridge will be finished.

As the contract calls for two sunken drains on either side of the avenue and on both sides of the brook, to be located fifty feet from the bridge, the avenue will be graded that distance from the bridge on both sides of the brook.

As soon as the bridge is completed, Mayor Smalley, representing the syndicate that proposes to improve the land on the borough side, will start the work of filling in the boulevard in North Plainfield and macadamizing the same from the bridge to Rockview avenue. This work has been held up on account of the bridge construction. As originally planned there will be a roadway on either side of the avenue in the borough, the center being reserved for the row of electric lights and a grass plot. While the avenue in the borough is 100 feet wide, the bridge is about sixty-six feet built to correspond with the width of the avenue on the city side. If at any time in the future the city decides to widen the avenue on the city side to 100 feet, provision is made for putting the extra width on either side of the bridge, which in that case would be the walk, the space now reserved for the walk being thrown into the roadway.

Prominent Railway Citizen Dead.

William Squier, aged ninety-five years, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Lancaster, died suddenly at his home on St. George avenue, Rahway, Friday morning. Death was due to old age. Mr. Squier was for a great many years president of the Passaic Zinc Works. He was of Revolutionary stock and had a long line of distinguished ancestry.

Among the guests registered at the Ardmore, Ocean Grove, is Miss Florence White, of Willow avenue.

ELOPEMENT, NOT MATINEE

Miss Helen Georgie Chamberlain's Mother Got the Wrong Impression.

WEDDED IN WALLKILL

Howard Sheldon Mason and Miss Chamberlain Couldn't Face a Wait of Seven Months and a Protest Wedding.

Miss Helen Georgie Chamberlain left her home at 322 East Fifth street, Saturday, August 25, to go to a matinee in New York, with Howard Sheldon Mason, who lives at No. 141. When her daughter said goodby she started for the train and Mrs. Chamberlain asked her if she wanted anyone to wait up for her upon her return. "Oh, no, I guess not," answered Helen. Mrs. Chamberlain suggested a latch key. "That won't be necessary," said Helen. Mrs. Chamberlain thought she meant she would return on an early train. A letter from Mason in the afternoon delivered explained her daughter's meaning. It was an elopement and not a matinee that Miss Chamberlain and Mason left town for.

The elopement was quite successful. They were married, as they had planned to be, in Wallkill, Ulster county, N. Y., Saturday afternoon. The letter informing Mrs. Chamberlain of the wedding was mailed in town, but it came too late to prevent the marriage. Mrs. Chamberlain received a letter from her daughter on Tuesday confirming the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will spend a short time at Wallkill.

Youthful haste and not parental objection led to the elopement. Their attachment was approved of, and an engagement was announced two weeks ago, but Mrs. Chamberlain insisted that the wedding be deferred until February on account of Miss Chamberlain's youthfulness. Mason and his bride couldn't face the terrible wait of seven months, and the romance of an elopement appealed to Miss Chamberlain.

Mason, who is on a vacation from his position with the New York Telephone Company, Cortlandt street, New York, where he has been employed for several years, met Miss Chamberlain at the depot for a train shortly after noon. Arriving at New York city, the couple took the train at once for Wallkill. Their arrival there aroused no surmises, for they went to the house of J. C. VanKleeck, where Mrs. Chamberlain and her daughter had been spending their vacation. Mrs. Chamberlain had returned to Wallkill only a few days previously. Upon their arrival, the elopers were at once married by the local pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilbur J. Chamberlain. Her father, who died while in the news service of the New York Sun several years ago, was one of the best known journalists in the country. The groom is the son of Henry S. Mason.

REAL ESTATE CHANGES.

A Number of Local Interest Recorded at Elizabeth.

The following local real estate transfers have been recorded at the county clerk's office:

Annie Goldfiam to Stella P. Bedell, southeasterly side West Fifth street, 100 feet northeasterly of Monroe avenue, Plainfield.....$1

Augustine A. Grunow et ux. to Frank Vail, Park avenue, 288 feet southeasterly of Ninth street, Plainfield $1

Mary E. McCarthy et al. to Bennet Brittin, Everett place, 310 feet northerly of Dunellen avenue, Plainfield $1

C. Frank French et al. to Louis F. Hersh et al., northeasterly corner Second and Centre streets, Plainfield $4,725

Daniel Hogan, Jr., et ux. to Morris Abrams, New street, corner Seventh Day Baptist church, Plainfield...$1

Gertrude M. Fenno to Henry Wrage, westerly side Richmond street, 262 feet southerly of Putnam street, Plainfield $1

J. Fred MacDonald et ux. to Wm. Netherwood, northwesterly side North avenue, 150 feet southwesterly of Frederick street, Plainfield..$1

Newton B. Smalley et ux. to Maud A. Huntsman, southerly side Watchung avenue, corner Pine street, Plainfield, $7,000.

E. Frank Vail et ux. to Daniel Runkle, Hillside avenue, corner Highland avenue, Plainfield.....$1

Berkeley Heights Association to Teresa Brancati northeasterly side West Front street, 30 feet of Prescott place, Plainfield $1

This contract has also been filed:

Annie M. Looser with Henry Hoffman, entire work new building, East Seventh street, Plainfield....$2,600

Central's Prosperous Month.

The statement by the New Jersey Central for July shows the following increases over the report for the corresponding period in 1905: Receipts, $142,142.68; operating expenses, $70,588.13; net income, $72,-186.56; renewals, additions and improvements, $31,957.85; fixed charges and taxes, $22,801.81; total from income, $54,759.66, an increase in surplus of $17,396.90.

Mrs. B. F. Coriell, of West Fifth street, who has been at Ocean Grove, has returned home.

VAN NESS PLEADED GUILTY; SCORED BY MAYOR SMALLEY

AFTER A WITHERING REBUKE FROM HIS HONOR HE IS FINED.

The final chapter in the argument between Abraham King, Lewis Van Ness and Mrs. W. H. Vandervoort, during which King was assaulted, was enacted in the borough court, Wednesday, when Van Ness was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty and after the most scathing lecture His Honor has given a defendant in several days, he was fined $10. The amount was promptly paid.

A big crowd filled the court room at the hearing and especial interest was felt in the sentence because of the relations between the two men in North Plainfield politics. Before imposing sentence, the Mayor spoke of this and said that the fact that there had been political animosity between them in the last campaign put him in a hard position as the case came on. Van Ness was an active worker against the election of Mayor Smalley during the campaign and at the polls. The Mayor said that he felt that he was being watched in the case because of the opportunity it offered for "getting back" at the prisoner.

"If I impose too heavy a fine," he said, "it will be construed that I am trying for revenge. If, on the other hand, I let you off with a light sentence, or if I discharge the case, there will be talk, because I might be suspected of trying to fix things up with you. I am going to try this case in a public manner, however, and I think that as a result of your disgraceful conduct with Mrs. Vandervoort and King on Somerset street here in the borough Monday evening, the fine is a just one. It would be easy for me to discharge you without a fine, for the police have authorities they left town, but it came too late to prevent the marriage. Mrs. Chamberlain received a letter from her daughter on Tuesday confirming the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Mason will spend a short time at Wallkill.

Youthful haste and not parental objection led to the elopement. Their attachment was approved of, and an engagement was announced two weeks ago, but Mrs. Chamberlain insisted that the wedding be deferred until February on account of Miss Chamberlain's youthfulness. Mason and his bride couldn't face the terrible wait of seven months, and the romance of an elopement appealed to Miss Chamberlain.

Mason, who is on a vacation from his position with the New York Telephone Company, Cortlandt street, New York, where he has been employed for several years, met Miss Chamberlain at the depot for a train shortly after noon. Arriving at New York city, the couple took the train at once for Wallkill. Their arrival there aroused no surmises, for they went to the house of J. C. VanKleeck, where Mrs. Chamberlain and her daughter had been spending their vacation. Mrs. Chamberlain had returned to Wallkill only a few days previously. Upon their arrival, the elopers were at once married by the local pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilbur J. Chamberlain. Her father, who died while in the news service of the New York Sun several years ago, was one of the best known journalists in the country. The groom is the son of Henry S. Mason.

REAL ESTATE CHANGES.

A Number of Local Interest Recorded at Elizabeth.

The following local real estate transfers have been recorded at the county clerk's office:

Annie Goldfiam to Stella P. Bedell, southeasterly side West Fifth street, 100 feet northeasterly of Monroe avenue, Plainfield.....$1

Augustine A. Grunow et ux. to Frank Vail, Park avenue, 288 feet southeasterly of Ninth street, Plainfield $1

Mary E. McCarthy et al. to Bennet Brittin, Everett place, 310 feet northerly of Dunellen avenue, Plainfield $1

C. Frank French et al. to Louis F. Hersh et al., northeasterly corner Second and Centre streets, Plainfield $4,725

Daniel Hogan, Jr., et ux. to Morris Abrams, New street, corner Seventh Day Baptist church, Plainfield...$1

Gertrude M. Fenno to Henry Wrage, westerly side Richmond street, 262 feet southerly of Putnam street, Plainfield $1

J. Fred MacDonald et ux. to Wm. Netherwood, northwesterly side North avenue, 150 feet southwesterly of Frederick street, Plainfield..$1

Newton B. Smalley et ux. to Maud A. Huntsman, southerly side Watchung avenue, corner Pine street, Plainfield, $7,000.

E. Frank Vail et ux. to Daniel Runkle, Hillside avenue, corner Highland avenue, Plainfield.....$1

Berkeley Heights Association to Teresa Brancati northeasterly side West Front street, 30 feet of Prescott place, Plainfield $1

This contract has also been filed:

Annie M. Looser with Henry Hoffman, entire work new building, East Seventh street, Plainfield....$2,600

Central's Prosperous Month.

The statement by the New Jersey Central for July shows the following increases over the report for the corresponding period in 1905: Receipts, $142,142.68; operating expenses, $70,588.13; net income, $72,-186.56; renewals, additions and improvements, $31,957.85; fixed charges and taxes, $22,801.81; total from income, $54,759.66, an increase in surplus of $17,396.90.

Mrs. B. F. Coriell, of West Fifth street, who has been at Ocean Grove, has returned home.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL MAILS

Postmaster Bird Arranges to Have Two More From New York at Night.

OTHERS ARE IN VIEW

Clerk To Remain At Office Over Night and Attend to the Assorting.

Postmaster E. H. Bird, who is convinced that nothing is the post office department is too good for Plainfield, and who has been successful in his efforts to secure additional quarters and better mail facilities through the appointment of two additional letter-carriers, has just completed another arrangement which will be of great benefit to Plainfield in the way of additional mail service.

Commencing on Tuesday, September 5, a clerk will be on duty at the post office all night to receive two additional mails which Mr. Bird has arranged for with Superintendent Bradley of the railway mail service. These mails will arrive in Plainfield from New York at 5:50 and 11:26 at night and Elmer Squier, the clerk, who has been assigned to the night work, will assort the mail and have it all ready for the letter-carriers when they go on duty in the morning, thus facilitating the delivery of it. For the present there will be no change in the out-going mail, the last mail closing at 7:45, as usual, but Mr. Bird hopes eventually to secure additional mails to New York and other points after that hour, later on.

Mr. Bird went to New York yesterday and had a conference with Superintendent Bradley about the additional mail service and found that official only too glad to assist him in his plans.

Before Mr. Bird left for home he promised to start the new arrangement Tuesday, September 5.

Strange as it may seem, according to the present arrangement, the last mail for Plainfield closes at the New York postoffice at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The mail is put on mail wagons a half-hour later in time to be put on the train leaving Jersey City at 4 o'clock. This is the mail that reaches Plainfield at 5:04 and which is commonly known as the "5:30 mail."

With the new arrangement Plainfield will get two extra-mails at night which will be promptly delivered the first thing the next morning. If there should be any special delivery letters in the mail reaching Plainfield at 5:50 o'clock in the morning and it will be delivered that night, a special delivery messenger remaining on duty until after that mail is assorted at the postoffice.

According to present rules two carriers reach the postoffice at 6:30 o'clock in the morning and the rest of them get there from 5:30 to 5:45. If the mail, which comes in during the night, is assorted for them, it will be comparatively easy for the carriers to assort the first morning mail in and get out much earlier than at present. Now the mail addressed to Plainfielders after 3 o'clock in the afternoon is held at the New York postoffice and sent out on the first mail in the morning. This is often very heavy and much delay follows in assorting it ready for delivery. The change will be appreciated by Plainfielders and will be another step in giving this city a service second to none. The 5:50 and 11:26 night trains carry mail to other points along the New Jersey Central and it will be an easy matter to drop the Plainfield mail off here. Mr. Bird has other improvements in mind which he hopes to secure in the near future.

ANGRY AT CARNIVAL MAN.

W. S. Miller Faces Suit By Washington Juniors.

For his failure to keep his contract and settlement with his associates, at Washington, W. S. Miller, the man who furnished the shows for the two hospital carnivals here, faces the likelihood of a damage suit. The Juniors of Washington were arranging to hold the carnival, and when Miller proved to some to Washington next week they made all arrangements for the affair. Miller has been showing in Dover, and he suddenly sent word to Washington men, yesterday, that he could not come to their place.

It is alleged that he broke his contract because he saw an opportunity to make more money in an extra week at Dover. Miller claims that he does not dare come to Washington, because Frank Aten, a merry-go-round man with whom he had trouble, lives there and his threatened to do all sorts of things if he catches him and his shows in his home town. Aten denies that he made any such threats.

Digging Gas Trenches.

The P. S. C. construction gang that is laying supply pipes for gas service from Dunellen to this city has reached this district. The men have begun to dig ditches along Park avenue at the city line. They are using a trench-digging machine, that is capable of opening three to four miles of trenches a day in soil of fair character. The machine cannot be used in the heart of the city, where other pipes might be encountered in digging.

J. A. Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, was among the Plainfielders who attended the reception given to William J. Bryan in New York, last night, at Madison Square Garden.

RAN FROM ANGRY MOTHER

Mc Graft Feared to Face the Charge Brought by Young Girl.

CHASE IN BOUND BROOK

Fugitive Captured and Arraigned, But Court Finds It Can't Hold Him Under Charge Made In Pennsylvania.

Nicholas McGraft, an employe of the Pond Tool Works, caused a lot of excitement in Bound Brook, where he makes his home, Tuesday night, in an effort to get away from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peters, of South Bethlehem, Pa., who had served on him a warrant sworn out in South Bethlehem, by Mrs. and Mrs. Peters, of Miss Julia Peters, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Peters by another husband.

McGraft came here about three months ago and secured work in the Pond Tool Works. Mr. and Mrs. Peters went there and found McGraft just as he was leaving the shop. They called a policeman, but McGraft agreed to go along with them quietly to South Bethlehem. He went with them to Bound Brook by trolley, but at the Lehigh Valley station he made a break and ran in the direction of South Bound Brook.

Peters, his wife, and several others started in pursuit. They kept close upon the fleeing man's heels and finally caught up to him, when he entered Gates' grocery store, near the railroad bridge, and hid behind the counter and asked the clerk to protect him. The clerk was frightened, not knowing what the trouble was. Ex-Mayor Kochlein was in the store, and as the excited crowd came in he telephoned for a marshal. He could get no officer from South Bound Brook nor from Bound Brook, so he started off with the fugitive and the crowd. They were met by Marshals Plammer and Friday. Recorder Brampton was called to pass upon the case. Peters produced a warrant for McGraft, but the recorder stated that he had no jurisdiction, for the crime, if any, had been committed in another State. McGraft was discharged.

A large crowd waited on the outside of the court room to get a sight of the man in the dock, but he got away by walking down the street with ex-Mayor Kochlein. He boarded a trolley car for Plainfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Peters were compelled to wait until yesterday morning for a train to take them to their home.

FRAUD IS ALLEGED IN LAND TRANSFER

SUIT BROUGHT BY FIRM TO RECOVER FROM PLAINFIELDERS.

Suit was commenced in the Court of Chancery Wednesday by John S. Silvers, William S. Silvers and Ezekiel S. Barclay, partners, trading as J. S. Silvers Bro. & Co., against James E. Totten and John Walter Mundy, of this city, to recover on a judgment. It is alleged the defendants fraudently transferred certain lands against which a judgment had been granted.

The complainants claim that they sold the defendant, Totten, goods and spices to the extent of $190, for which the latter give a promissory note signed by himself and endorsed by J. W. Mundy. The bill of complaint declares that the defendants refused to pay the debt upon the maturing of the note and that for this reason the complainants secured a judgment against both defendants for the amount due in the city district court. After the judgment was granted and execution served the bill of the complainants amounted to $261.67.

Totten, according to the bill of complainant, transferred certain lands in Union county to Katherine S. Totten after the judgment was secured.

Mundy is also charged, together with his wife, of transferring land in Plainfield to Joseph W. Graham, also of this city. The complainants allege that these transfers were made to defraud them from receiving their just debts.

The court is asked that a receiver be appointed to collect the rents of said property and to sell it if necessary to sell the same. The court is also asked for a writ of injunction restraining the defendants from disposing of the lands in question.

Same Officers Re-elected.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting of the Board of Visitors of the Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association, held at fire headquarters last evening. The balloting resulted in the re-election of Chairman G. W. Clark and Secretary L. M. Dunavan, who served in the same capacity during the year just concluded. Four of the six members of the committee were present, and Chief T. O. Doane, as ex-officio member of the committee, was also at the meeting.

Mrs. J. D. Hedden, of Summit avenue, is very ill at her home.

JOHN B. BROWN'S FUNERAL

Large Gathering Attended the Service at the Late Home Yesterday.

DR. WHITNEY'S TRIBUTE

As a Lifelong Friend Was Enabled To Tell of His Many Christian Traits.

There was a large gathering of relatives, friends and neighbors at the funeral services of John Bayard Brown held at the late home on Park avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and noticeably many elderly persons who had known Mr. Brown for years, and who held him in high esteem for his admirable traits and exemplary Christian life.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, president-emeritus of Centenary Institute, and who was pastor of the First M. E. church in 1867-68, of which Mr. Brown was an active member, conducted the services, assisted by the present pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, who came from Asbury Park, where he is sojourning. Mr. McCrea read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer. The address was made by Dr. Whitney, who, knowing Mr. Brown for so long a time, was well able to speak concerning him and his life.

At the commencement of his address, Dr. Whitney gave a brief account of Mr. Brown's life, from his birth to the time of his death. He then spoke of him as a citizen, highly respected by his fellowmen, of his faithful services as a member *of the Common Council and other of*fices. He referred to his modesty, gentleness and unassuming manner, yet exceptionally strong character. He mentioned the remarkable incident when three parties—republican, Democratic and Temperance joined in asking him to take the nomination for Mayor, and he declined. Dr. Whitney used this as an illustration of the high esteem and confidence reposed in Mr. Brown.

Dr. Whitney also spoke of Mr. Brown's service in the church of which he was pastor, and told of the various positions of honor and trust held by him so faithfully and conscientiously. Mention was also made of Mr. Brown's love for his mother, as evidenced in his autobiography. There he referred to her strong and helpful influence which had been of so much benefit to him. It was there recorded that he joined the church at the age of eighteen years, and Dr. Whitney told how he had always retained his interest in its work up to the time of his death.

Reference was made also by Dr. Whitney to the unusual loving home of Mr. Brown, of which he thought so much, and added that as he made no suggestions it be more than he was there was a great deal in him and he always stood for the best things. In conclusion Dr. Whitney referred to the future life, which he said that Mr. Brown had gone to enjoy, and pictured its glories and rewards for those who remain faithful unto death. Words of comfort were also spoken for the bereaved daughter, who is left alone in the home.

There was a beautiful display of floral tributes from friends and neighbors. The interment was at Hillside cemetery, and Dr. Whitney officiated there. The pall-bearers were Dr. George W. Endicott, Dr. Edward Rushmore, Howard A. Pope, Thomas S. Armstrong, Joseph A. Hubbard and Chief T. O. Doane, all old friends of Mr. Brown.

WOMAN HEADS ENTERPRISE.

Has Started a Graphite Plant, Which Promises Success.

Miss Flda Woodward, of Philadelphia, has established at High Bridge, the Raritan Graphite Company. A mill has been built and equipped with machinery, and between sixty and one hundred men will be employed.

Miss Woodward is the daughter of the late Henry Woodward, of Philadelphia, who about a quarter of a century ago operated a plumbago mill at Stony Hill.

It is said that the quantity of graphite is inexhaustible, the ore producing from 10 to 15 per cent. of pure graphite. The deposit extends to a depth of 500 feet. The company expects to mine seventy tons daily, working night and day shifts.

Another Civil Service Examination.

Another civil service examination will be held at the local postoffice early in October for those seeking position in the postal service as clerks or letter-carriers. At the recent examination there were four candidates. No report has been received as yet from Washington regarding their examination. The appointment of two regulars from the substitute force will necessitate the employment of additional substitutes.

Ads For the Asking.

There is an odd ads strung from a wire across the street in front of the Rushmore Dynamo Works on South avenue. It reads: "Compressed air On Tap; Come In and Blow Up."

Albert Utzinger, of Grandview avenue, has planned to spend Sunday and Labor Day at Holyoke, Mass.

PERSONAL.

August Snyder, of Washington, has been visiting friends in this city.

Harry Brown, of Harrison avenue, is visiting friends at Barnegat.

Mrs. L. E. Cole, of West Front street, has returned from her summer outing.

Miss Clyde Burnet, of Madison avenue, has returned from her outing in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, of Crescent avenue, are home from their summer outing.

Dr. Charles Davis, of Park avenue, has returned from his summer outing in the mountains.

The Misses Marsh, of Madison avenue, have returned from their outing in the Catskills.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street, returned home yesterday from their outing.

Miss Margaret Cramer, of Park avenue, will spend Sunday and Labor Day at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue, have returned from their summer outing.

Miss Etta Randolph, of West Front street, has returned from her vacation spent in Rhode Island.

Freeholder William A. Westphal has returned from a visit with his son and daughter in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barrows, of West Eighth street, who have been sojourning in Maine, have returned.

Mrs. H. W. Marshall, of Grant avenue, who has been abroad for several weeks, sailed last Saturday for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. French, of First place, who have been sojourning at Cape May, have returned.

Miss Mabel Gardner, of Orange place, has returned home from a two weeks' vacation spent in Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Coddington, of Mountain avenue, are spending a week with friends at Bridgeport, Conn.

Elston Leonard, of Madison avenue, will spend tomorrow and Sunday at Asbury Park, returning home on Monday.

John Robertson, of Boston, has been spending a few days with Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, of East Seventh street.

Miss Jennie Anderson, of Somerville, who has been spending several days with friends in town, has returned home.

The Misses Morgan, of Madison avenue, are home from Seabright, where they have been enjoying the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Hall, of Woodland avenue, who have been spending the summer at Moosehead Lake, Maine, have returned.

Miss Minnie Piker, of West Front street, has returned from her summer vacation.

Frank Eick, of East Third street, has returned from a visit with relatives at Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Laing, of North Plainfield, who have been sojourning in Maine, have returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, of Watchung avenue, have returned from their summer outing.

Miss Stella Good, of North Branch, has been entertaining her cousin, Miss Florence Hunt, of this city.

H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street, who has been spending his vacation in Maine, returned home yesterday.

Miss Margaret Yeager, of Webster place, who has been spending her vacation at Mt. Pocono, Pa., has returned home.

Leslie Backer and Miss Mildred Stiles, of East Sixth street, have been visiting G. H. Dalley, of Whitehouse.

Miss Stephanie Krom, of this city, who has been spending the summer near Bound Brook, has returned home.

Mrs. Randolph Marsh, Jr., and daughter, Edith, of John street, are visiting relatives at Sunnyside, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. Helena B. Updyke and George S. Whitlock, of West Front street, have been visiting the Misses Whitlock, of Rocky Hill.

Miss Ethel Bonner, who has been visiting Miss Alice Higgins, of West Front street, has returned to her home in Hartford, Conn.

Miss Jennie Saunders, and her cousin, Miss Pickney, of Philadelphia, are visiting former Mayor W. L. Saunders, of North Plainfield.

Mr. A. V. Lunger, of Watchung avenue, has returned home after spending a pleasant week with relatives at Sunnyside, Hunterdon county.

Elmer D. Cutting, of Orchard place, left yesterday for Lyme Center, New Hampshire, where he will spend a week at the home of his parents.

Rev. Asa R. Dilts, formerly pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, but now of Massachusetts, has been visiting friends in this city and Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Runkle are expected home early this month from their summer outing at Lake Champlain, when they will occupy their newly-purchased home in Netherwood.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Musson, of West Front street, who have been spending a month in the Catskills, are expected home in a few days.

Mrs. L. R. Ross, of East Seventh street, has returned home from Haines Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White, of Fairview avenue, who are spending the summer in Plainfield, expect to go south early in the fall, where they will remain during the winter.

J. C. Martin and family, of Duer street, have returned from their vacation spent with relatives at Bangor, Pa.

Miss Dorothy Wells, daughter of Mrs. H. Wells, of Washington avenue, is taking a trip abroad with friends.

Mrs. John Valiant, of Myrtle avenue, has returned from Squirrel Island, Me., where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lancaster, of Leslie avenue, are spending several days with friends in Brooklyn. They will return next Tuesday.

Arthur E. Crone, assistant cashier at the City National Bank, accompanied by Mrs. Crone and son, of College place, has left for Canada, where he will spend his vacation at the Lake of Bays.

F. G. Sherman, superintendent of telegraph on the New Jersey Central, and Mrs. Sherman, of Westervelt avenue, will return home tomorrow from Pulaski, N. Y., where they have been spending the summer.

Mrs. E. H. Bird, wife of Postmaster Bird, is suffering with an attack of quinsy sore throat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Osgood, of the borough, who have been spending the summer at Ocean Grove, are expected to return home next week.

City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, who was granted two months' vacation by the Common Council, will return to his official position September 15.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nickerson, of Carlton avenue, who are spending the summer in New Hampshire, are expected to return to Plainfield early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lance Mundy, of Arlington avenue, who have been visiting their son, Clarence Mundy, at Winthrop Highlands, Mass., have returned home.

Miss Elizabeth Saunders, of Orchard place, who has been spending two weeks at the Cataract House, Delaware Water Gap, will return home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leal, of Central avenue, who have been spending the summer in Maine, are now taking a short visit in Massachusetts, before returning home.

W. H. Olmstead, of East Fifth street, has returned from Point Pleasant.

Miss Mary A. St. John, of Division street, has returned from a stay at Leonardsville, N. Y.

Miss May McKissick, of this city, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Polhemus, of Rocky Hill.

Mrs. W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, who has been sojourning at Asbury Park, has returned.

Mrs. Albert Lederer and daughters, of the New Madison, are sojourning at Point Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Smith, of West Fourth street, have returned from their sojourn at Ocean Grove.

Miss Alice Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, has returned home from a month's stay in East Windham, N. Y.

Mrs. Lewis Sheppard and son, Edward and family, of this city, have been visiting friends at Glen Gardner.

Mrs. Henry J. Mooney and Miss Edith A. Mooney, of Westfield, are registered at the Ellerslie, Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Townsend, of Kensington avenue, have returned from their outing at Asbury Park.

Mrs. James L. Slevin and daughters, the Misses Slevin, of Franklin place, have returned from their summer outing.

Miss Ethel J. Reynolds, of Summit avenue, is spending two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Annette Greenleaf, of Perth Amboy.

Miss Elsie Drake, of Somerset street, has returned after spending the month of August with her grandmother, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, of Syracuse, N. Y.

Howard and Walter Debele, sons of William G. Debele, of Somerset street, left today for Atlantic City, where they will spend a week with their aunt, Mrs. Carrie J. Debele.

Rev. William Bryce Morrow, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. VanDyke, of East Fifth street, enjoyed a trolley ride to Somerville yesterday. They visited Mrs. VanDyke's daughter, Mrs. W. D. Bauer, of that place.

Secretary J. H. Manning, of the Y. M. C. A., returned from his vacation today. He spent it with his family on a Sussex county farm. Mr. Manning will retire as secretary of the Association, to be succeeded by Kenneth Robbie, on October 1.

Will Grant Naturalization Papers.

Judge Edward S. Atwater, of the Court of Common Pleas, has announced that commencing on Monday, September 10, and continuing every morning for that week, he will sit to grant naturalization papers to those who have already made application for them to County Clerk James C. Calvert.

New Cross Walk.

A new cross walk is being laid before police headquarters, on East Front street. The present walk is not heavy enough for the traffic.

CRACKSMEN AT LINCOLN

Dynamite the Postoffice Safe But Failed to Get Any Plunder.

NOISE DROVE THEM OFF

Robbers Exchanged Shots With Grocery man Bernstein—Escaped to Mountains in the Excitement.

Another attempt was made to rob the Lincoln postoffice early Saturday morning, when two men broke into the building and dynamited the safe. The use of the explosive was unsuccessful, however, for the heavy door was not broken. The noise caused the burglars to fear interruption and take to flight, without making another stroke. As far as is known, they got nothing.

M. S. Bernstein, who keeps a grocery store across the street from the post office, was aroused at 1 o'clock this morning by the sound of a heavy report. He ran to a front window just in time to see two men come out of the building. He fired on them with his revolver and they returned the shots, hitting the house and shattering a window pane. Eleven shots were fired in all, Bernstein emptying the five chambers of his revolver and the burglars firing six shots. From the way the men ran after the shooting, it is evident that no one was hit.

Bernstein telephoned to Postmaster Ellis L. Drake at Beechwood Heights and the two men, with other Lincolnites who had been aroused by the shooting, made an examination of the building. The investigation showed that an attempt had been made to break open the safe with dynamite, but the robbers had been unsuccessful, for the door did not open. The men had made an entrance to the office through a side window. The dynamite had been used in a large charge, and the explosion had been muffled by the use of feed bags with which the safe had been covered. While but little injury was done to the safe, the office was badly damaged by the dynamite, which tore a large hole in the ceiling. In the safe was about $800 in money and stamps.

In the excitement of the shooting no one pursued the robbers, who ran toward the mountain. Postmaster Drake immediately notified the police at Plainfield, Dunellen and Bound Brook, and the robbers, and this morning a man was arrested in Dunellen on suspicion. Constable Robert L. Pierce got him, but he gave a connected account of himself and his actions during the night and there was no evidence on which to hold him. He was let go shortly after his arrest.

On July 13, of last year, burglars broke into the postoffice at Lincoln and secured about $300 in stamps and money, with papers from Postmaster Drake's office. The building was badly damaged at that time.

A general description of the men was furnished by the Lincoln police. The pair were recognized by Bernstein as the men who had come into the village early in the evening. They posed as real estate investors. One was short and stocky built, about five feet eight inches in height, with a heavy black mustache. He wore dark clothes and a black derby. The other man was taller, and wore dark clothes and a flat straw hat. They both carried satchels. The shorter one talked like a Canadian.

Patrolman Messler reported at headquarters at 2:30 o'clock that two men rode through Lincoln on a freight going East. Desk Officer McCarthy discovered that the train was No. 70, which went through Lincoln at 3:14. McCarthy wired to Elizabeth, but the police there reported back, after the train had been stopped and searched, that no one but the crew could be found on it.

CROWD WAS "TIGHT."

As a Result Ben LaVere Lost On Friday Night's Concert.

It was another case of "I'd Rather Be On the Outside A-Lookin' In Than On the Inside A-Lookin' Out" at the weekly band concert by La Vere's band at Concert Park Friday night. There was a good crowd in the grounds, but scarcely more than 200 people on the grandstand. The collection from the outsiders amounted to $3.50, an average of about ten for a cent; but the music must have been appreciated at that price.

The soloists made the hit of the evening. Ernest R. Ball and Dave Reed, authors and composers of "Will You Love Me in December As You Do In May?" and "Love Me and the World Is Mine," sang these songs. Mr. La Vere announced this morning that he had lost $25 by the concert last evening, thus running further in the hole on the season's concerts. Local Italians, through Salve Velard have come to LaVere with an offer to put on fireworks during the remaining concerts of the season to help out the financial difficulty. Ben has accepted their offer and thinks that it may help some.

John DeMeza Resigns His Position.

John DeMeza, who has been chief clerk to Manager C. W. Runyon, of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company at the local office, has resigned his position on account of poor health. He has no definite plans for the future.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING

Board of Education Discusses Outside Tuition Fees and Other Matters.

NEW TEACHER ENGAGED

Miss Annie Perry, of Saratoga Springs, Will Succeed Miss Hill In Grammar Department.

Anticipating the entrance of several pupils from the outlying districts near North Plainfield into the High School department of the borough schools, the question of the tuition for such pupils as provided for under the new State law was dealt with at some length at the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education Friday night, in accordance with a recent ruling of the State Board of Education regarding the tuition of out of town pupils, it has been decreed that the district committee may transfer pupils to a high school in the same county after certain examinations have been passed. The State board pays $25 a year for the tuition of such pupils under the new ruling. This is a reduction of the tuition charged at present for out of town pupils who attend the borough schools. After a discussion by the members of the board, it was decided to put the matter into the hands of the finance committee to decide upon. This committee consists of Nelson A. Miller, chairman, Allen B. Laing and Samuel Townsend, who have been empowered, upon motion of Dr. Cooley, to arrange the rates of tuition for the pupils transferred to the Somerset school from other districts.

In connection with a report of the teachers' committee, President Joy reported that Miss Ruth C. Hill, of the grammar department, had tendered her resignation in July. Miss Hill has been teacher in the Fifth grade for the past five years, and is leaving to fill a similar position elsewhere. Upon the recommendation of the committee a motion made by Dr. Cooley that Miss Annie C. Perry, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., be appointed to fill the position, was passed. Miss Perry has been teaching for the past ten years at Corinth, N. Y. She is a graduate of the Plattsburg Normal School, having secured preparatory training at Lansingburg Academy.

On motion of Nelson A. Miller, of the finance committee, warrants for the payment of $5,167.88 in bills were ordered signed. He reported a balance of slightly more than $4,000 on hand and it was ordered that the Board of Education arrange for a loan to raise the portion on which to hold him. He was let go shortly after his arrest.

On July 13, of last year, burglars broke into the postoffice at Lincoln and secured about $300 in stamps and money, with papers from Postmaster Drake's office. The building was badly damaged at that time.

A general description of the men was furnished by the Lincoln police. The pair were recognized by Bernstein as the men who had come into the village early in the evening. They posed as real estate investors. One was short and stocky built, about five feet eight inches in height, with a heavy black mustache. He wore dark clothes and a black derby. The other man was taller, and wore dark clothes and a flat straw hat. They both carried satchels. The shorter one talked like a Canadian.

Patrolman Messler reported at headquarters at 2:30 o'clock that two men rode through Lincoln on a freight going East. Desk Officer McCarthy discovered that the train was No. 70, which went through Lincoln at 3:14. McCarthy wired to Elizabeth, but the police there reported back, after the train had been stopped and searched, that no one but the crew could be found on it.

Harrridge School Re-opening.

Miss Emelyn B. Hartridge will reopen her private schools at 303 East Seventh street, on Wednesday, September 12. Classes will be resumed at the same place, 303 East Seventh street, on Wednesday, September 19. Indications point to an unusually successful year.

Petit Jurors Drawn.

Sheriff Cooper, has drawn the following North Plainfieldites to serve on the petit jury during the fall term of court: Frederick C. Gibbs, Silas Winans, Alex. Stites, William J. Ricket, James R. Blair, Charles Meyers, William L. Smalley, Jr., George H. Medick, Melvin B. Cleaver and Amos E. Giddis. Those from Warren township are William Miller, Edward H. Cooper, Henry L. Kline, George S. Adams.

A. L. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, has returned from a stay at Philadelphia.

Hold-Up Man Acknowledges He Is An Ex-Convict.

HIS NAME IS MONAHAN

Romantically Inclined Store Girls Make a Hero of Him—Gifts of Fruit and a Clean Shirt.

Chief of Police Kiely returned from his vacation Saturday, and he turned the stored-up energy accumulated in two weeks at Atlantic City into an examination of Joseph Collins, the hold-up man. The prisoner's reticent and evasions broke down before the onslaught, and he told enough about himself to remove the doubt as to his status in the criminal world and the name he ought to go by.

He acknowledged, to begin with, that he was an ex-convict. Having relieved his mind of that important bit of information, he confessed that his name was not Collins, but Monahan—Thomas Francis Monahan. He was arrested four years ago for obtaining money under false pretenses in Jersey City, he said, and served three years in State prison for the crime.

According to the formal statement Monohan finally made, he belongs in Jersey City, where several brothers and sisters now live. His parents are dead. He was arrested there while in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad, for demanding money from a woman who was supposed to have been stealing coal from the road. She exposed him, and arrest, conviction and imprisonment followed. He left prison last March, and had been Reboing from that time until he fell into the hands of Patrolman Dobson after the hold-up at Leland avenue.

Until Chief Kiely got at him, Monohan refused to make any statement regarding himself. He kept asking for immediate commitment to the county jail, and said he was willing to take his chances as his case stood. Chief Kiely was apprised of Monohan's record as the latter looked up and he and his men made inquiries and observations that gave him something to work on when the actual examination of the prisoner took place Saturday, and the young man decided that he would help his case any by maintaining his stubborn silence.

Monahan's statement brought an end to the necessity for daily remandments. He will be sent to the county jail to await action by the Grand Jury today.

Of late Monahan has ceased to long for a hurry-up transfer to the county jail. He has discovered that a bold, bad man in a cell has something coming to him that the average citizens on the outside of the calaboose can't enjoy, if romantic girls take an interest in him.

The girls in a store near the city jail, have been won by the glamor that surrounds a pinched outlaw, and they are lavishing care and solicitude upon the unfortunate young man who was caught with the goods on.

The girls became interested in Monahan when they first saw him led into the jail through the alley just above Headquarters the day Patrolman Dobson—hateful creature—made the Terror of Netherwood stop eating a handout on the New Providence road, and arrested him. For days they discussed the dark-haired prisoner languishing in his dungeon, breaking his heart over the wild, free days on the plains about the Central Railroad and the Bowery, cut short so crushingly by a prosaic, commonplace writ a Captain Dobson.

They felt that something must be done to cheer the captive up, and Tuesday morning they plucked up courage to send him fruit and a maidenly message of hope.

Next morning he asked permission to leave his cell and wash himself. He was painstaking in his toilet, and Acting-Chief Frederickson, who is remarkably unsuspicious for a sleuth, looked approvingly on Monahan ablutions, and credited him with the virtues of the innately clean. It wasn't until a committee of the girls tripped into Police Headquarters that soon with more frilled eatables that the Acting-Chief awoke to the raison d'etre for Monahan's sudden interest in soap and water and hair brushes. Every day since has witnessed a careful morning grooming by the captive and messages of cheer and sufferings of substantials from the sympathetic maidens. Monday Monahan received a big bouquet. Saturday the girls gave their gifts a practical and womanly turn. They delicately provided the languishing, but slicked-up captive, with a clean shirt. All of them had a share in purchasing it, and there was any shirt wrapped up more tenderly, or with more romance tied with the string.

Monahan says he doesn't care now how often the court remands him.

Day Nursery to Open This Month.

The King's Daughters' Day Nursery in West Third street will be reopened early this month, after being closed during August to give the matron, Mrs. Bird, a needed rest. The baby camp on the mountain will remain open as long as the weather remains favorable.

LITERARY.

The handsome football cover in colors that adorns the September number of The American Boy marks a further step in the very successful effort of the publishers of this magazine to provide what they claim to be "the best boys' paper in the world." The text and illustrations of this number are of the most interesting character. The continued stories by Tomlinson, Stratemeyer, and Alger are the chief features around which the boys' interest will center this month. Other headliners are "The Runaway Rug," an animal story; "The Undertow," the story of a boy's daring; "The Captain's Grit," a baseball story; "A Boy Hero and His Medal," a war story; "Our Pursuit of Old Golden," a hunting story; "The Two Admirals," a story of the ambition of two boys; "The Chase of the Rambler," a sea story; "Mike's Lucky Season," a story of the hunt. Other interesting titles are: "The Boy Acrobats," "Boys as Poets," "My Favorite Sport," "The Shack in the Woods," "Hunting His First Job," "New Football Rules," "How to Make a Wooden Necklace," Biographical Sketch of Daniel Webster, "Catching a Crocodile," and many short items too numerous to mention. The various regular departments of the paper are full of good things: "The Boy Mechanic and Electrician," "The Boy Photographer," "The Amateur Journalist" and "Tangles." The efforts of the publishers to organize boys into bands for literary and athletic pursuits, their efforts to get the paper into the hands of shut-in boys, and their scheme for rewarding boy heroes and boy prize winners in school as set forth in this paper, will not be overlooked by its many readers. 72 illustrations. Subscription price, $1.00 a year. The Sprague Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich.

Musical America has just received word that Jan Sickess, the noted Dutch pianist who visited America on a concert tour, supposed to have been drowned in the Rhine, appeared at Scheveningen, Holland, on August 14, playing there with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, under August Scharrer. Sickess was known as one of the most brilliant of the younger pianists now before the public. Those who have heard him before were not prepared for such an astounding display of virtuosity as he gave on this occasion.

Much has been said about the cost that compounds and but little to the credit, writes Agnes Spaulding in Good Housekeeping. To many persons they seem but new poisons capable only of doing harm. Yet their discovery fifty years ago was and is one of the marvels of science, changing the whole aspect of human interest in minerals to the present-broadening conception of life compounds. From coal tar the chemist is able to imitate some of nature's most intricate compounds. But at best the coal tar products are still imitations, and because they do not always operate as genuine they often disappoint and betray their own names.

It is the speculative side of Wall street that most appeals to the imagination. If we were dealing with that side of Wall street we should not lack for authenticated cases of high dramatic flavor, as, for example, that of a youth of eighteen who ran two dollars into a fortune of $200,000 in a few months, and was last heard of buying for his wife's engagement ring for twenty-five dollars; or that of the farmer who made several millions of dollars from a very modest beginning, slipped a check for $300,000 under the breakfast plate of each member of his family one morning, bore the shocks up because within an hour the riches had become a matter of domestic strife, and was last heard of when one day he brought a load of hay across the ferry from Staten Island to New York and begged his brokers to take it in time for margins for one more "trade."—"Success Magazine."

Celebrated Cotton Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Tunison, at 403 East Fifth street, celebrated their first wedding anniversary on Thursday evening, when they entertained about thirty relatives and friends. The affair, anniversary being a cotton one, the house was attractively decorated with cotton and pink carnations. The evening was spent in a pleasant social way, and Mr. and Mrs. Tunison were the recipient of congratulations from all. They received a number of useful and handsome gifts. Mrs. Tunison was formerly Miss Mabel Leek, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street.

Hugh F. Fox a Delegate.

Hugh F. Fox, of this city, president of the State Charities Aid Association, is among the New Jersey delegates appointed by Governor Stokes to attend the National Prison Association conference to be held at Albany, N. Y., from September 15 to 20. The delegation from New Jersey will be a large one.

Henry Welsh, of Arlington avenue, is recovering from a severe attack of erysipelas.

WILL USE OLD SPELLING

Superintendent Krebs, of Borough Schools, Does Not Favor Carnegie Method.

UNFAIR TO THE PUPILS

Might Serve to Hamper Them in Securing Employment With Men Holding to Prevailing Style.

The Roosevelt-Carnegie system of spelling will not be introduced in the borough schools when they open a week from Tuesday, according to the announcement made by Superintendent James R. Joy and Principal Henry C. Krebs, of the Somerset school last evening. In speaking to a Daily Press reporter about the matter Mr. Krebs said:

"We will not introduce the list of 300 words in the new spelling in our English department this year. There are about twelve of the words which we have been using according to the new spelling in the school and of course these will be kept up. These include such words as "thru," "tho," "program," "catalog," "honor," "parlor" and others of similar character, including some words where the oe and ae diphthong have been changed to a single letter.

"Though this reform may in time gain such ground that we will be obliged to teach it in the schools, we will not hurry to push the reformed spelling until it becomes more universal. I feel that we cannot at this time discard the spelling of St. James Bible and Webster's dictionary in the school here, for it would be in a way unfair to the pupils. In securing positions after graduation, they might get employment with an 'old school' man, who would be against the Roosevelt-Carnegie system and 'the way I was taught in the High School' wouldn't go at all with him.

"I think that the new spelling will gain ground slowly, and when one considers the fact that it took several generations for the King James spelling to come into universal use, it is evident that these new reforms, though of course by no means of such predominance in the language, will come in slowly. The changes in the spelling which we have been permitting in the schools of late and during the past year are such as have gradually crept into the language and which are recognized by the leading dictionaries and cyclopedias of the times as good English."

Superintendent Marmon, of the city schools, and Principal Travell, of the Plainfield High School, are both out of town, and it is not known how they view the spelling reform. It is probable their course will be shaped the same as Superintendent H. C. Krebs.

NEW JERSEY FOURTH.

Captain Semon Wins the Wimbleton Trophy.

New Jersey got fourth honors with Captain H. M. Bells, 45, in the shoot for the Wimbleton trophy at Sea Girt, yesterday. Massachusetts and Ohio divided the honors, the Sixth Massachusetts (capturing the regiment team match and Captain Semon, of Ohio, won the Wimbleton cup, presented by the National Rifle Association of Great Britain.

The regimental team match the Bay State team scored 772, while the Second Ohio got 738 and the First Marine 732, and the 71st New York 730. The match brought out a field of 40 teams of six men each. The New Jersey regiments scored as follows: Fourth, 710; Second, 704; Fifth, 657.

New Rules for R. P. D.

According to a new ruling by the postal authorities in the future carriers on rural delivery routes will not be permitted to carry as express matter for hire or favor any article or package that weighs four pounds or under. The postal laws require that they can only carry them when the required postage has been affixed.

To Build in West End.

Mrs. Anielo Delelio, of Hunter avenue, has secured a permit for the erection of a two story frame house on the corner of McCrea place. The building will measure 24 by 44 feet. Plans were drawn by Architect Fred Lancaster, and the carpenter work will be done by William H. Bird.

Mrs. T. A. Neely and daughters, the Misses May and Bertha Neely, of Pittsburg, have returned home from a week's stay with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, of Watchung avenue.

Will Plan for Fall Work.

The Boys' Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will hold its first fall meeting on Tuesday night, September 11, when plans for the coming season will be discussed. The club was organized this year and during its short existance has increased in membership and the boys have become more interested in church work.

Married in Brooklyn.

At a quiet wedding in Brooklyn, Thursday afternoon, Christian F. Matzen, the West Front street photographer, was married to Miss Annie Pettersen, of that city. The couple are now on their honeymoon and upon their return will reside 227 Columbia avenue, Brooklyn.

OLD WHALING MASTER

CAPT. F. C. SMITH, OF NEW BEDFORD, MASS., A VETERAN.

Has Encircled the Globe Three Times During His Career—Aided in Producing 29,000 Barrels of Oil —Never Shipwrecked.

Boston.—One of the veterans of the sea, who is living in retirement at his home in New Bedford, is Capt. Francis Cottle Smith, who only a short time since celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of his birth.

In a way, Capt. Smith is a remarkable man. He has seen four score years and ten, and yet to-day he is as hale and hearty as many another 20 years his junior. His only infirmity is a slight trouble with his eyes.

He is a Vineyarder by birth, and first saw the light of day in Chilmark, March 16, 1816.

At the age of 16 he went to sea in the old ship Java, out of New Bedford, and in less than nine months the vessel was back in port with 2,000 barrels of oil.

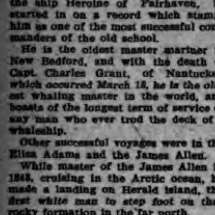
His promotion was rapid, and when in 1839, just after his twenty-third birthday, he was given command of the ship Heroine of Fairhaven, he started in on a career which stamps him as one of the most successful commanders of the old school.

He is the oldest master mariner in New Bedford, and with the death of Capt. Charles Grant, of Nantucket, which occurred March 18, he is the oldest whaling master in the world, and boasts of the longest term of service of any man who ever trod the deck of a whaleship.

Other successful voyages were in the Elisa Adams and the James Allen.

While master of the James Allen in 1848, cruising in the Arctic ocean, he made a landing on Herald island, the first white man to step foot on that rocky formation in the far north.

Another voyage made by this veteran of the sea was in the ship John and



CAPT. FRANCIS C. SMITH.
(He Is One of the Oldest Whaling Masters Living at Present.)

Edward. He was a large owner in this vessel, and when he returned on December 10, 1858, with a valuable cargo he little dreamed that most of it, together with the ship, would go up in flames.

Fortunately the bone had been removed to a store house, but the oil was stored on a wharf at the foot of North street, the same wharf where the John and Edward made her berth. On August 24, 1859, occurred the greatest conflagration ever known in the city of New Bedford and the John and Edward and nearly everything Capt. Smith owned went up in flames.

He then tried his hand at steamboating for a short time, taking command of steamer Mt. Vernon, which plied between New York and Washington, D. C., but he didn't take kindly to this sort of a sea life, and in 1864 he was again found in command of a whaleship, this time master of the ship William Thompson, one of the largest vessels in the whaling fleet.

While cruising in the Kamchatka sea the following year, he was overhauled by the confederate cruiser Shenandoah, the ship and her cargo burned, while he and his crew were held as prisoners on the cruiser. His ship was destroyed on June 21, some time after the civil war had ended.

He was brought down to San Francisco with other whalemen who had suffered similar loss, and, returning home, was given command of the ship Janus December 6 of the same year.

This was his last voyage, and leaving the Janus at Honolulu he returned east and took up his residence on the Vineyard. At one time he was extensively engaged in real estate transactions at Cottage City, and for nine years during his residence on the island he was sheriff of Dukes county.

Capt. Smith was never shipwrecked, but he has had his share of losses.

He has sailed around the world three times, around Cape Horn 11 times, around Cape of Good Hope seven times, whaled it in four of the five oceans on the globe, and during his long service as a sailor has helped in the capture of 29,000 barrels of oil, to say nothing of the whalebone taken when cruising in northern waters.

As a disciplinarian he had few equals in the service, one illustration of which he recently boasts of to-day. While in command of the Gov. Morton, from New York for San Francisco, he encountered a heavy gale off Cape Horn, so disabling the Morton that he was compelled to put in at Montevideo for repairs, and lay in that port four months before the work was completed, and yet in all that time he did not lose a man. Other ships in port usually lost members of their

D. OF A. ANNUAL SESSION TO BE HELD AT TRENTON.

Elaborate Preparations for the Event are Being Made. New Officers Will Be Elected.

Preparations are being made for the convention of the National council of the Daughters of America, which convenes in Trenton Tuesday and Wednesday, October 2 and 3. A large number of delegates from points all over the country will attend and business of much importance is to be transacted.

This is the annual session of the order, which is held for the purpose of auditing the books of the officers, electing new officers, ascertaining the general condition of the order, and for settling on policies tending toward increased growth and efficiency in the attainment of the principles for which the Daughters of America stand.

A full set of officers is to be elected with the exception of treasurer and secretary. The national secretary, Mrs. Max D. Holt, of Columbus, Ohio, and A. M. Vaux, of Washington, D. C., the national treasurer, have been elected for three-year terms.

The Daughters of America is the auxiliary to the Jr. O. U. A. M. and numbers about 15,000 members in the United States. The order is especially strong in Ohio, which has 134 councils and 10,000 members. Maryland comes second with 56 councils and about 7,000 members. Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and New Jersey are also strong in the work. Altogether the order is represented by councils in 30 different States. The order was organized in 1891. It pledges its assistance to the Juniors in every good work and has no divided allegiance. It exists for the purpose of advancing the interests of the Jr. O. U. A. M. only.

PARCELS POST BEING FOUGHT.

Merchants' League Formed at Various Cities With Headquarters at New York.

New York, Sept. 5.—A movement has been started by the merchants, jobbers and manufacturers of the large centres of the country to oppose the efforts to induce Congress to establish a parcels post system. The interests opposed to the plan have combined under the name of the Merchants' League of America and headquarters were opened by the league yesterday at 280 Broadway.

In a statement issued yesterday by the officers of the league it was asserted that the agitation for the parcels post was being fostered by the catalogue mail order firms, which were seeking to saddle on the government, by means of a domestic parcels post system, the bulk of the expense of delivering their goods to purchasers.

The league says that the establishment of a domestic parcels post means the multiplying by many times the already enormous annual deficit of the Postoffice Department, a deficit which increased from less than $1,000,000 in 1902 to more than $14,000,000 for the fiscal year 1908. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, it is believed the deficit will exceed $15,000,000, while competent authorities figure that under a domestic parcels post the annual deficit would reach a total of $150,000,000.

Such a deficit would have to be made good by the government through the taxation of the whole people. Thus summed up, the campaign of these catalogue mail order houses is to compel the small merchants of the country to pay the cost of their own extermination.

May Die As Result of a Dare.

Paterson, Sept. 5.—Joseph Wisdom, twelve years old, may lose his life as the result of a dare. With his brother, Isaac, who is fifteen years old, and other companions, he was swimming yesterday in the Passaic River, on the outskirts of Paterson, when one the boys dared any one in the party to leap from the upper girders of the Lincoln bridge. Joseph accepted the dare. The boy struck a canoe that was passing under the bridge, and was badly cut.

Car Breaks; Many Get Free Coal.

Rahway, Sept. 5.—An eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad coal train, moving at a lively rate, made a special free delivery of coal through Rahway yesterday afternoon, when the fastening of a hopper at the bottom of an car distributed over the tracks for a distance of two blocks sixty tons of stove coal. In less than an hour many men, women, boys and girls had carried home most of the coal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Black and family, of Fairview avenue, have returned home after spending two weeks at Asbury Park. They were registered at the Plaza.

Miss Edith Roseberry, of West Front street, has returned from her vacation.

Mrs. Emma Burr, of Scranton, Pa., returned home yesterday after a visit with her father, Dan E. Roberts, of Prospect place.

Mrs. Lucy Hooley, of 13 Sycamore avenue, the borough, has returned from a sojourn at Seabright.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sandford, of East Front street, have returned from their summer outing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. E. Vanderhoef, of Prospect place, who have been spending their vacation in Canada, have returned home.

KILL BIG SNAKE WITH HAT PIN AND STICKS

Frightened by Bull, Girls Run Upon Huge Reptile and Bravely Offer Battle.

New Haven, Conn.—Miss Phoebe McClure, Miss Ruth Rice and the Misses Grace and Ellen Scott were picking wild flowers in a clump of woods near South Windham when Miss McClure stepped on something soft and thick that rolled under her feet like a piece of rubber. She looked down and saw a hideous black snake squirming and trying to get free.

"Oo-oo-oo-ee-ee-ee! A snake! A snake!" screamed Miss Phoebe the moment she recognized the monster. She also ran away at a high rate of speed. The other girls took up the running. Skirts were whisked out of the way of the good sprinting. The newest styles in summer hosiery gleamed gayly in the sun.

THE FOUR GIRLS ATTACKED THE BIG SNAKE.

The girls leaped a stone wall into a pasture and safety. But the safety was only a dream, for in the midst of the pasture was a big, brown bull highly incensed by the flashes of red in skirts and hosiery and bellowing fiercely as he galloped up to offer battle.

With a last shriek the girls vaulted back to the wood lot and faced the black snake. Confronted with four beautiful victims, the snake was rattled. As he wagged his head from side to side, not decided as to where he should strike first, the girls hit him with long sticks and dropped heavy stones on his head. He was quickly knocked unconscious.

Miss Rice had a long hatpin through the monster and pinned him to the ground. Miss McClure stamped on his head with her sharp French heels.

When the girls were sure that he was very, very dead they gathered up the snake and carried him to the village. He was five feet four inches long.

HELD UP BY BIG PANTHER.

Man and Wife Out Driving in Pennsylvania Pass Through Thrilling Experience.

Cross Fork, Pa.—Held up on the public highway and made prisoners for half an hour by a panther was the adventure which befell Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Crowley.

They were driving to Coudersport and in going through a deep woods their horses shied violently, snorted and attempted to turn around. Mr. Crowley thought a bear had crossed the road ahead of them. He leaped to the horses' heads and then saw, crouched in the middle of the road, not more than 20 feet ahead, an animal of the cat family, which, he declares, was a panther, as it was much too large for a catamount.

The animal squalled frightfully and the horses plunged backward, sending the rear wheels of the carriage over an embankment. Mrs. Crowley leaped out of the vehicle and escaped unhurt. Crowley tried to shoot the panther, but made the aggravating discovery that his pistol was empty.

For half an hour the panther crouched in the road until dawn approached, when it slunk away into the woods. Its arrival at the edge of the road was welcomed by a chorus of squalls and hisses, indicating that it was a female with a litter close at hand. It is suspected for the mother's show of fight.

Woman Kills Big Blacksnake.

Elverton, Pa.—Attracted by the excited barking of her small dog, Mrs. O. H. P. Reimer went to the spot and found that he was having a fight with a large blacksnake. The reptile would make lunges at the dog, but the animal managed to jump aside each time and escape. Arming herself with a garden hoe, Mrs. Reimer attempted to dispatch the reptile, which started for her. As her aim was inaccurate a battle, which lasted 15 minutes, followed. Finally Mrs. Reimer struck the snake back of its head with the blade of the hoe and put it out of the combat.

To Two Kisses, $25 Each—$50.

Jersey City, N. J.—To purloining one kiss—$25, that is the price that Jesus and Manuel Carpenter each had to pay in the first criminal court in Little Italy, pork they met Teresa Bolay. She refused the kisses they asked and they took them.

LOST YOUTH LIVES ON SPOILED FISH

WANDERS FOUR DAYS IN WOODS, BEARS HE IS FOUND.

HIS TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

Nearly Dead from Hunger and Exhaustion—Tantrum Soon Found in Dense and Gloomy Depths of Sullivan Lot.

Chisholm, Minn.—After having been lost in the big woods for four days, John Mantinsky, a ten-year-old boy, has been restored to his parents. He was found by a woman living near the Kinney mines, three and a half miles northeast of Buhl and nine miles from Chisholm. A posse of 50 men scoured the country, but they had discovered no trace of the missing lad, and all hope of finding him alive had been abandoned.

When discovered the boy was gnawing at a crust of bread which he had picked up, and was in a terrible state as a result of hunger and exhaustion. The boy's clothing was torn to tatters by the briers and brambles, and his bare legs were scratched and bleeding. He was desperately hungry, and about to fall from exhaustion and loss of sleep. Mosquitoes had harassed him so continuously day and night that he was able to get but little rest, and his hands, face and legs were blistered and poisoned from the bites of the ravenous insects.

Johnny says that he left home accompanied by his dog, to search for the family cow. He was unable to find the animal, and remained so long in the woods that darkness overtook him and he lost his bearings. He wandered about all night, and when day broke he found himself in a part of the woods with which he was unfamiliar and was unable to determine directions.

About noon, as nearly as he could judge, he lay down to sleep, and when he again awoke it was nearly dark. The dog had curled up by his side, and when he awoke the two again started on their weary march.

On the second day of his aimless wanderings the boy came upon a little shack which apparently had been occupied by fishermen, on the ground were several small, partly cooked fish, and despite the fact that the food was partly spoiled, the boy and dog ate ravenously. They remained in the shack the next day and again set forth. This was the only food the boy has had until he found the crust of bread near the Kinney location.

The dog left the boy on the third day and has not yet returned home. The boy says that two or three times he became utterly discouraged and determined to lie down and die, but two or three hours' rest would bring a revival of courage and again he would set out.

HALF STARVED, THEY FEASTED ON SPOILED FISH.

The searching party was more than five miles from where the boy was found. They did not suppose that a boy of such tender years could have gone so far in a trackless forest. They say that he did not see any wild animals during the time he was lost, but that at night he often heard the bowling of timber wolves.

Bath Costs Him Six Months.

Ithaca.—Prevented by the members of his family from taking a bath at home, Michael Flannigan started out to find a swimming pool near the city. His full dress habit, consisting of a light undershirt and no more, attracted attention, and the police were summoned. When they arrived the man was well on his way to Six Mile creek. After a long chase they found him and brought him back in a horse blanket. He was sent up for six months.

Boys Kill Big Black Bear.

Lake Placid, N. Y.—Hubert Stevens, 16, and Paul Stevens, 18, sons of George A. Stevens, of the Stevens house in this place, killed one of the largest black bears that has been taken in the Adirondacks this season. He was caught in a trap they had set. Though held by one foot, the bear was full of fight, and his desire to fight was increased by pain from the self-inflicted wound where he had bitten his foot in an attempt to get away.

SCIENCE AND THE OCCULT

Possibility That Twentieth Century Knowledge Will Admit Progress from the Unknown.

Will twentieth century knowledge remove the prejudice against the occult? Astronomy and geology and chemistry are permitted to be in the hands of men of science, but life and mind phenomena are supposed to be outside the province of physical science, yet the same was said about astronomy and geology and chemistry not many generations ago. Was not war made upon those who undertook to show that the earth was not more than 6,000 years old, and were not the chemists who showed how organic compounds could be formed believed to be enemies of the truth and bent on misleading mankind? Is it not curious to contemplate that those who know least about a given science should be the ones to set its limits, who know what cannot be done or hoped for so much better than those who devote their lives and their best endeavors to discover what is true and what can be produced? All the progress of science a progress from the unknown, that is the hidden or the occult, to the known which is not hidden but patent. Perhaps the present century will be able effectually to wave everybody of the danger of setting any limits to knowledge.

HORSE'S LOVE OF HOME.

Heart Hunger One of the Strongest Characteristics of the Animal—Longs for Familiar Stall.

The strongest instinct in the horse is that of home—all his thoughts and interests lie there—and the most wearing pain he suffers is that of nostalgia—the longing for the familiar stall and the well-loved surroundings, says Outing. What wonder that our pets almost invariably return to us from such unhappy experiences mere shadows of their former selves and in such wretched bodily condition that it is months before they regain their usual health and spirits. We blame the man in charge, poor feed, bad stabling, insufficient pasturage, etc., and overlook entirely the fact that it is our own fault, and the direct result of heart-hunger which no grass, grain or roof-tree could entirely assuage. Of course the little-used muscles have, from lack of exercise, shrunk and lost their firmness and plumpness; the crest has fallen from the same cause; "poverty lines" appear in the quarters and shoulders; the tail and mane are all out of shape, or all worn away (the feet stobbed off; the coat dingy and sunburnt; the skin full of all manner of scars, cuts and abrasions; all these are the effect, not the cause, of the lack of bodily condition which two-thirds of the sheepy and softly, in the high-bred nervous, sensitive horse, to simple homesickness.

Sunday Dyspepsia.

"Sunday dyspepsia—that is what you have," said the doctor, smiling.

"Sunday dyspepsia?"

"Yes, and it is not a rare complaint, either. It is due to this habit of eating foolishly and gluttonously on Sunday.

"Through the week you eat like a sensible man—a moderate breakfast early, a light luncheon and a good, substantial dinner at the end of the day.

"But on Sunday you eat a heavy breakfast at 10 or 11. At 1 you sit down to an enormous dinner, stuffing yourself without appetite, and at 6:30, when you are really hungry, you eat light, unsatisfactory food, like Saratoga chips and lettuce sandwiches—a 'snack' for Sunday supper.

"The result of this change for the worse, made once a week by millions of men, is Sunday dyspepsia, an ailment for which I always prescribe a 4 o'clock Sunday dinner."

Fieschi's Deadly Weapon.

When Morales tried to blow King Alfonso and Queen Victoria to pieces in Madrid, he was acting much as did Fieschi when he tried to assassinate King Louis Philippe of France, in July, 1835. The king was riding along the lines of the national guard in the Boulevard du Temple. There came a crash and a rush of bullets. Louis Philippe's aim was grazed, his horse was shot in the neck, Marshal Mortier fell dead and about thirteen other people were killed and thirty wounded. Fieschi had taken the upper floors of a house several weeks before and there rigged up an oaken frame four feet by three feet six inches, supported on three posts of oak and itself supported twenty-five gun barrels fixed in grooves at various angles so as to command an area of twenty-five feet in length and ten feet in height. When he fired the train of powder that led to the battery, the king would have been killed if four barrels had not burst and two missed fire.

The Prick of Conscience.

Possibly Mr. Bigsbee tells some of his friends can discover the moral of the following anecdote which Rev. R. W. Alexander tells, suggests the Tarboro Southerner:

An old colored man stole a pig and after getting home with the animal began to pray before retiring. His wife heard him praying to the Lord to forgive him for stealing the pig. She went to sleep, with Uncle Eph still praying. Later in the night she woke up and saw her husband still kneeling in prayer. At daybreak his supplications had not ceased.

"Eph, why don't you come to bed?" asked his wife.

"Let me 'lone, Blah; de mo' I tries to 'splain to de Lord how I come by dat pig de mo' he won't let me."—Judge.

THE SILENCED GRUMBLE.

There was a humble bumble-bee
Who grumbled while he hummed;
But his grumble soon was humbled
By the time he humbly hummed.

After rumble and mush mumble
Was his humble grumble dumbed,
For "I Want You, Mah Honey,"
Was the tune he humbly hummed.
—Judge.

Leading Authority.

"History," said the sad-faced individual who had sneaked in the big skyscraper, "can't tell you the great 'Encyclopedia of Sporting Events?'"

"Nope," replied the busy man. "We have one encyclopedia of sporting events already."

"That so? Where do you keep it?"

"Why, we try to keep him on that stool over there addressing envelopes; I mean the office boy. And he is an encyclopedia on everything, from a game of skidoo to the Olympian games."—Chicago Daily News.

An Appetising Girl.

She's awfully sweet.
Her cheeks are like peaches.
She has cherry lips.
Her breath is nectar.
Her hair is like yellow corn.
Her eyes are like blackberries.
She is perfectly delicious in French dressing.
Her complexion is a delicate cream.
I love to toast her.
She's a honey.
I sometimes feel as though I would like to press her to a jelly.
But if I did, would she be cordial?
—Life.

Professional Courtesies.

Actor (in country town)—I hope you won't object to announcing in your paper that this will probably be the last chance to see me outside of the great cities, as I have received an offer from the Gotham theater for next season, at $5.00 a week."

Editor—I'll print it with pleasure. And, by the way, please announce from the stage that now is the time to subscribe for the Pumpkinville Trumpet, as I have received an offer of $5,000 a week to run the London Times.—N. Y. Weekly.

Away Out of Season.

"You said you were fond of active, outdoor sport," remarked the athletic girl.

"So I say," answered the lazy man in the hammock; "but not all of them. The sports I like are skating and throwing snowballs."—Washington Star.

Improved.

"Do you think the automobile has come to stay?"

"No, sir. I used to think so, when it was necessary for me to walk home about every time I ventured out, but I am now convinced that it has come to go."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Usual Kind.

Mrs. Hosner—Did your husband make any good resolutions the first of the year?

Mrs. Rounder—No; but he made a lot of bad ones.

Mrs. Hosner—Indeed!

Mrs. Rounder—Yes; at least they didn't keep.—Chicago Daily News.

The Victim.

"What's the best way to overcome insomnia?"

"Try to repeat the Lord's Prayer backwards."

"Will you please come over to the house and teach my baby how to do that?"—Cleveland Leader.

Last Chance, Maybe.

"And why," asked the Green One, "do all the friends of the author go to see the play on the first night?"

"Because," answered the Wise One, "they want to make sure of seeing the play."—Cleveland Leader.

EVEN UP.

Diggs—Are your twins trouble some?

Dongs—Not a bit. Each one makes me so much trouble I forget all about the trouble the other one makes me! —Chicago Daily News.

Sorrow of It.

"It must be a terrible thing to be paralyzed," she said, as they passed a man in a wheeled chair.

"Yes," he answered, absently, "it makes a fellow feel so much the next morning."—Chicago Daily News.

Then He Bought.

Gertie—I never confided suicide I shall choose to a friend.

Bertie—I never heard of it.

Gertie—I hear that it's a poison only found in ice cream.—Cleveland Leader.

Definition.

"What," asked the teacher, "are the wild goats of the Rocky mountains called?"

A hand waved frantically and a doubtful voice said: "Still billies."—Judge.

CREEK COUNCIL HOUSE

HISTORIC STRUCTURE MAY BECOME COURT BUILDING.

Citizens Likely to Buy Hall of Justice at Okmulgee, I. T., Where Indian Criminal Were Judged and Criminals Executed.

Okmulgee, Ind. T.—In the event that Okmulgee becomes a county seat under statehood the citizens of the county are more than likely to buy the old Creek council house for a court building.

The council house is one of the historic buildings in the Indian territory. It is made of a very fine grade of sandstone cased cotton rock and is of the Greek temple style of architecture. Its outside walls are two stories high, square in form, with the conventional flat roof on its top. A small cupola is set amid the south front roof. Over the inscription: "Council House of the Creek Capitol. Erected A. D. 1878. Building Committee—James McKinney, W. F. Brown and John Richards."

The council house was not only the seat of the Creek legislature, but it served the double purpose as a hall of justice for the trial of their prisoners. Beneath the cluster of trees on the shady side of the walk many a prisoner has been executed within the past 25 years. These executions were always said to be shams. The prisoner, after a dignified farewell to his family and friends, took his stand with his back to the tree and calmly awaited the shot from the lightborne man's pistol, which was to put out his life.

Sometimes, however, the executions took place in the small cemetery on the hill beyond the present Frisco tracks. The last Creek execution occurred there in July, 1898. The victim was a young Uticha who had committed the fatal horsetheft. There was a large crowd in Okmulgee that day. The young Indian was taken to the cemetery on horseback. When the prisoner with his escort arrived the men had just finished digging the grave. A few songs were sung, a prayer was offered up in which the victim joined and the Indian sheriff, Berryhill, stepped from the crowd. Colts revolver in hand, to do his duty. When the fatal shot was fired the young Uticha's eyes were swooning the lovely Creek hills and uplands. He fell with a smile on his face. His grave is well kept in the cemetery, a *monument to the stern laws and in*corruptible justice of his people.

OLD CREEK COUNCIL HOUSE AT OKMULGEE, I. T.

The legal authority of the Creek Indians expired in 1898, and on March 7, 1907, the Indian governors will step down and out and the Indians will become actual citizens of the United States instead of remaining wards of the government. The last of the Indian governors are William C. Rogers, of Skiatook, chief of the Cherokees; J. F. Brown, of Checotah, chief of the Seminoles; D. H. Johnston, of Tishomingo, chief of the Choctaws; Green B. McCurtain, of South McAlester, chief of the Chickasaws, and Pleasant Porter, of Muskogee, chief of the Creeks.

Gov. Porter, all in all, is the best known and perhaps the most extraordinary Indian now alive. Few men have received so much newspaper notice as Gov. Porter, for he has been the subject of many fables. He has been written about as an Indian millionaire, when the fact is that, though comfortably fixed, he ranks lowest of the Indian governors in point of wealth. He would have been a wealthy man if he had been less honest and less charitable. He has given a large fortune in the course of his lifetime. Gov. Porter was born in Indian territory near Clarksville, September 26, 1840. He entered the confederate army as a private and left the service as a second Lieutenant, after having fought many bloody battles from Wilson Creek until the last shot was fired in Texas.

Gov. Porter is profoundly versed in Indian history and lore and will write a history of his people. He believes that the southern Indians are a stern and fallen race, and was even in advance of ethnologists in maintaining his views.

To Extend Privileges.

Advices from St. Petersburg are to the effect that the Russian duma has extended until the year of grace, 1911, the privileges accorded in case of duty from imperative [illegible] absence, sickness, or the house [illegible] and as well as the [illegible] of the preliminary [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible].

Selected by Women.

"The employment bureau has appointed Prof. [illegible] to be a member of the [illegible] commission to [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] motors."

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVIII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1906 NO. 41.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

HEAVY REGISTRY IN CITY

4,715 Names Are Already on the Lists in the Four Wards.

DECREASE IN BOROUGH

Lists Closed for the Primaries in Plainfield and in North Plainfield.

There are nearly 4,715 voters registered in the four wards of the city who will be privileged to take part in the primaries on Tuesday, September 25, the new law providing that the Republicans and Democrats shall hold their primaries at the same time. This is a substantial increase for the first registry throughout the city over last year, notably in the First, Second and Fourth wards. Yesterday was the first registry day, and all voters whose names do not now appear on the list cannot vote at primaries. There will be other registry days, however, which will give those who have failed to register a chance do so and vote at the November election.

Yesterday's registry shows the following figures in the various districts:

First ward—First district, 676; Second district, 286.

Second ward—First district, 702; Second district, 236.

Third ward—First district, 541; Second district, 352.

Fourth ward—First district, 482; Second district, 594; Third district, 646.

The final registration in November last year showed the following figures:

First ward—First district, 601; Second district, 233.

Second ward—First district, 664; Second district, 315.

Third ward—First district, 553; Second district, 331.

Fourth ward—First district, 500; Second district, 630; Third district, 619.

NORTH PLAINFIELD.

The total registration in the borough yesterday was 1,428 divided as follow: First district, 715; Second district, 713. Though this is not the final count it is much below last year's total. In 1905 the entire registration in November was 1,543, of which 743 were in the First district and 800 in the Second.

The Borough Board of Registry is as follows: First district, W. W. Rowley, C. G. Wood, D. L. Gulick and Fred Koller; Second district, James K. Arnold, L. C. Kline, L. A. McLaughlin and L. B. Bodine.

JUDGE ATWATER BUSY

MAKING UNION CO. VOTERS.

In One Day the Court Granted Naturalization Papers to Seventy-Five Aliens.

Today is the last one on which County Clerk James C. Calvert will receive applications for naturalization papers. After two weeks no more naturalization papers will be granted by Judge Atwater under the old law, for in fifteen days from today it will be replaced by the new one, which imposes stricter conditions.

In order to secure papers under the old law there has been an unusual number of applicants. There have been about 200 applications, and since many of these are for final papers, the honor of being made citizens of the United States has been conferred upon almost 150 persons. Last week at one sitting Judge Atwater naturalized seventy-five aliens. Most of these were Italians and Poles.

Dr. Lowrie Injured Riding a Wheel.

Dr. H. H. Lowrie, of Park avenue, is laid up at his home with severe injuries which he received yesterday afternoon while riding his bicycle. The handle bar on the wheel broke and threw the rider over the head of the machine. Dr. Lowrie received a cut on the head and nose, his face was lacerated and several teeth were knocked out. He was not very far from home when he had the accident but it was with difficulty that he reached his residence. He will be detained from business for several days.

Makes An Assignment.

Certificate of assignment has been filed in the office of the county clerk by Frank VanWinkle, a retail dealer in photographic supplies at 129 North avenue. The assignment has been made to William R. Codington for the purpose of securing to his creditors an equal distribution of his estate. VanWinkle's indebtedness is $962.49.

—Peaches, strictly first class fruit, at Neuman Brothers'. New lot of 250 baskets tomorrow—your choice at 85c, $1 and $1.25 a basket.

SILENCED BUSINESS AGENT

Justice Mosher Squelched Union Man Who Insisted on Talking.

AT RUSHMORE HEARING

Machinists Wanted Adjournment, But Couldn't Get It—Krom Getting An Injunction Against the Union.

After hearing both sides for two hours, this morning, Justice Mosher reserved his decision in the Jacobson-Rushmore case for a week. The hearing brought out practically nothing new, except a statement that Rushmore was warned he might be stopped and threatened if he went to the Krom works.

Jacobson made an unsuccessful application for adjournment after he learned that only counsel could be allowed to speak in court. Joseph Sonnabend, of Newark, a business agent of the International Association of Machinists, protested against the ruling, and persisted in prompting Jacobson until Justice Mosher ordered him to another part of the court.

Mr. Rushmore's story was to the effect that Jacobson and Herbert Utzinger, who acknowledged on the stand that he was a picket at the Krom Machine Works, threatened him, after he told them he was a professional strike breaker. He made that statement, he said, to see how men in that position were treated. He swore that the two men followed him, and talked to him threateningly, and that it was only after a half a block of that sort of experience that he displayed his revolver. He said the weapon was unloaded and that he merely showed its butt. He put it in his pocket because Harry C. Starkweather, a salesman for the Waterbury Brass Company, had told him of an encounter with strikers at the Krom shop that afternoon.

Jacobson's testimony was to the effect that he merely happened to be going down North avenue behind Mr. Krom and that the latter turned on him with the revolver without cause or provocation. Jacobson testified that he was a special agent of the Machinists' Union.

Julius Friedman, an employee of the Metal and Wire Works, swore that Jacobson shook his fist at Mr. Rushmore as the latter stepped in the Metal and Wire plant before the revolver episode. Utzinger admitted on the stand that he had accosted Rushmore and warned him that there was a strike in the Krom place.

After the hearing Arthur Krom, head of the Krom shop, announced that he had taken steps to apply for an injunction restraining the strikers from picketting his shop. It is understood that some of the testimony given this morning will be used in that action.

COUNTY TAXATION BOARD

TRYING TO FIX RATE.

Somerset County Rate Will Be Higher Than Last Year Because of Increased Appropriations.

As near as possible at this time, the county and school rates were fixed at Somerville yesterday by the County Board of Taxation. The county rate will be about 68 cents on the hundred and the school rate will be about 18 cents.

On account of the appropriation of the Board of Freeholders, which has been increased this year $20,000, and the increase of $1,000 in the school tax, the county rate will be a little higher than last year. The county board of taxation will announce the table of ratables within a short time. In the meantime Assessor Dr. J. H. Cooley, of the borough, will determine the rate in North Plainfield for the coming year.

To Wed This Evening.

Miss Sadie A. Winckler, daughter of Elmer E. Winckler, of 135 Westervelt avenue, and Dr. Charles A. Moore, of 910 West Front street, will be married at the Winckler home this evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. Charles W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, will officiate. Dr. More is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and has been a practicing physician in this city for the past three yeras.

Clarence Bond a Delegate.

The executive committee of the First Ward Republican League for Equal Taxation has completed the delegation selected to attend the Congressional convention at Elizabeth, by appointing Clarence Bond in the place of Fred Dickerson, who declines to serve.

Given Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, of Jackson avenue, who are soon to change their residence, were given a surprise party by friends last night. Dancing and refreshments were features of the gathering.

LOST FOR 10 DAYS IN PENNSYLVANIA

FORMER NORTH PLAINFIELD RESIDENT FOUND DAZED NEAR PITTSBURG.

James A. Ayers, a retired banker, living at South Orange, a former summer resident of North Plainfield, was found in Mars, Pa., on Monday, after having been missing for ten days. Mr. Ayres started for Chicago, but got on the wrong train and was stranded at Pittsburgh. He had been ill six weeks prior to his departure, and when found he was dazed.

A secret bulletin from the New York police department enabled the Pittsburgh authorities to trace his relatives out. He will be taken home.

Mr. Ayres spent his summer, for many years, at 10 Rockview avenue, in the house now occupied by Fred Harrington. He lived, then, in Brooklyn.

RECORD WON'T WITHDRAW.

To Stick, Notwithstanding Any Adverse Public Sentiment.

Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City, said yesterday, that there was "no truth whatever," so far as he was concerned, in the report from Trenton that he is to withdraw as a Senatorial candidate. He added:

"As I have said before, I am in this fight to a finish. It is not for me to withdraw. If those who have placed me in the race and are supporting me say they want me to withdraw I shall do so, of course. I have received no intimation that they have any such intention or have even thought of it."

In reference to the report that he intended to release Senator Colby and the Essex assemblymen from their pledge to support him, Mr. Record said: "Whatever pledges may have been made were made to the public and not to me. It is the public the Senator and his colleagues are standing with. Their relation in this matter is not personal with me."

3,573 SCHOOL PUPILS IN THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Plainfield Has Total of 2,612 and North Plainfield 961.

According to the figures prepared by Superintendent Maxson, the total enrollment in the city schools yesterday, was 2,612, a gain of ninety-three over last year. The increase is mostly in the Irving, Bryant and High Schools. In the latter the entering class numbers 125, one of the largest on record. The figures in the various buildings are as follows: High School, 301; Stillman, 271; Whittier, 215; Franklin, 399; Washington, 235; Bryant, 460; Irving, 585; Lincoln, 240.

Superintendent Krebs, of the borough schools, stated today that the enrollment in his district was 961. Last year it was 871. Of these there are 755 in the Somerset street building and 206 in the Watchung. It is an interesting fact that the increase in the city is only three more than in the borough.

Trolley Car Wrecks Wagon.

Edward C. Kinsey, of Somerville, while driving to Plainfield yesterday with a load of meat, had a collision with an outbound trolley car on West Front street, near McVey's hotel. He was driving on the left hand side of the road and remained there to allow two trolley cars to pass him. He then attempted to cross to the right hand side of the road and had nearly cleared the tracks, when a third trolley struck the rear of his wagon, completely wrecking the wheels. Fortunately, the horses were not frightened and Mr. Kinsey escaped injury. He secured another wagon from Mr. McVey and continued his journey.

Pickaninny Band.

The Jenkins Orphan and Pickaninny Band and Jubilee Concert Company will give a concert at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday. Scenes of the old South will be shown, with solos, duets, trios and contesting quartettes. A silver offering will be received. The band will play at the open air meeting Sunday. Samuel Coaxum, the youngest bandmaster in the world, will lead.

Barney Tracey in the Tolls.

Barney Tracey, of the city, wandered over into the borough, yesterday, and spent an hour or more sampling wet goods. He was unable to navigate when he started back home and Marshal Plack locked him up for safe keeping. Mayor Smalley and he will talk things over tonight.

Delegates to State Convention.

Chief T. O. Doane, J. O. Cranston, Patrick Neylon and Sylvanus Hoffman went to Atlantic City today to attend the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Firemen's Relief Association, which will be in session today and tomorrow.

TO END CO. BOARD RULE

Borough Republicans Sign Petition to Abolish Somerset's Board of Freeholders.

FAVOR A COMMISSION

Senator Frelinghuysen Back of Move —Mayor Explains the Reasons For It.

In the course of business at the meeting of the Borough Good Government Club, last night, the members suddenly awoke to the fact that a petition was in circulation to do away with the County Board of Freeholders and adopt the commission form of government as has been done in Middlesex and Hunterdon. Senator Frelinghuysen, so it was said, is back of the movement, and he has had a copy of the petition in Tax Collector Brown's office for a month or more but because no one had time to "push it along" it has remained tucked away in a pigeonhole. When Mayor Smalley expressed his approval of the step and told some things about the treatment accorded North Plainfield by the freeholders, a spirit of enthusiasm ran through the gathering like a prairie fire and some of the members hustled out before adjournment in order to get their names on the paper. It must be signed by four per cent. of the voters in order to have the proposition brought before the people at the next election.

In explaining the commission proposition before the meeting, Mayor Smalley said the freeholders had discriminated against the borough in the expenditure of money to such an extent that it has become a serious matter. Frank de L. Hyde, one of North Plainfield's largest property owners, has made it a personal affair and recently engaged experts to tabulate sums spent in various parts of the county in the past ten years. The Mayor declared that in that time $250,000 had gone into the building or repair of Somerset roads and practically none of it had been expended in the borough, despite the fact that it passes up $19,000 in county tax each year.

Continuing the subject of roads, the Mayor said that the greater part of them in the county were too narrow and that they had ought to be rebuilt. This fact also applies to bridges which are not nearly as wide as the travel demands.

In the commission form of government, three competent men are elected from the county at large and they are paid a sufficient salary to have them devote their entire time and study to the duties required of them. The plan has worked successfully in other parts of the State and its adoption would save Somerset many thousands of dollars every year. In conclusion, the Mayor asserted that the freeholder boards are constituted of men who spend the greater part of their time in seeking re-election.

To make sure that the required percentage of signatures is secured, former Recorder Thomas S. Doud, W. W. Coriell and W. F. Williams were appointed to take the matter in charge and round up the voters. The petition has been placed in the borough house and will be kept there until tomorrow night.

ELECTION BOARD MEETING.

Several Vacancies In Local Election Boards Are Filled.

At an adjourned meeting of the Union County Board of Election Monday afternoon, at which every member was present, several vacancies in the local election boards were reported and filled.

On motion of Commissioner Hetfield, of this city, the appointment of Walter Clark and Edward Mosher as election officers in the Second district of the Fourth ward, was revoked, and Abram Angleman and Ambrose K. Brennan were appointed to serve in their stead. The rescinding of Clark's appointment was because he had failed to perform the duties required of him.

Mr. Hetfield reported that John H. DeMeza, who had been appointed one of the election officers to serve in the First district of the Fourth ward, had been obliged to relinquish the position. On motion of Mr. Hetfield William B. DeMeza was appointed to serve in his stead.

The Board adjourned to meet again Monday afternoon, September 24, with the understanding, however, that if it was found necessary to meet again at an earlier date, a meeting should be called by order of the chair.

Pictures Local Kindergarten.

The last issue of Browning's Magazine contains an excellent picture of the kindergarten at the Irving School. The photograph was taken by Mrs. W. Durrant, of West Third street, who is one of the city's best amateur camera artists.

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP CAUCUS WAS "REGULAR"

COLBYISM NOT HINTED AT IN THE REPUBLICAN ENDORSEMENT THERE.

No signs of Colbyism were shown at the caucus of the Fanwood Township Republicans at Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, last night. All the candidates endorsed were strictly regular and all of them were chosen unanimously.

Freeholder John Robison, as chairman of the last caucus, opened the meeting and was continued in the chair. Edward L. Hand was elected secretary.

Work in getting signers on the petitions was cut down considerably by the election of a set of delegates to the three conventions. Mr. Hand and Louis W. Miller were chosen, with power, to appoint alternates. They are for Robison for Freeholder.

George H. Johnston was endorsed for membership on the county committee for one year. The endorsements for township officers are as follows:

Township Committee, three years, Ira G. Walker; assessor, three years, George H. Johnston; constable, William Spicer; overseer of highway, Andrew Schaffer and William Hull (renomination); poundkeepers, John Mair and Julius Sabocker. Nominations for collector and justice of the peace were left vacant. John Z. Hatfield will be endorsed for collector by the Democrats.

Appropriations were fixed at the figures voted last year: Police, $100; fire department, $200; streets, $2,250; sidewalks, $250; water, $600.

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS

MEET AT SOMERVILLE.

Refer North Plainfield-Warren Township Boundary Petition to Committee.

There was little of importance doing at the meeting of the Somerset Freeholders in Somerville yesterday. Matthew Brennan was ordered $1.50 a day for being confined in the county jail as a witness from April 4 to June 7. Referred. The petition from the North Plainfield Township Committee in regard to the disputed line between that and Warren township was referred to Messrs. Demler, Codington and Counsel.

Richards & Gaston were released from bond, the contract on the new jail being nearly completed. The Board declare it had no authority to pay an expense bill of $18 presented by the County Board of Taxation.

L. E. Tuttle and Harry Wright, of Bernardsville, were ordered to remove an obstruction, consisting of a concrete wall, from the Bernardsville road. The County Prosecutor promised to correct the system of undertakers receiving bodies before examination of the County Physician.

At the call of Director Baird the Board will meet in Montgomery.

Mack a Colby Candidate.

Edward Le Roy Mack has been nominated by the Colbyites for alderman in the Eleventh ward, Elizabeth to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alderman William P. Mackenzie. Mr. Mack is a law student in the office of former Judge Patrick Hamilton Gilhooly, of that city, and is the oldest son of the late Dr. William A. M. Mack, who died five years ago while filling the position of Republican Mayor of Elizabeth.

Local Property Transfer.

The following real estate transfer has been recorded at Elizabeth: John W. Slaybeck et al. to Fillmore Conduit, northeast corner of West Front and Marion avenue, Plainfield, $1. This contract has also been filed: Joseph T. Vail with Clarence L. Line, entire work new building, Union street, Plainfield, $3,358.

Mrs. Josephine Ellison.

Mrs. Josephine Ellison, widow of Frederick Ellison, colored, died Monday night at her home on West Fourth street. She was thirty-six years old. The funeral will be held at the Mount Olive Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Hale and Hearty at Eighty-Two.

Veteran Thomas M. MacDonald, of 104 Jackson avenue, the borough, was eighty-two years old yesterday. He is hale and hearty and is able to follow his trade of painter daily.

Chief Kiely Will Attend.

Chief Kiely and others are making arrangements for the annual convention of the New Jersey Patrolmen's Benevolent Association to be held in Hoboken tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Isaac L. Miller and Miss Miller, of Watchung avenue, are home from Sullivan county, New York.

—Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Whiteside are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter. She was born this morning at the home of Mrs. Whiteside's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hockridge, Watchung avenue. She has been named Constance.

NORTH PLAINFIELD G. O. P. ENDORSES CANDIDATE

COLONEL COLLINS HONORED BY BRAGGA.

Made of Stone From Which Presents to Two Presidents Had Been Cut.

Colonel Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, Monday night, enjoyed the distinction of having an honor conferred on him similar to that which was conferred on the late President McKinley and President Roosevelt. He was presented with a blue stone carved in the form of a canteen, with his name engraved in gold. The stone was presented by Camilla Bragga, of 171 Stiles street, Elizabeth, a veteran of the Crimean and the War of the Rebellion. In 1904 Mr. Bragga presented President Roosevelt with a similar stone, and in 1896 he presented President McKinley with one, for both of which he received letters of gratitude from both chief executives.

Mr. Bragga came into possession of the stone in Salt Lake city in 1886, while crossing the continent. It was a rare specimen. The presentation was made at the Burkely hotel. City Attorney James C. Connolly made the presentation speech, which was responded to by Colonel Collins.

Mr. Bragga is a member of the Veteran Zouaves and served two years in the Crimean War. He also served three years in the Civil War with the Forty-eighth New York Regiment. His son served under Colonel Collins in the Spanish-American War.

PLANNING RECEPTION

FOR ALVAH A. CLARK.

Upon His Return From An Extended Pleasure Trip Abroad.

Preparations are underway for a big reception to be given to former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, who is expected to return this week from an extended pleasure trip abroad. A committee of prominent citizens will meet and have the matter in charge and thus far 300 invitations have been issued to the affair.

The reception will be held at the County Hotel, Somerville, Tuesday night, September 18, at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge comprises Lewis Moore, Stewart G. Kennedy and William D. Nolan, leading Democratic workers at the county seat.

Date for Congressional Convention.

The Fourth Congressional District Republican Committee met at Trenton, yesterday, and fixed on Tuesday, October 2, as the date, and Flemington, Hunterdon county, as the place for holding the Congressional convention. There was a full meeting of the committee, and the general sentiment was for the renomination of Congressman Wood, of Trenton. Somerset county was represented on the Committee by former Mayor Charles Place, of North Plainfield, and George A. Ditts, of Raritan. The Fourth District is composed of Hunterdon, Mercer and Somerset counties.

Instructor in Oratory.

Harold Nomer, of this city, graduate of the Plainfield High School, '02, and Williams College, class '06, has been appointed instructor in the department of oratory of the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and will assume his duties upon the opening of the fall term next week. While at Williams College, Mr. Nomer was a winner of debating teams and won prizes in debating and extemporaneous speaking.

Assignee's Sale.

J. Fred MacDonald, assignee of the Estate of Winfield S. Jimerson, will sell at public auction on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Jimerson's brickyard, on Leland avenue, all the chattels to settle the estate. The chattels include mules, 75,000 brick, fifty cords of wood, lot of lumber and many other things. Hezekiah Hand will be the auctioneer and the terms will be cash. Walter L. Hetfield is attorney for the assignee.

Boys Released.

Three of the four boys arrested for hanging about the theatre, Edward Condit, Charles Gulick and William Mickey, were released by Judge Runyon this morning, under suspended sentence. He warned them to quit imitating the "Johnnies." Frank Schropper, the fourth boy, failed to appear.

Pythian Field Day.

The annual field day of the New Jersey Knights of Pythias will be held at Asbury Park tomorrow. Crescent Company, No. 15, uniformed rank, Perseverance and Unity lodges, of this city, will be represented in the parade, which is to be a feature of the gathering.

Gertrude Foster Righter.

Gertrude Foster Righter, the thirteen-months-old daughter of Walter L. and Lela Foster Righter, of First place, died yesterday. The funeral will be private.

Good Government Club Favors Van Arsdale and Lee For Council.

DELEGATES ARE NAMED

No Friction at Meeting—Mr. Smalley Presides—Mr. Reed Explains New Law.

Meeting for the first time in many months, the Borough Good Government Club transacted a large amount of business incidental to the coming campaign, last night. Delegates to the county and congressional conventions were named, candidates for Borough Council endorsed and the new primary law was explained in detail by Mayor Smalley and Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed. In addition, the petition to abolish the Board of Freeholders was discussed and the members agreed unanimously to sign it and do all possible to bring about the new form of county government.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Smalley, who is president of the club, and in a few words he explained the object of the call. There were no important local offices to fill this fall, he said, but a congressman from the district and an assemblyman were to be elected and the terms of Charles L. Lee and Morris C. Van Arsdale as borough councilmen were to expire. His remarks were supplemented by Mr. Reed, who gave a concise explanation of the new primary law and the manner in which nominations must now be made. To get names on the party ticket, he said, it is necessary to file a petition with the borough clerk ten days before the primaries are held. North Plainfield is entitled to four delegates from each district to both county and congressional conventions.

With these preliminaries disposed of, nominations for delegates were called for and Mayor Smalley said: "I don't care who is nominated. I have no axe to grind and whoever is placed on the ticket I hope he is elected. This new law is for the purpose of letting every voter have something to say about who shall be the candidates. It is an outgrowth of the "reform" movement, but the word reform is like equal taxation; it's all right to talk about but hard to get."

Delegates were then named as follows: Congressional convention, First district, W. W. Coriell, Edwin Rushmore, Isaac P. Runyon and H. A. McGee; Second district, J. W. A. Bauersachs, Robert Clark, Jr., Amos Glides and Edward P. T. Smith; county convention, First district, Clifford McGee, J. V. E. Vanderhoef, Thomas S. Doud and Abram G. Hooley; Second district, Peter A. Emmous, William C. Smith, Lemuel B. Woolston and Alonzo Brokaw. Mayor Smalley named Frank Rowland, Edward P. T. Smith and Charles A. Reed as a committee to fill vacancies.

Taking up the subject of councilmanic nominations, Mayor Smalley placed the names of Messrs. Lee and Van Arsdale before the gathering for consideration. He said there might be some criticism because of both being residents of the First district as in case of election this would leave only two from the Second in Council, but both had splendid official records, and were needed. Mr. Van Arsdale was elected from the Second but moved into the First soon after taking his seat. As the councilmen are elected by the borough as a whole, the Mayor continued, it wouldn't make a great deal of difference which side they came from. Both men were heartily endorsed and Edward P. T. Smith was elected to the Second but moved into the First soon after taking his seat. As the councilmen are elected by the borough as a whole, the Mayor continued, it wouldn't make a great deal of difference which side they came from. Both men were heartily endorsed and Edward P. T. Smith and Charles A. Reed as a committee to fill vacancies.

Taking up the subject of councilmanic nominations, Mayor Smalley placed the names of Messrs. Lee and Van Arsdale before the gathering for consideration. He said there might be some criticism because of both being residents of the First district as in case of election this would leave only two from the Second in Council, but both had splendid official records, and were needed. Mr. Van Arsdale was elected from

PERKINS ON HIS RECORD

Republican House Leader Makes Answer to Some Colbyite Attacks.

HE IS UNPLEDGED

Will Vote For Best Man For U. S. Senator—Tells What He Has Accomplished.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, Republican leader on the floor of the lower house at Trenton, has broken silence after quietly submitting to the attacks of anti-administration Republicans for sometime and states his position on the senatorial fight as well as makes a complete answer to his critics. He declares first and foremost that he is not pledged to John F. Dryden or any other candidate for the office of United States Senator and will vote for the best man.

To a representative of The Daily Press, Assemblyman Perkins said yesterday: "I am not pledged to any candidate for United States Senator. I have not said whom I will favor other than I will give my vote and influence to the man I deem best fitted for the office. There are a number of men who would well represent the State and I shall certainly support the one who seems to me to be the best man."

A request was made by the Westfield candidate for the publication of his answers to various attacks made upon his record. The statement follows:

"The Courier- News in an editorial several weeks ago asked some questions with respect to my actions in the last Legislature. The questions and my answers are as follows:

"The first question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) kill the bill to prohibit the use of coal stoves in passenger coaches operated on the railroads in New Jersey?'

"My answer is, I did not. The bill referred to was known as Assembly Bill No. 15, introduced by Mr. Martin and referred to the Committee on Judiciary, of which committee both Mr. Martin and I were members. A public hearing given on the bill, the only persons who appeared before the committee were railroad attorneys. They pointed out the fact that the bill as drawn would prohibit the use of stoves in dining cars and suggested that it be amended.

"I have refreshed my recollection by communicating with several members of the committee, and they agree that the bill was to have been reported, upon its being amended so as not to interfere with dining cars. Mr. Martin, however, took it upon himself to have prepared the amendments. He did not submit any amendments to the committee, and the bill took the usual course.

"There were many more important matters demanding my attention as Leader of the House. Among others, Assembly Bill No. 1, known as the Equal Taxation Bill, Bill No. 273, redefining railroad property for purposes of taxation, Bill 274, distributing excess of railroad taxation over one-half of one per cent. to counties for school purposes, Bill 422, known as "Districting Bill," and Bill 456, putting second-class railroad property into local rateables. All of these bills were introduced by me and were popularly known as 'Administration Measures.' Under the circumstances I did what good judgment dictated, namely, moved the measures that I had introduced and permitted Mr. Martin to look after his own measures. The bills that I have referred to were all enacted into law, as will appear by reference to the Session Laws of 1906.

"The second question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) oppose the enactment of a law to adequately tax Gas, Electric Light and Water Companies?'

"The insinuation that I opposed the enactment of a law for the purpose of adequately taxing these quasi public corporations is false. On the contrary, I made the only speech that was made in the House in favor of the amendment to the Voorhees act increasing the taxes on trolley companies by a graduated scale from three to five per cent. of their receipts. Furthermore, I spoke and voted for the bill for a supplement to the act entitled: 'An act to provide for the imposition of State taxes upon certain corporations and for the collection therof,' approved April 18, 1884, which act became a law and is now Chapter 19 of the Session Laws of 1906.

"The third question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) oppose the subscription of an Insurance Investigation?'

"I did oppose the resolutions introduced by Mr. Martin and others, the object of which was the investigation of banks and trust companies and insurance companies. Moreover, I stated fully upon the floor of the House in the several speeches the reasons why I opposed the resolutions. To state the reasons at length would take more space than I could reasonably expect a newspaper to print.

"The principal reasons were:

"First, the whole subject had been investigated by the investigation in the case of New York.

"Secondly, from my dealings in the Legislature with the persons who were demanding the investigation I was satisfied that their resolutions were not introduced in good faith for the purpose of investigating the companies in the interest of the policyholders and the public in general, but that they were introduced for the purpose of making political capital. This was evident to practically everybody who appeared at the public hearing on the first resolution, which demanded an investigation of banks and trust companies as well as insurance companies. Representative business men from all over the State came to Trenton and uttered such a violent protest against the investigation sought by the resolution, that before the hearing was over Mr. Martin—the mover of the resolution—asked to amend it by striking out the clause requiring investigation of banks and trust companies. There was no reason why this amendment should have been made at that time, except that those who were behind the resolution were satisfied that they had made an error politically, and they took the earliest opportunity to correct it.

"My judgment as to the purpose of introducing the investigation resolutions, I think, has been fully confirmed by the fact that the members of the Legislature who were clamor*ing for investigation under the reso*lution referred to, paid absolutely no attention to the investigation conducted by the Senate Committee. That committee gave notice in the public press that one month would be allowed to all persons desiring to bring matters to its attention which affected the conduct of insurance companies, or the required investigation. I have been informed per*sonally by Senator Hillery, who was* a member of that committee, that not one person among all the so-called 'reformers' appeared before the committee, or offered, or attempted to offer, anything for investigation.

"Acting in the belief that these resolutions were not introduced in good faith but entirely for the purposes of making political capital, I opposed them.

"The fourth question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) talk and vote in favor of allowing committee chairmen to be the sole arbiters of the question whether or not they report bills referred to their committees?'

"My answer is, I did not. Fur*thermore, I will give five hundred* dollars to be divided by the Courier-News among the hospitals of Union county if it will prove, that I ever did.

"The fifth question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) oppose the enactment of a bill intended to provide for a judicial recount of votes in contested election cases?'

"The propounder of this question can hardly be aware that there is an act on the statute books at the present time providing for a judicial recount of votes in contested election cases. I refer to Section 159 of our General Election Law, approved April 8, 1898.

"It will be remembered that there was a judicial recount by Judge Hendrickson of the Supreme Court in the recent contested election for sheriff in Monmouth county.

"The insinuation that I opposed a bill of this character is unwarranted and false.

"The sixth question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) resort to unparliamentary tactics to kill a bill to prevent corrupt practices in politics?'

"Owing to the very indefinite form of this question I have been compelled to read over the 1376 printed pages constituting the minutes of the House of Assembly for 1906. I confess I have been unable to find the unparliamentary tactics referred to.

"It is untrue that I opposed or killed a bill to prevent corrupt practices in politics. On the contrary, the Corrupt Practices Act, known as House Bills No. 35, No. 70 and No. 226, were carefully gone over and approved by me before they were handed to Mr. Marelli for introduction. I voted for all of these bills as appears on pages 418, 419 and 420 of the minutes of the House of Assembly.

The seventh question is: "Why did he (Perkins) help to prevent the repeal of the notorious Promoters' Liability Act?'

"The act known as the Promoters' Liability Act was passed in 1903 and received the approval of Governor Murphy. By that act any person who makes, or has made, a secret profit out of a corporation is liable to be sued by that corporation for a recovery of the money so made, within four years from the time of making such profit. I believe that promoters making secret profits should be held liable; and therefore did not vote to repeal this act. I also believe that four years is a reasonable time within which suit should be brought. Suits for slander must be brought within two years, assaults, imprisonment, etc., within four years, and that period seems reasonable time for suits to recover secret profits.

"The eighth question is: 'Why did he (Perkins) refuse to support the bill providing that express, railway, telephone and telegraph companies should be compelled to pay their employes at least once in every two weeks?'

"I did not refuse to support any such bill. So far as I am aware the 'Act to provide for the payment of wages in lawful money of the United States every two weeks,' approved March 16, 1899, meets with general approval as it stands on the statute books.

"The last question is: "Why did he (Perkins) oppose the passage of a law compelling legislative lobbyists to register their names and 'the interests they represent?'

"I voted against this bill, because in my judgment the scheme was wholly ineffectual to remedy the lobby evil.

"As Leader of the House, my attitude on the lobby question must be known to the public. The Courier-News must know that repeatedly during the session I moved that the lobbies be cleared, and that for the first time in years every lobbyist was turned out of the House. Every legislator knows that the lobbyists who hang around the State House are more of a nuisance than anything else.

"If legislators are susceptible to the influences of the lobby, the mere registration of names and interests represented by lobbyists will neither give legislators back-bone nor mend their morals."

NOVEL ARCHITECTS.

How a Firm of Architects Got Its Name On a Building.

Close observation on the part of a newspaper man in Boston several years ago revealed a striking device employed by the firm of McKim, Mead & White, the noted New York architects, of which Stanford White, who was murdered by Harry K. Thaw in New York recently, was a member. The device, says the Pittsburg Gazette-Times, was an acrostic of names famous in history, literature and art, by which the firm's name was to be engraved on the Boston Public library. As may be observed, the arrangement defied literature, history and philosophy in arrangement, and this was the thing that attracted the newspaper man's attention. The names were conglomerated from all nations and ages into a seemingly neat ornamentation for the fine building. Beginning at the top of a space to be devoted to *names famous in the world in vari*ous lines were the following:

Moses,
Cicero,
Kalidasa,
Isocrates,
Milton.

These names, through their initials, formed the first part of the acrostic, spelling plainly "McKim." A slight space appeared before the next list of names, which was:

Mozart,
Euclid,
Aeschylus,
Dante.

The initials of these names brought out the second name of the firm, "Mead." Another slight space, and the following names appeared:

Wren,
Herrick,
Irving,
Titian,
Erasmus.

Here was the name "White" also engraved, the whole device bringing out the firm name of "McKim, Mead & White" in connection with the world's famed men. It was in 1890, just before the building was completed, that the discovery was made and published. The list of names was changed.

WEST POINT CADETSHIP.

Plainfield Youths Have a Chance to Secure the Appointment.

A chance for a Plainfield boy to enter West Point is offered by Representative Charles N. Fowler. He announces a competitive examination among the young men of the Fifth Congressional District for the appointment, at the Pingry School, Elizabeth, on September 29. The examination will begin at 10 o'clock a. m.

Plainfield boy, N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., is now at the Military Academy. Another young Plainfielder, Fred VanAuken, is at Annapolis.

The examination will be along lines similar to that for admission to the academy. The candidate who wins it need have no fear of his ability to pass into West Point. It is open only to actual residents of the Fifth District, within the age limits, seventeen to twenty-three years.

ELIZABETH EXCISE BOARD REDUCES THE LICENSE FEE.

From $500 to $300 and Saloons Must Close at Twelve Midnight.

While the tendency throughout the State has been to increase the liquor license fee, the Board of Excise in session at Elizabeth, yesterday, voted to reduce the fee in that city from $500 to $300. All the members, except the president, voted for the reduction. A resolution was also adopted compelling the saloonkeepers to close their places at 12 midnight and not to open until 5 o'clock in the morning.

Yesterday's action is generally considered unwise, inasmuch as nearly every city and town in the State is increasing the fee. A majority of the people in Elizabeth feel that in a city of that size the liquor dealers can well afford to pay at least $500.

Miss Gertrude Levine Married.

Miss Gertrude Levine, daughter of Samuel Levine, of East Fourth street, and Jacob Kleinman, of, New York, were married Sunday at Volk's Assembly Hall, on Second street, New York. The couple will live in New York.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Colby's Admissions.

Senator Colby's admission in his siderable light upon the psychology of the New Idea and real the motives as well as the remarkable tactics of the Reformers. No one, it is fair to assume, will question Colby's authority to speak for the movement of which he is the acknowledged figurehead.

In reply to questions asked by Senator Hillery Mr. Colby admitted:

That no one had ever offered him money or other consideration in exchange for his vote during the four years of his service as a member of the Legislature.

That he had never seen money paid to any member of the Legislature, or known money or other consideration to have been offered to or accepted by any member in exchange for a vote.

That he had no personal knowledge of wrongdoing on the part of any insurance company, bank or trust company in this State that would justify a Legislative investigation; that he knew of no testimony that could be supplied by others tending to show wrongful acts on the part of such companies.

That the following bills, among others, had been passed by a Republican Legislature in spite of the opposition of so-called bosses and corporations: The equal tax laws, the anti-fee bill, the new primary act, the corrupt practice acts, the limited franchise act and the act preventing the diversion of water to another State.

That a Republican Legislature had refused to pass the Morris Canal abandonment bill, even though the strongest corporate influences demanded it, and although Colby himself had been elected in Essex upon a platform urging canal abandonment.

That the knew of no conditions calling for reform in the government of Morris county, and that, in fact, he knew nothing whatever about the affairs of the county.

That Senator Hillery, both as a man and as a legislator, was absolutely above suspicion.

That he had importuned his followers in Essex to indorse George L. Record as the New Idea candidate for United States Senator, but that they had rejected Colby's entreaties.

That the Reformers in Essex have no primary candidate for United States Senator, although their declaration of principles requires them to have one, and that a New Idea campaign without a Senatorial candidate this year is of a piece with the play of Hamlet with the title role omitted.

That he had pledged himself to Record without having consulted his followers, and that he would vote for Record in the Legislature unless his followers found some way of recording their opposition; in which event Colby would vote for whomever the Essex Reformers wanted, on condition that Record would release him from his pledge.

In the face of these admissions Colby insisted that New Jersey is without representative government; that the Legislature is controlled by bosses and corporations; that bribery flourishes to the extent that the insurance companies, banks and trust companies should be investigated; that Morris county is perishing for New Idea reform; that Hillery is derelict in his duties, in that he does not flop over to Colby and Record and that Record is the most deserving man in New Jersey to be elected United States Senator.

The nearest approach to bribery that Colby ever experienced, it appears, happened the day of the State House. Some one, he said—he was careful to mention no name—had taken him into a back room and had called him a Puritan and told him he would drive the Republican party out of the State, if he failed to vote for the notorious race track bill.

Inasmuch as that bill was slaughtered by a Republican Legislature and largely through the efforts of Hillery, who was chairman of the House committee to which it had been referred, Colby's refusal and his narrow escape from contamination in the back room did not appeal convincingly to his Morris county hearers. It made them laugh.

On another occasion the audience was told Thomas N. McCarter's brother accosted Colby and said: "We think you have a political future and we don't want to see you throw it away." Colby inferred from that that McCarter could have prevented his nomination. Hillery replied that Colby could have framed "stuffing" Colby, but that in any event McCarter was not the Republican party.

According to Colby's admissions he was fortunate indeed and is to be congratulated upon one fact that the bogie man did not catch him when he was Republican leader on the floor of the House. He should have had a political keeper.

The debate has made it clear if further proof was necessary that the New Idea movement is wholly a crusade for office and that the Reformers hope to secure office by means of the muck rake. Colby admits that he knows of no bribery, corruption or vice existing in the Republican administration of the State, but he does not hesitate to declare on the stump and in pamphlets that the Republican party is a sink of iniquity and that only through the New Idea and the election of Record can New Jersey be saved.

The Reformers are privileged to assail the Republican party and to disrupt it, if they are able, but a sense of patriotism, it seems proper to suggest, should restrain them from wantonly blackening the name of their State.

Colby's wild statements were challenged by Hillery, and the Reformer did not even attempt to prove his charges. He does not propound them, however, after having publicly admitted that he does not know a single one of them to be true. Were it not that Colby has a number of well meaning followers, who are misled by the audacity of his pretensions, he would not be deserving of serious notice. The showing he made in the Hillery debate was pitiable.—Jersey City Journal.

The Senatorial Question.

Why should the contest for United States Senator be narrowed down to a fight between George L. Record and John F. Dryden, and why should men who believe thoroughly in the principles of the movement headed by Everett Colby be compelled to accept the candidacy of George L. Record as inseparable from that movement? Are there no other men than these in New Jersey who are built of Senatorial timber? Has New Jersey sunk to such a state of hopeless mediocrity that two men only can be found within her borders worthy to wear the toga? Why should it be necessary to elect a man who openly avows his candidacy? Has the maxim, once thought good, that the office should seek the man, been entirely discarded?

Why, for instance, should not Vice-Chancellor Pitney be considered as a fit candidate? Advanced in years, it is true, but still physically and mentally vigorous, he would be heard from to some purpose in the Senate. Vice-Chancellor Pitney is a stalwart Republican, but his opinions are his own. Then there is Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze, a man who has never bent his knee to Baal, a sound lawyer, an upright Judge and a man of superior abilities. Or in the Assembly, where could a more worthy representative be found than the venerable Amzi Dodd, a life-long enemy of unsound methods in life insurance. A term in the Senate would fitly round out a life of intelligent usefulness. Or, if a younger man be desired, there is Mr. Dodd's successor in office, Frederick Frelinghuysen, the worthy son of a sire whose name stands high among New Jersey's greatest. In the ranks of the active reformers are Frank H. Sommer, brilliant and aggressive, and the protagonist of the movement, Everett Colby, himself.

Give the people some latitude of choice. There is no wisdom in staking the future of reform in New Jersey upon the candidacy of one man.—Newark News.

Judge Runyon's Experience.

Judge Runyon, of Plainfield, the "new idea" candidate for Assembly in Union county, is in a position to tell just how the machine works in politics. He was at one time a part of the machine, a cog on one of the wheels, so to speak, but a cog that had eyes and a conscience. He says: "I was chosen on the policies of the State; the United States Senator in this (Union) county, Dickinson in Hudson, Carl Lentz in Essex, Strong in Middlesex, and Baird in Camden. I was a little boss in my ward and did my work like many others. The man above me gave me my orders and I tried to carry them out. About 6:45 on election day some one rounded up the fellows who had not voted, and by some manipulation their votes were cast. I had nothing to do with it, but I felt splendid when I polled. Finally I was the intermediary in a promise which was not kept and I became disgusted." There is nothing in this frank confession that is new to practical politicians. The bosses and their immediate subordinates know all these tricks. They have practised them for years. But all the people do not know just how the machine works, and Judge Runyon's brief description will illumine their political understandings. —Newark News.

C. E. A. HEYWOOD RE-ENGAGED BY BIRMINGHAM Y. M. C. A.

Has Charge of Physical Department In Association Having 2,251 Members.

Former Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the local Y. M. C. A., has recently re-engaged himself for a period of two years with the Y. M. C. A., of Birmingham, England. He has held the position since a short time after leaving Plainfield and his work has been satisfactory in every way. At the time Mr. Heywood left as to the matter of the contract remaining, the trustees presented him with a purse of $250 in recognition of his efficient service.

The Birmingham association is one of the largest in England, the total membership numbering 2,251. It is conducted by a secretary and a staff of thirty-six men. All athletic clubs are run separately, the swimming club using the public baths. In the building are dining, billiard, chess and smoking rooms, while the bedrooms can accommodate thirty-five men. Mr. Heywood has full charge of the entire physical department.

Quietly Married at Rectory.

Miss Lydia Primme and Frank Haulenbeck, both of Netherwood, were quietly married at the rectory of St. Stephen's church on Saturday, August 25. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur Searing Peck and was attended only by the necessary witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Haulenbeck will start housekeeping in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edmund Skiff, of Grove street, have returned from their summer outing.

LAKE PIGMENT CO. SOLD BY RECEIVER

MILTON KNAPP, OF BOUND BROOK PAYS $16,800 FOR THE PROPERTY.

Milton Knapp, of Bound Brook, formerly president of the company, purchased the Lake Pigment Company plant on West Front street, near Dunellen, Thursday, at a receiver's sale. The consideration was $16,800. It is understood that he purchased the plant for the company. The reason for the sale was a disagreement among the stockholders. A few weeks ago an effort was made to sell the plant, but at the instance of one of the stockholders the court did not confirm the sale.

The troubles were adjusted by the sale held yesterday under the direction of Mayor R. H. Brokaw, of Bound Brook, who was appointed receiver. John H. Bachus, of Trenton, was the lawyer representing the receiver.

The company, which manufactures colors for wall-papers, has been in operation all the time and it is understood that a large supply of orders ahead that will employ a large force of men for sometime to come.

DIRTY SHIRT BOW.

Mrs. Waldron Hung Garment Out of Window and Husband Vexed.

It was a tale of a dirty shirt that John Waldron unfolded in his defense against the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct brought by his wife in the city court this morning. Waldron came home Monday night and found one of his soiled shirts, which was very dirty indeed—he acknowledged that it was unusually soiled—hanging in a conspicuous and self-assertive manner from the window. He pulled the shirt in, but Mrs. Waldron hung it back. This said she invited the neighborhood to see just what sort of a man he was.

The row that started then resulted in his arrest. Mrs. Waldron testified that her husband was drunk and abusive, and a fellow-witness testified that Waldron had been drinking before he went home.

Judge Runyon found Waldron guilty of disorderly conduct, but held that the incident of the shirt was enough to make any man disorderly. He condemned Mrs. Waldron for not seeking to make a household that has been upset by long-standing disagreements and smoother than she could help. He suspended sentence.

Waldron was defended by S. S. Swackhamer, W. J. Whitfield, 2d, appeared for the complainant.

MR. MANNING NOW A Y. M. C. A. DIRECTOR.

Elected to the Board Last Night—Farewell Reception Is Being Arranged.

J. Harry Manning, the retiring secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was made a director of the association Thursday, at a meeting of the directors. Mr. Manning will retire as secretary on October 1, after twenty years' service and a committee was appointed last night to arrange a reception to him.

The committee is made up of W. D. Murray, Dr. N. H. Probasco, O. S. Rogers, G. M. Rittenhouse and A. B. Beers. No date has been set for the affair.

Another committee was appointed as follows, to arrange for the observance of the association's thirty-ninth anniversary on November 18: G. M. Rittenhouse, G. E. Hall, R. A. Radford, C. M. Thorpe and E. T. Wilson.

BUSINESS MEN MUST SERVE AS JURYMEN.

District Court Judge Newcorn Makes a New Rule.

Judge Newcorn, of the district court, has made up his mind that in the future in all cases requiring a jury there shall be a sufficient number of men in court to serve as jurors without causing any delay. He has instructed Sergeant Hand to do his duty. Sergeant Hand says that he will in the future call on business men to serve on juries and according to the rule they must attend court. If they fail Judge Newcorn will impose the penalty provided for in such cases.

As a rule it is difficult to get a business man to serve as a juror because he cannot well afford to lose the time required. In consequence men of leisure are usually chosen for this work. It is not always possible to get a sufficient number of this class to try a case and the court meets with difficulty in filling out a jury.

The Apex of Impudence.

Maud—Such presumption I never heard of.

Bertie—What did he do?

Maud—Why, he had the audacity to call on me in town simply because I was engaged to him at the seashore.—Boston Transcript.

Ironing Handkerchiefs.

Begin by ironing the middle. Remember that to iron the edges first causes the middle to swell out, and makes them very difficult to iron and fold properly, says Home Chat. Always test the heat of the iron on a piece of rag or paper, before using to prevent scorching.

THE SEASON'S BEST PLAY

Critical Audience So Pronounces Klein's Drama "The Lion and Mouse."

WELL BALANCED CAST

Splendid Interpretation of the Grasping Multi-Millionaire Given by Oliver Doud Byron.

It was a critical audience that viewed "The Lion and the Mouse" at the New Plainfield theatre, Wednesday. It was an audience that understood—one that is conversant with the present day methods of money-getting—and when Charles Klein's vivid picture of the 1906 type of grasping multi-millionaire was unfolded, the work was appreciated. It is a drama that has been talked about for months and, perhaps, will live until corporate con*trol does not signify what it does* now. Its wonderful success in the metropolis had preceded it and all that is declarative that it would demand absorbing attention locally were fully verified. The playhouse was filled to its capacity and when the curtain had fallen for the last time the verdict was "the best of the season."

The central figure in the play is one of extraordinary interest and the theme is timely. Mr. Klein has taken as his principal character a money baron of today who wants to be supreme leader in moneyed affairs—a financial Julius Caesar—an Alexander sighing for more moneyed worlds to conquer. His will is law and anyone crossing him in its exercise has to fall. He simply has his way to carry out his ideas for the advancement of himself and loves power more than he does gold, which to him is only a means of attaining his ambitious ends. Men are to be bought and sold and he is simply the highest bidder for their influence. When he cannot buy men, he plots their downfall as he does to Judge Rossmore of the Supreme Court, who has rendered a decision adverse to corporations in which this multi-millionaire is interested. The author has made the central figure an impressively natural creation; he has all the marks of a man of decision who does not hesitate at adopting any means for carrying out his purpose, short of actual murder. No dishonest method is too much for him. If there is no danger of conviction.

Against this element Mr. Klein has arrayed another force—that of love. Through the devotion of Jef*ferson Ryder,* son of the money king, "Ready Money Ryder," to Shirley Rossmore, daughter of the Judge whose ruin, is sought, the girl procures important documents revealing her father's innocence and humbles the multi-millionaire to begging her for an audience and then going to Washington to stop proceedings against the Judge. And before he goes Shirley Rossmore is the prom*ised wife of Jefferson Ryder.*

As "Ready Money Ryder," Oliver Doud Byron gave a characterization of the part that was an absolute delight. He "lived" the role and it was almost impossible to conceive that his brusqueness and various moods of anger and contrition were not real. As the heroine, Shirley Rossmore, Miss Flora Juliet Bowley took advantage of the excellent dramatic material and she won the admiration of the audience from the moment she walked before it and declared her determination to fight for her father's honor. The rest of the cast was first-class and showed careful allotment of parts.

Ingenious Jerseymen.

Patents issued to Jerseymen, reported by Drake & Co., solicitors of American and foreign patents, corner Broad and Market streets, Newark: Lifeboat lowering and hoisting apparatus for use on ships, J. Rosg, Kearny; washing-machine, H. Borneman, Paterson; single pilot-wire control system, C. M. Clark, Summit; reversing gear for phonographers, A. W. Gilbert, West Orange; automatic traffic-controlling system, C. W. Coleman, Westfield; overload safety apparatus, P. J. Darlington, Glen Ridge; ventilator, water-level alarm for expansion drum of hot-water heating system, J. Lamp, Harrison; East Orange; device for hairing violin bows, F. A. Hart, New Brunswick; steam and hot-water boiler, E. C. Haskins, Rutherford; sealing means for vessels, J. M. Hicks, Summit; glass-blowing machine, P. H. Hill, Salem; bottle-sealing machine, H. Knight, Jersey City; carburetor, W. D. Lenard, Jersey City; screwdriver and other hand tool, C. Mueller and H. Braunsdorf, Elizabeth; frictional reproducing attachmen for phonographs, C. Wheelan, Newark; fountain pen, W. W. Sanford, Newark; (2) clasp, A. Shedlock, Jersey City; circulating apparatus for refining, T. E. Smith, Weehawken; anti-refilling bottle, O. Stegmaier, Elizabeth; meat hook, G. E. and T. C. Thompson and R. Benedict, Paterson; musical instrument player, music roll coupling device, movable tracker for mechanical musical instruments, E. S. Votey, Summit; lavatory, C. Weelans, Trenton; briquet machinery, T. B. Willcox, Newark.

Mrs. I. R. Glen and her daughters, the Misses Glen, of Madison avenue, have returned from their summer va-

LIFE AND DEATH IN NEW JERSEY.

Registrar South Shows 3,238 Deaths and Their Causes Last Month.

The August statement of mortality in New Jersey prepared by David S. South, registrar of vital statistics, shows an estimated population for the month of 3,176,871. The total number of deaths reported to the State bureau of vital statistics during the month of August was 3,238. Infantile diarrhoea was the principal cause of death during the month of August, the number of decedents from this cause being 639, but this number is in accord with the records of previous years, and is doubtless mainly due to the rapid bacterial changes in unclean milk which are present in the high temperatures of the summer season.

Tuberculosis of the lungs caused 272 deaths, which is slightly above the average for this disease. Pneumonia caused 112 deaths, this being 50 less than during the previous month. Diseases of the digestive system (infantile diarrhoea excepted) caused 241 deaths. Diseases of the heart and circulatory system caused 261 deaths.

Typhoid fever caused 28 deaths, which is slightly below the monthly average 32 for the past year. The mortality from diseases of the nervous system still maintains a high rate, but the number of deaths recorded as having been due to this disease 370, does not equal the average monthly rate for the previous year, 426. Whooping cough was unusually prevalent, 42 deaths from this disease having been recorded.

The following table shows the number of certificates of death received in the State bureau of vital statistics during the month of August, 1906, and also the number of deaths from certain selected causes:

Typhoid fever, 28; measles, 9; scarlet fever, 13; whooping cough, 42; diphtheria and croup, 23; malarial fever, 7; tuberculosis of lungs, 272; tuberculosis of other organs, 51; cancer, 133; cerebro spinal meningitis, 35; diseases of circulatory system, 261; diseases of respiratory system (pneumonia excepted), 94; pneumonia, 112; infantile diarrhoea, 639; diseases of digestive system (infantile diarrhoea excepted), 241; Bright's disease, 166; suicide, 26; all other causes, 706; total, 3,238.

SEEKS TO CHECK SHORT LINE RAILWAY.

Raritan Township Man Wants to Enjoin Work Across His Property.

Trenton, Sept. 10.—Henry Rauch, of Raritan township, Middlesex county, has brought a suit in the Court of Chancery against the New Jersey Short Line Railroad Company and the Schuylkill Stone Company, which may result in tying up the construction of the railroad. The line is to connect the Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad and the North Jersey lines of the public Service Corporation, and is therefore designed to be an important factor in the through trolley traffic between Philadelphia and New York. Following the filing of the bill of complaint by Rauch, an order has been made by the court requiring the defendants to show cause in the Chancery Chambers at Newark next Tuesday why an injunction should not be issued restraining the construction of the new road across the property of the complainant.

Rauch owns about five acres of land in Raritan township and a lane leading therefrom is his only right of way to and from the public road. He alleges that in building its road the defendant railroad company is constructing an embankment across this lane, thus preventing him from using it. The Stone Company is doing the work, and is therefore made a party to the suit.

The complainant alleges that the defendants did not obtain his consent to build the road on his property, nor were condemnation proceedings taken. He charges that the work is proceeding entirely without warrant of law, and claims they have cut off all access to the lane on his property. He says that unless the work is stopped he will be irreparably injured. He prays for an injunction to restrain the companies from interferring in any way with his use of the lane, also to restrain the work on the embankment.

Peck quality, Peck service, Peck stock, all stand for the best in the dry goods line. Everybody who has ever dealt with S. C. Peck knows that. If you haven't dealt at his store you have missed lots of good things. West Front street.

Wise young men put something of their earnings aside to make them independent of "the boss" in days to come. The place the wisest of them put the savings is the Plainfield Trust Company, Park avenue. Special accounts with especially attractive features.

There is no question about the quality of groceries and meat purchased of S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street. There is but one quality at this store and that is the best. Once you patronize this firm you will always do so, for it has demonstrated its fairness by always giving full value.

Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of East Front street, has returned from her sojourn at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Janke, of West Sixth street, who have been sojourning at Lake Hopatcong, are expected home this week.

DIAMOND DUST.

"Lou" Wiltse, of Crescent avenue, who has been pitching for a team at Plattsburg, N. Y., returned home on Thursday. He will remain here now for the rest of the season, probably pitching an occasional game. His arm has entirely recovered and is as well and strong again as ever. On his way home from Plattsburg he stopped off at Rockville, Conn., and pitched a game for his friend, W. M. Lewis, who is managing the club at that place, and this started the rumor that he would finish the season there. "Lou" is still a member of the Johnstown Tri-State League Club and unless he succeeds in getting in one of the big leagues next season, will probably return to Pennsylvania next spring.

Harry Wolverton, formerly of the Philadelphia Nationals, and who has been playing with Williamsport, of the Tri-State League, has been engaged to manage the latter team during 1907. Wolverton is one of the best players in that league.

It is practically settled that William Murray, manager of the Jersey City Eastern League Club, will occupy a similar position with the Philadelphia Nationals next season. He is rated as one of the best managers in the business and should have no trouble making good in the big league.

The National Baseball Commission has decided against Frank Burke, of the Elizabethport Stars, in his request to be allowed to play National and American League clubs at the Port. The decision was no doubt rendered on technical points and is no credit to the commission.

It is said that Sam. Hope, formerly pitcher for the Plainfield team, and now with the Paterson Hudson River League team, will be given a try-out next week by Manager McGraw. Hope has been pitching winning ball this season.

President Harry Pulliam, of the National League, is made of the right kind of stuff. In view of all the troubles he has had recently with the New York National League Club, he announces himself a candidate for re-election for another term. He is determined, he says, to see fair play and is ready to fight any action that the New York Club may take.

"Christy" Mathewson showed his old-time form on Thursday, when he struck out the Brooklyn batsmen. This would have been considered a joke up to this year, but the Trolley Dodgers are not easy any more as some of the National League clubs well remember.

The Newark News nine won from the Elizabeth Times at Elizabeth Friday by 10 to 5.

The Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Imperial A. C., at Elizabeth on Saturday by a score of 3 to 1. Bert Trotter, of this city, plays with the Imperials, a team which Charles Nicolas is the manager. It is this team which will play the women's team of Chicago on Crescent Oval, Saturday, if arrangements can be made.

The Hudson River Baseball League season closed on Saturday. The pennant was won by Paterson. The others finished as follows: Poughkeepsie, Newburg, Kingston, Hudson and the Telecounty team of Saratoga, Glens Falls and Fort Edward.

The Connecticut League baseball season ended on Saturday, with Norwich at the top of the list with a margin of nine points over Springfield. The finishing order of the other six teams was as follows: New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury, Holyoke, Bridgeport and New London.

Brooklyn shut out the New York Giants on Saturday in each game of a double header. The Trolley Dodgers won the first contest by a score of 6 to 0 and the second by a score of 1 to 0. Not a single Giant had a ghost of a show to score.

Mrs. L. E. Cole, of West Front street, and her granddaughter, Miss Helen Cadmus, of Brooklyn, who have been spending some time at Asbury Park, returned home Friday night and on Saturday they went to Brooklyn, where Mrs. Cole will visit for a few days.

—The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is making rapid progress in the work of erecting its new building on East Fourth street, and that of placing its wires underground. This work will be completed on West Front street as far as Grant avenue.

Anything you may have to be cleaned or dyed in the way of wearing apparel, will be taken care of in the best way by Mary A. Brown, West Second street.

If you haven't inspected the fine line of goods at Charles E. Vail's jewelry store, you have no idea what beautiful things you can get at reasonable prices.

Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, is constantly offering specials at low prices. His special sale of tooth brushes was a great success.

The Dime Savings Institution offers exceptional opportunities for saving money. Place your spare cash in this bank and you will get liberal interest.

SAVING FINE TREES.

Hollow Trunks Filled with Cement, and Decay Arrested, Much as in Human Teeth.

Considerable interest attaches to the cement filling in the trunks of the great oaks near St. Charles avenue, and many questions have been asked about this method of arresting the decay of trees, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Horticulturists have found that they have been able to prevent limbs from decaying by wrapping them in cloth. This helps to exclude the dampness. Carrying their experiments one point farther, it was found that cement would preserve the trunks of trees from rotting, just as a filling in a tooth prevents further decay.

Two years ago last year as to what would be done to preserve the great oaks at Audubon park, which were losing their growth and vigor by reason of big holes in their trunks, and it was accordingly decided to fill the apertures with cement. Several cartloads of sand, mortar and brick were used in the operation, which has been attended with great success. Old trees regained their strength, new branches began to grow and altogether they put on signs of renewed life.

The art of "arboreal dentistry" has since then been perfected to such an extent that even a new bark can be given to a tree. It is proposed at some future date to cover the filling with a layer of cement the color of the oak's bark, which can be so worked as to resemble a natural covering. It is said that this will preserve the tree even better than will ordinary cement, while at the same time it will add to its beauty by hiding the mortar.

COULD NOT COME BACK.

Man Knew What He Was Doing When He Offered Large Reward for Dog He Hated.

Dr. John V. Shoemaker, the well-known physician and editor, was condemning euthanasia, the painless killing of incurables.

After indicating several cases where supposed incurables had been cured, Dr. Shoemaker said:

"And euthanasia might lay itself open to other abuses. Why, there may be, for all we know, enough euthanasia as it is. You've heard the story of the man and the Aberdeen terrier?

"There was a man whose wife had an Aberdeen terrier of extreme ferocity. It bit the man a number of times. He expressed great hatred for it.

"Finally the terrier bit a large piece out of the calf of the man's leg, and the next day it disappeared.

"The man advertised widely for the dog's return. He offered a reward of $100 for it. His friends were amazed.

"'I thought,' said a friend to him, 'that you hated that dog.'

"'I do,' the man admitted.

"'Why, then, do you offer such a large reward for its return?'

"'It's worth it to my wife.'

"'But you're foolish,' said the other. 'Such a large reward will be sure to bring it back.'

"'No, no,' said the man, with a smile. 'You see it's dead.'"

Why Some Unhappy Marriages.

The late Susan B. Anthony once attended a wedding in Rochester, and at the reception she said to the bridegroom:

"If you want this marriage to be a happy one, you must be as kind and tender always as you are now. Never relax for a moment your attitude of loving solicitude. Never relax it, though you find a hundred excuses for doing so.

"Such excuses, believe me, are easy to find. I once knew a young couple whose marriage had not turned out as happily as it should have done. The wife said to the husband one evening:

"'Before we were married, dear, you were always giving me presents. Why do you never give me any now?'

"'My love,' the husband replied, 'did you ever hear of a fisherman giving bait to a fish he had caught?'"

Woman's Whim.

The bachelor was entertaining a little company at dinner when one of the women guests discovered she had left her handkerchief with her wraps in the bedroom and gallantly volunteered to get it for her, and as he left the room she called to him: "It's in my hat." He thought that was a queer place to keep a handkerchief, but when he picked up the hat he was more surprised to find pinned on top of it his guest's eyeglasses. It took him several minutes to discover that the handkerchief was tucked away in the lining of the crown of the hat, and when he returned to the table he remarked on the queer place where he had found the glasses fastened.

"Oh, yes," the woman declared, "I always carry them there. It's a safe place, and then I always know where they are."

Defiance.

Nero as in a fierce mood at the peacock banquet.

"Great forum," whispered the fat senator, "the bird has picked up cream in his eye! Why, he looks as though he had the nerve to defy lightning."

"Lightning?" replied the lean senator. "Why, he looks as though he had the nerve to defy the head waiter."

But after the orange wine the great emperor was observed to toss over a golden tip.

SORRY NOW HE DIDN'T POST THE LETTER.

For a week the guilty wretch had possessed his secret in silence, starting at every sound and catching his breath at every shadow. Yet he told himself that he was quite safe, that no one knew of his guilt but himself. They might guess, but they could prove nothing. He would do it again if he had the chance. It was nature's first law to protect oneself.

He had thought it all out—how he would do it and what he would say. Yet when the first breath of suspicion was directed toward him he started and turned pale, and all the defence which he had so elaborately constructed fell to the ground when his wife turned her questioning eyes upon him, and said:

"John, did you post that letter to mother? I gave you last week?"

"Yes."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes."

"She never received it."

"Yes—I mean—dash it, I—"

"John, don't swear."

"Yes—er—I mean I won't my dear."

"It is very strange."

"Yes—er—perhaps it was lost in the post."

"Yes; that must be it,' mused his wife. "I wrote mother to postpone her visit for a few months, and I have just received a letter saying that we might expect her to-day."

Once alone, the wretched man prayed that a nine-story house might fall upon him and crush him.

MAN'S PERVERSITY.

"Oh, he's rather slow. I did all I could to encourage him, but he didn't kiss me."

"Well, he kissed me."

"How did it happen?"

"I did all I could to discourage him."

Easy.

"Did you sell horses to those two customers yesterday?" we ask of our friend the horse dealer.

"Yes."

"Make anything?"

"Off of Jones—yes."

"Cheat Wiley, Jones was the one that said he knew all about horses."

"I know. He was easy. The other fellow didn't know a thing about them and brought around three or four experts before he would buy."—Life.

The Other Way.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing."

"Yes?"

"Yes; I referred in conversation to Macbeth's ghost and got in an argument about it with a fellow who finally punched my nose."

"It was not a little learning, but a big hunk of ignorance that got you into trouble."—Houston Post.

The Gentle Roll.

Stubb—I see they are going to banish professional gamblers from the big liners and stop passengers from losing so often.

Penn—Well, there is one thing they can never stop some of the passengers from doing.

Stubb—What is that?

Penn—Why, their meals.—Chicago Daily News.

Bridge Lore.

"What is that poem about the bridge at midnight?" asked Mr. Flashington.

"I don't know,' answered Mrs. Dasher; but the poet knew what he was writing about. Bridge will keep you up till midnight, and after it if you happen to be loser."—Washington Star.

An Oversight.

"We hadn't any chips at the club last night, so we played poker with postage stamps."

"How did the game go?"

"God all mixed up. The fool government has made the reds worth twice as much as the blues."—Cleveland Leader.

Quite Another Matter.

Aunt Matilda—No, Gladys, I don't believe in a girl fibbing about her age. Depend upon it, by telling the truth she can get on just as well.

Gladys—Really, auntie. But suppose she doesn't want to get on? Supposing she wants to get off, eh?

A Melancholy Impression.

"Why did you give up that new brand of prepared food?"

"I got to liking it," answered the habitual invalid. "My physician has about convinced me that anything I enjoy eating is necessarily injurious to me."—Washington Star.

Knew Him.

"Don't you know Jim?"

"Sure; why?"

"You didn't speak to him."

"That's the sign that I know him."—Huston Post.

Of No Importance.

Gus—Who did Bessy marry?

Cholly—Five thousand a year; I forget her other name.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Sept. 16 (American Bible Society, Bible Study Sunday): "Our Debt to the Knowledge of God's Word."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

For the blessing of righteousness.—Ps. cxix, 1-16.

Some one has well said, "There is no pleasure comparable to that of standing on the vantage ground of truth." Phillips Brooks used to say, "There is a great central heart of truth running through this whole universe, and all good and all progress are belted off from that."

There are many different ways of declaring this same fact. The form of the expression is not important, but it is vastly important that we come to a realization of the nature of righteousness, its place in this world, and finally that we come to actual possession of it in as large measure as possible to us.

The value of supreme value to men is not physical, either in the form of bodily health and vigor or control of the powers of the natural world in various forms of wealth and invention.

Nor is it to be found in intellectual grasp of the problems of life in the forms of thought. Some of the worst failures in life have been made by men gifted with greatest genius.

The ultimate worth of all personal existence can be expressed only in terms of the soul.

The final source and ground of all existence lie in One who is all wise, all good and all rightness. He has made all creaturehood and all worlds in accord with His own nature. So far as we are in agreement with Him and His purposes regarding us we become increasingly capable of knowing truth, His truth, which is the controlling element in all the world. His truth, when made known to us in thought, becomes the rule of right for action. If followed, it brings most perfect beauty in all being and supreme satisfaction of heart. The blessing of being right and the satisfaction of knowing oneself to be right and at peace inside, and with God over all and in all, are of other gain than life holds in store. This blessing of righteousness is nowhere else in literature so fully and clearly set forth as in the Bible. Search all the world's writings and you will come back to this, "the book," for direction on this subject. Consider, then, the value of the Bible to us in this regard.

This truth of righteousness has been expressed in rules for life as moral law. Do you wish to find the fountain head of this knowledge? Then go up to the Bible for it. Read Mark x, 17-19; Heb. i, 1.

More than commands for obedience, it comes to us a promise of renovation and perfection of nature possible for all to attain. This is the gospel of Jesus Christ. Read again John xx, 30; Luke i, 1-4.

Still more, those who receive and do the truth and attain righteousness are united in the church of which Jesus Christ is head. For guidance of His church the Bible is specially helpful (Jas. ii, 1-4; iii, 1; v, 13; I. Tim. iii, 14, 15).

In searching the Scriptures we get a wisdom and power we will come back to as we have it not mechanical, but ethical and open to conscious enjoyment (II. Tim. iii, 15; Prov. i, 7).

How important becomes the study of the Bible when we fully realize that it is the repository of this most important of all knowledge for us! Especially is it needful for our young Christians in the league to acquire habits of systematic Bible study. Occasional reading of scraps will not do. If you want to know algebra you must study text book and perform the problems. If you want to know righteousness you must study "the book" and practice its teachings.

Place also emphasis on the work of the American Bible society in publishing and distributing in all lands this word of God.

Holiness.

Holiness is power. It utilises ability, fertilises the soil and energises the whole man. It is the fire and water in the engine, bringing out to its fullest capacity the strength of all the parts of the machinery, so that the greatest amount of spiritual power may be exerted in rolling back a revolted world to God. Holiness is God's power to man and man's power with God. Thus they become coworkers. Every man who dwelleth in God and God in him is an accommodated sense is God's man, which makes him a fit power house against all evil and for all good—to pluck out less souls from the incoming flood and storm of wrath, lifting them up into the sweet serenity and protection of the Rock of Ages. Without holiness we are weak as a bruised reed; with it we are like an impregnable and well garrisoned fort which will stand unharmed the hottest siege, at the same time raining like a hailstorm red-hot balls from the magazine of the gospel on an armed world against Christ.—Rev. W. H. Wilson.

Now.

If you have a kind word, say it;
Thronging hearts soon sink to rest.
If you owe a kindness, pay it;
Life's sun hurries to the west.

Can you do a kind deed? Do it
From despair some soul to save.
Show each day you grow through it
Marching onward to the grave.

If some grand thing for the morrow
You are planning, do it now.
From the fleeting present borrow
Frost soon gathers on the brow.

Speak thy word, perform thy duty;
Night is coming deep with rest;
Stars will gleam with fadeless beauty,
Dreams whisper of their bequest.

Days for deeds are few, my brother;
Then today fulfill thy vow.
If you mean to help another,
Do not dream it; do it now.

—Selected.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 16.

By REV. S. H. DOTLE.

Topic—Christ's Life IV. How Christ met His enemies and how we should meet ours.—Luke iv, 28-30; xi, 37-44; xxiii, 32, 34.

One of the glories of Christianity is its teachings upon the subject of enmity. The natural disposition of man is to hate his enemies and to do all possible to their hurt and detriment in life—at least to exact from them the payment for the injury done to us. The natural heart, as the old law, demands "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." And this feeling is so strong that on many occasions men will not even wait for the human law to exact recompense, but take the law into their own hands. But Christ took much higher ground than this, teaching that we should love our enemies, bless them, do good to them that hate us and pray for them that despitefully use us and persecute us—high ground indeed, and yet the command of Christ to all who are Christians.

Not only in His teaching, but also in His life, Christ set forth the proper attitude of Christians toward their enemies.

1. Christ passed by His enemies. When He had preached at Nazareth, His former home, the people "were filled with wrath and rose up and thrust Him out of the city" and would have cast Him from the brow of a hill, "but He, passing through the midst of them, went His way." On this occasion He simply ignored His enemies and, leaving them to their own devices, went about the performance of His own life's work. There was no hatred in His heart for them. Had the opportunity arisen He would undoubtedly have befriended them, but the situation demanded that He go on regardless of them. Christian citizens have enemies who must be treated in exactly the same way. They will accept no offers of friendship. It is impossible to live in peace with them, and the only thing to do is to let them alone and to go about our work as if they did not exist. Our lives should be peaceable, and when we cannot live together with men peaceably we should live peaceably apart from them. Christian people must often dwell apart in unity. For them to dwell together in unity is much more beautiful and preferable, but when they cannot they should dwell apart. Better apart in peace than together in enmity and strife and bitterness.

2. Christ denounced His enemies. His enemies on one occasion were the Pharisees. He was invited by a certain Pharisee to dinner and sat down to eat without observing the formal custom of washing. The Pharisees marveled, whereupon Jesus denounced their inward meanness, although they were so particular about outward cleanliness. In this instance we should be careful about following the example of Christ. Religious teachers must denounce the enemies of the kingdom of God, but the individual must be exceedingly careful even about denouncing the sins of his enemies, who may also be the enemies of God. There is "righteous indignation" and perhaps "righteous denunciation," but both must be exercised with the greatest care lest they become unrighteous instead of righteous, personal instead of representative.

3. Christ forgave His enemies. On the cross He prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." This is the most sublime illustration of forgiveness that the world has ever seen. We should forgive our enemies. There is no question here as to the duty of following Christ's example, and in forgiving our enemies we come nearest to Christlikeness. "To err is human; to forgive is divine."

BIBLE READINGS.

Matt. v, 43-48; Luke vi, 27-35; Acts vii, 60; Rom. xii, 14-20; I. Cor. iv, 12-14; I. Pet. ii, 19-25; iii, 8-11.

Done In X's.

The editor of the Australian Christian Endeavor Link asked the various state presidents of that country to send a report of the progress of the year. Rev. L. L. Wirt, president of the Queensland union, sent greeting in the words of the following:

DECALOGUE.

I.—Keep the X commandments.

II.—Give a X th of your income to the Lord.

III.—There were X virgins with lamps. How about your oil supply?

IV.—Forget not the grace of gratitude. There were X cleansed. Where were the nine?

V.—The Lord has given you five talents. Don't bury them; make them X.

VI.—Seldom, if ever, be discouraged. O lookout committee, until you have secured that X per cent increase.

VII.—Don't forget to have members reports £X for missions last year. Go thou and do likewise.

VIII.—Never should not be a boy or girl in your church, even X years of age, who is not an Endeavorer.

IX.—Seldom, if ever, imitate Sir Calahad to say, "My strength is as the strength of X because my heart is pure."

X.—Of your prayer meeting X minutes before beginning the day will give you courage and confidence for anything.

British Union Enrollment.

During the past twelve months the British Christian Endeavor union enrolled 454 new societies. Eighty-four of these were Baptist, seventy-seven Congregational, sixty-six Primitive Methodist, sixty-four Presbyterian, forty United Methodist Free churches, and a number of other denominations were represented. Three hundred and twenty-three of the societies were English, sixty-one Scottish, twenty-seven Irish and forty-three Welsh.

In Russia.

Christian Endeavor prayer meetings are still prohibited in Russia here and there, being held by certain officials to be political meetings.

USING CIGAR BANDS.

Perhaps there is no more popular fancy at present than that of decorating with cigar bands.

The materials needed are cigar bands, a glass plate or bowl, a piece of felt, tinfoil, a bottle of paste and a bottle of liquid glue.

Perhaps the easiest thing upon which to experiment is a shallow glass bowl.

This should be five, six or more inches in diameter and about one inch deep.

It is well to understand, though, that the larger the plate is, the easier it is to manage.

One may start decorating by placing the centerpiece or picture in the center of the back, with face to the glass.

Attach the ends of four or eight bands to this centerpiece and fasten their outer ends to the edge of the bowl.

For this purpose use photograph paste or fish glue.

Then fill the space between these main bands according to taste and fill up all open spaces with tinfoil.

Many beautiful designs may be made by working similarly shaped bands of different colors into stars, circles and squares.

When the design is finished, put a heavy coat of any strong liquid glue about an inch wide around the edge of the bowl, then stretch over the entire back a piece of dark red or green felt.

In the same manner glass plates, tobacco jars, glasses and ashtrays may be decorated.

Old vases also make good foundations.

Huge bottles with large necks may in this way also be transformed into charming Japanese-looking ornaments.

A "Presidents" plate may be made by using a picture of George Washington as a centerpiece and grouping around it, in circular form, the cigar bands bearing the pictures of the different Presidents of the United States.

Red, white and blue bands alone should be used in this color scheme.

Kodak pictures may be used as centerpieces and many a girl will consider herself fortunate to receive a picture of herself in such an attractive frame.

Old wooden stands may be rejuvenated in a like manner.

After covering wood or any nontransparent material with bands, however, the surface should be covered with a thin coat of shellac and then varnished.

Handkerchief boxes, glove boxes and letter boxes made or wood may be all treated in this manner.

In regard to the cost of the material, it is hard to make an accurate estimate, inasmuch as the prices vary in different places.

However, a package containing fifty cigar bands, two centerpieces and one piece of tinfoil may be bought for 15 cents.

The tinfoil, which comes in different colors, may be bought at 1 cent per sheet.

The glass plates and trays vary from 3 cents up to 25 cents apiece.

LINGERIE LILTS.

Women are learning extravagance in so far as lingerie is concerned, and whether they buy cheap or costly lingerie the chances are that they are buying more expensive garments than they did only a few years ago.

English nainsook is a happy compromise twixt thin and thick, but is seldom found in the ready-made lingerie.

Not long ago a search for approximate statistics concerning the three hundred dollars a fashionable woman brought to light estimates of from $2,500 to $3,500 as the annual lingerie outlay of a woman of the very wealthy society set.

Valenciennes lace is the lace par excellence for lingerie garments.

One must be stoutly resolute against temptation at every counter in the store and yet fall a helpless victim to the wiles of the saleswoman in the lingerie department, backed by the beauty of the wares she displays.

Just how there is displayed in one of the shops a trousseau set consisting of nightgown, chemise, drawers and petticoat for which the modest sum of $250 is asked.

One-piece garments, such as nightgowns and chemises, are sometimes held in loosely at the waist by a band of beading, through which ribbon is run.

The amount of muslin underwear sold is comparatively small nowadays, and our grandmothers would look in amazement at the sheer, flimsy stuff from which we fashion our undergarments.

The intricacy and quantity of the hand work bestowed upon many of the finest garments is positively bewildering; yet at first glance there is nothing striking nor conspicuous about the designs.

Upon the hand-made lingerie embroidered eyelets worked in the material frequently take the place of the applied beading, and a favorite effect is obtained by setting these eyelets at each side of groups of tiny hand tucks, so that the ribbon will run under the tucks and over the narrow, plain spaces between the groups of tucks.

A Tight Squeeze.

"Was I scared?" exclaimed Miss Lacy. "Well I should say! My hair simply dropped down into my boo

"Impossible," retorted her cu friend. "It couldn't possibly your waist."

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
Published a.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Terms: $2.00 per year.
A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.
THURSDAY, SEPT. 15, 1906.

MR. PERKINS.

Assemblyman Perkins' answer to the attacks made on his legislative record no doubt will strike the average voter quite favorably. His reasons for opposing an investigation of the insurance companies, however, appear to be a trifle weak. Merely because those who desired the probe to be made were actuated by purely political motives, it does not seem that the Union county man was justified in helping to prevent it.

It would have been the part of wisdom for him to do all in his power to further the object particularly as he believed that any investigation would have been unnecessary. Had the investigation been made and no damaging evidence found, as Mr. Perkins thinks would have been the case, the Colbyites efforts would have acted as a boomerang and at the same time served the purpose of demonstrating to the whole country that the insurance companies in New Jersey are conducted on a sound basis.

Except for this single matter, Mr. Perkins has amply demonstrated that he holds a good record as a legislator. Certainly he has been instrumental in accomplishing much for the best interests of the people.

It is gratifying to learn from his own lips that Mr. Perkins is not committed to any candidate for United States Senator. Unfortunately for his own interests he has not gone as far as Judge Runyon who declares that if the Assemblyman-at-large will vote for Senator Dryden. But as he says there are many good men for the place and as he positively declares that he will vote for the best man it would be unjust to believe that he will favor the Newark candidate.

ACKERMAN'S CHARACTER.

That Mr. Colby declared in his debate with Hillery a short time ago that Senator Ackerman is neither straight nor independent fortunately for the leaders of the "New Idea" in Union county is now denied by the Essex county Senator. Neither he nor anyone else could convince the people of Plainfield that Mr. Ackerman is not a man of absolute integrity, holding the highest ideals politically and otherwise. His course in the last Legislature shows that he did his own thinking and acted solely upon his own judgment, always having in mind the duty he owed to his constituents.

The charge, possibly be relegated to the political canard pile were it not for the fact that men in the regular organization take issue with the Essex county Senator on his denial. It is asserted that proof may be forthcoming to disprove Mr. Ackerman's honesty either by direct words or shake of the head when Senator Hillery pointed out the Plainfield legislator as an honest, independent and sincere man.

It is hard to believe that Mr. Colby would make any attempt at prevarication. Even his bitterest political enemies have never shown any inclination to put him down as one who would be guilty of falsehood. If it is proven, however, that he did actually use such words against Mr. Ackerman a severe blow has been dealt the Colbyites in Union county.

THE CANDIDATES.

Whatever may be the outcome of the Republican primaries on Sept. 25, there is no reason why any member of the party cannot vote for the winning municipal ticket. Both Mr. Mellick and Mr. Depew are men of the highest integrity. Neither would allow himself to be bossed by any one man or set of men; neither one could be led to do anything save that which is for the best interests of the city of Plainfield. While Mr. Mellick is somewhat better known to the people of the community by reason of his past official services, his opponent, Mr. Depew, has amply demonstrated by his services in the Plainfield Protective Association that he has the interests of the people at heart and is a man of much civic virtue. It is a healthy condition politically when men show independence of spirit and much good can come from the present dissention in the party. Let the voters fight it out squarely at the primaries and then turn in for the winning ticket.

APPEAL FOR CONTRIBUTIONS.

According to the treasurer of the fund, the free open air band concerts given on Friday night throughout the summer have been conducted at a loss. At the present time the deficit amounts to approximately $125 and it is very necessary that that amount be raised at once. On Friday night the final concert will be given. At that time an opportunity will be afforded the general public to make good the deficit and it is to be hoped that there will be a generous response to the appeal. In the meantime, The Daily Press will be glad to receive donations, which will be promptly acknowledged in these columns and transmitted to the treasurer of the fund.

AMUSEMENTS.

The regular season at the New Amsterdam theatre opened last Monday evening with Harry Bulger in Henry W. Savage's production of "The Man From Now," a most unique musical play written by John Kendrick Bangs and Vincent Bryan, presented with an exceptionally brilliant score composed by Manuel Klein. Both play and star made a hit. Mr. Bulger is most happily cast as "Steve Waffles," agent of a patent medicine, and represented his previous Broadway successes. Mr. Savage has given the play a most elaborate mounting. The cast is an excellent one. A score of small children are introduced in the second act. The scene is "The Nursery in Ireland." They opened at this house last Monday and played to audiences that packed the theatre to the doors. They have given their play an entirely new equipment of scenery and costumes and their company is practically the same as last season. Their engagement ends Saturday, the 15th inst. They will be followed on Monday, the 17th, by "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Klaw & Erlanger has engaged Col. Michael Daly, the famous English broadsword and ancient Roman sword fencer, to train the 250 men who will appear as Greek soldiers in the great battle scene in "The Prince of India" at the Broadway theatre, the 24th inst. Hassan Ali, an ex-Turkish cavalryman, has also been retained to instruct the 300 men who will appear as Turkish Janissaries. This battle scene will be sensational indeed.

Endorsed universally by the press and public, "A Society Circus," at the New York Hippodrome continues to attract thousands twice daily to the mammoth playhouse and to prove its title as the greatest theatrical production not only of the metropolis but of the whole world. Governor N. C. Blanchard, of Louisiana, after witnessing the performance, declared: said: "It is the most wonderful, the most beautiful and the greatest show I have ever witnessed. It is impossible to adequately describe it and must be seen to be appreciated. I have never seen, in all my travels, anything in the amusement world to approach it in its magnificence and grandeur." And the opinion of Louisiana's chief executive is voiced by all. More dramatic than ten dramas; more operatic than ten operas; more circussy than ten circuses is "A Society Circus." The wealth of features include the greatest chorus ever assembled; tuneful, catchy music; sensational and marvelous arenic acts especially engaged by Messrs. Shubert & Anderson and seen for the first time in this country; a marvelous ballet of one hundred girls, interpreting the "Song of the Flowers," and as a climax the Court of the Golden Fountains, the most beautiful tableau ever presented and possible only on the immense Hippodrome stage. Matinees are given daily.

Marie Cahill opened her regular New York season at Daly's theatre on Monday, Aug. 27th, in the new musical comedy "Marrying Mary," by Edwin Milton Boyle. The music has been done by Silvio Hein, composer of the music of Miss Cahill's last success, "Molly Moonshine," and the lyrics are by Benjamin Hapgood Burt, who last year composed the words of Miss Cahill's well known song, "Robinson Crusoe's Isle." "Marrying Mary" is the triumphant effort of Miss Cahill's starring career. With two such successes as "Nancy Brown" and "Molly Moonshine" to her credit, she again scores heavily in the new piece. But when one considers that Marie Cahill always does a thing well, and is never satisfied with standing still, it is not rash to agree with her friends who maintain that in "Marrying Mary" she has something new and big to offer. Miss Cahill has surrounded herself this year with a group of players that ought forever with their excellent reputations save theatrical managers the ignominy of engaging weak companies so that their own defects will be less evident. William Courtleigh, Eugene Cowles, Roy Atwell, Charles Dickson, Mark Smith, H. Gay Woodward, Ben Grinnelle, Annie Buckley and Virginia Staunton with an pretty chorus as ever walked the boards at old Daly's, all help to give "Marrying Mary" a fair start and a good one.

The revival of Dion Boucicault's beautiful Irish comedy-drama, "Arrah-Na-Pogue," by Andrew Mack, is scheduled for production at the Grand Opera House on Monday, September 10, and will doubtless stimulate lively interest throughout the entire English-speaking world Mr. Mack has been received by the most enthusiastic and delighted assemblages of the theatre-goers of all ages and conditions of life, who have gone away recommending him and his plays to their friends. Mr. Mack as Shaun the Post has a part that gives him great scope as an actor and singer. Any one who wishes to appreciate fully the difference between the true Irish-man and the stage creation should see Mr. Mack's performance. With a merry twinkle in his eyes and with his pleasant and well trained voice, distinguished by the brogue he manifests in his portraiture of Shaun, he possesses all the animation, the wit and spontaneity of his race. Mr. Mack will be supported by a company of well known players and a chorus of twenty trained male and female voices. A complete scenic and electric production is carried, and it is said that the organization is the largest that has ever toured in an Irish play.

Blanche Walsh has settled down for a run in "The Kreutzer Sonata" at the Manhattan theatre, where Jacob Gordin's tremendous domestic drama has gripped the theatre goers of New York, with its powerful tragic scenes, its delightful comedy and its rapidly moving and interesting story. It is a real life story that holds attention from the rise of the curtain, and every line there is an element of human nature that compels silent attention until the last act climax calls out a whirlwind of applause. The acting of Miss Walsh as the devoted and suffering Hattie has been instantly recognized as the acme of art, and she has again demonstrated that she is the foremost tragic actress of today. The houses are packed nightly and during the past week more than 600 were turned away unable to secure seats.

At the Colonial theatre, Boston, Monday, September 24, Henry B. Harris will make his first metropolitan offering of Charles Klein's latest play of American life and events, "The Daughters of Men." For the new production Mr. Harris has organized a notable cast of players including Effie Shannon, Orrin Johnson, Dorothy Donnelly, Herbert Kelcey, Grace Filkins, Ralph Delmore, Kate McLaurin, E. W. Morrison, Carl Gerard, Joseph Selman, Edwin Brandt, Frank Brownlee, George Parsons, Lynn Phatt, J. W. Howland and Joseph Adelman.

Rose Stahl, under the management of Henry B. Harris, made her New York debut as a star at the Savoy theatre, New York, September 1, in James Forbes' four-act play, "The Chorus Lady," scoring an immediate hit.

Here is what some of the New York papers said:

"Miss Stahl's portrayal is an luminous as Mr. Mansfield's Chevrial, Mrs. Carter's Zaza, or Mr. Warfield's Music Master."—Evening Mail.

"A great success."—New York Herald.

"A wonderful creation."—Evening Globe.

"Held audience breathless until the curtain fell."—Morning World.

"This looks as though Miss Stahl and "The Chorus Lady" had come to stay.

The opening of new plays does not seem to affect in the least the big success of "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris is presenting at the Lyceum theatre, New York, and which is now in the second season of its success. The theme of the play which is most perfect in the times, showing as it does the influence of the great moneyed interests in American politics, has a very wide appeal to all classes of American people, and bids fair to give the Klein piece an everlasting popularity. That this excellent drama will remain at the Lyceum far into the winter season, there seems at present little doubt.

MEETING OF THE VETS.

Members of the N. J. C. V. E. A. Enjoy Outing.

Jere F. Garretson, Charles Scherrerhorn, J. A. Haynes and John Rowland, of this city, veteran employees of the New Jersey Central, were among the other members of the Veteran Employees' Association, of the road, that enjoyed the annual outing at Lake Hopatcong on Saturday. The excursion was made the trip up and from the lake in a special train composed of four coaches When the train left here at 9:10 o'clock in the morning, one coach was filled, and by the time the train arrived at its destination every coach was filled with veterans.

It was regretted that W. G. Besler, vice-president and general manager, could not be present. He left earlier in the week on a trip to Canada. George H. Frost, president of the association, was master of ceremonies, and under his direction everyone had a good time. A fine dinner was served at noon and the afternoon was enjoyed in various ways. The train left for home at 6 o'clock, arriving here at 6:07. an early start being made to make the Long Branch connections.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shimer, of West Fifth street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Daisy Shimer, to Benjamin Martin, Jr., of Washington, D. C. The wedding will take place at the bride's home on Wednesday afternoon, September 26, at 5 o'clock.

Montross "Spiked" in Ball Game.

While playing second base in a game of ball at Newark, Sunday, "Jimmy" Montross, of this city, was severely spiked in the right arm. He attempted to stop a man from making a steal and in doing so the metal tips on the player's shoes struck him with full force. The arm was torn from the shoulder to the elbow and a physician had to be called to dress the wound. "Jimmy" is a member of the Washington A. A., of Newark.

LITERARY.

There is a city in New England with schools for every class of citizens; schools for mechanics, for busy mothers, for backward children, for adults who do not speak English. They call it "A City of Special Schools," and Marion Melius has written a wonderfully interesting article about for the September number of Everybody's Magazine. Whether you are parent or teacher or student, you will want to read this inspiring story of experiments that have succeeded, the prophecy of the education of the future. Did you know that Australia is governed by laboring men? and that it is a sane and sound government, with many wise deeds to its credit, likely to endure long, a pattern to other nations? In this far-off country Chas. Edward Russell has found an army of "Soldiers of the Common Good," and he has written of them in what is one of the most brilliant and instructive articles he has ever done. We Americans shall do well to study Australia's story—Mr. Russell shows that he has studied our.

"The Story of Montana," the great serial for the coming year, begun in the August McClure's, gains impetus as it goes along. From its striking picture of the early days of the commonwealth, it turns to the development of the mining industry, the pictures sque conditions and enormous fortunes which resulted, and the bitter feud that arose between Marcus Daly and William A. Clark. The story of the quarrel, of Clark's first attempts to reach the United States Senate, of the spectacular defeat, and of the Montana capital fight, is told in the September McClure's. It makes one of the most interesting pages in American history. "A Royal Romance," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, is a timely narrative of the young King of Spain, courtship of an English girl. One of the remarkable features of the article is the account of a personal interview with the Princess Ena. The thirty years' war between the New York Mutual and Equitable companies is related with some surprising disclosures in chapter V. of Burton J. Hendrick's "The Story of Life-Insurance." Eugene Wood contributes an original article on "Niagara."

Four articles on educational topics appear in the September Review of Reviews. The editor, Dr. Albert Shaw, treats at length, in a copiously illustrated article, "What Hampton Institute is Doing for the Nation;" H. W. Ross tells of certain successful experiments in New York City in the line of instructing business and professional men in their own vocations in an illustrated paper under the title: "Vocational Schools for the Out-of-School;" Mr. Alexander Petrunkevitch, son of the well-known Constitutional Democratic leader of the now defunct Russian Duma, discusses "Education and Revolution in Russia;" and Mr. Frederick Haskin gives a pictorial description of teh apprentice school maintained by the Hoe Printing Company in New York.

If the first of the fall numbers of this superb magazine, which is now on all news stands, is an indication of what the publishers propose to furnish for the coming months the public will have reason to be delighted. The cover of the September number is particularly striking, not only for its artistic color work but in the dainty creations which it portrays. Among the prominent people whose portraits are shown in this number are Cecelia Loftus, Julia Sanderson, Duchess of Marlborough, Viola Allen, Secretary Root and family, the late Lady Curzon, Hon. Whitelaw Reed, the late Russell Sage and a number of exceedingly beautiful silver point drawings of prominent people throughout the world. In the panoramic form are superb rural scenes from different parts of the United States and some specially attractive views of Paris. Another in the series of caricatures is presented this month in the person of DeWolf Hopper in his character as King Essartes in "Happy Land." Burr Publishing Company, New York.

Raymond F. Martin Weds.

Allison Manning Line, of East Front street, today announced the wedding of his daughter, Miss Emma Line, to Raymond Fenner Martin, son of Horace J. Martin, of Watchung avenue. The ceremony was performed Saturday night at 8 o'clock by Rev. Shepherd Knapp, assistant pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York. The bride, gowned in white and carrying white roses, was attended by her father and two sisters. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Martin left on a wedding trip. At its conclusion they will make their home in New York.

Singing Section's Annual Affair.

Thirty members of the Singing Section of the Gesang and Turn Verein held their annual clam bake on the banks of the Passaic river at the Baengerbund fishing club grounds, Sunday. It was a quiet affair, limited to members. The bake was served by Herman Baulandt, of Union Hill.

Leonard F. Creesy.

Leonard F. Creesy, aged eighty-four years, died yesterday at the home of his son, F. W. Creesy, of Park avenue, Fanwood. He was a native of Boston but came to Fanwood about a month ago to remain. The funeral will be held at the son's home tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and the interment will be private.

CLAIM PARKER SCHOOL IS IMPROPERLY BUILT

RESIDENTS ABOUT DEWEY PARK PROTEST AGAINST THE ACCEPTANCE.

The Board of Education of Piscataway Township went to the new Parker schoolhouse in the Dewey Park section Saturday afternoon, to inspect it. It was expected that the structure would be accepted, but when the Board reached the school they found a delegation of twenty-five citizens, led by Theodore Pettit, awaiting them with a protest against the acceptance.

It was charged by the protestants that the building had not been constructed according to the specifications, and that it was jerry-built all the way through. It was alleged that the sheathing was not put on properly, that he sills were improperly locked, and that the roof was not tight enough for wear and tear in rainy weather.

The Board went over the structure, and decided that braces were necessary in several places. The Board deferred final action on the building, pending further investigation.

BREWERY DEAL AND EXCISE ACT.

Ex-Governor Says His Part in Plant Transfer Plan Was Only Business.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees has said that there is absolutely nothing but a purely business transaction in his connection with the negotiations for the transfer of the plant of the Rising Sun Brewing Company in Elizabeth to a syndicate.

The developments of Friday tend to show that, even if the transfer of the plant to a syndicate, headed by the former Governor and Henry H. Isham, had been consummated, the rights of the latter in the property may be speedily upset. The price set for an option on the property was $360,000. It was signed by Mr. Voorhees and witnessed, it is said, by Judge Swift, and the transaction, which covered the interest of George Seeber, the president of the company, was to have been completed last Saturday a week ago, between 10 and 12 o'clock. Mr. Voorhees, Mr. Isham and the other financial interests involved were at the brewery ready to sign the necessary papers, when Wm. R. Wilson, counsel for Philip Schauble, obtained an injunction restraining Seeber from making the transfer.

May Abolish Board of Freeholders.

An effort will be made during the fall campaign to abolish the Somerset County Board of Freeholders and secure the appointment of commissioners, similar to the latter, taken by Middlesex county and other counties in the State. The principle argument in favor of the change is that a commission will be far less expensive than a Board of Freeholders and that it will do away with a great deal of red tape necessary under the present method of county control. It is understood that there is a growing sentiment in favor of the change.

Miss Southworth Now Mrs. Gibbs.

Miss Elizabeth Southworth, who was a member of the Watchung school teaching corps last year, was married on August 6 at her home in Binghamton, N. Y., to Howard B. Gibbs, an instructor in the Worcester, Mass., Technical school. They are now making their home at Worcester. Mrs. Gibbs was one of the most popular teachers in the borough schools and her departure was greatly regretted.

Home From Trip Abroad.

Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh reached home Saturday morning from their trip abroad. They came over from Berlin on the Princess Auguste Victoria.

Democratic Caucus.

The North Plainfield Democrats will meet at Spencer's Hall tomorrow night at 7:20 o'clock to select delegates to the county and congressional conventions.

THIEVES GET CLOTHING AND FANCY FURNISHINGS

THE BLUE FRONT STORE IS ROBBED BY FASTIDIOUS CROOKS.

Clothing and furnishings to the value of $110 were stolen from the Blue Front store, West Front street, some time between Saturday night and Monday morning, by fastidious thieves. They carried away fifteen suits of clothing, choosing only the best quality, some of the finest handkerchiefs and furnishings on the shelves, a few choice pins and cuff buttons, and two of the best dress suit cases in the store.

Entrance was gained by forcing the rear door. Harry Feinberg, the proprietor of the store, left the lower floor bolt of the stationary half of the door out Saturday night, and the thieves found it an easy matter to force the other half open, both bolts slipping out of their fastenings.

From the fact that two suit cases are missing it is supposed the thieves numbered two. It is surmised that each filled a case, and walked calmly about the streets on their way, like untroubled vacationists or week-end visitors. They confined themselves to two sizes of suits, 38 and 40, and the second time the Blue Front has been entered within a week. Six stores in the neighborhood were tampered with last week. and Frank Rowley's drug store, one of the six, was entered three weeks ago.

STIRLING-PEAPACK TIE.

Renz Fans 22 Men In Game That Darkness Ended.

Stirling and Peapack fought an eleven-inning tie battle Saturday afternoon, at Stirling. The score was 5 to 5.

Renz made a strike-out record, fanning 22 men. Sturgis, while not so spectacular in his boxwork, was dogged in his grip on the game and fought back the threatening tide of runs when men were on bases. Darkness put a stop to the struggle.

A feature of the contest was Marenghi's home-run smash in the eighth inning. Line-up and score by innings.

Stirling—Wahl, 1f; J. Jacot, 1b; Moffett, c; Marenghi, ss; Renz, p; Helevon, 2b; Loolian, 2b; Volke, cf; Heilman, rf.

Peapack A. C.—Faust, c; Hill, ss; J. Ike, lf; Devine, 2b; Sturgis, p; Hilliard, rf; Trimmer, 1b; G. Ike, 3b; Howard, cf.

R. H. E.
S. A. C. 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0—2 7 2
P. A. C. 0 0 0 1 0 2 0 1 1 0 0—5 7 3

BATTED OUT VICTORY.

After practically losing the game Saturday afternoon by loose work, the 'Plains team saved itself with a batting rally in the ninth inning and defeated the strong Nantic A. S. team, of Harrison, by the score of 6 to 5. The game was the best the local fans have witnessed this season. The visitors are the amateur champions of Hudson county and put up a clean, snappy game.

In the ninth the visitors went out in one, two, three order, and the home team, with the score five to four against them, started their half of the ninth with a determination to do or die. Weiss put on steam but it did no good. Two runs were brought across the rubber with only one out. Line-up and score by innings:

Niantic—Harmburg, lf; Francis, 3b; Weiss, p; Cook, 2b; Ritter, ss; Sauers, 1b; West, cf; Johnson, rf; Gammeon, rf. Scoter Plains—Vanderbilt, rf; Reick, lf; Baldwin, ss; Elbert, c; Frentz, 1b; Schrobeck, 2b; J. Alebts, 2b; A. Frentz, p; H. Alberts, c. Umpire—George Johnston.

R. H.
Niantics .....0 0 0 0 1 1 3 0 0—5 7
'Plains .....1 1 0 1 0 0 1 2 0—6 10

Engagement Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Etta Acker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Acker, of Westervelt avenue, to Charles A. Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Miles, of Somerset street.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot Liberty St., N. R.
In Effect Sept. 9, 1906.

For New York—5.27, 6.27, 6.56, 6.58, 6.59, 7.06, 7.08, 7.28, 7.47, 7.58, 8.02, 8.11, 8.26, 8.36, 8.47, 9.02, 9.11, 9.26, 9.36, 9.47, 10.02, 10.11, 10.26, 10.36, 10.47, 11.02, 11.11, 11.26, 11.36, 11.47, 12.02, 12.11, 12.26, 12.36, 12.47, 1.02, 1.11, 1.26, 1.36, 1.47, 2.02, 2.11, 2.26, 2.36, 2.47, 3.02, 3.11, 3.26, 3.36, 3.47, 4.02, 4.11, 4.26, 4.36, 4.47, 5.02, 5.11, 5.26, 5.36, 5.47, 6.02, 6.11, 6.26, 6.36, 6.47, 7.02, 7.11, 7.26, 7.36, 7.47

COLBYITES APPROVE "M. O." OF WATER SUPPLY

Elect Former Councilman R. L. Lee Chairman and He Resigns.

HUSTLE FOR VOTES

Reformers to Open Headquarters and to Distribute Literature—Penny Named For Councilman.

The Central Committee of the Colbyites organized at the Camera Club rooms, Saturday night, and the first thing they did after organization was to adopt a platform, with municipal ownership of the water supply as the leading plank. The meeting was attended by almost all the forty-three members.

Most of the platform was readymade. The whole platform of the county organization, which was adopted at the organization meeting in Elizabeth early in the summer, was adopted in its entirety as a start, and the declaration for municipal ownership was added after a brief discussion. The M. O. plank was not formally phrased. On a motion by Chairman Tugwell, of the First ward branch, it was voted that the organization favored "the principle of municipal ownership of the water supply."

"I do not believe that we should say how the ownership of the supply should be acquired," said Mr. Tugwell in presenting his motion. "The work of acquiring a plant should be worked out in detail when the municipal officers are empowered to take such action." The committeemen agreed with him.

The presentation of the motion was greeted with warm applause. It seemed to be the conviction among the committeemen that municipal ownership was right and wise, and that there was a general sentiment in its favor among the voters.

Robert L. Lee, of the Third ward, was elected chairman, after H. C. Tracy, chairman of the Second ward branch; G. W. V. Moy, of the Third ward; Mr. Tugwell, and Charles H. Frost, of the Second ward, had declined the nomination.

Chairman Lee handed in his resignation today. His declination follows:

"To the Central Committee of the Plainfield branches of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation.

"Gentlemen—After carefully considering my acceptance of the chairmanship of the committee, I have decided that my retention of the position might be open to misconstruction, in view of my former affiliation with what is known as the machine

"I think it would be for the best interests of the league to have as chairman a man who had never been so affiliated, and I therefore beg to tender my resignation.

"In doing so, however, I beg to assure you of my continued and deep interest in the movement, and will do all in my power to assist in advancing same.

"Very respectfully,

"ROBERT L. LEE."

Sept. 10, 1906.

Mr. Tracy was elected vice chairman; N. Mansfield Smith, secretary, and Mr. Frost, treasurer.

Arrangements for the establishment of a central headquarters, from where literature could be distributed, banners and transparencies displayed, etc., will be left to the committee. The four ward chairmen, Mr. Tugwell, Mr. Tracy, F. E. Kinsman, and Angus Allen, were appointed a committee, with power, to pick out the headquarters. C. H. Frost and G. W. V. Moy were named as a committee to stock the headquarters with literature.

Ways and means were discussed at length. It was decided at first that the central committee wouldn't need a treasurer, but it was finally agreed that money would have to be expended by the body, and the office was created. The four ward treasurers were named as a committee on ways and means, "for the authorized expenses of the central committee."

Reports on the campaign were made by all the wards. The four organizations are settled to work, and face the campaign hopefully. Chairman Tracy told of the business-like allotment of canvassing districts to the workers of the Second, and Mr. Higham, of the Third, reported, with pride, on the possession of a complete polling list, with the voters marked according to party affiliations.

"Tomorrow," said Mr. Higham, "we will mark the Republicans Colbyite or machine as far as we know where they stand. Those who are not of our way of thinking we will try and convert." Mr. Higham used to be a machine worker, and the offhand way in which he spoke of those practical political workings aroused the admiration of his amateur colleagues.

Plans for getting all the Colbyite workers on the registration list tomorrow, which is the only day for primary registration, and for getting out all the votes on primary day, were talked over. The committee will gather as many automobiles together as possible on September 25, and allot them to the different wards.

Many details of the campaign work were cleaned up, the session lasting from 8:15 until 11 o'clock. Mr. Moy, E. E. Ironsonger and Judge Runyon were appointed a committee on speakers.

Before the central committee meeting, the Fourth ward organization met to nominate their choice for councilman. They selected James Penny unanimously. Mr. Penny is a strong labor candidate. He is a machinist, and prominent in the Machinists' Union. He has been a delegate to the national convention of the union several times. He is, of course, very popular among his fellow-mechanics. He belongs to Hope chapel.

MRS. ABRAM HOOLEY HURT IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

THROWN FROM CARRIAGE AND RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS FOR AN HOUR.

Mrs. Abram Hooley, of Rockview terrace, was slightly injured, and her father, William Burridge, and husband had narrow escapes in a runaway accident at Scotch Plains, last Sunday. Mrs. Hooley was thrown from the vehicle and rendered unconscious for an hour, suffering numerous severe bruises. The two men escaped with a shaking up.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooley and Mr. Burridge had been out for a drive through Washington Valley and were returning by way of the Plains at about 6 o'clock. As they were descending Spencer's hill near the felt mill, their horse bolted suddenly and dashed madly down the steep roadway. Mr. Hooley was driving and made every effort to stop the animal but without success. At Mountain avenue it swerved suddenly and hurled the carriage against a tree, throwing Mrs. Hooley and Mr. Burridge out. Mr. Hooley managed to hold on to the reins and quieted the horse after it had gone a short distance further.

Dr. R. R. Sinclair, of Westfield, was passing at the time, and gave immediate treatment to Mrs. Hooley. In falling she had struck on her head and it was considered remarkable that her injuries were not worse. Dr. Sinclair afterward brought her to her home in his automobile.

Mr. Hooley thinks the animal's fright was due to a bee stinging it as ordinarily it is quiet and tractable.

MERTON W. DAVIS.

Former Plainfield Young Man Dies At His Home in Bound Brook.

Merton Whitcomb Davis, son of Rev. Titus E. Davis, of Washington, D. C., formerly of West Fifth street, this city, died last week at the home of Thomas Wrench, of Bound Brook, where he had been living. He was one of the best known young men in Bound Brook but was also widely acquainted in Plainfield, having graduated from the local High School in the class of '99 and lived here with his father for years.

Young Davis was twenty-six years old and was employed by the Matchless Manufacturing Company, of New York. He left the office one day last week, complaining of feeling ill. By the time he reached home typhoid fever had developed and he continued to grow worse rapidly. His father was summoned by telegraph but reached his son's beside an hour after he had passed away.

The funeral was one of the largest held in Bound Brook in years and many from Plainfield attended. Rev. E. E. Roberson, of the Monroe Avenue church, and Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, assisted in the services.

RECEPTION PLANS.

Farewell to Secretary Will Be Held at Y. M. C. A. Oct. 9.

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the affair, arrangements were discussed, Saturday night, for the farewell reception to be tendered to J. Harry Manning, retiring secretary of the Y. M. C. A., by the Board of Directors and Association. October 9 was fixed as the day. It will be held in the association rooms. Mrs. Manning, as well as her husband, is to be honored, and women will be welcomed to the affair. It is understood that a substantial token of appreciation for his twenty years of service will be presented to Mr. Manning.

The reception committee is made up of W. D. Murray, O. S. Rogers, Dr. N. M. Probasco, A. B. Beers and G. M. Rittenhouse.

Miss Hooley Wins Ribbons.

At the fifth annual horse show of the Somerset County Pol Club held last week at Bernardsville, Miss Mabel B. Hooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hooley, of Rockview avenue, took first and second prizes on Friday for her saddle horses, Delight and Caress, which she rode. On Saturday, Caress captured another ribbon.

MURPHY DID WELL ON GOLF COURSE

MADE GOOD SHOWING AT PLAINFIELD COUNTRY CLUB ON SATURDAY.

The delightful weather on Saturday had a tendency to attract a large field of golfers to the local courses, where several events were scheduled. It is known that the greens and course in general are in such fine condition as at present. This is true at the Plainfield Country Club, Park Golf Club and the Westfield Golf Club, and with the steady work put on them it would be difficult to find better ones anywhere in the country.

There was the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup and play for the September Handicap cup at the Plainfield Country Club. Arthur Murphy, with a net score of 74, won the first three points for the season cup, also a leg on the handicap trophy. While E. H. Shoemaker and Frank O. Reinhart, with a net score of 75, were tied for second honors.

These scores were posted for the two cups:

Arthur Murphy, 83, 9—74; Frank O. Reinhart, 75, 0—75; E. B. Shoemaker, 79, 4—75; Robert Abbott, 76, plus 2—78; W. D. Riggs, 87, 9—78; E. L. Ironsenger, 91, 13—78.

In the evening at the clubhouse there was the regular dance, which was attended by a large number of members and friends. These dances are under the direction of the house committee, while many of the details and the decorations are arranged by the entertainment clerk of the club. The dancing was continued until 11:30, and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

The return of many members of the Park Golf Club, from their vacation, was evidenced on Saturday, when an unusual number was on the course competing for the President's and club cups. Charles A. Reed won first honors for both the handicap and scratch cups. R. V. Carpenter won second honors for the President's cup and Rev. C. L. Goodrich and J. B. Betts divided the one point. Mr. Goodrich also won second honors for the scratch cup and Rev. J. O. McKelvey won the remaining point. These scores were returned:

Charles A. Reed, 92, 8—84; R. V. Carpenter, 114, 27—87; C. L. Goodrich, 95, 7—88; J. B. Betts, 116, 28—88; A. W. Kenworthy, 107, 18—89; Reuben Knox, 100, 8—92; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 96, 2—94.

At the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday, Joe Sherman won the September cup, Class A, by defeating H. S. Carroll, 2 and 1, in play. In Class B, H. W. Ralwins beat H. L. VanDyke, 3 up and 2 to play; W. Watanabe beat W. L. Taylor, 3 up and 2 to play; Fred Harris won by default, and Fred Graham beat J. F. Lowe, 4 up and 3 to play. The result of the Ladies' golf competition for women was as follows:

Mrs. H. L. Johnson, 25; Miss Gertrude Noe, 26; Miss Estelle Hegeman, 27; Miss Mabel Kimball, 29; Mrs. J. S. Foster, 29; Mrs. F. Klach, 32. On the point system, Mrs. Johnson receives five points, Miss Noe four, Miss Hegeman three, Miss Kimball and Mrs. Foster two each and Mrs. Klach one.

TO ATTEND ODD FELLOWS SESSION AT TORONTO.

Plainfielders to Be Present at Sovereign Grand Lodge's Annual Session.

The annual session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, Independent Order Odd Fellows, will be held at Toronto, Canada, September 17-22, and a large delegation of Plainfielders will join with members of the order in Newark and New Brunswick in the annual privilege. Some members of Canton Hope, No. 6, of this city, will take their wives with them.

Those from here who have decided to go are the following: Stephen H. Schleif, John Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nischwitz, Charles DeGraw, Herman Adleberg, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kingston, William A. Woodruff, Simon Mantz, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perry and daughter, George Redshaw, Jr., Ira B. Cronce, George Conyne, Arthur Fink, Horace Block, Adam Jordan, C. M. Meeker, Aaron Gray and George Siorah.

The trip will be made over the Lehigh Valley Railroad, the special train leaving Newark at 8:29 Saturday night, stopping at Bound Brook to pick up members and friends from Plainfield and New Brunswick, arriving at Suspension at 7:50 o'clock Sunday morning. It has been arranged to spend Sunday at Niagara Falls. The party will leave the Falls Monday morning at 9:45 o'clock by the way of the Gorge route to Lewiston and to Toronto by steamer, reaching there at 1:15 o'clock Monday afternoon. The party will probably return by different routes and at different times.

Governor Taken Ill.

Governor Edward C. Stokes was taken ill Sunday night on the train while on his way to Trenton from Millville, where he had spent the day with his parents. He was taken to and to his apartment unassisted, when Dr. H. G. Norton was called. The governor quickly responded to treatment and it was found that there was nothing serious in his condition. Dr. Norton, however, ordered the governor to let up on business for a few days in order to get some needed rest.

ENDEAVORERS PROGRAME

State C. E. Union will Meet at Millville Next Month.

SPECIAL SPEAKERS

John T. Sproull State President—Professor A. R. Wells to Talk.

Provisional programme for the twentieth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, to be held at Millville, on October 10, 11 and 12, have been sent to the Christian Endeavor Societies throughout the State. As in other years the programme will be varied and interesting. Important conferences on methods will be held, and there will be special addresses by prominent men.

The Millville committee of arrangements, of which the Rev. Frank Anderson is chairman, is working hard on the details of entertainment of delegates, and an hospitable welcome awaits the visitors to the little South Jersey city. The Rev. Walter B. Greenway, of Jersey City, is chairman of the programme committee, and with his associates and the State president, John T. Sproull, has provided many good things for the pleasure and profit of the Endeavorers. The tentative programme is as follows:

Wednesday Afternoon, Oct. 10.

Conference of Junior and Intermediate Workers.

2 o'clock—Devotional exercises, superintendent from local district; 2:25—Greetings and plan of work, Mrs. L. Ida Dukes; 2:30—Memorizing Scripture—teaching a lesson; 2:45—Habits—What? How? 3:00—Pictures, their value; 3:15—How—preparation—What? How can we record? 3:30—Ought there be a regular "Order of Exercises?" Of what should it consist? 3:45—How much time should be given to missions? How make them interesting? 4:00—Manual work; 4:15—Sample Junior meeting, Mrs. Baxter. Sample Intermediate meeting, Mrs. Baker.

Wednesday Evening.

6 o'clock—Meeting of State Executive Committee; 8:00—Public mass meeting in interest of C. E. work, addressed by Rev. A. E. Kleg-win, D. D., of New York city.

Thursday Morning, Oct. 11.

8:30 to 10 o'clock—District secretaries' conference, conducted by Miss Ida L. Stephens, State secretary; 10—Service of song; 10:15—Devotional exercises; 10:30—Address of welcome, by chairman of local committee; 10:45—Response, by State president; 11—Quiet hour; 11:20—Report of Press Department; 11:35—Discussion—"How may writers' ink to best advantage?" 11:55—Appointment of committees, announcements, etc. Adjournment.

Thursday Afternoon.

2 o'clock—Devotional exercises; 2:15—Open Parliament—How do we follow our Pentecost? How do we find strange Endeavorers? Mrs. J. S. Peacock, superintendent Correspondence Department; 2:45—Open parliament —Our Air Problem; What have we done? Arthur N. Pierson, superintendent Fresh Air Department; 3:15—Open parliament—"Go"—"Send" —"Learn," R. A. Alberts, superintendent Missionary department; 3:45—Address, Rev. W. I. Chamberlain, president C. E. Union, of India; 4:30—Conference—What are we doing among the colored people of our State? Bishop Alex. Walters, D. D., superintendent of department; 5:00—Announcements. Adjournment.

Thursday Evening.

7 o'clock—Service of song; 7:15—Devotional exercises; 7:30—Address, Rev. J. W. Cochran, D. D., Philadelphia; 8:10—Singing. Treasurer's report; 8:20—Address, speaker to be selected; 9:15—Announcements, followed by informal reception and reunion of delegates in church and lecture room.

Friday Morning, Oct. 12.

6:45 to 7:30—"Quiet Hour," conducted by State president.

9 o'clock—Devotional exercises; 9:15—Discussion—What are we doing for right laws and a holy Sabbath? Rev. F. W. Johnson, D. D., superintendent of Christian Citizenship and Fashion Observance; 9:45—Methods of Bible study, Rev. Albert Erdman, D. D., superintendent Bible Study Department; 10:20—Discussion—Ways and Means of Personal Evangelism, Rev. Abram Duryea, superintendent Evangelistic Department; 11—Open Parliament—What have we tried? What shall we try? John T. Sproull, State president; 11:20—Address, speaker to be selected; 12—Announcements. Adjournment.

2 o'clock—Devotional exercises; 2:15—School of Methods, conducted by Professor Amos R. Wells; 2:00—Parlor conferences; 3:30—Junior exercises—Local Juniors; 4:15—Illustrated address to Juniors and children, Professor Amos R. Wells, editor C. E. World; 5:00—Announcements. Adjournment.

7 o'clock—Devotional exercises; 7:15—Report of State secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens; 7:45—Presentation of banners, report of Junior Committee on Resolutions, report of Auditing Committee, report of Nominating Committee; 8:15—Address, "Wanted, Leaders," Professor Amos R. Wells, Boston, Mass.; 9:00—Consecration service, led by State president, closing words; 9:30—Adjournment.

PLAINFIELD TEAM WINS AGAINST DUNELLENS

SUBURBANS PULL OUT GAME WITH A NINTH INNING FINISH.

Working every chance that offered, the Suburbans yanked a game out of the fire at Dunellen Saturday afternoon. The Dunellens clung to their skirts all the way, but it wasn't until the final inning that the game was won. The score was 6 to 5.

Errors figured in the scoring for both sides. The Dunellens lost because they had six errors and the Suburbans only four. Practically all the misplays were costly. In spite of the bungles, the game was interesting, the closeness of the struggle holding the unflagging attention of the bleacherites.

Dunellen looked good for the first two innings. They scored a run in each of the stanzas, but the Suburbans fell on them in the third and evened up things. Each tallied in the fourth and they duplicated with two apiece in the seventh. In the ninth Graham lost the game with a bad throw to first, allowing Hallard to make his base on a weak splash in front of the plate, and a pass after the runner had stolen second and third.

Cliff Randolph pitched a sizzling assortment of shoot bends, and should have won. Bad support alone was responsible for the defeat. Dunellen outbatted the Suburbans, eight hits to five. The feature of the game lay in the stickwork, Mehaffey being the candy juvenile, with three safeties.

Line-up and score by innings:

Suburbans—Gordon, cf; Holland, ss; Aree, 2b; Beekman, 3b; Conover, lf; Romond, cf; Stover, 1b; Mullen, rf; Van Arsdale, p. Dunellen—Mehaffey, 2b; Piddington, 1b; Conover, ss; Graham, c; Apgar, 3b; Brakeley, lf; Titsworth, rf; Randolph, p; Lake, cf.

	R.	H.	E.
Suburbans	0	0 2	1 0 0 2 0 1 — 6	5	4
Dunellen	1	1 0	0 0 2 0 0 — 5	8	6

MAD DOG KILLED BY MAN IT SOUGHT TO BITE

FRED IVANY SAVES HIMSELF FROM RABID ANIMAL WITH A CLUB.

Snapping and yelping, frothing at the mouth, and butting its head into the trees and tie posts, a mad dog created a panic among the residents of West Front street, in the vicinity of Fire House No. 1 Monday afternoon. The yelps of the canine attracted the attention of everybody who noticed its wild antics in bolting from the street to the sidewalk snapping viciously at everything in sight.

The dog ran into Park avenue, turning into Second street. When it reached the engine house it made a jump at Fireman Holly Freeman who sat in a chair reading a newspaper. Freeman saved himself by jumping from the chair with which he defended himself against the dog. He succeeded in hitting it a glancing blow which directed the course of the canine to the street. Maddened by the blow the dog attacked Fred Ivany as he was walking along the street. Ivany grabbed a piece of lumber and brought it down on the head of the dog with force enough to deal death instantly.

Luckily no children were in the vicinity at the time and few people on the street. The dog was a mongrel. It's owner is not known.

Exciting Run of Spirited Team.

A spirited team of horses belonging to J. F. TenEyck, the South Plainfield coal dealer, and being driven by John Wilson, a colored boy, became frightened Saturday afternoon on Plainfield avenue, while returning home, and ran away. Wilson was thrown off the wagon and received slight cuts and bruises, not serious. The team attained terrific speed after running some distance, and did not stop until it reached South Plainfield. The horses were slightly scratched and cut. The wagon was not damaged.

CARE OF BRUSHES.

Tooth and nail brushes should always be stood in such a position that all water can drain from them.

Household brushes last much longer if taken care of and washed regularly. Remember that they should never be allowed to rest on the bristles.

Long-handled one should be hung up by the heads, and short ones either propped upright on a shelf or suspended by a piece of twine. Hearth brushes will last nearly as long again if they are kept hung up.

For cleaning household brushes, make a solution of soda by dissolving one pound in one quart of water. Stir over the fire till dissolved, then bottle for use.

Add one tablespoonful to a quart of water; wash the brushes in this, using also a little soap for the soft hair ones; rinse in clean cold water and dry in the open air, says Woman's Life.

Brushes that have been used for paint can be cleaned with turpentine and spirits of wine will remove varnish.

DIED.

SHELLABARGER—On Friday, August 31, Mary Mitchell, infant daughter of Joseph M. and Belle V. Shellabarger.

HEDDEN—On Monday, September 3, 1906, Estelle A., wife of Joel D. Hedden, and daughter of Mary A. and the late Charles E. Stanford, aged fifty-two years, 6 months, 2 days.

SUTPHIN—On Wednesday, September 5, 1906, Mary S., widow of Peter P. Sutphin, in her 87th year.

PHILLIPS—In North Plainfield, Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1906, William B. Phillips, aged 56 years.

PACKER.—At Stamford, N. Y., on Thursday, Sept. 6, 1906, Lule E., only daughter of Garret Q. and Lydia M. Packer.

WALDEN—In this city, September 8, 1906, Raymond Aloysius, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Walden, aged 5 months, 28 days.

BETTS—On Sunday, Sept. 9, 1906, Daniel Webster, son of Junius and Mildred Betts, aged 1 year, 1 month, 10 days.

CREESY—At Fanwood, September 9, 1906, Leonard F. Creesy, in his eighty-fourth year.

THOMPSON—On Monday, Sept. 10, 1906, Lulu Thompson, daughter of the late Andrew and Christina Thompson.

LADD—Suddenly, at her late residence, Upper Montclair, N. J., on Friday, September 7, Minnie Nexsen, wife of Wm. J. Ladd.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL OPENS.

Large Number of Pupils Enrolled With Great Increase.

With a larger number of pupils present than ever before, St. Mary's Parochial School opened for the fall term Monday. The classes in the lower grades were filled to their capacity while those in the upper department could have accommodated more. The opening exercises began at 8:30 and included an address by Rev. Father Bogan in which he impressed upon the children the importance of an education and the responsibility that rested upon them in gaining it.

There has been no great changes in the curriculum since last year but it is the hope of Father Bogan and the instructors to add a High School course next year. The preliminary steps are to be taken during the coming winter.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago.

c 7 19 18

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Benj. H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so prevalent. These books are the best liked and fairest specimens of wit and humor. Bound in cloth, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles are:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson Out South.
Jack Henderson on Matrimony.
Jack Henderson on Tipping.
Jack Henderson on Hobbies.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues and keeping down doctor bills. Price per copy, 50c, per set, $2.00, postpaid. Agents and dealers write or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
1026-1032 Broadway, New York

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books.

6 M 6

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO JOHN BROWN—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, wherein Catherine Burke Brown is petitioner and you are defendant, you are required to appear and answer the petition of said petitioner, on or before the eighth day of November next, or in default said decree will be made against you, as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

WILLIAM M. STILLMAN,
212 West Front Street,
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated, September 7, 1906. 9 13 4

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burt McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burt Publishing Company
4 West 22d Street New York City

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace, Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing, Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Plumbers Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in all cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!
My new barber shop at
143 NORTH AVE.
a now open ready for business.
All the latest appointments in the tonsoria
EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,
MADISON AVENUE,
Between Front and Second streets

Tinners, Plumbers and Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Heating your thware spending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME
Savings Institution,
Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; extra commission and expenses, rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest men or women to secure pleasant, permanent position, liberal income assured. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
21 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. K. CODINGTON,
Counsellor-at-Law
Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN
Livery & Boarding Stables
FOURTH ST.,
between Watchung and Park avenues
First-class Livery. Horses boarde by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff
Fire and Life
INSURANCE AGENT
OFFICE,

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS ENDORSE R. H. DEPEW

President of P. P. A. to Head the Anti-Organization Municipal Primary Ticket.

SEPARATE CANDIDATES

Gaston and MacDonald for Freeholder—Tyler and Hibbard for Council—Woodhull for School Director.

R. Henry Depew was endorsed by the Colbyites for the mayoralty nomination at the conference of the four ward organizations in Reform Hall Thursday night. Woodhull was endorsed for renomination as school trustee, and J. F. MacDonald, of the First Ward, and Dr. Wm. F. Gaston, of the Fourth, were named as candidates for the Freeholder nominations. Councilmen Tyler and Hibbard were endorsed for renominations.

The meeting was attended by about 100 representative workers in the New Idea movement. The Fourth ward had the largest representation, the delegation numbering between forty and forty-five. The First, which has been backward in organization, was the most slimly represented; about a dozen Fird warders were present. Judge Runyon presided over the meeting.

The candidates were named after the ward organizations had met to complete organization, where necessary, and to discuss names in connection with the nominations to be made by the city convention. All the endorsements were unanimous.

F. E. Kinsman, chairman of the Third ward, nominated Mr. Depew. In offering Mr. Depew's name, he said he wished to suggest a man who had done something, who as president of the Plainfield Protective Association had led an organization to accomplish more than any other body since the speaker had lived in Plainfield. He was a man equal in every way to whoever the regulars might put up, and a man against whom the regulars could offer no objection.

Judge Runyon, speaking for the Second ward, expressed ready acquiescence in all that Mr. Kinsman had said of Mr. Depew. The Second ward felt that Mr. Depew had shown a fine spirit of aggressiveness in behalf of the people's rights, which would accomplish much if backed by official power. The city would be thrice blessed to have in office a man like Mr. Depew.

The presentation of Mr. Depew's name was greeted with loud applause, and subsequently hand-clapping broke out when he mounted the platform to respond to the nomination.

He thanked the conference for the kindness shown to him and for the heartiness with which the suggestion of his name was responded to. He wished he had Judge Runyon's facility of speech, but lacking it, he could not hope to say much of what he felt.

He had the welfare of Plainfield at heart, he continued, and wanted to do all he could to advance the city and the welfare of the people. He would do everything he could to help win the fight for them, if that was possible, and if they did win he would try to make them feel that they had made no mistake in endorsing him.

Later in the meeting, Mr. Depew, speaking with an editorial in the Daily Press, calling on the Colbyites to make a statement of their criticism of the city government as a text, declared that good roads, good schools, a good fire department and the like were well enough in their way, but there was something back of these things. The purpose of the movement was to relieve the city of the control of the bosses. If boss rule was wrong in the county, it was wrong in the city. How were the people to get rid of control of this sort unless they struck at the very roots of the system. It would be a mistake to leave the machine entrenched in the city. The city must be freed of any suspicion of that kind. It was the aim of the movement to leave the people free to make their choice of candidates.

After a discussion as to the advisability of delaying other nominations in order to give the First ward a chance to catch up with the other wards, it was decided that the best interests of the movement would be conserved by as early a preparation of nominating petitions as possible. In connection with the discussion, a motion to turn over the other nominations to the central committee was voted down as alien to the spirit of the New Idea. While the discussion was going on, Monday night was suggested as the date for the general meeting talked of.

"Monday night we may all want to go to the Casino," said Judge Runyon. "I see by flaring advertisements that all Republican voters are invited to attend the general meeting there of the Advisory and City Committees."

The endorsement of Councilman Hibbard by the Second ward, and of Councilman Tyler by the Third, was not reported to the conference, the action being wholly a ward matter. In addition to selecting councilmanic standard bearers, the two wards selected candidates for delegates to county and city committees and to the coming conventions. The Third ward did not nominate Congressional convention delegates, and neither ward named delegates to the city convention. The apportionment of delegates to that convention is not yet known. The First and Fourth wards were not ready to consider any such nominations.

The delegates chosen by the Second ward are as follows: Congressional convention, R. Henry Depew, L. M. Booth, F. W. Butter, William Runyon, Clifton Wharton and John G. Bickwell; county convention, C. B. Morse, Clarence Goss, Arthur Lovell, Joseph McIntyre, Edward Willis, R. H. McCready; county committee, Robert E. Hall, Arthur Murphy; city committee, Edward E. Irenonger, Howard C. Tracy, F. W. Hanaford.

The Third ward's choice of delegates to conventions and committees was as follows: County convention, Orra S. Rogers, G. B. Fletcher, Edward Cox, William Sperry, Frederick A. Mygatt, Salmon C. Baker; city committee, G. W. V. Moy, J. Stephen Highman; county committee, Duncan W. Taylor, Robert L. Lee.

A central city organization was created by combining the executive committees of the four wards. The make-up of the committee was planned by a committee appointed for the purpose. C. B. Morse and Howard C. Tracy objected to the inclusion of the body, but the conference endorsed the committee's recommendation after E. E. Iremonger, one of its members, explained that the call for a central committee meeting would stand a better show of drawing a representative gathering if addressed to committee members than if sent to half that number or less. The city committee will meet Saturday night for organization. The object of the committee is to solicitly the reformers in the city, to form a connecting link between the wards.

In the meeting before the conference, the First ward completed its permanent organization, with the exception of selecting six members of the executive committee. Stephen H. Tugwell was elected chairman; F. A. W. Anderson, vice chairman; Clifford A. Braider, secretary, and J. B. Hill, treasurer. The committeemen and ward nominee will be chosen at a meeting to be held Monday night.

The Fourth and Third wards filled vacancies that had arisen since their last meetings. F. E. Kinsman was elected chairman of the Third ward, to succeed D. E. Titsworth, resigned. Councilman W. S. Tyler was made vice chairman. Frank W. Runyon and C. B. Fisher were elected to the executive committee in place of E. T. Barrows, Jr., and William M. Stillman. Mr. Titsworth was present and took a prominent part in the conference. Angus Allen was elected chairman of the Fourth ward, in place of Henry Liefke, who declined to serve. J. A. Greene was made vice chairman in Mr. Allen's place.

Judge Runyon made a twenty-minute speech in opening the meeting. After speaking of the splendid sentiment for the movement in this city and the grip the machine was supposed to have on county and city, he said, in part:

"For years I was a sort of cog in the local machine; yet not an intimate cog. The inner circle did me the honor to keep me in the dark as to its confidence. Yet I knew chicanery and trickery were being practiced behind my back. People were bought to do what they should have done gladly without that.

"Is it right that such people should be kept in the dark, or should not be called revolutionists for seeking their removal. You are just as straight a Republican after you vote the ticket to reform the existing order of things as before.

"It has been the trouble with reform movements that they did not last. That has been a disagreeable fact. That kind of reform will do no good. We must go to work with enthusiasm, remembering that the truths of this movement are everlasting. While good work has been done here, much remains to be done. Noonday meetings will be held for the shop workers, and on September 19, Senator La Follette, that strong leader of reform in Wisconsin, (applause) will be here.

"The principles of the county league are big enough and broad enough for us to stand upon in this campaign. If reform is necessary in the county, is it not necessary here? If machine domination is bad in the county, is it not bad in the city?

"We believe, with all our hearts and souls, that machine domination must be wiped out, root and branch!" (Sustained applause.)

Just before the meeting closed, Judge Runyon referred to an editorial in The Daily Press yesterday, which by typographical error, made it appear as if he had come out as a supporter of Dryden.

"Of course, that was a typographical error," said Judge Runyon, "but I want to make it plain that I stand for everything diametrically opposed to Mr. Dryden."

"I hope you are not pledged to any man," said Mr. Titsworth.

"I can certainly say that," responded Judge Runyon. "If I go to the Assembly, it will be as an absolutely unpledged representative of the people, and I would vote only for the man I felt convinced the people of Union county favored." (Applause.)

TRINITY COMMANDERY IN TEMPLARS' PARADE

PLAINFIELD KNIGHTS MADE A FINE SHOWING AT THE SHORE.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., was among the 1,000 Knights Templar, with eight brass bands, including one composed of Indians from the Carlisle School, that paraded through the hotel district and along the boardwalk at Asbury Park, Thursday afternoon, as a finale to the field day exercises of the order. The imposing spectacle was witnessed enjoyed by several thousand spectators.

Representatives of sixteen commanderies were in the parade, which were in charge of Grand Commander William H. Carmes, of Metuchen. Atlantic Commandery, of Atlantic City, the "baby" commandery, arrived by special train and more than 100 members paraded.

Trinity Commandery, of this city, and St. John's Commandery, of Elizabeth, accompanied by their friends and Ryer's Band, of Jersey City, made the trip to the Park and back in a special train. The Plainfield and Elizabeth Knights Templar were complimented for their fine showing in the parade, the field day exercises are considered the most successful in the history of the Knights in this State. The Plainfielders reached home last night about 7:30.

The Grand Commandery officers present included Grand Commander Carman; H. A. Lithgofer, of Camden, Deputy Grand Commander; J. B. Barthoff, of Jersey City, Grand Generalissimo; Charles H. Mohn, of Hoboken, Grand Captain General; Charles J. Hazard, of Hightstown, Grand Senior Warden; John P. Contrell, of Newark, Grand Junior Warden; the Rev. Dr. George C. Maddock, of Trenton, Grand Prelate; Frederick G. Weise, of Bordentown, Grand Treasurer; Thomas H. R. Redway, of Trenton, Grand Recorder; Joseph Mason, of Paterson, Grand Standard Bearer; Otto O. Billman, of Newark, Grand Sword Bearer; Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, Grand Warder, and A. K. Osmond, of Trenton, Grand Captain of the Guard.

Civil Service Examination.

An examination for the position of clerk and carrier at the local post office will be held on November 17, at the post office. Appointments of clerks and carriers are made as substitutes, at which the salary of the employee whose place they may take, during vacations, in case of sickness, or during rush work, as in the holiday season. All regular carriers receive fifteen days vacation annually. Appointments to the regular force must be filled by the promotion of the senior substitute. The age limit for all positions, is between 18 and 45 years. Male applicants must be 5 feet 4 inches in height and weigh 125 pounds. Further information can be secured of W. B. Sharp at the post office. All applications must be filed by October 15.

Will Give "Chimes of Normandy."

The Plainfield Operatic Association will hold its first fall meeting on Monday night, October 1, at the Casino, when arrangements will be made for the rehearsals for the production of "The Chimes of Normandy," which will be the first opera given this season.

An Approaching Wedding.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Mamie A. Fisher, daughter of Warner Philpott, of Westervelt avenue, and William A. Freiday. The wedding will be celebrated at the home of the bride's father on Tuesday evening, September 18.

N. J. Road Exhibit at Jamestown.

New Jersey has decided to have an exhibit of its model roads at the Jamestown Exposition next year, similar to that shown at the St. Louis Exposition. State Supervisor of Roads H. A. Meeker, of this city, will have charge of the exhibit.

PERSONAL.

Rev. E. M. Rodman and daughter, Miss May Rodman, of East Seventh street, who have been spending the summer at Saunderstown, R. I., will return home soon.

Miss Mabel Reed, of East Orange, returned home today after a pleasant visit with Miss Ella Lunger, of Watchung avenue.

William G. DeMeza, Esq., of West Second street, has returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

John Morton, of West Front street, is planning to sail for Scotland this fall. He will spend the winter at his old home.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Pupee and son, George H. Dupee, of Rockview avenue, have returned from a sojourn at Watch Hill, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanName, of Madison avenue, have returned from their vacation at Oswego, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. VanBuren, of Central avenue, are home from a summer sojourn in the mountains.

WEDDING SECRET 2 YRS. PRIMARY LAW SYNOPSIS

Miss Florence Bilyeu and George Apgar Married on July 31, 1904.

IS JUST ANNOUNCED

Information That Every Voter Should Have and Understand.

COMPLETE, CONCISE

Ceremony Performed in Westfield Episcopal Church—Groom Is Member of Company K.

Should Be Carefully Perused Now As the Primaries Take Place on September 25.

After keeping the fact a secret for over two years, Miss Florence May Bilyeu and George Leland Apgar, announced to their friends that they were married on Sunday night, July 31, 1904, at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Westfield, by the rector, Rev. William Oscar Jarvis. While a very few intimate friends and the parents of the couple knew that they were married, the announcement came as a great surprise to many. Mr. and Mrs. Apgar made no special effort to keep their marriage a secret, but when it did not become generally known, they also showed no disposition to tell it to their friends. The bride held a lucrative position with the Siche Gas Company and despite her repeated attempts to resign the company insisted on her staying and then it was finally decided not to make an announcement of the marriage until she gave up her position, which she did today.

The couple went to Westfield Sunday night, July 31, 1904, for a trolley ride and they reached St. Paul's church just after the close of the service. They met the rector, Rev. Mr. Jarvis, explained their mission and he agreed to perform the ceremony. The congregation had left the church and only Mrs. Mabel Gordon Seabury Jarvis, wife of the rector, and Benjamin Kent Hough, of New York, remained. They were called to witness the marriage. After returning home, Mrs. Apgar continued to live at her home, and Mr. Apgar remained at his. No one was told no time in informing their parents that they had been married and the fact was disclosed to a few intimate friends.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman W. Bilyeu, of 301 Somerset street, North Plainfield, and is very popular in a large circle of friends. Mr. Apgar, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Apgar, of East Front street, is employed as a letter-carrier on the local postoffice force. He is a member of Co. K, of this city, and one of the crack marksman of the company.

The couple has leased a flat on East Front street, and are now keeping house there. When the announcement was made last night, the bride produced the wedding certificate, properly filled out and signed by the officiating minister, the witnesses and bearing the date "July 31, 1904."

"I had no idea that the marriage would remain a secret so long," said Mrs. Apgar, "in fact when we returned home from Westfield my husband and I fully believed that it would become generally known within a few days. When we learned that but few people knew it we decided not to publish the fact until some future time. However, I am of the opinion that there are many of our friends who know we are married, but think it best to make the announcement."

WHAT SHE SHOULD KNOW.

The wish of every bride-to-be is that she shall become a model wife, and before the eventful day arrives she should prepare herself to him, "for better, for worse," she should do all she can to prepare herself for her new position, so that, as far as she is concerned, the union shall prove "for better."

When a girl promises to become a wife, the man has every right to suppose that she is competent to fill such a position, and, no matter how old she is, if she is not capable of managing a house she is not old enough to become a wife.

One of the first things to learn to manage is the money.

Many girls, who happen to be the eldest or the stay-at-home daughter of the family, have gained considerable experience in housekeeping, and are quite capable in this respect, but there are others who have no idea of laying out money to the best advantage, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

It does not matter whether the home be poor or rich, in both economy should be practised and waste avoided.

The girl who is inexperienced in household matters will do well to gain an insight into them before she takes the burden of them on her own shoulders.

She should learn to know a good piece of meat from a bad piece, and not be content just to give the order and let the butcher send what he thinks best. Such action happens to be a joint that he has not been able to sell to the customer who chooses her meat for herself.

Although she may not actually have to do the housework, it is necessary for the future bride to know how to do it. The model housewife will not think that housework is beneath her, and if it is necessary for her to undertake it she will do it with a will, so that the little house is indeed a home to the husband when he arrives home tired after perhaps a worrying day.

Because a thorough understanding of the primary election, as amended to date, is necessary to any one interested in politics as far as findpossible to all citizens who exercise the right of suffrage, the following careful and accurate synopsis of the primary election law has been prepared.

Democratic voters inserting the word "Democratic" wherever the word "Republican" appears, the complete synopsis is as follows:

New Jersey Primaries for 1906.

Time—September 25, between 1 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Place—The place in each election district at which voters are registered.

Rules for voters to observe who desire to vote on primary day.

To be eligible to vote at the primaries on September 25 a voter must conform with the following requirements:

1. Of any one whom he believes is not entitled to vote at the primaries; or,

2. Of any one whom he believes is offering to vote the ticket of one party when he believes the person in question to be a member of another party. The party challenged on this ground will be permitted to vote if he makes oath that he voted for a majority of the candidates of that party at the last electfest at which he voted and that he intends to support the candidates of that party at this election.

The candidates for delegate and office, whose names appear upon the ballot, and the challenges appointed by the chairman of the county committee may be present, inside the railed enclosure, while the votes cast at the primary are being cast and counted.

Vacancies.

If a person elected as delegate to a convention die before the convention, or in writing addressed to the chairman of the convention, decline to act as delegate, his place as such delegate shall be filled by a majority vote of the other delegates selected from that election district.

Time of Filing Petitions.

All petitions must be filed on or before September 15.

Miss Agnes Bailey, of West Front street, who has been spending her vacation at the seashore, has returned home.

Miss Ida Decker, of West End avenue, who has been spending her vacation on Staten Island, will return home today.

Mrs. Elvain VanName, of Madison avenue, is visiting relatives on Staten Island.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Thompson, of East Sixth street, are home from their summer outing.

ANGRY HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE'S ASSAILANT.

Mrs. George Harvey Attacked and Man Suspected Is Wounded.

Rahway, Sept. 10.—As a result of what is described as a hold-up on Hamilton street last night, a respectable man here was shot last night by an angry husband. Mrs. George Harvey, wife of the superintendent of the auto line to Carteret, was walking to her home just outside the eastern limits of the city on Wednesday night. On account of the darkness coming on Mrs. Harvey was walking in the middle of the road.

Hearing footsteps behind her she quickened her pace, the person behind her doing the same. Passing a corn field a man jumped to her side and seized her by the arm. Mrs. Harvey screamed for assistance and started to run. The man seized a satchel that was on her arm, pulled it away and said: "Now run, or I'll knock your block off." Mrs. Harvey ran.

Reaching the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thornell she fell fainting inside the door before she could tell her story. She described the man as without a coat, a waistcoat or hat and of having black hair parted in the middle. Some friends of Mrs. Harvey thought that this description was not unlike that of a man who lived next door to the Thornell's home.

Mr. Harvey last night started out looking for the footpad and meeting the reformatory man opened fire upon him, one ball striking the man in the back, but only making a flesh wound.

No arrest has been made.

Minister at Dying Man's Side.

Elizabeth, Sept. 10.—Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, is in daily attendance on County Collector Wood, who is slowly sinking from an incurable malady and who is likely to pass away, so his physicians say, at any time. His body is almost completely paralyzed, and is greatly emaciated. He had a bad spell Wednesday night from which it was thought he would not rally.

LANEHART WILL FORGED

Judge Schenck Declares Instrument Filed by Skillman is Bogus.

AN ESTATE OF $25,000

Belle Mead Farmer May Have to Face Criminal Charge—Race Document True One.

In the Somerset County Orphans' Court at Somerville, Friday, Judge Schenck decided the celebrated William Lanehart will case, the taking of testimony in which occupied several weeks of his time last spring, holding that the disputed document was not the will of Lanehart and reversing the order of the surrogate admitting it to probate.

William Lanehart, seventy-eight years old, a prosperous farmer, died at Blamenburg in May, 1905, leaving an estate valued at about $25,000. Eleven days after his death William H. Skillman, a farmer at Belle Mead, and former president of the State Horticultural Society, filed a document with the surrogate purporting to be Lanehart's last will.

The paper was drawn, it is alleged, by Skillman and witnessed by his friend, Wm. H. Ely, and his son, J. H. Skillman. After several minor requests it directed that the real estate be sold and half of the proceeds be paid to Miss Laura Kellogg, a niece of Lanehart, and his housekeeper, and the other half to W. H. Skillman. The will names Skillman and Miss Kellogg as executors.

A short time after Skillman had filed the alleged will, John N. Race, cashier of the Hopewell National Bank and a confidential friend of Lanehart, produced another will made by Lanehart in 1902, in which Lanehart, who had no children, made his sister, Mary Jane Lanehart, the principal beneficiary. An appeal was taken from the surrogate's probate of the Skillman will, the heirs and legatees under the prior will charging that Skillman forged the last will. He is not mentioned in that will of 1902.

Judge Schenck pointed out the inconsistencies in the signature to the Skillman will—the tracing of the signature over a lead pencil writing contrary to the custom of Lanehart, dissimilarity between the genuine signature and the disputed signature in the shading of letters and the difference in the formation of letters.

Skillman may now be forced to face a criminal charge of forgery.

Dann for Martine.

Former Congressman John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth, has come out in enthusiastic support of James E. Martine for United States Senator. In the same interview with a Elizabeth Journal reporter in which he declared for Martine, he said Bryan was not at all interested in the Anne Ican system of government, although he was sincere and earnest.

GOLF.

Commencing Saturday and thereafter on Saturdays and Sundays for the rest of the season, the Lehigh Valley Railroad will run a through train from Jersey City to the Baltusrol Golf Club grounds, over the Rahway Valley Railroad. The train will leave Jersey City at 1:08 in the afternoon on Saturdays and 10:19 on Sunday afternoon. Each night it will leave Baltusrol at 9:15.

A new golf course was opened this week at Garden City, L. I., making the third new course completed in the metropolitan district this season. While the new Garden City course is nearly completed it will not be formally opened until March of next year, and it gives promise of being very popular.

C. B. Morgan, who has been doing some good golfing at the Plainfield Country Club this season, has planned to take a week's vacation. He left Saturday night for Greenwood Lake, returning next Saturday.

Robert Abbott and Dudley Barrows, who have been prominent figures in several big golf tournaments this summer, will probably not have much more time to play at the Plainfield Country Club before returning to college. Abbott will go to Yale to continue his studies and Barrows returns to Princeton.

There is talk of a golf match between the reportorial staffs of The Daily Press and the Courier-News, and if arrangements can be made it will probably be played at the Plainfield Country Club in the near future. The teams will be made up of four men from each office. Plans are now underway for the match and a date will be fixed as soon as arrangements can be completed for the use of the course.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Golf Club was held Saturday afternoon, when the following officers were elected: President, John P. Street; vice president, Dr. E. R. Parson; secretary, J. Bayard Kirkpatrick; treasurer, H. Brewster Willis.

George Anderson, who has been in Connecticut all summer, has returned to his former position as steward at the Park Golf Club.

BRYAN FAVORS MARTINE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Nebraskan Calls Plainfielder Strongest Candidate in Sight in New Jersey.

NO FACTIONAL MAN

Former Congressman Dunn Adds His Endorsement—Martine Will Not Talk.

William Jennings Bryan favors James E. Martine as the candidate of the Democratic party in New Jersey for United States Senator.

The story was told Wednesday night of a conversation that took place in the Carteret Club, in Jersey City, Saturday evening, when Mr. Bryan was a guest of that organization and where he had dinner. A group of men were discussing the chaotical political situation in this State, when someone turned to the Peerless One and, it is said, asked him who he thought would be the strongest candidate to pit against John F. Dryden.

"What's the matter with that man over there?" Mr. Bryan is alleged to have replied, pointing to Martine, who was some distance away.

"Do you mean Mr. Martine?" asked one of those in the group.

"Yes," was the answer attributed to Mr. Bryan, "above all, Mr. Martine is not a factional politician, and I am told factionalism is the trouble here just now. Martine deserves well of his party."

Colonel E. A. Stevens, of Hoboken, has been mentioned as the Democratic choice for United States Senator, but outside of his home city of Hoboken and in a few other places in Hudson county, his boom has aroused no enthusiasm whatsoever.

Martine occupies a peculiar position in Jersey politics, it was pointed out by local Democrats Wednesday night. It was he who brought Bryan to New Jersey after the efforts of the Essex regular Democracy had failed. In this action he was opposed by the True Democracy, but Martine is still persona grata to that band of reformers. While they contend that Martine made a mistake in inducing Bryan to visit Newark, they admit that his efforts in that direction were unselfish and made only with the idea of benefiting the party as a whole. Had Bryan failed to visit Newark, however, it would have been a knockout blow to the leaders who announced his coming several days ahead of his arrival here, and then found that they had a difficult task to make good. The appearance of the Peerless One of Union county on the scene was the only thing that gave those leaders a chance to save their faces.

"Martine is too dead easy," was the way that the True Democracy described him when they found that their wire-pulling had been all undone by his disinterested efforts. Nevertheless, the members of the True Democracy are said to be willing to support Martine for any office for which the rest of the party are willing to back him. Throughout the State he has been given credit for the coming of Bryan, and is now looked upon the Great Unifier as well as the Peerless No. 2.

Local Democrats who have heard of the Martine boom view it with commendation. A member of the Democratic Club said Wednesday night that Martine was the strongest man in sight, and the one man upon whom all factions would have no trouble in uniting.

Former Congressman John T. Dunn, when asked about the Martine boom, said that he would feel like taking off his coat and working for Martine if he was able, in case the Plainfielder was candidate for United States Senator. Dunn believed that Martine was the best man available in the present condition of Democratic politics. Mr. Dunn thinks that the fight within the Republican party gives the Democrats just as good a chance to elect a Senator as their opponents. Everybody to have something more definite to say about the Martine boom later.

When Mr. Martine was seen by a reporter he admitted that he had heard about his United States Senatorial boom, but would have nothing to say on the subject. He would not discuss the Bryan incident at the Carteret Club.

Fractured Collar-Bone and Arm.

Mrs. Martin Lance, of Arlington avenue, fell down stairs at her home, this morning, receiving a fracture of the collar-bone and arm. The broken bones were set and Mrs. Lance is now resting comfortably.

Mrs. Humphrey, wife of Captain Chauncey Humphrey and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, is visiting her parents. She will return to California within a short time.

Roger Cooley, of the New York Medical College, is spending a few days at Atlantic City, before returning to college.

LA FOLLETTE'S TRIP THROUGH NEW JERSEY

PROVISIONAL PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR THE REFORMER.

The officers of the Republican State League for Equal Taxation have arranged a provisional programme for the visit of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, to the State in the interests of the Colby movement. The Senator will spend the week of September 17 in New Jersey and will speak in Burlington, Monmouth, Camden, Middlesex, Morris, Union, Bergen and Passaic counties and in Newark and Jersey City. The tour as arranged at present is:

September 17—Afternoon, Mt. Holly and Burlington; evening, Camden (three meetings).

September 18—Afternoon, Freehold and Asbury Park; evening, New Brunswick and Perth Amboy.

September 19—Afternoon, Dover, Boonton and Morristown; evening, Elizabeth and Plainfield.

September 20—Afternoon, Englewood and Rutherford; evening, Paterson, Passaic and Hackensack.

September 21—Three meetings in Essex.

September 22—Jersey City and Hoboken.

It is probable that the Monmouth meetings will be held in Freehold and Long Branch, instead of Freehold and Asbury Park, as at present arranged, while in Essex it is probable that one large meeting will be held at night in the Krueger Auditorium in Newark and another in some large hall either in Orange or Montclair, while a third will be held in the afternoon in Essex, in some large park or open space.

PITMAN ON NEW SPELLING.

Says Letters C, Q and X in the Alphabet Are Superfluous.

When Ben Pitman, brother of Sir Isaac Pitman, the father of phonography and himself a writer on phonography, heard that President Roosevelt had given indorsement to simplified spelling he was delighted, says a Cincinnati dispatch to the New York Times. He rapped his fist on the desk and said:

"I am pleased. I knew it would come. It may take a century. You cannot change the system, or, rather, lack of system, in a day. For years I have worked on a new alphabet. I would eliminate the letters, c, q and x. They are entirely superfluous. I would eliminate the dot over the i and j and use the dot over the vowels a, e, i, o and u to indicate when they are long. Then when the child saw the word 'pet' he would pronounce the e short because there is no dot over it. When he saw the word 'pate' he would know that the a is long, for a dot is over it.

"Do you know that the twenty-six letters of the alphabet may be used 658 ways; hence the chance of your pronouncing a strange word is in the ratio of 658 to 26, pretty long odds. The perfect alphabet that I have devised contains forty letters, but twenty-three will answer. However, the solution of the spelling problem is found in the elimination of c, q and x and the new use of the dot, as I have described.

"The sound of s is obtained in nineteen different ways. Which one will the child choose? I would spell 'cough' 'kof.' The pronunciation could not be wrong, there is no dot over the o to denote that it is anything but short. Where c is soft s may be used; where it is hard k will invariably do for q."

Charles B. Morse, of Franklin place, has returned from a pleasure trip to Oriskany Falls, N. Y.

Have your express packages handled by A. E. Hoagland, Park avenue. Prompt service always.

There is no better way to "get in shape" than a Turkish bath. You will get one at Brookside Sanitarium, Somerset street.

TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are taking orders now for winter supply of anthracite. Of course only the best coal handled.

Carpentry as exemplified by M. D. O'Keeffe, West Fourth street, is more an art than a trade. He is expert in every department of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger, of West Seventh street, who have been spending their vacation in the mountains, have returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bonton, of East Front street, have returned home after a month's stay with Mr. Bonton's parents in Jersey City.

Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, of West Eighth street, are home from their European trip, arriving in Plainfield Saturday night.

Mrs. W. G. Besler and children, of Rockview avenue, who have been spending the summer at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Holland, of West Seventh street, who have been sojourning at Atlantic City, have returned home.

The Misses Wood, of West Sixth street, have returned from their summer vacation.

CAR WRECKS CARRIAGE

Six Young People Tossed Out And Injured, Horse Badly Hurt.

FRONT ST., LAST NIGHT

Walter Nelson, of New Market, and Party of Friends, Figured in the Accident—Homeward Bound After Concert.

On their way home from the band concert, Friday, six young people were injured in a collision between a trolley car and the West Front street, near Wayne wood place, and the two-seated wagon in which they were riding. The wagon was smashed to kindling wood, and the horse was badly hurt. The car was slightly damaged.

In the wagon were Walter Nelson, John Nelson, Lester Nelson and Miss Bertha Nelson, all of New Market, Miss Acilla Moore and Thomas Moore, of Millville, all young people. None of them was seriously hurt, but Walter Nelson was so badly bruised as to be almost unable to walk. His clothes were almost torn off, and he was obliged to pin his coat about him to cover his body. Moore struck on his head, and suffered considerable pain. The others, particularly the two women, suffered greatly from shock.

Walter Nelson was driving when the accident occurred. He told his story of the accident to a Daily Press reporter soon after it occurred. He said that he was on the right hand side of the road, and at Waynewood place he found a pile of crushed stone in the path of the wagon, with a red light of warning on it. In order to get around the pile it was necessary for him to cut partly across the trolley tracks. Before he reached the other side of the obstruction, car No. 1708, westbound, came along, striking the wagon with full force. All the young people in the wagon thought they did not hear a gong sounded, and that the first intimation they had of the car's presence was just as it struck.

The force of the collision completely turned the horse and wagon around, throwing all the occupants out, and the wagon was quickly reduced to kindling wood. The horse received a deep cut on the left hind leg and was bruised considerably.

Car No. 1708 was pretty well filled with passengers, and although all were more or less shaken up none of them was injured. At this point in the road the trolleys usually make good time and it is supposed that the motorman, if he saw the rig ahead, thought he could get off the tracks before he reached it. The car was run by Frank Bowson, of Elizabeth.

The injured horse was stabled in John Morton's barn, and the six young people secured another carriage and continued on their way home. They called a doctor at the journey's end.

Walter, John and Lester Nelson and Miss Bertha Nelson are the sons and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson, of New Market, while Miss Moore and her brother, Thomas Moore, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dayton, of New Market. Walter Nelson is well known as a ball player, being a member of the Rutgers College team. This summer he has been playing with the Clinton Avenues.

In Memory of Garfield.

Long Branch intends to make September 19 Garfield Memorial day. It was on this day that Garfield died in the Franklin cottage. It has always been a mystery that Long Branch did not immediately afterward take steps to officially recognize the national tragedy of the time by erecting a monument or some other suitable memorial. A window in honor of President Garfield was placed in St. James' Episcopal church, Long Branch, opposite the pew which Garfield and his family occupied on several occasions. For weeks the attention of the nation was centered on the Franklin cottage, where the president struggled after he had been stricken by the assassin's hand and it was thought some wealthy man would purchase the building and preserve it as a permanent memorial. Long Branch, it appears, has a monument committee and now proposes a Garfield monument to be dedicated on the 24th anniversary of his death. The monument, it is understood, will be placed in the triangle of the Elberon station. The position is prominent, but association and the fitness of location would seem to require that the Franklin cottage be acquired by the nation and made a perpetual monument in honor of President Garfield.

Climbed on Shipboard.

On Thursday morning as the French liner Provence had cast loose and her big twin screws were beginning to back her out from the dock, shouts were heard from the pier, and Norris Mitchell, who lives in this city, came in sight laden with bundles and a valise. A ladder was quickly found and Mitchell and his baggage were pushed up the ship's side to the great delight of the belated passenger.

Miss Rae Hooley, of the borough, left yesterday for Bernardsville, where she has entered several of her thoroughbred horses in the annual horse show at that place.

TRENTON COPS FAIL TO PUT IN AN APPEARANCE

LOCAL NINE GOT NO WORD FROM THEM AND TURNED OUT FOR GAME.

The braced and vivified cops' nine went out to the Oval for a baseball game Friday with the Trenton bluecoats, but all they got was something very sour and a scrub clash. The lemon of the affair was embraced in the non-appearance of the Trenton players.

They sent no word of the fact that they would not be here, and their coming was expected up to the very last minute. A crowd of close to 250 people was disappointed by the fluke. The Cops were all togged out in real suits, athirst for the fray, and they were quite miffed at their delinquent brethren. Some of the rash younger men threatened to go to Trenton and slap some wrists.

Later in the afternoon it was given out that the Trenton team fell down because their manager had gone away on his vacation without leaving and directions as to the game, and his men didn't want to come up on their own initiative. They knew in a general way that the game was carded, but they were oppressed by lingering doubts. The telephone and other modern improvements have not yet reached Trenton.

The local coppers had a jolting combination ready for the visitors. Lou Wiltse, who dropped into town from up-State in New York, was slated for first, Brit Martin at second, Jim Scott was ready to twirl and O'Loughlin, the other end of the Clinton battery, was batting his hooks ready for business. They went into the hurriedly-organized game against Bill Mullen's pick-ups, and toyed with the globule. Bill pitched a heady game, and strong, though the majority of the people stayed to see the game. They were bitterly disappointed every time a cop, real or tagged, reached his base.

AN ASSESSMENT LEVIED ON UNION COUNTY PROPERTY.

County Taxation Board Determines Valuation of Court House Land.

The Union County Board of Freeholders at the September meeting in the Court House, Elizabeth, yesterday, received a communication from the County Board of Taxation stating that in its opinion the county property where the court house stands should be assessed by the local assessors, and a valuation of $41,500 was placed on the property. The freeholders then appropriated $1,500 to meet the taxes on the county property when the levy is made.

The freeholders decided that a salary of not more than $15 per day should be paid the experts who are engaged to place a proper assessment on factories throughout the county, and the service of each is allowed for one month and his salary is not to exceed $125 for that time.

This is the first time that the county property has been assessed the same as any other. There was recently some discussion as to whether it should be assessed, and the County Board of Taxation, after investigating the matter, has decided that it should be.

TO FRESHEN HATS.

Velvet trimmings for hats may be freshened by steaming, for the moist air seems to bring out the nap and makes it look like new. Of course the velvet must be thoroughly brushed out and the piece aired before steamed. Even the creases may be taken out by this process if the velvet is stretched tightly between the hands when held over the spout of the teakettle. Or one can attach a brush to the top of the spout of a kettle and pull the smooth side of the velvet across it when steaming. In this way the creases will be quickly removed and the material made to look like new, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Tulle trimming on bonnets and hats that have faded should be turned so that he fresh side will be out, and if it has become slimy some of the crispness must be brought back by sunning it for several hours. Some women steam tulle to freshen it. They do this by wrapping the headgear in a heavy towel and holding it in the steam from a kettle three to five minutes, the hat is then put into the sunshine and out in the fresh air, and left to absorb the brightness and get crisp and fresh.

Cleaning spots from cloth or silk is unusually best accomplished by using gasoline or benzine to cleanse the soiled places, and then wiping off the whole garment with the liquid. Some persons prefer freshening then in water. Black taffeta and velvet may be made jetter by solution of ammonia and water and then dry-pressed of ammonia and water and then dry-pressed with a warm iron between three or four thickness of brown paper generally comes out fresh, though neither stiff nor shiny.

Charles Dupee, formerly of Rockview avenue, but now of Seattle, is meeting with much success since locating in that west. He is engaged in the insurance business.

MOVING TOWARDS UNION

Mayor Smalley Names Borough Members For Consolidation Commission.

HOOLEY AND FRENCH

Commissioners Empowered To Arrange For Special Election and To Adjust All Matters.

Another step tending to bring about consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield was taken at Friday night's meeting of the Borough Council. Councilman Edward P. T. Smith offered a resolution to the effect that the report submitted recently by the joint committee from the two municipalities, as advocated by the Board of Trade, be accepted; also that two commissioners be appointed by Mayor Buckle, these four to confer and appoint a fifth, for the purpose of taking the recommendations in hand.

When a vote was called on the resolution, all the councilmen with the exception of John H. Winkle, Jr., were in favor of it. Mr. VanWinkle declined to vote either way and held to it, even after Mr. Smith called upon Mayor Smalley to request every member to say "aye" or "no." The councilman in question replied simply that "he didn't care to vote" and the matter stood that way.

Later in the session, the Mayor named as the borough commissioners Edwin S. Hooley and Elston M. French. They were acknowledged by the Council and will be informed of the proceedings at once and given instructions.

The report on consolidation prepared by the joint committees of the Councils of the two municipalities and the Board of Trade was presented to the North Plainfield borough fathers at their June meeting. It recommended that a special election be held in both places on the same day to be set for December to vote on the merging of the two places with the county seat at Elizabeth. Charles A. Lee was chairman of the Borough Council's committee and the other two members were Councilmen Krewson and VanArsdale. The report also suggested that each municipality either appoint or elect two commissioners and that a fifth be chosen by the four members with the understanding that he be a resident of Plainfield.

The duty of this commission is to arrange all details for the joint election and to attend to the adjustment of all matters that might arise in the merging of the two places.

EDWARD O'LOUGHLIN WINS CADDIE TOURNAMENT.

Brother of "Marty" Returns a Score of 85 On Local Course.

An interesting event at the Plainfield Country Club Thursday afternoon, was the caddie match, a best play, for prizes aggregating $30. This was the first match of the kind held at the club in two years and was arranged to stimulate an interest among the caddies. "Marty" O'Loughlin, the club "pro," was in charge of the play and all the details were arranged satisfactorily.

The first prize was won by Edward O'Loughlin, brother of "Marty," who has display much ability in playing the game under the tutoring of his brother. He finished in a score of 85 for the eighteen holes. Edward Connett, colored, finished second with a score of 89, while Michael Comiskey with a 92 and John Duff with a 94 finished third and fourth. Chris. Eckeson returned a card of 104 and Hazen Pollard, only a little too high to get in on the prizes. The match was so successful that another one may be arranged later in the season.

Bowling Green at Park Club.

Many improvements have been made at the Park Club during the summer season in preparation for a successful fall and winter season there. The floors have been revarnished and the clubhouse thoroughly renovated. One of the important features of club life during the fall will be the addition of a bowling green back of the clubhouse. A fine green has been laid out and as soon as the members return from their vacation this popular game will be played by the devotees. This is the only bowling green in the city, the nearest one being out in the place of the late Christian Scheptlin at Dunellen, where the Middlesex Bowling Green Club used to meet.

New Mail Arrangement a Success.

According to the new arrangements at the postoffice, Clerk Elmer Squier is now on duty there all night to receive the 8:50 and 11:26 mails from New York. He assorts this mail, stamps it and has it all ready for the letter-carriers when they report for duty in the morning to deliver. Heretofore, the last mail from New York to Plainfield closed at the New York postoffice at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and not another mail arrived here until the next morning. Now two extra mails arrive here in the evening, insuring an early delivery in the morning. Already the change has proved a benefit and it will continue so as the mails become heavier.

COLBY NOW DENIES IT

Says He Didn't Say That Ackerman Was Neither Straight Nor Independent.

REPLY TO TITSWORTH

Declares He Is Misquoted in Stenographic Notes of Debate With Hillery—Writes Dryden.

Senator Everett Colby received a letter Friday from David E. Titsworth, one of the active "new idea" leaders of this city, which said that the writer had received what purported to be a stenographic report of the Colby-Hillery debate, according to which the Essex Senator, in answer to a question, said that Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union, "is neither straight nor independent."

Senator Colby immediately sent a reply to the letter, in which he declared that the alleged report was false and stating just what he did say about the Union Senator. At the same time he sent a letter to United States Senator John F. Dryden, in which, after stating that he had been informed that the stenographer who reported the debate was in the employ of Mr. Dryden, protested against the sending about the State incorrect reports of the debate.

This is the letter from Mr. Titsworth:

"I have today been shown what purports to be a copy of the stenographic notes of your debate with Senator Hillery, in which, when questioned about Senator Ackerman by Senator Hillery, you are said to have replied: 'No; he is neither straight or independent.'

"My sympathizers are very largely with the new idea, but I have been a life-long friend of Senator Ackerman and believing implicitly, as I do, in his integrity I am compelled to ask if you did mawe this statement, and if so, upon what grounds."

Senator Colby's reply was as follows:

"I am not at all surprised that you write me as you do, nor am I astonished at the statement your letter contains, for it is so in line with the methods employed by my political opponents. I never made such a statement, and it is too absurd even to contradict, for every one knows Senator Ackerman's character.

"I did say the Senator was not independent, and I repeat it. He does not take orders from a boss, but because of his relations with the Republican organization he will not come out openly and fight the methods of the organization which, he must know by this time, are not honest, open and above board. In view of the conditions as they exist in the State today it is not enough that a representative should be honest and avoid the mud."

At the same time Senator Colby sent this letter to United States Senator Dryden:

"My Dear Senator Dryden—I am in receipt of a letter from a printing office in Plainfield stating they have received a copy of the stenographic notes of my debate with Senator Hillery in which I am recorded as saying that Senator Ackerman is neither straight nor independent.

"As such a statement is false, and as I am informed that the notes were taken by a stenographer in your employ, I wish to protest against the sending of incorrect reports of the debate about the State.

"You will, of course, assure me if you and your friends are not responsible for this injustice.

"Very truly yours,

"EVERETT COLBY."

Senator Dryden was seen by a reporter Friday afternoon in Trenton, where he had gone to attend a meeting of Prudential agents. He refused to make any comment upon the letter of Senator Colby further than to say that he had seen no stenographic reports of the debate between Senators Colby and Hillery, and knew no more of the matter than he had read in the newspaper.

When asked concerning the statement that the stenographic notes of the debate were taken by stenographers in his employ, Senator Dryden replied shortly:

"I have nothing to add to what I have said, and will not discuss the matter."

Organization leaders in Union county say they are not entirely satisfied with Mr. Colby's denial. It is said to be their purpose now to obtain the version of some of those who heard the Hillery-Colby debate for they claim that they do not believe that the stenographic report of the arguments were "doctored."

Tartans.

Tartans are here.
They're fine for fall.
One likes them, too, for winter.
Ribbons are noted in these plaids.
Soft, rich Ttartans dominate some silks.

In cloth the Tartans shine with fresh splendor.

The tartan burst into particular prominence in hatdom.

Perkins Not a Candidate for Mayor.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election of the office of Mayor of that town. It is believed that Councilman Alpers will be the candidate for the office on the regular Republican ticket.

GOING TO REPLACE BELL

Borough Council Discusses Probable Change in the Fire Alarm System.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Other Matters of a Routine Nature Considered at the Regular Monthly Meeting.

In the regular order of business at the Borough Council, Friday night, a report was presented by Chairman Smith, of the fire, water and lamps committee, from Borough Electrician A. V. Searing, Jr., in which he advocated radical changes in the fire alarm system.

The question of doing away with the present fire bell and tower has been gone over at some length before and Mr. Searing stated that some action in this matter must be taken. The tower is badly in need of repairing and if it is not to be removed it will take $450 to put it in shape for the coming winter. According to figures prepared by an expert, a compressed air whistle and outfit could be put up for $550 and it would give far better satisfaction than what has been derived from the bell.

Chairman Smith advocated the adoption of the whistle and he was supported by Mayor Smalley. The latter advised the committee to take up the matter at once and see if it could not be brought about.

In the report, Mr. Searing detailed repairs that had been made to the fire alarm wires and declared them to be in better shape than ever before. He urged the council to allow the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to furnish power for the system as it would be done much cheaper and with a great deal less trouble than at present.

The resignation of James DeCamp, as a call man in the department, was read and accepted. Walter Chandler was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Residents of Bergen street presented a petition asking that property owners on that thoroughfare between Somerset street and Watchung avenue be instructed to lay sidewalks. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

Justice S. Clark Mundy asked permission for the use of Borough Police Headquarters as a court room in the hearing of small causes. This has always been done heretofore but Mr. Mundy stated that the formal request must be made. The petition was referred to the Police committee.

Councilman McGee offered a resolution that $1,000 be borrowed for the general account and Mayor Smalley, acting as banker, reported thirty-six arrests during August and a total of $97 in fines collected. Claims amounting to $2,282.23 were ordered paid.

SOMERSET STREET WIDENING PETITION HELD

FAILURE TO MENTION STORM SEWER CAUSES ITS RETURN.

Councilman Frank Krewson went to the Borough Council meeting, last Friday, prepared to present a petition from property owners for the widening of Somerset street from Jackson avenue to Johnson's drive. He failed to do it, however, as it was discovered that it had no mention of a storm sewer and this is a legal technicality that cannot be over-looked. Mr. Krewson accordingly kept his petition to be reconstructed and signed and will in all probability bring it before the council at the next meeting.

In broaching the subject, Mr. Krewson offered a resolution that the borough engineer be instructed to prepare a map, showing all the property to be taken in the widening and the owners of the same. It was then explained by Mayor Smalley that the petition for the improvement would be presented later in the evening and Borough Counsel Reed stated that it embodied anything about a storm sewer being built at the same time. When told it did not he explained that the property owners would have to ask for both, irrespective of how the cost was to be met, whether by assessment or bond. As the sewer is of as much importance as the widening, both are to be done at once and the petition will ask for them after the correction.

In the meantime, the engineer will prepare the map as called for by Mr. Krewson and the project will not be greatly delayed. It was stated by Mayor Smalley, however, that it would be impossible to begin actual work this year.

Joseph R. Weaner to Wed.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Margaret Clare, of Raritan, and Joseph Raymond Weaner, the well-known ball player. The ceremony will take place at St. Bernards' church, Raritan, Wednesday morning, September 19, at 10:30 o'clock.

The Misses Ella Lappen and Helen Galbraith have returned from Ca[illegible]dale, Pa., where they spent the vacation.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ENDORSES GEO. P. MELLICK

Councilman Receives Majority Over R. Henry Depew, Colbyite, For Mayor.

ACTION NOT BINDING

Wilbur and Doane for Freeholdership and F. T. Woodhull for School Trustee.

Councilman George P. Mellick received the endorsement of the Republican conference at the Casino, Monday, for mayor. His supporters outvoted those of R. Henry Depew, the Colbyite choice for the office, whose name was also suggested, 74 to 37. J. Hervey Doane and S. F. T. Wilbur won endorsement for the freeholder nominations by even a more sweeping majority. F. T. Woodhull was unanimously endorsed to succeed himself as school trustee. Councilmanic candidates and delegates to the conventions and committees, being purely local to the different wards, were not voted on.

The meeting was in the nature of a popular conference by Republican voters, called together by the City Committee and the Advisory Committee of 125, for the selection of candidates and a discussion of the local political situation. There were about 200 Republicans present. The latter were made to feel at home as rightful sitters in a Republican gathering by Chairman Fisk as soon as the meeting opened, by the appointment of N. Mansfield Smith, secretary of the Reform Central Committee, as one of the three secretaries. Mr. Fisk presided over the meeting as chairman of the City Committee. The other two secretaries were William A. Townsend and Ralph L. Morrow.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Fisk made as somewhat extended speech. The Republican party here, he said, stood for honest elections and honest officials. The party stood for officials who were upright, honest, broad-minded, intelligent; men trusted by the people to do good work for the people's interest, not subject to the undue influence of any political boss whatever. The party stood for equal taxation of corporation property as well as the property of the individual; for the fair taxation of all utility franchises. It stood for straight, outright nominations, wherever they could be made, directly by the people. He, the speaker, wished nominations could be made directly by the people, without recourse to any convention whatever.

The present meeting, Mr. Fisk continued, was called by the voters for the voters, and not in the interest of any candidate, any boss or any political organization. Nine months ago he had been asked to act as chairman of the Republican City Committee, and he consented to act only on condition that he be allowed to perfect independence, and would not be interfered with in advancing the interests of the Republican voters. He had agreed then to give the voters an opportunity to discuss candidates. He had promised also, to try to explain the workings of the primary law, so that anyone could make nominations. That was the object of the present meeting. The City Committee had no candidates. They came to the meeting to execute the will of the voters, without prejudice.

Mr. Fisk explained at length, and in simple language, the procedure necessary for the nomination of candidates at the primaries. He announced that pamphlets containing the full explanation of the primary and election law workings, devoid of the legal phraseology, had been printed and would be distributed after the meeting. Which they were—lavishly.

Taking up the thread of his remarks on candidates and candidature, the speaker said that in committees of this kind there was always difference of opinion. It was the best thing in the world if all men thought alike, life wouldn't be worth living. Progress came because men differed. There was no reason to and to be angry because with you, your enemy; he might be your best friend; his difference of opinion might teach you something very valuable. That was why they could all come together to try to agree.

It was to be distinctly understood, however, so that everyone might feel free to take part in the discussion, that no one was bound to anything by what might occur at the meeting. It was not a caucus, but a conference. Anyone who did not like the choice of the conference for officials was free to nominate whosoever he chose at the primaries. That everyone might have a fair show, the speaker said, he would be at his office in the Smalley building Thursday night to go over the ticket with anyone who might have one, and make certain that they were properly made out.

Mr. Fisk called for suggestions as to the mayoralty, but Former Mayor Frazier Gilbert, chairman of the Advisory Committee, asked the indulgence of the conference for a brief speech. He echoed all that Mr. Fisk had said, he said in opening. Petty differences should be laid aside, and all Republicans should vote in favor of good government. He had no interest politically in any man who did not stand for good government. In the past he had always stood for good government for the city of Plainfield; and he was willing to work and fight for it. He would leave the party if he could not achieve good government within it. He had no criticism to offer of the men who marched under the banner of the new idea. He honored the independent voter, the man who sought clean politics.

Plainfield, continued Mr. Gilbert, had always enjoyed good government. There were things, perhaps, that had not been to everybody's liking, but on the whole, no serious blot was on Plainfield's record. Let all those assembled lay aside their prejudices and petty differences and get together for common good. Let them be careful to name candidates who could be elected, and so put the party that had had given good government in the past in no danger.

F. E. Kinsman, chairman of the Third ward branch of the Equal Taxation League, named Mr. Depew for the mayoralty nomination, after a lengthy speech in which he told of his experiences with haughty utility corporations. He was interrupted by an earnest argument for municipal ownership of water supply, by J. B. Dumont, who tartly inquired if the conference had been called to suggest candidates or to listen to individual grievances. Mr. Kinsman stuck staunchly to the floor, however, and the three secretaries, Mr. Fisk presided over the meeting as chairman of the City Committee. The other two secretaries were William A. Townsend and Ralph L. Morrow.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Fisk made as somewhat extended speech. The Republican party here, he said, stood for honest elections and honest officials. The party stood for officials who were upright, honest, broad-minded, intelligent; men trusted by the people to do good work for the people's interest, not subject to the undue influence of any political boss whatever. The party stood for equal taxation of corporation property as well as the property of the individual; for the fair taxation of all utility franchises. It stood for straight, outright nominations, wherever they could be made, directly by the people. He, the speaker, wished nominations could be made directly by the people, without recourse to any convention whatever.

The present meeting, Mr. Fisk continued, was called by the voters for the voters, and not in the interest of any candidate, any boss or any political organization. Nine months ago he had been asked to act as chairman of the Republican City Committee, and he consented to act only on condition that he be allowed to perfect independence, and would not be interfered with in advancing the interests of the Republican voters. He had agreed then to give the voters an opportunity to discuss candidates. He had promised also, to try to explain the workings of the primary law, so that anyone could make nominations. That was the object of the present meeting. The City Committee had no candidates. They came to the meeting to execute the will of the voters, without prejudice.

Mr. Fisk explained at length, and in simple language, the procedure necessary for the nomination of candidates at the primaries. He announced that pamphlets containing the full explanation of the primary and election law workings, devoid of the legal phraseology, had been printed and would be distributed after the meeting. Which they were—lavishly.

Taking up the thread of his remarks on candidates and candidature, the speaker said that in committees of this kind there was always difference of opinion. It was the best thing in the world if all men thought alike, life wouldn't be worth living. Progress came because men differed. There was no reason to and to be angry because with you, your enemy; he might be your best friend; his difference of opinion might teach you something very valuable. That was why they could all come together to try to agree.

It was to be distinctly understood, however, so that everyone might feel free to take part in the discussion, that no one was bound to anything by what might occur at the meeting. It was not a caucus, but a conference. Anyone who did not like the choice of the conference for officials was free to nominate whosoever he chose at the primaries. That everyone might have a fair show, the speaker said, he would be at his office in the Smalley building Thursday night to go over the ticket with anyone who might have one, and make certain that they were properly made out.

Mr. Fisk called for suggestions as to the mayoralty, but Former Mayor Frazier Gilbert, chairman of the

COLLECTOR WOOD DEAD

Had Served in County Office For Long Period Until Taken Ill Last May.

A COUNTY CHAIRMAN

Lawyer By Profession—Descendant of Gen. Elias Dayton—Funeral Services Not Arranged.

Edward Meeker Wood, for many years collector for Union county, died at his home, 116 West Jersey street, Elizabeth, between 9 and 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, following a long illness.

Collector Wood was born in Morristown in 1855, where he spent his boyhood days. His father was a prominent lawyer there for many years and was identified with local, State and National affairs. Mr. Wood attended the Morristown public school, and was graduated there. At the outbreak of the Civil War he ran away from home and enlisted. His parents found him and brought him back home.

Mr. Wood studied law in the offices of his brother-in-law, Gen. J. Augustus Fay, who at one time was prosecutor of Union county. He entered politics early in his career and was always a faithful worker in the Republican party. He was a member of the Union County Republican Committee, and at one time county chairman. He was also a member of the Common Council, of Elizabeth, and was repeatedly elected to succeed himself as county collector by the Board of Freeholders. Last May he was re-elected to this position and being ill at the time he was unable to attend to the duties of the office. Nathan R. Leavitt was appointed to fill the office temporarily. Mr. Wood always filled the position of county collector with credit to himself and the county. He was counsel for the Borough of Roselle and treasurer of the Middlesex Water Company. He was a direct lineal descendant of General Elias Dayton; was one of the founders of the Elizabethtown Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution; a member of the National and State societies of the Sons of the American Revolution; the Union County Bar Association and St. John's Episcopal church.

Mr. Wood was married twenty-five years ago to Miss Sarah B. Farlin, of Elizabeth. She and two daughters and two married sisters survive him. The sisters live in New Zealand.

NEW MILEAGE RULE . ON PENNSYLVANIA.

Transferable Ticket May Be Bought For Two-Cent Rate.

New 1,000-mile tickets were furnished to all agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad September 1. They are coupon stamps entitling the holder to travel one thousand miles over any of the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad system east of Pittsburg, Erie and Buffalo, inclusive, and the Cumberland Valley Railroad, and are sold at a rate of 2¢ a mile. They are valid for use for one year from date of purchase. They may be purchased with the same ease as card tickets or any other ticket not requiring signature or witness. The name of the holder does not appear upon it, and good for the transportation of anyone who presents it, and as many others accompanying him as the mileage limit will include.

The ticket will be accepted for transportation on any part of the Pennsylvania Railroad system east of Pittsburg, including the Cumberland Valley Railroad, for distances exceeding two miles, except in certain specified portions of the territory within the city limits of the larger terminals. It is valid for passage on all passenger trains, when accompanied by the necessary extra fare and Pullman charges, with the exception of the Pennsylvania Special, the eighteen-hour train between New York and Chicago.

PANWOOD REPUBLICANS SELECTION OF CANDIDATES.

Delegates to County and Congressional Conventions Are Named.

The Republican voters of the borough of Fanwood met Monday for the purpose of selecting delegates and candidates for the approaching election.

This ticket was suggested: Councilmen—Charles R. Vincent, three years; J. H. L. Todd, three years; Thomas S. Young, one year; Charles Sternhein, one year; collector, Charles Shoeler, three years; assessor, Horace G. Young, three years; delegate to county convention, Chas. Sheelen; delegate to congressional convention, W. H. Hood.

Frightened Thieves Off.

After pilling twenty boxes of cigars up ready for flight, thieves were frightened away from Joseph Kuldoshes' grocery store in Dunellen Sunday night. They gained entrance through a rear window. Kuldoshes came home from an auto trip at about 1 o'clock, and drew water from a pump near the store at that time. It is supposed that thieves were frightened off then. Some change was taken from the till.

SNEAK THIEF ENTERS NEW MADISON APARTMENTS

MAKES A GOOD HAUL OF JEWELRY IN DAVISON ROOMS.

While Mrs. Ralph C. Davison and her father were out for a walk late Sunday afternoon, a sneak thief entered her apartments in the New Madison and made a good-sized haul of jewelry. Among the things taken from bureaus and dressers were a gold watch and chain, three stickpins, three rings, several gold hairpins and side combs and $7 in change.

There was no one at home when Mrs. Davison and her father went out and at the time she did not intend to go any great distance, consequently did not think it necessary to lock the doors leading from the hallway to the rooms. The apartments are on the first floor and it was a very easy matter for anyone to enter.

The robbery was reported to the police but they have practically no clue to work upon. As far as can be learned, the other tenants of the building have no suspicion of persons loitering about and the thief covered his tracks in good shape.

Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver's Painful Injury.

Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue, is carrying her arm in a sling, the result of a peculiar accident several days ago. While walking along a boardwalk at her home she tripped over a broken board and fell on her arm. She paid little attention to the injury for a few days, but the pain finally became so severe that she decided to see a physician. An examination showed that the ligaments of the arm were badly sprained and it will be necessary for her to carry it in a sling for some time.

MR. MELLICK SURPRISED

Did Not Know He Was Being Considered.

MR. RUNYON'S VIEWS

Colbyites Leader and Mr. Fisk Both Express Opinions On the Advisory Committee's Work.

Councilman George P. Mellick was completely surprised when he learned that he had been the choice of the majority at the Republican caucus Monday at the Casino. At the time the advisory committee was discussing candidates for primary nominations, Mr. Mellick was in another part of the building attending a meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg hospital. Not until the meeting had adjourned was the news conveyed to him that he had been the majority choice for the mayoralty.

To a representative of The Daily Press, Mr. Mellick said today that the honor had come as a great surprise to him. He had no idea, he stated, that his name had even been considered and that not until it was all over did he have the least knowledge of what had taken place. He has not announced his decision as yet whether he will be a candidate. "As I told Mr. Fisk last night," said Judge Runyon in speaking of the conference this morning, "if the Colbyites do nothing else they have made the organization come nearer to feeling the public pulse than it ever did before. I don't think the meeting would have been held had it not been for Colbyite activity.

"A man remarked to me last night," continued the judge, "that the nominations were "just about what they would have been had no meeting been held, and that is just about right, I do believe emphatically, however, that Mr. Fisk was entirely sincere and earnest in his efforts to get at the popular desire. I believe he wished to learn how the people felt and to give them every opportunity to get what they wished."

"I am very much pleased over the meeting last night," said Mr. Fisk today, "particularly regarding the way the Colbyites participated in it. Everybody was invited to attend and the voters to express their opinions and it can not fail to be of great benefit to the party."

"You can say for me," continued Mr. Fisk, "that Mr. Mellick and Mr. Depew are both very good men. With either one or the other as mayor, Plainfield would have a good chief executive—one who would do his duty."

BIG PROGRAMME TO END THE CONCERT SEASON.

Leader La Vere Arranges for Appearance of New York Band and Fireworks Display.

In an attempt to recoup some of the season's losses, which now amount to $125, Ben La Vere, of band fame, has in prospect for Friday night, the greatest band concert and fireworks display he has yet undertaken. Through the influence of Salvo Velardo, the local Italian leader, he has secured the services of Don Saldato Mondo's Italian band of thirty-five pieces, a New York organization, and it will come here Friday morning. As was the custom when the Italian religious festivals were held, the band will serenade in various parts of the city and borough during the day and finish up with a fine programme at the park at night.

In addition Ben has planned a big fireworks display and has secured the services of six soloists. It is not at all improbable that he will have Dave Reed, Ernest Ball, Eddie Weston, George Offerman, "Billy" Redmond and Jack Elliott.

This concert and exhibition will positively finish the season and Ben looks for a good attendance to lift a large part of the deficit load from his shoulders.

Blue Book of Negro "400."

The members of Chicago's negro "400" are listed in the "Colored People's Blue Book of Chicago," just published. The book contains 90 pages of advertisements of business concerns run by negroes, a classified business and professional directory and names of 400 "prominent colored people," selected according to social standing. According to this directory, Chicago's negro population has 25 churches, 39 lawyers, 4 newspapers, 40 physicians, 14 literary clubs, 10 social clubs and 25 women clubs.—National Advertiser.

Not For Express Company.

David C. Smalley, of Smalley Brothers, owners of the plot of ground upon which Flannery's blacksmith shop formerly stood in East Third street, denied yesterday the report that the United States Express Company intended to purchase the land for its uses. Wilson Frederick, the local agent of the express company, made a similar denial.

William Cadmus, formerly of this city, but now of Brooklyn, has been selected by Timothy Woodruff, of New York, as his leader in the Seventh Assembly District, Brooklyn, and he will represent Mr. Woodruff's interests at the Saratoga conventions.

COLBYITES NAME

First Ward Delegates to the Various Conventions Are Named — Mr. Tugwell Speaks.

TUGWELL CHAIRMAN.

The members of the First Ward Republican League for Equal Taxation met in the rooms of the Plainfield Grocers Association, Monday, and completed its organization and selected the delegates to attend the city, county and congressional conventions. Stephen H. Tugwell, chairman of the ward organization, was in the chair, and Clifford S. Braider was the secretary.

The organization decided upon is as follows: Chairman, Stephen H. Tugwell; vice-chairman, Dr. A. W. Anderson; secretary, Clifford S. Braider; treasurer, Joseph C. Allen; executive committee, Joseph C. Allen, Alexander G. Aitken, John Rowland, Charles H. Russell, Clarence B. Vail, L. V. F. Randolph.

Mr. Tugwell announced that the organization was by no "cut and dried affair, that everyone was to have the opportunity of speaking his little piece, and that the only object was to pick the best men."

The executive committee will select three members for each of these committees: Finance, meeting place, publication, polling and election. These will be announced later.

The next important business was the selection of a man whom the organization favored for the councilmanic nomination, Dr. A. W. Anderson named Isaac B. Hill, of Westervelt avenue, and the nominations closed. Mr. Hill thanked the organization for the honor, adding that he fully appreciated the situation. He said that he realized that one could not get experience without making a beginning and he looked upon the suggestion as a beginning. He further explained that he understood what the fight would be. Everyone he believed is acquainted with the bosses and knows where they are. He assured everyone that he would do all in his power regardless of personalities to make a strong fight.

Mr. Tugwell emphasized Mr. Hill's remarks by saying, "we will make some of the rats hunt their holes and if we all work together we will make a first-class fight, but it means hard work." Mr. Tugwell also spoke of the fact that it is the intention of the city organization to make a fight for municipal ownership of the water works, and this he considered a real live issue, one that a majority of the people would be in favor of, affording them an opportunity to rid themselves of the bosses. He considered anti-bossism and municipal ownership the two issues of sufficient importance to poll a big vote.

The delegates to the various conventions were then chosen as follows, the first four in each case being from the First district and the last two from the Second district:

City—Edward Colwell, Charles H. Russell, Dr. A. W. Anderson, Stephen H. Tugwell, Clarence LaRue, R. F. R. Huntsman.

County—Stephen H. Tugwell, Jos. C. Allen, Clifford S. Braider, J. Fred MacDonald, Clarence B. LaRue, Wm. H. Jones.

Congressional—Robt. McCormick, Alexander G. Aitken, Isaac B. Hill, Dr. A. W. Anderson, L. V. F. Randolph and F. D. Dickerson.

CATHOLICS OF STATE TO HAVE OFFICIAL ORGAN.

The Monitor, which is to be the official Catholic weekly of the diocese of Newark and Trenton, will make its first appearance from 22 Clinton street, Newark, September 25.

The publication will be made up of 24 pages, 16½ by 11½ inches, four columns to the page, and will be printed on paper such as that of the Saturday Evening Post or Collier's. Its contents will consist of local and general Catholic news from Rome, where a regular correspondent will be engaged, notes on the leading Catholic societies, such as the K. of C., A. O. H., C. B. L., local social events in which Catholics take part, such as weddings and receptions and editorials on the questions of the day. Articles written from a Catholic standpoint; stories, book reviews, a woman's page to which six of the leading Catholic writers of New Jersey will contribute. The paper will be illustrated throughout with the halftone engravings and reproductions of photographs.

The Monitor will be owned by the Monitor company, a corporation composed of nearly 70 priests of the State of New Jersey. It will carry on its editorial page the approval of the right reverend bishops of Newark, and will be the medium of all official communications to Catholics. The acting publisher will be William P. Lawler, who was formerly manager of the Republic, the leading Catholic weekly of New England, published by John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston.

Poor Speech.

"If 'money talks,'" the beggar said,
"The most I've heard it utter
Is just the poor infrequent dime
It manages to stutter."

BOOMS FOR COUNCILMEN

In the Second and Third Wards No One Has Been Picked by Regulars.

NAMES MENTIONED

Hill Against Tolles in First Ward and Feeney Against Randolph in the Fourth Ward.

In the Second and Third wards, the regular organization forces will name candidates for the Common Council in opposition to Councilmen H. D. Hibbard and William S. Tyler, who have been endorsed by the Colbyites. As far as can be learned there are no "favorites" and no one has consented to run as yet.

Among those who have been mentioned in the Third ward are Joseph Shellabarger, William C. Kinney and Dr. Frank C. Ard. None of these men has allowed his name to be used, but it is said that the regulars have hopes that one of the three will consent to make the run.

Henry L. Hall, S. A. Drufkbank, Edward E. Iremonger, T. M. Day, Jr., and R. A. Meeker have also been boomed more or less in the Second ward. Some of these are Colbyites, but the regulars appear to offer no objection on that account. Mr. Hall is an intimate friend of Judge Runyon, the Colbyite leader, and it is believed that he will not consent to allow his name to be used on the regulars' ticket. Whether any of the others named will consent to be a candidate for the nomination is not known.

Ralph L. Tolles will be the regulars' candidate for a renomination to the Common Council, of which he is now president. His opponent is I. B. Hill, selected by the "new idea" league of that ward last night. In the Fourth, James Feeney has been selected by the Colbyites. Frank W. Randolph will be renominated provided the regulars can win out.

DR. BOONE APPOINTED CONSULTING PHYSICIAN

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS ADOPT RESOLUTION ON DEATH OF TWO MEMBERS

Dr. William C. Boone, who resigned from active service on the medical board of Muhlenberg Hospital, last July, after more than twenty-five years' membership of that board, was appointed a consulting physician of the hospital, at the September meeting of the Board of Governors, Monday. The appointment was made by the board on the recommendation of the medical board. Suitable resolutions were adopted by the Board of Governors in regard to the loss by death of Charles E. Brooks from the board, and of Dr. William P. Brandegee, of New York, from the consulting staff. No action was taken by the board to fill the vacancies caused by the deaths of Dr. Brandegee and Mr. Brooks and the resignation of Dr. Boone.

The medical board reported for the past two months as follows:

July—Patients remaining at date of last report, 39; admitted, 42; discharged cured, 40, improved, 6; died, one; remaining, 25; operations, 31; hospital days, 898. Dispensary patients, 59; visits, 126; operations, 13. In the month of August there were twenty-five patients remaining: Admitted, 46; discharged cured, 39; improved, 2; died, 4; remaining, 26; operations, 27; hospital days, 900; dispensary patients, 59; visits, 143; operations, 8.

STREET WORK.

Macadamizing Division Street Between Sixth and Seventh Streets.

The macadamizing of Division street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, which has been delayed by the work of putting gas pipes underground and changing the water connections, will be finished within a few days. C. M. Meeker, who has the contract to macadamize Division street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, expects to start the work soon.

Contractors Callahan & Chamberlain, who have the work of extending the sewer system in the East End of the city, are now on East Second street, near Johnston avenue. The contractors have had some trouble in keeping laborers, for just as soon as they get other kinds of street work they leave. Labor is scarce at present and it was chiefly for this reason, as well as the high price of iron, that the city has temporarily held up the plans for the southside sewer.

Street Work Nearing Completion.

The street gang is rapidly finishing up the repair work on East Fifth street, from Watchung avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, where new rails and ties have been laid by the Public Service Corporation. The work is now being extended on Watchung avenue, between Fourth street and North avenue. The repair work on West Front street has been delayed a little because the men were needed to rush the work in the center of town.

Man Killed in Newark Suburb Was Helped by Local Police.

RECOGNIZE DESCRIPTION

Hat Given Him By Roundsman Flynn Figures In Establishing the Identity.

Through a hat that was given to him at police headquarters here Saturday night, when he was cared for after a bit of ill-luck on his journey toward Paterson, the body of a man supposed to be Joseph Curran, a silk weaver, was identified by the local police Monday for the authorities at Orange, where he was killed by a train the day before.

The man was brought to police headquarters Saturday night, suffering from a scalp wound over his forehead. He told the officers that he had started from Washington, this State, for Paterson. While on a freight train of the Jersey Central, somewhere beyond this city, he was attacked by two hoboes, and jumped off to save himself. He cut his head in the leap. He walked to the city from where he left them. His clothes were wet, and it was surmised that he took his leap at the Greenbrook tanks.

He gave his name as Joseph Curran, and said he had a sister in Paterson, who lived, according to the last advices he had received from her, at 64 East 17th street. Curran was kept all night, and was sent on his way in the morning, cleaned, cared for and fitted with a hat in place of the one that had blown off as he jumped from the train. The hat was given him by Roundsman Flynn. It was one Flynn's brother, Patrolman Charles Flynn, had owned, and had the latter's initials, C. A. F., punched into the sweatband.

The Newark News of last night had a report of the death of an unidentified man on the tracks at Orange, and as soon as Sergeant Frederickson saw the description of the body, he knew the victim was the man who had called at headquarters Saturday night. The man's pockets contained weavers' tools and a letter that had been mailed at Washington, N. J., and he wore a Melville hat with the initials C. A. F. punched in the sweatband. The police at Orange were notified. Curran's description fitted that of the victim exactly—dark complexion, smooth-faced, age between thirty-five and forty.

He was killed instantly, practically every bone in his body being broken. Two conflicting stories are told of his death. According to the engineer of the train, he walked directly down a high embankment and sat down between the rails, facing the train, and paid no attention to the warning whistle. Two boys who saw the accident say the victim was following the flight of a balloon that had ascended from a nearby resort, and was so absorbed in its progress that he failed to note the train or the whistle.

PAINTERS DECIDE TO BE ACTIVE IN POLITICS.

In Conference at Rahway, Discuss This and Other Matters Important to the Trade.

John E. Matthews, Fred Hale, Charles J. Trotter and George M. Rockfellow, as delegates from Local Union, No. 480, Brotherhood of Painters, Paper Hangers and Decorators, attended the convention of the New Jersey Conference Board at Rahway, Monday. In all there were eighty representatives present, reporting for thirty-eight local unions throughout the State.

A number of matters important to the trade were discussed, among them the declaration that all union men should take a more active part in politics, especially where the issues were sure to affect unions. Several delegates reported that their organizations had already appointed committees to do "missionary" work among candidates in order to learn how they stood on certain labor questions. It was also decided that in the future the union painters in New Jersey should follow the course adopted by the American Federation of Labor in all political issues.

John E. Matthews, of the borough, is president of the local union, and took an active part in the discussion.

SOCIALISTS TO ORGANIZE.

Followers of Karl Marx Meet at Trades Council Hall.

Plans for the organization of the Socialist Labor party in this city were talked over at a meeting of Karl Marx's disciples in Trades Council Hall Saturday night. Between forty and fifty men attended.

It was decided to defer formal organization to another meeting, which will be called by the organization committee. An interchange of views was a feature of the gathering Saturday night.

Miss Bertha Clark, of Grandview avenue, has returned from her summer vacation.

Mrs. S. S. Schuyler, of Belvidere avenue, has gone to Saratoga for a month's stay.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVIII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1906 NO. 42.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

"UNTAINTED" CAMPAIGN

Judge Runyon Makes Pledge Regarding Use of Money In Contest.

REPORT ON MR. GILBERT

Said To Be Preparing Address to Third Ward Voters In Favor of Councilman Tyler's Renomination.

"I promise for myself and the rest of the Colbyites engaged in this contest, to use money only in legitimate ways. That is a solemn pledge. I would like to get a similar promise from the regulars."

So said Judge Runyon in addressing a crowd at a street meeting, at Front street, opposite Park avenue, last night. The sense of the rest of his speech was substantially the same as that in the others made in the "start-tall" series.

Judge Runyon was the only speaker.

It was reported about town this morning that former Mayor Alexander Gilbert was preparing to issue an address to the voters of the Third ward in support of William S. Tyler's campaign for the councilmanic nomination at the primary.

Mr. Gilbert, asked about the report by a Daily Press representative this morning, said he had been thinking of such an address, but had not decided to issue to.

Mr. Gilbert was one of those who spoke for Mr. Tyler at the Third ward meeting at the Casino last week. He believes Mr. Tyler is entitled to a renomination on his record.

Every preparation has been made for tonight's big meeting at Concert Park. La Follette is expected to get here at about 9 o'clock. Judge Runyon didn't know this morning whether he would come to Elizabeth by train or automobile. It is not improbable that the trip will be made in an auto. Whatever means the Senator uses to get here, the Plainfield Colbyites will know in time to receive him with due form. He will not, by overnight, so far as the local Colbyite leaders now know. No preparations have been made for his entertainment, and it is expected he will go to New York for the night.

Good weather appears to be assured, and the Colbyite leaders are naturally pleased beyond measure. It is felt that the weather being right, a big crowd will turn out. It is figured that La Follette, having been written up for years in newspapers and magazines, curiosity alone may be counted upon to draw out a great concourse of voters.

There will be no music, but speech-making will begin on time, and continue without pause until La Follette arrives and delivers the closing address.

The second of the noonday shop meetings was held today at the Safe Works. R. Henry Depew, the Colbyite choice for Mayor, made his first appearance there as a campaign speaker. He was warmly applauded at the close of his speech.

Judge Runyon spoke after Mr. Depew. He said substantially the same things as at the meeting at the Potter Press works yesterday.

After the meeting Mr. Depew was introduced among the men.

Weaver—Smith.

A social event of note in Raritan today was the wedding this morning in St. Bernard's church, Raritan, of Miss Magdalene Clare Smith, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Smith, and Joseph Raymond Weaver, of Garwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Zimmer, in the presence of a host of relatives and friends. A reception followed at the home of the bride on First avenue. The bridegroom is well known as a baseball pitcher, having twirled nearly all this season for the Flemington nine.

Epworth League Rally.

Group four of the Elizabeth District Epworth League, under the presidency of Louis G. Ayers, of Somerville, will hold a rally in the First M. E. church, Somerville, Wednesday night, Sept. 26. Delegates from the Westfield, Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Mt. Horeb and Raritan Epworth, it is hoped, Rev. Fred. Clare Baldwin, D. D., pastor of the East Orange Methodist church, will be the speaker of the evening.

Must Keep the Peace.

George Loerch, who was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Lee Young, his sister-in-law, was arraigned before Justice Mundy last night. Testimony showed the affair to have been a family scrap and the defendant was put under $200 bonds to keep the peace for a year. The amount was furnished by Joseph Harrigan, Loerch's employer.

—S. Scheuer & Co.'s store will be closed all day Thursday, September 20th, on account of holiday. ***

LEAVITT NEW COLLECTOR

Assistant Chosen to Fill Vacancy Caused by E. M. Wood's Death.

HIS SALARY IS $2,500

Freeholders to Pay Balance Due On Court House—Bridge Work In This City.

Nathan R. Leavitt, of Elizabeth, who has been acting county collector since the illness and death of Edward M. Wood, was appointed collector at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders, yesterday afternoon, to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Wood. There was no division of the vote, Mr. Leavitt practically being the only candidate.

There was a report that Major Klag, director of the Board of Freeholders, was a candidate, but this was not so. Aside from the fact that his name was mentioned by some friends, he was not in the race. In fact he stated that he favored Mr. Leavitt.

The selection of Mr. Leavitt is an appreciation of the services he has rendered to the county without pay during the sickness of Mr. Wood and because of his long association with the latter in county affairs.

By resolution the salary of Collector Leavitt was fixed at $2,500, the same as before, and he will be obliged to furnish bonds in the sum of $20,000, the same to be approved by the committee on bonds, composed of Freeholders Meisel, Darby and Cladek.

It is expected that at the next meeting of the board the last payment, $24,000, the balance remaining due the contractors on the new Court House building, will be made and the release of the architect will be secured. When this is done, the Court House property will be turned over to the care of the county.

The board authorized the placing of $25,000 insurance on the furniture and fixtures in the Court House.

The hurdles this afternoon were 2:30 o'clock the bridge committee will meet at the Leland avenue bridge, this city, for the purpose of accepting the new structure, which has just been completed.

Friday morning the bridge committees of Union and Somerset counties will meet at the Elm street bridge to consider a petition of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to run four cables across Green brook at that point. The company wants to run their wires through iron pipes across the iron girders of the bridge, it being impossible to place them underground there. The county attorney will also be at the meeting to draw up papers protecting the interests of the two counties.

DEMAND FOR HOUSES FAR EXCEEDS SUPPLY

SOME BUILDING OPERATIONS IN SEVERAL SECTIONS OF CITY.

Activity in local real estate still continues, the constant demand for homes far exceeding the supply. When the new factory in the West End is completed and ready for operations at least 100 new families will move here who will not be able to find homes to live in.

E. Frank Vail has just completed a new house on Putnam avenue, which he has sold to Charles A. Westervelt, of Crescent avenue, and he is also erecting a new house on Park avenue, another on West Eighth street, near Spooner avenue and one at Hillside and Evergreen avenues. Mr. Vail has also purchased seven acres of the Sutphen estate on South avenue, Dunellen.

Joseph T. Vail is erecting a new house at Union street and Arlington avenue. Stephen Beeching is also erecting a new house on Union street and William Nicholls, of Arlington avenue, is putting up a new house on Union street. That section of the city is experiencing a remarkable growth, it being impossible for people to find either houses or land much closer to the business part of the town.

Mrs. John Duffy Ill.

Following a short illness with pneumonia, Mrs. John Duffy died at her home on West Third street, yesterday afternoon. She was forty-five years old and leaves a husband and three children. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's cemetery tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will hold a reception at the church on Thursday night, September 27.

A NINE-INNING FINISH

Plainfield Cops' Nine Trims Trenton After An Uphill Fight.

HEAVY HITTING DOES IT

Lou Wiltse In the Box For Plainfield After Cap Payne Tries a Few Shifts.

For their sins, the Trenton Cops were walloped at Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, and it was a bit of poetic justice that one of the few real cops on the Plainfield side put in the lick that won the game. For it was no unhandily balanced score, but an affair of close figures, and the biff that Cap Payne, the hero, handed to the ball in the ninth inning, was very much needed. The score was 8 to 7.

It was a rattling wind-up, and made the eighty-seven spectators think of big league contests. Some things happened before that which made the eighty-seven think of very small leagues—primary school leagues—but that finish was a corker. It climaxed a pretty uphill fight, and wiped out memories of lots of things that the cop ballists ought to be glad to have forgotten.

There were only four real Plainfield hops in the game. Cap Payne was at first, Art McGinley chased around short, Charley Flynn was in left and Bill Messler covered center. Bill got under the fly and muffed it, and two innings later he got mad at Charley for taking a fly he felt positively certain he could have held. Bill didn't recover his poise of mind until he caught a left of his own, entirely unassisted.

Cap Payne had a fast team, but had a lot of trouble getting pegged out right. Jim Scott was first in the box and took first base himself, with McCarthy in right. Then Lou Wiltse dropped down for a look-in and Payne hastily surrendered first cushion to leaguer. But did Jack blow up? Why, he's New Navy now. He made a lordly motion at the right-fielder, and McCarthy called Faithful Florrie from the assiduity with which he practiced, was jerked to the bench and obscurity. Of such pride and cutting disappointment are the lives of ballists fall.

After an inning of that arrangement, Cap Payne decided that Scott shoots were too fond of caressing Trenton bats, and the lordly arm again swept the humble pawns into new places. Lou went into the box, and Jack seized on his old cushion. Scatty, who was nursing a sore finger, went into the garden.

That was the stuff. Trenton had scored four runs by the time the second inning ended, and they had the habit and couldn't stop short, but after two in the third and one in the fourth, they continued to dwindle, and didn't hit the rubber again. Lou had it on them. In seven innings he fanned ten men, and hits were not indigenous to the vicinity of Trenton. Which served them right, because about three-quarters of the Trenton team have been going about under the impression that they are semi-professional ball players and not cops. The way Trenton padded the team was something shameful. Only three bona fide cops were in the line-up. Plainfield, before going into a game with only three cops, would hire a whole team; that's the sort of sports we are. But there were nine Trenton cops on the grounds. They showed up at the supper and made three-plate hits at every course.

After plugging the run factory of the visitors up, the home team spat on its hands and went at the Trenton Y. M. C. A. expert on the slab. It was a great hitting combination Cap Payne had, and when it really wanted to do things it did them. When the smoke of the overworked bats cleared five runs were added to the one Plainfield gained in the first.

In the ninth, finding score 7 to 6 against them, those swatters looked over the new pitcher and decided to annihilate him with one full swoop. With Brit Martin, trusty swattist, on second Taylor Mehaffey lifted his stick. "Will I bunt?" asked Taylor. "No; hit it out," said Lou. "All right," said Taylor, and banged the globule right in the eye for two laps. Mr. Martin loped in with the tieing run, amid scenes that included a fandango by Carrie Nation Higgins and apoplectic noises from Chief Kiely.

Then up steps Cap Payne, noble man, and abruptly ends the game with a smack like a pistol shot over the second baseman's head. Mehaffey scooted in so fast with the winning tally it looked as if a bunt would have served the purpose.

The visitors were bountifully entertained at Johnny Windham's summer garden after the game. A course dinner was served, and beer flowed where water feared to go. Wine mea

[Continued on Page 8.]

CLARK WELCOMED HOME

Somerville Tenders Its First Citizen a Popular Banquet to Celebrate His Return.

HAS BEEN ABROAD

Mayor N. B. Smalley and David J. Carney, of the Borough, Numbered Among the Guests.

In honor of his home-coming after a few months' trip abroad, former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, was tendered a welcoming banquet by the merchants and citizens of the town last night. It was held in the County House and was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings Somerset's county seat has ever witnessed. The invitations had been limited because of lack of room but the clergy, the law, the merchant and the ordinary citizen were represented. Mayor Newton B. Smalley and David J. Carney attended from North Plainfield.

The first course of the dinner was served shortly after 8 o'clock and by that time the main dining room was crowded, making it necessary to use an adjacent one for the overflow. The blessing was pronounced by Rev. Dr. La Fevera, of Somerville. The menu was elaborate and thoroughly enjoyed by the participants.

At its conclusion, Rev. Dr. Cramner, pastor of the First Reformed church, who was toastmaster, announced that he would call upon the guests indiscriminately for remarks, adding that lengthy addresses were not necessary. Among those who responded to his call were former Prosecutor James W. Griggs, Deputy Sheriff Anderson, Stewart A. Kenney, Louis Moore, Mayor Smalley, Major N. Y. Dungan, William Reussy and J. J. Carney.

Mr. Clark was also called upon and gave a twenty minute address during which he told something of his travels in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Egypt. While present at the Paris Exposition Mr. Clark's country he met William Jennings Bryan and held a very pleasant conversation with the Nebraska statesman. Mr. Bryan outlined his views on the federal ownership of railroads and other matters and they discussed them at some length. Mr. Clark said he opposed Mr. Bryan's stand but admired him greatly as a man. He added also that he did not think Bryan would accept a re-nomination for the Presidency.

The arrangements for the dinner were made by a committee composed of Stewart A. Kenney, W. D. Nolan and Louis Moore.

WM. FREIDAY WEDS MISS M. A. PHILPOTT.

Ceremony Performed Last Night at the Home of the Bride's Father.

Miss Mary Aurelia Philpott, daughter of Werner Philpott, of Westervelt avenue, and William Freidsy, of Somerset street, were married at 8 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's father, by Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Holy Cross church. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Dentz, of Summit avenue, and the best man was Martin Waller, of Newark.

The home was elaborately decorated with cut flowers, palms and ferns, the arrangement in the dining-room being especially attractive. There were 100 guests at the wedding and reception which followed. The couple received a large collection of gifts from relatives and friends. The groom is employed in this city as a clerk and he and his bride will continue to reside in the borough.

Miss Harris Will Sing for Vets.

Miss Luella C. Harris, soprano soloist at the First Baptist church, and daughter of Col. Harris, who went out in command of Co. C, N. J. Vols., and who is now president of the regimental association, will assist in the musical numbers to be rendered at the reunion of the Thirteenth Regiment, being held today in Arcanum Hall, Elisabeth. Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees is expected to make an address.

Hylkema—Cruser.

Melle G. Hylkema, of Prospect avenue, and Miss Anna Isabelle Cruser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cruser, of Neshanic, were married at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Hart and was witnessed only by relatives, following a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hylkema will make their home at 361 Arlington avenue, this city.

—Newman Brothers' store is the mecca for peach buyers these days. They are receiving hundreds of baskets of this delicious fruit every morning. They sell at 85c, $1 and $1.25 a basket.

LUNGER FOR CONGRESS

North Plainfield Man Accepts the Prohibition Party's Endorsement.

IN THE 4TH DISTRICT

Saloon the Greatest Enemy of the Home and Greatest Curse on Nation, He Says.

William Lunger, of the borough, and Wilson Brown, of South Bound Brook, have been endorsed by the Prohibition party for Congressional and State Assembly nominations, respectively, for election from the Fourth district. Both are well known advocates of prohibition and for years have fought for the cause. In accepting the nomination, Mr. Lunger sent the following letter to those who had conferred the honor upon him:

"Delegates and Gentlemen of the Committee and Fellow Citizens: I recognize in my nomination for the office of Member of the House of Representatives of the United States, which comprises the Fourth congressional district, a distinguished honor, as it is by a party whose dominant issue is for the fighting and destruction of a business which is destroying the lives, the homes and the happiness of the American people, namely the legalized liquor traffic. The constitution of the United States was ordained for the protection of life, liberty and property. To insure equal privileges to all, to secure domestic peace, and make prosperity possible for all the people, is it not in direct conflict with the spirit and clearly stated purposes of the constitution to license a business that is in it very nature at war, and that contantly on the peace and prosperity of the country.

"A great English statesman recently said: 'England must throttle the liquor traffic or the liquor traffic will throttle England.' The same may truthfully be said of America. The new glory awaiting our nation under the ban of law is framed not in the interest of a class devoted to the tearing down of church, state, home, school and everything good, but in the interest of all that helps civilization. The nation is built on the home. Whatever lowers the home lowers by that much lower the nation itself. The saloon is the greatest enemy of the workingman, because it decreases his ability to earn, and wastes the evenings, which should go to the upbuilding of his home and family. Remove the barroom and the whole question of capital and labor will be settled of adjustment, on principles helpful to all. The heaviest curse lying on our na*tion today is the licensed liquor traf*fic, which is simply a traffic in manhood and womanhood under national sanction. But there is a party in America which stands clean and aboveboard for righteousness, for conscience in politics, a party with no entanglements with the liquor business and which can afford to speak the truth without fear or favor. Every party is called into being as the exponent of some great principle. The one supreme idea becomes to it at once bone and sinew, inspiration and message. It is does it live, move and have its being.

"The Prohibition party is a party not only with a principle but with a great moral principle. It makes no plea for itself only for the recognition of the truth which gives it life. Party politics make it a necessity as the only practical appeal to the citizenship of the country, as the only hope for the recognition of its principles, as the American method for the solution of any problem it raises its banner and invites co-operation in the destruction of the criminal liquor traffic. It offers no honor except a position in the firing line, no royalty but that of a common service for humanity. With no room for the weak heart, scorning pity, disdaining compromise, it calls the citizenship of the country to the privilege of its manhood. The contest for prohibition is essentially a moral struggle, involving life and integrity, both of the individual and the State.

"The liquor traffic is criminal, not only the associate of crime or the source of crime but the very essence of crime. Its very manifestation militates against the highest ideals of life, liberty, law and love. Life it destroys, light it hates, liberty it degrades to license, law it disregards, and love it cannot know. And yet cursed of God and man it lives! Lives, yes, prospers and rules. Having purchased the right to exist. Existence. It dominates the political parties, disregards the laws, outrages all decency, and defies interference. In the face of these facts the Prohibition party contends that the liquor traffic being criminal should be dealt with as any other crime, namely by prohibition. That when the State for a money consideration legalizes

[Continued on Page 8.]

GAVE MISSIONARY TALK

Mrs. J. A. Chambliss Spoke on the Highlanders of the South.

TO BAPTIST WOMEN

Instructive Address Before Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church.

A talk of much interest on the "Origin and History of the Highlanders of the South," was given by Mrs. J. A. Chambliss before the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. At the outset she spoke of the differences in the nature of the people who settled in the Massachusetts colony and those who settled in the South. She said that the former were chiefly artisans, while the others were farmers coming from Scotland and England. They followed the work of tilling the soil and prospered in raising tobacco and cotton. After the Revolutionary War they were forced back to the mountains, where they found conditions to their liking and were successful in raising crops on the mountain sides.

Mr. Chambliss said that the first settlers were well educated, but they did not maintain any intercourse with the people of the lowlands. Their people married and re-married until the speaker declared that they today represent the purest strain and type of the Anglo-Saxon race. She predicted a bright future for the Highlanders as the young people are finding employment in the hundreds of cotton mills being located in that section of the south, the colored help being very unsatisfactory. In this way it is hoped that the younger people will be educated and become useful citizens. Mrs. Chambliss also told of the excellent work being done by the Baptists among the people of the Highlanders. The talk was greatly appreciated by the large number of people present.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Miss May B. Howlett, and during the business session interesting letters were read from missionaries at the Oneida School in the mountains of Kentucky, which were greatly appreciated. It was also decided to send a barrel of clothing and bedding to a missionary in North Dakota, as soon as his needs are ascertained. It was agreed not to postpone the next meeting of the society which falls on the same date of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society meeting of the East New Jersey Baptist Association, which will be held at Westfield.

CHARGES OFFICER WITH HAVING STRUCK HER

COLORED GIRL ACCUSES PATROLMAN WHEN ARRAIGNED IN CITY COURT.

Hattie Miner, sixteen-year-old colored girl, was arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning on a charge of disorderly *conduct preferred by Patrolman Mc*Keon. Hattie acknowledged fighting with the officer, but charged him with having struck her first, and without provocation.

She claims the officer, who was in citizen's clothes, rode by her on a wheel at Front and Washington streets, dangerously close, and she made a protesting remark. He made a backward slap at her from the wheel, she alleges, and when she protested against that, sprang off the bicycle, seized her roughly by the arm and struck her. Then Hattie claims she started to defend herself. She says she didn't know it was an officer in whose hands she was. From all accounts, Hattie put up a great fight, and a fuss of some proportions attended her progress to the station house.

Judge Runyon made no comment on the story, but suspended sentence. Chief Kiely took the girl's number. The charge against the officer having been made in court and not denied, Chief Kiely will probably bring the matter before the police board himself, without waiting for action by the girl.

Approaching Marriage.

Miss Isabelle Patterson, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Stuart Patterson, formerly of this city, but now of New York, will be married to Dr. Gregg Curtis Birdsall, of Washington, on Thursday afternoon, October 4, at 12:30 o'clock. The couple will be at home on Wednesdays in December at 1230 Massachusetts avenue, Washington. Miss Patterson is a sister of Stuart H. Patterson and Edward J. Patterson, of this city.

—S. Scheuer & Co.'s store will be closed all day Thursday, September 20th, on account of holiday. ***

BUXTON ANSWERS DEPEW

Explains That Common Council Deferred Water Scheme Vote to Save Expense.

NO "HOLD UP" BY HIM

Special Election Would Cost $1,000 and End Could Be Served As Well At General Election As Decided.

Herbert Buxton, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Common Council, denies the insinuation made by R. Henry Depew, the Colbyites' candidate for mayor, that he has "held up" the resolution to allow the taxpayers to vote on a proposition for municipal control of the water supply. In short, he intimates that Mr. Depew is deceiving the public when he declares in his letter to the voters:

"For some time past one of the independent members of the Common Council has been endeavoring to have brought before the people, for an expression of opinion, the question as to whether there is a thorough investigation of the subject with the end in view of the city acquiring its own supply and system. Prompt action upon this subject has been and is most important, as the longer it is delayed the more difficult it becomes, owing to the increasing value of the franchise. Despite this fact it seems to have been impossible to get it out of the hands of the committee, the chairman of which is a good and true member of the machine."

"The crux of the matter," said Mr. Buxton to a representative of The Daily Press today, "is that the Common Council by a vote of seven to four refused to pass a resolution calling for a special election on the water question. The majority of the members were of the opinion that they had no right to burden the city with an expense or $1,000 at that time for the purpose of a special election. No good end could be served by holding a special election when the matter could be brought before the people at the general election in November. That's the view taken by the Common Council.

"You have to remember," continued Mr. Buxton, "that the water company has a contract with the city which will not expire for about six or seven years. Consequently the most of us thought we would not be warranted in putting the city to an expense of $1,000 when the end could be served as well at the general election a few months distant. Another thing to remember is that we could not get hold of the water works unless we purchased the contract made with it by the city. In such an event we would have to pay the company an estimated amount on what profit it could reasonably make on the contract during the time it has yet to run.

"As I have said before, the Common Council decided to let the matter go over until the general election and it will come up at that time. I had already arranged for a meeting of the public affairs committee next week to consider the matter. At that meeting we will complete plans for bringing the proposition up at the November election."

The resolution to which Mr. Depew referred is one allowing the taxpayers to decide whether the Common Council shall appropriate a sum sufficient to permit of a full and complete investigation of the desirability and feasibility of public ownership of the water supply.

Hold-Up Man Gets Three Years.

Thomas F. Monahan, alias Joseph Collins, the youth who held up three young men at Leland avenue and the Central Railroad tracks a month ago, was sentenced to three years in State Prison this morning, by Judge Atwater. Monahan was captured by Patrolman Dobson the day of the crime, with the watch and rings he took from the young men on him, and had no defense to offer. He was an ex-convict, and, altogether, had nothing in his favor when he went before the court.

Lecture on India.

The Young People's Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has invited all the Christian Endeavor Societies, Epworth Leagues and ministers of the city to attend an illustrated lecture on India to be given at the church Friday night at 7:45 o'clock by Rev. Dr. T. H. P. Sailer, educational secretary of the Foreign Missionary Board of the Presbyterian Church.

Hall for Assembly.

Former Assemblyman William J. Hall, of Cranford, who served in the Legislatures of 1902 and 1903, announces himself as a candidate for Assembly this year on the regular Republican ticket, and will soon take the field. He is a member of the Republican county executive committee from Cranford.

WEIGHT IS NOT ALL

MANY OTHER FACTORS IN DETERMINING BRAIN POWER.

When the Cells Are So Constituted as to Give Ability for "Team Work," High Intelligence Is Present.

Other factors besides brain weight are known to influence intelligence. It has long been known that the distinguishing character of the human brain is the large number of connecting fibers by which its cells are co-ordinated. In no other species are they so numerous or complicated. The cells constitute but a very small part of the weight. There is now considerable evidence that the same rule applies among individual men and that those of great intelligence have more connections so that their cells can do more and better "team work."

Some investigations have shown the corpus callosum to have a large cross section in men who have shown great ability. It is also known that the brains of able men are likely to present more convolutions and deeper ones than the average, as if there were more brain cells as well as more connections. A few observations in the lower races point to the fact that their brains are essentially different in microscopic organization, partly accounting for less intelligence.

All these facts will fully explain why men of intelligence in the higher races may have brains not notably heavy, but they do not disprove the general statement that as a class such men do possess brains heavier than the average.

The mistake arises from the failure to recognize that noted men who have shown intellectual power not infrequently were sharply limited to one or two directions, being very defective in other directions. Blind Tom was an idiot, in fact—an extreme case of what is quite common. At the other extreme was Gambetta, who was not much more than an orator, whose cerebral speech centers were found to be highly developed. The rest of his brain was small, and his general intellectual power and judgment were decidedly defective. Ability in one or two lines may make a man famous, while he is really very defective, and his brain proves to be small.

Heavy brains are not necessarily intellectual ones, or elephants would be in the class of geniuses.

The material might also be pathologic and the possessor an imbecile. It often happens that men of big brain and great ability suffer from early neglect, and are found in low employments or may remain ignorant through life. These few facts do not prove that large brains are worthless and not indicative of mental power as a rule. We cannot get away from the fact that man as an animal is supreme because of his large brain; that among races the brainiest are the highest, and that in any one race the most intelligent, as a rule, are those who have the most brains.

Men of small brains are not the leaders, and no statistics of the brain weights of a few exceptional men noted for limited abilities can reverse the rule. Universities do not create brains, but merely train what they find so that the powers are better fitted for the battle of life. Many a man is sent to college who should be handling a pick and shovel, and he never amounts to much, even though he subsequently makes his living at some very limited specialty.

Girls, Wear Whites!

Frau Liebrich, a wealthy resident of Munich, is convinced that girls who wear white dresses are more ruled by reason than girls who wear all sorts of colors. Accordingly, she has organized a "league of white women" among her friends, the members of which undertake to wear pure white for all important and ceremonial occasions. In her address to the first members of the guild—some 20 fair maids of Munich—Frau Liebrich is reported to have said: "I loved my husband before he loved me, and he returned my affection only when he saw me accidentally in a white dressing gown. White is a symbol of pure love and thus appeals to the better half of female creation. The plainest girl dressed in white will conquer hearts more rapidly than a beauty who stoops to the meretricious attractions of a hundred hues."

Millhand to Millionaire.

J. R. Booth, the Canadian railway magnate and lumber king, began life as a millhand. Now he possesses 6,000 square miles of timber land and is the largest owner in his own right of railways in British North America. As he drives about Ottawa in an old-fashioned buggy and simply dressed he would be taken for a comfortable farmer rather than a prince of industry. However, the close observer will fail to look a second time at the forceful, self-reliant and energetic countenance which looks out from under the soft felt hat.

Settled a Pretender.

The late Carl Schurz had no consideration for hypocrites or pretenders. Upon literary pretenders he was particularly severe. At a dinner in New York one night a millionaire who had written a volume of poems asked politely: "I wouldn't give everyone," he said, "for a senatorship or a cabinet office. To be even a second-rate poet than a first-rate statesman. Well, aren't you, Mr. Schurz.

SPIDER EATS BIRDS.

South American Tropic Forests the Home of Insects with Remarkable Appetite.

There has just been deposited in the insect house at the London zoo a specimen of the bird-eating spider, which, as its name by occasionally regarding its meals some of the Amazon's finest hummingbirds and carnivorous bushes of South American tropics.

It is doubtful whether the silken threads which he spins in profusion constitute his most effective tackle for securing his prey; indeed, it is more probable that the little birds get caught through alighting upon the banana and other leaves, in the twists and folds of which the spider makes his home. The similarity of his coloring to the bark of trees, to which he attaches himself, is also a powerful factor in enabling him to approach his prey.

The silken threads which help to ensnare so many beautiful birds are a serious annoyance to the traveler when riding or driving through the forests frequented. As they continually strike the face, one is reminded of some fiendish motor trap.

The bird-eating spider is much smaller, although not less ferocious in appearance, than the famous tarantula. The body of a full-grown tarantula is as big as a hen's egg, and on an average it gives from 20 to 40 yards of silk, the weaving of which was expected at one time to prove a very considerable industry in some of the Australian colonies. The silken output of the bird-eating spider is greater in proportion.

PUBLIC WANTS TOO MUCH.

Impossible to Perfect Great Inventions in Short Space of Time—A Story in Point.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, in a series of remarkable experiments, has been sending wireless messages from tetrahedral kites.

In a discussion of these experiments Dr. Bell said:

"It takes a long time to make a new idea practicable and commercial. Most people think the first successful flight of a flying machine should have been immediately followed by the appearance of great fleets of passenger flying machines, or that the first successful wireless message should have been immediately followed by a cheap wireless service to all parts of the world."

Dr. Bell smiled.

"They would have inventions made practicable with a speed that is only possible in suburban toilet-making," he resumed.

"A suburbanite's wife the other morning rushed into the man's room, shook him roughly and said:

"'John, John! You've only got three minutes to catch your train.'

"'All right,' said the man coolly, as he leaped out of bed and seized his clothes. 'Tell the cook to hurry breakfast.'"

Washtubs and Washtubs.

"What would our foremothers have thought," said Mrs. Flatwelter, "of those of them that on wash days went out to the wash bench and put on it two big round wooden washtubs, one to be filled with cold water carried to it from the pump, and the other with hot water carried from the stove, while in one of these tubs was placed a wooden washboard on which to do the scrubbing, and finally the tubs had to be carried out into the yard to be emptied—what would our foremothers have thought, I say, if they could have seen the modern set washtubs of porcelain, set side by side, each supplied with cold and with hot water to be had at will by the turning of a faucet, and to be emptied by the pulling of a plug, while in the inner conveniently sloping front of one, and without any legs for the clothes in the tub to get tangled around, were moulded the corrugations of a porcelain washboard!

"They may have dreamed of many things, but probably never of this."

Educating German Women.

There are commercial schools for girls at Cologne, Berlin, Calsed and Munich. These schools have passed the experimental stage. They have been proved a success, and henceforth they are to become a permanent thing, to be established alongside the commercial schools existing for boy apprentices all over the empire. During the last ten years Germany has thrown open wide the doors of her universities, as well as opening many of the professions to women, and their advent into many phases of commercial life has now become a part of the established order of things. The only question now is how to best prepare them to fill mercantile positions of importance and trust. It was decided at the congress in Wiesbaden to recommend decisive measures for the establishment and maintenance of girl apprentice schools wherever necessary in Germany.

An Original Idea.

Author—My new novel may not prove a great success, but it possesses the merit of originality at least.

Critics—Indeed!

Author—Yes; the hero is a baseball umpire.

Chip Off the Old Block.

DeLong—I met your son this morning.

Sherlock—Don't you think he resembles me a good deal?

DeLong—That's what. He tried to borrow a dollar from me.

SAYINGS OF THE SAGES.

Lack of desire is the greatest of riches.—Seneca.

Art holds fast when all else is lost. —From the German.

He is safe from danger who is on his guard even when safe.—S. rus.

In the court of a pure conscience no guilty man is ever mad.—Juvenal.

He who is afraid of asking is ashamed of learning.—From the Danish.

When all men say you are an ass, it is time to try.—From the Spanish.

The only competition worthy a wise man is with himself.—Anna Jameson.

A babe is an angel whose wings decrease as his legs increase.—From the French.

Do what you consider right, whatever people think of it despite censure and praise.—Pythagoras.

Only the illiterate and the social elect can afford to treat the ignorance recklessly. — Eleanor Hoyt Brainerd.

In the course of conversation one must change the solid gold of one's thoughts into countless pieces of such small coin that one invariably appears poor.—Carmen Sylva.

GROWLS OF A GROUCHY GENT.

Love knows no law but mother-in-law.

The home is the "national capital" of the country.

You can lead a boy to school, but you can't make him think.

Just as long as young men are foolish young girls will flirt.

When a man attains fame he should die quickly or be stricken dumb.

Be intelligent first, educated, if it is possible, but "intellectual" last of all.

Riches mar bring anxiety, but lack of them will bring misery. Now take your choice.

The really successful men always manage to put the shoulders of other men to the wheel.

There are two kinds of fools, the wise and the silly. Make the world laugh with you, not at you.

Men, gossips are worse than the feminine variety. They have more and nastier things to talk about.

A man's love of woman should be like that of the bee that steals honey from the flower's heart without injuring it.—Judge.

DO YOU REMEMBER—

An anticipated calamity that actually came?

A sweetheart who turned out to be a real friend?

A kind man who was really as bad as he was reputed?

An actor that wasn't thoroughly delighted with himself?

An absconding cashier who wasn't a trusted employe?

A man who went wrong who wasn't a highly-respected citizen?

A woman criminal who was not beautiful and apparently refined?

A horse that could trot as fast as the man who sold him to you said he could?

Anybody who achieved sinlessness before starting a fusillade of stones at others?

A successful man who used up nine-tenths of his time telling what he was going to do next

A prize fighter that went through the throes of the championship without becoming demoralled?

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

There is no one any prouder than the girl who has a pretty white neck.

We have noticed that a baldheaded man has always plenty of hair brushes.

Love may make the world go 'round, but it takes jealousy to make it move freely.

When a man eats a peach in the dark, is the joke on him or on the worm?

One of the remarkable features of childhood is the kind of singing that will put it to sleep.

When a woman announces that she gets up cherries with the pits in, the chances are that she pits think to themselves: "How shiftless!"

What has become of the old-fashioned person, who said, when attending a funeral: "I prefer to remember him as he looked in life, and don't care to view the remains?"—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

WAS THE BIGGEST PIG IN THE TOWN.

It is a kindly and beautiful custom in some country villages for the wealthier inhabitants to subscribe and make good the loss when a poorer villager may have died through the death of a pig.

Maj. Cardle, however, and but recently returned from abroad, and knew little of the local customs, and therefore he was astonished recently to receive a visit from the wife of a laborer who lived near.

"Least a pig—ess" he repeated, gruffly. "Well, I haven't got it! I don't collect pigs."

"Beggin' your pardon, sir," faltered the woman; "but you see, sir, the pig died."

"Well, d'ye want me to go to the funeral and send a wreath, or what, woman?" he replied.

"No, sir; indeed, no!" was the reply. "But we're poor folks, sir, and we thought that, bein' the biggest pig in the neighborhood, you'd give us a little 'elp."

The major's reply was distinctly pungent.

Frightened.

As the judge approached Maud Muller his corpulent companion began from time to time and made for the tall timbers.

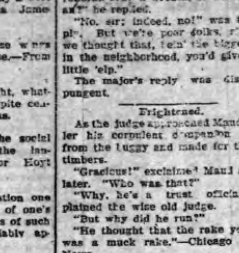
"Gracious!" exclaimed Maud a little later. "Who was that?"

"Why, he's a trust official," explained the wise old judge.

"But why did he run?"

"He thought that the rake you had was a muck rake."—Chicago Daily News.

AT THE CLUB.



"What do you mean by using such language before me?"

"How the deuce was I to know you wanted to use it first?"

Tale of a Dog.

Mr. Slimpurse—Ah! Good evening, Dick. Is your sister in?

Little Dick—Gee-whiz.

"I say, Dick, here's a nickel to get some candy. I notice that big dog of your father's is untied. He's pretty cross, isn't he?"

"Awful. He always ties him up when Mr. Fatpurse is in town; but Mr. Fatpurse is away now, and the dog is loose for exercise."—N. Y. Weekly.

The Silent Message.

"What kind of a time is Jack having on his trip across the Atlantic?"

"Awful."

"How do you know?"

"He promised to send me a wireless every six hours unless he was too sick to hold his head up, and I haven't heard from him since he left New York harbor."—Detroit Free Press.

Waning.

"What ails young Mrs. Smithkins? She looks so worried lately."

"It's her husband. Before they were married he used to say she was one in a million. After they were married he called her one in a thousand."

"And now?"

"He calls her one in a hundred."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

End the Curves.

"What became of that contortionist you used to advertise as the 'boneless wonder?' queried the reporter.

"Oh, he got another job," replied the museum manager. "He's getting $500 a week doing a female impersonation act and posing for the illustrations in a fashion magazine."—Chicago Daily News.

Possibilities.

"But," protested the first dear girl, "I haven't got the face to ask a favor of him."

"Well," rejoined dear girl No. 2, "you might visit a complexion specialist and have your face remodeled."—Chicago Daily News.

A Negative Distinction.

"You didn't attend Mrs. Tackington's big party."

"No," answered Miss Cayenne. "That is one of the occasions concerning which I prefer to be mentioned among those absent."—Washington Star.

Forced Upon Him.

First Bug—I've just had a Turkish bath.

Second Bug—Where'd you get it?

First Bug—Went to the cleaner's in a rug and couldn't get out till I'd been through the steam room.—Detroit Free Press.

Making It Modest.

Mrs. McSmith—The material for my new bathing suit will cost $3 a yard.

Mr. McSmith—Well, take this quarter and buy more of it than you did last year.—Cleveland Leader.

How Bitter!

"How many children have you?"

"Two living and one writing jokes for a daily paper."—Cleveland Leader.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Fear and fret makes life's friction.

Heaven helps those who help others.

Heaven despairs of the man who despises men.

True religion nourishes the roots of right doing.

The church that courts the rich loses its riches.

Sometimes hiding another's faults heals our own.

The man who is too previous is sure to get procrastinated.

The hardest work some folks do is telling how busy they are.

You cannot keep your eyes on your watch and your heart on your work.

It does not make a man brave to lay his conscience on his conscience.

No amount of lavishry in your religion can make up for a lack of love.

There's no special merit in casting bread on the water with a hook in it.

Many a man's religion would be worth more if it had more office practice.

It's no use looking for a man's religion when it doesn't get into his looks.

Two strings to your bow may be all right if you can keep them clear of your neck.—Chicago Tribune.

PHILOSOPHICAL POINTS.

The fatted calf never loves the prodigal son.

There are a great many calico souls in silken coats.

Truth never runs around asking people to believe it.

Alas, that fools are prosperous. Is it their penalty or reward?

How many of us in listening to the tomtoms forget the violins?

To think an original thought is to take a step nearer the divine.

People who need to be continually propped up are not worth the prop.

When men become suddenly good they should be executed immediately.

It is easier for some people to believe the impossible than the possible.

Before it was thrown down, the Golden Calf had a son, and it is still mooing around the world.

"All things come to him who waits" is a high-sounding but senseless phrase. Poor-houses and potter's field are filled with waiters.

It is self-evident that to successfully fathom the motives of men one must be a man himself. To an idiot—to a lunatic—all men are either idiots or lunatics.

LOVE LORE.

It is easier to love and be wise than to be generous and have money.

Jealousy is green and does not harmonize with Love's hair and eyes.

Love laughs at locksmiths, because parents don't lock up their daughters any more.

When Poverty comes in at the door Truelove escapes her on the spot to do the cooking.

The pity of Love's blindness is that marriage is the only oculist that guarantees to restore the sight.

Don't complain of your lover's amateurishness. In this you have proof positive that you are the first.

Show me the sweethearts of the land, and I will confess myself that much more puzzled about the men.

Life gave a dinner, and, while it may not have been a feast from an epicure's point of view, it was a great success. The guest of honor was Love.

When Love begins to sicken and decay, sometimes the tonic of indifference will effect a quicker recovery than all the careful nursing in the world.

ABOUT WOMEN.

Freshness is not to be despised in women, vegetables or flowers.

A woman of gushing proclivities is apt to consider herself irresistible.

The woman who nags her husband deservedly sits down to a lonely meal.

Wise is the woman who does not expect a man's devotion at election time.

The woman who constantly quotes her husband seldom realizes what an intolerable bore she is to others.

A woman with a musical voice may babble of coal first and sewer krant and still contrive to put on to think of his strings.—Exchange.

FOOLISH OLD CUSTOMS.

Antiquated and Silly Ideas That Still Prevail in European and Asiatic Courts.

Time has not brought about a readjustment of many of the antiquated customs that surround royalty. When the king of Spain was 12 years of age he one day had the misfortune to slip and fall down a flight of the palace steps. The fall would very probably have been attended with fatal results had it not been for a servant who extended a kindly hand and saved his young master by breaking the fall.

But, by a strict old rule of Spanish etiquette, no servant may dare touch the sacred person of the king, and for this "crime" of which the servant was at once dismissed from his position.

By a remarkable law of royal etiquette, which has existed for a number of years past at the court of Siam, no person is permitted to sleep in an apartment situated above that occupied by the king. A deliberate breach of this rule has on more than one occasion been punished by death.

Recently, when the king of Siam paid a visit to Perak, a number of bedrooms were reserved, directly above that in which the king was to have slept, for the dusky followers of the royal visitor. The blunder caused great consternation among the fearful courtiers, until the matter was explained to the management and duly rectified. All the courtiers and servants were placed in bedrooms on floors below that occupied by the sovereign.

When the emperor or empress of China appears in public, no other person is allowed to occupy a higher place. Therefore, on such occasions the shutters of all buildings are drawn, and the upper parts of the houses past which the royal procession is expected to move are deserted, the inhabitants remaining in the ground floors in order to show due deference to their rulers.

LIFE OF ADVENTURE.

President Diaz of Mexico Has Had Many Narrow Escapes from Death —Hid in Sofa Seat.

Porfirio Diaz, seven times president of Mexico, has had some wonderful escapes from the hands of his foes. His latest escape from his opponents' clutches on the steamship City of Havana. A splash of a man overboard was heard by the ship's watch at night, and Diaz was at once sought for and missed, while a ship's boat was missing also. As it was found a little later thrown up on shore there was little doubt that Diaz had made good his escape. Nevertheless, the steamer, on its arrival at Vera Cruz, was rigorously and minutely searched—in vain. Still, the commander of the port surrounded the vessel while in harbor with boats manned by soldiers to preclude all possibility of his escape. But he escaped, nevertheless. After having been for several days and nights sewn up, half-suffocated, in a sofa seat in the purser's cabin, where he had again and again been sat upon by the officers who were searching for him, he contrived, in the disguise of a sailor, to pass undetected through the cordon of blockading boats.

Cold Friday.

There seems to be an agreement that the "cold wave" was January 19, 1810. The day before had been very warm, with southerly wind, the thermometer in some places going as high as 60 degrees. Toward sunset there was an appearance of it coming storm, like a heavy thunder shower. It burst upon the western part of Massachusetts about sunset, or little later, in a snow squall, from the northwest, of terrific violence, with the power and fury of a tornado. Desolation marked its course. The cold increased with great rapidity. At midnight the thermometer was at zero and the next morning at 20 degrees below, and in some places lower. Friday was insufferably cold. The wind was strong and the thermometer did not rise to zero over much of New England and in New York and in Canada it was still lower. The storm passed over a large part of the country, and everywhere with a great degree of cold.

Ever Triumphant Faith.

A good old English mother had two sons on the sea, captains of vessels. She used to pray mornings, noon and night, for their safety. But there came a time when one son was leaving England for Gibraltar and the other was leaving Gibraltar for England. Now, if the dear old lady prayed that the wind would blow with the son leaving home, it would be a contrary wind to the son coming home. The perplexed woman was at a standstill before the throne of grace; but at last it occurred to her that instead of praying for fair wind she had better pray for a side wind, and the side wind was favorable to both captains.

This illustrates how faith comes to our relief.—Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters.

Why?

At the Hampton (Va.) Indian school, a teacher, in endeavoring to overthrow the Indian belief that the earth is flat, stands still, and that the sun passes over and under it every 24 hours, said, in conclusion:

"So you see that it is the earth that goes around, while the sun stands still."

A tall boy asked:

"Then what for you tell us one story about man in the Bible—I forget his name—strong warrior—fight all day, but get dark so can't fight, and he says 'Sun, stand still!' What for he say that if sun all time stand still?"

FACTS ABOUT COINS

MANY MISTAKEN IMPRESSIONS HELD BY THE PUBLIC.

Impossible to Test Genuineness by the Ring — "Reeding" Prevents Any of the Metal Being Scraped Off.

"Many persons have a mistaken idea about throwing a coin to test its genuineness," says Captain Tom Hults of the secret service in the Indianapolis News. "Throwing a coin is not an absolute test for the reason that a great deal of our good money will not ring at all, while some of the bad will. There are several things that will take the ring out of a genuine coin. One of these is a possible flaw in the metal.

"It sometimes happens that in cutting out the disks of metal from which the coins are made there will be a flaw or a crack in the sheet. If this is true, it matters not where the flaw is, whether it be in the center or along the edge, where it may be discovered by close inspection, it will destroy the ring of the piece. This ring is caused by the small crystals or globules on the inside of the metal, the vibrations of which cause the sound we so like to hear in our money.

"If there is any flaw or small fissure which destroys the connection between those globules the ring will cease. There are also other reasons for a coin's losing its sound. Should a quantity of coin be left in a safe during a fire and become heated the crystals will melt and the rhythm will be stopped. A hearty blow on the face of the coin will have the same effect.

"As is generally known, our coin is not absolutely pure and does not contain the amount of silver represented be it. Should there be a dollar's worth of silver put in the standard dollar it would be almost as large again as it is now and most inconvenient to carry, especially in a large quantity. There are 412.5 grains of silver in our standard dollar, which is 900 per cent pure. The rest is alloy and is put in to harden the coin.

"The marks around the edge of the coin called the 'reeding' are put there to keep persons from removing any of the metal. Should any attempt be made to scrape off the silver it could be detected immediately from the scratches which would also be observed that around the edge of a coin on both faces there is a narrow, raised rim somewhat higher than the engraving. This is to protect the inscription from being destroyed by the friction of one coin on another.

"The main mint of the United States is in Philadelphia, there being branches at San Francisco, New Orleans and Denver, the last having begun operations in February, 1906. There was also a branch at Carson City, but that has been discontinued. By examining a coin and looking under the center of the wreath below the eagle a small letter will be found, which will be either S, O or D. This letter indicates at which mint the coin was struck. Where there is no such letter the coin has been made at the main mint in Philadelphia.

"A 50-cent coin of the present issue should weigh 192.9 grains. The weight of a genuine 25-cent piece of the present issue is 96.45 grains. The weight of our present dime is 38.58 grains. These coins are all of the same degree of fineness—900 per cent pure. Much care is taken to insure the accurate weight of a coin. As soon as the dies are stamped from the sheet of metal it passes through the hands of several experienced women, who examine and weigh it. Should the disk be too heavy it is filed away until the required weight is reached. By this detailed test the coins are kept from varying the slightest fraction from the standard."

"God Save the Mark."

When the phrase "God save the mark," more common in writing than in oral speech, is used, the reference is to an old superstition developed in Ireland. It was believed that if a person telling of an accident or injury to some one who had been hurt in a fight touched the like part of his own body or that of his hearer, there was danger that it would be an evil omen of similar injury. So it became the practice to ward off such consequences by exclaiming "God save the mark"; that is, avert the harm threatened.

For Self-Protection.

"Nature gives up her secrets with great reluctance," observed the doctor.

"Well," commented the professor, "if she has any secrets that reflect on the family she'd better lose no time in killing off the whole human race, for we're finding out lots of them these days."

Preparing His "Trousseau."

Sam Bernard, the well-known comedian, said at a wedding breakfast in New York:

"I am glad to see here a luxury to which all brides and bridesgrooms are not accustomed.

"I, for instance, called one day in June upon the dear old lady who did my washing and ironing.

"'Where is your son this morning, Mrs. Smith?' I said. 'I don't see him around. I hope he isn't ill.'

"'Oh, no,' said the old lady. 'He's to be married to-morrow, and he's upstairs in bed while I wash out his trousseau.'"

OPPORTUNITY FOR CITY

Plainfield Should Share in the Next Boom That Hits New Jersey.

E. M. FRENCH TALKS

Urges That Municipality and Utility Corporations Should Spend More Money.

Elston M. French, the real estate operator, argues that both the city government and the local utility corporations should take more interest in developing and improving Plainfield. He takes the position that it has a great future before it as a suburban community and that now is the time to take advantage of conditions.

In an interview with a reporter, Mr. French said today:

"The announcement of the completion of the new tunnel from New York to New Jersey will call the attention of New Yorkers to the attractions of New Jersey as a place of residence, and I venture to predict that the next great boom in real estate will take place in the territory near New York will be in Essex, Bergen, Hudson and Union counties.

"As Plainfield is one of the most attractive cities in this section it should receive a fair proportion of the increase in real estate development. Every citizen of 'Greater Plainfield' should have the interest of the city at heart, and become a boomer of real estate. Why not emulate the citizens of western towns that are growing so rapidly because every citizen, whether at home or abroad, is eternally preaching the advantages of his home town? Let the officials of both city and borough become more liberal in extending improvements to those portions of the city that would be built up rapidly if streets and sewers were built.

"We have been too lax in spending money for these purposes, which not only bring the city good returns in taxes but the outlay on the part of the city is very small. It can borrow money at four per cent. and the unpaid assessments for improvements draw interest at six per cent. What better investment can the city make?

"Let the Public Service Corporation extend its gas mains and wires, and the water company its mains to supply the extensions that the city will reap good returns for their enterprise, and they will be doing more toward the development of the city than can be done in any other way. In other words, let them be more progressive. We have the nucleus for a great suburban city. Let every resident be a boomer of values as well as of the advantages we possess.

"There never was a time when so few houses were vacant as at present, and a little enterprise on the part of the builders is all needed. Don't let them plead that materials are too high, as they are no cheaper anywhere else than in this section of the country, and they are not likely to be any lower.

"Remember that people must find houses to live in and it is impossible to find enough modern dwellings for the people who want to locate here. This means that property will bring higher figures and rents are going up. This will make real estate investments more profitable.

"The prices of land and rents are cheaper here than in any other city in the State of its size and possessing its advantages."

A MEDICINE CHEST.

A medicine chest should have a place in every home, and one which can be very easily and neatly constructed is here described:

Procure a strong box about three feet long, two feet wide and six inches deep.

Make a cover of plain boards and fasten on with hinges.

Paint the box inside and out with any color paint desired; fit it with shelves, making the distances between them vary so that the different sized bottles fit in easily.

A small cigar box painted and labeled "poison" makes a good place in which to keep poisonous medicines.

A list of the medicines kept in the chest and their uses, pasted on the inside of the door, would prove very valuable in case of accident.

Attach a hook and staple, such as are used on tool chests, for a fastener. Hang up by means of strong wire or cord and a picture hook.

Roy Vanderbeek, of the borough, has been visiting his cousin, E. VanArsdale, of Bound Brook.

The Misses Elliott, of Madison avenue, have been visiting Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Conover, of Rocky Hill.

Winfield C. Angleman, Esq., who has been spending some time in the Catskills, has returned home for a short time. He will go back to the mountains in a few days to spend the fall with his family.

Mrs. Freeman and daughter, of Macon, Ga., is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. J. McAndrews, of North avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Mills and Mrs. W. W. Mills have returned from a four weeks' visit in Bolivar, N. Y.

Harry Cuming, of Putnam avenue, is home from his annual vacation.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 23.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—A strong will: how to get it and use it for temperance.—I Pet. iv, 1-11.

Christianity demands that we be temperate in all things, and temperance in many instances should mean abstinence. The apostle Paul was constantly urging the gentile Christians, who had been accustomed to live sinful and wicked lives, to give up sin. He did not suggest that they indulge in it moderately, but that they abstain absolutely from it. And in the reference before us the apostle Peter follows the same line. He teaches us that we should cease from sin, that we should not live in the flesh to the lusts of men and that we should be sober. Perfect sobriety demands total abstinence.

In order to meet the high demands made upon us by Christianity as interpreted by the apostle it is necessary for us to have strong wills, a control over ourselves such as will make it possible for us to do or not do as we may elect. There are few things sadder in life than a weak willed man; men who can easily be led astray; men who have little power to resist temptation; men who are like clay to the potter in the hands of those who would lead them to ruination and destruction. A clean life demands a strong will. A strong will is necessary to the person who has never fallen into sinful habits. He needs to be strong to withstand temptation. Temptations come to all. To what young person has not the tempter come, with specious lure and painting the path of vice in glowing colors? And if the unspotted are to keep themselves unspotted from the world, they must have sufficient power of will to say no to every siren voice that comes to them with a call to perdition. Men reformed from evil habits also need strong wills. Satan never easily gives up his victims. Every resource at his command will be used to replace the shackles of vice that have been broken. Unless we are strong for the habits of the past will be excited and he who would stand must indeed be strong.

Under such necessity for strong wills it is most fortunate we need not depend entirely upon ourselves. God is able and willing to strengthen us. His will can replace our wills, and then no power on earth or in hell can lead us into temptation. How foolish and vain for us to depend upon ourselves alone when we have divine power at our command. The strongest human will alone is weaker than the weakest human will supplemented by the will and power of God. Let us not, therefore, stand in our own strength, but in the strength of God; and, in His strength, let us "be sober and watch unto prayer."

BIBLE READINGS.

Lev. vii, 9, 10; Isa. v, 1-11; Joel i, 5; Ps. xlvi, 1; Amos ii, 1-6; Num. vi, 1-4; Matt. xxvi, 30-44; Gal. v, 19-26; Phil. iv, 13; Rev. ii, 10.

China's Own Endeavor Badge.

It was the interior of a Chinese yamen, and the missionary's wife had been invited to tea with the wife and daughters of the mandarin.

"Oh, how pretty," said the prim little Chinese ladies as they spied a gold C. E. pin on the lady missionary's dress. "What a funny shape!"

"These are foreign letters," answered the visitor.

"Foreign letters! Well, they are not like ours, but they are nice to look at! What do they mean?"

CHINESE C. E. BADGE.

"They mean that people who wear these letters belong to 'The Put Forth Much Strength society.'"

"What do they put forth strength for?"

"To help other people in every way, especially to lead them to trust in the Lord Jesus Christ."

And then the tea was handed round, and the poor little rich ladies racked up their little feet, drew long whiffs from their pipes and wondered what sort of experiences folks had who were permitted "to put forth strength" instead of living lives of luxurious indolence. And so the little badge carried its message, and as result a C. E. society is soon to be formed in that remote part of the foreign field. China has now her own C. E. badge. The characters seem very strange to us, but this little badge is worn and treasured by hundreds of Endeavorers in the Celestial empire. There Christian Endeavor is quickly spreading and proving a distinct help to the missionary in winning the country for Christ.—Irish Endeavorer.

The Immortal Book.

Since John wrote in his cell on Patmos and Paul preached in his own hired house at Rome the world has been turned upside down. All old things have passed away. All things on earth have changed but one. Living in fixedness and more than rivaling in brightness the stars that saw our world born and shall see it die, the stars that rejoiced in its birth and shall be mourners at its burial, the word of God stands forever. Time, that weakens all things else, has but strengthened the impregnable position of the believer's faith and hope and confidence, and as year by year the crowds add another ring to its circumference every age has added its testimony of its seals to this great truth. "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of the Lord endureth forever."—Thomas Guthrie.

POURED OIL IN STOVE; THE SAME OLD STORY

MRS. COWPERTHWAIT LOSES SOME HAIR—HOUSE IS DAMAGED.

In attempting to fill an oil stove at her home on Martine avenue at 8:40 Friday morning, Mrs. Allen Cowperthwait was severely burned and the house was set on fire, causing damage estimated at $400.

Mrs. Cowperthwait thought the stove flame was out but it was not and the kerosene ignited. The blaze enveloped her and she lost part of her hair and eyebrows, beside getting painfully burned about the face and hands. The blaze spread about the room and in a short time had reached dangerous proportions.

Fire headquarters was notified by 'phone and the apparatus was quickly on the scene, with Acting Chief Jennings in charge. A hydrant stream and the chemical engine were used in quelling the flames.

The damage is evenly divided on the house and contents. The building is owned by J. W. Sanford, of West Seventh street.

LITERARY NOTES.

There is an admirable variety in the make-up of the September "Atlantic." Amongst such an array of attractive articles, it would be difficult to name the most important; but the leading place has been given to the presentation of "A Manufacturer's Point of View," by J. T. Lincoln. The author, who has large interests in Fall River mills, has long been an energetic and practical student of labor conditions; and his article goes straight to the heart of the present problem. Hon. Chester Holcombe, well-known for his diplomatic services in China, discusses the actual status of the missionary movement in *that country; Hollis Godfrey pre*sents the modern solution of the sanitation problem in "City Water and City Waste;" and an anonymous college professor indulges in some engaging "Confessions" which depict the teacher's life in an unusually optimistic light. "The autobiography of a Southerner,"—"the most significant document in the magazine literature of the day,"—reaches its third installment in this number.

With the September number of their periodical Ellery Sedgwick and The Colver Publishing House retire from the conduct of The American Magazine. With the October number, John S. Phillips, the new editor-in-chief, will assume the responsibility. Following are the names of his associate editors: Ida M. Tarbell, William Allen White, F. P. Dunne ("Mr. Dooley"), Lincoln Steffens, Ray Stannard Baker, Albert A. Boyden, John M. Siddall. This new combination between Phillips Publishing Company—promises many interesting features in its first number, the October number. This is the first hint of what these features are to be. "Mr. Dooley" will be in the number with an article on "The Power of the Press." William Allen White will write on "The Partnership of Society." Lincoln Steffens will break away from work on serious articles long enough to tell a New York police story. Steffens was for years a New York police reporter. There are to be features by Samuel Hopkins Adams, Leonard Keene Hirschberg, Frances Benjamin Johnston, and others.

After provoking a storm of discussion by the publication of Maxim Gorky's brilliant reprisal on his American critics in its August issue, Appleton's Magazine is likely to add further fuel to the fires of discussion in its September issue. In this no less a person that John Philip Sousa makes a violent onslaught on "mechanical music." He includes in his indictment all the piano-players and talking-machines, and accuses them of debasing public taste, discouraging personal cultivation of music, decaying the composer his due royalties, and robbing him of the fruits of his genius. Sousa also exposes the al*most* incredible fact that under our copyright system any man's composition may be reproduced automatically without his permission and without the payment of any royalty. In another article of importance, Allan L. Benson declares that "the people of Michigan have permitted actually to be squandered the splendid State to be abandoned to waste, a literal reversion to the wilderness." The article combines a scathing exposure of petty graft and outrageous indifference with a very comforting account of how one good powerful man, Carl E. Schmidt, has set himself to rectifying the evil and reclaiming the wilderness.

4th Congressional Date.

The Republican Congressional committee for the Fourth New Jersey district, which includes Somerset county, has decided to hold the convention at Flemington on October 2.

Miss Boose Arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Boose, of 230 Grant avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter, who brightened their home on Thursday.

Miss Mabel VanCamp, of this city, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanCamp, of South Branch.

*Miss Nora Schenck, of the bor*ough, has returned from a visit with friends at Pottersville.

3 PRIESTS OFFICIATED AT THIS MARRIAGE

MISS M'KEON IS WEDDED TO C. B. KNOX AT ST. MARY'S.

Miss Kathryn McKeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKeon, of West Front street, and Culver B. Knox, of Jersey City, were married Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in St. Mary's church, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Father Westman, formerly curate at St. Mary's church, but now of Cranford, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. B. M. Bogan, rector, and Father Delehanty, curate, of the church.

The bride, gowned in lace embroidered net over white silk, was attended by Miss Mary Smith, organist of the church, as bridesmaid, who wore a gown of white chiffon batiste over pink silk. The bride wore a white picture hat and the bridesmaid one of pink. The former carried a bouquet of bridal roses and the latter a bouquet of pink. The best man was John Knox, of New York, a brother of the groom.

The church was attractively decorated with palms and ferns, arranged about the chancel.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents on West Front street, where supper was served by Demuth of this city. There were guests from Jersey City, New York, Poughkeepsie, Boston and this city at the reception and all enjoyed a programme of vocal and instrumental music and dancing until late hour. A feature was a serenade by several members of the Plainfield Cornet Band, of which the bride's brother, Andrew McKeon, was a former member. They played several popular selections, after which they enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McKeon. During the evening there were selections on the piano by Charles B. Knox, brother of the groom, who is organist of the First Congregational church at Albany, N. Y.

The house was elaborately decorated for the reception with cut flowers, ferns and palms, which were effectively used in the reception hall, parlor and dining room.

The coach which carried the bride and groom from the church to the house and then to the railroad station was generously decorated with white ribbons and old shoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Knox received a large number of gifts, including cut-glass, silverware, furniture and other articles of use and value. The couple will reside on Montgomery street, Jersey City. Mr. Knox holds a position with the Tuxedo Automobile Company, of New York. The bride has been a member of the choir of St. Mary's church, and also of the Plainfield Operatic Association, taking part in the several operas given by that association.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, is home from her summer vacation.

Abram VanCleef, of Elm street, has returned from a visit in Hunterdon county.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of Grace church, has returned from his summer vacation.

Mrs. William McCarthy and children, of this city, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brutcher, of Raritan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Powlison, of the borough, have returned from a visit with Mrs. J. L. Dolliver, of Pluckemin.

Miss Anna Gallagher and niece, Mary, of Raritan, have returned home after spending several days here.

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney, of North Plainfield, have returned home from their summer outing at the seashore.

Mrs. T. S. Davis, of Park avenue, is much improved from an illness that has detained her at home during the past week.

Miss Clara VanFleet, of Jackson avenue, has returned from Point Pleasant, where she has been spending a week.

Miss Marion Herr, of Flemington, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of East Front street.

Rev. E. M. Rodman and daughter, Miss May Rodman, of East Seventh street, will return home next week from Saunderstown, R. I.

J. D. Macnab, the instructor in the commercial department of the Plainfield High School, has recovered sufficiently to be removed from the hospital to his home. He hopes to be able to resume his work in the near future.

Explaining It.

"Yes, sir," said the young author, "my book is selling like hot cakes."

"Like hot cakes?" replied the critic. "Ah! that accounts for it."

"Accounts for what?"

"A friend of mine told me today that your book gave him mental dyspepsia."

Fierce Job.

"Well," he grunted, "there's your old stove up. I hope you're satisfied with the job."

"Er—yes, dear," she replied, dubiously, surveying the dirt he had made. "I suppose I must be, since you are so thoroughly scotted with it."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Sept. 22: "Interpreting God's Word to the World."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Making it known to them.—II Cor. iii, 3. Showing the likeness of God.—Lev. xix, 2; Matt. v, 48. Finding our pattern in Christ. —I Pet. ii, 21; I John ii, 6. With convincing consistency.—I Pet. ii, 11, 12. Having His character we also share His triumph.—Rev. iii, 21.

It is a very striking figure of speech which Paul uses when he declares the Christians of Corinth are his own epis*tle and are also the letter of Christ* written by the Spirit of the living God and ministered by him.

Plainly this must mean that God has a message for the world. In olden time He appeared to Moses and revealed to him the message for the chosen people. Moses was so affected by thinking on these glorious truths that the ecstasy of mind and soul appeared in his countenance. His face shone so that the people were afraid of him, and he had to put a veil over his face when talking with the people about God and His will. Paul says that as men now read God's revelation to Moses there is a veil over their hearts, and they still fail to see the full divine glory.

It is not to be so with us. "We are all with unveiled faces now to see God's glory and to be ourselves changed into the same likeness, passing from one stage of glory up to another as we progress in the knowledge of God.

The transfiguration of Christ has a lesson for us in this regard. On the mountain as He talked with Moses and Elijah of His death His whole form and clothing became white and luminous. A fact of deeper import, however, was that the character of His whole life by His knowledge of the Father's will until He showed the world the pattern of such a man as it had never before conceived. He lived the perfect white life before the world. He let not only know the Truth as no one before had understood it, but became that Truth itself, its very embodiment, so that He could say in full consciousness of the fact, "I and My Father are one." "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." He was "the express image of the Father," as the coin is the exact reproduction of the mint stamp. He was and is visibly what the Father ever was and is invisibly.

We are to attain in increasing measure the likeness of Christ. This is not to be won by any peculiarity in dress or speech or bodily appearance, as some have vainly attempted. Pride may delight in the garb of severest plainness or humility be hidden under richest robes.

An artist studies the Old Testament picture of the "Servant of Jehovah" as that picture is given in increasing clearness by successive generations of prophets, the heart yearning grows upon one to have a glimpse of that man who shall come in the strength of simple manhood and show us how to live the true, the real life, the godlike life.

With us, as with John Baptist, the waiting grows anxious. The open heavens may show us the down lighting Spirit as a dove resting on a man, our friend, but we long for more. Three years of companionship with that man increase our wonderment, which at times amounts to bewilderment. Only at Pentecost, when the Spirit not only rests on us, but enters into us, do we really come to know the Christ.

Gradually we grow until we exclaim with Paul, "That I may know Him and the power of His resurrection and the fellowship of His sufferings." Then the world will see in us God's word worked out.

Value of Soul Salvation.

Go to work! Nothing is more salutary to the human soul than the direct work of saving men. There is a basis of fact. There is the next ground for action. Whatever your theory may be of this or that doctrine, there is a man dying in his need, and there is a power which you may apply for his transformation. Therefore go to work upon men and with men. And, let me tell you, there is nothing you can do that would be more satisfactory to your own soul. I speak what I do know when I say that there is nothing which brings men back from the desert of sandy and arid speculation, nothing which brings a man in again to the shore from the cheerless ocean of doubt, nothing which gives us such faith and certainty, as laying aside all reasoning and engaging in the practical work of the gospel. I know that there is restorative influence in that work. I know that, whatever doubts I may have, once let my heart and hand join together in working with men for their salvation, any doubts disappear. I know in whom I believe. *I know the work to which I am ap*pointed, and the sweetest that I ever had of God came to me in the act of laboring for my fellow men. The most glorious views of truth and the interior life and of essential divine truths were ministered to me when I was working for the salvation of others.—H. W. Beecher.

Be of Good Cheer.

Be of good cheer. Do not think of today's failures, but of the success that may come tomorrow. You have set yourself a difficult task, but you will succeed if you persevere, and you will find a joy in overcoming obstacles, a delight in climbing rugged paths, which you would perhaps never know if you did not sometimes slip backward, if the road were always smooth and pleasant. Remember, no effort that we make to attain something beautiful is ever lost. Some time, somewhere, somehow, we shall find that which we seek. We shall speak, yes, and sing, too, as God intended we should speak and sing.—Helen Keller.

DR. MOORE MARRIES MISS SADIE WINCKLER

CEREMONY PERFORMED BY REV. DR. C. W. PARSONS LAST NIGHT.

Miss Sadie Adele Winckler, daughter of Elmer E. Winckler, of 135 Westervelt avenue, and Dr. Charles L. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Moore, of 918 West Front street, were married at 7 o'clock Sept. 12, at the home of the bride's father, in the presence of about 150 relatives and intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Charles Wesley Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, of which the bride is a member.

The bride was gowned in white mesaline over white taffeta and trimmed with point lace, and attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Agnes LaBoyteaux and Miss Ada Bennett, of Brooklyn. They were gowned in white chiffon taffeta, trimmed with German Valenciennes lace and wore green girdles. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, while the bridesmaids carried bouquets of white carnations. The best man was Dr. Walter aMcCell, of Philadelphia, a classmate of the groom at the University of Pennsylvania.

The house was lavishly decorated with smilax, clematis, white carnations and palms, these flowers and vines being used with good effect in the parlor and dining room. Following the ceremony there was a reception and supper was served. Later in the evening the couple left on a two weeks' wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at 902 West Front street, the property recently being purchased by the groom.

The bride is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. She has been very active in affairs at Grace M. E. church. The groom was graduated from the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania, class '02, and has had a successful practice ever since.

The couple received many hand*some and costly gifts. The groom's* gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls with a pendant of saphires.

The guests arranged to give Dr. and Mrs. Moore a good send-off by decorating their coach with ribbons, tin cans and old shoes, but the couple cleverly escaped this and entered another coach in which they escaped before their friends realised what happened.

Birthday Anniversary.

*In honor of the seventh anniver*sary of his birthday, Mrs. LeRoy J. Ellis, Thursday afternoon. There children's party for her son, James Ellis, yesterday afternoon. There were about a dozen young people present and they all had a jolly good time playing various games and dancing. Prizes were offered the winners of the games, and Miss Dorothy Thompson, who was the belle of the ball, was awarded the honors. Miss Gladys Glover won the second price, Miss Elsie Palmer third. A delightful feature of the affair was the violin selections by Miss Edith Rains, who, with her sister, Miss Rains, a well-known artist, of Chattanooga, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, after spending the summer at Gloucester, Mass., and who are now on their way home. Miss Rains was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Eldredge. Another feature was the recitations given by Miss Dorothy Ellis. After the musical programme *and games, the young folks adjourn*ed to the dining-room where refreshments were served. The table was prettily decorated with orange colored ribbons and sunflowers. Each guest received a pleasing favor. James Ellis was well remembered, receiving a number of useful gifts. Several guests present were from Fanwood, where Mr. and Mrs. Ellis formerly resided.

A GOLDENROD WEDDING.

Ceremony United Herbert Mooney and Rahway Young Woman.

Herbert Foster Mooney, of Scotch Plains, and Miss Elsie Woodruff, of Rahway, were married at the latter's home, Wednesday night. Rev. Dr. J. O. Boyd, of Princeton, a cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. C. F. Shaw, of Rahway.

Miss Mary Nesfsey, of Elizabeth, was bridesmaid and Edmund, brother of the groom, was best man. The ribbon girls were the Misses Laura Wright, of Newark; Evelyn Bower, of Elizabeth; Florence Brown and Elizabeth McKenzie, of Metuchen; Eva Skinner, of Somerville; Adele Hoag, of Brooklyn; Edna Brown, of Woodbridge, and Esther McMaster, of Elizabeth. It was a "goldenrod" wedding, this flower predominating in the decorations.

Following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney will reside at Scotch Plains. The groom is employed in New York.

Miss Steele Engaged.

*The engagement has been an*nounced of Joseph C. Borden, of South Orange, to Miss Ruth W. Steele, daughter of the Rev. Dr. J. Nevett Steele, vicar of Trinity church, New York. Miss Steele is a sister of Mrs. Leon Moran, of Grove street.

Mrs. Mary A. Huff and Mrs. Christopher Huff, of this city, have been visiting relatives in Centerville.

PLAN THE CONVENTION

Union County Republicans to Nominate Thursday Afternoon September 27.

ANNOUNCEMENTS MADE

Independent Candidates Must Be Nominated By Petitions Signed By Two Per Cent. of the Voters.

The Union County Republican convention for the nomination of three assemblymen will be held in the Lyceum theatre, Elizabeth, Thursday afternoon, September 27, at 3 o'clock. That will be two days after the primaries and one day previous to the convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress from the Fifth district.

The date was fixed by the Republican County Committee Tuesday evening.

There was a brief discussion as to whether the convention should be held in the afternoon or evening, but the great majority was in favor of an afternoon session. The call will be issued in a few days.

In response to an inquiry from one of the committeemen, County Chairman Frank H. Smith explained that it would be necessary to hold conventions for nominations of candi*dates for freeholder in those free*holders' districts which are made up of more than one municipality. Thus, Cranford and Garwood jointly elect a freeholder, and the majority of the delegates from these places will have to decide on the time and place of the convention. Primary tickets must be issued in the name of delegates to these conventions.

Independent candidates must be nominated by petitions signed by at least 2 per cent. of the voters of the party in the district. In cities, the city convention will, as usual, name the freeholder nominees.

In reply to another question the county chairman said that members of the county committee must be elected at the primaries.

On motion of County Clerk James C. Calvert, the county chairman was authorized to appoint each member of the committee and one other to serve as challengers on primary day in each election district.

R. A. Waterbury was appointed a member of the county committee from the Eleventh ward, Elizabeth, in place of Everard K. Tucker, resigned. Thomas M. Clark was appointed a member of the committee from the Sixth ward, Elizabeth, in place of George H. Kline, who has moved away.

Just before adjournment, Charles N. Codding referred to the death of Edward M. Wood and moved that a committee of three be appointed to frame suitable resolutions for presentation at his funeral.

In seconding the motion James C. Calvert said Mr. Wood was one of the best workers for the interests of the Republican party the county ever had. He declared that he made it his duty to see that county expenses were kept within the appropriations and that with the present freeholders, he had left behind him an enduring monument in the new courthouse.

The committee will meet again on Thursday, September 27, at 2 o'clock.

DISAPPEARED WITH EXPENSIVE COSTUMES

TWO YOUNG MEN WHOM JULES BOUTES WOULD LIKE TO MEET.

Jules Boutes, the costumer, is looking for two well dressed young men who disappeared with costly make-ups on August 31. They came to his place that night and asked if he fitted out for a private masquerade ball. They didn't say where the masquerade was to be held, but they looked as if they belonged to a set that would be apt to hold an affair of fashion.

Mr. Boutes fitted them out in elaborate fashion. They each be placed wigs costing, one $40 and the other $50. Their costume was in keeping and their faces were carefully painted; it was too hot for a mask.

When one had been dressed he looked with satisfaction on himself in the glass and said he would step into Mr. Zontes' dining room to write the names of himself and his companion on a slip of paper, while the latter was finishing his dressing. He came out of the dining room a moment later and in a few minutes left the house with his friend in tow.

Mr. Boutes put things to rights and then stepped into the dining room to see the names on the slip. There was no slip on the table nor anywhere else in the two rooms was there a scrap of paper. And not a hint of a clue from the young men has come to him since. He has not even been able to find out whether or not there was, as a matter of fact, a masquerade ball on the night of the thirty-first.

William Kenney and Miss [illegible] of this city, have been visiting and Mrs. D. L. Lare, of

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 20, 1906.

LICENSE FEES ELSEWHERE.

That Plainfield stands well by comparison with other places in the matter of excise fees is to be seen in the following carefully prepared table:

	Population.	Fee
Plainfield	18,468	$1,000
Elizabeth	60,500	300
Passaic	27,837	500
Camden	83,363	500
Newark	283,289	500
Jersey City	232,699	500
Englewood	7,922	500
Montclair	16,370	500
Rahway	8,649	500
Trenton	64,180	350
East Orange	25,175	400
New Brunswick	23,133	350
Bayonne	42,262	300
Perth Amboy ...	25,895	300
Bloomfield	11,668	300

Hartford, Conn., with a population of 90,000, has 233 saloons, and the fee is $450. Omaha, Neb., with a population of 130,000, has 244 saloons, and the fee is $1,000. Chattanooga, Tenn., with a population of 50,444, has 134 saloons, and a fee of $700. Des Moines, Ia., with a population of 85,000, has 102 saloons, and a fee of $1,200. Worcester, Mass., has 128,000 people, 125 saloons, and a fee of $1,500. Fall River, Mass., with a population of 110,000, has 93 saloons, and a fee of $1,182. Philadelphia, with its 1,300,000 population, there are but 2,299 saloons. The fee is $1,000. Burlington, Vt., with 2,000 inhabitants, has only 19 saloons. The fee is $1,200. Richmond, Va., with 100,000 people, has 262 saloons, and a $600 license fee.

That William N. Runyon is doing effective work as a campaigner, not even the most biased voter can deny. Day in and day out he is speaking to the citizenry with telling effect and whatever measure of success the movement, which he has espoused, may enjoy, the young city judge will be entitled to the greater part of the credit. Judge Runyon has been the man for the Colbyites at the Casino mass caucus, a much more favorable impression would have been made for the cause.

The Dryden-Colby letter-writing duel is getting wearisome. Colby climbed up the wrong tree when he accused the junior senator of being indirectly responsible for the circulation of a fake report of the Colby-Hilles debate and if he doesn't want to apologize or produce the evidence for making such a claim, the controversy had better be dropped.

If Charles Newell Fowler, of Vermont, should be asked by either the organization or the Colbyites to make a speech here before primary day, what would he say? Fill in these words and you have the answer: "O—t—a p——e——, I w—h—d—."

With a flourish of trumpets, James Smith, the boss of New Jersey's Democracy, announces that he has quit politics. Can't be much money in politics nowadays.

Congressman Fowler says he would feel honored by a renomination. He certainly ought to.

And Senator Dryden gets it between the eyes again.

WEALTHY STUDENT TO MARRY ALFRED GIRL.

George L. Babcock Engaged to Miss Ruth Stillman.

Announcement is made of the engagement of George L. Babcock, son of Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street, and Miss Ruth Stillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stillman, of Alfred, N. Y. No date has been set for the wedding, but it is not expected to take place until Mr. Babcock has completed his course of study at Alfred University.

Mr. Babcock is one of the principal heirs of the Babcock estate and during the past few months, when he became of age, came into possession of his share of the estate. He was graduated from the Plainfield High School a year ago last June and the following fall entered Alfred University to complete his education.

Miss Stillman was also a student at Alfred University. She is well-known both here and at Alfred. She is a niece of Dr. Martha Rose Stillman, of this city.

Celebrated Birthday Anniversary.

In honor of the thirteenth anniversary of her birthday, a surprise party was tendered to Miss Anna Fisher, of West Third street, last night. Games were played after which refreshments were served. Those present were Dotty Weberieg, Bertha Carter, Madie Dover, Martha Green, Laura Connett, Josephine Stewart, Madeline Fisher, Florence Polhemus, Fred Kline, Arthur Venable, Marvin Carter, Wilfred Henry, Anna Maiden. During the evening there were piano solos by Madeline Fisher and Laura Connett.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Girl of the Golden West," the California play by David Belasco, which continues to be the attraction at Mr. Belasco's home theatre in New York, with Blanche Bates as the star, makes a strong appeal to Western visitors who are more or less familiar with life in mining camps. After witnessing a performance of the play last week, a prominent citizen of San Francisco who was a victim of the recent earthquake, sought an introduction to the author, and holding his hand affectionately in his, said: "Mr. Belasco, I can tell you what recollections your play revived in me tonight. As one who was a part of that life in boyhood, I want to say that the scenes in the Polka saloon, the girl's cabin in the mountains, and the miners at school in the third act, are to me the most characteristic of the California mining regions I have ever seen realized in a theatre. In my opinion no other writer, except Bret Harte, has so successfully caught the spirit, the romance and humor of that life and period. You are, of course, too young a man to have seen the early days of the California gold excitement, and it is to me marvelous how you have bridged a half century of time and brought so realistic a picture down to our own days, doing for the theatre what Bert Harte has done for the novel. But such is genius, I suppose. It was all so like the real thing that I felt like a boy again. And now, let me tell you the edge of a ditch on a grub-stake with my father."

The inauguration of the Astor theatre, New York's prettiest and smallest, will be made the occasion of a special performance on Monday night. The Astor theatre has attracted the attention of architects and artists throughout all America, as being a radical departure in the building of theatres. It is said to mark a new era, and it is prophesyed that it will long be known as "the first theatre in the land." The postponement of the opening was found necessary because Managers Wagenhals and Kemper refused to open the theatre to the public until it is complete in every detail. On September 17 it will be positively be inaugurated by Annie Russell, who will appear as Puck for the first time, in a beautiful production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream." There will be 100 people in the cast, the more prominent members being Edwin Mordaunt, Atkins Lawrence, Oswald Yorke, Lionel Adams, Edward Longstreth, Frederick Cooke, Wilfred Gilmore, John Bunny, Richard Lee, Wilmer Dame, Hubert Osborne, Lovell Taylor, Catherine Proctor, Lansing Rowan, James Young, Ina Brooks, Bessie Shrednecky, Leon Bertram, Vivian Burns, Wm. Brown, Bertram Straus, Belle Fairchild, Jessie Urwin, Elizabeth Doddridge, Dortea DeVeney, and Puck, Annie Russell. Attendants, Amazons, fairies, goblins and elves.

The Rogers Brothers in "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland," are in their last week at the New York theatre, and next Monday evening, the 17th inst., "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," one of the most successful dramatic productions of the past four years, will begin an engagement of three weeks at this house. This play is a dramatization by Anne Crawford Flexner of the two popular novels by Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, "Mrs. Wiggs" and "Lovey Mary," which have established a record for humor and pathos unequalled in contemporaneous literature. The quaint and homely story of the optimistic "Mrs. Wiggs," translated to the stage, has proved to be never failed to touch the heart of audiences. The title role, as in past seasons, will be played by Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, who has made the greatest achievement of her long career on the stage in this part. The selection of characters to tell the story is made from the two books and includes Lovey Mary, Little Tommy, Chris Hazy, Billy Wiggs, Mr. Stubbins, Miss Hazy, the Christmas Lady, Mr. Bob, the Europeans, Asia and Australia. These characters will also have with them Cuby, the famous "fit horse" of the play. The cast is practically the same as that which attracted so much attention during the long run of this piece at the Savoy theatre in New York two years ago. Through an arrangement with Liebler & Co., Mrs. Cook is to continue to play the character of Mrs. Wiggs as long as she remains on the stage. The great success of the piece indicates that it can be safely assumed that Mrs. Cook will never be seen in any other part during her stage career.

That old maxim, that "clothes do not make the man" was lost sight of at the Manhattan theatre this week, where Miss Grace George achieved the success of her career in a new American play by Messrs. Avery Hopwood and Channing Pollock, entitled "Clothes." There are a few minute flaws in the piece, but its lines are so strong, its action so rapid and its ring so true that these slight defects were lost sight of as the play swept on to the success it richly deserved. "Clothes" is a comedy of conditions in the realm of social climbers, who live in the world where dress is king and false ambitions queen, and whose throne is the drawing and ball rooms. "Clothes" is not a satire on genteel society; it is a sermon against those mistaken morials who form the "fringe" and who peer only into the future and shrug their shoulders at the past. With no exception the cast was a capital one, and the work of Messrs. Frank Worthing, Robert T. Haines, E. H. Stuart, Miss Louise Closser and Jennie A. Eustace in their respective roles, was quite the best any of these capable players have done in many seasons. William A. Brady, who produced the play, has mounted it lavishly, yet in excellent taste, and Miss George and the authors owe the producer a share of the applause they received throughout the evening. New York has suffered an overdose of plays satorising burlesquing or analyzing ultra fashionable society, but the young authors of "Clothes," with the able assistance of Miss George and her company, have come forward and held the mirror up to nature in the realms of "near" society, where gentility is acquired and where clothes are the barometers of those who wear them.

The New Lincoln Square theatre, recently erected on Lincoln Square, Broadway and 65th street, New York, represents a culmination in the evolution of theatre building. It is the first theatre in New York built under the new enacting city fire laws and has been declared by the examining officials to be the safest and most substantial theatrical structure in the world. It is equipped with the most modern electric devises and is in reality as well as in theory, fireproof. The use of ordinary inflammable asbestos curtain to sever the stage from the auditorium, the Lincoln Square is protected by two fireproof walls—one a three-inch thick steel curtain weighing 16,000 pounds, and the other a heavy asbestos curtain. There are 1,603 seats in the auditorium. The stage is 43 feet deep and 90 feet wide. From the stage floor to the gridiron above the measurement is exactly 76 feet 2 inches. For the comfort of the players, 21 model dressing rooms have been arranged in a building adjoining the theatre proper and fitted up with every known, and heretofore unknown, appliances for comfort and safety. The Lincoln Square will open in October. Due notice will be given of the exact date. Its bookings are in the hands of the Messrs. Shubert.

Empire theatre, Broadway and 40th street, John Drew in A. W. Pinero's "His House in Order." Evenings at 8:15; matinees, Saturday, at 2:15.

Criterion theatre, Broadway and Forty-fourth street, Hattie Williams in the novelty musical play "Little Dorrit," James Blakeley, Tom Wise and seventy others. The one best bet in all New York showdom.

Hudson theatre, Forty-fourth street, east of Broadway, "The Hypocrites," evenings at 8:15, Saturday matinee at 2:15.

Savoy theatre, Thirty-fourth street and Broadway, Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady," four acts of keen enjoyment. Evenings at 8:30, matinees Thursday and Saturday at 2:30.

Lyceum, Forty-fifth street and Broadway, second year of "The Lion and the Mouse," evenings at 8:15; matinees Thursday and Saturday at 2:15.

Garrick theatre, Thirty-fifth street, near Broadway, William H. Crane, in Alfred Sutro's "The Price of Money." Begins at 8:20, matinees Saturday at 2:15.

Knickerbocker theatre, Broadway and Thirty-eighth street, Fritzi Scheff in "Mlle Modiste;" Sept. 24, Montgomery and Stone in "The Red Mill," evenings at 8:15, matinee Saturday at 2:15.

Lyric theatre, Forty-second street, Bertha Kalich in "The Kreutzer Sonaata," evenings at 8:15, matinee Saturday at 2.

Casino, beginning Thursday, "My Lady's Maid," seats now on sale.

Lew Field's Herald Square theatre, all star company in "About Town," evenings at 8:15, matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Majestic theatre, best seats $1, "The Tourists," evenings at 8:15, matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The Hippodrome, the biggest show in the world, Sixth avenue, 43rd and 44th streets, "A Society Circus," daily matinee at 2, night at 8; matinees, 25c, to $1; nights, 25c to $1.50; no higher.

West End, Florence Bindley in "Girl and Gambler."

PEACH DISHES.

Frozen Peaches—Mash a quantity of ripe peaches, and sweeten with sugar syrup; add the whites of three eggs, unbeaten, and freeze.

Peach Pudding—Line the bottom of a deep pudding-dish with slices of stale sponge-cake dipped either in sherry or in thick cream. Fill the dish with sliced peaches and sugar, and over all put a meringue made by beating the white of one egg with one tablespoonful of sugar, and quickly brown in the oven. Serve very cold with cream.

Peach Shortcake—Make a baking-powder biscuit dough, and sweeten slightly. Cut out two rounds a half-inch in thickness and put on on the other, with soft butter between, and bake; separate the layers, spread the lower one with crushed and sweetened peaches and lay the other on; sprinkle this with powdered sugar and arrange a circle of sliced peaches all around the edge; serve with cream.—Harper's Bazar.

Patrolman John Payne will start on his vacation next week. He will spend a portion of the time at his former home in Lee, Mass.

POSTAL CARD FAD GROWING MORE POPULAR.

Mails Flooded With Them and the End Is Not Yet In Sight.

No fad of recent years has gained such popularity and widespread recognition as that of the souvenir postal card. No one realizes this more than the letter carriers and other postoffice employees of the United States, including those in the local office. In fact, that employed in every postoffice throughout the civilized world experience a material realization of its growth. When it first started a few years ago it was confined to the lithographed cards, which were mostly received from foreign countries. It was a pretty and sensible fad, and was seized upon at once by travelers and became intensely popular. The fad spread rapidly, and it was but a short time before every one, both in the city and town, city and hamlet in the civilized world, so that one could send to his friends at home innumerable pictured postal cards of the places where business or pleasure called him.

It is impossible to tell to a certainty the exact difference that the souvenir postal card fad has made to the receipts of the postoffices of this country, but it is very considerable. There is not a mail received at the larger central offices, like New York, San Francisco, Boston and Philadelphia, that does not contain thousands of these pretty fancies. The custom of sending these cards has grown to such an extent that comic cards have been introduced, and, unfortunately for the enjoyment of the custom, many designs have crept in that the authorities have found it necessary to exclude. But there are a sufficient number of cards that are acceptable that are daily sent through the mails to make the carriers' bag many times heavier than before the advent of these cards.

The summer season is very appropriately the banner time for these reminders of the picturesque and famous places of the country and some days the number of cards received in the postoffice is so large that the carriers find it necessary to leave many until their next trips. It is said that in some places in the Middle Western states the number of souvenir postal cards sent through the mails is so heavy that the number of assistants at the smaller postoffices has had to be increased.

In Plainfield the number of regular collectors of these cards is very large and in the course of a week the number of cards received is equal on an average to one for every man, woman and child in the city or within the limitations of the territory covered by the local office. No record is kept of these cards, as it would be impracticable. But close enough account of them is maintained for the men to realize that their duties have increased manifold since their introduction.

Extensive as the fad has grown, there does not appear to be any falling off. Every day new designs are added, new scenes are depicted, incidents are reproduced in colors or in black and white and are perpetuated on these cards. Hardly a home can be found where one or more albums of these cards cannot be shown, and the limit of the fad is yet unknown.

C. W. FISK THROWN FROM HIS HORSE.

Son of Former Mayor Fisk Fractured Collar-bone and Was Bruised.

Charles W. Fisk, son of former Mayor and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, of West Seventh street, who has been spending the summer at Easthampton, L. I., met with a painful accident on Saturday, while out hunting on his horse. He was travelling at a lively gait over a field, when the animal stepped in an old well that had been partially filled in and covered. Mr. Fisk was thrown over the horse's head, landing on his shoulder.

Through the assistance of friends he was assisted home and a physician was called. An examination disclosed a fractured collar-bone and a few cuts and bruises. The injuries are not serious, but Mr. Fisk will be laid up for several weeks and will be denied one of his favorite sports, that of hunting, for some time to come.

Knocked Out By Batted Ball.

While practicing before the game at Scotch Plains, Saturday, Joseph Alberts, a member of the 'Plains team, was struck in the forehead by a batted ball and knocked unconscious. He remained in that condition for a number of minutes before recovering, fainted on taking his place with the nine.

Motorman Recovering.

James Donnelly, the motorman on the trolley running from Bound Brook to Raritan, who was murderously assaulted recently, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home in South Bound Brook. The guilty man has not yet been arrested.

He Was "Dogged."

George Ogden, a Scotch Plains wood carver, was chased by a mad dog on the Westfield road at dusk Saturday night, and was only saved by save himself by a leap over a garden fence. He went to Elizabeth early Saturday morning on business, and saw the same dog dashing down the street, madder than ever. He looked hurriedly for another fence to jump, but a policeman saved him the leap with a bullet that bowled the dog over. Ogden is positive it was the same dog; he had a good look at it under a street lamp when it started for him Friday evening.

PLAINS TEAM DEFEATS THE G. A. C. WITH EASE

FINAL SCORE OF AMUSING CONTEST WAS 17 TO 7.

The 'Plains team had no trouble in defeating the Greenville A. C. team, of Jersey City, in the game Saturday afternoon on the 'Plains. The contest itself was a comedy of errors, in which the Greenville team carried off the honors, as they only had two players, Houston and Shafer, the battery, the other seven men simply being on the field to fill in the positions. Houston pitched a nice game and with proper support would have given the local team a hard rub, but every time the ball was hit to the field it counted as a 1 or 2 base hit, as the outfielders seemed to have an understanding that the ball must not be touched until it had stopped rolling. In this way the 'Plains team piled up three runs in the first inning and two in the second. This gave them confidence. In the fifth inning they became careless and began trying to outdo the visitors in making errors. The result was that they scored two runs in the fifth. The locals braced up in their half and brought in three more runs over the rubber, so as to make the game more secure. In the sixth they presented the visitors with three more runs and the seventh for themselves. In the seventh, Greenville gathered two more and the 'Plains team, not to be outdone in running, brought three more across the plate. In the eighth, Greenville went out in one, two three order and as the 'Plains had begun to settle upon the field both teams agreed to call the game, the score at that time being 17-7 in favor of the 'Plains. No one knows what the final score might have been had the game gone the limit. Following is the score by innings and line-up:

'Plains—Vanderbilt, rf; Reick, lf; H. Alberts, c; Baldwin, ss; J. Alberts, 2b; G. Frents, 1b; Eller, cf; Schreinbeck, 3b; A. Frents, p.

Greenville A. C.—Brownley, rf; Wilson, 3b; Schraeder, 2b; Higgins, 1b; Fuchs, ss; Reger, lf; Seals, cf; Shaffer, c; Houston, p. Umpire—A. Alberts. Struck out—By Frents, 5; by Houston, 8. Base on balls—Frents, 4; Houston, 4.

G. A. C.	0	0	0	0	0	2	3	2	0 — 7
'Plains	3	2	0	0	3	6	2	1	x — 17

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Simple Ceremony United Harold W. Cooke and Miss Rae De Camp.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank De-Camp, of Linden avenue, Saturday night, when their youngest daughter, Miss Rae DeCamp, was made the wife of Harold Wells Cooke, of Newark, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Logan Murphy, former rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, and was witnessed only by relatives. The event was conducted on simple lines because of the recent death of the groom's mother.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cooke left for Lakewood on a wedding trip. At its conclusion they will make their home at Newark, where the groom is assistant manager of Woolworth & Co.'s store.

He is well known as a musician and is pianist at the Newark Y. M. C. A.

No Game at Duncllen Last Saturday.

The Dunellen nine was forced to appoint supporters in the ranks of the Plainfield in a game last Saturday, because Port Reading, with whom they were to have played, sent them word at the last moment that their picture could not play. Manager L. T. Churchill, of the Dunellens, then made a strong line up to meet the P. R. team and it promised to be a stubornly contested game.

Gymnasium Classes.

Gymnastium classes will begin at the Y. M. C. A. October 1. The Business Men, Policemen and Leal's boys will begin their season's work and the High School boys', Young Men and Boys' Classes will start the next day.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, STRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

MISS MAC GINNIS NOW MRS. JAMES QUACKENBOSS

TWO MINISTERS OFFICIATE AT CEREMONY AT BRIDE'S HOME.

Miss Nellie Bird MacGinnis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. MacGinnis, of Somerset street, and James Quackenboss, of New Brunswick, were married Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of about eighty guests from Brooklyn, Newark, Pittsburg, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Long Branch, South Amboy and this city. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Thomas S. Brock, pastor of St. James M. E. church, New Brunswick.

The bride wore a gown of grey peau de cygne, over taffeta, trimmed with white chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Elizabeth Van Winkle, of this city, as bridesmaid, who was gowned in light grey voile over taffeta. She carried pink carnations. The best man was Irving Quackenboss, of New Brunswick, brother of the groom. Included in the bridal party were two pages, Master Earle Cooke, nephew of the bride, and Master Gordon Leonard Leach, of Newark. The wedding march was played by Miss Violet VanWinkle, of this city.

The rooms were attractively decorated with green and white, with a background of ferns.

Following the ceremony congratulations were offered and a supper was served. Among the exchange of gifts, the groom presented his best man with a pearl stick pin, and his bride with a sunburst of pearls. The groom also received a large collection of gifts, including cut-glass, china, furniture and linen.

Later in the evening the couple left for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their departure they were showered with rice. When they return they will make their home in New Brunswick, where the groom has furnished a house. The bride is well-known here in a large circle of friends. She has been an attendant at Trinity Reformed church. The groom is also well known in New Brunswick, where he holds a good position in the post office.

Somerville Lost to Flemington.

The West Ends, of Somerville, lost their second game to Flemington this season at Somerville, on Saturday, by a score of 8 to 3. After Flemington made six runs off Kraft, he was replaced by "Lou" Wilks, of this city, who held his opponents down the rest of the contest, striking out six men in three innings. Previous to that Wilks played left field, where he distinguished himself by making a long running catch with one hand. He also scored two runs for his team, by knocking the sphere over centre field fence for a homer, bringing in one man on base and himself. A comedy of errors on the part of the West Ends lost them the game. It took them three times to get through they would never be able to stop the ball, and eight misplays were charged to them. Flemington was very jubilant over the victory as this gives them the series.

COSTLY FORGETFULNESS.

Walpole Left Watch On Window Sill and Sharp-Eyed Crook Profits.

Lynus Walpole, Sr., the Scotch Plains hotel keeper, is on the hunt for a crooked gentleman who got away with his $50 gold watch one night last week. Walpole removed the watch from his vest pocket before doing a bit of work in his bar-room, and placed it on a window sill in the rear of the room. He forgot about it, and left it there. It had disappeared in the morning.

It is supposed that some one in the place who saw him put the watch on the sill and noticed that he forgot about it, sneaked around the side of the house after closing hour, pried up the window and got the timepiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Alberts, of Park avenue, have been entertaining friends from out of town.

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot 1st St., N. R.

In Effect Sept. 9, 1906.

For New York—2.17, 5.37, 5.56, 6.07, 6.28, 6.57, 7.05, 7.25, 7.37, 7.47, 7.55, 8.07, 8.11, 8.25, 8.37, 8.47, 9.03, 9.11, 9.25, 10.07, 10.37, 11.07, 12.07, 12.56, 12.46, 1.18, 2.31, 3.48, 3.54, 4.12, 4.47, 4.57, 5.07, 5.17, 5.27, 5.37, 5.47, 6.07, 6.17, 6.27, 6.37, 6.47, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.37, 9.07, 9.37, 10.07, 10.37, 11.07, 11.37, 12.07 a. m. Sunday—2.17, 5.37, 6.47, 7.47, 8.07, 8.37, 9.07, 9.37, 10.07, 10.37, 11.07, 11.37, 12.07 a. m. Sundays (except Monday) night, 12.46, 2.46, 3.46, 5.17, 5.30, 5.41, 6.26, 6.41, 8.12, 9.27, 9.56, 9.42, 10.32 p. m.

For Somerville—5.19, 7.11, 8.21, 9.17, 9.56, 10.50, 11.50, 1.51, 2.55, 3.54 and 5.56 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—6.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—6.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—9.50 a. m., 1.55 p. m. and 6.56 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Philipsburg and Easton—5.25, 8.21, 9.50 a. m., 1.55, 3.54 and 6.56 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—6.55 a. m., 2.11, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—6.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc.—9.50 a. m., 1.55 p. m. and 6.56 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Philipsburg and Easton—5.25, 8.21, 9.50 a. m., 1.55, 3.54 and 6.56 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m. Sunday—5.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Red Bank—8.37, 9.56, 2.11, 11.06 a. m., 2.44, 5.47, 6.47, 9.56 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.30, 8.13 p. m.

For Lakewood and Atlantic City—8.37, 9.56 a. m., 2.44, 5.47 p. m. (Parlor Car, Saturdays only) 2.35, 2.49 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.30 p. m.

For Toms River and Barnegat—2.37, 9.59 p. m., 1.15 p. m.

For Philadelphia—5.16, 7.44, 8.28, 10.51, 11.42, 12.42, 1.59, 2.42, 3.50, 4.40 p. m., 1.17 night. Sunday—5.16, 9.55, 10.39, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.59, 2.42, 3.50, 4.40, 7.45, 9.46 p. m., 11.55, 1.17 night.

For Trenton—5.16, 7.44, 8.47, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 1.59, 2.42, 3.50, 4.40 p. m., 1.17 night. Sunday—5.16, 9.55, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 4.55, 6.44, 9.46, 11.55 p. m., 1.17 night.

For Reading and Harrisburg—5.16, 8.56 a. m., 1.59 p. m. Through trains. Sundays—2.02, 5.47 p. m.

For Pottsville, Sunbury and Williamsport—5.25, 8.56 a. m., 2.11 p. m. Sundays—2.02 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—1.17, 5.47, 10.48 a. m., 12.32, 2.45, 6.44, 7.45 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—10.43 a. m., 12.32, 2.45, 6.44, 7.45 p. m., 1.17 night.

"Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Pass. Agt. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr.

Lehigh Valley Railroad

Time table in Effect May 20th, 1906.

LEAVE SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

7.55 a. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Mauch Chunk.

8.42 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Rochester, Buffalo, and principal intermediate stations.

1.07 p. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Ithaca, Buffalo and Chicago.

1.47 p. m. daily, local for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Hazleton, Pottsville and Shenandoah.

4.58 p. m. daily (except Sunday) "Wilkesbarre and Scranton Express" and vestibule train to Wilkesbarre, through to Buffalo and N. Y. C. & H. R. R. to Scranton and Carbondale.

6.32 p. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Easton.

8.40 p. m. daily, solid vestibule train to Buffalo, Toronto and Chicago and principal intermediate stations, except Rochester.

FRANK ROWLEY, City Ticket Agent. 218 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 112.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Office open 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.

On Saturdays close half hour later.

Arrive—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 7.45 p. m.

Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 7.45 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.30, 3.35 and 7.00 p.m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 1.30 p. m. and 6.25 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 1.30 and 6.30 p. m.

Close—7.30 a. m.; 1.30 and 6.25 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA—West of Easton.

Close 12.55 p. m.

NEWARK.—Direct

Arrive—8.40 a. m.; 2.30, 6.29 p. m.

Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 4.30 and 6.30 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7.55, 8.40, 10.30 a. m.; 2.30 and 7.30 p. m.

Close—7.15, 7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 12.35, 4.30, 7.15 p. m.

Through fast mail for West and South close at 7.15 p. m.

Through fast mail for West, close 1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

WICKOFF, WARRENVILLE AND GALLIA (Mt. Bethel.)

Arrive—2.30 p. m. Close—8.30 a. m.

Accommodation—Arrive 6.40 p. m. Close 1.30 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8.30 to 10.30 a. m.

Mail closes at 9 15 p. m.

E. H. BIRD, P. M.

Narrow Escape from Prison.

Thomas Skinner, colored, who formerly resided on East Sixth street, this city, was arrested in Elizabeth Sunday night while attempting to break into a residence. When arraigned in court he pleaded drunkenness and was sent to jail for sixty days.

Not Going to Niagara.

The report that Ben La Vere is going to Niagara Falls is erroneous. He is devoting all his spare time to securing subscriptions to meet the band concert deficit. It amounted to $112 after last Friday night's music fest but Ben has already met with a favorable response and hopes to O. K. every bill before he stops.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Woodruff, of the borough, are home from their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Moore, of North avenue, have been entertaining friends from Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Conner, of Hillside avenue, are home from their outing in the mountains.

Miss Hoffman, of Hunterdon county, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. Edgar, of East Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Osgood, of Myrtle avenue, are home from Ocean Grove, where they spent the summer.

GOES BACK AT DRYDEN

Senator Colby Makes Tart Rejoinder to Former's Reply.

NOTHING TO RETRACT

Leader of "New Idea" Movement Reaffirms Statements About Falsified Reports of Hillery Debate.

State Senator Everett Colby has sent to United States Senator John F. Dryden a rejoinder to Mr. Dryden's reply to Mr. Colby's letter, in which the latter called the United States Senator's attention to the false and misleading reports of the Essex man's joint debate with Senator Thomas J. Hillery, which have been circulated throughout the State.

Mr. Dryden, when asked if he had received the communication, said:

"Yes, I have received Mr. Colby's letter. He is at liberty to publish it if he sees fit. If I have any reply to make I will make it later."

In his letter Mr. Colby does not retract any statements he made in his previous communication to the United States Senator, but on the contrary reaffirms them. He did not charge Mr. Dryden with any act of dishonor, he says, but asked whether the Senator or his friends were responsible for the false and unfair accounts of his debate with Senator Hillery. The letter in full follows:

"My Dear Sir—I received your letter Wednesday night, and note that you resent the publication of my letter press before you had an opportunity to answer. This breach of etiquette I admit, and for it I willingly apologize. Nothing in my letter, however, requires an apology, and I do not retract any statements therein made, but, on the contrary, reaffirm them. I did not charge you with any act of dishonor, but asked that you inform me whether you or your friends were responsible for the circulation of false and unfair accounts of my debate with Senator Hillery.

"Let me call certain facts to your attention. During the greater part of last winter, and especially during the weeks when the question of an investigation of insurance companies was before the Legislature, certain newspapers of the State were furnished, free of charge, carefully prepared editorials and articles reflecting seriously upon my acts and motives as a legislator, and which, in their nature, were arguments against such an investigation. The circulation of these matters was enveloped in mystery. They were signed by one F. Bowen, but no one seemed to know for whom he worked, or who paid for his services, and I boldly assumed that he did not work for nothing, for love or for affection alone. This marks the beginning of a campaign of mis representation for which you, perhaps, were not personally responsible, but with reference to matters in which you were personally interested.

"After my debate with Senator Hillery, at which a conversation was overheard among your friends, proving a deliberate and prearranged plan to embarrass me in my argument, a biased, unfair and false story of the debate was anonymously sent to certain newspapers, a copy of which was received by Samuel L. Garrison, of the Boonton Weekly Bulletin. This copy I enclose.

"On the sixth of September, before I addressed my note to you, Mr. Knight, who took the stenographic notes for the debate, telephoned my secretary that he would sell me a complete copy of the minutes, and added 'not the copy given to the press.' When I asked Mr. Knight for whom he worked he told me he considered it a confidential matter and would not say. On September 7 I received the following letter from D. E. Titsworth, vice-president of the Potter Printing Press Company of Plainfield. Mr. Colby quotes this letter in full and continues:

"I called upon Mr. Titsworth and was informed that the gentleman who brought to him what purported to be a true copy of the minutes, had notified him that he was mistaken, and that it was not a true copy. Mr. Titsworth tried to get the manuscript, but could not, and the gentleman not only refused to allow Mr. Titsworth to mention his name, but refused to give the name of the person from whom he received the notes. Mr. Titsworth's second letters is as follows:

"'Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 11, 1906.

"'Hon. Everett Colby, Newark, N. J.:

"'Dear Senator Colby—Yours in receipt of your esteemed favor of tenth instant, and replying, beg to say that the gentleman who showed me the paper purporting to be a copy of the stenographer's notes of your debate with Senator Hillery, told me last evening that when he showed it to me he certainly thought it was what he represented it to be, as he had asked a gentleman to send him a copy of these notes, and this paper was received in answer to that request, but he has since learned that it was not such a copy. I regret that he does not feel at liberty to have his name mentioned in connection with the matter, nor the name of the party from whom he received the document. I am sorry if the statement in my letter that this was a copy has caused you any trouble. I am yours very truly,

"'DAVID E. TITSWORTH.'

"It is needless to say I was exceedingly indignant, and, being informed that Mr. Knight was working for you some one in your interest, sent you a request to inform me if you or your friends were circulating these reports. This request you have not as yet granted. You say the stenographer was not in your employ, but you do not say he was not in the employ of your friends, nor do you deny that you had knowledge of his employment. On other matters you are careful to defend the taking of a stenographic report and by implication admit knowledge that such minutes were taken, a procedure I had not thought of criticising. You say you did not circulate or know of the circulation of any copy or copies of these minutes, and, then referring to Mr. Knight's statement to the press, point out that at the time of my letter no 'complete' copy had been made or given out. By Mr. Knight's own statement 'incomplete' copies had been given out, and, as you do not deny knowledge that such a report was taken, I request that you make inquiry and find out whether your friends are responsible for the distribution of these incorrect and incomplete minutes of the debate, for I am very much interested in knowing whether your adherents, those who are advocating your re-election to the United States Senate, are engaging in a campaign of misrepresentation.

"Knowing as I do that there are numbered among your adherents in your effort to secure a re-election the men who are in control of the machines which have been discredited, whose chief implements of trade heretofore have been misrepresentation, trickery and money, and who are now seeking to rehabilitate themselves in public opinion under the shadow of your respectability, I cannot but feel that they may be responsible for the circulation of these reports, and that, since they are your adherents, you owe it to yourself to ascertain whether they are conducting your campaign in this characteristic manner."

BUSINESS COLLEGE ROLE.

A List of Students for the Fall Term.

The following is a list of the students enrolled at The Plainfield Business College for the new year: Plainfield, Fanny G. Ayers, Harry Porter, Lulu M. Heldloff, Wm. La Tourette, Russell Randolph, Arthur Seidentop, A. R. Hazen, Herman Klinsman, Emma Sullivan, Nellie Casey, Alexander Galloway, C. Norman Amerman, Margaret Debele, Robert Cuzen, Elizabeth Harkins, Lillian Hardtfelder, Anna Matthews, A. L. Jeffery, Geo. Strathie, Arthur Dandt, Fanny Barker, Henry Old, Charles Osthpal, Fred Bouvet, Athol Newman, Herbert Hand, Anna Callahan, Anna Barch, Percy Ross, Marie Van Norstrand, Edna Ryan, Catherine W. Daly, Eugene Walsh, John C. Chuck, Morton Hochberry, James Lynch, Katharine Finger, S. Monroe Staats, Geo. Cole, Anna M. Doyle, Frank Mobus, Clarence M. Hetfield, Wm. Brown, Russell Van Buskirk.

Somerville—Sarah Fallon, Arthur Honeyman, Bertha Elling, Alice Halsted, Bertha E. Frazee, Clarence Connors, Gertrude Streng, George Marsh, Page Edwards, Luther Mason, Gertrude Davis, Rynier Veghto.

Flagtown—Nelson Natter, Fred Van Liew; Raritan—Anna P. Burns, Francis Hickey, Philip Hehn; North Branch—Eleanor Van Nest, Merrell Higgins, Jacob Pfaff, May Flynn, Bessie Flynn; High Bridge—Julia J. Meaney; Glen Gardner—Bertha Worman, Raymond Parcell; Califon—Russell Davis, Oscar Tiger, Amd Hoffman; Germania Valley—Bertie Swackhamer, Christie Dufford; Warrenville—John Pedefious, Grace Herlich, Addie Mernagh, Arthur Jennings, John Cooper; South Plainfield—Lillian Norman; Westfield—Norman Wolcott, Philip Miesner; Dunellen—James Harrih, Bayard Naylor, Mary Naylor, Alice Apgar; Scotch Plains—Fred Coles; Roselle—B. K. Davis; Spearfish, S. Dakota—Clyde Burgess; New Market—Elsie McCullough; Watchung—Wm. Demler; Bound Brook—Marvin Voorhees, Mary Foreman, Matilda Lowande; Jenningsville, Pa.—Maud C. Farr.

Off For Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman J. Shotwell, of Fairview avenue; Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue; Miss White, of Madison avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Rosenthell, of Somerset street, and James Deady, of West Third street, were among those who left Saturday night for Niagara Falls, over the Lehigh Valley Railroad. They were in the party of twenty-five Odd Fellows and their wives, who left on a special train for Toronto, Canada, where the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows is in session this week. The special train left Newark, stopping at Bound Brook, to pick up the Plainfield and New Brunswick delegations.

"Pick" Band Was Applause.

The Jenkins Pickaninny Band scored a decided success at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. The small musicians played unusually well and sang like veterans of the concert world. They were repeatedly applauded by the large audience.

Returns to His Old Position.

William Moffet, formerly with M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, but recently in business for himself, has returned to his old position with Mr. Weinberger, where he will be pleased to see his many friends.

LOCAL ELKS OUTING A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY OF ANTLERED HOST IN ATTENDANCE.

With almost ideal weather and the delightful surroundings that only the Watchung mountain slope affords, Plainfield lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. held its third annual outing, Saturday afternoon. The scene of the affair was just back of the Watchung Water Company's spring, off Mountain avenue, and is the one that has been used on the two preceding occasions. One hundred and fifty members of the order and their friends were present, the local contingent being swelled by representatives from Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Somerville and Bruton.

The participants were taken to the grounds in wagonettes and those who arrived in the morning were served with breakfast. Baseball and quoits furnished entertainment until late in the afternoon when a bake was placed on long tables erected in the grove. Every course from clams to lobster was perfect and they disappeared before the onslaught of the hungry crowd in record time.

With the completion of the spread, order was called for by Mayor Newton B. Smalley, who gave a welcoming address and introduced Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield. The latter spoke for five minutes, avoiding politics, but giving anecdotes and stories that kept the gathering laughing from start to finish. Mayor James F. Buckle also spoke briefly and "Bob" Schwartz, of Elizabeth, responded to popular demand by rendering two pleasing songs. The affair broke up shortly before 6 o'clock.

The arrangements for the outing were made by a committee composed of Herbert Buxton, George Johnson, David C. Smalley, J. A. Staats, Harry MacDonald, Andrew McCardell and E. C. Westcott. D. C. Smalley and J. A. Staats purchased the supplies and the bake was prepared by Joseph Morris, of Perth Amboy, under their supervision.

BUNGALOW SETTLEMENT AT BERKELEY HEIGHTS

WILLIAM JEFFERY MAKES PLANS FOR NEXT SEASON.

The Investors' Realty Company, of Plainfield, which was organized four years ago by Plainfielders, whose aim was to develop home building and local property, and of which William Jeffery is the active member, has had great success. Through this company the Berkeley Heights Association was evolved, which was made possible by the interest of Bolton Hall, the noted sociologist, whose foresight saw the possibilities of great opportunities in this section of New Jersey.

Besides its Plainfield holdings, the Berkeley Heights Association purchased a large tract of land at Berkeley Heights, and at once proceeded to develop the same under Mr. Jeffery's direction. This section is now regarded as an established fact and the Lackawanna Railroad has co-operated in a reasonable manner to facilitate the work of improvement.

Last spring Mr. Jeffery started work of a much larger proportion and the result has been gratifying to the company, bringing people of repute to this part of New Jersey. A portion of this land which ascends easterly to an altitude of 500 feet above tide-water, was set aside as a summer resort, and being particularly adapted to camping, work was commenced to establish one, now known as the "Ye Olde Mountain Camp." The undertaking was under the management of Francis E. Bodin and proved a success from the start. A pretty entrance was erected on Plainfield avenue, leading directly to the camp, a road having been cut through a wooded stretch and over a stream with pleasing effect. At the breaking of the camp, the guests, about fifty in number, all agreed that it was the best summer they had experienced, both in treatment and from the viewpoint of health, and all were reluctant to go home.

Encouraged by these successes, Mr. Jeffery, in conjunction with Bolton Hall, has arranged for still further developments, both in Plainfield, building homes, and at Berkeley Heights. It is their opinion that in linking these two communities much can be accomplished. Plans are being prepared for the building of a bungalow settlement in Berkeley Heights in addition to the camp and work on the streets will be continued together with the installation of light and water.

To Play Scotch Plains.

Clinton Avenue will meet the fast Scotch Plains team at Crescent Oval next Saturday afternoon, for the third time this season. The Plains nine won the other two games, but the C. A. combination swear to take this one in a rush. As Clinton Avenue is the city championship team and the Scotch Plains nine is generally conceded to be the fastest team of its calibre in this vicinity, the game will have an unusual amount of interest.

LUNGER FOR CONGRESS

(Continued from Page 1.)

the traffic it becomes a partner in the business. That when the individual citizen gives countenance to the license system, he becomes a party to the crime. That in so doing the State sells its God-given birthright to promote order and peace and the citizen compromises his manhood. That the integrity of the State demands the abolition of the license system and the absolute prohibition of the deadly traffic. That the integrity of the individual demands that he use to the same end every privilege of his citizenship even to his vote.

"The Prohibitionist is not a man with a grudge nor a religious enthusiast, nor a vague idealist, but a plain simple citizen, who proposes the redemption of his country and his country's honor. I have but few words to say here in reference to the distiller, the brewer or the drink seller. The public virtue was for sale, they bought it in their own price and paid for it in hard cash, bloody dimes wrung from the hands of folly, poverty and toil. Is it not the height of folly to hope or expect to cure the evils that flow from the open traffic by the right to exist. Be the license fee $1,000 or $10,000, license high or low, it is wrong in principle and powerless as a remedy to correct the evils. We might ask the advocates of high license, how high the license be to make the saloon respectable, or just how high must it be to make it productive of good? Does high licensed whiskey restore happiness to the home, that low licensed whiskey destroyed? Will a blow cease to be objectionless wife be less painful because administered by a husband drunk on high licensed whiskey? Does the sorrowing wife and her hungry children find relief in the amount paid for the license of the saloon that robs her? No; and I know, and you know and every intelligent citizen knows, and every political party knows that from the saloons of this country come degradation, misery, poverty, crime, shame and heartache, and the license of them or in any way giving them the protection of the law, ever has been, is now, and ever will be, a compromise with crime and a burning shame and a disgrace to our Christian civilization.

"In the traffic in intoxicating drinks a paying institution financially? The annual cost of the drink traffic in this country is over $2,500,000,000, and the revenue received is in round numbers $170,000,000. This shows that for every dollar we receive we pay out fifteen. So it can be seen that we are not making money very fast. As a business transaction it has proved to be a failure. The consumption of intoxicating beverages is on the increase. Sixty years ago the consumption of intoxicating drinks was about six gallons per capitia annually. Statistics tell us that now under high license it is over twenty. Each Christian nation of ours consumes over sixteen gallons of intoxicants for every man, woman and child each year, and out of this great army of drinkers we have 600,000 drunkards, 70,000 die from the effects of drink each year.

"In the face of these facts the loss of the millions of hard earned dollars, this great loss of life, when we call to mind the crimes that have been committed, the amount of suffering that has been endured by the innocent and helpless ones, as the result of the legalized drink traffic. If we have our country's welfare at heart we would ask the question: Is there not a remedy for all these evils? Is there? Yes, there is a remedy, there is a cure. Not my moral suasion alone; not by license high or low; not by local option, nor by any other compromise or restrictive measure. All these methods have been tried over and over again, and have proven to be most disastrous failures. These are methods manufactured by men. In the face of these failures would it not be wise for us to adopt God's plan and method of dealing with evil. If we study the teachings of the New Testament, we will find these words: 'For this purpose the Son of God was manifested that He might destroy the works of the devil.' Not to regulate but to destroy. His plans have never failed. So we, the National Prohibition party, have adopted His plan as the only remedy, the only cure from the evils that afflict mankind by the use of intoxicating drinks, that of the prohibition of the manufacture, exportation, importation and sale of all intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

"As the policy of the Republican and Democratic parties is for license and regulation and are silent in their platforms upon this question altogether, and the one trying to outdo the other in making bids for the liquor vote, there is nothing to expect from them. But the Prohibition party believes this question to be the greatest now before the American people. Count men, money or morals, it involves more than any other question, and in the words of William Windom, late Secretary of the Treasury, we say that 'Considered socially, financially, politically or morally, the licensed liquor traffic is or ought to be the overwhelming issue in American politics. The destruction of this iniquity stands next on the world's calendar.'

"The doors of the Prohibition party swing open wide and welcome all who will help us in their great fight for the redemption of our country and in saving the countless millions of our race from the ravages of this deadly poison. We again ask your help and co-operation in this great conflict.

"Believing that this question of the prohibition of the drink traffic has been delayed far too long, and that the best interests of our country demand its settlement now, I accept the nomination as representative in Congress, thanking you for this expression of your confidence, I pledge myself to do my humble part in advancing the principles of the party as enunciated in its platform. And God helping me, I hope and expect to have a part in bringing to pass a complete and final victory.

"Yours for the Principles of Right,

"WM. LUNGER."

A NINE-INNING FINISH

(Continued from Page 1.)

had the say over the affair, and not a speech was made, nor a single attempt to sing.

The score:

Plainfield Police.

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
O'Loughlin, c	5	2	1	12	0	2
B. Martin, 2b	5	3	4	2	3	0
J. Scott, p-rf	4	1	1	2	2	1
Mahaffey, 3b	5	1	3	1	1	1
Payne, 1b	5	0	2	7	0	0
McGinley, ss	4	0	0	1	1	0
C. Flynn, lf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Mesler, rf	4	1	1	1	0	1
McCarthy, rf	0	0	0	0	0	0
Wiltse, p	4	1	1	0	2	0
	40	8	15	27	9	5

Trenton Police.

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Dewar, cf	4	2	2	3	1	0
Maguire, ss	5	0	0	2	4	1
Fay, 1b	4	0	2	6	0	2
Devney, 3b-p	4	0	0	0	3	1
Saunders, lf	4	1	1	0	0	0
Hebener, 2b	4	1	1	1	0	0
Lloyd, rf	3	1	1	0	0	0
Barlow, c	4	1	0	10	2	0
Scheidel, p-cf	4	1	1	0	1	1
	36	7	8	25*	8	4

Plainfield	1	0	0	0	5	0	0	0	2	—8
Trenton	1	3	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	—7

Earned runs—Plainfield 4, Trenton 1. Two base hits—Saunders, Scheidel, J. Scott, B. Martin, Mahaffey (2) Wiltse. First base on balls by pitcher—Off J. Scott 1, off Scheidel 1. Struck out—By Wiltse 10; by Scheidel 4, Devney 4. Left on bases—Plainfield 7, Trenton 3. Double plays—Mahaffey to Martin to Payne. Passed balls—O'Loughlin 2. First base on errors—Plainfield 4; Trenton 5. Hit by pitcher—Lloyd. Time of game, 1:45. Umpires, V. W. Nash, Jr., and George Johnston.

TRUST CO.'S RECEPTION

Fully 4,000 People Inspect Progressive Banking House's Building.

PRESENT SOUVENIRS

Rapid Rise of Concern Which Has Handsomest Home in Union County—Its History.

The Plainfield Trust Company held an informal reception at its new banking institution Saturday afternoon and night, giving the patrons and friends of the company an opportunity to inspect the luxurious and commodious quarters provided at Park avenue and West Second street. It is conservatively estimated that nearly 4,000 persons called at the building in the afternoon and evening, and the crowd was especially large at night.

The attractive institution was even made more so through elaborate decorations. There was an arrangement of cut flowers, potted plants, palms, ferns and bay trees about the first floor and the gallery which is used by the directors. Beautiful vases with cut flowers also ornamented the various tables about the main banking room as well as the numerous smaller ones, provided for the various departments.

The company provided souvenirs, in the shape of metal tin boxes suitably inscribed, intended for the safe keeping of deeds, mortgages and other papers of value, which the company will keep in its vaults for a nominal sum. The company had over one thousand of these boxes and all were distributed.

Nothing but praise and complimentary expressions were heard about the new building and its up-to-date methods of doing business. The company opened its new building for business on August 4 last, removing from East Front street, where it began business June 4, 1902. Afterwards the company purchased the land where its new building stands and in June, 1905, work was begun on the new structure. There has been a decided increase in business until today there are 3,000 depositors and the deposits aggregate over $2,000,000. The building is thoroughly equipped in a modern manner.

Those of the directors who served as a reception committee on Saturday were Ernest R. Ackerman, J. Herbert Case, Augustus Y. Healy, Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Henry A. McKee, Walter M. McKee, George P. Mellick, Isaac W. Rushmore, Samuel Townsend, Orville T. Waring.

The visitors were escorted about the building and every little detail about the building and its equipment explained.

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Benj. H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so prevalent. These books are bound in flexible leather, stamped with ink and humor. Bound in cloth, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles are:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson Across the Ocean.
Jack Henderson on Tipping.
Jack Henderson on Golf.

Routine like books for driving away the blues and keeping down doctor bills. Price 50c per set, $3.00, postpaid. For sale at booksellers or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
208-209 Broadway, New York

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books. 6 26

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO JOHN BROWN—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Catherine Burke Brown is petitioner and you are defendant, you are required to appear and answer the petitioner's petition, on or before the eighth day of November next, or in default such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

WILLIAM WILLIAMSON,
212 West Front Street,
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated, September 7, 1906. 9 13 4

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company,
4 West 22d Street, New York

IN WRITING LETTERS.

Tell the news.
Especially the good news.
Bad news (of an enemy) lends spice.
Most important of all, write as you speak.
It is positively absurd to "put on" literary style.
Borrowed phrases but show the writer's poverty the more.
Avoid stereotyped expressions such as "This letter leaves me well and I trust it finds you the same."
One may inquire after a correspondent's health and make a statement concerning one's own without departing from graceful vivacity.

Colored Boys Fought.

William Connett and Frederick Griffin, colored boys, were arrested for fighting on West Fourth street Sunday morning. Judge Runyon looked over the marks of the fray on each small black face, and decided that all accounts had been settled. Sentence was suspended.

Organizing a Signal Corps.

A signal corps is being organized among the boys of the Plainfield High School. Already considerable interest is being manifested. During the coming year the boys will be thoroughly taught the methods adopted by the U. S. Army, Navy and telegraph departments.

Up the Hudson Sunday.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion up the Hudson to West Point and Newburgh on Sunday, September 23d, via the famous Sandy Hook steamer "Monmouth." Fare for the round trip from Plainfield is $1.00. Excursion train leaves at 8:52 a. m. 9-20-3

DIED.

ELLISON—On Monday, Sept. 10, 1906, Josephine, widow of Frederick Ellison, aged 36 years.

RIGHTER—On Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1906, Gertrude Foster, only daughter of Walter L. and Lela Foster Righter, aged 1 year, 10 months, 12 days.

KEENEY—On Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1906, George M. Keeney, aged 55 years, 5 months, 27 days.

ATKINSON—On Saturday, Sept. 15, 1906, William Ayers, son of Frederick E. and the late Eliza M. Atkinson, aged 28 years, 5 months, 7 days.

McCLY—At Newark, N. J., Sept. 16, 1906, Jennie A., wife of Arthur McCloy, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Kilpatrick, in her 28th year.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment of experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago. c 7 19 15

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace

Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,

Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Mechanics Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second street

Tinners,

Plumbers

and

Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Johnson's prices. Bring your tinware mending to us. The best timers, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. A. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel, others to remain at home; others for local work looking after our interests. Good salary guaranteed yearly; extra commissions and expenses, rapid advancement. Entire outfit and tuition free. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent, profitable home income and future. New, brilliant line. Write at once.

STANDARD SILVERWARE CO.
BELFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. K. CODDINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master in Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenue

First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGENT

OFFICE,

FOES FEAZE THE FAYS

Tricks of the Mind Reading Pair Revealed in a New York Court.

A TELEPHONE USED

Charcoal Sheets Inserted in Pads Upon Which Questions Are Written, It Is Said.

Undertaking to "expose" what they called the trickery of "the Marvelous Fays," John T. and Eva N., who have twice appeared in Plainfield, and telling of secret telephone wires as aids to mind reading, Herbert Lambourne and Louis Granat, in Justice Newburger's part of the Supreme Court, Special Term, in New York, Thursday defended stoutly an injunction proceeding begun against them by those performers. The Fays asserted that Lambourne and Granat had used their names to advertise a burlesque on their show, which the Root Garden stage. Furthermore, respondents gave on the New York they said Lambourne, when he was their employee, had entered their rooms in the Hotel Flanders and taken therefrom certain stage properties used in connection with the original show, and which Lambourne, they said, in connection with Granat, employed in the burlesque.

The Fays' specialty is called "Thaumaturgy." Lambourne and Granat called their burlesque "The Flamaturgists—a Faze," and in their posters said, "There is no Haze to Faze the Fays." The Fays asked Justice Newburger to enjoin the respondents from using their names in any way.

Lambourne quoted the Fays' programme as saying their acts were done by "perfectly natural means," and that Mrs. Fay was "a skilled and scientific manipulator of the arts or art of the East Indian yogi and famed mahatmas, being a daughter of India." He said Mrs. Fay told him privately she was born near St. Louis. The respondents denied using the Fays' names improperly, adding, "We do not say we are the Fays, but we do say we will expose the Fays." Lambourne and Granat said petitioners advertised themselves as "The Marvelous Fays—Adepts Mystic," and that "in the opening of the performance it is insinuated on the part of the plaintiffs, while not directly claimed, that the feats of Mrs. Fay are due to mind reading or some other occult art or mysticism; while in truth of fact, such performance is a trick, fraud and device to obtain the confidence of audiences, for the purpose of inducing them to purchase a certain publication of the plaintiffs', designated as 'Mrs. Eva Fay's Thaumaturgy Dream Book,' which pretends to explain dreams." The alleged former stage manager told the Fays in their performance or book dragged in the names of Napoleon Bonaparte and Alton B. Parker, to say nothing of the ancient Egyptians.

"Mrs. Fay," said Lambourne, "pretending to be in some imaginary state of mesmerism or mind reading, calls upon the audience to write questions upon papers, sign them with their names and keep their mind upon the matter inquired about, with the promise that the questions will be correctly stated by her and correct answers given.

"The answers are written upon pads, which are ostensibly plain sheets of paper, but which are so prepared that when one sheet is torn off the writing can be shown by the use of charcoal to appear on a sheet underneath. These sheets are developed by confederates in the audience, correct answers are obtained from the questioners, and while Mrs. Fay appears on the stage ostensibly in a trance, and is covered by a veil, she uses a telephone, and the correct answers are conveyed through tubes from the audience to the basement below the stage, and from there telephoned to Mrs. Fay."

FREE SCHOLARSHIP.

International Association Makes a Formal Offer.

The International Free Scholarship Association, of New York city, which is under the direction of the International Sunshine Society, have several annual tuitions to give this year to deserving students who can afford the expense of living and books, at Alfred University. Some time ago an entertainment was given here for the benefit of this enterprise, but Mrs. Harriet I. Macdonald, president of the association, learned that the New York work demanded practically all her time. Since then over 200 young people have been given special opportunities.

The money raised here was sent to Alfred University, and applied on the scholarship fund and through that and other smaller sums, there is now an opportunity for several boys to get their tuition absolutely free for a limited time. Anyone wishing to accept this opportunity should communicate with the association at 32 Union Square, New York city. For those who can live in New York there is unlimited chances for higher education along all lines. The associations ready and willing to help people who have special talent or direction. All inquiries addressed to the president of the association will be promptly answered.

EDWIN S. HOOLEY

BROKER FOR GOULDS

PLAINFIELDER TO LOOK AFTER THEIR VAST INTERESTS IN WALL STREET.

Edwin S. Hooley, of North Plainfield, has become the Goulds' broker for their stocks and Wall street is commenting upon the change, which went into effect last week. For several years past, whenever, anything was going in the Gould securities, it was always said that "George P. Butler was at work in them."

Coincident with a new market movement in Missouri Pacific stock, which has taken on operations more to par, It became known yesterday that Edwin S. Hooley, of the brokerage firm of Hooley, Learned & Co., is now in charge of the Gould market movements and has replaced George P. Butler. Mr. Hooley is known as one of the most daring operators in Wall street. But three years ago, in the great crash which carried down Talbot J. Taylor & Co., his firm, at that time E. S. Hooley & Co., also went under with one or two other Stock Exchange houses.

His failure was up in the millions and was caused by an attempt to carry, through a period of market stress, an enormous quantity of Evansville and Terre Haute stock. Mr. Hooley, however, managed to make settlements which permitted him to resume business. Recently he paid off every dollar out of his own pocket although he was not legally obliged to do so. He became celebrated for his trading in Amalgamated Copper, and was credited with conducting for Thomas W. Lawson some of the sensation movements in that stock.

Wall street is now guessing as to the cause for what would appear to have been a rather sudden change in the Gould brokers. George J. Gould got back from Europe this week and there were stories in Wall street yesterday that he had expressed himself as not satisfied with the stock market operations of the past year in the securities in which he is vitally interested.

Mr. Hooley, when seen at his office in the Mills building, yesterday, tacitly admitted that he was now in charge of the Gould stocks. He would not discuss the matter except to say:

"There is always going to be a market on the floor of the exchange in the future for the Gould shares. You are not going to see any more sudden smashes between sales of 1 to 2 points in them."

BOROUGH WOMAN BATTLES WITH VENOMOUS SERPENT.

Mrs. Harry Kesselring Deals Out Death to a Snake With a Baseball Bat.

Nine hundred and ninety-nine women out of a thousand, it is generally supposed, are afraid of snakes. But not so with Mrs. Harry Kesselring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Fleming, Sr., of Harrison avenue. Mrs. Kesselring yesterday showed herself to be a brave and sunky woman when she gave battle to a red-headed adder, measuring four feet long, killing the reptile with a baseball bat. This species of snake is rarely seen in this vicinity and resembles the copperhead.

Connected with the killing of the snake and its discovery is a story. Mrs. Fleming, Sr., had scattered rat poison underneath the front porch for the purpose of killing off rats. The poison failed of its intended purpose, instead bringing death to a pet kitten.

Mrs. Fleming sent her grandson to the porch for the purpose of removing the d eadcat. The lad hurried back to his grandmother with the startling announcement that a snake was eating up the kitten. Mrs. Kesselring rushed to the scene and saw for herself that the tale of the lad was true. She armed herself with a baseball bat and while preparing for the attack on the reptile the snake crawled out from underneath the stoop to the front garden bringing with it the dead kitten.

Mrs. Kesselring made a strike but missed her mark. This angered the snake which danced on his tale for a moment. Afterwards making a strike at Mrs. Kesselring. Undaunted, the young woman brought the bat down again, this time striking the snake on the back which proved to be the death blow.

In the presence of an excited family group the reptile made a few faint waggles of the tail, and then passed to the everlasting.

Woman-like, after the thrilling ordeal, Mrs. Kesselring fainted.

Back From Porto Rico.

Lieutenant Gerald Oillit, U. S. A., and Mrs. Oillit, are spending a month at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Harriet Runyon, 1686 Arlington avenue. They have just come from Cabras, Porto Rico, where Lieut. Oillit has been stationed. He has been transferred on account of ill health, and will probably go to Newport, R. I. On the way up the ship on which Lieutenant and Mrs. Oillit sailed ran into a hurricane that lasted three hours and threatened the safety of the vessel.

Mrs. Benjamin Wood, of West Eighth street, has been enjoying a 2,000 mile automobile tour through Europe.

RIVAL CAB HORSES RACE

Charley Barry's Steed Shows Clean Pair of Heels to "Pete" Seader's Pacer.

BIG CROWD ON HAND

Several Hundred Dollars Wagered on the Result—Stake Spent on a "Blow-Out."

With a cavalcade of forty of more rigs of all sizes, ages and descriptions bringing up the rear, "Pete" Seader and Charles Barry, two rival hackmen at the North avenue station, adjourned to Mountain avenue Thursday afternoon, for the purpose of *testing the speed merits of their re*spective horses. Seader has been openly declaring that his nag could outrun any cab animal in the city and the boast was cornered by Barry, who put up a side bet of $10 that his steed could make Seader's look like thirty cents half spent. The whole "yard," as the hackmen's space opposite the depot is styled, was interested in the discussion and when the owners moved away to verify the bet-up a matter of hundred dollars had been wagered on the contest. Naturally the bettors wanted to see the race and when the string of rigs went down Watchung avenue, the residents were thrown into a high state of excitement as to what it all meant.

The course was from the Watchung School to the "white" bridge near Scotch Plains, a distance of about two miles. The odds were on Seader's outfit but Barry took the lead almost as soon as the starting pistol was fired. He had confided to some friends that he didn't win, he was going to knock the head off his horse with an axe and one of them must has tipped the animal off. At any rate, it flew down Mountain avenue like the proverbial greased lightning and though Seader yelled, gesticulated and held out promises of extra oats, his entry was unable to overcome the gap.

The entire collection of vehicles joined in and the clatter that ensued served to spur on the racers and they developed speed that would have made Sheepshead favorites turn green with envy. Barry's steed completed success that he almost stopped to pick up a passenger on the way and it gave Seader an opportunity to get nearer to him . Yells from "Bob" Evans and several others, who had large sums, $12 in all, bet on the horse, brought to realize the peril and he used his persuasive powers with such good effect that he pulled over the finish line a good 200 yards before his opponent.

The result was greeted with resounding cheers and while Seader and his animal turned back toward North avenue, Barry and his backers hotfooted it to Scotch Plain, where the $10 stake and some small change was spent by the victor in buying sodo water, ice cream and peanuts for the crowd.

Seader and his supporters have openly declared that there were conditions that did not give the losing animal a fair show and they are anxious for another try. Barry is fully satisfied, however, and has declined to get into a second match.

NAME GRAND OFFICERS.

Unity Lodge Select Candidates to Be Voted Upon Later.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., met Thursday and nominated the following Grand Lodge officers to be voted upon at the meeting in December:

Grand chancellor, W. T. Hillard, of Salem; grand vice-chancellor, Abram Kienert, of Paterson; grand prelate, H. A. Heinrich, of Paterson; grand keeper of records and seals, Elmer E. Margerum, of Trenton; grand master of exchequer, John Patrick, of Rutherford; grand master at arms, A. L. Drucker, of Elizabeth; grand inner guard, H. C. Keeler, of Newark; grand outside guard, W. D. Quick, of Somerville; supreme representatives, Walter F. Hayhurst, of Lambertville; Dewitt C. Cobb, of Atlantic Highlands.

Each lodge throughout the State is privileged to select its own ticket and at the first meeting in December a vote will be taken by each lodge and the result is forwarded to Trenton to be taken up at the annual session of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey.

Will Lecture at N. Y. Y. C.

J. Dunbar Wright, of New York, who is well known as a painter, traveller, automobilist and clubman, will give an illustrated lecture on his travels throughout the world at the New York Yacht Club in the early fall. His eperience in hunting moose and bear in the Canadian province of New Brunswick, where he is now, will be included in his talk before the yachtsmen. Mr. Wright is a brother-in-law of J. H. Cortier, of Central avenue, and Mrs. J. B. Dumont, of Stelle avenue.

Raising His Hopes.

"Poetry," said the editor, "is a drug on the market."

"Yes!" replied the poet eagerly. "Am I to infer then that you pay drug store prices for it?"

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS TO BRING ANDREW MACK HERE

WILL PRESENT HIS LATEST PLAY AT THEATRE UNDER THEIR AUSPICES.

Arrangements have been completed by Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, for the appearance here of Andrew Mack in his latest play, under its auspices. The popular star of Irish dramas will appear at the New Plainfield theatre Tuesday night, October 9.

The play will be Arrah-na-Pogue. It is a characteristic Mack production, full of the humor and pathos of the Emerald Isle, in which the star sings songs of the sort for which he is noted. It will be Mack's first appearance in this city. Arrah-na-Pogue has made a big hit, running all last season.

All arrangements for the coming are in the hands of the Council. The proceeds of the performance are to be applied to the general fund of the organization.

WILLARD MARTIN WEDS MISS ADA M. DUNHAM

DR. SCHENCK OFFICIATES AT CEREMONY AT HOME OF BRIDE'S PARENTS.

Miss Ada May Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garret T. Dunham, of West Front street, and Willard Butler Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. *Horace J. Martin, of Watchung ave*nue, were quietly married at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's home. Rev. Dr. *Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trin*ity Reformed church, performed the ceremony. Only the members of the two families were present. The couple were unattended.

The bride was married in a travelling gown of dark green material with hat to match. Following the ceremony, supper was served and later the couple left for Belmar, where they will spend their honeymoon. After returning they will reside in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Martin were given a rousing send-off as they left the city. The young folks followed them to the North Avenue station and showered them with rice and confetti.

The bride is well-known in a large circle of friends. She has been a member of the First Baptist church choir for some time. She is also a member of the Plainfield Operatic Association, having taken leading parts in several productions. The groom is also well-known. He is an attendant at Trinity Reformed church, *where he has been active in the vari*ous departments of work. He holds a position in New York.

WANTED—SMALL BOY WHO STOLE FALSE TEETH

MAN WHO DROPPED THEM IS HAVING A HARD TIME.

Somewhere in the city or borough there is a small boy who has in his possession a set of false teeth that are wanted very much by a well-known local man who attended the band concert Friday night. The boy does not need the artificial molars having first class grinders of his own, but the man is drinking milk today and wondering how he is going to get the food-crunchers that have been so cruelly taken from him.

The man with the teeth secured a seat on the topmost row of the grandstand to hear Signor Bossis' harmonists dispense operatic airs but his pleasure was marred by a continual racket from below the structure. Small boys who regard the concerts as a time and place to play tag and exercise their lungs, were having a hilarious time and Mr. Man leaned over to make protest. As he did, his store teeth slipped their hold and dropped directly in front of one of the noisy urchins. The latter thought he had a prize package of some sort and grabbing the molars he did a disappearing act in the darkness.

The owner streaked it for the nearest cop but in his excitement and the contracted position of his mouth, he emitted a jargon of sounds that were unintelligible. The bluecoat thought he was protesting about the style of music and gently but firmly advised him to make his kick to New Years. When the angle was straightened out all trace of the boy was lost and so were the teeth.

If the "kid" who took them will send or take them to borough police headquarters all will be forgiven and he will confer a lasting favor on a toothless individual who is today transacting business with the aid of a pad and pencil.

Best She Could Say.

Tess—I understand Miss Crabbe paid me a compliment last night.

Jess—Not quite, but she came as near it as you could ever expect from her. She said you "were charming, but—"

Taylor Mehaffey, of Park avenue, is spending the day on Long Island.

CHAS. N. FOWLER TO RUN

Declares He Will Feel Honored to Be Candidate Again.

HIS ATTITUDE TO LABOR

Roosevelt Must Have Republican Congress—Bryan's Speech Weak Compared to Taft's.

Congressman Charles N. Fowler, when asked whether he would again be a candidate for Congress from the Fifth district, said to a reporter:

"I have never been a so-called candidate in my life. I have never sought offices, nor asked any man for his vote, nor made a pledge. It is too late for me to begin now."

In an answer to a question whether he would accept the nomination if it were offered, he replied:

"I have always considered it a great compliment—a great honor, indeed—to be selected by the people of this district. The matter lies entirely in their hands. In previous years when they tendered me the nomination I have not said no."

"Do you mean that you will not say no this time?"

"Yes."

Congressman Fowler did not look upon the result of the Maine election as a fair expression of opinion as to President Roosevelt's administration. Local special issues played a large part. The majorities of the representatives in Vermont were as great as in 1904.

"I believe," he said, "that the number of Republican congressmen returned will be about the same as in 1902. The Democrats as well as the Republicans want to support Roosevelt. They realize that he is a President of all the people. But he must have a Republican Congress to uphold him. Were there a Democratic majority in Congress the President would be tied hand and foot. He could do nothing. The Democrats would then play politics in order to create a situation that would secure them the Presidency in 1908."

The reporter mentioned to Congressman Fowler that recently the Union County Trades Council wrote to the American Federation of Labor regarding his record on labor bills in Congress.

"I have always been a true friend of labor," said Mr. Fowler. "Any man does before me in that. The men who earn, the men who produce, they are the ones who make up the basis of civilization. They are the *mainstay of the country. My sympa*thies are entirely with them. I am one of them myself. I am in favor of equal opportunities to all men under the operation of absolutely just laws."

Upon the subject of Bryan Congressman Fowler was quite free and outspoken.

"Bryan has never been an economic question that has come up upon which Bryan has not thought wrong," said the congressman, "and he has expressed himself on practically all of them. Some of his friends, to allay alarm, like to call him the Great Conservative. But I confidently believe that conservative Democrats are opposed to him. He has proved the greatest disaster that could have happened to the Democratic party this fall. It is not only the subject of government ownership of railroads, that has offended the conservative Democrats, but the general political character of the man. There may be a certain degree of sensation and splurge created by an enthusiastic welcome, but when time to reflect comes there follows a more sober conclusion. And I think that when the average citizen sits down to ponder over that Madison Square Garden speech he will find it a very mediocre affair, indeed a lamentably weak appeal when compared to the speech of Secretary Taft in Maine. The chief safeguard of the country against such men as Bryan is the great common sense and thorough honesty of our people. Give them a chance to learn the facts, think the matter over and come to a deliberate conclusion and the republic will be safe. This was demonstrated in 1896."

The congressional convention of the Fifth district will be held on September 28, in Elizabeth. No other strong candidate is spoxen of except Congressman Fowler, and it looks as if he will receive again the unanimous approval of the convention.

Approaching Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by David C. Carr, of Newark, to the marriage of his daughter, Miss Mary Etta Carr, and Harry Dunbar Williams, son of Mrs. Kate Williams, formerly a resident of West End avenue, this city, but now of Roselle Park. The marriage will take place at the home of the bride's father, 12 Nichols street, Newark, on Wednesday night, September 26, at 8 o'clock, and the couple will be "at home" at 217 Chestnut street, Roselle Park, after October 14. Miss Carr is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leifke, of West Front street. The groom holds an excellent position in one of the departments of the Standard Oil Company at the New York offices.

Mr. and Mrs. Garret Q. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dolliver, of Pinckemin.

T. J. NICHOLL WON'T ACCEPT RENOMINATION

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE'S CHAIRMAN WANTS TO RETIRE.

The Fanwood township Democratic caucus to nominate candidates for the primary to be held September 25, was held Friday night in Bucket and Engine Company's rooms, chairman Theodore Bruchman, secretary, Charles H. French. The meeting was a harmonious one, the several candidates nominated being elected unanimously.

One of the surprises of the caucus was the refusal of Thomas J. Nicholl to accept a renomination as candidate for the past twelve years, and for the past ten years chairman of the committee. During that time the town has undergone a number of changes. Electric light, water, gas and other improvements have been adopted. Besides this a number of franchises have been granted, but in granting them the township has always been fully protected by the guiding hand of the chairman of the committee. For several years past Mr. Nicholl has desired to withdraw from active politics but his party has prevailed upon him each year to accept a renomination. Three years ago he told them that his acceptance of the nomination would mean that he positively would not be a candidate to succeed himself as other business cares occupied his time. The announcement last night of his positive refusal to allow his name to go before the primary left the caucus without a candidate, so the place was left vacant until the night of the primary.

John Z. Hetfield was renominated as collector; as was Charles H. French as assessor.

Horace G. Pangborn received the nomination as constable; surveyor highways, Samuel Lee and George Scudder. Charles H. French was named as the delegate to the Congressional, county and freeholders conventions.

The appropriations named were: Police, $200; fire, $100; street, $2,250; sidewalks, $200; poor, $400.

The refusal of Thomas P. Nicholl to be a candidate for renomination as a member of the township committee came as a surprise to many of his friends. Irrespective of politics, Mr. Nicholl services as a member of the committee will be missed as his experience and interest taken in Fanwood township made him a valuable official and one the town can ill afford to lose.

BRADY CONCERN CONFIRMS LOCAL ICE CO.'S STATEMENT.

No More Ice From Lake Hopatcong for Plainfield This Season.

In view of the reported serious condition of the ice question in Plainfield, Manager Andrew Carlson, of the Natural Ice Company, having stated that his concern received its last car of ice from Lake Hopatcong Friday and that future orders have been refused the local dealers, inquiry was made today at the offices of Thomas Brady, president of the Bayonne Ice Company, which controls the output at Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. Brady was not in his office, but one of his assistants speaking for him, said that practically all of the ice now stored in the ice houses at the lake is sold under season contracts and that the Plainfield Natural Ice Company has no such contract for ice fro mthat source. He said that the local wholesale company had been receiving ice from the lake and that the company controlling the supply would do what it could toward sending ice to Plainfield, but could not promise to send any specified quantity.

The Bayonne representative said that if his company could not furnish Plainfield with ice, the local company would undoubtedly have to seek elsewhere. He also said that it is very difficult to get ice just now and he thought that the Plainfield dealers would have trouble in getting an adequate supply for its needs.

ENDORSED BY LABOR.

Union County Trades Council Approves of Freeholder.

The Union County Trades Council held a special meeting to take action on a report of the Political Advancement Committee, which is formulating a line of political action for the trades unions in this county. George J. Reiss, one of the members of the committee, said Friday morning that one of the first things decided upon was to keep the doings of the council secret for the while. He refused to give any information. But in spite of the rule of secrecy some information leaked out.

Freeholder Dennis Murphy was endorsed for the Assembly on the Republican ticket after a contest. At a previous meeting James Dempsey had been endorsed on the Democratic ticket.

A committee of six, consisting of three Republicans and three Democrats, was appointed to wait on the chairman of the Republican County Committee and also on the chairman of the Democratic County Committee.

Mrs. Charles Burke, of Raritan, has returned home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. John Reynolds, of this city.

PLOT AGAINST PERKINS?

Attempt to Steal Assemblyman's Letters Ends in An Arrest.

A BOY CONFESSES

Youthful Detective Declares He Was Engaged by Westfield Man to Learn What He Could.

Sensational developments are expected in connection with the arrest Thursday in Jersey City of a bearded, lisping detective, who says he is Charles O'Byrne, eighteen years old, of No. 31 Schenectady avenue, Brooklyn.

The boy's accuser is Mayor Randolph Perkins, of Westfield. Mr. Perkins is the Republican leader on the floor of the New Jersey Assembly. He is also a partner of Judge John A. Blair and former Judge Otto Crouse. Their law offices are in the Commercial Trust Building. No. 15 Exchange place. Morning and evening Mr. Perkins makes the trip between Westfield and Jersey City in an $10,000 automobile, which figured yesterday in the arrest of the boy detective.

The automobile was used in transporting him from the Commercial Trust Building to the City Hall, where police headquarters is located. After he confessed and was booked on a charge of being an accessory to the larceny of a packet of letters, O'Byrne was given an automobile ride to Bergen and street lights. There he spent the night meditating on the trials and troubles of a boy detective.

Last Wednesday Joseph Autenreith, fourteen years old, of No. 732 Newark avenue, who is employed as an office boy by Edwin M. Hendrickson, Jr., a son of Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Hendrickson, was accosted by O'Byrne in front of the Commercial Trust Building, and asked if he wanted to make "some easy money." Young Autenreith replied, "Sure, Mike. What's your game?"

The office boy alleges that O'Byrne asked him to stroll into the office of Blair & Perkins, engage the office boy or typewriter in conversation and take any letters he could get hold of. Autenreith consented to steal Mr. Perkins' letters, and he promised to meet O'Byrne in front of the building yesterday afternoon at fifteen minutes to five.

Autenreith, instead of attempting to steal the letters, informed his *employer, Mr. Hendrickson, who sum*moned Mayor Perkins and Judge Blair. After listening to the boy's story the Judge and lawyers decided to lay a trap for the detective, and Police Chief Murphy was asked to detail two officers to make the arrest.

Detective Sergeants Frank Bennett and Clay Keenan were stationed in front of the Commercial Trust Building yesterday afternoon; Mr. Perkins' automobile was at the curb. Mayor Perkins arranged two packet of old letters and handed them to young Autenreith, who found O'Byrne waiting on the sidewalk. O'Byrne jammed the letters into his coat pockets, and at the same moment Bennett and Keenan arrested *him and pushed him into the auto*mobile.

Mr. Perkins, who had witnessed the arrest, jumped into the vehicle and the party went to Police Headquarters, where Chief Murphy and Inspector Archibold were waiting for them. O'Byrne was badly frightened by the unexpected ending of his first detective job in New Jersey, and he confessed that he had been employed by a resident of Westfield to "find out all he could about Mayor Perkins."

O'Byrne revealed the name of his *employer to Mr. Perkins and the po*lice officials, but Chief Murphy declined to give the name out for publication "for police reasons."

In his search for information about Mr. Perkins the Brooklyn youth stated that he who is in attendance at the cigar stand in the Commercial Trust Building if Mr. Perkins had gold teeth, how many cigars he smoked every day, what was his favorite brand, and wanted to know the number of the Mayor's automobile. It is 4,411.

O'Byrne confessed that he visited Westfield on Wednesday and drew a diagram of Mayor Perkins' home. Mr. Perkins and Chief Murphy tried to induce O'Byrne immediately after his arrest to take the letters to Westfield and deliver them to his employer, but the boy detective scornfully replied:

"No, I would rather go to State's prison than do that. He doesn't know I was after Mr. Perkins' letters. I thought of that myself."

Late last night Chief Murphy was notified by telephone from Westfield that a lawyer would be in the First Criminal Court today to defend O'Byrne.

Bringing Results.

"Please, ma'am," pleaded the ragged little beggar, "gimme a penny!"

"Gracious, child!" exclaimed Mrs. Goodart, producing a nickel, "are those the best shoes you've got?"

"Sure!" he replied, with professional pride. "Dey're de best I could git fur my business. Dey won't do a thing but bring de nickels out."

USEFUL HINTS FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER.

If table or toilet silver is allowed to lie in thick, sour milk for half an hour, then washed in soap and water, to which a little ammonia is added, rinsed with clear hot water, and wiped with a soft woolen cloth, it will be bright as new without the tiresome rubbing so necessary with dry polishes. The milk must cover the articles to have the process successful.

Up-to-date housekeepers will find comfort in the statement of one of the best carpet houses that a Wilton or Axminster carpet should never be swept with a straw broom. After lightly whisking the corners and edges the carpet sweeper should be used as long as necessary to remove the dirt.

At least once a week the carpet sweeper should be thoroughly cleaned and the brush freed from hairs and threads. The bearings should be frequently oiled, the smallest amount being used, and a feather will be easy to apply the oil with.

All hooks used in bathroom, kitchen or pantry should be dipped in enamel paint and thoroughly dried before being screwed in. Then there will be no rust spots on towels or clothes that are hung on them while damp.

An artistic receptacle for holding a small amount of kindlings and shavings is made from two squares of fine Japanese matting laced together on three sides with raffia, and having raffia covered rings on the open side, through which a heavy fibre cord is run to hang by.

In washing blankets the advice of an old laundress is: Never rub soap directly on a blanket, but dissolve it in the water. When it is taken from the last water, hang upon a strong line, where the breeze will strike it, and pull and stretch in shape. Allow it to remain until dry, then pack it away until cold weather with plenty of gum cahpher placed within its folds.

Keep the telephone clean. The mouth-piece of a telephone may become a fruitful source of disease dissemination. Use a few drops of carbolic acid on the damp cloth with which you wipe it off. The reason is obvious in this "germ age."

An admirable way to clean bamboo furniture is to wash it well in warm water containing a gill of salt to each quart. This will preserve the color.

In choosing a stair carpet it is far better wisdom to select a plain stair carpet than a figured one, but if the latter be preferred choose a small, close-set design with subdued colors well mingled.

When milk has been burned pour it at once into a jug and shake it in a basin of cold water until it is cool, when it will be found to be quite free from the burned smell and taste.

If a piece of Japanese grass matting the exact size of the mattress is placed between it and the sheet it will assure a cool bed during the warm summer months. The mattress is fastened to the four corners of the bed by loops of tape. This is a device used by the English officers in India.

An Easily Made Lamp Shade—The most easily made lamp shade is a square of silk, with a hole in the centre, and the lower part trimmed with lace edging or fringe.

A Stopped-up Pipe—The water pipe from a sink or lavatory basin often becomes clogged up with soapy matter. Don't send for a plumber, but instead pour down first a little paraffine, and immediately after some boiling water in which a fairly large piece of common washing soda has been dissolved. It will clear the pipe immediately.

To Keep Away Moths—A bottle of camphor or oil of cedar with the cork left out, if hung on a hook in the closet, will keep away moths without imparting a disagreeable odor to the clothing.

To Remove Wrinkles from Clothes—Hang the garment in the bathroom over the tub. Close the windows and turn on the hot water. In an hour or so they will be thoroughly steamed, after which they should be hung in the fresh air.

The Best Way to Roast Almonds—When roasting almonds for salting or for bonbons put them in a corn popper and hold them over a good fire.

To Keep the Juice in a Pie—If the juice of a fruit pie runs out, try putting a small funnel of white paper in the centre of the upper crust.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alcorn, of East Front street, are home from Rockaway Park.

The Misses Stephenson, of West Front street, have returned from their summer outing.

Miss Mary Woolston, of Fairview avenue, is home from her vacation spent at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Manning, of East Seventh street, are home from their summer outing.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Coddington, of East Second street, have returned from their outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGee, of North Plainfield, are home from their summer outing in Maine.

Miss Justine Roberts, of Brooklyn, is visiting her grandfather, Dan S. Roberts, of Prospect Place.

Miss Florence White, of Willow avenue, has returned from her two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

Miss Margaret Dunn, of East Milstone, has been visiting friends in town for a short time.

Miss Euphemia Demorest and sister, of Park avenue, have been visiting friends at Frankfort.

LEAF DOILIES.

The girl who loves summer handiwork need not depend on the art-embroidery stores for stamping the lines she is to embroider. This is just the season to make the pretty leaf finger-bowl doilies so much in fashion. Select a large and perfect maple or oak leaf, and from this cut your pattern. Outline the design on your linen, drawing it in lightly with a pencil, or you may use tracing paper if you have it. If not, put your leaf and linen against the windowpane, and after getting the outline of the leaf, trace the main veins of it. Now buttonhole the edge of the leaf to a width of one-fourth of an inch all around the design, using green embroidery silk. Work the vein in simple outline stitching.

Besides maple and oak, clover leaves are especially pretty. Of course, these have to be a good deal enlarged. Six doilies in cloverleaf pattern, also, several clover leaves grouped together to form a centre-piece, and a set of very small butter plate doilies in the same design make a lovely set. These will make any table look fresh and pretty, and are serviceable on outdoor tea tables under the trees, says the Woman's Home Companion.

Effective leaf doilies can also be made of coarser linen and buttonholed with dull shades of green linen embroidery thread or with mercerized embroidery cotton (sold for five cents a ball). This work is so simple that any girl can do it, and forms an ideal summer fancy work for girls.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

If a little boiling water is added to the sweet milk used in making biscuits it will be found that less shortening is necessary and the result just as good.

Every kitchen outfit should have a measuring glass that is marked to measure teaspoonfuls, tablespoonfuls and grills, as well as halves, thirds and quarters.

Water in which rice has been boiled may be used for starching old lace, choice handkerchiefs, etc. It gives a soft and daisty stiffness which adds a charm to their appearance.

When you are short of oil in your lamps pour water in to fill. The oil will float on top of the water and may be burned as long as there is any left. Put some salt in the bottom of your lamps. The light will be much brighter.

Cotton prints, goods in delicate colors, no matter how fast the color, will look faded after a few washings, but it can be made to look like new by using a solution of dye of the same color as the garment, just as you would tinting an egg for other colors, as red and blue will make lavender and other shades. Try it. Cotton laces can be dyed beautifully in this way to match any shade.

When finely chopped suets are needed for salads, or for sandwiches, run the nuts through the meat chopper.

Have a pair of sharp scissors handy in the kitchen for trimming bacon and ham rinds, skinning fowls and trimming green vegetables for salads.

Alcohol will remove candle grease.

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

Puffed Rice.

Silas Rice and wife gave a party the other night, and one of the Chicago papers gave him quite a puff about it.—Mount Morris (Ill.) Index.

Probably Choked to Death.

It will be remembered that two weeks ago we published an account of the murder of Alonzo B. Jones at what is known as the Ash Land bridge. Jones was found dead with no pistol about him and wearing his hat and a toothbrush in his mouth.—Smithfield (N. C.) Herald.

Also Liar.

Billy Mills went fishing Wednesday and caught thirty-six perch and one cat, and eat twenty-six of them for dinner himself, and went back after dinner to catch all he could eat for supper. He is a notorious fish eater.—McGee (J. T.) Chickasaw News.

Gallantry in Iowa.

Charley Victor and Tom McDonough's wife ran a race last Saturday afternoon. He was in his auto car, while she was driving her old, blind mare single. She blind mare took the race.—Oskaloosa (Iowa) Globe.

Mr. Hammond's Bungalow.

Edgar Hammond had a very nice hog house built last week on Mrs. Mary W. Shelton's premises, which he occupies.—Libertytown (Md.) News.

Barks Worry Brains.

The Borealis serves notice now and here that if the nuisance is not abated, the owners of the howling and barking dogs will be brought up on the carpet. Patience has ceased to be a virtue in our case, and we want to get at least one night's sleep during a month, which now is impossible on account of the confounded dogs howling and barking every night.—Oregon Aurora Borealis.

Other Fellow Not Heard From.

M. L. Gray has been laid up for repairs for a week.—Valley Falls (Kank.) New Era.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Books About Germany, Part 1.

Taken from a list of works in English relating to the Germans; prepared for the use of students at the American Library in Munich.

Art and Music.

Apthorpe, W. F.—Opera, past and present.

Burton, H. J. W. and Poynter, E. J.—German, Flemish and Dutch painting.

Fay, A.—Music study in Germany.

Knackfuss, H.—Duerer.

Kufferath, M.—Parsifal of Richard Wagner. 3 v.

Gugler, F. T.—Handbook of painting. German, Flemish and Dutch schools. 2 v.

Lavignac, A.—Music dramas of Wagner, and his festival theatre in Bayreuth.

Mather, R.—History of modern painting. 3 v.

Tyler, S.—Old masters and their pictures.

Upton, G. P.—Standard operas.

Poetry and Drama.

Goethe, J. W. V.—Dramatic works; tr. by Sir W. Scott, and others.

Goethe, J. W. V.—Faust; tr. by B. Taylor. 2 v.

Goethe, J. W. V.—Poems.

Heine, H.—Poems and ballads done into English by Sir T. Martin.

Krehbiel, H. E.—Studies in the Wagnerian drama.

Lessing, G. E.—Dramatic works, ed. by E. Bell.

Nibelungen Lied, Das.—Echoes from mistland; or, The Nibelungen Lay; by A. A. Woodward.

Schiller, C. F. V.—Dramas.

Schiller, J. C. F. V.—Poems.

Fiction.

Auerbach, B.—On the heights.

Auerbach, B.—Villa on the Rhine.

Freytag, G.—Debit and credit.

Goethe, J. W. V.—Sorrows of Werther; Elective affinities, etc.

Goethe, J. W. V.—Wilhelm Meister's apprenticeship and travels.

Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Grimm's fairy tales.

Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Grimm's household tales.

Hauff, W.—Lichtenstein.

Heyse, P. J. L.—Children of the world.

Heyse, P. J. L.—In paradise.

Morris, D.—Historical tales; German.

Raupe, R. E.—Tales from the travels of Baron Munchausen.

Rosegger, P. K.—Forest schoolmaster.

Scheffel, J. V. V.—Ekkehard.

Spielhagen, F.—Hammer and anvil.

Spitteler, B. V.—"Ground arms."

Wyss, J. D.—Swiss family Robinson.

Literature.

Brandes, G. M. C.—Main currents in 19th century literature.

Francke, K.—History of German literature.

Francke, K.—Social forces in German literature.

Hosmer, J. K.—Short history of German literature.

Scherer, W.—History of German literature. 2 v.

Wells, B. W.—Modern German literature.

Books About Germany, Part 2.

Travel.

Baedeker, K.—Berlin and its environs.

Baedeker, K.—Northern Germany.

Baedeker, K.—Rhine from Rotterdam to Constance.

Baker, R. S.—Seen in Germany.

Bigelow, P.—Borderland of Czar and Kaiser.

Dawson, W. H.—German life in town and country.

Hugo, V. M.—Rhine. 2 v.

Miller, F. D.—Danube from the Black Forest to the Black Sea.

History.

Bax, E. B.—German society at the close of the middle ages.

Fisher, H. —Reformation.

Francke, K.—Glimpses of modern culture.

Gould, S. B. and Gilman, A.—Story of Germany.

Headlam, C.—Story of Nuremberg.

Henderson, E. F.—History of German in the middle ages.

Henderson, E. F.—Short history of Germany. 2 v.

Schiller, J. C. F. V.—History of the thirty years' war; tr. by A. J. W. Morrison.

Sybel, H.—Founding of the German empire by William I. 7 v.

Washburn, E. B.—Recollections of a minister to France. 2 v.

Biography.

Boyesen, H. H.—Goethe and Schiller.

Carlyle, T.—Life of Frederick Schiller.

Clerke, A. M.—Herschels, and modern astronomy.

Grimm, H.—Life and times of Goethe.

Hausser, L.—Two German giants, Frederick the Great and Bismarck.

Maitland, J. A. F.—Masters of German music.

Moltke, H. K. B. Graf. V.—Moltke, his life and character sketched in journals, etc.

Nohl, L.—Life of Beethoven.

Nohl, L.—Life of Haydn.

Nohl, L.—Life of Liszt.

Nohl, L.—Life of Mozart.

Nohl, L.—Life of Wagner.

Pollock, J.—Luther and other leaders of the Reformation.

Miscellaneous.

Froebel, F. W.—Education of man.

Guerber, H. A.—Legends of the Rhine.

Hegel, G. W. F.—Lectures on the philosophy of history.

Kant, L.—Critique of pure reason.

Muensterberg, H. — American traits from the point of view of a German.

JERSEY FARMERS

ENJOY PROSPERITY.

Wives Use Gas to Cook With, Have Telephones and Electric Lights.

Could a farmer of the last generation behold the home of the up-to-date Jersey farmer of today, he would probably think that some magic change had affected agricultural life. The modern Jersey farmer is by no means a "rube." He is a prosperous individual, generally alert and businesslike, and his home is stocked with the latest improvements after the fashion of a house in a large city.

The Jersey farmer is no longer secluded from the world at large. In his house stands the telephone, by means of which he can keep posted on market prices all the time. By calling up Central in the morning he is enabled to get the official weather bulletin hours before a newspaper could reach him, and through this means he saves hundreds of dollars on his crops.

No longer does the farmer's wife dread the idea of making that bothersome fire in the kitchen range in the morning. She simply goes into the kitchen, turns on the stove, and sets the pots on to boil. Gas mains run between the various cities of the State, and the farmers in between have gas furnished to them for cooking, lighting, and even for heating, at the same rates as those enjoyed by the neighboring city. Even the way out in the country districts in the southern part of the State one may find an astonishing number of farmhouses in which gas is the only fuel used for cooking.

In like manner, the farmer uses electricity to light his house and even his barns and stables. This would have seemed almost an impossible luxury to the farmer a few years ago, but with its increasing cheapness, all the current has come within the range of the farmer's purse. To strangers is is an odd sight to see the electric light wires along a country road with no houses in sight. Inventors declare that the time is not far distant when the farmer will do his milking, his churning and most of his farm work by electricity. The electric push-button will succeed the farmhand.

In the farmer's kitchen can be found all the up-to-date patent devices to make housekeeping easy. These things give the farmer's wife of today much more time for social duties and the care and education of her children than her mother ever thought of having. The farmer himself reads scientific works on agriculture and the latest government farming bulletins may be found on his table.

The prosperous truck farmers of North Jersey even have their own automobiles. One of these men said to a friend the other day:

"When I was a boy I thought a great deal about Horace Greeley's saying, 'Go West, young man,' but I stuck to Jersey, and I have found the old State good enough for me. New York is right at our door waiting to gobble up all the market truck we can produce, and with plenty of money to pay for it, too.

"You see I own my own motor car. I expect that some day my son will be able to travel in his own airship."

THE VOICE BEAUTIFUL.

A beautiful voice is always even in tone, whether low and modulated or loud and strong.

It is necessary that the lips be mobile and flexible in order to form a tone correctly. A simple set of exercises for the lips is the pronunciation of the vowels sounds, "ah-oh," "Ah-Oh-ee," "Ah-oh-ee-oo."

In the treatment of the defective voice the first consideration is the general health.

An excellent practise sentence given in the famous elocution schools for vocal culture is "Most men want poise and more royal margin."

The rasping nasal tone that is so common in many voices is often due to catarrhal trouble. This is caused by sudden changes with its sudden changes of temperature.

No voice in itself is harsh; the quality of the voice depends upon the management of it.

Aside from the imperfect tones of the above mentioned, there are various faults of speech which are commonly heard. It is a good plan to listen to a number of girls talking at the same time. Notice them at an afternoon tea. Most of the voices at such a gathering are shrill, high-pitched and strained. The utterance is rapid, the words are clipped, the pronunciation is often otherwise faulty.

The nervous temperament that is so characteristically American has a great deal to do with the tense, strident tones that are so usual in our girls.

A Cruel Brother.

Miss Jennie Fultz has been quite ill. Her brother, Dr. George, is at home.—Staunton (Va.) Dispatch-News.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Smith, formerly of the borough, are now residing at 215 West Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. St. John McCutcheon, of the borough, are expected home Saturday from an extended trip abroad.

A WORD TO THE WOULD-BE WIFE.

Girls who contemplate matrimony might as well know a few things. Men like magnetic girls. Men like girls who have a little common sense, and they particularly like companionable girls. Learn to be magnetic if you want to succeed in the home. Cultivate your beauty if you are a woman. Pick out your worst points and work up on them. Don't neglect anything that will contribute toward your good looks. Make a study of beauty; it pays to do it. Bring out your good points and hide your bad ones. Carry yourself as though you were a professional beauty, and pretty soon you will begin to fool your best friends. "She is a beauty," they will say. And a beauty will you be, says the Boston Traveler.

Cultivate good temper. Don't let crabbed days come. Work upon your temper until it is pliable and easy. Don't get into the habit of getting "mad." Learn to keep your temper out of sight.

Cultivate good nature. Love everybody. It is the best paying advertisement you ever made, namely, the trick of loving everybody. It does you a world of good to love people. Adopt the Hindoo Brahmin philosophy. Learn to say the Hindoo texts:

"All the world is mine—if only I can take it in!

"All the people in the world are my friends—if only I can treat them as they should be treated!

"All the money on the face of the earth is mine—if only I know how to receive it!"

FADS AND PANCIES.

The handbag is an item of dress which has been revolutionized in a marvelous number of ways.

It has appeared in leather of every description, in moire and velvet and silk, and even in linen and beads. Now that there is a return to simple styles it is being shown in suede-finished calf leather, in all of the lovely new dress colorings. The woman whose autumn frock is to be gray may have her bag to tone with it perfectly, or if her gown is to be one of the ravishing new shades of red or blue, the bag may be had in the same alluring shade, or it may tone with the accessories or trimmings of the frock rather than with the material itself.

The latest version of the gold purse is evidently intended to supplement the hand-bag, for it is completely and ingealously arranged, and is light and easy to carry. It is in the form of an oblong gold box, about five inches long and two or three inches deep, and hangs, of course, from a gold chain. In it are places for silver change and a slip for bank notes, a most cunningly tucked-in powder puff and box and mirror, a deep cavity for lip salve, and a little bottle so cleverly placed that the stopper of the bottle serves as the top of the purse.

All this and more is included, however, the little suede-finished bag is by all odds the prettiest. It contains everything that one can possibly require, and may even have a small fan, a handkerchief and tiny opera glasses stowed away in the interior of its numerous pockets, as well as a purse, cardcase, scent bottle, powder puff, mirror and other indispensables. There is doubtless more of a display to be had in the purse of gold, but certainly there is more room and less for the accommodating bags of leather.

For the woman who is an automobile enthusiast the minature automobile bag is a necessity. It comes in several varieties with silver or gold fittings, and in many colors of leather. The size of the bag when closed is only eight and a quarter inches wide, yet it contains hair and clothes brushes, mirror, flask, hairpin box, satin bottle, comb and scissors, another wonderfully compact bag is of rather different shape, measured eleven by nine inches, and is only one and a half inches thick. It is fitted with a mirror of very good size, a box of powder, an adjustable pad with a number of button hook, note book, pencil, scissors, comb and pockets for visiting cards.

THE WELL-DRESSED GIRL.

There never was a young girl who did not give a great deal of thought to her dress and personal appearance, and providing it is not her one thought and topic of conversation, it is only right that she should. It is not every woman's duty to be as well dressed and as pleasing to the eye as possible, and if she neglects it, because it is too much of a nuisance or takes too much time, she is not worthy of the name of woman. Do not misunderstand me, however, and think the term "well-dressed" means that you must strive to have your clothes made of the most expensive materials and trimmed with costly lace and embroidery, or that you must follow the latest whim of fashion in their make, says the Pictorial Review.

On the contrary, the term "well dressed" means to be suitably dressed for whatever occupation is to be yours during the day. Alas, how few of you, my pretty girls, understand that neatness and simplicity are the keynotes of being suitably dressed, and that the eyes of the average person rest longer and with more pleasure on a young girl with smooth tidy hair, dressed in a simple print frock that is spotless, and finished with a neat collar and cuffs, than it does on one with frowsy hair and dressed in the height of fashion, in clothes from which the first freshness has departed.

IN THE SHOPS

WITH THE SHOPPERS.

The new fall models in silk waists are exceptionally beautiful and worthy of being the heralds of the coming season. A plaid one seen in a certain shop has all air of simplicity that is fetching, but deceptive; it is in a rather dark plaid with blue as the predominating color and is plaited in a novel manner and trimmed with a touch of white taffeta used in a bias band, outlined with soutache braid in blue and white.

A very handsome three-quarter length coat of lavender Rajah silk may be had for a reasonable sum, and will be quite correct for theatre wear.

Linen pocketbooks to match any costume are charming novelties and may be found in the large shops.

Unusual bargains in footwear offer ample opportunities for a supply of colonial suede and patent leather pumps and oxfords for house and evening wear.

Crisp and dainty muslins so much in vogue for the popular sash-curtains may be had for a trifle, and in many beautiful designs. One of these mixtures of the new walking suit, for office wear or shopping, are much in evidence and come in very durable and pretty colors.

A new device for the purpose of waving the hair, with absolutely no injurious consequences, is being demonstrated to the delight of womankind.

SUMMER CLOTHES.

The announcement recently made by a well-known doctor that clothes, "particularly those fitting close to the body, are a fruitful sources of ill health," however disconcerning from the coutourriere's point of view, seems with a certain fascination in this hot weather, when such exigencies of civilization as collars, gloves, veils, not to mention shoes and corsets, cause more than a mere weariness of the flesh. In reading the great man's scientific theory, one seems with something of a shock that to be really healthy one should wear as little as the requirements of twentieth century "respectability" demand. Nor does he finish from exhorting a return to the simple life of our ancestors in respect of skins and wood—or their modern equivalents, says the London Sketch.

This is courageous and the nudity theory is an argument to be seriously considered in quite hot weather; but how about March winds and winter frosts? The vision of uncorseted British matrons sternly seeking health in sheepskins and sandals is too serious to trifle with. Picture postcards, for instance, recording English types of beauty would then be very different from the white. It may be noted in passing that masculine furnishings are not condemned—only those of much whaleboned woman.

DISHWASHING A PLEASURE.

Do not get discouraged about having to wash dishes 365 days in the year. The dishes must be washed, and of all the many duties that fall to woman's lot this seems to be the most disliked. But there is an ideal way.

The chief things required to make it a pleasure are, order, plenty of good hot water and a stack of dry tea towels, two dishcloths and a large enamel bowl. The dishes, when removed from the table, must have each of its kind put together. Put all the cooking utensils on the range and fill them with water until the time comes to clean them.

Have a receptacle in which to place all the scraps that come from the dishes, plates, etc. The most important thing is to have plenty of hot water—not merely warm, but hot—and use some good soap in the water to make your suds. It cleans the greasy meat dishes and plates twice as quickly. Have your mops with handles for deep-mouthed jugs, and have nice dishcloths made of cheesecloth.

HOW TO TAKE OUT STAINS.

Fruit Stains—If fresh, spread over a basin or tub, then holding a boiling teakettle high over the spots, pour the water through and stains will disappear as you pour. If they have been set, try first dipping in the boiling water and drying in the sun. If that does not answer, use a solution of oxalic acid; rinse at once, then wet the stained spot in ammonia, and rinse again in clear water.

Tea and Coffee Stains—These are easily removed when fresh by pouring boiling water through them. Soap sets the stain. If the stains are of long standing, soak in glycerine and wash the latter out with cold water. Chocolate stains may be removed in the same way.

Machine Grease—These may be removed from wash fabrics by cold water or soda. A weak solution of ammonia may also be used on white goods.

Orange and Lemon Stains—Use diluted ammonia.

Nathan E. Lewis, of Arlington avenue, has gone to Watch Hill, R. I., to bring his wife home. Mrs. Lewis has been sojourning in Rhode Island for several weeks.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

The window of a well-known shop is rendered dazzling by the display of bright colored silk petticoats. These skirts are stylishly made with a circular flounce finished with a dozen or more tiny ruffles. The popular shades are apple green, violet, pale blue, pink, black and white.

Roman stripe ribbon belts with gilt buckles, are the latest fad of the girls and women with slender waist lines.

The new light weight broadcloths shown this season are exceedingly beautiful. They are fifty inches wide and not so expensive as broadcloths usually are. The most favored shade is hyacinth.

Irish lace is to be the popular lace this winter as it was last, and many of the shops are showing a new and complete assortment at reasonable prices.

New walking skirts in several smart models are very much in evidence. They are made in blue and indispensable and are made of materials having excellent wearing qualities.

Among the "readymades," are attractive and satisfactory serge suits for the school girl of from four to fourteen years of age. There are sailor suits and Russian blouses prettily trimmed with braid.

Door panels of real Renaissance or Arabian lace are marked down until they are within the reach of everyone. Nothing adds so much to the appearance of a vestibule as one of these dainty squares.

An exquisite china dinner set of a hundred pieces with delicate gold and tinted decorations may be had for a small sum.

FEMININE FADS AND FANCIES.

Yellow has apparently taken the world of fashion by storm and is being worn in all shades.

Everything seems to point to the excessive popularity of waists of black net, lace trimmed or combined with velvet ribbon. Black taffeta waists with yokes of net are also much worn.

White coats of broadcloth, serge and Rajah silk, are very much in vogue. They are usually made in the three-quarter length, and many of them have collars and cuffs of some bright tint, while others are embroidered with colored thread.

Glove garters are in the height of their glory. The latest invention is a chain bracelet of flexible gold. It is strapped round the wrist or at the top of the arm, to keep the glove in its place.

Connemara tweeds from Ireland give promise to be foremost among the materials for winter wear.

Apple green is to be one of the leading colors for the coming season.

The newest belts are made of pin seal. They have silver gilt buckles studded delicately with jewels. These belts are slightly shaped and come in all the new tones, including grays. They are rather expensive.

Persian lamb and chinchilla will be the popular furs this season among those who can indulge in such luxuries.

FASHION TIPS.

Women are wearing costly stockings of changeable silk.

Most of the summer morning frocks have chemisettes of lace or mull.

Dotted foulards are all the rage at the smart watering places.

White duck has become the craze, and is used in complete sets.

Nothing makes a better duster than a piece of old silk.

The correct belt for morning wears is of leather and matches the shoes.

Long, slender, slinging styles prevail in the gowns to come.

The little glove handkerchief is one of the season's novelties, and is not over six inches square snuggled away in the palm of the hand.

Some odd and new style shoes are seen made to imitate birch bark.

Stripes will be seen the coming season, both in hair line and wider effects.

Accordion pleated effects are holding their own, and few styles are quite so dainty for dancing and evening frocks.

HEALTH HINTS.

Never neglect your daily exercise. A brisk walk for a couple of miles in the fresh morning air is one of the first essentials. Plain, nourishing food and abundance of good, ripe fruit is another. Fruit is best eaten in the morning. Bananas are easy of digestion to some and very nutritious. Grapes are nourishing and fattening; apples are especially good for brain workers, and oranges are of great benefit to peope afflicted with rheumatism. Personal cleanliness is the next essential in keeping young. A daily bath and a good rub will clear the complexion faster than medicine. Have plenty of fresh air in your living and sleeping rooms. Leave your bedroom window open from the top several inches every night, no matter how cold the weather; have your bed covering warm and light, says Woman's Life. On getting up throw back the orange-color bedding and bed, so that they may be thoroughly aired; leave the window open in your bedroom the greater part of the day.

Common to All.

"She and Mr. Gabbit seem to be talking very animatedly. They have something in common, apparently."

"Yes; they're discussing the weather."

PRIMARIES' CANDIDATES

Lists of Regular, Colbyite and Democratic Endorsements.

FILED WITH CITY CLERK

Names of Men Who Will Be Voted For At Nomination Primaries in This City On September 25.

Following is a complete list of candidates endorsed by primary nominations:

Republican Primary Ticket.

First Ward, First District.

Delegates to Congressional Convention, (vote for 4)—Anson W. Anderson, Clifford A. Braider, Joseph B. Coward, Fred S. Cutter, Edward B. Maynard, Walter C. McNaughton, Charles H. Russell, Stephen H. Tugwell.

Delegates to County Convention, (vote for 4)—Joseph A. Allen, Anson W. Anderson, Clifford A. Braider, Stephen H. Tugwell, Colbyites; Jos. B. Coward, Uzal B. Crane, Edward B. Maynard, Walter C. McNaughton.

For delegates to City Convention, (vote for 4)—Anson W. Anderson, Clifford A. Braider, Charles H. Russell, Stephen H. Tugwell, Colbyites; Alva C. Carey, Albert T. Raymond, Horace M. Sherwin, Moses Schloss.

For member of Common Council, (vote for 1)—Isaac B. Hill, Ralph I. Tolles.

For Justice of Peace, (vote for 1)—Peter Thompson.

For Constable, (vote for 1)— Peter V. Weaver.

For member of County Committee, (vote for 2)—Amos Andrews, James F. Buckle, Clarence B. LaRue, Charles H. Russell.

For members of City Committee, (vote for 2)—Anson W. Anderson, Amos Andrews, James F. Buckle, Olin L. Jenkins, Clarence B. LaRue, Stephen H. Tugwell.

Republican.

First Ward—Second District.

Congressional, (vote for 2)—Clarence E. Bond, Robert F. R. Huntsman, N. Pendleton Rogers, Charles B. Schuck.

County, (vote for 2)—Ernest T. Hand, Henry Hansen, William H. Jones, Clarence B. LaRue, Colbyites.

City, (vote for 2)—William J. Doughton, Robert F. R. Huntsman, Clarence B. LaRue, Colbyites; Casper Stadele.

Council, (1)—Isaac B. Hill, Ralph I. Tolles.

Justice, (1)— Peter Thompson.

Constable, (1)—Peter V. Weaver.

County Committee, (2)—Amos Andrews, James F. Buckle, Clarence B. LaRue, Charles H. Russell.

City Committee, (3)—Anson W. Anderson, Amos Andrews, James F. Buckle, Olin L. Jenkins, Clarence B. LaRue, Stephen H. Tugwell.

Republican.

Second Ward—First District.

Congressional (4)—Angus P. Atwood, Adam C. Blair, Lewis M. Booth, Frederic W. Butler, R. Henry Depew, George P. Mellick, Frank T. Overton, William N. Runyon.

County, (4)—Robert A. Backer, Clarence Goss, Arthur Lovell, Joseph McIntyre, Charles B. Morse, Colbyites; Thomas Hanna, Frederick J. Pope, Asa F. Randolph.

City, (4)—Edward J. Cooley, Frank W. Frost, Frank L. Holt, Howard C. Tracy, Colbyites; John H. Doane, Robert H. Keenan, Frank A. Pope, Joseph Sattels.

Council, (1)—Henry D. Hibbard, Robert A. Meeker.

Justice, (1)—

Constable, (1)—

County Committee, (2)—Robert E. Hall, Francis L. Montgomery, Arthur Murphy, William R. Townsend.

City Committee, (3)—J. Hervey Doane, Francis W. Handford, Edward E. Ireminger, John E. Keely, William R. Townsend, Howard C. Tracy.

Republican.

Second Ward—Second District.

Congressional, (2)—Wilbur M. Ailing, John G. Bickness, Robert E. Hall, Matthew C. Stewart.

County, (2)—William S. Clark, Robert H. McCready, Colbyites; Robert A. Meeker.

City, (2)—Francis E. Hamman, Herbert Henry, Charles Kirchner, Colbyites; Cornelius VanHerwerden.

Council, (1)—Henry D. Hibbard, Robert A. Meeker.

County Committee, (2)—Robert E. Hall, Francis L. Montgomery, Arthur Murphy, William R. Townsend.

City Committee, (2)—J. Hervey Doane, Francis W. Handford, Edward E. Ireminger, John E. Keely, William R. Townsend, Howard C. Tracy.

Republican.

Third Ward—First District.

Congressional, (4)—Frank C. Ard, Salmon C. Baker, Marcus L. Clawson, B. Frank Corriell, Charles J. Fisk, Frank J. Hubbard, Duncan W. Taylor.

County, (4)—Salmon C. Baker, Jacob Kirkner, Orra S. Rogers, William M. Wherry, Jr., Colbyites; B. Frank Corieli, John B. Dumont, Jabez C. Gilbert, Orville T. Waring.

City, (4)—Norman W. Currice, Frank W. Iredell, George W. V. Moy, Charles Shelton, Colbyites; John Gallagher, William C. Kinney, Edward Ladd, Jr., George S. Ring, Regu-

...nell, (1)—Joseph M. Shellabarger, William S. Tyler.

... Committee, (2)—Charles ...illiam T. Kirk, Robert L. Lee, Duncan W. Taylor.

City Committee, (3)—B. Frank Coriell, Charles J. Fisk, Charles Foster, J. Stephen Higham, George W. V. Moy.

Republican.

Third Ward—Second District.

Congressional, (2)—J. Stephen Higham, Frank E. Kinsman, William A. Pinto, George J. Tobin.

County, (2)—John H. Butler, Gilbert B. Fletcher, Frederick D. Miggatt, Harry MacDonald, Colbyites.

City, (2)—Leslie M. Daniel, Chas. Foster, Regulars; Robert L. Lee, Andrew Muir, Colbyites.

Council, (1)—Joseph M. Shellabarger, William S. Tyler.

County Committee, (2)—Charles J. Fisk, William T. Kirk, Robert L. Lee, George W. V. Moy.

City Committee, (3)—B. Frank Coriell, Charles J. Fisk, Charles Foster, J. Stephen Higham, George W. V. Moy.

Republican.

Fourth Ward—First District.

Congressional, (3)—Angus Allen, James F. Billett, John Carty, Edgar McCoy, T. Logan Murphy, Alfred Prudhon.

County, (3)—Angus Allen, Elmer E. Cuting, Joseph A. Greene, Colbyites; Charles H. Dunham, Charles B. Lufburrow, Harry C. Runyon.

City, (3)—Angus Allen, Joseph W. Greene, Richard B. Norwood, Colbyites; George M. MacIntyre, Albert E. J. Matthews, Adolph Wolgang.

Council, (1)—James Penny, F. D. Randolph.

County Committee, (2)—Angus Allen, Herbert Buxton, Robert Dorman, Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith, N. Mansfield Smith.

City Committee, (3)—Herbert Buxton, William J. Deslaman, Jos. A. Greene, John T. Lounsbury, Jr., Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith.

Republican.

Fourth Ward—Second District.

Congressional ,(3)—Winfield S. Angleman, Carlos C. Gallop, James W. Mitchell, Charles L. D. Smith, Frank H. Pond, Arthur S. Venable.

County, (3)—Herbert Buxton, Rutherford B. H. Dalley, Otto Moor, Frederick R. Phillips, Fred B. Schomp, Herman A. Weber, Colbyites.

City, (3)—Daniel Brown, Arthur L. Case, George Leighs, Fred C. Lounsbury, Jr., Emmett E. Miller, N. Mansfield Smith, Colbyites.

Council, (1)—James Penny, F. D. Randolph.

County Committee, (2)—Angus Allen, Herbert Buxton, Robert Dorman, Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith, N. Mansfield Smith.

City Committee, (3) — Herbert Buxton, William J. Deslaman, Joseph W. Greene, John T. Lounsbury, Jr., Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith.

Republican.

Fourth Ward—Third District.

Congressional, (3)—Noble H. Briggs, Fred H. Firstbrook, Alexander Gordon, John J. Krinsky, William Newcorn, Fred T. Woodhull.

County, (3) Juan A. Babcock, Howard L. Cox, Harry B. Suydam, Colbyites, William N. Runyon, William F. Groves, Benj. J. Flenchaus; William Craig, Ernest Dorflinger, William G. Hatchcock.

City, (3)—J. Harry Cooke, James H. Craig, William J. Eakins, William A. Miller, R. Henry Depew, Floyd T. Woodhull, J. Fred MacDonald, William F. Gaston, Colbyites; Thomas McNeill, Elmer R. Mills.

Council, (1)—James Penny, Frank D. Randolph.

County Committee, (3)—Angus Allen, Herbert Buxton, Robert Dorman, Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith, N. Mansfield Smith.

City Committee, (3)— Herbert Buxton, William J. Deslaman, Joseph W. Greene, John T. Lounsbury, Jr., Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith.

Republican.

Fourth Ward—Third District.

Congressional, (3)—Noble H. Briggs, Fred H. Firstbrook, Alexander Gordon, John J. Krinsky, William Newcorn, Fred T. Woodhull.

County, (3) Juan A. Babcock, Howard L. Cox, Harry B. Suydam, Colbyites, William N. Runyon, William F. Groves, Benj. J. Flenchaus; William Craig, Ernest Dorflinger, William G. Hatchcock.

City, (3)—J. Harry Cooke, James H. Craig, William J. Eakins, William A. Miller, R. Henry Depew, Floyd T. Woodhull, J. Fred MacDonald, William F. Gaston, Colbyites; Thomas McNeill, Elmer R. Mills.

Council, (1)—James Penny, Frank D. Randolph.

County Committee, (3)—Angus Allen, Herbert Buxton, Robert Dorman, Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith, W. Mansfield Smith.

City Committee, (3)—Herbert Buxton, William J. Deslaman, Joseph A. Greene, Fred C. Lounsbury, Jr., Andrew McCardell, Frank H. Smith.

The Democratic leaders completed their tickets for the primaries Saturday night at a conference in the law offices of W. L. Hetfield, Sr., on Park avenue. About a dozen of the men prominent in the party in the four wards attended the meeting. It was harmonious in the extreme.

The councilmanic nominations are as follows: First ward, John P. Owens; Second ward, Peter H. La Tourette; Third ward, William H. Harding; Fourth ward, Albert M. Lederer.

"The nominations for delegates to the different conventions were as follows:

First ward—Congressional convention: J. P. Owens, George A. Ayers, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.; county convention, J. P. Owens, Jeremiah Callahan, W. L. Hetfield, Sr.; city convention, Thomas Walsh, Edward Lynch, W. L. Hetfield, Sr.

Second ward—Congressional convention, Joseph Harrigan, Frank McCabe, John Corrugs; county convention, Joseph Harrigan, Frank McCabe, Edward McDonough; city convention, Joseph Harrigan, Frank McCabe, Edward Delahanty.

Third ward—Congressional convention, Joseph F. Shepperd, F. J. Shattle; county convention, Joseph F. Shepperd, Michael J. O'Keeffe; city convention, Joseph F. Shepperd, William H. Harding.

Fourth ward—Congressional convention, Stephen H. Schlief, Mayer Leichentritt, P. J. Reville, D. J. Galbraith; county convention, J. J. Leichentritt, John F. Cleary, P. J. Reville, J. J. McCue; city convention, John F. Casey, S. H. Schlief, Clarence H. Waldron, D. J. Galbraith.

Joins U. S. Navy.

William Chase, formerly employed as a machinist at the Pond Machine Tool Works, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and expects to be assigned to the Battleship Connecticut.

CLINTON AVENUES WIN THE CHAMPIONSHIP

WALLOP THE BALL HARD AND WALK- OVER ALL-AMERICANS.

Without exerting themselves very much, the Clinton Avenue nine scooped in the undisputed amateur championship of the city and took ample revenge for the defeat of the week before, Saturday afternoon at Crescent Oval. They crumpled up the All-Americans in the deciding game of the series by the score of 11 to 1.

From the first inning, there was nothing to the game but Clinton Avenue. They were the demon batsmen at all stages of the going, and had slugging ability on tap sufficient to break up several ordinary games. They knocked John Garner, who had them hypnotized at critical stages the Saturday before, out of the box in the third inning, and they chased Joe Garner to cover not long after. Brown remained on the slab for the rest of the game, but it was only because the All-Americans had no more pitchers handy for the rescue act.

Whitley pitched a steady game against the colored boys, and allowed but four hits. Of the Clinton Avenue swathers, Giles, Adam Scott, Barnes, Emery and Whitley poled out two swats apiece.

Line-up and score by innings:

Clinton Avenue—O'Loughlin, c; Giles, 2b; Barclay, cf; R. Scott, ss; A. Scott, lf; Barnes, 1b; Emery, 2b; Whitley, p; J. Scott, rf. All-Americans—Kirch, ss; Brown, 3b-p; Coleman, rf; Carter, cf; Joe Garner, 2b-1b; Hammond, 1b; John Garner, 2b-p-3b; McClane, c; Phillips, lf.

	R.	H.	E.
C. A.	3	1	2
A. A.	1	1	2

0 0 0 2 0 0 0 x—3
0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1

GIRLS DIDN'T PLAY AT CRESCENT OVAL.

"Chicago Lady" Champs Found Clinton Avenue Sub-Lease of Grounds in the Way.

Manager Nicholas was unable to present his freak baseball exhibition, with the Chicago Lady Champions in the leading part, at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. Manager John Krinsey, of the Clinton Avenue nine, which sub-let the oval from the Plainfield Baseball Association several weeks ago for the rest of the season, held fast to the grounds for the scheduled game between his combination and the All-Americans.

Nicholas brought the girls to the ground in a bus, but he made no attempt to order the game on. When it became quite certain that the Clinton Avenues would play, he made a speech, in which he termed his combination "the champions of the world." But the mix-up is said to have arisen over Mayor Smalley's forgetfulness. He is said to have told Nicholas he could have the grounds.

As the last word from the 'bus steps, Manager Nicholas promised the patrons of sport in Plainfield a rare treat in five or six weeks in the shape of a carnival of wrestling at Saengerbund Hall.

EPWORTHIANS TO HOLD DISTRICT CONVENTION.

Delegates from Many Towns and Cities Will Gather at Elizabeth On October 4.

The Elizabeth District Epworth League of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, comprising about fifty-seven societies, with a membership of approximately 4,500 young people and 2,000 junior members, will hold its annual convention at Elizabeth on Thursday, October 4.

The morning and afternoon sessions will be held in the Park M. E. church and the evening session in St. James M. E. church. A strong pragramme, which will be announced later, is being arranged, and it is expected that the convention will be one of great profit and interest to the young people who will assemble from all parts of the district, and prove a fitting conclusion to what has been a prosperous year in the district.

The local committee from the four Methodist churches in the city has the matter of entertainment in hand, and is arranging to care for one of the largest gatherings in the history of the district.

The officers of the Elizabeth District Epworth League are: President, A. V. Tomlinson, Elizabeth; vice-president, Frank L. Van Pelt, Port Richmond, S. I.; corresponding secretary, W. H. A. Austin, Elizabeth; recording secretary, Bryant Randolph, Cranford; treasurer, Arthur H. Stiles Plainfield, superintendent Junior Epworth League, Mrs. E. L. Lillibridge, Roselle Park.

Department of Cooking at P. H. S.

The new department in the Plainfield High School, that of cooking, has been opened. It is the purpose to give the girls a thorough course of instruction in the culinary art and they will receive credit for the work as an elective subject. Credit for manual training is also given on the basis of an elective subject.

First Ward Meeting.

The First Ward Colbyites will hold an open-air meeting Friday night at Richmond and Third streets. Councilman William S. Tyler, R. Henry Depew, I. B. Hill, candidate for the councilmanic nomination, and Judge Runyon will speak.

DRYDEN'S TURN AGAIN

Challenges Colby to Produce Proofs That Debate Report Was Garbled.

SAYS CHARGE IS UNTRUE

Willing to Leave the Issue to Be Decided By the Votes of the Electors.

Another letter was made public Monday in the acrimonious discussion between United States Senator John F. Dryden, of New Jersey, and State Senator Everett Colby, leader of the "New Idea" wing of the Republican party in this State, which started in a public demand made by Mr. Colby on Mr. Dryden to repudiate a falsified report of the stenographer's notes of the recent Hillery-Colby debate which was circulated through the State.

In Mr. Colby's last letter he declined Mr. Dryden's request that he apologize for the inferential charge that Mr. Dryden was responsible for the circulation of the garbled report.

Mr. Dryden's letter was made public in Newark. At the beginning, addressed to Mr. Colby, he says: "Your letter of Sept. 14 is more remarkable for what it omits than for what it contains. In your previous communication you inferentially charged me with falsifying the stenographer's report of the Hillery-Colby debate and with having corrected a falsified report to be distributed through the State. This I denied and asked you for proof. I stated in my reply to you that I did not believe any such falsified copy of the stenographer's report existed and asked you to produce one copy. This you have completely failed to do, and I now repeat my belief that you cannot produce a copy, because none exists and none has existed."

Referring to Mr. Colby's apology for "breach of etiquette" in first giving his previous letter to the press, Mr. Dryden replied:

"I did not complain of your etiquette. That is nothing to me, though it is something to you. What I did complain of was that by publication of your letter I was for three days held up to scorn the public as being inferentially charged by you with having done a dishonorable act. The etiquette was a mere shadow. The other was a substance."

Mr. Dryden then quotes from the last letter of the Essex Senator in which the latter wrote: "Nothing in my letters, however, requires an apology, and I do not retract any statements I therein made, but, on the contrary, reaffirm them."

Of this Mr. Dryden wrote in part:

"This is the position deliberately taken by you after an opportunity for mature reflection, when you have not brought forward one scintilla of evidence in support of your charge, although earnestly asked to do so. If you are willing to stand in that position, let it be so.

"Before than a year ago you suddenly turned upon your former close political associates and, going out into the by-ways and the highways, you have ever since lost no opportunity of attacking their political acts, questioning their motives, impugning their honesty and holding them up to reprobation. Many of the very things which you denounce them for having favored your yourself advocated and supported.

"Last winter you led an assault upon the financial interests of this State and kept in the thick of the fight until the storm of indignation which arose from every part of New Jersey burst upon your head at Trenton. It is the belief of many able and wise financiers that if you could have had your way, it would have brought on a panic among our people far-reaching and severe.

"You state that a conversation was overheard among my friends at the *Hillery-Colby debate 'proving a de*liberate and prearranged plan to embarrass me (you) in my (your) argument.' Please tell me who among my friends attempted to embarrass you in your argument, who among them once interrupted you. Name one of them if you can. If I am correctly informed, the only person who interrupted the debaters was a friend of yours from Jersey City.

"And now you come in your letter to the only thing which can be considered, even as a faint attempt to sustain the charge previously made of sending out falsified copies of the stenographer's report. You say:

"'A Plausible, unfair and false story of the debate was anonymously sent to certain newspapers, a copy of which was received by Mr. Samuel L. Garrison, of the Boston Weekly Bulletin. This copy I indorse.'

"I received the copy referred to and have read it with care. In the first place, I say that I neither prepared nor sent out these reports, nor do I know who did so. In the second place, I aver that there is not the slightest evidence in them that any attempt was made by their author to put them out as a copy of the stenographer's report, garbled or otherwise.

"And now I come to what is perhaps the most amazing part of your whole letter, and not to misrepresent you I quote in full:

"'By Mr. Knight's own statement "incomplete" copies had been given out, and as you do not deny knowledge that such a report was taken, I request that you make inquiry and find out whether your friends are responsible for the distribution of these incorrect and incomplete minutes of the debate, for I am much interested in knowing whether your adherents, those who are advocating your re-election to the United States Senate, are engaged in a campaign of misrepresentation.'

"Having plainly accused me by inference of doing something which I indignantly denied and in support of which I asked you to produce your proof, and having completely failed to do so—not having been able even to make a respectable attempt at doing so—you now coolly ask me to hunt for the proof to sustain the charge which you have made against me. In other words, the accuser turns to the accused and implores him to furnish evidence to sustain the accusation. I shall decline to do so, and I again repeat that I do not believe there is any evidence in support of your statement, or ever has been.

"This is the status of the matter. You are not willing to apologize for having done me the previous wrong. Very well, let it stand thus. If you are satisfied with the situation, I may well contemplate it with equanimity.

"*With this I take leave of the mat*ter. The public will decide between us."

COP SPRINTERS MEET IN CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH

PATROLMAN BAYNE DEFEATS PATROLMAN DOBSON IN 100-YARD DASH.

Before a small gathering of interested spectators, the sprinting championship of the police department was established yesterday afternoon, at Crescent Oval. Patrolman Payne, swiftest of the heavily-built men on the force, and Patrolman Dobson, the acknowledged Mercury of the cops of avelt build, ran the race that decided the question of the championship. The distance was 100 yards, Payne receiving fifteen yards handicap. He won handily.

The sprint was not run on a joke. Ever since the cops' class at the gymnasium was started the men have taken great interest in all forms of field athletics, and running has been one of the most discussed and favored. Cops naturally have an interest in sprinting feats, and Chief Kiely has encouraged them to work up a speed that will make the fleetest of crooks or small boys seem like sign posts when a pursuing cop gets into action.

When Dobson and Payne agreed to meet, a stiffish purse was made up to lend further interest to the affair. Both men trained for the event and were in fine fettle when it came off.

The start was made at about 4:15 o'clock. Patrolman McGinley was the starter; Patrolman Saffron, judge. Patrolman McDonald and Patrolman Stillwell were timers, but they grew excited as the race started and forgot to look at their watches.

Payne ran in his bare feet; Dobson was shod with regulation running shoes. Payne started with a rush, and Dobson never had a chance to overhaul him. He gave up at the 75-yard mark. He gained on Payne, and could probably beat him from scratch. Payne doesn't think so, however, and another meeting between the two is likely.

Y. M. C. A. DEPARTMENT READY FOR NEW SEASON

BOYS' WORK AND PHYSICAL WORK COMMITTEES PLAN THEIR WORK.

The work of the new season was outlined by the physical work and boys' work committees of the Y. M. C. A. Monday, at their first meetings of the fall.

The physical work committee adopted the following schedule for the classes: Young men, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights; boys, Tuesday, Thursday afternoons, Saturday morning; Lean's, Monday, Wednesday, Friday afternoons; business men, Monday, Wednesday, Friday afternoons; police, Monday, Wednesday, Friday afternoons.

The basketball team will play games at home every Monday evening. The five will practice Friday nights. A local basketball league will be formed, to play Saturday nights.

Mr. Barrows, the secretary, attended the boys' committee meeting. It was decided to open the boys' department formally, on September 27, with a reception. The intermediate department is to be known as the High School department hereafter, and a reception to the boys of that department will be held some time in October. The boys' club will open on October 1. New material has been ordered for the manual training classes.

The committee decided to meet regularly on the first Monday every month.

Mrs. Josiah Browne and family, of Watchung avenue, have returned from their summer vacation in the mountains.

DEPEW STATES ISSUES

Bossism and Corporate Control of Party the Evils to Be Eliminated.

THE LOCAL SITUATION

Insinuates That Water Company Has Influence With Alleged Bosses

—Discusses Casino Meeting.

R. Henry Depew, who has been endorsed by the Plainfield branch of the Union County Republican League for Equal Taxation, today issued the following address to the voters:

"It has been said that the 'Colbyites' cannot hope to win in the coming municipal fight unless they have some issue and we now beg to present them to you as follows:

"First. To promote the best interests of the Republican party in the County of Union.

"Second. To eliminate bossism and corporate control of the Republican party.

"Third. To further the cause of equal taxation, limited franchises, taxation of franchises, popular selection of United States Senators, popular interest in primary elections and such other progressive measures as may be necessary in the interests of the people.

"Fourth. To promote honest elections and prevent political corruption in every form.

"These objects are the fundamental ones for which we are contending as the abuses which we seek to correct are the cause of most of the evils in the body politic. The question has been asked 'what bearing has all this on Plainfield, as we have good government already?' Several have said 'I am a 'Colbyite' in the County and State but not in the City, as we are all right here now.'

"I will endeavor to show you what bearing these reforms have upon Plainfield and why we need the movement here as well as in the rest of the county.

"*Where are the bosses and ma*chines located? Are they out in the country among the retired farmhouses? No. They are right here in the cities where the voters are concentrated, and here is where the work must be done to drive them out of power—that power which they obtain solely because of their ability to control and deliver votes. Take away that control and their power is gone.

"In the activity of the local machine confined to Plainfield only? No. It is part of a system whose intricate and widespread ramifications begin in the wards and districts and end in the National Capitol. For instance, Elizabeth with 63 delegates to the county convention and Plainfield with 27, or a total of 90 out of 141, can absolutely control the nominations of county officers, who, in turn, if elected, will help to elect the United States Senators, under that system of election which was devised before the days of the boss and ward heelers and which was supposed to be the safest and best way, upon the theory that the best and brightest men in the States would be sent to the Legislatures.

"Does this show you the connection between the county and city? Does this show you why, if you wish to send clean and able men to represent you at Trenton and Washington, you must begin right here in the wards of Plainfield—here where the bosses and machine get their power —and fight them until they shall both be eliminated and we have in their stead a magnificent organization of Republican voters, who, under able and honest leaders will be working for individual liberty and to give every man, woman and child his or her rights.

"Now for an instance which will illustrate the effect of boss rule in Plainfield:

"United States Senator John Kean, of Elizabeth, is credited with being largely interested in the ownership and control of the Plainfield Water Supply Company. For some time past one of the independent members of the Common Council has been endeavoring to have brought before the people, for an expression of opinion, the question whether they favor a thorough investigation of the subject with the end in view of the city acquiring its own supply and system. Prompt action upon this subject has been and is most important, as the longer it is delayed the more difficult it becomes, owing to the increasing value of the franchise. Despite this fact it seems to have been impossible to get it out of the hands of the committee, the chairman of which is a good and true member of this machine. The term of office of the member who has been working for it, and of one other member who is in favor of submitting the question, will expire this year, as will the terms of two other members who are affiliated with the machine.

"At the meeting at the Casino on Monday evening, September 10—the meeting which was called by the chairman of the city committee 'to discuss the question of proper officials for the good government of Plainfield'—the chairman stated that the Republican party stands for the election of men, who, among other qualifications were 'independent' and 'for nomination by the people of men who act at all times for the people without the influence of any political boss whatever.' Also he said 'they (the officials) must be absolutely independent, have the courage of their convictions, and act without outside influence.' Now, in carrying out these ideas what have the machine done? Have they endorsed the two independent members whom we endorsed, and put up two more independents in place of the others? No. They have put up candidates in place of the independents (one of them being State Road Superintendent, who, of necessity, is not against the machine), and they have re-endorsed the two machine members.

"What does this mean? Does it mean that a member who works against the interests of the water company cannot be renominated under the present rule?

"Does it mean that the suggestions and promises, as outlined above, of the much heralded advisory committee of 12 in the primary campaign of the chairman of the city committee are already being ignored and set at nought by the bosses? Does it mean that the chairman has already lost his control and that the bosses, having finished with the advisory committee, intend to go on in the same old way, or what does it mean? These are the questions which you must answer at the primary on September 25 with your votes. The chairman of that meeting said 'with all this talk about bossism, some true, some not, possibly some abuses have crept in as there always will. But these can be corrected. It is up to you to correct them. You can do it by taking a little of your time and effort.'

"He was right—you can correct them, but we ask you whether you will attempt to do so by voting for the men who are endorsed by the machine—a machine which has not lived up to the expressed ideals of its new leaders for a week—or whether you will endorse them in the only possible by voting for men who are absolutely independent of any affiliations which will prevent them from working for the best interests of the city and people of Plainfield on the water question, which we propose to do, and on every other question which may come up, and whose every effort will be directed toward giving to Plainfield the very best administration possible?

"We ask you to consider this without subject carefully and on September 25 (Independence Day) cast your vote in favor of the candidates who are working for your rights without the intervention of, or by the grace of, the bosses and machine.

"Yours truly,

"R. HENRY DEPEW."

I. O. O. F. AT LAST PAYS BOLAM'S WIDOW

SUPREME COURT IN TORONTO MAILS HER INSURANCE MONEY.

William R. Bos, recording secretary of Court Palisade No. 772, I. O. O. F., of Jersey City, writes a few days with joy over to Mrs. Bolam, widow of Joseph Bolam, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital on May 15 last, the $500 insurance on his life. Mr. Bos said the check has been mailed to him from the office of the order's Supreme Court in Toronto.

Owing to Mrs. Bolam's neglect in notifying the officials of the order her husband's death no member of that court was present at the funeral to identify the body, as required by the rules of the order, and Palisade Court had had some difficulty in obtaining the requisite proof, but it finally accepted the testimony of the undertaker, officiating clergyman and attending physician at the hospital.

The story about the policy was first sent out from Plainfield last July, and represented the Supreme Court of the order as deciding that, in the case of a beneficiary certificate which it was declared Palisade Court had refused to accept, the widow must produce a photograph of the deceased, identified by members of Palisade Court, an affidavit from the physician in charge at his last illness that he was dead, an affidavit from the clergyman at the funeral that the man buried was Bolam, a similar certificate from the undertaker and a certificate from the six pall bearers.

The original version of the story was sent to Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha, supreme chief ranger of the order at Toronto. His reply to it on August 2 last set forth that in the June, 1906, report, Bolam's assessment was deducted by reason of the statement contained in the report that he was dead, but up to August 2, no other notice of his death or proof of it had been received, and there had been no correspondence with respect to Bolam by any of the officers of the Supreme Court with any person or persons.

"What a subordinate court may have done or is doing," Dr. Oronhyatekha wrote, "we do not know and the subordinate court is not the Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court is in no way responsible for what the subordinate court may do or may have done. We do not understand the cause of the delay in not furnishing proof of the death of the late brother. If his beneficiary is being improperly dealt with, it is within her province to bring the matter to our attention, but as yet this has not been done."

A. A. Holly, of Belvidere avenue, has returned from his summer outing.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVIII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1906 NO. 43.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

SOMERSET COURT BUSY

Grand Jury Sworn and Charge is Delivered By Justice A. G. Garretson.

NEW LIQUOR LICENSES

Rule Granted for Third Trial of Jacob Flomerfelt—Lanehart Will Case Up.

The September term of the Somerset county courts, which opened yesterday at Somerville, was held in the chapel of the First Reformed church, the old court house being ready to be torn down. Justice Abram Q. Garretson presided. Judge Schenck sat beside him.

The following Grand Jury was sworn: C. Ledyard Blair, William D. VanDerbeck, Alfred B. Bibb, Frank A. Ballentine, Samuel B. Opie, William V. D. Jelliffe, John F. Schmadeke, Frank S. Vanderveer, Abram A. Amerman, Selah Schoonmaker, Harry A. Smith, Woolsey H. Alpaugh, William M. Staats, John E. Anderson, William H. Schultz, Clayton R. Mahon, Harrison Codington, William H. Coombs, Elston M. French, John E. Flammer, Frederick Kirch, Henry Lockwood, Charles N. Hoagland, Henry J. Garretson.

The following licenses for hotels were granted: Frank J. Kalt, Bernardsville; Oscar Vleit, Eladstone; Thomas Howard, Peapack; John Maurer, Somerville; John Burns, Raritan; John Cognassola, Raritan; Fafael Plaza, Bound Brook; John Faszkas, Bound Brook; Jonathan H. Taylor, Martinsville; A. R. Holcombe, Raritan; Alfred S. Denise, North Plainfield; D. B. Hoffman, Kingston; Robert B. Beatty, North Branch; Frank Kolt, Mt. Bethel; saloon—William M. Honan, Raritan; wholesale—Jacob Miller, Somerville.

Prosecutor Reger asked for a rule to have a new struck jury drawn for the third trial of Jacob Flomerfelt, charged with manslaughter in the killing of his brother-in-law, Constable Frank D. Cramer, at North Branch Depot. In the first two trials the jury disagreed. Counsel Clark for the defense waived notice and the rule was granted.

In reference to the alleged forged will of the late William Lanehart he charged that the action of the Orphans' Court in throwing out the will drawn by Wm. H. Skillman should not be considered, but the evidence submitted before the jury should be carefully considered.

Pastor Married Five Years.

While the political world was strenuously active, yesterday, Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howard were quietly observing the fifth anniversary of their marriage. They marked the day by a picnic in the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Howard were married just before Mr. Howard came here to succeed Rev. G. K. Newell as pastor of Hope chapel.

Miss Edith Cairns, of West Fifth street, has returned from her summer vacation.

VOTE ON THE COUNTY CONVENTION DELEGATES

The vote for county convention delegates was cast as follows, the asterisk before a name indicates election:

First Ward—First district—Allen, C., 121; Anderson, C., 120; Braider, C., 123; Tugwell, C., 122; *Codington, R., 216; *Crane, R., 213; *Dunn, R., 211; *Mulford, R., 212. Second district—Jones, C., 75; Larue, C., 4; *Hand, R., 108; *Hansen, R., 105.

Second Ward—First District—*Goss, C., 288; *Lovell, C., 288; *McIntyre, C., 287; *Morse, C., 291; Becker, R., 125; Hannon, R., 128; Pope, R., 127; Randolph, R., 127. Second district—*McCready, C., 114; *Willis, C., 114; Crook, R., 89; Meeker, R., 92.

Third Ward—First District—*Baker, C., 178; *Kirkner, C., 183; *Rogers, C., 179; *Wherry, C., 177; Coriell, R., 165; Dumont, R., 166; Gilbert, R., 168; Waring, R., 171. Second district—Butler, R., 176; McDonald, R., 81; *Fletcher, C., 120; *Mygatt, C., 124.

Fourth Ward—First District—Allen, C., 101; *Dunham, R., 172; *Lufburrow, R., 174; *Runyon, R., 173; Cutting, C., 103; Greene, C., 100. Second district—Phillips, C., 141; Schomp, C., 141; Weber, C., 141; *Buxton, R., 149; *Dalley, R., 149; *Moor, R., 148. Third district—*Babcock, C., 182; *Cox, C., 185; *Suydam, C., 184; Craig, R., 166; Derflinger, R., 163; Hutchcroft, R., 167.

Thieves In Dunellen.

Petty thieves broke into three Dunellen houses last night and stole small sums of money, a pair of shoes and some things to eat. They worked in the home of Alvah Dray and in Mrs. Sarah C. Fisner's boarding house, opposite, and in John Fenner's home. The thefts occurred after midnight.

Miss Emma Liewald, of Cushing road, is spending several days with friends in Union Hill.

COMMON COUNCILMEN.	Tolles, R.	Hill, C.	Meeker, R.	Hibbard, C.	Shellabarger, R.	Tyler, C.	Randolph, R.	Penny, C.
First Ward—First District	218	113
First Ward—Second District	106	75
Second Ward—First District			125	293
Second Ward—Second District			89	114
Third Ward—First District					146	199
Third Ward—Second District					69	122
Fourth Ward—First District							173	100
Fourth Wad—Second District							159	130
Fourth Ward—Third District							173	188
Majority	136			193		116	87

COUNTY COMMITTEE.	Andrews, R.	Buckle, R.	La Rue, C.	Russell, C.	Montgomery, R.	Townsend, R.	Hall, C.	Murphy, C.	Fisk, R.	Kirk, R.	Lee, C.	Taylor, C.	Buxton, R.	Dorman, R.	McCardell, R.	Smith, F. H., R.	Allen, C.	Smith, C.
1st Ward—1st Dist.	216	216	110	136
1st Ward—2d Dist.	107	107	76	77
2d Ward—1st Dist.					135	129	188	278
2d Ward—2d Dist.					83	98	115	107
3d Ward—1st Dist.									187	166	159	173
3d Ward—2d Dist.									91	81	113	114
4th Ward—1st Dist.													176	97	174	175	99	101
4th Ward—2d Dist.													152	131	150	149	134	136
4th Ward—3d Dist.													170	183	171	172	184	184
Totals	323	323	186	193	218	227	403	385	278	147	272	287	498	411	497	496	417	421

For Members of the City Committee.	A. W. Anderson, R.	Amos Anderson, R.	J. E. Buckle, R.	O. L. Jenkins, R.	C. R. Larkin, C.	S. H. Tugwell, C.	J. Harvey Doane, R.	F. W. Hanaford, C.	E. R. Ironmonger, C.	J. E. Keely, R.	W. N. Townsend, R.	H. C. Tracy, C.	B. F. Coriell, R.	C. J. Fisk, R.	Charles Foster, R.	J. R. Higham, C.	G. W. V. Moy, C.	H. Burton, R.	W. J. Dunleavy, C.	Jos. A. Greene, C.	F. C. Lounsbury, C.	A. McCardell, R.	F. H. Smith, R.
1st Ward—1st Dist.	113	214	214	223	113	116
1st Ward—2d Dist.	76	107	106	106	76	76
2d Ward—1st Dist.							141	287	288	139	127	289
2d Ward—2d Dist.							86	106	109	81	82	112
3d Ward—1st Dist.													181	209	176	174	175
3d Ward—2d Dist.													86	179	82	113	116
4th Ward—1st Dist.																		174	99	101	99	176	175
4th Ward—2d Dist.																		148	127	135	141	146	145
4th Ward—3d Dist.																		164	184	184	186	166	171
Totals	189	321	320	329	189	192	227	393	397	220	209	401	267	388	258	287	291	486	410	420	426	488	491

UTTER FAILURE IN UNION

Colbyites Make a Poor Showing Outside of This City.

ONLY 26 DELEGATES

Get Six In Elizabeth, Two in Summit, Two In Rahway and One In New Providence—There Are 140 in County.

Outside of Plainfield, the Colbyites made a poor showing in the county.

In Elizabeth they elected six delegates to the county convention, two of the Twelfth ward, two in Summit and one in New Providence. With the fifteen delegates elected here they have a total of twenty-six votes in the convention. The delegates in Elizabeth come from the Second district of the Tenth ward, and the third district of the Twelfth ward, three from each.

Two Colbyite candidates for the councilmanic nominee and a candidate for the Board of Education nomination were elected over regulars, in some of the wards won by the regulars the Colbyites made a strong showing. In the Second district of the Ninth ward, for instance, the regulars won by only eleven votes.

The result is not what the county Colbyite leaders hoped for. They looked for a sweep in Summit and a showing in Cranford and Roselle.

Charged With Burglary.

James Harvey, Nat Harvey and Azel Cuff, all colored, were arrested this morning on a charge of burglary preferred by Richards & Harvey, colored tailors, who accuse them of stealing $50 worth of clothes from their place on Central avenue. Justice Mosher remanded them until tomorrow after they had pleaded not guilty.

—Another big peach special at Neuman Brothers' tomorrow. 150 baskets of choice white fruit will be sold at ridiculously low prices.

JAMES BOY CONFESSES TO ROBBING BABY CAMP

WILL PROBABLY GO BEFORE SOMERSET GRAND JURY TODAY.

William James, a thirteen-year-old borough boy, was arrested at Somerville by Chief Marshal Weiss, yesterday, charged with being the vandal who broke into the King's Daughters baby camp in Johnson's drive and caused damage to the extent of $200. He was brought at once to North Plainfield and last night was arraigned before Justice Mundy on a technical complaint of stealing a revolver and tools from the place preferred by Mrs. Emily Faber. He admitted his guilt and was held for the grand jury. Chief Weiss took him to Somerville today and will make an effort to have him brought before that body at once, the September term of court now being on.

Young James was suspected soon after the damage was discovered and he further directed attention to himself by departing for Somerville to "visit" an aunt. Chief Weiss went to the county seat yesterday morning and soon located the boy in company with others playing in a field. He noticed the officer coming and attempted to get away but was quickly overhauled.

James figured in a sensational police case several years ago when he shot Millie James, a playmate, with a flobert rifle, inflicting a wound from which she died. He was arrested but nothing was done to him because of his age. Following the vandalism at the baby camp it is alleged that he stole $2 from a borough iceman and in this way secured the money to get to Somerville. He is considered incorrigible otherwise the King's Daughters would not press any charge against him.

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP PRIMARIES QUIET

ONLY 49 BALLOTS FOR REPUBLICANS AND 12 FOR DEMOCRATS.

The primary election passed off very quietly in Fanwood township, only sixty-one ballots being cast. Forty-nine were for the Republican ticket and twelve for the Democratic. The voters of both parties seemed to be satisfied with the tickets named at the caucus as but little cutting was done on either side.

The Republicans had no candidate for collector and as John Z. Hetfield, the Democratic nominee, received four votes, he was endorsed by the Republicans. This insures his election as his name will appear on both tickets. The Democratic nomination for town committee fell to Richard Lee, who received four votes. Following are the two tickets named to be voted on at the November election:

Republican—For delegates to the Congressional convention, Fifth district, Lewis W. Miller and Edward L. Hand; delegates to the county convention, Lewis W. Miller and Edward L. Hand; for member of the county committee, George S. Johnston; for township committee, three years, Ira G. Walker; for assessor, three years, George H. Johnston; for collector, three years, John Z. Hetfield; for constable, three years, William Spicer; for surveyors of highway, one year, Andrew Schaffer and William Hull; for poundkeepers, one year, S. F. Sabocher and John Mair; appropriations, police, $100; fire department, $200; repair of roads, $2,250; repair of sidewalks, $200; support of poor, $400.

Democratic — For delegates to county convention, Frederick Clark; for delegate to freeholders' convention, Charles H. French; for member of county committee, Theodore Bruchmann; for township committee, three years, Richard Penisten; for assessor, three years, Charles H. French; for collector, three years, John Z. Hatfield; for constable, three years, Horace G. Pasgbourn; for surveyors of highways, one year, Samuel F. Lee and George W. Scudder; for poundkeepers, one year, Albert Ryno and William H. Lee; appropriations, police, $250; fire department, $100; roads, $2,250; sidewalks, $200; support of poor, $400.

North Plainfield Township.

At the primary election in North Plainfield township the Democrats endorsed the following ticket: For delegate to the Congressional convention, Francis E. Bodin; for freeholder, three years, William Demler; for tax collector, three years, Francis E. Bodin; for committeeman, Albert Brokaw. There was a big turnout of voters and the contest for freeholder was a decided victory for Demler.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.

REGULARS SWEEP STATE

Colbyites Lose All But One of Ten Counties They Tried to Carry.

GET ONLY BERGEN

Essex, Hudson and Union, Where the Greatest Effort Was Made, Remain Loyal to the Organization.

Returns from the primary elections held throughout New Jersey yesterday indicate the defeat of the "new ideas" movement in all but one of the ten counties in which the movement was introduced. The surviving county is Bergen.

The re-election of United States Senator Dryden seems assured.

Followers of Mayor Mark M. Fagan and Corporation Counsel George L. Record, leaders of the "new ideas" cult in Hudson county, were defeated in Jersey City and the rest of Hudson county by the regular Republican machine, led by Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson.

George L. Record, candidate for United States Senator, was defeated as a delegate to the county convention in the Second election district of the Eighth ward, Jersey City, in which he lives. The Dickinson ticket gains three delegates to the Hudson County Convention by the victory in that district. The Twelfth district of the Eighth ward adjacent to the Second was carried by the Dickinson's by fifteen votes, gaining them two delegates, and they won three delegates to the county convention in the Third district of the Eighth, but lost the three delegates to the Congressional convenion.

Mr. Record, early this morning, said: "We have made the best fight that we were able to and at this hour, 2 o'clock a. m., it would seem that we have been defeated all along the line, except in Bergen county. The result in Jersey City is so close that it will probably result in the holding of two conventions. As soon as we get an opportunity to study the details of the fight we will try and ascertain the cause of our failure. This battle appears to be lost, but is not decisive. The real fight comes next year in the selection of a Governor. The thing to do now is to commence at once to organize for that fight, and to endeavor to profit by our mistakes."

Essex county is solid for the regular organization.

In Bayonne the Dickinson followers carried everything. In the Second ward, the only one in which the Colbyites were represented, their slate being headed by Max L. Solinsky, the "regulars" also swept the board. The poll was light.

Morris county and Middlesex county too are soliodlly against the Colbyites. In Camden county ——

Burlington county's "new idea" adherents, led by General E. Burd Grubb, were defeated in their battle against the Republican machine.

The "new idea's" candidates for State Senator was George C. Wilden, of New Egypt, a former Assemblyman and well-to-do farmer, and the "new idea" candidates for Assembly were Dr. E. S. Adams, former Mayor of Beverly, and Frank A. Tiohenor.

The "regular" candidates were the Speaker of the House, Samuel K. Robbins, for State Senator, and for Assemblyman John S. Irick, a present Assemblyman, and Griffith W. Lewis. Auditor William W. Worrell will be renominated.

There will be a hot fight among the delegates in convention Saturday to nominate a surrogate, there being several candidates. The Colbyites will get nothing.

"The Galloper" Tonight.

"The Galloper," a new play by Richard Harding Davis, with Raymond Hitchcock as the star, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight. "The Galloper" is a farcical story of the Grasco-Turkish war in which Mr. Hitchcock scored one of the New York hits last winter when the play enjoyed a long season at the Garden theatre. Mr. Hitchcock's drolleries have delighted thousands who have seen him in "The Yankee Consul" and "King Dodo," and Henry W. Savage, under whose management the production is made has engaged a company of unusual strength for the Davis play.

Enright Surrenders Himself.

"Johnnie" Enright, of Raritan, the star shortstop of the West End baseball team, of Somerville, arrived home yesterday from his vacation spent in Atlantic City and New York and at once came here and gave himself up to the authorities to answer to a charge of atrocious assault on James Donnelly, a Public Service Corporation motorman, about three weeks ago. Detective Totten arrested Enright and Justice Sutphen held him in $200 bail for the action of the Grand Jury now in session.

—Advertise in The Daily Press.

CHAS. J. FISK WINS MAYORALTY CONTEST; W. N. RUNYON GETS ASSEMBLY DELEGATES

Charles J. Fisk.
Photo by Pirie MacDonald.
Our Next Mayor.

Victories For Both Organization and Colbyites at Hotly Contested Primaries.

RETURN 4 COUNCILMEN

Runyon Gets 15 of 27 Delegates to County Convention; Fisk 16 of 27 to City Convention—Many Big Surprises.

Although it had been predicted that the Colbyites would carry the Second and Third wards, the big vote rolled up by them in every single district of the city was as complete a surprise to the "new idea" enthusiast as it was to the veteran organization politician.

Here is the tale in brief:

The Colbyites won the county convention delegation. They have fifteen of the twenty-seven delegates. The regulars won the city convention delegation. They have sixteen of the twenty-seven delegates.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk's name will be presented at the city convention Saturday night for mayor and he will be nominated.

Councilmen Hibbard and Tyler, Colbyites, were renominated in the Second and Third wards respectively. Councilmen Tolles and Frank Randolph, in the First and Fourth wards, also won out.

Judge Runyon's name will be presented by the Plainfield delegation at the county convention for an Assembly nomination, he being one of the three candidates of the Colbyites for that office. He will not be nominated.

As the city convention will be regular S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Diane will be named as freeholders.

City Clerk James T. McMurray won the day in the First ward where he lives. W. L. Hetfield, Jr., did good work in the Second district of that ward.

In the Second ward, where W. N. Runyon lives, the Colbyites made a clean sweep. State Supervisor of Roads R. A. Meeker, the regular candidate for the Common Council, was badly defeated. Hibbard was instrumental in piling up the big vote against the organization there.

Councilman Tyler made a splendid showing in the Third ward where he was renominated, easily defeating Joseph Shellabarger, the regular. C. J. Fisk carried his own district. Runyon also won for himself in that district.

In the Fourth ward the claim of the Colbyites that the machinists were solidly for their ticket appeared to be correct for the contest was uncomfortably close for both sides. Councilman Randolph won by less than 90 votes over Mr. Penny.

Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell lost his own district, the third, which seemed to stagger the organization men. The result there gave the Colbyites control of the county delegation.

City Judge Runyon, the local Colbyite assembly candidate, won the day, fifteen of the twenty-seven delegates elected to the county convention being "new idea" men. Six of these are from the Second ward, six from the Third and the other three from Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell's own district in the Fourth ward. He received 26 delegates in the entire county out of a total of 140.

The Colbyites also got some representation on the county committee. R. E. Hall and Arthur Murphy in the Second, and D. W. Taylor in the Third, being successful.

The "new idea" wing of the party also secured representation on the city committee, F. W. Hanaford, E. R. Ironmonger and H. C. Tracy in the Second ward, and J. Stephen Higham and G. W. V. Moy in the Third ward being winners. The regulars elected seven members and the Colbyites five.

Councilman Ralph I. Tolles' majority over R. Hill for Common Council in the First ward was 136; Councilman H. D. Hibbard's majority over R. A. Meeker in the Second was 193; Councilman William S. Tyler's over Joseph A. Shellabarger 116, and Councilman Frank Randolph over James Penny 87.

So far as the municipal government is concerned, there will be no change for the returns indicate

(Continued on Page 2.)

COLBYITES ELECT PISCATAWAY DELEGATES

FORDYCE MEN WIN CLOSE CONTEST—CORIELL DEFEATS WHITFORD.

The Fordyce candidates for the county convention won in Piscataway, yesterday, defeating the regulars by six votes. They are Henry Bolce and Rev. H. N. Jordan; their opponents were George S. Bunting and John M. Dayton. A total of 145 ballots were cast.

William La Rue was nominated for collector by the Republicans, and W. Coriell defeated Dr. M. J. Whitford for the assembly nomination. William Hamilton was named for town committee. R. L. Pierce and Arthur Tappen were chosen delegates to the congressional convention.

The Democrats had no contests and only twenty ballots were cast. Joseph Kelly was named for the collector; F. O. Nelson for assessor, and John Geary for the town committee.

LONE COLBYITE IN DUNELLEN DEFEATED

JUDGE CAMPBELL LOST HIS FIGHT IN THE DEMOCRATIC CAMP.

In the principal contest at the primary in Dunellen, John W. Moynihan defeated Recorder David S. Campbell for the Democratic nomination for collector by 53 votes to 44. Campbell received twelve votes on the Republican ticket and he is trying to figure how he can apply them to the Democratic tally. J. H. L. Peters was renominated for assessor. C. E. Richards and Charles Starker were nominated for Council for three years, and J. J. Boland defeated G. Sumner Smith for the one-year term nomination. J. T. Wilson and J. H. L. Peters were elected delegates to the congressional convention; Theodore Apgar and Lewis Schneider were elected delegates to the county convention.

The Colbyites had one representative on the Republican ticket, Samuel B. Merrell, candidate for delegate to the county convention. He was left behind by A. S. Coriell and J. N. Apgar, the other candidates. H. J. Fisher was nominated for assessor and I. J. Bittes for collector.

Charles A. Coriell, Jr., and John Fedderman were named for the long-term in the Council and Lewis Churchill is the short-term nominee. Dr. F. W. Brokeley and W. S. Frederick were named as delegates to the congressional convention.

COUNCILMAN WEDS.

Frank C. Krewson, of the Borough, Makes Announcement.

Friends of Councilman Frank C. Krewson, of the borough, received cards today announcing his marriage, the bride having been Mrs. May Louise Patrick, of Somerset street. The ceremony was performed in New York on September 19 and was witnessed only by immediate relatives. The announcement came as a great surprise to the friends of both.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Krewson enjoyed a trip but have now returned and are now making their home on Somerset street.

—S. Scheuer & Co.'s store will be closed during the day next Saturday, Sept. 29. Open in evening at 6 o'clock.

9 25 4 ***

THE MODERN NAZARETH.

Boyhood Home of Jesus Is Now an Up-to-Date and Cosmopolitan City.

Nazareth, where Jesus spent his boyhood, calls to mind a picture of a hazy, half-mythical village of the far east. The Palestine of to-day is a network of railroads and telegraph wires. Modern hotels with elevators and bell boys now occupy sacred places of history.

Cafes stand where once the hosts of Israel fought, contending with chariots and horsemen. The awkward camelback is transplanted by the compartment car. One would look in vain for the hospitable villager standing at the door of his humble flat-roofed home. Tall, slanting-roofed buildings predominate, with fresh red tiles imported from France.

In a prominent place on the brow of a hill stands the English orphanage, which provides for the education of the orphans of Palestine. English and Arabic are taught here, as well as housekeeping and needlework.

A telegraph station, with an Armenian operator in citizen's dress, keeps Nazareth in touch with the world. Here, when occasion demands, messages can click their way across to America.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

Man Sought Safety from Lightning by Assuming Position a la Alligator.

The police at No. 4 station are anxiously trying to solve this query: "Does lightning never strike an alligator?"

During the storm the other afternoon Patrick Lacey, the colored policeman attached to the station, and who is at present engaged in janitor work, was cleaning the walls, when the lightning struck the gong of the patrol wagon. That was enough for Lacey, who did not stand upon the ceremony of his going, but went.

The attaches of the station searched for him for about two hours, apprehensive that the lightning had got him, but ultimately Inspector R. S. Gray found him lying flat on his stomach on a pile of sawdust in the cellar. On being asked what he was doing there, Lacey put this query to the inspector:

"Did you ever hear of an alligator being struck by lightning?"

"No; why?"

"It is for that reason I am on my stomach."—Pittsburg Press.

HIS POWERFUL PLEA.

How Kentucky Colonel Prayed for Divine Aid in the Hour of Extreme Peril.

Colonel Throckmorton, a distinguished Kentuckian, was once a passenger on a wooden sailing vessel on the high seas, when a frightful storm burst and the vessel became waterlogged. The passengers were crying and appealing to heaven for aid. Colonel Throckmorton edged over to the side of the captain and said: "Tell me, is there really any danger?"

"You see what the rest of the passengers are doing," replied the captain; "they are making their peace with God. If you ever do any praying, colonel, you might do so with perfect propriety at this juncture. The vessel can't live five minutes."

The colonel straightened himself, lifted his hat, looked up to the unresisting sky with a reverent mien, and exclaimed: "Almighty God, if you ever intend to do Colonel Throckmorton, of Kentucky, a favor, now is your time to do it!"

The Southern California Liar.

When one wants to express an opinion as to an untruth, he will often say the party spoken of is a prevaricator, then again he might say "stretching the truth," but in the instance of the Los Angeles production and circulated at the Vegas is an unadulterated, pusillanimous liar. It is a liar doubly distilled, the essence being of such proof and superiority along that line that the per cent is undistinguishable. A polished liar sometimes gains the confidence of its readers, but one so brazenly untruthful as is the nodger spoken of it not only brings down on it the ridicule but the contempt as well of every fair-minded person in the country.—Caliente (Nev.) Express.

Easy for Fishermen.

"Staff officers at Delagoa bay," says a South African newspaper, "had one of the most remarkable fishing catches on record in the Umbeluzi. They went up in a launch and were trying at anchor in the dark one evening, with a lantern burning. Attracted by the light, a number of fish leaped into the boat, and these were followed in quick succession by others. Some of the party had their hats knocked off, and were naturally alarmed. The fish, members of a large shoal, continued leaping into the boat thick and fast, and when a count was possible it was found that nearly 400 of them were in the boat. They ran to about a foot in length, and made good eating."

Changed Conditions.

"From Philadelphia, are you?" said the traveling acquaintance. "I know a man in your town named Biggs; he's a schoolmaster."

"Oh! yes, Bill Biggs!" replied the Philadelphian; "he's given up the office, he says."

"He don't say!" Why, he told me he was a little sinecure."

"Well after the recent election a little insecure."

LINES OF THE POET.

BROUGHT UP TO DATE.

They were about to take summer boarders.

The woman, for the eternal feminine will not down, could not forego a touch of sentiment, and she was writing out a rustic sign, which she proposed nailing up by the well:

"The old oaken bucket,
The iron-bound bucket,
The—"

But her hand faltered.

"There's no more to cry bucket," she said, looking very blank.

The man seized the crayon, and with a bold flourish, finished the verse:

"—sterilized bucket.
That's done with well."

"That's more up-to-date, anyway," he said."—Puck.

How to Know Them.

The Soda Water Man—By his phiz.
The Temperance Man—By his nose.
The Conceited Man—By his I's.
The Surveyor—By his feet.
The Captain of Industry—By his hands.
The Military Man—By his arms.
The Stovepipe Man—By his elbows.
The Rubber Man—By his neck.
The Miserly Man—By his chest.
The Tourist—By his nose.
The Dairy Man—By his calves.
The Iron Man—By his nails.—Life.

Beyond the Pale.

"But," said the visitor to the old friend, whom she had not seen for ten years, "you will pardon my seeming presumption yet I think I could suggest several ways in which your house could be more economically managed."

"Economy?" says the hostess, with some hauteur. "Pardon me, but our position in society is such that we cannot afford to save money."—Life.

Relieved.

"Our cashier wants a vacation this summer," said the vice president of the bank. "He'd like to get away, he says, for short three weeks."

"Good," replied the president. "That removes a weight from my mind. I was beginning to be afraid his accounts might be in such shape he wouldn't dare to go away."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Bright Boy.

"Can any of you tell me," said the teacher, "what system of bookkeeping is in operation in our banks?"

"Double entry, sir," said the bright boy of the class.

"Correct; and now can you give me a definition of double entry?"

"Yes, sir; the one entry is for the bank and the other for the cashier."

Can't Always Tell.

Gyer—Bonem doesn't look like a man who would strike another when he's down, does he?

Myer—I should say not.

Gyer—Well, that's the kind of chap he is. He struck me for $5 while I was lying on the sofa the other evening.—Chicago Daily News.

No Room for Argument.

"I always try to be up to date," remarked young DeBorem, as the cuckoo clock chirped the half-hour previous to midnight.

"Yes," rejoined Miss Caustique, as she attempted to strangle a yawn, "you certainly are the latest thing out."—Chicago Daily News.

Woman's Wiles.

Mord Emly—Am I the first young woman wot you've walked out with?

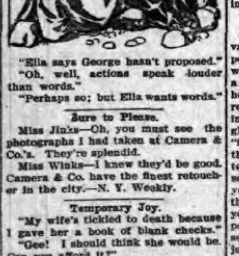
Moldy Green—Yuss.

Mord Emly—I thought I was.

Moldy Green—Why?

Mord Emly—Eh? Oh, I dunno. 'Cause you seem 'frightened o' 'urtin' me.

MORE BINDING.



"Ella says George hasn't proposed."

"Oh, well, actions speak louder than words."

"Perhaps so; but Ella wants words."

Sure to Please.

Miss Jinks—Oh, you must see the photographs I had taken at Camera & Co.'s. They're splendid.

Miss Winks—I knew they'd be good. Camera & Co. have the finest retoucher in the city.—N. Y. Weekly.

Temporary Joy.

"My wife's tickled to death because I gave her a book of blank checks."

"Glad I should think she would be. Can you afford it?"

"Yep—don't tell her—I didn't sign 'em."—Cleveland Leader.

Never Satisfied.

She—Now that you have an automobile that will break records, are you not satisfied?

He—No; I want one that will break trees and telegraph poles.—Life.

How They Don't Speak.

Mamie—Jack makes me tired.

Clara—It's your own fault, dear. You should stop running after him.—Chicago Daily News.

DECAY OF IMAGINATION.

Assertion Made That Civilization Is Not Only Killing Poetry, But Sense of Humor.

An Italian scientist thinks that civilization is not only killing poetry, but the sense of humor. Both depends upon the same object suggesting other things to the mind, in one case conscious, in the other unconscious. Science has made our minds more rigid so that we see only what we see. "More rigid" means less voluble.

Under new conditions at hand, we shall get back our vitality, shall once more have some to spare, once more be able to see the naked visible in its proper robes. Imagination is the seeing of real relations. It is seeing what we feel ought to be, which, when sane, is a deeper seeing of what they are. Humor is imagination relaxing herself and playing the caricaturist. While she lives at all, she must be permitted to recreate. She thrives on the surplus age of mental vitality.

Nordau dwells somewhere on the tendency of artists he calls degenerate to paint everything more or less violet. One would suppose that every poet, like a proper sound, must be yielding its overtones. Any one can see the color as it stands. It takes an artist to see—feel, "imagine"—its overtones and bring them down for us.—Student in the New Century.

INFERENCE WAS GOOD.

Dull Pupil Amazed Teacher by Giving Proof of Average Reasoning Power.

A Baltimore school-teacher was telling one day of how often the instructor of "the young idea" is astonished by the quickness of wit exhibited by the pupil who is otherwise deficient.

One day, says this teacher, she had encountered such a degree of ignorance and mental obtuseness on the part of one of her boys that she became disheartened. So it was with considerable sarcasm that she said to the youngster:

"I wonder if you could tell me whether George Washington was a soldier or a sailor."

The kid grinned. "He was a soldier, all right," was his reply.

"How do you know?" asked the weary teacher.

"Because I seen a picture of him crossin' the Delaware," explained the boy. "Any sailor'd know enough not to stand up in a boat."

HARVARD MAN'S GRACE.

Familiarity of Petition Shocked Arizona Men Gathered for Thanksgiving Dinner.

A story is told about a young fellow just out of Harvard, who went to Arizona to find out what it was like. He was affected in his manner, after the English fashion, and around the neighborhood soon became something of a joke.

When Thanksgiving came, all the men without homes dined together, and before the feast it was arranged that the Harvard youth should be asked to say grace. The boys wanted to find out what sort of training he had received. When the gentleman at the head of the table requested the favor of him, he hesitated a moment, smiled weakly and lisped:

"Oah Fathah!" with uplifted finger, and then "Only good lunch; thanks awfully, old chap."

Putting Her Foot in It.

Two girl friends met in the street and stopped to shake hands.

"So glad to see you, Grace," said the tailor-made Alice. "Was just on my way to ask you, as my oldest friend, to be one of my bridesmaids."

"Bridesmaids! How lovely! I did not know you were engaged," replied Grace.

"It's sudden, very sudden, but he's awfully in love, and is just too sweet to live. Will you act?"

"Act? Of course. I'll be charmed. Her," moving forward and speaking in an undertone, "do come round the corner and tell me all about it. There comes that idiotic, irrepressible donkey, Jim Berton. He's grinning as though he meant to stop, and I don't care to be seen talking to him."

"Jim Berton? He's the man I'm going to marry!"

Cause for Celebration.

Bishop Talbot of central Pennsylvania is fond of relating amusing experiences while a missionary in the west. On one occasion he arrived at a mountain town and entered the hotel dining room, taking a seat. A resident who had been drinking fell into conversation with him. "I'm glad you've come here," said the man, "for the boys need somebody to give them advice. They drink a heap, I tell you." The bishop said: "I am sorry to hear that, my friend, but if you will excuse me, it seems as though you are troubled that way yourself." The mountaineer saw the point, but rejoined quickly: "Well, ye see, when the bishop comes a feller just has to celebrate some."

Foolish English "Smart" Set.

An American who has just returned from London expresses surprise mingled with disgust regarding the talk he heard among "smart" people there. The conversation would be far ahead of anything he had ever heard. It is considered quite the thing to abbreviate words. He heard a grown woman say to a friend: "Isn't it terry to have nonny on such a divy day?" Translated into English, this means: "Isn't it terrible to have neuralgia on such a divine day?"

"GRAND OLD NAME"

"GEORGE" A PATRONYMIC HONORED AND REVERED.

Mr. Ade, Successful Author and Humorist, Tells Many Reasons Why Name Should Be So—Historian "saith."

To the anniversary dumper of his friend, Geo. ... who while fly carry great ideas, "Hi ... Georges Ade and ... ties come ... both on the same people, ... his argument being that it's a grand old name for Adam, Methuselah, and so on.

His young ... figured out why people who wish to be emphatic ... "By George!" to swear by the deity would be profane. To swear by Cæsar or Herbert or Randolph would mean nothing. George has been adopted as the most important and ever-ringing name that can be borrowed from the ordinary human list.

From the original St. George, patron saint of ... land, who is shown in his favorite ... though to be again, the symbolic ... down to George Washington, the great ... stands in the name of "George" has always been the trademark of a live one. Every good Pullman porter is named George. If, when alighting at a ... -ghat stand, you insist upon being ... led by "George," you will invariably get an upper-tiered back, with the blanket neatly folded, and not as much hay as you might expect.

George III. would have won if he had not given away so much weight in meeting the other Georges, adopted signatures by the reign of Washington, Jr.

George is from the Greek, meaning "husbandman" or "farmer." They are ... rants were in right but how about George Marion, George Beane, George Nash, George Considine and Geo gie Cohan?

When you begin to count them, it is wonderful how the Ge ... e looms up. There has been one Ge ... e Francis Train in the last century, and George Alexander is to the English stage what George Dixon was to another department of art in this country.

When a woman wants to write under a man's name, she hurries to get in with the real Ge ... e. Take the three greatest—George Eliot, George Sands and George Fleming.

Before we ask: "What's in a name?" Answer—Everything." Can you see the Chicago public fighting to get into a show-shop to see a piece written by Egbert M. Cohan? And if my name had been Wilfred Ade, would I have been invited to write for the Spot Light? Suppose that George Bernard Shaw had been christened Sam Bernard Shaw, would "Man and Superman" have run all winter in New York? Think it over.

There's no use talking. "It's a grand old name."

Too Big a Field.

Years ago, while Reverend. Shandaloupe was a student at the seminary, he undertook, one vacation season, to write original sermons.

His pleasing address and affability enabled him to make many sales. However, he encountered the usual rebuffs, which are the experience of all agents.

The theological student had gained access to the office of a surly broker, and forthwith began expatiating on the deluging powers of his incomparable fire extinguisher.

"To hell with it!" roared the broker, flinging out.

"Oh, my dear man," expostulated Shandaloupe, "this extinguisher does not deserve the extreme virtue with which you credit it."—Harper's Weekly.

The Pope's Wardrobe.

The outward robe of the pope is red and made from the wool of the lambs of the convent of St. Agnes, near the Porta Pia. The cloak and cape are lined with purple and trimmed with gold lace; the sombrero, or hat, is red and has a gold cord and tassel. Beneath the cloak is worn an alb, made also of wool of the lambs of St. Agnes, and girt about the waist with a sash of white moire antique, garnished with gold fringe. The pope's hands and feet are covered with kid mittens and his feet are burdened with a pair of slippers worn over his ordinary shoes. The total value of his wardrobe is said to be $150,000.

Where Titles Mean Much.

The question of title is one of the most delicate in Germany, a fact of which the stranger is constantly reminded in intercourse with the people, particularly with the women. Frau Professor, Frau Director, Frau Doctor are most particular about their husband's titles when attached to their own names. But when it comes to military circles it is different, and both men and women protest vigorously against this sharing of titles. Lieut. von B—— objects to having his wife addressed as Frau Lieutenant, which title belongs as well to the wife of Lieut. Schmidt or Haff of a less aristocratic regiment.

Knew of One or Two.

"Is there any available substitute for rubber?" asked the instructor of the class.

"Yes, sir," answered Miss de Muir, one of the fair coeds. "I think 'stare' or 'gape' is just as good."

Reward of Merit.

Marine drivers in Germany receive a sum of money and a gold watch for every ten years served without an accident.

THE LOST DREAMS.

I.

Young,
And dreaming the dreams of glad twenty-three,
She swung
In the hammock that hung
'Neath the apple-tree;
Sweet in her freedom from marring care
And glad with the grace of her womanhood.
Robed in garments as fleet as air,
She suffered the perfume to kiss her there,
Believing, as they
Who are fortunate may,
That life was good.

II.

Mich
Above in the branches that lightly swayed
Between the lusciously ripening fruit
And the ... ve sky
A wasp's nest hung.
With a pleading cry
She rose ... fled
Her arms about her head in dismay,
And the ...
Glad dreams she had dreamed as she
Lightly swung
Blew off with the zephyrs that were
As a selfish groan from her lips was wrung—
Stuck!
—Chicago Record-Herald.

Knew It's Finishers.

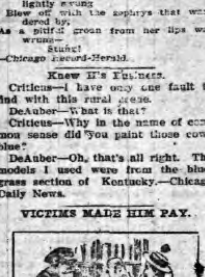
Criticus—I have only one fault to find with this rural scene.

DeAuber—What is that?

Criticus—Why in the name of common sense did you paint those cows blue?

DeAuber—Oh, that's all right. The models I used were from the blue grass section of Kentucky.—Chicago Daily News.

VICTIMS MADE HIM PAY.



Young Snobleigh—The running expenses of a motor are pretty thick, eh?

Old Bluffkins—H'm, yes. But nothing to the running over expenses, my boy!

Lullaby.

Magistrate—You are accused of attempting to hold a pedestrian up at two o'clock this morning. What have you to say in your own behalf?

Prisoner—I am not guilty, your honor. I can prove a lullaby.

Magistrate—You mean an alibi?

Prisoner—Well, call it what you like, but my wife will swear that I was walking the floor with the baby at the hour mentioned in the charge.—Chicago Daily News.

Such Is Life.

"After all," remarked the loafer who was holding down an empty box, "there is nothing in a name."

"There isn't in yours, at least," rejoined the grocer.

"What do you mean?" queried the loafer.

"Just what I said," replied the grocer. "Everything you have is in your wife's name."—Chicago Daily News.

But She'd Settled It.

Dottie—Who's that fine-looking young man I saw you with this morning?

Lottie—Isn't he dear? That's the man I'm going to marry.

Dottie—Why, I didn't know you were engaged!

Lottie—Dear me—we're not. I only met him yesterday.—Cleveland Leader.

For Self-Protection.

"Nature gives us her secrets with great reluctance," observed the doctor.

"Well," commented the professor, "if she has any secrets that reflect on the family she'd better lose no time in killing off the whole human race, for we're finding out lots of them these days."—Chicago Tribune.

How He Knew.

"Is your wife having a good time at the seashore?"

"Yes; she's enjoying herself splendidly."

"I suppose her letters are very cheering?"

"No; she doesn't write at all."—Judge.

The Immortal John.

"Now, Harold," asked an Evanston teacher, "can you tell me who signed the Declaration of Independence?"

"Yes, Miss Blankston, John Hancock and a lot of other men but I don't remember their names."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Why He Was Sorry.

Buggins—Have you heard that Bullion, the millionaire, is dead?

Briggs—Yes. I'm awfully sorry.

Buggins—Why, he's no relation of yours, is he?

Briggs—No; that's why I'm sorry.

Large Hearted.

"Do you believe a man can love more than one?"

"I know it. Why, between Friday night and Monday morning I have loved a whole summer resort."—Life.

New Standard.

Employer—What salary do you want?

Office Boy—Enough to place me above de temptation of graft.—N. Y. Sun.

WHY HIS WIFE ACTED LIKE AN ANGEL.

A bachelor was recently traveling in a tram car with a newly-married couple of his acquaintance. It was a rainy morning.

The young wife had her umbrella well out of the way of those who passed down the car, but an awkward boy on his way to the door, managed to fall over it, and break it.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" stammered the unfortunate, with a scarlet face.

"Never mind, I'm sure it wasn't your fault," the lady replied up at him without a trace of anger or even irritation on her face.

"Well, I must say your wife is an angel!" exclaimed the bachelor, warmly. "Most women would have withered that clumsy fellow with a look, if they hadn't scorched him with words."

"She is an angel," said the married man, as he picked up the pieces of the umbrella and sighed quietly at the wife, "but—she'll need a new umbrella for a month, and now she knows I'll have to get it for her."

Her Word of Honor.

"Don't you love me?" pleaded Yes, dear, but I'm already engaged."

"Break your engagement."

"Oh, George! That wouldn't be honorable. An engagement is a sacred thing, not lightly to be entered into or broken off. Besides—"

"Well?"

"Well, I'm engaged to two men, and that makes it even worse."—Cleveland Leader.

Snapped Up.

Sir Hubert de Hotstuff looked disdainfully at the somewhat passe demoiselle at his side:

"By my troth," he spoke, "I am half minded to go to the wars again. Marry—"

"Oh, Hubert!" broke in the maiden, "this is in sooth so sudden!"

And this, wit ye well, was long, long ago.—Cleveland Leader.

Future Prospects.

"You poor man," said the kind lady. "Can't you find anything to do?"

"Nuttin', mum," replied Frayed Frankly, "but I got a promise of work yesterday."

"How nice! What doing?"

"Flagman on a crossing fer de first airship line what starts, mum."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Sure Thing.

Stranger—Excuse me, but what's the quickest way to get to the hospital?

Native—See that automobile coming down the street?

Stranger—Yes.

Native—Well, just step in front of it!—Chicago Daily News.

When They Wore Armor.

"Who are you?" inquired King Arthur of the stranger.

"I am Spike Hennessy, the safe blower," was the answer.

"At last!" exclaimed the king. "Hurry, then, and help me unbutton my friend Launcelot's pea-jacket. I fear that he has fainted."—Life.

Recreations of the Plutocrat.

Allscads—How are you occupying your leisure these days?

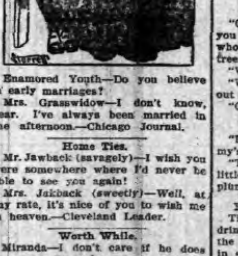
Muntoburn—I am writing a book entitled "Miseries of the Rich; or, Poverty the Only True Happiness."—Chicago Tribune.

Her Tendency.

Knicker—How do the Henpecks get along?

Bocker—He says she is a sociologist—hunts up all his bad points and won't look at his good ones.—N. Y. Sun.

YOU DON'T SAY.



Enamored Youth—Do you believe in early marriages?

Mrs. Grasswidow—I don't know, dear. I've always been married in the afternoon.—Chicago Journal.

Home Ties.

Mr. Jawback (savagely)—I wish you were somewhere where I'd never be able to see you again!

Mrs. Jawback (sweetly)—Well, at any rate, it's nice of you to wish me in heaven.—Cleveland Leader.

Worth While.

Miranda—I don't care if he does own an auto and a steam yacht, I won't marry him! Why, he's a regular flat.

Mrs. Matchmaker—Yes, dear, but flats with all the modern improvements are very desirable.—Life.

Knew of One or Two.

"Is there any available substitute for rubber?" asked the instructor of the class.

"Yes, sir," answered Miss de Muir, one of the fair coeds. "I think 'stare' or 'gape' is just as good."—Chicago Tribune.

WOMAN HAD FORETHOUGHT

Got Transfer for Expected Friend with the Idea of Saving Herself Much Trouble.

"Impossible, my name is woman," said the conductor, to a plump woman laden with packages alighted from a car. "Do you know what she did? Well, after she had stowed her packages in her lap, she opened her bag, dug down into it, brought up her purse and gave me ten cents for two," she said. "I thought she was only paying for the bundles and went to tell her that it was necessary to transfer, when she said: 'I want two transfers,' I explained.

"'Are you getting a transfer on your parcels?' I asked.

"She replied in a very matter-of-fact way: 'Oh, no; but my friend of mine is going to meet me at the corner and I want to give her the transfer so I won't have to pay for me to pay my fare with my change, so I thought if you gave me two transfers I'd save all that trouble.'

"I gave her two transfers. The company won't lose anything by it, and if she fell out doesn't happen to be waiting on the corner, it'll be something in."

WARNS BEARDED MEN.

Physician Points Out Extreme Importance of Keeping Whiskers Free from Dampness.

"It is well that old men should wear beards," said a physician, "for when one becomes old one should be spared the exertion of daily shaving. But I would like to issue a warning to all bearded women. I would like to shout 'Keep your beards dry,' in a voice loud enough to be heard around the world. Were those words taken to heart cases of sore throat, cold and influenza would be avoided by many girls would be indebted for a great deal.

"So many men with beards neglect, when they wash their faces, to wipe their beards dry. A beard a foot long demands a lot of toweling. It should be toweled after every wash a good five minutes. Otherwise it is damp. The owner goes about with his damp thing upon his delicate and sensitive throat. Then, if he takes tonsilitis or influenza, he blames the American climate. There are too many damp beards among us. Too many men, washing their faces three or four times a day, have their beards damp and clammy a good three hours daily."

CARRY SMALLER BIRDS.

Eminent Ornithologist Asserts Larger Species Assist Smaller in Their Annual Migrations.

It was an opinion held by many in ancient times that small birds in migrating were often carried on the backs of the larger. In Egypt, for example, it was held that wagtails were thus carried by storks. And many years ago a Swedish naturalist, Hedenborg, made some remarkable observations on the subject. During the arrival of the flights of storks at Rhodes from overseas, Hedenborg frequently heard the voices of singing birds without being able to see them. At last, after careful observation, when a flight of storks had just alighted, he saw that they had small birds perched on their backs. The writer of a recent book, "Recreations of a Naturalist," Mr. J. E. Harting, has some interesting remarks on this subject. Most ornithologists probably regard the idea as a myth, but Mr. Harting's remarks seem to admit a possibility that there may be some truth in it.

The Talking Chickens.

A woman has been much annoyed by the trespassing of a neighbor's chickens.

The other day she tied with stout thread to large grains of corn cards whereon was written:

"Please pen us here better. We are spoiling Mrs. Dash's garden."

She scattered these contrivances over her lawn. The chickens, trespassing as usual, ate the corn, and from their mouths that night they spoke the woman's message to their shocked master.

Thereafter they trespassed no more.

What It Sounded Like.

"Oh, what do you call those things you hang clothes on?" said Dumley, who was trying to think of "clothes tree."

"What things?" asked Jiggins.

"Why, they have arms that stick out like this and—"

"Oh, dudes!"

Found a New Epithet.

"If you go in swimmin'," said Tommy's younger brother, "I'll tell maw!"

"Tell 'er, if you want to, you pasty little thing raised!" blurted Tommy, plunging into the water.

Fruit Cure for Drinking Habit.

There is but one sure cure for the drinking habit, and that is the simplest of all. The cure consists in eating fruits. That will cure the worst case of inebriety that ever afflicted a person. It will entirely destroy the taste for intoxicants and will make the drunkard a lover of the thoughts and tastes of his childhood. No person ever saw a man or woman who lifted fruit and who had an appetite for drink. No person ever saw a man or woman with an appetite for drink who liked fruit. The two are at deadly enmity with each other, and there is no room for both of them in the same human constitution. One will surely destroy the other.

A YOUTHFUL DESPERADO

Nine-Year-Old Colored Boy Stabs Little Deaf Mute and Takes $4 From Him.

WOUND NOT SERIOUS

Assailant Flees From Borough to the City But Is Quickly Nabbed By Police.

For clean-cut, unalloyed desperadoism, nine-year-old Walter Watson, colored, of Warren street, has beaten all records in the annals of the borough police department. With a pocketknife clutched in his hand he pounced upon Joseph Pitts, six years old, of Chatham street, Wednesday ternoon, and demanded $4 which he knew the little fellow had in his possession. The Pitts boy is deaf and dumb but he realized the nature of young Watson's actions and tried to run home.

Not to be daunted, the youthful highwayman jabbed the knife against Joseph's cheek inflicting a bad gash and then struck the boy, causing him to drop the money from pain and fright and fall to the sidewalk. Watson caught up the $4 and fled to the city side of the brook with the idea of "blowing" it in.

The assault and robbery were witnessed by several other children and while some of them helped the victim home others informed Chief Marshal Weiss. In company with Marshal Dooley he started on the trail of Watson and the latter officer located him on Front street. He was nabbed before he had a chance to run and was locked up over night. He was temporarily released this morning and the officials are deliberating as to what can be done with him. Because of his age he cannot be sent to the Reform school and it is possible that he will be placed in some institution. He is the son of Rev. James Watson who is now serving a twenty-year sentence for the killing of James Christopher on Warren street last Fall.

An examination showed that the gash inflicted on the smaller boy is not serious and no after results are anticipated. He was going to a store with the money and the railroad instant on which he was caught.

The colored boy bears a bad reputation in the neighborhood and only a short time ago was arrested for beating a dog almost to death.

SCOTCH PLAIDS.

Scotch plaids are "it."

They are used as trimming for smart fall hats.

Whole dresses and suits are made of plaid wool stuffs.

Dainty blouses are seen of plaid taffeta, trimmed with bands of plain silk.

When the costume is of a plain color the trimming is of plaid silk or velvet.

Dainty umbrellas are of Scotch plaid to match the gown.

Plaid hosiery is also worn.

So get in line and array yourself in plaid, if you wish to be strictly up to date.

Boys' Club Courses.

Plans for the opening of the Boys' Club at Sycamore street have been made by the Y. M. C. A., and classes will start the first week in October. The usual courses in carpentering, pattern-making, mechanical drawing and moulding will be offered the members. Boys' Secretary Barrows, of the Y. M. C. A., will be in charge of the work. Kenneth Robbie, now general secretary-elect of the Y. M. C. A., conducted the club last year.

Bowling Green Ready Next Summer.

As it requires considerable time to lay out a bowling green before it can be used, the green at the Park Club will probably not be ready for play before next spring. The seeding process is in progress and it will take a good deal of work to complete the green. J. B. Betts is the leading spirit in the game and he hopes to enthuse many members by next summer.

Walter Colombo Nearly Well.

Walter Colombo, of Jersey City, who had one foot cut off with a mowing machine and the other horribly lacerated, while spending the summer on a farm near Berkeley Heights, has almost recovered. He is now able to get about the hospital in a wheel chair and it is thought he will be able to return home within a short time.

Robert Abbott, who took part in the invitation golf tournament at the Morris County Golf Club, last week, returned home Saturday night. He is participated in several other tournaments this fall, including that for the intercollegiate championship.

Several boroughites took a trip up the Hudson yesterday.

Edward Shay, of New York, has been spending several days with his brother, David Shay, at the Plainfield Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Lounsbury, of East Seventh street, who have been abroad, have returned home.

Mrs. William McIntosh, and daughters, of College place, have returned from a pleasure trip to the Pacific Coast. Mrs. McIntosh, who met with an accident while away, has recovered.

SPIDER EATS BIRDS.

South American Tropic Forests the Home of Insect with Remarkable Appetite.

There has just been deposited in the insect house at the London zoo a specimen of the bird-eating spider, which earns its name by occasionally including in its menu some of the brilliantly hued humming-birds and varicolored finches of the South American tropics.

It is doubtful whether the silken threads which he spins in profusion constitute his most effective tackle for catching their prey; indeed, it is more probable that the little birds get caught through alighting upon the banana and other leaves, in the twisted folds of which the spider makes his home. The similarity of his coloring to the bark of trees, to which he attaches himself, is also a powerful factor in enabling him to approach his prey.

The silken threads which help to ensnare so many beautiful birds are a serious annoyance to the traveler when riding or walking through the less frequented forests. As they continually strike the face, one is reminded of some fiendish motor trap.

The bird-eating spider is much smaller, although not less ferocious in appearance, than the famous tarantula. The body of the full-grown tarantula is as big as a hen's egg, and on an average it gives from 20 to 40 yards of silk, the weaving of which was expected at one time to prove a very considerable industry in some of the Austrian provinces. The silken output of the bird-eating spider is greater in proportion.

PUBLIC WANTS TOO MUCH.

Impossible to Perfect Great Inventions in Short Space of Time—

A Story in Point.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, in a series of remarkable experiments, has been sending wireless messages from tetrahedral kites.

In a discussion of these experiments Dr. Bell said:

"It takes a long time to make a new idea practicable and commercial. Most people think the first successful flight of a flying machine should have been immediately followed by the appearance of great fleets of passenger flying machines, or that the first successful wireless message would have been immediately followed by a cheap wireless service to all parts of the world."

Dr. Bell smiled.

"They would have inventions made practicable with a speed that is only possible in suburban toilet-making," he resumed.

"A suburbanite's wife the other morning rushed into the man's room, shook him roughly and said:

"'John, John! You've only got three minutes to catch your train.'

"John, who was a heavy man easily, as he leaped out of bed and seized his clothes. 'Tell the cook to hurry breakfast.'"

Washtubs and Washtubs.

"What would our foremothers have thought," said Mrs. Flatdweller, "or those of them that on wash days went out to the wash beach and put on it two big round wooden washtubs, one to be filled with cold water carried to it from the pump, and the other with hot water carried from the stove, while in one of these tubs was placed a wooden washboard on which to do the scrubbing, and finally the tubs had to be carried out into the yard to be emptied—what would our foremothers have thought, I say, if they could have seen the modern set washtubs of porcelain, set side by side, each supplied with cold and with hot water to be had at will by the turning of a faucet, and to be emptied by the pulling of a plug, while in the inner conveniently sloping front of one, and without any legs for the clothes in the tub to get tangled around, were moulded the corrugations of a porcelain washboard!

"They may have dreamed of many things, but probably never of this."

Educating German Women.

There are commercial schools for girls at Cologne, Berlin, Cassel and Munich. These schools have passed the experimental stage. They have been proved a success, and henceforth they are to become a permanent thing, to be established alongside the commercial schools existing for boy apprentices all over the empire. During the last ten years Germany has thrown open wide the doors of her universities, and is now opening many of the professions to women, and their advent into many phases of commercial life has now become a part of the established order of things. The only question now is how to best prepare them to fill mercantile positions of importance and trust. It was decided at the congress in Wiesbaden to recommend decisive measures for the establishment and maintenance of girl apprentice schools wherever necessary in Germany.

An Original Idea.

Author—My new novel may not prove a great success, but it possesses the merit of originality at least.

Critic—Indeed!

Author—Yes; the hero is a baseball umpire.

Chip Off the Old Block.

DeLong—I met your son this morning.

Shortleigh—Don't you think he resembles me a good deal?

DeLong—That's what. He tried to borrow a dollar from me.

NORTH PLAINFIELD'S TAX RATE IS $2.34

ASSESSMENTS INCREASED 12 PER CENT. —A DROP OF 20 POINTS.

Announcement was made today that the tax rate in the borough for the year would be $2.34. This is a drop of twenty points from last year but as the assessment has been increased about twelve per cent. there will be no material difference in the bills.

The rate is figured up as follows: County, 66c; State school, 16c; borough, 66c; special school, 86c. The rate last year was $2.54, made up as follows: County, 64c; State school, 16c; borough tax, 76c; special school, 98c.

Collector George F. Brown has already commenced work upon his bills and will send them out as soon as possible.

TALK OF A FOOTBALL LEAGUE IN COUNTY

ORANGE FIELD CLUB HAS A TEAM THAT COULD WIN THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Talk of a county football league has been heard in several quarters, and the chances for the organization of one are no worse, at least, than they have been in other years. Which means that it may happen and it may not.

It is proposed to have representative teams from Elizabeth, Rahway, Summit, and Plainfield in it. Wheeling field is said to be out of the football game this year, and all the best talent there have joined teams in other places.

The Orange Field Club would jump at a chance to go into the league, and would make a strong bid for the championship. Some sort of trophy—a cup probably—would be hung up. The O. F. C. team looks like the best that has come out in this city in years. On paper it is what George McVoy or the manager of the Lady Id of a team. Roy Phillips, the Alls veteran, will manage it.

The O. F. C. has plunged into heavy practice, and two nights a week from now until the season opens next month, the members will be out to get into the pink of condition.

Dunellen is to have a strong team, too. Capt. Robert Maltby is sanguine of showing the O. F. C. a thing or two with his followers. There is an old rivalry between the two teams and if the elevens come together the wool will fly on both sides.

JOHN R. M'CALL DIES AT PROVIDENCE R. I.

END CAME WHILE HE WAS VISITING HIS SISTER.

Word came by telegram to the city yesterday announcing the death of John R. McCall, for many years a prominent resident of Dunellen. He passed away at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Delano, of Providence, R. I., early Wednesday night. He had been living there for a short time, his summer home being at Sheepshead Bay.

Mr. McCall was about seventy-five years old and until his retirement a short time ago was one of the oldest and best known engineers on the New Jersey Central. For a long time he ran the passenger train which leaves Plainfield for New York at 8:34 in the morning, Emory Robinson being the conductor and Tom Jones the baggage master. He quit the railroad a few years ago and had since been living a retired life.

He was a charter member of Perseverance lodge, No. 74, K. of P., the Pythian Endowment Rank and also Jerusalum lodge, F. and A. M., all of this city. He frequently came to meetings of Perserverance and Jerusalem lodges and was last here in August.

BRICKS IN COURT.

Becker Brought Them Along to Show Just What Popco Threw.

George Becker and Vincento Popco, both Italians, appeared in the city court Saturday, the former charging the latter with disorderly conduct. He claimed Popco threw bricks at him in a fight that occurred a week ago.

Becker brought two bricks to court with him as evidence. Interpreters were used to untangle the twisted language of the principals, and Judge Runyon learned that Popco called Becker something very unpolite. He was fined $5.

Installing Larger Manholes.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, subway department, has just completed the installation of new manholes at Park avenue and Second street and Park avenue and Front street. They are extra large ones, replacing smaller ones which were inadequate for the number of cables to be laid in Park avenue and Front street.

LITERARY.

The new editors of The American Magazine have done well with their first number, the October issue. They have made their periodical interesting and significant; they have given it life and strength. One of the important contributions to the October number is an article on "The Power of the Press" by "Mr. Dooley." There are references to Grover Cleveland, Bryan, Roosevelt, Miss Tarbell, Lincoln Steffens, Ray Stannard Baker and others that make lively reading. The cartoons add to the gaiety of the magazine. William Allen White preaches a great sermon in his article on "The Partnership of Society." It is the brilliant Kansas novelist and essayist at his best. There is an editorial announcement of the plans of the new editors, and there are new portraits of the chief editorial associates and contributors. There is the first hint of a new serial, "Adventures in Contentment," soon to begin in The American Magazine. Samuel Hopkins Adams and Stewart Edward White proceed with their serial "The Mystery." Aside from Lincoln Steffens' short story there are stories by Edith Barnard, Caspar Day, May McHenry, Edwin Balmer, Maude L. Radford, and H. Rand. All the poets are William Aspenwall Bradley and Arthur Stringer.

An interesting question is raised and answered by a writer on "A Lost Silver Mine," in the October Appleton's. "Who is the man or the aborigines know their way through the country as well as the wild beasts that inhabit it? How do the natives know the way as well as the aborigines? How do explorers and travelers from all parts find the passes and fords of the rivers and creeks and easiest passages of the deep waters? How do they get through the forests and avoid the labyrinths and deadly tangles of underbrush?" Then he answers his own questions: "The answer is quite simple. Instinct moves the beasts on the shortest and easiest course compatible with their needs of existence. The Indian follows the trail of the animal. The native white man follows the trail of the Indian or bees close to it. Everybody follows a trail. Why did Boone pass into Kentucky through Cumberland Gap? How did he know that, bearing to the south from his North Carolina home, he would find a pass through the mountain? Because great herds of buffalo had passed through there and Indians in quest of them. Boone followed a trail, though later on he blazed one of his own for his wagons and first settlers."—Appleton's for October.

The October issue of The Metropolitan Magazine is a strong fall number, in which the best fiction and important, timely articles are well balanced. Perhaps its most interesting feature is the symposium of papers on the future of life insurance, argued from the facts as they really exist. Mr. Paul Morton and Mr. Charles A. Peabody each contribute sane discussions on the situation. These articles should be carefully read by every one who is interested either directly or indirectly in the preservation along sound, safe lines of this great American institution of life insurance. Anthony Hope leads the fiction with a dashing, clever, sentimental story, "Prudence and the Bishop." One of the most sympathetic magazine articles of the month is "The Pond," by Sydney Allen, which gives the effect of the country in early fall on the man who turns to it from the noise and the crowd of the city. This article is wonderfully illustrated with landscape photographs.

Stories of newspaper life that have made any lasting impression are few. One that will be certain to be remembered opens the October number of The Smart Set. William R. Lighton is the author, and he has chosen the appropriate title of "The Rules of the Game." The great human note in the story will make a strong appeal to every reader, and in a clever way in which the plot is manipulated will win admiration. For the many short stories in this issue we have only praise. The Smart Set's fiction is always notably refreshing—nothing inane or antiquated seems to be permitted in its pages. James Hopper, who has become so well and favorably known through his Philippine stories, contributes to this number a remarkably fine tale, entitled "A Jest of Fate." There is wonderful pathos in this story, which is relieved at the end by a delicious touch of humor. Owen Kildare is represented by one of his amusing sketches, entitled "Queer People," and Edna Kenton tells, as she always does, an interesting story, "The Eternal Masculine." William Hamilton Osborne reveals great insight into human nature in his story of the Sussex, New Jersey, "Sheepshead Bay Limited Express Seat;" and there is a play, remarkably striking and original, by May Harris, called "The Open Door."

Starts Work On New Stores.

Titus Laury, who was awarded the contract for general masonry and carpenter work for Dr. A. A. Anderson's stores on the southeast corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, has started excavations for the same. The work, which is to be re-enforced concrete, was prepared by the Consolidated Engineering Company of America, of Wall street, New York city, and is to be done under the supervision of Mr. du Mazret, president of the company.

DRINK-CRAZED MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

WADED OUT IN SCOTCH PLAINS POND AND PREPARED TO DIE.

Suffering from a well developed attack of delirium tremens, Thomas Grady, of New York, a sailor, attempted suicide in Cook's pond, near the paper mill at Scotch Plains, Wednesday morning. He became possessed of the hallucination that the metropolitan police had ordered him to make way with himself and he thought drowning would be the easiest method.

The depth of the pond at the point he selected is about four feet but a man would sink two feet in mud. Grady managed to make his way quite some distance from shore and was treading around for the most comfortable spot to lie down in when John Schiebel happened by.

A couple of questions sufficed to show him that the man was demented and he set about planning to get him out. Several other men came up at that moment and Grady was quickly hauled to shore. Dry clothes were procured for him and he was taken to the Plains lockup where Dr. Westcott conducted an examination. He advised that Grady be confined under surveillance a short time as he was in such a condition that rest was absolutely necessary.

This morning the effects of rum had somewhat left the would-be suicide and he gave an account of himself. He said he had saved up $105 and with a friend locked up in the city started off on a spree. When he woke up he was saturated with drink, his money had disappeared and so had the companion. He started out for Philadelphia, and somehow or other wandered to the mountains back of the plains. Sympathizing 'Plains' people took up a collection for him and he will be placed on board a train for the Quaker City as soon as he is in a condition to start out.

GILES DECIDES TO DROP POLICE CASE

LONG STANDING CHARGE DISPOSED OF AFTER CHANGE OF PLEA.

A police court case that had hung fire for two months and a half was disposed of Friday, when John Giles, arrested on July 2 for drunkenness and disorder, appeared before Judge Runyon and changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. Sentence was suspended.

When the case first came up charges of assault were threatened against Roundsman Flynn, who made the arrest, and Giles' friends made a to-do over the matter that made a troublous time for the officer appear imminent. It was charged that the roundsman dragged Giles from his own premises and pounded him without cause. Flynn swore and was prepared to bring proof that Giles resisted arrest stubbornly. The defendant employed Fred Pope, of Somerville, as his lawyer, and the latter made preparations to fight the case to a finish.

Thursday announcing the death of wanted the matter dropped, and he made a formal statement to that effect. Giles decided, last week, that he was suspended.

REPORTERS ENTERTAINED AT THE COUNTRY CLUB.

The Daily Press Defeats the Courier-News On the Golf Links.

Through the courtesy of the Plainfield Country Club the reportorial staffs of The Daily Press and the Courier-News were given the privileges of the club Thursday afternoon, when a match game of golf was played. The scribes were first entertained at the clubhouse, where, under the direction of David Shay, the club secretary, Mrs. Lena Hellstrom prepared and served a fine luncheon in one of the private dining-rooms. The menu was a choice one and was thoroughly enjoyed.

After the luncheon, Mr. Shay saw that each man was properly fitted out for the golf contest on the golf course. "Marty" Dolan, the club professional, provided the drivers, putters, mashies and balls and at 4:30 o'clock play was started. It required something over two hours to complete the match, when it was learned that The Daily Press team had won.

M. F. Elderton and Walter C. Dobbins were the first to tee off, and they were the first to finish, although several times it looked as though the other players would overtake them. Thomas M. Muir and George Ballentyne followed the first pair and Harry Knowles and Archibald Haequer were the last to get away. Considering the fact that some of the players had never participated in the game before the scores were considered excellent. The summary follows:

The Daily Press—Walter C. Dobbins, 83; Thomas M. Muir, 84; Archibald Haequer, 109.

The Courier-News—M. F. Elderton, 89; George Ballentyne, 100; Harry Knowles, 109.

COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

Twenty-Sixth Annual Meeting to be Held at Elizabeth Next Month.

WESTMINISTER CHURCH

Between Sessions Conferences Will Be Conducted by State Officers of the Organization.

The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Union County Sunday School Association will be held in Westminster church, Elizabeth, Thursday, October 11. The sessions will be held at 10, 2:15 and 7:30 o'clock, with special conferences, between the sessions, conducted by the officers of the State association.

Some of the principal addresses of the day are to be as follows:

The Rev. George H. Trull, assistant minister, Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, N. Y.; the Rev. Pascal Harrower, D. D., rector of the West Brighton Episcopal church, West New Brighton, N. Y.; the Rev. W. H. Morgan, of St. Paul's M. E. church, of Newark; and the Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, general secretary N. J. Sunday School Association.

A special feature of the convention will be the music under the direction of Messrs. Tuller and Meridith, of New York. The first half hour of each session will be devotional and in charge of Grant Colfax Tullar, who will lead a special choir consisting of the best singers in the Elizabeth churches. Isaac H. Meredith is a soloist of rare power and will sing at each session.

The association represents 126 schools in this county. The delegates to the convention are appointed by each of the schools for each department.

The full programme of the convention will soon be furnished to the pastors and superintendents, showing how all phases of the work of an up-to-date Sunday school are treated. Department, from "Cradle Roll" to "Home Department," are to be considered.

A colla will be served to delegates from a distance by the members of the schools in the vicinity of Westminster church. The Rahway Valley railroad will run a special train to Springfield and Summit, leaving Elizabeth in the evening after the convention adjourns. The officers of the association are: President, Walter M. Irving, Westfield; first vice-president, Rev. W. T. Suchell, Rahway; second vice-president, Rev. C. J. Greenwood, Westfield; third vice-president, Rev. J. B. J. Rhodes, Cranford; secretary and treasurer, Richard P. Greaves, P. O. 681, New York city; recording secretary, Rev. W. B. Hamilton, Elizabeth; home department superintendent, Wm. S. Webb, Westfield; elementary superintendent, Miss Edith Cairns, 444 W. 54th street, Plainfield.

The executive committee is as follows: Rev. William R. Mulford, Fanwood; Elias D. Smith, 13 S. Second street, Elizabeth; Wm. Dodge Porter, Summit; Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, 116 W. Grand street, Elizabeth; Geo. H. Krause, Cranford; O. S. Rogers, 606 Madison avenue, Plainfield; Washington Morehouse, Westfield; Geo. G. Teller, Cranford.

C. E. UNION MEETS.

Plans For the Coming Winter Discussed Thursday Night.

A very interesting meeting of the Congress of the local C. E. Union was held last night at Faith chapel. Besides the ordinary business, plans for the winter campaign were discussed. As one branch of the work, it was decided to carry on extensive missionary work in and about the city. Cottage prayer meetings are to be held in the Clinton avenue district every week, commencing the first Thursday in October. It is desired that all Christian Endeavorers give their support in this work.

At the union meeting to be held next month in some large church of the city, it was decided to have the Rev. Henry Wood as the speaker. There was also a discussion for the betterment of the individual societies of the union. Following the meeting refreshments were served.

MISS LENA CARKHUFF NOW MRS. HARRY L. KEEN.

Home Ceremony Unites Well Known Local Young Couple.

In the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends, Harry L. Keen, of Sycamore street, and Miss Lena Carkhuff were married Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Susan Cline, of West Fourth street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, of which the bride is a member.

Miss Lizzie M. Kressler, of Brooklyn, a cousin of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, and William Carkhuff, a brother of the bride, was best man. The home was very prettily decorated with palms, plants and cut flowers.

Following the ceremony a short reception was held after which Mr. and Mrs. Keen left for Falmouth, Mass., where they will spend a short time. On returning they will make their home in the West End. The groom is a machinist and is employed in one of the local shops. He is a member of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., and also the Arion Social Club.

CO. W. C. T. U. IN SESSION

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson Again Chosen Head of Women's Temperance Association.

A MEMORIAL SERVICE

No Person Should Attend Liquor Dealers' Meeting Is Declared in a Resolution—The Officers.

Encouraging reports and a general discussion of the work of the past year and plans for the coming year, together with the election of officers, engaged the attention of the members of the Union County W. C. T. U., at the annual convention held in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, all day Wednesday. An important action during the afternoon session was the adoption of a resolution in which the county Union "requested in the name of humanity that all persons in the county will not encourage by their presence the convention of the liquor dealers' association at Elizabeth, today." This resolution was introduced at the request of Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county president, and signed by her and the secretary.

These officers and superintendents were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Morris L. Barick, Dunellen; recording secretary, Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Plainfield; treasurer, Mrs. Mary C. Cox, Cranford; superintendents—foreign work, Mrs. L. Ussing, Cranford; medical temperance, Mrs. Augustus G. Schmidt, Elizabeth; scientific instruction, Mrs. David D. Irving, Cranford; Sunday-school, Mrs. Frank R. Baker, Jr., Westfield; temperance literature, Mrs. W. H. Morse, Westfield; press, Mrs. L. H. Noe, Elizabeth; medal contests, Mrs. William Curry, Elizabeth; anti-narcotics, Mrs. C. W. Scott, Elizabeth; evangelistic and alms-house, Mrs. W. B. Deland, Elizabeth; systematic giving, Mrs. J. E. Brewer, Westfield; unfermented wine at sacrament, Mrs. S. Stoddard, Elizabeth; railroads and sailors, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Plainfield; prisons and jails, Miss S. J. Keron, Elizabeth; Sabbath observance, Mrs. M. Winter, Plainfield; purity and mothers' meetings, Miss Julia A. Barker, Rahway; railroad men, motormen and firemen, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, Plainfield; flower missions, Miss M. L. Underhill, Rahway; medal and essay contest letter days, Mrs. M. F. Jones, Elizabeth; legislation and petitions, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield; Christian citizenship and franchise, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Elizabeth; gleanings from State reports, Mrs. L. H. Noe, Elizabeth; Loyal Temperance Legion, Miss May E. Howlett, Plainfield.

The afternoon session was concluded with a memorial service during which eulogistic remarks were made by the officers and members concerning those who have died during the past year.

The feature of the evening service was an address by Rev. Florence Randolph, colored of Jersey City, who gave an interesting talk on "The Need of the Hour."

TO CONDEMN AMERICANISM.

Pope Pius Will Issue a Syllabus Covering 100 Questions.

The doctrine of "Americanism," as condemned by Pope Leo XII., is to receive another blow, according to private advices received here, from Pope Pius X. Priests arriving from Rome say it is common talk in European clerical circles that the Pope is preparing a Syllabus of condemned propositions which will cover many branches of church doctrines, and which will reject many assertions made by Catholic writres.

According to the gossip current in New York clerical circles, the condemned propositions will be 100 in number, including Biblical, social, disciplinary, and political matters. ome will contain references to the present situation in France.

Others are to discuss Biblical interpretation as set forth by such eminent scholars as the Abbes Houtin and Loisy and Mgr. Fraser and Father Schell. "Americanism," as the word is interpreted in the document, which is intended to be an exhaustive exposition by Pius X. of the views he, as Pope, entertains regarding the more liberal doctrines.

Sues For Separation.

Mrs. Olive B. Dunn has sued her husband, Wesley J. Dunn, for a separation. The petition was filed in the Court of Chancery this week, by William A. Dennis, counsel for the wife. She alleges extreme cruelty and incompatibility of temper. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have not lived together for six months. They were married about three years ago.

Boys' Entertainment.

A programme of entertainment will be a feature of that reception that will mark the opening of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. on October 28. On that night Secretary Barrows will be formally introduced to the members of his department.

Suburban Tax Rates.

The tax rate of Piscataway township has been fixed at $1.15, a drop of 31 points. Dunellen's tax rate is $1.88, a decrease from $2.

The Constitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published a.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1900.

TO MR. NEW YORK MAN.

The New York Evening World last week presented an excellent argument why the New Yorker of moderate circumstances should abandon his "bird-cage" abode and settle with his family in the suburbs, within thirty miles of New York. That the editor must have had Plainfield in mind is not hard to imagine, for what he says applies particularly to this suburban community. Plainfield, the model town of New Jersey, unexcelled for its advantages and general convenience, is connected with New York by fast expresses running at frequent intervals day and night. The social life is one of its chief attractions. So far as amusements are concerned not even the big city of Newark can surpass it, and as far as its schools and sanitary conditions are concerned few cities in the whole United States are equal to it.

The World says;

"What the tenant pays the landlord for the use of the landlord's property is popularly called 'rent.' In reality, rent includes also the cost of city transportation. The dollars the people of New York city pay annually for shelter are almost fabulous in amount. The total is $500,000,000, or $140 for every man, woman and child.

"This is an enormous sum, and the way to reduce its amount is a pressing problem. High rent means crowded tenement-houses, and reduced expenditure for food, clothing and recreation. It means longer hours of toil, fewer comforts and luxuries, less sanitation, worse health and a higher death rate. Its evils are not inevitable. They cannot be wholly prevented, but they can be mitigated.

"The rent which the tenant pays fed into Duke's park. Hazelton notified Detective Totten, who ran the men down in an automobile. They were taken before Justice Kitchen, where Hazelton identified them as the men who broke the headstone. Justice Kitchen committed them to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Will Soon Announce Tax Rate.

It is believed that the County Board of Taxation will complete its work this week and that it will be possible to ascertain the tax rate for the coming year. The Elizabeth assessors have completed their work and the books have been turned over to the county board for revision. There are yet several matters of importance to be decided before any announcement can be made, but the opinion is that by the last of the week a complete report will be ready.

Hark Luck Follows This Man.

New Brunswick, Sept. 26.—R. W. Hughes, a laundryman, of Church street, this city, seems pursued by a nemesis of bad luck. Beginning a year ago, he has met with all sorts of misfortune. He has lost eight horses by colic, poison and accident, he has been run away with and hit by a train, he has been sunstruck and covered with boils until the record of his accidents numbered twelve last week. Saturday he raised the record to thirteen, and is now in bed, suffering from injuries received by being caught under his wagon as his horse bolted. He, hung on to the lines and stopped the horse, saving himself from fatal injuries, but he will be in bed for some time.

By earnest and persistent effort the members of St. Stephen's church has reduced the indebtedness on its parish house to $952.92. The original cost of the house was $5,000. Active preparations are now underway to completely furnish the house and make some needed improvements.

Miss Edwardes a Favorite.

Paula Edwardes and her company of sixty gave a very pleasing performance of "Princess Beggar" at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday night. The opera is filled with wholesome humor, bright music and costumed as prettily as anything that has visited the house in months. Miss Edwardes was new to local playgoers but she will be warmly welcomed again. Manager Counihan hopes to secure the production for a return date later in the season.

Tom Hughes Is Smiling.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes, of East Second street, are happy over the arrival of a small son. Tom is six inches taller, and his smile looks like a fixture.

Miss Bella Booth Married.

Miss Bella Booth, formerly of this city, was married in Jersey City on August 19 to William Dwinnell, of Greenville, where they are now residing.

An Approaching Marriage.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Mary E. Solradi, of West Seventh street, and Thomas E. Butler, of Plainfield avenue, formerly of Hartford, Conn. It will be celebrated at Elizabeth on October 24.

the accessibility of 2,000 square miles of additional land will enable any one to escape from high rents.

"The gain will mean more than a lowering of rents. The general cost of living can be reduced. A fifty foot lot will raise enough vegetables to supply any family from spring to winter. A corner of the lot gives room for enough chickens to furnish the household eggs. The cost of food can be decreased a third. Old clothes can be worn out in the country. The children will be healthier, happier and sturdier.

"The mistake many people in going to the country make is in trying to do too much. They buy more land and build too big house, which are expensive to heat and care for. They feel that they have to have horses or automobiles. They are not satisfied to do without many things which they would never think of having did they live in an apartment or a flat. Such expensive efforts make country life a bugbear.

"The new system of concrete building is most adaptable to dwellings and will help solve the problem of country living. It requires simple construction without gewgaws and fancy scroll work, which make enlarged bird-cage houses hideous in appearance and expensive for repainting and repairs. The old Dutch farmhouse construction carried out in modern concrete is cheap to build, cheap to heat, easy to keep in order and simple to live in."

SMASHED WOMAN'S HEADSTONE.

Well Dressed Young Vandals Arrested on the Estate of J. B. Duke.

Somerville, Sept. 26.—Two well dressed young men, who gave their names as John Brechtman and Edward Clarenceman, of Phillipsburg, were captured on the estate of James B. Duke near here and placed in the Somerset county jail Saturday by County Detective Totten, charged with vandalism. Mr. Duke recently threatened to close his two thousand acre park to the public because of the numerous depredations of vandals.

John Hazelton, a machinist of this place, was walking in a cemetery just outside of the Duke park when he saw two men demolish a marble headstone erected to the memory of Mrs. William H. Vactor. He attempted to capture the vandals, who fled into Duke's park. Hazelton notified Detective Totten, who ran the men down in an automobile. They were taken before Justice Kitchen, where Hazelton identified them as the men who broke the headstone. Justice Kitchen committed them to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Will Soon Announce Tax Rate.

It is believed that the County Board of Taxation will complete its work this week and that it will be possible to ascertain the tax rate for the coming year. The Elizabeth assessors have completed their work and the books have been turned over to the county board for revision. There are yet several matters of importance to be decided before any announcement can be made, but the opinion is that by the last of the week a complete report will be ready.

Hark Luck Follows This Man.

New Brunswick, Sept. 26.—R. W. Hughes, a laundryman, of Church street, this city, seems pursued by a nemesis of bad luck. Beginning a year ago, he has met with all sorts of misfortune. He has lost eight horses by colic, poison and accident, he has been run away with and hit by a train, he has been sunstruck and covered with boils until the record of his accidents numbered twelve last week. Saturday he raised the record to thirteen, and is now in bed, suffering from injuries received by being caught under his wagon as his horse bolted. He, hung on to the lines and stopped the horse, saving himself from fatal injuries, but he will be in bed for some time.

E. S. HOOLEY BUYS $3,000 SHOW PAIR

PLAINFIELDER ACQUIRES EASTER BELLE AND FLORA BELLE TO EXHIBIT.

Edwin S. Hooley is rapidly assembling a stable of show horses second to none in the fashionable summer colonies which surround Morristown, Bernardsville, the Oranges and this city, making the neighborhood horse shows of Northern New Jersey among the most successful in the metropolitan district. Mr. Hooley last week added to his string the beautiful chestnut mares Easter Belle and Flora Belle, winners in single and double harness at the Durland Horse Show last spring, since when they have not been exhibited.

Mr. Hooley will show them at Morristown next week. The purchase was made of George D. King and the price paid was $5,000. The mares are 15.2 hands high, golden sorrel in color and of exceptional conformation and quality. Both are trotting bred and Easter Belle is a granddaughter of Young Jim, of the handsomest son of George Wilkes, 2.22.

INTELLIGENT FIRE HORSE LEADS RUNAWAY TO STALL.

Animal Made Its Escape from Headquarters Through a Chain Breaking.

One of the city fire alarm circuits became crossed with a trolley wire, Saturday, and caused the gong to blow a number of times. The trouble was located yesterday and quickly remedied.

Early Saturday evening the current from the cross was sufficient to open all the stall doors at headquarters save the ones occupied by the chemical team. The horses ran to their places and the noise worried the ones left behind because they believed they should be out. A moment or so afterward another top opened their doors and the chemical team dashed forward and in its impatience one of them, a "green" animal, plunged against the door chain. It gave way and the horse ran into the street with its mate, "Tom," closely following it.

The animals went up Second street at a "clip" soon took the lead. He is one of the most intelligent equines in the city service and in a knowing way, swung the other horse into Church street, thence to Front and by way of Watchung avenue back to the house. The men had started out in pursuit but could not overtake it, was of no use as "Tom" would take care of the runaway and his assertion was verified when the team came dashing back and went straight to their stalls.

The animal was injured in the slightest or caused any damage through their flight through the streets caused a lot of excitement.

OX LOST ITS CUD.

Odd Incident Attends Visit of Archaic Vehicle to Town.

A team of oxen was seen in the city Friday afternoon for the first time in a long while. It was driven down Front street by a man who looked as if he had come from very far back in the mountains and the combination of oxen, cart and driver excited a lot of attention.

An odd incident marked the progress of the team through town. One of the oxen began to act queerly and the driver could not discover what was wrong. The animal seemed to be in distress, and the driver finally sent for Dr. Herbert, the veterinary. The doctor found the animal over, and discovered that its uneasiness lay in the fact that it had lost its cud.

"It must be along the road somewhere," said the driver, "and I'll go back a way and look for it."

He drove a mile back and returned in triumph with it to the ox. With its cud back in place, the ox contentedly returned all its attention to work, and the team went on. The driver said he was on his way to Findern.

CITY CONVENTION.

Republican Executive Committee Makes Its Plans.

The Republican City Executive Committee met Monday and completed arrangements for the Republican City Convention which will be held at the Casino, Saturday night at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices: Mayor, city collector, one member of the Board of Education, two members of the Board of Freeholders.

The representation at the convention will be as follows:

First ward—First district, four delegates; Second district, two delegates. Second ward—First district, four delegates; Second district, two delegates. Third ward—First district, four delegates; Second district, two delegates. Fourth ward—First district, three delegates; Second district, three delegates; Third district, three delegates.

Other business of importance was considered Monday in planning the approaching campaign and many details were attended to. There was a full attendance of members and the reports received from the different parts of the city were very encouraging to the committee.

VANDALS WRECK THE MOUNTAIN BABY CAMP

DAMAGE AMOUNTING TO $125 DONE OUT OF PURE MALICIOUSNESS.

Vandalism of the most despicable type was revealed to the borough police, Sunday, when Chief Marshal Wells discovered that someone had broken into the King's Daughters' baby camp, located on Johnston's drive, and caused damage amounting to at least $125. Silverware, crockery and furniture in the building were destroyed and in the walls of the structure were battered as if a maniac had swung 'a club against them. Everything was in a state of ruin and as yet it has been impossible to tell whether or not anything was carried away. The destruction seems to have been done out of pure malciousness.

The camp is a frame building wherein the sick children of poor people are kept free of cost during the summer months. It is one of the city's most worthy charities yet there is hardly a year when the place is not wrecked by vandals or robbed. The season closed but a short time ago and all the furnishings had not been taken away. Chief Weiss was asked to look after thet property until this could be done and it was through one of his visits that he learned of the destruction.

An investigation is being conducted but as yet there is no clue to the perpetrators.

MURDEROUS DOG.

Tramp Bull Terrier, In a Rage, Attacks Fox Terrier.

Angered by his inability to get at another dog inside a fence on Clinton avenue Monday morning, a tramp bull terrier turned on a pet fox terrier accompanying Alice Babcock, a little girl living on Dunellen avenue, and half killed it before a delivery wagon driver beat it insensible with the butt of his whip. The terrier was aroused by the barking of the dog inside the fence, and made several ineffectual attempts to get at it. Finally itself, apparently, with rage, the bull sprang at the fox terrier, who ran by at the time.

It was shaking the life out of it when the driver of the wagon, attracted by Alice Babcock's screams, ran to the little dog's rescue. He hammered the bull into insensibility with the butt of his whip, and got the fox terrier away from it in time to save it. He left the bull terrier lying in the road. It had disappeared an hour later.

RESCUED FROM VIOLENCE.

Man Charged With an Attack on a Demented Girl.

Peter Dalley, twenty-nine, living at Kearny, was rescued yesterday from angry residents at North Arlington Borough by Marshal Reippe after Dalley had made an attack on Lizzie Ryan, a demented girl about nineteen years old.

The girl was on her way home with groceries when Dailey enticed her into the woods. He choked her when she fought him, but her screams attracted the attention of Councilman Edward O'Hara and the Marshal. Dayton, in committing Dalley to the Hackensack jail, said he could hardly keep his hands off the prisoner, whom he termed a brutal fiend.

"WASHERLADY'S" UNION.

Organization Has Formulated a Copper-Fastened Set of Rules.

A "Washerlady's" Union is the latest in New Brunswick. The organization has not a charter, but its members have oath-bound. They know what their rights are and they are getting them. The rules of the union, summarized, are:

Work starts at 8:30; day ends at 5 p. m. No overtime allowed. One hour for dinner, for which to be supplied by the employer. Employer must have everything ready on arrival of washerlady—soap, tubs, boiler, etc. Clothes must be put in soak the night before, when the family returns from church, so that they may be easy to wash Monday. Wages $1.25 per day.

FREEHOLDERS GIVE PRIVILEGE TO 'PHONE CO.

Permit to Run Four Heavy Cables Across Elm Street Bridge.

The committees from the Boards of Freeholders of Union and Somerset counties met Monday at the Elm street bridge to consider the application of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company for permission to run four telephone cables across the bridge. The permission was granted under the conditions that the company pay one-third of the cost of painting the bridge whenever it needs it, that it will remove the cables within ten days, if necessary, to make repairs or any changes in the structure.

The company also paid each county $30 for the expenses of holding the meeting. These four cables weigh 2,500 pounds, considered a heavy weight to place on the bridge and the freeholders desired to protect the interest of the counties as far as possible.

LETTER WRITTEN BY HENRY CLAY ON CONVENTION THAT NOMINATED TAYLOR

There is in the possession of Mrs. Georgiana J. Bobien, of 217 Mulberry street, Newark, former corresponding secretary of the New Jersey Woman's Press Club, a letter sent by Henry Clay to David Webb, Mrs. Bobien's grandfather, in the fall of 1848, after the nomination of Zachary Taylor for the Presidency and when Clay was being importuned by leaders of the various sections to allow his name to be placed in nomination for the fourth time for the Presidency. Mr. Webb lived at that time at 432 Pearl street, New York.

The paper is faded and yellow, but the writing is clear and distinct as the day on which Clay penned it. Probably the most interesting thing about the letter is that while in it are discussed matters of national issue, it has never been made public. It is marked "private" and contains in no uncertain language Mr. Clay's wish to have the letter kept from the newspapers.

More than half a century has passed since then, and there are not left many who can remember the stormy contest of '48, when "Old Rough and Ready," as Zachary Taylor was called, came home from the Mexican war to find his name on almost every tongue, and to have himself hailed as the next President. Henry Clay had been disappointed three times, the first in 1824, the second in 1832 and the third in 1844, yet there was a strong feeling that fall that he should be the next candidate.

"Dear Sir.—I received and thank you for your friendly letter. I have been perfectly persuaded that the movements in New York and elsewhere, since the Philadelphia convention, to present my name as a candidate for the Presidency, proceeded from the warmest regard and attachment and the most friendly motives toward me. I have felt the deepest gratitude to my friends for the sentiments which they do me the honor to entertain. And I have felt the injustice and impolicy of the attacks made upon them by a part of the Whig newspaper press most severely.

"After the nomination made at Philadelphia there was but one alternative for me, either to submit to it or to contest it upon the ground that it was not fairly made. Whatever I might have thought of the conduct of the convention itself, or that of particular delegations or that of particular delegates, standing as I did in an interested attitude, it did *not become me to contest the de*cision. I therefore submitted to it. Having promptly resolved on this course, when I saw, in New York and other places, my name again announced as a candidate, I could not remain silent. Silence would have been acquiescence and that equivalent to express assent. Besides, I was formally addressed in several instances and asked if I would consent to become a candidate.

"I shall regret extremely if any of my friends are dissatisfied with the declaration which I have felt bound, uniformly and explicitly, to make, that I could not consent to the use of my name in connection with the Presidency.

"Although I have not the honor of a personal acquaintance with you, the very friendly tenor of your letter entitles you to these explanations, and I shall be happy if they command your approbation. I am, respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. CLAY.

"David Webb, Esq.

"P. S.—I have no objection to your showing this letter to any friends, but I have an invincible repugnance to appearing in the newspapers.

"H. C."

RICHARD CORIELL DIES IN NEW YORK HOSPITAL

FATALLY STRICKEN WHILE AT WORK YESTERDAY MORNING.

Richard E. Coriell, of Fairview avenue, for many years a prominent resident of the city or borough, died Tuesday in the Hudson Street hospital, New York, to which he was taken Monday morning in J. Wesley Johnson's jewelry establishment on John street, where he was head salesman, but of first refused offers of aid, saying that he would soon recover. He sought rest on a couch but quickly sank into a comatose state from which he could not be aroused. He was removed to the hospital and died without regaining consciousness. Members of his family were present when the end came. Apoplexy is ascribed as the cause of death.

Mr. Coriell was sixty-seven years old and had a wide local acquaintance. He was a member of Jerusalem lodge, F. and A. M., and was one of the organizers of the Somerset Club. By many old residents he was considered one of the best posted *men on the early history of Plain*field, practically his whole life having been spent here. He was connected with Mr. Johnson's establishment for years.

He is survived by a widow, one son, W. W. Coriell, of Netherwood, and two daughters, the Misses Emily and Margaret Coriell. He was a brother to Mrs. Johnson and W. W. Coriell, of Lincoln place.

Repairing West End Thoroughfares.

Street Commissioner Gavett has made arrangements with the Public Service Corporation to take all the dirt thrown out by the company while making its street improvements in this city and he is using it to fill in certain streets, including West Front street, west of Grant avenue and West End avenue.

STEALS DAUGHTER OF HIS CAPTAIN

FORMER CADET IN MILITARY ACADEMY ELOPES TO THIS CITY TO WED.

Residents of Nyack were surprised yesterday to learn that Miss Marguerite Wilson, daughter of Captain Joel Wilson, owner and manager of the Hudson River Military Academy, had eloped last Friday to this city with J. Harold Randolph, who last year was instructor in English and military tactics in the academy. Her friends knew she had gone away for a few days, but the fact that she had been married was not known until today. Then the news spread like wild fire as both are popular here.

Randolph and Miss Wilson were married here Friday night. They became acquainted two years ago, when he was a cadet in the academy. Their friendship became love, but he was discouraged in his attentions by her parents. After his appointment as instructor he renewed his suit, and so emphatic was Captain Wilson in his refusal to give his consent to a marriage that the young man resigned and entered the University of Chicago.

Randolph returned to Nyack two weeks ago and clandestinely met Miss Wilson several times. It was arranged that she should drive to this city, where Randolph's sister lives, and be married in his sister's house. The programme was successfully carried out and the couple are now on their honeymoon.

Opera Club to Meet.

The first fall meeting of the Plainfield Operatic Association will be held in the Casino on Monday, October 1, when plans for the operas to be given this winter will be considered. It has already been decided to give "The Chimes of Normandy," early in the season, but the other performances have not been agreed upon as yet.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West End St., N. R. R.; Foot Liberty St., N. R. R.

In Effect Sept. 9, 1900.

For New York—5.17, 2.37, 5.38, 6.02, 6.38, 6.57, 7.06, 7.38, 7.47, 7.58, 8.02, 8.11, 8.38, 9.02, 9.38, 10.38, 11.38, 12.02, 12.38, 1.38, 2.38, 3.38, 4.38, 4.47, 5.02, 5.38, 6.38, 7.38, 8.38

VOTERS CAN ORDER MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Council Would Have Full Power to Acquire Plant After a Favorable Vote.

OPINION BY MR. MARSH

Ample Authority For Council to Investigate Wisdom of Immediate Action Before Election Is Held.

Whenever the voters decide, by ballot, in favor of municipal ownership of the water supply, the city will have power to acquire a plant of its own. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh so expresses himself in an opinion submitted to Councilman Herbert Buxton, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, in reply to his questions regarding the submission of the question to the voters.

In his opinion, Mr. Marsh says the city may, in the event of a favorable vote, either purchase the present plant, acquire it by condemnation or build a system of its own. It would have the power to borrow up to $1,500,000 for the purpose and to issue bonds for that amount. The present or any future council would have full power to act on the question as soon as the election returns were duly filed.

Should the council desire to investigate the question of the advisability of immediate proceedings with regard to municipal ownership, it may do so. There is ample authority for it to use money for that purpose out of appropriations already made for municipal use.

Mr. Marsh's opinion in full is as follows:

Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 21, 1906.

"Mr. Herbert Buxton,

"Chairman of Public Affairs Committee,

"Plainfield, N. J.

"Dear Sir:

"Answering your inquiries concerning the proposed submission to the local voters of this city, of the question whether to adopt for the city the provisions of the 1876 Supply Act, I have to say: that if the voters shall be in favor of adopting the act, the city would thereupon immediately have power to purchase the present water works, or to acquire by condemnation proceedings, or to build a water works system of its own, and would also immediately have power to borrow for any of such purposes, any amount not exceeding $1,500,000, and to issue bonds therefor not exceeding that amount, bearing interest at not exceeding five per centum per annum, the principal to be payable at periods of not less than ten nor more than fifty years from date, and upon the bonds being issued, the city treasurer would immediately have power to dispose of said bonds either at public or private sale, for the best price that could be obtained, not less than par. See General Statutes, page 646, pl. 902, &c., and particularly the amendment in P. L. 1900, at page 44. After the election shall have been carried in favor of adopting the act, no further authority from the people by vote or otherwise will be necessary. The present or any future council would have all requisite authority in the premises immediately upon the filing of the election returns.

"Answering your question as to whether in advance of an election being ordered, it is competent for the common council to make investigation as to the wisdom of taking immediate proceedings toward the acquisition of a water works system for the city, I have to say that the common council has ample power to do so. I know of no limitation upon its power in that respect, except that it can incur no expense or obligation in excess of the limit of expenditure. There would appear to be no reason why any available moneys not already appropriated for other municipal purposes, may not be drawn upon for the purpose of such investigation, if the council shall decide to cause to be made.

"Yours truly,

"CRAIG A. MARSH."

Mr. Buxton stated this morning, in giving out Mr. Marsh's opinion, that the subject would be brought before the Common Council for careful consideration at the next meeting.

McCready Fined $10.

Elisha McCready, who was arrested for his part in a family scrap and who failed to appear in court at the time specified, was arraigned before Mayor Smalley Saturday night. He was fined $10, for the original offense and five for staying away. The amount was paid.

Will Remove to Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Harris, of Mt. Pleasant, entertained a party of friends at their home Friday night, prior to their removal to this city to live. There was music, dancing and supper was served. Mr. Harris has purchased a house on East Front street and will take possession October 1.

McCARDELL MAKES A FORMAL DENIAL

HE BRANDS LEE'S STATEMENT AS ABSOLUTELY FALSE.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., counsel for Andrew McCardell, stated today that he is still at work preparing the papers in Mr. MacCardell's proposed suits for libel against the Courier-News and Robert L. Lee, over the publication of the latter's attack on the Fourth ward leader in the paper on Friday.

Mr. McCardell sent the following letter of denial to the Courier-News this morning:

"In your editorial of September 21st, referring to the letter of Robert L. Lee, published in your news columns of the same issue, you say that if I have any denial or different version of Mr. Lee's story the Courier-News will be glad to print my side of the case to the voters.

"With the idea of determining how nearly you mean what you say, I ask you to give this letter the same prominence which you accorded to Mr. Lee's tale.

"Mr. Lee's story that I stated that I 'would break Clarence Murphy politically, financially and socially, and any other councilman who didn't do as I wanted,' is wholly and absolutely false.

"His insinuation that I was 'interested' in Goff's application for license, in any other sense than that it deserved as much favorable consideration as did some other licenses which were granted, is equally false.

"The trouble with Mr. Lee is that, he wanted to be elected collector of taxes. The salary of the office is probably what attracted him. He had the same chance to secure the approval of the voters as had any other candidate. They, however, seemed to think that he was not the proper man for the place. He seems to imagine that I, in some mysterious manner which he does not disclose, prevented the three thousand Republican voters of the city from electing him, and hence his repeated attacks upon me.

"He does me entirely too much honor and by the token he belittles the voters of the city. I never had and never claimed to have any such power as he ascribes to me.

"My private opinion is that the voters did not want him because they had come to know him oft what he really is. If so, they will hardly be influenced at the coming primaries by any campaign canard which he and his band of five dozen sore and defeated comrades may publish.

Yours truly,

"ANDREW McCARDELL.

"Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 22, 1906."

MISS LEWIS BECOMES MRS. NELSON DANIELS

CEREMONY PERFORMED AT BRIDE'S HOME IN ASHAWAY, R. I.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Abbie Lewis, formerly of this city, and Nelson Daniels, of Willamantic, Conn., which was celebrated on Monday, September 17, at the home of the bride's father, W. W. Lewis, in Ashaway, R. I. Rev. Clayton Burdick, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of Westerly, R. I., performed the ceremony. Among those who attended the wedding were Mrs. George H. Babcock, an aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, of this city. Mrs. Daniels is a sister of Nathan E. Lewis and Howard A. Lewis.

Mrs. Daniels is well-known here, where she attended the Plainfield High School and from which she was graduated two years ago. At that time she made her home with Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street, but during the past year she has been living with her father at Ashaway. The couple will reside at Willamantic, where the groom is engaged in business.

New Rails In Use.

The Public Service Corporation completed the work of laying new rails and ties on West Front street Saturday night and the new tracks are now in use. This week the roadbed will be filled in with crushed stone and put back in good condition. The surplus dirt removed in connection with the improvement is being used to fill in on West End avenue, between Front street and the new bridge. Street Commissioner Gavett having arranged to have the city carts put it there.

Miss Grace M. Bowser Married.

Miss Grace Marcella Bowzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowser, of East Third street, and James Cornelius Willis, of Wilmington, N. C., colored, were married Friday night at 127 West Thirtieth street, New York, by Rev. Hutchins E. Bishop, rector of St. Philips Episcopal church. The couple was attended by William H. Scudder, of Rescue Magee, of Brownstown, this State. The event took place at Elizabeth on Sunday, September 2. The couple is living here for the present.

Announcement of Classes For Fall Exhibit of Riding and Driving Club.

PRIZES ARE OFFERED

Entry List Open to All Owners Between Elizabeth and Somerville Inclusive—The Officers.

The Plainfield Riding and Driving Club has about completed arrangements for its one-day exhibition to be held at the new show grounds, Woodland avenue and Randolph road, Saturday afternoon, October 13, comencing at 12 o'clock noon, and the prize list, put together with the several classes have been issued in pamphlet form. As stated a few weeks ago the show will be held to encourage owners of local thoroughbreds, who might think that they would not have a chance in a big exhibition such as was held in June, and the officers of the club expect to receive a large number of entries from this city, as well as the various towns between Elizabeth and Somerville, where there are some fine horses. It is proposed to make it as local as possible and there is no doubt but that the show will be a success.

The classes are as follows: Horses in harness—Class 1, roadsters shown to road-wagon. Blue ribbon winners of recognized horse shows barred. Class 2—Pacers shown to road-wagon. Class 3—Combination class, horses over 14.2. Class 4—Horses and depot wagon; horse to count 60 per cent., appointments 40 per cent. Class 5—Horses over 14.2 and not exceeding 15.1. Class 6—Horses over 15.1. Class 7—Pair of horses over 14.2, and not exceeding 15.1. Class 8—Pair of horses over 15.1. Class 9—Horses suitable for women's use, to be shown to an appropriate vehicle, women to drive. Class 10—Horses shown to delivery wagon, horses only to count.

Ponies in harness—Class 11—Pony over 13.1 and not exceeding 14.2. Class 12—Pony 13.1 and under, children to drive.

Saddle horses and ponies under saddle—Class 13—Horses over 14.2, and not exceeding 15.1. Class 14—Horses over 15.1. Class 15—Pony over 13.1, and not exceeding 14.2. Class 16—Pony 13.1, and under.

Hunters and Jumpers—Class 17—Green or qualified hunters (light weight) up to carrying under 165 pounds to hounds. Performance over fences 75 per cent., conformation 25 per cent. Class 18—Green or qualified hunters (middle or heavy weight) up to carrying 185 pounds to hounds. Performance over fence 75 per cent., conformation 25 per cent.

All exhibits must be owned and driven by amateurs residing within five miles of the New Jersey Central from Elizabeth to Somerville, also of New Brunswick. The hunters and jumpers classes are also open to horses owned by members of the Watchung Hunt Club. All exhibitors will have a badge of free admission, sent them and a single attendant's badge will be given to each exhibitor of one or two horses, and the same proportion for a larger number of horses.

The officers, directors and horse show committee are as follows:

Officers—President, Charles W. McCutchen; vice president, Lewis E. Waring; treasurer, J. Herbert Case; secretary, Lewis G. Timpson. Directors—George A. Beaton, Wm. J. Buttfield, Robert A. Fairbairn, Charles C. Pisk, Clifford H. Ladd, Jr., Edwin S. Hooley, George P. Mellick, Charles W. McCutchen, Orville T. Waring, Lewis E. Waring, Harry G. Runkle, Daniel F. Giana. Horse show committee—Robert A. Fairbairn, chairman; William J. Buttfield, George P. Mellick, Lewis E. Waring and Orville T. Waring.

Mrs. Duke Sells Home.

New York, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Marion Nanette Duke, the divorced wife of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company has sold her handsome residence at 1 West 65th street to Mrs. Tyler, a wealthy widow residing in the St. Hubert. The sum received for the house, which is an ornate stone affair within a stone's throw of Central Park, was $70,000. Mrs. Duke denies the statement to the effect that she is to become the wife of Major Huntoon, named as co-respondent by Mr. Duke in the divorce proceedings.

Phones to Dispatch Trains.

Washington, N. J., Sept. 25.—The Washington exchange of the Pennsylvania Telephone Company has received specifications for installing a private branch exchange in the Lackawanna station. This is according to the plan of the company to dispatch trains by telephones instead of by a telegraph system. The Washington exchange will probably take in the line as far east as Port Morris and west to Stroudsburg. All the stations, towers, flag stations, etc., will be equipped with phones.

Belated Announcement.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Doretta L. Winn, of Linden avenue, the borough, and Rescue Magee, of Brownstown, this State. The event took place at Elizabeth on Sunday, September 2. The couple is living here for the present.

AFTER CLOCK COMPANY

Borough Board of Education Wants Somerset School Time-Piece Put in Order.

NEW MOTOR PROMISED

Various Other Matters Taken Up at the Regular Monthly Meeting Last Night.

At its regular monthly meeting, Monday, the Borough Board of Education took decided steps to compel the Standard Electric Time Company, of New York, to place the Somerset school tower clock in such condition that it will work properly. Almost from the day it was put in position it has kept time to suit itself and those who have attempted to set watches by it have frequently found themselves ahead or behind. Samuel Townsend recently entered a vigorous protest and in reply received a letter from the company, stating that an expert had looked over the mechanism and found that the trouble was due to the motor and that another one had been ordered.

Mr. Townsend read the letter to the board and on motion it was decided to give the Standard people until October 1 to get the clock in condition to record the proper time. If it is not done by then, the necessary measures will be adopted to bring about a change.

It was reported by Superintendent Kiehn that the expenditures in the Somerset kindergarten is now fifty-six, making the class too large for one session. It was voted to divide the pupils into two classes and have morning and afternoon sessions, increasing the pay of the teachers $5 a month because of the extra work.

In connection with an informal discussion of school matters, it was stated by Mr. Townsend that he had spoken to J. Brognard Betts, assistant State superintendent of schools, with reference to having a State law passed giving Boards of Education the authority to take school census. It would prove of great assistance to these bodies in making preparations for new accommodations by giving the number of new pupils that might be expected. Mr. Betts, so Mr. Townsend said, had considered the matter in a favorable light and that he would undoubtedly carry it up.

On motion of Mr. Miller, the clerk was authorized to borrow $5,200 in anticipation of monies and $50 was added to the appropriation for furnishing teachers' rooms in the Somerset and Watchung schools. The bonds of D. J. Galbraith and James C. Hansen, for work on the new building, were returned at their request.

Hargraves Railroad Show.

All amusement lovers will be interested in the announcement that the famous Thomas Hargreaves railroad shows will exhibit in this city on the Carnival grounds on the afternoon and evening of October 2d. The event will be more than an ordinary holiday: it will be the holiday of holidays. The Hargreaves circus presents decidedly the largest and greatest programme of original, unique and thrilling feature acts to be seen today in circusdom. Nothing like this display was ever before seen in all the world. Whatever your arenic preference you will find plenty to interest, astonish and edify you in the great Hargreaves circus. There are thrilling, blood-curdling aerial acts, in which you every moment expect to see the performer plunged to death; artistic and difficult equestrian performances; incredible athletic and acrobatic acts; phenomenal wild animal exhibitions; wild chariot, jockey and hurdle races, and funny frolics by the clowns. The quantity and quality of the features really staggers human comprehension. It matters not how big these shows may have been in years gone by, this season they completely overwhelm all past efforts. The Hargreaves circus has enjoyed a phenomenal growth solely because of the fact that the proprietor has always aimed to give the amusement public in the very best. The great show comes to Plainfield this year wonderfully in every department. Several notable additions have been made to the already large menagerie, and the seating capacity of the "big top" has been increased to 10,000. You should watch for the big free street parade at 10 a. m. on the above day and date. This pageant is said to be one of the most mammoth and majestic displays of the kind on earth.

ICE MAILED TO PRESIDENT.

Melted Before Package Left Baltimore Postoffice.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Somebody sent President Roosevelt a ten-pound block of ice through the mails, but it was not delivered, having melted before it got here.

The empty package arrived, and Postmaster Harris, of Baltimore, the city where the ice was mailed was called on to explain.

He reports that a Baltimore mail collector found the package on top of the letter box in front of the Joel Gutman Company, on North Howard street. There was not much but water in it when it left Baltimore.

SOMERSET COURT OPENS

Lengthy List of Causes in the Supreme and Circuit Courts.

GRAND JURY AT WORK

Two Murder Cases to Be Investigated—Garretson and Schenck on the Bench.

The September term of the Somerset County Courts opened at Somerville at 10:30 Tuesday, with Justice Abram Q. Garretson presiding. Judge Louis H. Schenck was also on the bench. There was a large attendance of lawyers and spectators.

The Grand Jury, which took its oath, will be called upon to investigate two murder cases.

The list of causes was gone over. Those of interest to Plainfielders are:

Supreme—Frank L. Dealaman vs. John F. Mundy, et al., partners, etc., on contract, Codington & Swackhamer, Reed & Coddington, filed June 27, 1906; Lester Pach vs. H. M. Herbert & Co., on contract, Malcolm Mac Lear, Dungan & Reger, filed August 3, 1906; Rock Hill Construction Co. vs. Charles B. Walton et al., on contract, Vredenburgh, Wall & Van Winkle, J. Lefferts Conard, filed August 16, 1906.

Circuit—Dora Dater vs. Wilhemina Weigand, on contract, Horace Codington, Dungan & Reger, issue joined April 25, 1906.

Justice Appeals—Pasquale Tulio ads. Philip W. Mundy et al., jury, January 10, 1906, Justice Cooper: Beekman & Vosseller, Horace Codington. John Van Fleet et all, ads. John D. Smith, Admr. George W. Smith, dec., jury, tried January 5, 1904, Justice Bailey: Codington & Swackhamer, Reed & Coddington. Mary J. Spencer et als., Exrs., vs. John W. Mundy, jury, tried April 11, 1906, Justice Kitchen:, Horace Codington, F. A. Pope. George Bowers ads. Christopher Herlich, jury, tried June 13, 1906, Justice Brampton; Horace Codington, F. J. Blats.

It is believed the civil list will soon be disposed of, but the criminal cases will probably take weeks for trial.

PRIMARY AGRICULTURE COURSE FOR THE SCHOOLS.

That May Be Result of County Superintendents' Replies to Circular Sent to Them.

Trenton, Sept. 26.—A circular to county school superintendents, and signed by State Superintendent C. J. Baxter, has been sent by the State department of public instruction. The circular is in part as follows:

"In order that the State there is a growing appreciation of the possibilities of agriculture and a corresponding demand for a better and more general knowledge of its elements. The tendency of the instruction given our rural youth in the past has been to wean them from rural life. The time has come to make this instruction of such a character that it will put them in closer, broader and more intelligent touch with their environment and cause the rural school to become a more practical force.

"Kindly prepare, as though designed to be incorporated with the course of study now in use in the rural and village schools under your supervision, an outline of a course that will embody the elements of agriculture as related to the conditions of soil and climate, and of supply and demand in your county. We are impelled to make this request because these conditions are best known to you, and because such a report from each of the twenty-one counties will furnish a special committee of our High School Teachers' Association the information needed to prepare a suggestive course in elementary agriculture that will prove sufficiently comprehensive for general use."

NEW CLUBS FOR THE BOYS OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Unusually Active Season Planned By Department Cabinet At Season's First Meeting.

Increased activities will mark the new season in the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. The Boys' Cabinet, at its first meeting of the fall, Monday afternoon decided enough to make that a certainty.

Several new clubs will be formed among the members. The exact character of them has not been determined upon, but the idea is to give the members a full opportunity of grouping together for the enjoyment of favorite sports or pursuits or religious work. A special effort is to be made to keep the High School boys on the move.

The formal opening reception, with which will be combined the department's greeting to Hayden W. Barrows, the new secretary, will be held Thursday night. An entertainment will be held in the main hall, and the reception proper will follow in the boys' room upstairs.

Description of Mountain Spring.

One of the little waifs brought to the Fresh Air Camp from New York gave a graphic description of a spring on the mountain side. She said, "We found a hole in the ground full of ice water."

P. S. C. Change.

W. J. Davenport, who has been the division superintendent of the Public Service Corporation with headquarters at the Watchung Avenue Stand, has resigned his position to take a similar one in the west. Mr. Davenport has been with the company seven years advancing from a motorman to that of assistant superintendent of this division. He has been held in high esteem by all the employees under him. He will leave Plainfield October 1. F. H. Brown, who was the district superintendent of the company, and who left the company several weeks ago, is now manager of the suburban lines at Pawtucket, R. I.

Special Wednesday Night Topics.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, has arranged a programme of special topics for the Wednesday night prayer-meetings for the next few weeks. The general topic will be "Consider Jesus," and the divisions for the various nights are as follows: September 26, as a member of the family; October 3, as a member of society; 10, as a servant of God; 17, as a student of Scripture; 24, as a worshipper; 30, as a worker; November 7, as a sufferer.

Received Undertaker's License.

Under a law passed last spring, undertakers and embalmers in the State must take out a license before October 1. A. M. Runyon & Son received theirs today having made application and filled all requirements.

DIED.

MURPHY—On Tuesday, September 18, 1906, Paulita, youngest daughter of William H. and Mary A. Murphy, aged 7 months, 7 days.

DUFFY—In this city, Sept. 18, 1906, Nora, wife of John Duffy, in her 45th year.

LAIBLE—At Dunellen, N. J., Sept. 21, 1906, George Newman, youngest son of William and Sarah Laible, aged 1 year, 6 months, 6 days.

ARROWSMITH—At Keyport, N. J., on Monday, Sept. 24, Deborah C. Arrowsmith, daughter of the late John H. Coward.

ANGLEMAN—At Newark, N. J., on Saturday, Sept. 22, 1906, J. Elmer, youngest son of John J. and Nellie F. Angleman, aged 20 years, 2 months, 5 days.

SCHORB—In this city, Sept. 19, 1906, Hazel Josephine, daughter of William and Minnie Schorb, aged 3 months.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 124 E. Lake St., Chicago.

c 7 19 18

Jack Henderson Series For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Benj. H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which looks so easy to write. These books are the best issued and fairly blossom with wit and humor. Strong covers, attractive, with seven-half-tone illustrations. The titles are:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson on Matrimony.
Jack Henderson on Politics.
Jack Henderson on Experience.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues during hot weather. Only 50c. Prices per copy 50c; per set, $2.50; postpaid. For sale at booksellers or write to publishers.

HURST & COMPANY
205-209 Broadway, New York

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books. 8 26

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO JOHN BROWN—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day and date hereof, in a cause wherein Catherine Burke Brown is petitioner and you are defendant, you are required to appear and answer the petitioner's petition, on or before the eighth day of October next, or in default such decree will be made against you, as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

WILLIAM M. STILLMAN,
Solicitor, 127 West Front Street,
Plainfield, New Jersey.
Dated, September 7, 1906. s 13 4

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 22d Street New York

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnaces
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,
Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business at all times and in all cases.

D. W. L. [illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MATHARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second streets

Tinners,
Plumbers
Gas Fitters,

Grates and hooks for all kinds of stoves can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your tinware made over to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. F. Arnold, } Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, }
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel appointing agents. Others for local work. Salary and expenses. $900 salary guaranteed yearly; straight salary, no commissions; rapid advancement, old established house. Grand chance for earnest man or woman to secure pleasant, permanent position. Liberal income and future. New, brilliant lines. Write at once.

STAFFORD PRESS,
23 Church St., New Haven, Conn

W. [illegible] CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Offices Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenue

First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone connection No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGE[illegible]

OFFICE,

SOMERSET CO.'S SCHOOLS

Supt. H. C. Krebs in Annual Statement Compares Town and Rural Schools.

STATISTICAL REPORTS

Total Enrollment 6,417—Increase in Teachers' Salaries $7,368—New School-houses.

Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the North Plainfield schools, who is also county superintendent, has submitted the annual report of school affairs in Somerset to State Superintendent Charles J. Baxter. It shows them to be in good condition and notes an increase of twenty-nine per cent. in attendance over last year. The report contains many excellent suggestions for making further progress from both the teachers and pupils' standpoint and in details is as follows:

"The statistical report for Somerset county shows this year a total enrollment of 6,417 pupils, an increase over last year of 82 pupils. In spite of this small increase there were employed seven teachers more than last year. The daily attendance increased 29 per cent., tardiness decreased by 1,310 cases. The average annual salary of male teachers (not including superintendents and supervising principals) rose $54, that of female teachers $6.36. The increase in total teachers' salaries was $7,368, in manual training $2,000, text books $238, transportation of pupils $115, tuition of pupils in other districts $210.

"The number of grammar school graduates rose from 65 to 115, an increase of 77 per cent.

"The most important figures are always those that relate to the district tax. At the annual meeting in March the people voted a total increase for all school purposes of 26 per cent. The total increase for current expenses was 21 per cent. Conspicuous among the districts that increased their amounts for current expenses are, Bernards Township, 169 per cent; Hillsborough township, 82 per cent; North Plainfield township, 43 per cent; Bridgewater township, 37 per cent. The last named added 46 per cent a year ago. It may be stated that in almost every instance these increases were voted unanimously. In Bernards township the school meeting was very largely attended, but not one vote was cast against doubling the tax. The largely attended, but not one vote was cast against doubling the tax. The people of that township were gratified with the progress of the schools, and were perfectly willing to bear the expense of the improvements. The same feeling obtains in the vicinity in nearly all parts of the county, though I regret to state that in several cases, the failure of the boards of education to ask for more money and use their influences toward securing it has neutralized all efforts toward the improvement of their schools.

"There has been some activity in the building of new school houses. Bridgewater township completed and occupied its four room addition at Raritan, and established a one year's high school course. North Plainfield borough opened its $40,000 addition in September; and at the same time the eight room $100,000 building at Bernardsville was turned over to the district by the donor, Mr. Frederick Olcott, with appropriate exercises.

"Last April Bound Brook vited $20,000 for an eight room building to be known as public school No. 2. Bedminster township is about to erect an eight room building at Pottspack, and a four-room building has been voted in the borough of Rocky Hill. A four years' high school course has been established at Bernardsville, a one year's course at Peapack. Somerville has introduced a special teacher of drawing and manual training.

"The Somerset County School Board Association held two meetings during the year under the presidency of Judge H. Schenck. Both were well attended, and of much profit.

"The Somerset County Teachers' Association held three meetings, the last of which was the largest in the history of this body. President C. G. Horner arranged an excellent program for each occasion.

"It has been a great pleasure to me to note the increased efficiency of our teachers in the graded and in the ungraded schools. Especially in the latter has there been a marked improvement in the enthusiasm and inspiration. One call, the tone of the school in a few minutes; and tone is the difference between life and death. It results from the efforts of an inspiring teacher to touch the souls of the pupils. When these are in accord the air of the school is charged with electric power, and wonders are accomplished in the way of awakening pupils to high ideals.

But after this is said. It is still true that there is a wide gap between the rural and the town schools; and that gap is increasing. Because more solid progress is being made in the and city than in the country.

The town pays good salaries. It none but trained and ex- teachers. It furnishes all the facilities needed work. It gives them a ool room, and recognizes success by an increased salary.

"The rural school pays a low salary. It is compelled therefore to take many untrained and inexperienced teachers. Those have few facilities for work, and there is little to encourage them to put forth their best efforts.

"Yet in the rural school is precisely where the best possible teached is needed. In the city there are many opportunities for inspiration and culture outside of the school; but in the country the teacher is often the only uplifting force in the community. If the children of the country get no inspiration from the school, they never get it at all, and thus lose their intellectual and moral birthright. Yet into this position of almost fearful moment to the children we send our untrained, inexperienced, and often helpless teachers. The child has this one chance for life, and we call in the poorest doctor. It seems to me that the State fails in its duty to its people when it permits the unlicensed teacher to practice on the souls of children, just as it would be culpeable if it allowed untrained physicians to practice on their bodies.

We have come to the point in our educational development when no license should be granted to an untrained applicant who wishes to enter the profession of teaching. The country child is entitled to as much as the city child; and the State should see that it is granted that right.

The increased amount of State aid due the districts will make it possible for teachers' salaries to me materially raised without additional local tax. To make this desideratum a reality a law should be passed fixing the minimum salary of teachers at fifty dollars per month. The law now compels suitable school buildings, a nine months' term, and regular attendance. Let it now go a step further and compel good teachers. Let us give the country boys and girls a chance, and not continue to deny them the opportunity of advancement.

"The minimum salary mentioned would make it possible to get trained teachers from other States when the supply furnished by our own State shall have been exhausted. If it be thought unpatriotic to do this, let us consider whether it is more patriotic to educate children as a matter of State pride. It is our duty to get the best possible teachers wherever they may come from. Our city schools have been doing this for *years, and have prospered accord-*ingly.

"The schools of Somerset county have suffered a severe loss in the retirement of Miss Lizzie S .VanKirk from the profession. Miss VanKirk taught in the schools of this State for thirty years, and her services were pursued in Montgomery township. She is a noble woman whose spiritual power has been a source of untold inspiration to the many pupils under her care. Though receiving a salary so small that it could hardly do more than provide the bare necessities of life, Miss VanKirk secured the regular instruction of music in her little country school out of her own slender means and in every other way brought influences of culture and refinement to her pupils. Moreover she was progressive in her methods of teaching, a regular attendant and active member of the County Teachers' Association, and an effective religious worker in the community. But for failing health she might have continued her splendid work. It is fitting that this official record be made in appreciation of her services to the youth of our land.

CONTINUED SCARCITY OF ICE.

Two Cars Shipped from Pennsylvania Are Now Two Days Overdue.

The ice question in Plainfield is still one for much concern on the part of dealers and consumers. Depending practically on the supply from the hygeia plant on North avenue, the Plainfield Natural Ice Company finds it impossible to meet the demands. This morning it was stated that the company expects a couple of cars of ice from distant points. They were due yesterday, but for some unknown reason have been delayed.

Consumers who have been getting a daily supply of 800 and 900 and even greater quantities have to be satisfied with about half the quantity. Representatives of the local company, as well as the independent dealers are still on the lookout for a supply and are making every effort to get ice. The product of the hygeia plant is used just as fast as it can be turned into the machinery being run day and night.

Too Heavy.

"So the engagement's off between May Plumpers and Jack."

"Yes."

"Who was in that big blue car?"

"Mr. Undertaker and Embalmer Berriam."

Camped in Mountains.

Boys' Secretary H. W. Barrows and several members of the Y. M. C. A. Junior department camped, last night, in the Notch back of Scotch Plains. The party included David and Frank Wilcox, Carl Strong, John Schofield and the Parsons boys.

ANNUAL REUNION OF 14TH REGIMENT

CIVIL WAR VETERANS HOLD 28TH SESSION AT ELIZABETH.

Survivors of the Fourteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, some of whom are Plainfielders, held their twenty-eighth annual reunion in Elizabeth, in Arcanum Hall, Broad street, Wednesday. They began to arrive at about 10 o'clock, and were cordially greeted by members of the reception committee. The hall was decorated with flags, among which was the old war flag carried through the war by Company C, which was recruited by Col. Chauncey Harris, who was chosen president of the regimental association at a meeting held at Rahway last year.

At 10:45 o'clock the assemblage was called to order by Col. Harris, who spoke words of welcome, and said he was pleased to see so many members of the association in attendance.

Mayor Berry was introduced and made an address of welcome. He welcomed the veterans of the city, where he said they would see much to interest them in the historic buildings. Mayor Berry referred to the sacrifices the veterans had made in the war for the Union, and hoped they would enjoy their reunion.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. D. Sorter, of Trenton, a member of the association.

Major John C. Patterson, secretary of the association, reported that the site for the monument to the memory of the veterans of the Fourteenth Regiment at Monmouth would be dedicated on July 3, 1907. He said the Legislature would undoubtedly make an appropriation to have the veterans and their wives and daughters taken to the battlefield on that day. It was resolved that the next reunion would be held at the site of the new monument on that date.

After listening to the report of the treasurer, Captain Putnam, of Rahway, and the appointment of a committee to nominate officers, the veterans and their wives as guests of Tiffin Degreen Post, No. 25, Grand Army of the Republic, and headed by a detail of the post, marched to the Soldiers and Sailors Monument at Military Square. The procession was led by the drum and bugle corps of the Christ Church Cadets, of Elizabeth.

Col. Chauncey Harris marshaled the parade. On arriving at the monument a hollow square was formed.

By request, Sergeant Elias D. Smith, of the Fourteenth, read the poem he had written which he delivered at the dedication of the monument on July 4. It was greeted with applause. After the reading of the poem all joined in singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

Many persons were attracted to the spot, among the number being a class from school No. 10, whose pupils were interested spectators of the exercises. At 1:45 o'clock the exercises at teh monument were ended. Then, with the young musicians playing lively airs, the veterans returned to Arcanum Hall, where dinner was served at 1 o'clock.

The reunion was continued yesterday afternoon, on the programme being an address by the Rev. Dr. T. E. Weaver, who was an army chaplain. Miss Luella C. Harris, a daughter of Colonel Harris, sang.

About 100 members of the Fourteenth Regiment attended the reunion. They were given souvenirs indicating the history of historic buildings in Elizabeth, prominent churches, etc.

The Fourteenth N. J. Volunteer Infantry was recruited in 1862, Company C, under command of Captain Chauncey Harris, representing the city of Elizabeth. It served until the close of the war, and was honorably discharged in June, 1865. The regiment participated in many of the hardest-fought battles of the Civil War.

Major John C. Patterson, secretary of the association, read the following letter of regret from President Frank Bergen, of the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument Association:

"My Dear Col. Harris—I regret very much that I will not be able to meet the veterans on Wednesday net at the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument in Elizabeth, as I must be absent in New England. I should be happy indeed to extend to them a very cordial welcome in the name of the monument on behalf of the association, and personally as well.

"In July when I had the honor of presenting the monument to the city I realized that it is impossible to express in words the obligations of our generation, and indeed of our race, to the brave and patriotic gentlemen who offered their lives for the Union in the Civil War. Indeed, I have wondered sometimes whether even the soldiers and sailors themselves fully realized the magnificent and grandeur of their action. It is hardly possible that anyone could have foreseen through the fearful clouds that obscured the feature in 1861 that the Union soldiers and sailors were about to force civilization forward and progress rapidly that it had ever been advanced before, and at the same time to secure, apparently for all time, every advanced position that should be taken.

"The granite shaft which we have erected is an effort to express popular admiration of the soldiers and sailors who actually, for the first time, founded the Union through the Civil War in the whole country. Nothing else so grand was ever brought into existence and secured by the intelligence, heroism and sufferings of man.

"I sincerely trust that you and your comrades may live long to enjoy the affectionate regard of your fellow citizens. Sincerely yours,

"FRANK BERGEN,
"President of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument Association of Elizabeth."

SOUTHSIDE SEWER BIDS

To Be Received at the October Meeting of the Common Conucil.

SPECIFICATIONS READY

Scarcity of Labor and Pipe May Hold Up Improvement—Italians Prefer Other Kinds of Work.

While the Common Council expects to receive bids at the October meeting for the construction of the proposed Southside sanitary sewer, the street committee, which has the improvement in charge, is a little doubtful about getting the work started very soon. There is a scarcity of labor, and this, added to the difficulty in getting pipe, may prove a barrier to rushing through the proposed plans.

At the September meeting bids were to have been received for the work, but the plans and specifications were not quite complete, and besides very few bids were received for the reasons mentioned. Of course, it would be possible for the city to make the improvement, but it would probably cost more money that it is willing to pay. While there is a need for this addition to the sewer system, the improvement is not what would be called imperative. However, there may be bids received next month within the calculations of the street committee and if so the work will be undertaken at once.

The work on the East End sewer is still progressing, but the contractors are still meeting with difficulty in getting a sufficient number of laborers. The Italians, mostly employed on sewer work, prefer other kinds if they can get it, and as the Public Service Corporation has been doing a great deal of repair work in town this year, and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has been pushing the underground work, a large number of Italians have been employed by these two corporations, resulting in a great scarcity of labor for sewer improvements.

SERVANT GIRL PROBLEM PUZZLES PLAINFIELDERS

ONE MAID REFUSES POSITION AT $35 A MONTH IN FAMILY OF FOUR.

One of the questions that is vexing local housewives is the inability to engage servant girls to do housework. Never before in the history of the city has there been such a scarcity of domestic help. Prominent society families by the score are unable to secure servants, and as a result of the famine in cooks and kitchen girls more than one matron is obliged to do her own housework. What present conditions will have on the social season during the coming winter is hard to conjecture at this time.

What girls are still willing to do housework duty are demanding high rates of wages, which housewives declare "is simply outrageous." In one instance, a few days ago, an applicant was offered a position for $35 per month. The wages suited her apparently, but when she was informed that the family consisted *of four, husband, wife and two chil*dren, she politely declined to take the situation, giving for her reason that she did not care to work in large families.

Some of the housewives have been in the habit of securing help from New York employment offices, but in the majority of cases the girls leave after receiving their month's wages, and seek other positions. The local employment bureaus are overrun with applications from distracted housewives who are unable to secure domestic help. A manager of one of the bureaus ascribes the reason of present conditions to the fact that girls of the present day have no desire for housework, preferring to work in factories and offices.

Luncheon Parties at F. C. C.

Thursday was a particularly busy day at the Plainfield Country Club, where a number of private luncheons were served. Among those entertained were Mrs. A. G. Hooley, who gave a luncheon to a party of six; Mrs. Frederick W. Butler and Mrs. Henry L. Hall, who were in a party of six; Miss Sarah Schuyler and Miss Adelaide Ball, who entertained Miss Edgar, of Elderon, in honor of tennis player of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association. Gordon Abbott also gave a luncheon to a party of Philadelphia friends, and Mrs. Henry C. Irons entertained a party of Plainfielders. W. M. Sperry and his brother, T. E. Sperry, of Cranford, were also among those who had lunch at the club.

WIFE-BEATER SHED VAIN TEARS IN COURT

WALSH SOBBED A PETITION FOR MERCY BUT HE GOT SIXTY DAYS.

Weeping and sobbing, a drunkard wife-beater pleaded vainly for mercy in the city court Friday. James Walsh, the prisoner, was sentenced to sixty days in jail.

Walsh was arrested Thursday by Patrolman McKeon at his home on West Second street, after he had beaten his wife and children so brutally that the neighbors were forced to interfere. McKeon, Detective McCarthy and Chief Kiely testified that he was a heavy drinker and had assaulted him wife with weekly regularity. The family appeared to suffer for want of food and clothing, the officers said, and there was nothing they knew in Walsh's favor.

Big tears coursed down the prisoner's face as he faced the magistrate, and his body shook with sobs.

"Give me a chance, judge, please," he begged. "I'll take the pledge and I'll never lay a hand on my wife again. It's the drink, judge. I don't know what gets in me when I'm this way. Give me a chance and I'll never touch it again."

"A man who will strike the woman he has promised to honor and protect, the woman who has borne his children, is a dog," said the magistrate sharply. "I can't see that you are entitled to any chance. Sixty days."

Walsh's sobs filled the courtroom as he was led back to his cell, and the noise of weeping filtered through the partition after he was locked in.

R. P. BACHE RESIGNS.

Quits P. S. C. to Take a Job Out West.

Ralph P. Bache, who has been assistant superintendent of the electric department of the Public Service Corporation, with Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville, as his territory, for the past two years, has resigned to accept the position of manager of the Colorado Springs Electric Company and the Colorado Springs Light and Power Company. He will leave with his new duties October 1. Mr. Bache will have entire charge of all the electric business of the above-mentioned companies at Colorado Springs.

Mr. Bache has been connected with the Public Service Corporation and its constituent companies for nine years. Prior to his connection with the Public Service Corporation he represented a Pittsburg house on the road. Since coming to Plainfield Mr. Bache has seen many improvements, including the new transmission lines between Plainfield and Bound Brook, Lincoln and Somerville and the old steam plants at Greenbrook and Somerville have been abandoned. The electric service has been greatly improved and it was largely through his efforts that the local rates for lighting were reduced.

MISS MARGARET SMITH ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY.

Falls Beneath a Train and Is Rescued by a Brakeman.

Miss Margaret Smith, of Bound Brook, who is employed as an operator at the local Pennsylvania, had a narrow escape from serious injury Wednesday morning, as she attempted to board a train on the New Jersey Central to come to this city. The steps of the coach were wet and when she attempted to step up her feet slipped and she was thrown backward, falling under the train. The train was about to start, but fortunately one of the brakemen saw her and ran to her assistance.

She suffered a severe sprain of the right arm and left foot, compelling her to return home. She is now improving and able to fill her position.

Approaching Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Manning, of Dunellen avenue, to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith Manning, and Clarence Brouard, of West Seventh street. The event will be celebrated on Wednesday, October 3, at the home of the bride's parents.

LOCAL DEALERS CANNOT GET A SUPPLY OF ICE.

Depending on the Output of the Hygeia Ice Plant to Supply the Trade.

Failing in its efforts to secure ice in any quantity from outside source, the Plainfield Natural Ice Company has been obliged to depend entirely on the output of the hygeia ice plant on North avenue. This is about twenty tons a day. Representatives of the company as well as John Morton, an independent dealer, have been unable to find ice in any considerable quantity to ship to Plainfield.

It was stated yesterday on the best of authority that ice was to be had outside, but that the local wholesale dealers would not pay the price quoted. It could not be learned just where this ice is located, but according to the statements of the local dealers they cannot find it at any price. With the present warm spell a lack of ice makes it a hardship for many, and the dealers, as well as consumers, are hoping that cooler weather may arrive soon.

M'CARDELL TO SUE PAPER FOR LIBELLING HIM

MAY IRWIN STARTS OFF IN NEW HOBART PLAY

BIG AUDIENCE WELCOMED HER AT THE NEW PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Black—beg pardon—May Irwin came back to the New Plainfield Friday night and for the first time on any stage presented her new play, "Mrs. Wilson, That's All," a comedy in three acts from the pen of George V. Hobart. The combination of Irwin and Hobart is always an enticing one and when the curtain dropped for the last time, the big audience declared it was glad it came and the heat wasn't so bad after all, so there.

"Mrs. Wilson, etc.," is not unlike other Hobart concoctions and in its general theme bears a strong resemblance to "Mrs. Black is Back." Miss Irwin's vehicle last season. It has splendid dialogue, however, and affords the fair, fat and—May just the opportunities she needs to display her own individual style of fun-making. She holds the stage the greater part of the time and has known how to do it and there's no harm done.

The supporting cast is good and includes John Hazard and Lillian Dix, who as "Gerald Sweeney" and "Aunt Libbie" took some of the limelight from the star. Their style of humor is of the higher order and in contrast for the better with the horse-play that is so frequently served up as comedy.

During the play Miss Irwin sang ten songs, which were well received. Among them were "Good Bye, Alice dy," "Any Old He Was a Friend of Mine," "Moonshine," "My Summer Girl," "Mrs. Wilson Wants to Know," and "Sleepy Head." She gave one in the last act which might be left out of her repertoire as it does not add any to her reputation as a purveyor of all that is clean.

The author of the piece and a large gathering of New York newspapermen witnessed the performance. Mr. Hobart said afterward it moved the smoothest of any "first night" he had ever attended.

REVERSED FLAGS START SMALL RIOT

Trouble Follows Liquor Dealers' State Convention Held At Elizabeth.

Incidents connected with the annual meeting and banquet of the New Jersey State Liquor Dealers' Association, which closed Thursday, have caused considerable discussion.

There was a small riot Thursday night at a saloon kept by a man named Fritz, at Elizabeth, because said Jersey street, resulting from the fact that three American flags were flying all day upside down from the top of the building. One of the flags was half-masted. Persons who saw these apparent signals of distress concluded that the saloon was intended to show his feelings toward the Bishops' law.

A crowd, composed mainly of workingmen, went to the saloon in the evening and demanded that the flags should be displayed properly or else hauled down. The proprietor explained the flags had been hung out by an immigrant who probably didn't know the correct way to display them. Nevertheless, the flags were not changed.

After threatening to wreck the place, some of the crowd went to the roof and, after hauling down the flags, raised them in proper style. Then the angry citizens descended to the saloon and it would probably have gone hard with the saloonkeeper but for the timely arrival of the police. The crowd was dispersed promptly.

Although Mayor Berry did not welcome the saloonkeepers to the city, it is generally thought that he has been placed "in a hole" by the man who did. Prior to the meeting of the convention a Woman's Christian Temperance Union requested the Mayor "in the name of humanity and all that is decent" not to offer a welcome to the visiting saloon men.

The Mayor found it convenient to leave the city, and Col. Collins, president of the City Council, welcomed the liquor men to the city. In doing so he remarked that he had been requested by the Mayor to offer a welcome to the visitors, and it is this statement that has aroused the anger of the temperance folk. Another thing that has caused the indignation of the opponents of the liquor business is that by order of the City Council the City Hall was decorated in honor of the visitors. Even the police station was gay with flags and bunting.

Col. Collins is commander of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., and also president of a brewing company.

Deeds and Contracts.

John A. McKeon, Jr., et ux. to Charles Conover, northeasterly side Sherwood place, corner Laura Radford, Plainfield, $1,500; C. N. Lelasseux Lumber Co. to David N. Force, easterly side Madison avenue, 100 feet of Randolph road, Plainfield, $1; George H. Mundy et ux. to John T. Hoffman, Second street, corner O. H. Sheppard's land, Plainfield; Clara N. Naylor with Peter C. Thomsen, carpenter, etc., new building, 1221 West Third street, Plainfield, $1,605.

He Retains Counsel to Secure Damages From Courier-News and Robert L. Lee.

CAMPAIGN SENSATION

Former Councilman's Letter Derogatory to McCardell Cause of Trouble—Hetfield, Sr., Makes Statement.

The first real sensation of the hot campaign being waged in this city between the regular Republicans and the Colbyites was sprung Saturday when Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell retained counsel to sue the Courier-News Publishing Company and Robert L. Lee, a former councilman who is active in the "new idea" movement, for alleged defamation to his character. The action, a civil suit for libel, will be instituted, he says, on Monday, the papers now being in the course of preparation. Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., has been re*tained by him as counsel.*

Mr. McCardell, who has been particularly active as a leader in local politics for a number of years, has been the object of repeated attacks on the part of the Republican party daily, but up to today he has apparently paid no attention to its criticism. Early this morning, however, he went to the office of Mr. Hetfield and after a short consultion, the lawyer announced that civil suits would be instituted immediately.

"See my counsel," said Mr. McCardell when approached by a representative of The Daily Press today. Mr. Hetfield was seen and this is his statement: "I have been retained by Mr. Andrew McCardell to bring civil suits for libel against the Courier-News and Mr. Robert L. Lee. You can say that the papers in the suit are now being prepared by me and that they will be filed Monday when the proper writs will be issued.

The article appearing in the paper in question forming the basis for the suits is as follows:

"To the Editor of the Courier-News:

"Several days ago an evidently inspired letter was published in the Daily Press, signed by Edward Harding, and purporting to have been written by him in which he strongly doubts whether or not we have a political boss or bosses in Plainfield.

"Perhaps the following circumstance will remove his doubts and prove absolutely that we really have such a thing as a political boss. If it does not I am prepared to furnish others that may tend to make him stop and think.

"Inasmuch as he is a 'regular' and not a Republican, he undoubtedly remembers the time when Councilman Murphy stated that he would not vote for John Goff's or any other liquor license. Andrew McCardell was more interested in John Goff's application for a liquor license than any other person in Plainfield and on hearing of Councilman Murphy's determination to vote against the granting of the said license he was absolutely beside himself with anger and realizing that he could not deliver Murphy's vote he demanded Murphy's resignation as a member of the common council in order that he (McCardell) could put some one in place who would vote for this license and enable McCardell to redeem his pledge. To McCardell's mortification and chagrin he was unable to compel Murphy to resign or vote for John Goff's license, which no longer existed, for that he said in the presence of myself and other members of the common council, accompanied by language unprintably vile, "I will break Clarence Murphy politically, financially and socially, and every other councilman who does not do as I want him."

"The result of the ensuing election showed conclusively that Boss McCardell knew whereof he spoke, and with the assistance of James T. MacMurray, who was likewise deeply interested in John Goff's application for a liquor license, five of the then members of the common council who would not be controlled by the said two bosses, failed of renomination.

"This same course is now being pursued by these same bosses against Councilmen Sandford and Tyler, and for the same reason.

"All I ask Mr. Harding is to 'stop and think.'

"ROBERT L. LEE."

Walter Colombo Returns Home.

Walter Colombo, of Jersey City, who has been in Muhlenberg Hospital for several weeks under treatment for injuries received by coming in contact with a mowing machine at Berkeley Heights, was discharged Friday morning and returned to his home. At the time of the accident, Colombo, who is a young lad, had one foot cut off by the mowing machine and the other one was badly lacerated. The prompt response of a trained nurse, who lived near Berkeley Heights, saved the boy's life. She gave temporary treatment, stopping the flow of blood and the hastened with the lad to the hospital, holding him on her lap with one hand and driving with the other.

FANCY WORK FOR THE IDLE MOMENTS.

The woman who doesn't know how to embroider or knit can always busy herself if she wants just a bit of plain, fancy work in making a bag. If she can embroider and do elaborate needlework, so much the better, for there is absolutely no end to the pretty bags that are seen nowadays, and that seem to be really essential to the comfort of the feminine sex at present. There are opera and theatre bags, and bags for keeping the fan in. Little silk bags are used for hair receivers, and dainty lingerie bags for my lady's expensive French corset. Piece bags and mending bags are useful rather than ornamental, and are ruffled and sponge bags, and bags for the bathing suit, too. Since fashion has decreed that chatelaine and handbags are to be embroidered, much exquisite handwork is put on these small accessories, and then, of course, there is the beautiful laundry bag that may boast of only side seams, a hem and a draw-string, or that may be a marvel of taste and handwork.

Parasol bags or cases are almost a necessity now that these articles are so elaborate. These are made of white linen or cambric, cut in three sections, much like that of the parasol itself, except that at the narrow end they do not come to a point, but are about two inches in width. The sections are sewed together, then hemmed top and bottom, with tapes run through the hems. The parasol is dropped into the bag, the ends drawn up and the tapes tied, thus entirely covering the parasol and protecting it from dust. The cover may receive any amount of decoration in the way of handwork, though it is quite as useful when perfectly plain.

French underclothes have set the fashion for the wearing of plainer things, when plain can be translated as quiet elegance. Instead of underclothes loaded down with lace and insertion and embroidery, the tendency is constantly toward finer materials and more handwork. Now the chemise or corset cover of fine linen, with a dainty spray of flowers embroidered upon it, is far more desirable than if over-trimmed with frills of lace and rows of insertion; therefore there is little to do to clever with her needle is to be envied, for it is not easy to do, and by no means inexpensive to have done. Nor is this handwork seen on garments only. To possess a set of handkerchiefs of ones own embroidery is a fad of the moment, and the up-to-date girl lays in a supply of handkerchief linen and proceeds to make a set, embroidering her initial or a wreath in one corner and putting on them the daintiest of hemstitching.

EFFECTS OF PERFUMES.

The perfumes which are the most agreeable to the senses are not always the most helpful to the nerves.

Ambergris, for instance, is positively offensive to many, yet it is said on good authority to have a wonderful power of clearing the brain and driving away the blues.

On the other hand, attar of roses, with the suggestion of glowing suns and gorgeous, Eastern odors, predisposes to tears.

A faint odor of musk acts as a tonic, for which the best antidote is the odor of sardalwood.

The fragrance of citron is as soothing to pervous people as the sound of far-off music.

The scent of orange flowers is so depressing to the action of the heart that it is not safe for anyone with disease of that organ to inhale it for any length of time.

Reviving perfumes come from herbaceous plants largely from the odors of mignonete, rosemary and lavender, and soothe the nerves.

The perfumes of lilacs, jasmine and acacia are pleasant and soothing to a healthy sense, though delicate nerves cannot enjoy them even in their garden freshness. Brought closer in clusters of blossoms, their odor is narcotic and depressing, so that persons grow faint at he smell of them, and may be put in a heavy slumber, as if drugged, by their odor.

GOOD TASTE IN PICTURE FRAMES.

For oil paintings use deep gold frames that bring out the quality of oil colors as no other frame can.

Keep the frames of photographs plain and simple. A narrow frame will bring out the brown tones of a carbon print, and the soft gray tints are suited by gray, black or a very thin gold frame.

Use wide mats in framing scenes, or else wide frames. It gives a better effect of distance.

Dark photographs, of Rembrandt's pictures, for instance, are thrown into strong relief by the right hand of a mat. Choose a Rembrandt mat, which shades from a light to a much deeper color.

Little colored cpictures in color look well in Neapolitan frames—carved frames covered with gold leaf.

For quiet little scenes flat, wide frames, oval or sqkuare, rustic in character, are the best.

Miniatures need the most careful selection of the frames. Delicate cold frames or gold mountings are necessary.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Green, of West Third street, was brightened by the arrival of a son Saturday afternoon.

PRETTY EYES.

The woman who wants pretty eyes will not leave them circled with dark lines. Nor will she have great eye sacs under her eyes. The pretty girl's eyes are never heavy in the lids. They are never laden underneath with great bags. They are never red as to the lashes, and the brows are never unruly. On the contrary, the eyes of the pretty girl are of the shining variety, beautifully clear, and of the kind which can open widely and look one right in the face, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

To get eyes like this one must not abuse the eyes. The girl who sews late at night, the girl who rubs her eyes, the girl who lets her lids and lashes become neglected, this girl cannot hope to have pretty eyes.

The eyebrows should not be neglected. The woman who wants nice eyebrows can heat a little almond oil and apply it nightly to the eyes with a small brush. In this manner the eyebrows can be influenced. Often they are inclined to grow straggly. But by painting them with a brush regularly they can be trained into shape.

NO AND DON'T.

There are a few things more conducive to disobedience and stubbornness in children than the constant use of the word "no" and "don't." The mother should hesitate more than once before saying them. Listen patiently to a little one's request before saying "no," no matter how trival it may seem to you. It may mean much to him. If the request is reasonable, though it may cause you some little inconvenience, try to grant it, says Harper's Bazar. If, however, saying "yes" to the child is going to cause a great deal of discomfort to some one else, if it is not for the child's good, or if after deliberation what is asked seems wrong in your judgment, give the child a short but intelligent reason for a denial, then let no amount of teasing change your decision. It is not necessary to be stern in this matter, but firm, and the child will soon learn to accept your pudment without fretting, satisfied in the feeling that you know best. Always think twice before saying "no," but once said, stick to it; do not retreat.

Spiced Grapes.

Choose the choicest bunches of grapes, those not too ripe and which have no bruised ones among them. Make a sirup a vinegar and sugar in the proportion of one pound of sugar for each pound of grapes and one pint of vinegar to each four pounds of sugar. Add to it two teaspoonfuls each of cinnamon and allspice, one teaspoonful each of cloves and half teaspoonful each of mace and salt. Drop the bunches of grapes, which have been washed and allowed to dry, into the boiling sirup and allow them to remain in it for five minutes—remove to a soft dish on the sirup, then pour it over the grapes. The sirup should be poured off and boiled down for three successive mornings, when the grapes may be covered with paraffin-paper and put away.

To Keep the Hair in Curl.

Damp weather is severe on locks that are not natural. A lotion that will keep the hair in curl can be made of gum arabic, 1 ounce; good, moist sugar, ½ ounce; pure hot water, ¾ pint. Dissolve. When this solution is solid, add alcohol. 2 fluid ounces; bichoride of mercury and salammoniac, 6 grains each. The last should be dissolved in the alcohol before admixture. Lastly, add enough water to make the whole measure one pint. Perfume the cologne or lavender water. Moisten the hair with the fluid before putting it in the papers or curlers.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Dr. Albert A. Hurd, for fifty-five years a professor in Knox College, at Galesburg, Ill., has just died.

Mme. Jusserand, wife of the French Ambassador, has one of the finest collections of fans in the world, to which she is continually adding. At present she is in Brittany, from which place she recently sent Mrs. Root a dainty silk fan, such as the Breton belles use on fetes and holidays.

Dr. Hubert Jansen, of Berlin, for four years has had in charge the compilation of the technolexicon which the Society of German Engineers undertook. The work is nearing completion and printing will begin early in 1907. Publication will be in English, German and French.

Frederick Braun, the world's authority on crinoids, has been working for several months near Oxford-ville, Ind., finding some rare specimens. Crinoids or sea lilies are the remains of prehistoric animals, and to produce them requires thousands of years and a complete change in the earth's topography. He has the finest collection in the world at his Brooklyn home.

The Mustache.

A few years ago a girl would have been quite ashamed to have introduced a clean-shaven man to her friends as her fiance. During the past decade she has been almost equally anxious not to present one with a mustache. Yes, withal, I believe in her heart of hearts women like a good mustache.—Ladies' Pictorial.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Worth, of the borough, have gone to New York for the winter.

Mrs. Alfred Marsland, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, of West Front street, has returned home.

GOOD TO KNOW.

Hot salt applied to the head in little bags will give almost instant relief in cases of neuralgia headache.

When putting away knives and other steel instruments oil them slightly and wrap them in tissue paper. This will prevent their rusting.

A few drops of lemon juice in a glass of cold water, slowly sipped before breakfast, will act directly on the stomach and liver and consequently serve to clear the complexion.

When finely chopped nuts are needed for salads or sandwiches, run the nuts through the meat chopper.

If kerosene is used for cleaning the rubber of the clothes wringer it will make it as good as new.

A little boric acid water, the proper strength for the eyes, dropped into them with a dropper just before retiring, will greatly relieve tired eyes.

A poultice composed of equal parts of ground mustard, allspice, ginger and cloves, to which may be added a spoonful of red pepper, will give almost instant relief in cases of bronchial trouble or any slight congestion of the lungs. Spread common vaseline on a square of old linen or muslin and then dust the spices over half of it folding the other half over so that the linen will be cut on both sides. The vaseline will serve to open the pores of the skin and will form a body for the spices as well.

Charcoal is a splendid deodorizer for vegetables with strong odor.

White ostrich plumes can be cleaned by putting into a bottle of gasoline and shaking well. Hang in the sun to dry, and curl with a blunt knife.

To keep cheese from getting moldy wrap in a cloth that has been dipped in vinegar and wrung dry. Then wrap in paper and keep in a cool place.

When putting down a carpet be sure that the floor is perfectly dry. Otherwise it is very liable to become mouldsome.

A teaspoonful of sugar to the stove blacking will add a material shine to the stove.

Gilt picture frames that have become flyspecked can be cleaned with the white of an egg rubbed on gently with a soft brush.

An excellent polish for furniture can be made of equal parts of linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar.

When putting on gloves for the first time remember to fasten the second button first, then the top one. The first one can then be buttoned without tearing or over-stretching the kid.

Raw potato, scraped and bound like a poultice on a fire burn, will ease the pain immediately

If the glass dish in which fruit is to be poured is placed on a damp cloth, there will be no danger of the glass cracking

When using gasoline to remove spots from delicate fabrics, encircle the spot with corn starch. This will absorb the fluid and prevent it from spreading and forming an unsightly ring around the cleaned portion.

After blankets have been washed and hung on the line, beat them thoroughly with a carpet beater it will render them soft and light and the wool will be like new.

Grease spots can be removed from books or papers by laying powdered pipe clay on both sides of the paper and applying an iron as hot as can be used without scorching. Grease can be taken from leather bindings in the same manner.

IN PUTTING ON GLOVES.

"There is a wrong and a right way to put on gloves," said a dealer recently.

"To learn the right way, watch an experienced saleswoman while she fits a pair on a customer. Invariably she will first push the glove on the four fingers before putting on the thumb. She works slowly meanwhile, and not until the glove is fully fitted to the hand does she fasten it at the wrist.

"When the glove is removed the operation should begin at the wrist and the glove be carefully turned backward as far as the second joint of the fingers. It will then come off easily with a slight pull at the tips of the fingers. It, however, it be pulled from the hand by the tips of the fingers it will be stretched out of shape," says Woman's Life.

"One glove should never be turned in the manner in which stockings are usually done up. The glove should be laid out as flat as possible, with the thumb folded inside the palm of the glove."

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Melted butter will not make good cake.

A few drops of lemon juice makes cake frosting white.

If oatmeal is soaked over night in water is requires only about one-half the time to cook.

If eggs are to be boiled hard have the water boiling when the eggs are put in it. This will prevent the yolks turning dark.

Tomatoes and milk to be blended must be brought to the same temperature and beaten together vigorously. There is less liability of curdling.

Prepartory to frying liver or veal cover it for a minute or two with boiling water. Pat dry with a clean towel, roll in flour and fry (in a covered pan) until brown.

An appetising breakfast dish is prepared in the following manner: Fry thin pieces of bacon a light brown, but not crisp. Place two strips of bacon on each slice of toast, lay in a pan, break over each slice of toast an egg and bake for a few minutes.

MISTERY OF THE MOLE.

A mole on the right cheek or right arm signifies happiness in love affairs; on the right hand a happy marriage.

A mole on the left cheek or left arm signifies adverse fortune, particularly as regards love affairs; on the left hand, an unfortunate marriage (from a worldly point of view).

Moles on the right cheek or arm, in combination with one or more on the left hand, point to more good fortune in love affairs than in money matters.

A mole at the corner of the right eye predicts a rich and indulgent husband. A mole on the right side of the chin shows good fortune, long life and a happy marriage.

A mole on the chin, if it be light yellow in color, denotes that a woman will be a good housewife; if brown in color, it portends a happy married life.

A mole on the tip of the nose shows to a woman likelihood of much admiration and jealous lovers, in her dealings with whom she is recommended to exercise great caution and discretion.

A mole at the right hand corner of the mouth is a sign of wealth; a mole at the left hand corner of the mouth warns the possessor to beware of treachery and a false lover.

THE WOMAN TRAVELER

It seems almost incredible that any woman with spirit enough to make a journey should not know of the many little toilet conveniences which help to make dressing away from home easy.

One does not need to buy an expensive fitted traveling kit.

For a few cents only, one can get a covered bottle that will convey the wet tooth-brush and nail-brush, and for the same price there are little cream jars and powder boxes innumerable.

Yet, in spite of this, you may still see women wrapping a wet washcloth in a nightdress, or omitting it use altogether in order to keep it dry; tying up a tooth-brush in a towel, and wrapping soap in newspaper!

Is it just the feminine neglect to study itself of conveniences, or is it because they don't know.

SNAP SHOTS.

The following letter appeared in the New York Sun recently:

"To the Editor of The Sun:

"Sir: Twenty-three affidavits can be secured to vouch for the truth of the following story:

"The reporter and the Colonel were sitting on a tree amid the wilds of the Watchung Mountains discussing the thickness and length of the last black snake they had seen. The Colonel said it was nine inches thick and twenty-three feet long—but Jersey applejack may have been part of the evidence.

"The reporter had been sent to interview a chipmunk on the merits of tree climbing, but the chipmunk declined to talk for publication, leaving that question to be settled by literary gentlemen who are familiar with climbing ladders of fame.

"Suddenly a chipmunk, pursued by a large black cat, appeared in a clearing of the deep forest. The cat was gaining and the chipmunk made for a tall chestnut tree. Up the trunk like a flash, followed by the cat. The top branch was reached and the chipmunk ran out to the end, made a flying leap of more than ten feet to the next tree and got away. The cat in the eagerness of pursuit followed, but in his leap only reached the ends of the branches of the adjoining tree, which hung down with the animal's weight, leaving the poor cat suspended in the air clawing and hanging on for dear life. It was now up to the reporter and the Colonel to rescue that cat.

"The Colonel was up in all the engineering arts, and could construct a pontoon bridge or plan a mine, but for once he was stumped. How could he get that cat out of the tree? The reporter took a fish line out of his pocket, tied a stone to it, intending to catch the end of the branch and pull it down toward the trunk of the tree, giving the cat a chance to jump to a large limb lower down.

"But neither the reporter nor the Colonel settled the matter, for all of a sudden, with a blackness and a roar and a rush, a summer squall swiftly crossed the clearing, lashing the trees in all its fury and the poor cat was blown away together with the reporter's notebook—and both landed after a long flight through the air in front of the newspaper office.

"The editor and a lot of politicians rushed out of the door as the cat ran away. The notebook was in great demand. The editor exclaimed after reading it that the vital and great question of whether a chipmunk could climb a tree was fully settled, but that a more perplexing problem must now be faced—can a cat fly?

"CHARLES S. SMINCK."

Plainfield, September 11.

George Apgar has been kept from work for a week by a painful boil.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 30.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Religion in business affairs.—Gen. xxxix, 1-6.

One of the facts that need to be greatly emphasized today is that a man must take his religion into the business affairs of his life if he would have any success. If a Christianity into his business he must take himself out of that particular business or must give up his religion. Special reasons exist why this subject should be emphasized today. (1) The temptations of a business life are very great now, perhaps greater than ever before. Competition is great and the desire for success is strong. Men want to get rich in a day. And when they see that by the practice of fraud and dishonesty they can increase their business and obtain better results than honesty to do so is very strong. (2) There are many men in the business world who have no religion and make no claim to piety. These are unscrupulous in business dealings, and so far as riches are concerned often succeed in business. This often leads men who prefer to be honest to do the same things. They must "fight fire with fire," but no man can touch fire without being burned. (3) The fallacy widely prevails that dishonesty in business is not dishonesty. It is business cleverness and shrewdness. A man who would scorn to take money from another's pocket will not hesitate to defraud him in business transactions. Nor will his conscience cause him to lose sleep over his misdeeds. The falsity of such a theory should be evident to a child. And how it can be accepted and practiced by business men, who are supposed to have unusually sound judgment and clear vision, is hard to understand. A business that is not based on truth is falsely obtained in a business transaction is as much a stolen dollar as one taken by theft from the vault of a bank, and the business man who takes the dollar is as much a thief as the crook who blows a safe by night and robs it. Righteousness never had and never will have one standard for business and another for the individual in his personal relations.

Moreover, religion is a help and not a hindrance to business. The idea prevails that men cannot be perfectly honest in business and succeed. If this be the case it is hard on business and harder still upon the business men of the world. If the affairs of men in their business relations with one another cannot be honestly conducted and a fair profit made, then there is no place where reform is so much needed as in the methods of the business world. But such is not the case. The presence of God is always a blessing and never a curse. The man who takes God with him into his business can succeed if he understands the business and is efficient in conducting it. Joseph conducted the business of Egypt upon a spiritual basis, and God blessed and prospered him. So He will bless and prosper all men who take Him with them into their business affairs. Young men, in starting out in life make God a silent partner in your business and you will have one member of the firm who will never fail you, and success will come. And if it should not, as men count success, even then you will be better off. Poverty and honesty are preferable to riches and dishonesty. Better be a begging Lazarus than a Dives if to be Dives you must sacrifice your manhood and your religion.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xx, 15; Ps. xxxvii, 1-11; Matt. v, 16; vii, 12; John ix, 4; Acts v, 1-11; Rom. ii, 9-11; I Cor. iv, 2; Col. iii, 8-14; Rev. xxi, 27.

A Significant Summary.

The whole life of the Christian Endeavor movement is contained in the little span of years indicated by the hyphen between the dates Feb. 2, 1881-Feb. 2, 1906, and does not cover half the years of any of us who can scarcely yet believe that we are not young men. Here are a few of the facts which make these dates significant:

Feb. 2, 1881.—One society with forty members.

Feb. 2, 1906.—Over 67,000 societies with nearly 4,000,000 members.

Feb. 2, 1881.—One nation and one language represented in the society.

Feb. 2, 1906.—Over fifty nations or large dependencies and eighty languages represented.

Feb. 2, 1881.—The only literature a draft copy of the constitution.

Feb. 2, 1906.—Forty weekly or monthly publications in fifteen different languages exclusively devoted to the society, weekly or monthly Christian Endeavor departments in several thousand papers, and magazine articles and other literature in most of the chief languages of the world.

Feb. 2, 1881.—No national, state or local Christian Endeavor unions.

Feb. 2, 1906.—National unions in the United States, Canada, Australia, Great Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland, Finland, Bulgaria, Bohemia, Japan, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and South Africa (both for the Dutch and the English) and more than 8,000 local unions, with regular meetings held in almost all parts of the world.

Feb. 2, 1881.—One denomination represented.

Feb. 2, 1906.—One hundred denominations represented.

This summary makes plain, as nothing else could, the timeliness and providential character of the movement.—Francis E. Clark, D. D., in Outlook.

Evil Fruits of Complaining.

There are certain people who seem always to be discouraged. Their brightest days do not satisfy them. They spoil everything by their everlasting complaining. Three evils result from such a habit. It makes the complainer himself miserable. It casts a shadow on every one with whom he comes in contact. Then it grieves God, for it shows a lack of gratitude and also of trust.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Sept. 30: "The Standard of Personal Service."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The will of God—Rom. xii, 1, 2. The supreme rule—Matt. xxvi, 39-41. As to our character—John xv, 4; 1 Thess. iv, 3. As to our service—John xv, 5-8; 1 Cor. ii, 4. As to our acceptance—Matt. vii, 21-23.

Did you ever consider what different notions people have of what constitutes real manliness and womanliness? If you have never thought much about it give it some attention, and you will be surprised not only at the wide variation in ideas, but will be truly astonished at some of the ideals of life set up by some folks.

Multitudes of children grow up in city and country whose daily contact with vice, coarseness and pollution has given them an idea of life and the world in which little chance is given for an element of moral purity and beauty to enter, still less to control.

What wonder, then, when these fill our reformatories and prisons and a career of crime goes hand in hand with a life of shame!

Other multitudes grow into mature life with every luxury which leisure and wealth can supply. What wonder that these in business life, having great power of money and position, almost wreck the institutions of business and political life and in society spread the slime of corruption over the whole serpent trail of their lives!

The fault is with their standard of life. Whoever makes the securing of personal enjoyment his chief end in life, or even his own advancement the prime object of endeavor, erects a standard which if attained will inevitably reveal moral ruin in character and the blasting of the best powers of existence. There is no gain to be had by that road which is worth the taking. But we are to get any permanent personal good out of life we must recognize that we are in a world where some things were fixed before we came in and we cannot largely change them. In fact there are principles of eternal truth and right on which this world is based, and which will stand, so long a wrong thing may seem to flourish and prosper, its overthrow is inevitable. Sorrow and pain are the sure outcome of wrongdoing. Whoever gets good must seek it by the path of right. No lie prospers. As Carlyle has well said, "The most unprofitable condition in this world is a prosperous iniquity." A successful villain is a ruined man.

What standard can we be assured is correct? The United States standard of length is preserved with utmost care. All the civilized nations take great precautions regarding standard weights and measures.

In this moral universe the ultimate standard of all personal action is the character of God. That is expressed in His will and best revealed to us in His word—the Bible—and His word made flesh—the Christ.

The standard for an attainment is the likeness of the divine man, Jesus of Nasareth.

Are you measuring yourself by this and are you growing toward the stature of His fullness? By that measure you will be sized up by and by.

Sentence Sermons.

God often comes to visit us, but generally we are not in.—Abbe Roux.

To ease another's heartache is to forget one's own.—Abraham Lincoln.

Bind together your spare hours by the cord of some definite purpose.—William M. Taylor.

No grip is so hard to shake off as that of early religious convictions.—Maurice Thompson.

Great privileges never go save in company with great responsibilities.—Hamilton Mabie.

The Bible is a good time card, but a man makes a mistake when he tries to use it for a ticket.—Henry F. Cope.

Great powers and natural gifts do not bring privileges to their possessors so much as they bring duties.—Beecher.

His heart was as great as the world; but there was room in it to hold the memory of a wrong.—Emerson.

Whenever conscience calls a halt it is no place for reason to debate the question; the way ahead is no thoroughfare.—Craddock.

Act Now.

Today is the golden age of your life and mine. Today is the garden of our career. Today the love of God broods over our souls. Today Christ is ready to bestow upon you the gift which will give you power to become a son of God. Today the air is like magic. Breathe it with faith and courage. Act not in some tomorrow, vague and illusory, but now.—Dr. Louis Albert Banks.

The Road of the Loving Heart.

Oh, what is the pathway white, with Whose slender links go up, go up and meet in heaven high?
'Tis the road of the loving heart from earth to sky.

Who made the beautiful road? It was the Son of God,
Of Mary born in Bethlehem. He planned it first, and then
Up the road of the loving heart He led all men.

Was it not hard to build? Yes; all His life
With labor, but He counted not the cost nor was afraid—
No road of the loving heart is cheaply made.

The shining parapet in fireless love was set,
A deathless patience shaped the treads and conned them, day and even,
By the road of the loving heart we climb to heaven.

May I follow this path of souls which leads to the shining goals?
Yes; Christ has opened the way to all
And the road of the loving heart He made is the road to God.
—Susan Coolidge in Forward.

PRACTICAL POLITICS.

He made a fine oration,
In fact, 'twas simply great,
Imploring every voter
To save the Ship of State.

He showed the mists and dangers
In words both strong and pat,
But when the speech was ended
It fell extremely flat.

The other fellow followed,
Success was quick to see;
His brief address so stirring
Was just: "Have one with me."

'Twas only human nature,
While going through the fog
The eighty million sailors
Were hankering for the grog.
—McLandburgh Wilson in the New York Sun.

STORIES ABOUT ANIMALS.

Feathers, the only chicken-raising cat in the world, is owned by George F. Nones, a poultry expert. Since Feathers first came into his possession Nones has been training her to care for chickens. At first Feathers learned to protect incubator chickens. Some weeks ago, however, Nones determined to try her at raising a brood from the shell. Thirty-two eggs were put under Feather and in due time twenty-three chicks picked their way through to the light. The cat takes as good care of her tiny flock as any hen could and resents with extended claws and arched back any attempt to lay hands on them. Nones says he has refused a big price from a fancier for his cat and her first brood. He says Feathers will be kept at work raising chickens as long as he is in the business.

A Scotch collie owned by Gilbert H. La Place, of Deep River, Conn., earns his breakfast every morning by filling the wood box. He carries one stick at a time in his mouth from the wood pile outside into the kitchen. He also notifies members of the household when the telephone rings if they are outdoors or calling on neighbors. There are several subscribers on the line, but the dog can distinguish the La Place call.

The mound bird, found in Australia, builds the biggest nest in the world. It makes mounds sometimes as great as 150 feet in circumference, in which it buries its eggs five feet deep.

An African elephant is of value only for its ivory, of which a full grown animal yields from $600 to $300 worth. On the other hand, a working Indian elephant can not be bought for less than $2,500 to $3,500. This is because of the greater intelligence of the Asiatic animal, which makes him valuable as a servant.

Deskman Quackenbush at police headquarters, Paterson, N. J., was filling out blank forms for dog licenses recently when a coach dog walked up to him, wagging his tail and holding in his mouth a $2 bill, the license fee. The policeman took the money and spoke to the dog, which wagged his tail more than ever. Soon after that a young man appeared and explained that the dog was the property of J. A. Vanhise, a feed merchant. The license was inclosed in an envelope and placed in the dog's mouth. Th animal then left for his home.

THE NAGGING HABIT.

One big row is worth many days of nagging.

When a man wants to sleep or eat, a woman feels most like nagging.

A man always nags when a woman is dressing for a party.—De Bitter.

A nagging woman is like a screaching hen—she begins again when she has finished.

Tho' a man have the disposition and attributes of an angel, he can become a devil if nagged at continually.

Babies cry when they're hungry; men nag.

Nagging at the table is a mighty poor appetizer.

Some boys leave home and mother because they are nagged.

A Suggestion.

"Give me a title for my new farce comedy, will you?" asked De Bitter.

"Lemme see," mused Grittick. "Now, if you were to call it 'The Six O'clock Trolley' you might make a hit."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, that's suggestive of 'standing room only.'"

Something to Learn.

"Yes, Markley came in for a fortune the other day. He's actually got more money now than he knows what to do with."

"Yes, but there are certain people who will be anxious to meet him now and after that he'll know more."

Yum! Yum!

Miss Pechis—He said I was "kissable," didn't he?

Cousin Tom—O! he went further than that.

Miss Pechis—Indeed?

Cousin Tom—Yes, he said you were positively "edible."

Idle Contentment.

"Now, I think," said the plodder, "that every man should be satisfied to leave well enough alone."

"Nothing to it!" replied the hustler. "No man who feels that he ever reaches 'well enough.'"

Mrs. Voorhees Laing and daughter, Miss Ethel Laing, of [illegible] street, are home from Asbury Park where they have been [illegible] several weeks.

DEATH COMES TO MRS. SIMON A. CRUIKSHANK

HAD BEEN ILL SINCE AUGUST 2 WITH ACUTE BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mrs. Simeon A. Cruikshank died last night at her home on Belvidere avenue, following an illness of seven weeks with acute Bright's disease. She returned home on August 2 from a visit and was taken ill at that time, gradually growing worse despite the best medical attention to be obtained. For the past few days she had been sinking rapidly.

Mrs. Cruikshank was the daughter of the late Rev. W. L. Moore, D. D., of New York, and was born at New Brunswick. She had been a resident of this city for years and the Cruikshank home on Belvidere avenue is one of the handsomest in the Netherwood section. Mrs. Cruikshank was a noted horsewoman and she took great interest in the equine shows in this vicinity. Her stable has always contained many head of blooded stock and numbers not a few blue ribbon winners.

Beside her husband Mrs. Cruikshank is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton and Miss Helen Moore Cruikshank. There is one brother, Rev. H. McK. Moore, D. D., of Philadelphia, and Mrs. N. B. Lancaster, of New York, at present on board a steamer returning from Europe.

The funeral will be private.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

Little Interest Taken But Ticket Is Fixed.

The Democrats took little or no interest in their primaries yesterday, only a handful of votes being cast. J. P. Owens, First ward; P. H. Latourette, Second ward; W. H. Harding, Third ward, and A. H. Lederer, Fourth ward were nominated for the Common Council.

The delegates to the county convention are Jere Callahan, J. P. Owens, W. L. Hetfield, Sr., Joseph Harrigan, Frank McCabe, P. McDonough, M. D. O'Keefe, J. F. Sheppard, Ed. McCue, W. P. Neville, J. P. Casey, A. H. Lederer and A. D. Newman. The delegates to the city convention are W. L. Hetfield, Sr., P. McCabe, Edward Delehanty, Joseph Harrigan, W. H. Harding, F. Metsenery, D. A. Galbraith and C. R. Walden.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, has recently received several acceptable donations to be used in furnishing the parish house.

Three musicals have been planned by the members of Grace M. E. church. They will be given on October 23, December 11 and January 22.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church, has resumed its meetings for the fall and winter. Plans are being perfected for a successful season.

PERSONAL.

Miss Grace McCartney, of Perth Amboy, visited friends here yesterday.

Peter Congdon, of Franklin place, has returned to New York for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Martin, of Hillside avenue, are home from their summer outing.

Mrs. Ida Hildebrant, of Philipsburg, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Willard, of West Front street.

Harry Brokaw, formerly of this city, but now of Providence, R. I., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Isaac Brokaw, of this city.

J. D. Macnab, of the Plainfield High School faculty, is able to be out again after a serious illness, and he hopes to resume teaching soon.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street, returned yesterday from Watch Hill, R. I., where they spent the summer. Mrs. Lewis remains in about the same condition, still being helpless.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Martin have returned from their honeymoon spent at Belmar and they will make their home for the winter with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garret T. Dunham, of West Front street.

Richard Coriell's Funeral.

The funeral of Richard E. Coriell, who died suddenly in Hudson Street Hospital, New York, yesterday, will be held at his late home on Fairview avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Will Study Missions.

The Mission Study Classes of the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet Friday night for the first time this fall. The subjects will be as follows: India, leader, Lindsey Best; Japan, W. D. Murray; Africa, Frank Holt; home missions, Alaskans, Mexicans, Indians, etc., Mrs. Edgar Williams; home missons, immigration, Mrs. L. R. Hopton. The two subjects, India and Immigration, are new. Any member of the organization who desires to join these classes will be welcomed and a special invitation is extended to all young people interested.

Jorge Egel, of L. W. Ran- pharmacy, who has been two weeks' vacation at At- is expected to return day.

DEMOCRATS IN MIX-UP

Minority Party Puts a Little Life in North Plainfield Primaries.

Over in the borough there was no strife at the primaries so far as the Colby movement was concerned but the Democratic party got up a little contest of its own. The fight was for delegates to the Congressional and county elections, the factions, one being loyal to David J. Carney and headed by Walter Lingarger. They practically split even as the Carneyites won in the First district and the Lindergerites in the Second. The candidates nominated on the Democratic ticket entire were as follows:

First district, for delegates to the Congressional convention, L. W. Hammond and W. S. Juillard; for delegates to the county convention, Michael Keller and Frank Schuck, Jr., for members of the borough council, George W. Bird and W. W. Ludlow; justice of the peace, David D. Smalley.

Second district, for members of the Congressional convention, John M. Lewin and Barzilla R. Moore; for members of the county convention, Stonewall Jackson and W. W. Mills; for members of the borough council, George W. Bird and W. W. Ludlow; justice of the peace, D. D. Smalley.

There was no interest displayed in the election by the Republicans and the following ticket was endorsed:

First district, for members of the Congressional convention, Gifford W. Cooley, W. W. Coriell, I. P. Runyon and Edward Rushmore; for delegates to the county convention, Thomas Doud, A. G. Hooley, C. W. McGee and J. V. H. Vanderhoef; *for mem*bers of the borough council, M. C. Van Arsdale and Barzilla R. Waldron; for justice of the peace, Abham King.

Second district, for members of the Congressional convention, Robert Clark, Jr., A. E. Giddes, George W. Neff and Edward P. T. Smith; for members of the county convention, A. P. Brokaw, P. A. Emmons, W. C. Smith and L. B. Woolsten, for members of the borough council, M. C. Van Arsdale and B. R. Waldron; for justice of the peace, Abram King.

The total votes cast in the two districts were as follows: First district, total votes 155, Republicans 51, Democrats 164. Six Republican votes were rejected and four Democratic. Second district, total votes cast, 176, Republican 70, Democratic 106. There were five Republican votes rejected and one Democratic.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD

The endorsement by the Republican voters of John E. Hetfield as nominee for tax collector, at the primary election yesterday, speaks well for Mr. Hetfield's popularity and worth as a township official. The township is Republican by between 40 and 50 majority, but the voters of Fanwood township do not let this interfere with them when casting ballots for township officers.

The bridge over the railroad track, near Sheelen Bros.' store, Fanwood, has been condemned on account of one of the large girder beams being broken. The road has been blocked off until a new girder can be put in.

No new names were added to the registry list at the meeting of the Registry Board yesterday. The last cleanup of voters generally takes place at the last meeting before the annual election.

John M. VanFliet and family, of Plainfield, have rented the Hollingsworth cottage on Front street, the rental being made through the real estate agency of Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

Vincent Gudji and family, who have been spending the summer at the Lord farm in Washington Valley, have returned to New York for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. H. Gilmour, who have been residents of the borough for several years, have returned to Newark, their former home.

Mr. and Mrs. John George, of Rahway, were the guests yesterday of Mrs. George's sister, Miss Minnie Squires.

The local ball team play the Clinton Avenue team at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held its semi-monthly meeting last night in the Library rooms.

A new stoop has been placed in front of Jamison's grocery store.

Mrs. Schaefer, of Brooklyn, a former resident here, has moved to Somerville to take up her residence with her son, George Schaefer.

Miss Gertrude Conover, of Duer street, has resumed her studies at Dorland Institute, Hot Springs, Va., after spending the summer at home.

Ernest Rapalje, formerly of this city, but lately of the south, has taken an excellent position at Scranton, Pa., where he is employed by a large manufacturing concern.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bromfield, of Franklin place, are home from the Catskills, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. L. Penfield, of Park avenue, is detained at home by illness.

Mrs. Charles Dixon, of Newark, visited friends here yesterday.

CHAS. N. FOWLER SUGGESTS REMEDY

TO RELIEVE STRINGENCY IN THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 25.—Representative Charles N. Fowler, of New Jersey, in a statement published, discussed at length the causes of the stringency in money which from time to time occurs, and presented suggestions for enactment into law of which would, in his judgment, make impossible the reaccurrence of conditions such as have for the past few weeks prevailed in the money market. Mr. Fowler's remedies are two in number: the Treasury reserve now held in the Sub-Treasuries be deposited in the national banks, and that the right be granted those institutions to issue cashier checks to an amount equal to one-half of their capital. He says in part:

"On June 1, 1905, the cash holdings of the Treasury were $289,248,071. One year later, on June 1, 1906, they were $316,673,545, or $27,500,000 greater. Ninety days later, on September 1, 1906, they were $246,664,238, or $29,990,693 greater than on June 1, 1906, when the urgent demand for money began, and $42,894,706 greater than on September 1, 1905. Now, if the government deposit fund daily with the national banks as it is currently received, precisely as do our States, great cities, giant corporations and business houses generally, this $42,894,706 would be in the banks and furnish the basis of credits ranging from $170,600,000 to $270,000,000.

"The capital of the New York City national banks, included in the New York Clearing-house Association, is $102,650,000. Their present outstanding note circulation is $44,917,000, this amount should be increased to one-half their capital it would amount to $51,325,000. This would leave a permissible issue of $0,1,$25,900 more before their circulation reached the legal limit of an amount equal to the capital. Now, if the law permitted the New York national banks to issue cashier checks to an amount equal to one-half of their capital, in such denominations as their correspondents desired, and the New York national banks should be called upon this fall to furnish $59,000,000 more of currency than they should receive, as they were last fall, the could pay off five-sixths of this amount, or $50,000,000 in cashier checks, which are nothing more or less than bank-notes, credit notes, credit currency, because they would pass without indorsement. This principle has been adopted by practically all the great commercial nations of the world except our own. This transaction would be only a matter of book-keeping, so far as the banks liabilities were concerned. The banks would then have their own checks to redeem instead of redeeming the checks and drafts against deposits made with them."

NEWPORT BILLBOARD POSTERS.

Advertising Sheets Will Hereafter Be Passed Upon by Censorship Board of Women.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 26.—The women members of the Civic League of Newport, in their efforts to preserve the natural beauties of the city, have formed themselves into a board of censors, with the suppression of objectionable billboard posters as their particular object. An advertisement which recently covered nearly every billboard in the city, was considered by the women members of the league to be improper and they demanded that the billposter cover the boards with "paper" which was not objectionable.

The billposter declined to do so until he was assured of the support of the league, the majority of the members of which are wealthy. He was given the necessary promise, and it became known yesterday that an agreement had been entered into whereby a committee of the league would hereafter pass upon all advertising literature before it is posted on the billboards throughout the city.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Young People's Club wishes to thank the outside talent for the charming manner in which they entertained the audience between the acts in the play last evening. The play was a success in every respect, and a neat sum for the club is assured, to be appropriated (as has been mentioned before) toward roofing the sheds at the church. A list of subscriptions will be published later. Dancing was enjoyed by all the young people, and the entertainment was voted by all as a great success.

Prayer meeting this evening at 7:45, topic, "Psalm Seven," led by the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster visited friends here yesterday.

Interested in the Primary.

Charles Dixon, a former Plainfielder, came from Newark last night to hear the primary returns. He is an old organization worker in the Third ward.

—A choice variety of fruits and vegetables at Neuman Brothers' these days. See the display and note the low prices.

Delegates to City Convention. * Indicates election.	1st Ward. 1st District.	1st Ward. 2d District.	2d Ward 1st District.	2d Ward 2d District.	3d Ward 1st District.	3d Ward 2d District.	4th Ward 1st District.	4th Ward 2d District.	4th Ward 3d District.
Anderson C.	119
Braider, C.	119
Russell, C.	121
Tugwell, C.	120
Huntsman, C.		69
La Rue, C.		70
*Carey, R.	216
*Raymond, R.	215
*Sherwin, R.	217
*Schloss, R.	213
*Douglass, R.		109
*Stadele, R.		109
*Cooley, C.			251
*Frost, C.			252
*Holt, C.			250
Tracy, C.			251
*Henry, C.			1.	105
*Kirchner, C.				105
Doane, R.				142
Keenan, R.				138
Pope, R.				138
Sattels, R.				138
Hanimann, R.					96
Van Herwerden, R.					96
Currie, C.					160
Iredell, C.					162
Moy, C.					158
Shelton, C.					165
*Lee, C.						115
*Muir, C.						113
*Gallagher, R.					182
*Kinney, R.					183
*Ladd, R.					190
*Rink, R.					188
Daniel, R.						84
Foster, R.						81
Allen, C.							96
Greene, C.							97
Norwood, C.							96
Lounsbury, C.								128
Miller, C.								129
Smith, C.								128
*Craig, C.									181
Eakins, C.									179
*Miller, C.									179
*Macintyre, R.							180
*Wolgang, R.							180
*Mathews, R.							179
*Brown, R.								147
*Casey, R.								148
*Leighs, R.								147
Cook, R.									167
McNeill, R.									169
Mills, R.									167

RESULT OF PRIMARIES

(Continued from Page 1.)

Mr. Fisk, an organization man, will succeed Mayor Buckle, and that all four councilmen whose terms expire will be re-elected.

The colored vote in every ward was almost solid for the Colbyites. That their assistance was almost indispensible to the "new idea" faction in some districts is freely admitted.

The tabulated results published today tell the story.

Total vote in each ward was as follows:

First Ward—First district—376; Republican, 369; rejected, 7. Democratic, 7. Second district—207; Republican, 202; rejected, 3; Democratic, 5; rejected, 1.

Second Ward—First district—434; Republican, 427; rejected, 5; Democratic, 7; rejected, 2. Second district—231; Republican, 213; rejected, 7; Democratic, 8; rejected, 1. Third Ward—First district—359; Republican, 356; rejected, 6; Democratic, 3. Second district—321; Republican, 310; Democratic, 11.

Fourth Ward—First district—306; Republican, 296; rejected, 17; Democratic, 10; rejected, 2. Second district—354; Republican, 336; rejected, 42; Democratic, 18; rejected, 4. Third district—377; Republican, 374; rejected, 11; Democratic, 3.

J. T. MacMurray, Andrew McCardell and Peter V. Weaver each received one vote for Justice of the Peace.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The regular Republican ticket went through at South Plainfield, a total of seventy-six votes being cast for it. Of these three were defective. The candidates will be as follows: Tax collector, William B. LaRue; assessor, George W. Coriell; town committeeman, William Hamilton; justice of the peace, Rene P. F. Von Minden; *delegate to Con*gressional convention, W. E. Smith; delegate to county convention, John I. Holly. There were ten votes cast for the Democratic ticket.

H. de W. Rapalje, who is connected with the engineering department of the Carolina *Trucking Developm*ent Company, of Wilmington, N. C., who has been spending his vacation with his parents in this city, will return south next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leland, of Elmwood place, are spending a week with friends in New Haven.

P. V. R. VanNyck, of Stelle avenue, has leased his residence and will remove to Morristown next week.

FAR AND NEAR.

"Painting the town red," a slang phrase to which new point has been humorously given at Worcester in connection with the Conservative color, is referred to by the dictionaries as modern and American, though they offer no explanation of its origin. It is at least a curious coincidence, however, that Shakespeare's Prince Henry says of certain boon companions, "They call drinking deep, dying scarlet." Can "painting red" be descended from this? If the phrase should really be an old one, it might conceivably have some connection with the red lattice, the familiar sign of an alehouse in Shakespeare's day. By "red-latice phrases" Falstaff means just what he should mean in these days by "pot-house language."—London Chronicle.

The latest fashionable disease is the "straw hat headache." Several English doctors have devoted considerable time to the study of this malady and attest that it is a menacing reality. Men who wear straw hats are apt to go through a variety of contortions in their efforts to keep their hats on in a breeze, and the result is injurious to their nerves. Happily, this information comes when the straw hat season has passed for all reputable citizens.—Providence (R. I.) Journal.

The Fat Men's Association has dwindled down to a membership of only six, whereas it formerly boasted ten times that number, and its annual gatherings were among the notable events of the year. Apparently, it isn't so good for to be fat as it used to be. Superfluous adipose tissue is now reckoned an unhealthy symptom. Anti-fat is the vogue. Falstaff is out of date. Cassius is esteemed the mould of form.—Boston Herald.

The newspapers are of some use. It was a newspaper, the Chicago Tribune, that captured Paul O. Stensland, the defaulting banker. James Keely, managing editor of the Tribune, accompanied the assistant district attorney on the famous trip that resulted in the capture of Stensland in Tangier. The capture of Stensland will cost the Tribune thousands of dollars, and it was the Tribune that received the "tip" as to the whereabouts of the defaulter. James Keely, managing editor of the Tribune, once worked in the coal mines at Leavenworth as a laborer. He is an Englishman by birth, and drifted to America as a boy.—Atchison Globe.

CLOSE TO THE PEOPLE.

..Editor Returns from Travel.—On our return from Marion, Iowa, we struck Ned Brodt at Savanna Depot. Ned is day operator and was glad to see me as I was him. Ned took me under his wing and made my stay between trains very pleasant indeed. Little attentions and a good warm dinner braced us up mightily al thoughthough the hat was above 100. Workmen were laid off all along the line to Cassville, where we arrived about 4 p. m. Here we stopped off over with with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. and folks. The same night that man was killed by the cars. A very sad accident happened, causing the death of a young lady working around a gasolend stove that exploded enveloping her in flames, instantly she was dragged out on the sidewalk only to lay and burn to death, a very horrifying sight I can tell you. We found all well at home having the hooping cough among the children and complaint of heat. Weeds hid my garden truck and lawn sadly overgrown Marion and Cedar Rapids will soon be one city, the two contain about forty thousand. Our son in Marion has a nice home wife and children steady work at good wages in the round house the year around.—Cassville (Wis.) Record.

Beck's Athletic Mule.—W. H. Beck was painfully hurt Sunday by his mule Napoleon. He was kicked near the shoulder with the point of a buggy shaft to which the mule was hitched.—Whiteville (N. C.) News-Reporter.

Sims Sets 'Em Up.—Mr. Burley Ferguson, of Lynchburg, was the guest of Mr. Chap Sims last Saturday night. Must be some attraction for Ferguson, as he comes often.—Appomattox (Va.) Times.

Miss Spicey Given Editor a Pain.—If pasins us to have to place Miss Spicey Raiford on our sick list Monday morning.—Mount Olive (N. C.) Tribune.

Sovereign Squat Healed by Water.—An all run down at the heel and ravelled out old codger, whose liver and gizard had collapsed, chased the springs for relief. He went to Excelsior, Geuda, Bureka, Hot, and Manitou, but found little relief and came home to die. But he had the water habit, and no sooner had he arrived home than he took to drinking five or six glasses of Walnut Creek water before breakfast, and today he is the most able-bodied sovereign squat on the townsite.—Eldorado (Kan.) Republican.

He—No, I shall never marry until I meet a woman who is my direct opposite.

She—Well, there are numbers of bright, intelligent girls about—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday.

The Art Which Carries Burdens.

"We wish," explained the manager, in his bustling, airy way, "a play which will carry us a stretch."

"Sir," protested the man of genius, with a look of horror, "I am a playwright. Not a cartwright!"—Puck.

STATE TO SUE TO NULLIFY THE GOETCHIUS GRANT.

It Was Made, According to Evidence, On An Opinion by George L. Record.

Trenton, Sept. 26.—Attorney-General McCarter sprung a sensation at the continuation Monday at the State House of the Riparian investigation. Through the evidence of Willard C. Fisk, a former member of the State Riparian Commission, who resumed his testimony, it came out that in 1874 a Riparian lease was granted covering the same lands which later were granted by the State Commission to the Goetchius grant.

This Goetchius grant is one of the famous ones now under investigation. Though the land was very valuable, the grant was made at the nominal price of $50 a foot. This, the evidence shows, was done on the opinion of George L. Record, then counsel of the State Commission, and who now is one of the heads of the reform movement in this State.

*According to the evidence yester*day a lease of this property was made to other persons in 1874. Mr. Fisk insisted that the commission had absolutely no knowledge of this lease when the land was granted to Goetchius.

Attorney General McCarter informed the investigating committee that following the disclosures of the fact that he had decided to institute a suit in the State courts to nullify the Goetchius grant.

MOORE DIVORCE CASE IS UP FOR ARGUMENT.

New Brunswick Doctor Scored for Ingratitude—Co-respondent's Wife Stands by Him.

One more witness was heard before Vice Chancellor Stevens Monday in the divorce suit brought by Dr. William M. Moore, of New Brunswick, against Mrs. Hetty Slack Moore, which came up for argument Saturday, the last hearing having taken place May 8. The witness was Mrs. Suydam, wife of Jesse A. Suydam, of Lakewood, who was named in the petitioner's bill. Mrs. Suydam was put on the stand by former Judge Charles T. Cowenhoven, counsel for the defendant, to rebut statements made by Dr. Moore on the last day of the trial relative to his efforts to secure from Suydam an affidavit to the truth of a written confession of wrongdoing, alleged to have been made by him.

Mrs. Suydam said that when Dr. Moore declared that the letter of confession was "absolutely no good without Mr. Suydam's sworn signature," her husband had refused to make such affidavit.

"Did Dr. Moore say what would happen if Mr. Suydam did not sign such affidavit?" Mr. Cowenhoven asked.

"He said that if my husband did not sign there would be a public expose, a public scandal," witness answered.

Argument was then begun.

Realty Transfer.

Frank Willits Runyon has sold his residence, on Madison avenue, through the E. M. French agency to Charles W. Boswell, of West Virginia. The new owner will take possession October 15.

Miss Honeyman Engaged.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Maude Honeyman, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, and Kent Bender, of Waterbury, Conn. The date for the wedding has not been set.

Buys Plainfield Property.

Lester Harris, of Mt. Pleasant, has purchased of L. E. Hart the latter's property on West Front street, formerly occupied by Dr. Gaston. The consideration is said to be $7,000. Mr. Harris will take possession October 1.

Mr. Mellick Defends Council.

George P. Mellick was asked by a reporter of The Daily Press this morning, if he intended to reply to an editorial in another paper, yesterday, regarding his "estimate of the legislative capacity" of certain councilmen and he replied "I will not send any letter to that paper on the subject. Certainly it is understood that the body to legislate with success, is the controlling body and therefor it is and has been all this year. The majority of the members of the Council were fearless to work for a good measure and therefore the Council is today constituted so as to legislate as a body for the people's interest and the good of the city."

James Alfred Martin Weds.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Somerville, when Miss Emilie Louise Moser became the wife of James Alfred Martin, of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by Rev. Dr. William Stockton Cranmer, pastor of the First Reformed church, in the presence of only immediate relatives. The bride was attended by Miss Bertha Miller and the best man was John Miller. An elaborate collation was served, after which the couple left for a brief honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside in Plainfield.

—A. L. C. Marsh, the architect, has about completed the plans for the improvements to be made at the Dime Savings Institution and it is expected that the bids will be decided upon soon so that the work of remodelling the building can commence.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXXVIII PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1906 NO. 44.

"Support the Constitution, which is the Cement of the Union, as well in its Limitations as in its Authorities."—Madison.

CITY HEALTH EXCELLENT

Only Twelve Communicable Cases Reported During September.

NO SCARLET FEVER

Fifty Births, Thirty-one Deaths, Ten Marriages—Temporary Privy Vault Nuisance.

Reports showing the excellent hygienic condition of the city during the past month were presented at the October meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday afternoon. There were but two cases of contagious disease reported during September. Both were diphtheria. The reports show a remarkable scarcity of fever record, the last case being reported on June 23. During the four months from June to September, inclusive, there were reported only four cases of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever.

The following shows the number of all communicable diseases reported during September: Typhoid fever, 4; tuberculosis, 6; diphtheria, 2; total, 12. There was one death from tuberculosis.

Fifty-two dairies were inspected during the month and the majority were found to be in good condition. Forty-three samples of milk were analyzed. Several of these were much too high in bacteria and two were found to contain a preservative, the basis of which was formalydehyde.

Permits were granted to August Norway to collect garbage and to L. M. Vail & Co., to sell milk and the plumber's bond of Nicholas Cody was filed.

During September there were reported ten marriages, fifty births, one still-birth and thirty-one deaths.

Owing to numerous complaints received of the odors coming from temporary vaults, which are located in the vicinity of buildings in course of construction, which are usually put up without a permit from the Board of Health, resolutions were adopted compelling persons to make application to that body for permits to erect these temporary privy vaults. The application must state specifically the location of such vault, date of expiration and manner of construction and maintenance. The resolutions further provide that wherever possible builders or contractors must make connection with the sewer and install sanitary appliances for the use of their workmen. The resolutions also provide rules for the care and keeping of the vaults so that they will not become offensive.

F. A. WEEKS CHOSEN

HEAD OF MEN'S CLUB.

Congregationalists' Society Chooses Officers and Hears Reports.

Election of officers, reports and a discussion of plans for the season occupied the attention of the Men's Club of the Congregational church at its first fall meeting last night. These officers were chosen for the year: President, Frank A. Weeks; vice-president, William McIntosh; secretary, Sydney Dunning; treasurer, Charles Steiner; members of the executive committee, Charles A. Rice and Clarence LaRue.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past year were presented. Both showed the club to be in good condition, as to membership and finances and the prospects for the coming year are promising. After the business a social hour was enjoyed. It was announced that Prof. Chapman, of the Museum of Natural History, New York, had promised to give a lecture before the club during the winter. He is said to be one of the best authorities of birds in this country.

Study of Island World.

At the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the church, the first paper in the winter study of "Christus Redemption, an outline study of the Island world of the Pacific" was given by Mrs. J. A. Cubberley. Her theme was "A Glimpse of the Island World" and was treated in a manner to excite interest and a desire for further knowledge. With God's promises to the Isles of the sea for the foundation of her theme, she described the nature and condition of the island kingdom and God's marvelous dealings with their scattered peoples. The devotional service was led by the president, Mrs. J. A. Chamblin, with the topic for thought "The Unknown Maid, or Value of True Testimony." Current events were given by Miss Laura J. Runyon.

—Doctor Stephen A. Aldrich, dentist, is now situated at the corner of Grant avenue and West Fourth street. 10 2 2 w-s

SOMERSET TAXATION BOARD COMPLETES LABORS

TOTAL VALUATION OF REAL ESTATE IN THE COUNTY IS $190,82,509.

The Somerset County Board of Taxation yesterday completed the table of ratables for the present year. As has already been announced, the rate for North Plainfield borough this year is $2.34 per $100, which is twelve cents lower than it was last year. For North Plainfield township it is $2.30, eight cents less than in 1905.

The following are the figures for North Plainfield borough: Real estate, $2,659,650 (last year $2,348,-875); personal, $333,250(last year $28,9235); deduction for debt, $5,-950 (last year $11,400); valuation taxable, $2,883,150 (last year $2,-368,360); polls, $1,252 (last year $1,283); school tax, $4,811.27 (last year $4,548.28); county tax, $19,-846.20 (last year $16,785.92.

The total valuation of real in the whole county is $19,062,509, and the personal, $3,679,665. With deduction $195,681 for debt the total valuation taxable is $22,547,093.

BRAIN CONGESTION HALTS HOLIDAY TRIP.

Charles W. Tallman Made Unconscious By Seizure In Trolley Car.

On his way to the firemen's parade in New Brunswick, yesterday, Charles W. Tallman, of North Plainfield, proprietor of a grocery on Liberty street, was seized with congestion of the brain in a trolley car at Dunellen, and lapsed into unconsciousness. He recovered sensibility a few hours later, and was reported to be recovering this morning.

Mr. Tallman started for New Brunswick yesterday morning, in company with Edward C. Schenck, another boroughite. They boarded a main line through car at Watchung reserve at 1 o'clock. At Dunellen Mr. Tallman complained of feeling ill, but he thought the spell would pass over and continued the journey. At Bound Brook his condition was worse and Mr. Schenck assisted him into Tilworth's hotel, where a doctor was summoned.

Mr. Tallman became unconscious and it was early in the afternoon before he came to and was able to return home. His physician, Dr. D. C. Adams, took charge of him and this morning his condition was reported. He is accustomed to such spells and it is believed he will fully recover in a few days.

Wood Renominated.

Representative Ira W. Wood, of Trenton, was renominated today at Flemington by the Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District, including Somerset, Hunterdon and Mercer counties. One of his chief supporters in the convention was Col. Perine, of Trenton, his Democratic opponent in the last campaign. S. S. Swackhamer will likely be the Democratic nominee.

Freeholders to Meet.

The Union County Board of Freeholders will hold its October meeting at the Court House, Elizabeth, tomorrow. Among other things there will be a report on the Scott avenue bridge, which was accepted this week by the bridge committee.

Boys' Club Classes.

The carpentry class at the Boys' Club was started last night, with twenty-four members. The molding class will open tonight and the mechanical drawing class will start next Monday. Calisthenics will precede all class sessions.

Yale Club Meeting.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Yale Club, of Plainfield, will be held at the Casino, Tuesday night, October 9, when plans of especial interest to the members will be considered. Light refreshments and cigars will be served.

An Approaching Wedding.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss May J. Duckworth, of North avenue, to Walter F. Emmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Emmons, of Jackson avenue. The wedding will take place Saturday.

Lodge Has Oyster Supper.

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, held an informal oyster supper and smoker after the lodge meeting last night. One candidate was initiated at the session.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will hold its first meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. Tennant, 750 Kensington avenue, tomorrow.

—Don't delay any longer in getting peaches; the season is nearing the end. Newman Brothers are still receiving some nice ones and selling them reasonably.

PRESBYTERY'S SESSION

Churchmen Work Rapidly Through a Lot of Routine Business.

SOME MEMORIALS.

Memory of the Late Rev. Joseph G. Williamson, of This City, Who Was Oldest Cleric In Presbytery, Honored.

Returning from their inspection of the new chapel at Garwood at 2:45 o'clock, the members of the Presbytery of Elizabeth reassembled for the close of their seventy-fifth stated meeting at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The session was extremely businesslike, and no time was wasted in digressions from the strict order of precedure as mapped out. Reports of the various committees on synodical and Presbyterial activities and other routine business took up most of the time.

Early in the session a minute was read on the death of Rev. John G. Williamson, who died in this city on July 19. He was the oldest minister in the Presbytery. Rev. Dr. E. B. Blauvelt, of Roselle, read the minute.

Two calls for pastoral services were received. The church at Pluckamin called Rev. Joseph D. Wesley and the First German church, of Rahway, called Rev. Dr. C. J. Klein. Arrangements were made for the installation of the two pastors, that at Pluckamin being set for October 30 and that at Rahway for October 12. Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, this city, will preach the installation sermon at Pluckamin.

One brief address was delivered. Dr. John M. Fulton, of St. Paul, Minn., spoke pithily on temperance, urging the members of the Presbytery to keep the work against the drink evil to the fore. Dr. Henry E. Mott, of Elizabeth, spoke on the plan for a ministerial sustentation fund, a new movement to secure salaries to retired ministers or to the indigent families of clerics who die.

After the meeting the members were entertained at supper by the women of the church. Three long tables were laid in the main parlor, and a tastefully served menu was spread before the visitors and elders. They passed a warm vote of thanks to the churchwomen at the close of the supper.

The committee in charge of the entertainment was made up of Mrs. L. N. Condict, chairman; Mrs. John Sheridan Zelie, Mrs. Ernest Parvin, Mrs. G. H. Condict, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore and Mrs. W. D. Murray. They were assisted in serving by the Misses Anthony, the Misses Goddard, the Misses Powell, Miss Hyde and Miss Eva Brown.

The meeting was attended by thirty-two ministers and twenty-one elders. Rev. Dr. W. I. Steans, of Westfield, was moderator, acting in place of Rev. Dr. W. T. Stanford, of Rahway, who was unable to attend on account of a death in his family. Rev. J. T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, was the clerk.

COMING HORSE SHOW INTERESTS LOCAL OWNERS.

Watchung Hunt Club Will Be Well Represented in Jumping and Hunting Classes.

There is considerable interest in the approaching horse show to be held on Saturday afternoon, October 13, at the new show grounds of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club. Especially is this so because it will afford owners of horses between Elizabeth and Somerville, as well as New Brunswick, an opportunity to win some prizes. According to the rules of the show no blue blood horses will be permitted to enter, thus allowing the field open to local horses.

The Watchung Hunt Club is also deeply interested in the show and by now the boys will be ready to enter the hunting and jumping classes. The price of admission to the show, including a grand stand seat, is so low that every one interested in it can afford to attend. It will also give the people of Plainfield and nearby towns a chance to see the handsome show grounds, pronounced to be one of the finest out-door rings in the country. There promises to be a full entry list in every one of the several classes and this will insure fine sport for the afternoon. It has been arranged to start the show at 12 o'clock noon so as to finish the programme before dark.

Miss Allen in "Cymbeline."

At her appearance in this city on October 20, Miss Viola Allen will present her new production of "Cymbeline," taking the part of Imogen. She opened her season at the New National theatre, Washington, Monday night. The fourteen scenes of the remarkably heavy production constituted a background of great beauty for the story.

DAIRYMAN DISAPPEARS

David Steel, of Alton, Missing Since Last Wednesday Morning.

MAY HAVE GONE WEST

Went Out of the House at 4 o'Clock, As It To Go Over Milk Route, And Vanished.

Missing since early last Wednesday morning, David Steel, a young farmer and dairyman of Alton, has been added to the list of those who have disappeared suddenly and mysteriously from their families and accustomed haunts, as if whisked from the face of the earth. It is surmised that he has gone West, and the fact that he drew $500 from a bank here the day before he disappeared and that only part of the sum was found in his room after his disappearance tends to strengthen the belief, but not a trace of him has been found to support it further.

Steel lived with his mother, Mrs. William Steel, about a half a mile from the Alton fertilizer works on a prosperous farm. He arose, as usual, Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock, as though to go about his accustomed work of preparing his horse and wagon for the daily round over his milk route through Fanwood and Scotch Plains. A short time afterward Mrs. Steel arose and saw the horse and wagon standing at the barn door. The rig was hitched as usual, but Steel was not in sight. It was after his time for starting and Mrs. Steel went out to see what was wrong. She could find no sign of her son. She sent her daughter out with the wagon and waited with growing fears for word from her son. As the day wore on and no sign of him was received, the family became alarmed, and Mrs. Steel told her neighbors of the disappearance.

Day after day passed without a trace of the young man, and fears that he had met with foul play or had committed suicide were entertained. The surrounding country was searched, but no sign of Steel rewarded the hunt. It was learned that he drew $500 from a Plainfield bank, and when only part of it was found in his room, the family turned to a theory of a Western trip. Steel is said to have expressed a wish to go West several times, and the belief that he stole away to make his fortune in the newer part of the country has been growing stronger among his friends and the family.

Temporary dementia has been entertained as a theory to account for the disappearance, because Steel was not in very good health, and was just beginning to become free from the after-effects of a severe attack of grip with which he suffered last winter. He bears the best of reputations.

Surprised By Neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stephens, of Duer street, are soon to move to this side of the brook, and last night a number of their neighbors and friends tendered them a surprise party. Games, music and refreshments were enjoyed, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephens were showered with good wishes for their welfare in their new home. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Laury and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Emmons and daughter, Emma; Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland and family; Mrs. and the Miss Sokol, and Miss Ida Belle Conover.

Crap Shooters Fined.

A fine of $1 each was imposed by Mayor Smalley on the eight crap shooters arraigned before him last night. In addition, several who had been arrested previously for the same offense, were warned that another appearance in court would result in their being sent to Somerville for a term. The offenders gave their names as James Neal, Charles Deal, James Gunning, John McKenna, Percy Deal, Andrew Schillinger, Fred Scheuerlein and Percy Lubeck.

Arm Broken by Fall.

While hurrying to board a train at Garwood, last night, Martin Cronce, of Essex street, tripped over the compressed air signal pipe that runs along the tracks and was thrown heavily. His left arm was cleanly broken at the wrist and he was severely jarred. He was assisted to the office of a physician at Westfield and afterward brought to his home where Dr. Creger attended him.

Italian Injured.

Garfield Cospenllo, an Italian, aged twenty-one years, employed by Mobus Brothers at their kindling wood yards at Watchung, injured his han dwhile at work, yesterday afternoon, and was obliged to go to the hospital. The second finger of the right hand was amputated at the second joint, and after dressing the hand the man went home.

HONOR FOR MR. GILBERT

Elected President of the New York Clearing House Association.

A RARE DISTINCTION

Former Mayor Head of Greatest Financial Institution of the Kind in America—His Enviable Career.

Probably the highest honor in the financial circles of New York was conferred upon Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, yesterday, when he was elected president of the New York Clearing House Association, and also a member of the Clearing House Committee. It is the leading financial institution in the country and an election to the presidency is a rare distinction.

A nominating committee is appointed by the association and its choice of officers for election is made after very careful consideration. As the interests of all the large banking institutions which are members of the association are concerned it is exceedingly difficult some times to make a selection for president. The honor conferred on Mr. Gilbert is therefore considered a high tribute to his ability and standing in financial circles.

Alexander Gilbert was born in Elizabeth in 1839 and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gilbert. His father was a native of Ireland and came to this country in infancy with his parents. He settled in New York, where he grew up and was educated. Thomas Gilbert came to New Jersey in early manhood, married and lived in Newark. He was an inventor and iron founder.

While living in New Haven, Conn., Alexander Gilbert had the advantages of prepartory school training, expecting to enter Yale, but after two years his father moved to Brooklyn, where he remained in business until his death in 1859. Mrs. Gilbert remarried and her death occurred in 1886, eleven children surviving. In Brooklyn Mr. Gilbert enjoyed the advantages of an early education.

Mr. Gilbert's first business experience was in the office of Tuttle & Bailey, where he remained for three years. Afterwards he entered the dry goods house of Arnold, Seymour & Co., of New York, as cashier. He stayed there three years and in 1859 he took a position as second receiving teller in the Market Bank, of New York. In 1863, at the age of twenty-four years, he became cashier of the bank, and for several years was considered the youngest bank cashier in New York. In 1890 he was appointed cashier and vice-president. In 1887 he was offered the presidency of the old Fulton Bank, of New York. He declined the offer and soon afterwards the two banks consolidated under the name of the Market and Fulton Bank, of New York. Since then he has been offered the presidency of several banks, but has declined them all preferring his present position.

The last offer made to Mr. Gilbert was by the Southern National Bank in 1896. This he declined, when the business of that bank was also consolidated with that of the Market & Fulton Bank. These consolidations were brought about by Mr. Gilbert and were the means of making the latter bank one of the leading institutions in New York. In 1898 Mr. Gilbert was elected president of the bank.

Mr. Gilbert has lived in Plainfield since 1866. He is treasurer of the Hillside Cemetery Association, which he organized. In 1870 he was elected to the Common Council, serving several years and being one of the commissioners appointed to revise the city charter. He was also instrumental in securing the elevation of the railroad tracks through the city. He was elected Mayor in 1890 and continued in that office until 1896, and during the last two campaigns he had no opponent. He declined a renomination owing to a pressure of business matters.

In 1888 Mr. Gilbert was chosen a delegate to the National Republican convention and was a member of the committee to notify President Harrison of his nomination. He has always been a Republican and has worked for his party's success.

Mr. Gilbert was a prime mover in organizing the Y. M. C. A. here and was its first president. He has been a trustee of the First Baptist church for over twenty years. He is also a member of the Plainfield Country Club, where he is an enthusiastic golfer; the Union County Club and vice-president of the Fulton Club, of New York. He has always been closely identified with the best interests of Plainfield.

Another Plainfield Prize Winner.

A. E. Parks, of 950 West Sixth street, was awarded second prize on S. C. Orpingtons, in exhibition yard, one entry at the State Fair held at Trenton last week.

WOULDN'T TAKE THE ASSEMBLY NOMINATION

SWACKHAMER MAKES STATEMENT AS TO CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.

Under no circumstances will former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer consider a nomination for another term in the lower house of the Legislature. His name has been put forward by the Somerset county Democratic leaders during the past few days as first choice, but Mr. Swackhamer definitely disposed of the talk this morning by a flat and final refusal to consider the nomination.

"I will not consent to be a candidate again for the Assembly," he said emphatically. "I have served two terms, and in those terms I did the best that was in me for the people of my county and the State. I feel that I have done my duty, and will not consider another nomination."

"How about the Congressional nomination, Mr. Swackhamer?" he was asked.

"What about it?"

"You have been mentioned for it, haven't you?"

"There has been some talk, yes. But nothing of which I can say anything."

"Are you willing to take the nomination?"

"I am not a candidate for any office," said Mr. Swackhamer distinctly. "It is true enough that I have been mentioned for the honor of the congressional nomination, but I have not yet made up my mind, so far as my attitude toward the nomination is concerned."

It is said the Somerset county Democratic heads are determined to make Mr. Swackhamer the Assembly nominee. They are said to feel that he is the only man who can win in the coming campaign.

SOON TO MAKE OUT LOCAL TAX BILLS.

John W. Murray Will Receive Books From Assessors in Few Days.

Just as soon as William R. Townsend, clerk for the Union County Taxation Board, certifies to the books of the Plainfield assessors, they will be returned to Tax Collector John W. Murray, so that he may begin his work of making out the tax bills for delivery. Mr. Townsend expects to send the books to Plainfield within a few days and then there will be busy times in the collector's office.

Owing to the new tax rate, which is so different from what Plainfielders have been used to, and the new method of assessment, it would not be surprising if many taxpayers would find some reason for "kicking." It will not be up to Collector Murray to go into details, but no doubt there will be a "kick" just the same.

The new law provides that if any taxpayer has a complaint to make he must put it in writing and send it to the Union County Taxation Board. The members of the board will be in session daily, except Sunday at the Court House, Elizabeth, up to December 20, after which taxes become delinquent. Of course, the appointment of the board abolishes the commissioners of appeal and the taxation board will have to treat with the taxpayers instead. Collector Murray will have the help of his assistant, Frank Dunham, in making out the bills, and then both have both hustle to send them out on time.

Present for W. J. Davenport.

In appreciation of his courtesy while division superintendent, William J. Davenport, the conductors and motormen running on the Elizabeth and Plainfield division of the Public Service Corporation, have presented him with a gold watch and chain valued at $100. Mr. Davenport resigned his position recently and the presentation was made on Monday, Harry Milligan, an inspector, making the speech. Mr. Davenport greatly appreciated the gift and thanked one and all for it. The committee which had charge of the arrangements of securing the watch consisted of Joe Nessler, Michael Welch, Harry Milligan, William Randolph and George Fine.

Library Directors Meet.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Public Library and Reading Room was held last night, when a number of bills were ordered paid out of the general fund and the Babcock Income Fund. The application of Miss Millian Erskine for a special teacher's card was granted. The report of Treasurer J. Herbert Cass was presented and filed.

Cathers Branching Out.

George Cathers, proprietor of the Park stables, has rented the former Ivins lumber yard at Watchung avenue, opposite East Fourth street, and will use it as an auction headquarters for horses. The place is being put in first class shape and Mr. Cathers is preparing for the first big sale.

FALL FROM CAR FATAL

Chief's Driver, William Ross Succumbs to Injuries Received at Bound Brook.

ON A DAY'S OUTING

Lost His Hold On Crowded Trolley Bound For New Brunswick and Struck on His Head.

As a result of injuries received by falling from a trolley car at East Bound Brook, yesterday afternoon, William H. Ross, driver of the chief's wagon in the city fire department, died at his home on East Second street at 8:35 last night. He had sustained concussion of the brain and a severe blow in the abdomen, from which he became unconscious and in which condition he remained from the time of the accident until his death.

Ross secured leave of absence yesterday for the purpose of attending the firemen's parade at New Brunswick and he left for that city by trolley shortly before 1 o'clock. He was unaccompanied but was noticed by several Plainfielders on the car that moved out of the Bound Brook terminus at 1:23. The vehicle was crowded and as it bowled along between the match factory and the former coal register works, depressions in the track caused it to shake violently. Ross was holding on the edge of the platform and as near as can be ascertained, he lost his grip and fell backward.

Men called to the conductor to stop the car but it proceeded on to the East Bound Brook bridge. At that point, Andrew Love, of this city, managed to get off and with several others, went back to see who had fallen and learn if the man had been hurt. The conductor informed the superintendent of the road so that he might telephone Chief Doane at Headquarters. The official told Mr. Love that he would attend to him and the latter proceeded on.

Fire Headquarters was called up and the news of the accident was received by Assistant Chief Jennings. He was informed that Ross was "simply dazed" and so dispatched Edward Vail on a trolley to bring him home. When Vail reached the spot he found that the injured man had simply been taken to one side of the road and left there. He was told a Bound Brook doctor had examined him and declared that he was not badly hurt, but this was not verified. Vail it seemed different and hastily calling a cab from a local livery, the unconscious man was gotten home as speedily as possible. Dr. Gaston was quickly in attendance but his efforts were of no avail and Ross sank steadily until the end.

Ross was fifty-six years old and had been a fireman practically all his life. When but twenty-one years old he joined the Plainfield volunteer department and served in various capacities until the paid drivers were introduced and he secured an appointment. That was when the department was still volunteer and when the present system was inaugurated in 1895 he was one of the first men to be assigned to a drivers seat. Three years ago he succeeded Capt. Townley as chief's driver and held the place until his death.

He was considered one of the most competent and courteous men in the department and never had a serious accident during his long service. Speaking of the affair this morning, Chief Doane declared it came as a heavy blow to every fireman in the city, while to himself the death of "Billy" Ross was like losing one of his own family. He was of a quiet, retiring disposition but enjoyed the respect and confidence of his fellows.

There are surviving, a widow, one daughter and two sons. The latter are Mrs. Frank Burke, William Ross, Jr., and Percy Ross.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, 152 East Second street, Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Circus Paid for Its Waters.

When the Hargreaves circus visited this city last year, employees tapped the Plainfield Water Supply Company's mains for water and neglected to pay for the privilege. The officials of the show probably forgot all about the circumstances but the water company didn't and when the circus landed in town yesterday a writ of attachment was taken out against it in the Baptist church through Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. The papers were served on the manager by Sergeant Bland and he promptly squared up. The bill amounted in all to $11.75.

Boys' Convention.

Boys' Secretary Hayds W. Brown, of the Y. M. C. A., will go to Newark tomorrow to attend a conference of boys' secretaries at which final arrangements will be made for the annual State convention of boys' departments at Montclair October 26, 27 and 28. Plainfield will have six delegates at the

FAMILIES DIVIDED IN PRIMARY FIGHT

BROTHERS ON OPPOSITE SIDES OF THE FENCE ON TUESDAY.

While the primary election of last Tuesday was interesting from several points of view so far as the vote itself was concerned, it was one of the most remarkable campaigns conducted locally in a long time. The division of Republican sympathies split up families as it were and throughout the agitation it was a case of "brother against brother" or "father against son." In some instances personal feeling was engendered but from all accounts none of it was held over after the ballots were counted.

A particularly noticeable case of family division occurred in the case of J. Hervey Doane and John H. Doane. The former is a "regular" and was on the ticket for freeholder, while his brother had joined forces with the Colbyites. A similar state of affairs existed between Henry L. Hall and his brother, R. E. Hall. Henry L. Hall was "regular" in the municipal fight while R. E. Hall was a Colby man and was on the ticket for delegate to the county convention. Fred H. Firstbrook, of Grant avenue, was put up by the "regulars" for delegate to the Congressional convention and his brother, George E. Firstbrook, worked and voted for the Colbyites who sought his defeat.

There were many other instances of this kind and in many respects, the fight resembled those which have characterized recent elections in North Plainfield. When the annexation proposition was before the people members of families took opposite sides and the same thing was noticed last year when the Cits and Republicans fought for the mayoralty.

ARMED HOBOES FOLLOW COUNTRY STOREKEEPER

BUT PIERCE TURNED THE TABLES ON HIS SINISTER SHADOWS.

In Nicholas Laws and John Rushlow, the two men arrested in Dunellen Thursday night and sent to jail for forty days, as suspicious characters, Constable Robert L. Pierce, of New Market, believes the leaders of a gang of five men who had planned to rob the grocery store of his son, Herbert L. Pierce, at New Market, have been put away.

Herbert Pierce identified the men as two of a quintet of tough-looking waylayers who hung about his store late Friday afternoon. Just as he was counting his money, the two walked into the place. They asked the road to Buffalo, but seemed more interested in the money bag than in the information. Pierce became suspicious and told the men to wait for him. The two men went up the street together and the five hoboes followed. Pierce hustled to his father's house and told the constable of the gang. The officer armed himself and with his son went out after them. They had taken flight and turned back toward Dunellen and Pierce hitched up a horse to pursue them. In Dunellen he found that Laws and Rushlow had just been picked up. The other trio had escaped by running in the direction of New Market.

Laws had a loaded revolver on him. Rushlow claimed they were simple workmen in search of jobs, but their actions, their appearance and the fact that they protested actions sufficiently to bring down the forty day sentence on them from Justice Von Minden.

Want a Mail Carrier.

The postal authorities are again having trouble in securing a person to take the job of carrying mail between the postoffice and the North Avenue station. Several colored men have had the position, but in turn each one has resigned owing to the small salary and long hours of work. The hours are especially long now as the last mail from New York does not reach this city until 11:28 at night. The office is the width of a street too far from the station to compel the railroad company to carry the mail, and it is up to the postal authorities to see that it is done.

Funeral of Richard E. Coriell.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Richard E. Coriell was held at his late home on Fairview avenue, Thursday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church. The interment was at Hillside, the pall bearers being R. Frank Coriell and C. H. Rugg, of this city, and four of Mr. Coriell's associates in J. W. Johnson's silver house in New York.

Miss Beatrice Miner a Bridesmaid.

Miss Beatrice Miner, of this city, was one of six bridesmaids attending Miss Matilda Lillian Remsen, of Newark, and Frederick Wharton Peck, of Summit, which took place in the Central Presbyterian church, Newark, on Wednesday night. The bride entertained the members of the party at an elaborate dinner at Ivanhoe Hall, Newark, Tuesday evening.

AMATEUR BALL LEAGUE OH! THAT RODENSKY BOY

Y. M. C. A. Effects Organization of Six-Club Combination Next Year.

The Borough Police Caught a Tartar When They Contracted to Send Him Home.

MEETING LAST NIGHT HE LIVES IN NEWARK

Y. M. C. A., New Market, Dunellen, Scotch Plains, Westfield and Bound Brook To Have Teams in the Pennant Race.

And Good Natured George Haymaker Was Nearly Lynched in Getting Him There.

There is to be an amateur baseball league in Plainfield next year. The formation of the organization was decided upon at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

The meeting was called by the association. The Y. M. C. A. moved in the matter, impelled by a feeling that it was confronted by a dearer sport, and that from it, more than any other body or group of men in the city, the encouragement of an amateur league should come.

Assurances have been received from six teams that they will be represented in the league. The six are Westfield, New Market, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Scotch Plains and the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Three of the organizations were represented last night at the meeting—Scotch Plains, Y. M. C. A. and Dunellen. The others have been signed. There is a possibility that one of the six may drop out before the league is finally formed, but the full membership of six clubs will be maintained.

Last night's meeting was wholly preliminary in character. At a meeting to be held on October 8, permanent organization will be effected. Rules, regulations, schedule and the trophy question will be settled at that session. It is the plan to offer a pennant that will be kept at the Y. M. C. A. Each year, the name of the winning club will be inscribed on the flag, which will be hung in the Y. M. C. A. as a permanent record of the league victories.

The spirit of the league is to be sternly amateur. The Y. M. C. A. cannot associate itself with any form of sport not strictly amateur, and the fence barring professionalism from the league will be built very high and strong.

O'LOUGHLIN MADE A 67 ON THE LINKS

PROFESSIONAL MAKES A LOW SCORE IN CONTEST.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the "pro" at the Plainfield Country Club, while playing this morning with Percy Stewart, a club member, made the best score for the course since it has been lengthened. He returned a score of 67. Robert Abbott holds a 67 for the score, but his playing was under more favorable conditions; that is the greens and the course were in the pink of condition. Mr. Stewart made a score of 83.

As evidence of the fast game being played by O'Loughlin this morning, he only required three puts on each of the eighth, ninth, eleventh and fourteenth holes and he made the 390 yard hole in three. His card going out and coming in was as follows:

4 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 4—33
3 5 4 3 4 4 4 3 4—34—67

Mr. Stewart's card follows:

4 4 5 4 5 4 5 4 5—41
4 6 5 4 4 5 5 4 5—42—83

This is the third time this week that O'Loughlin has returned low scores. His first score was a 79, the second a 76 and a 67 this morning. Yesterday he and W. T. Glenney defeated William Fullerton and Eddie Wilde on the Cranford Golf Club course, by 4 up. Their best score was 74, while the best score of Fullerton and Wilde was 82.

P. H. S. ARRANGING SCHEDULE.

Several Games Already Booked by Manager Pound.

The football prospects of the high school team for this season are bright according to Captain Douglass. Under the direction of Mr. Best's coaching the boys are working hard four days a week and the school expects to have a winning team. Six of last year's eleven are on the team and the new men are rapidly getting in form. The team will undoubtedly be chosen from the following: Ends, Murphy, Rafferty, Tillotson; tackles, Fountain, Morris, Tood; guards, S. Fisher, Boardman; centre, Caldwell, Dorothy, Thiworth; quarter back, Brakeley; left half back, Douglass; right half back, Lyness; full back, Mahaffey.

Manager Pound has not yet completed the schedule, but has secured games with Montclair High School, Montclair Military Academy, East Orange High School, Cranford High School, Leals, Rutgers Prep., Westfield High School and Somerville High School.

Bible Students' Reception.

A reception to members of the Bible study classes of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the association on October 18. Dr. A. F. Schauffler, of New York, will address the gathering.

Johnny Rodensky is only a small boy but he gave the borough police more trouble, Thursday, than any full grown prisoner they have had in a long time. He stirred up a good part of Union county as well and there is no telling what might have happened if his throat hadn't got full of yelling and his feet tired from kicking.

The boy's home is on Broome street, Newark, but things don't go there as well as he would like to have them and so three weeks ago he took French leave. He made his way to his aunt's, Mrs. Rodensky, of Pearl street, in the borough, and proceeded to enjoy life. The parents located him there and through the Newark police asked the North Plainfield authorities to get hold of him and ship him back. Broome street, Marshal Dooley sallied out Thursday and little thinking what a hornet's nest he was going to stir up, laid officials hands on the runaway Johnny. That was just the point where the trouble began. Like his namesake Newark boy, Rodensky junior, hates a cop and he knew the one who had captured him didn't do it for fun. He struggled with all his might, bit and clawed and howled like a Hottentot. Dooley was half-inclined to lose his temper a dozen times but finally got Johnny to police headquarters without any casualties on either side.

A consultation between the officials and the relatives resulted in the edict that the boy was to be returned, but none of the marshals could be spared to escort him to Newark. The promise of carfare and a little something for refreshments on the side was held out to several men but they all declined to have anything to do with the Rodensky volcano. Finally Geo. Haymaker, a stalwart driver, thought he saw a chance for a little excursion and volunteered to take the job.

He started to lead the youngster down Somerset street and the yelling and kicking began again. By the time Front street was reached a big crowd was following and those who didn't know what was wrong said all sorts of mean things about "the big brute that was abusing the little boy." When the two arrived at the Watchung avenue terminus, a bunch of rubbernecks in the rear, Patrolman O'Keefe called a halt and demanded an explanation from Haymaker. He was so excited he couldn't tell the story properly and he might have been arrested but for the intervention of Edward Mundy, who knew the facts.

Guard and prisoner then boarded a trolley car, the latter screeching blue murder and kicking at every shin that came near him. The racket continued until Westfield was reached and at that point, passengers who had gotten on along the route, wanted to "rough-house" Haymaker for "ill treating the child" as one old woman expressed it. They comprimised by calling Chief of Police Thomas O'Neill and the man and boy were hauled off and taken to Westfield police headquarters. As Haymaker's story seemed a little fishy and Rodensky wouldn't stop bawling long enough to get words, they were held prisoners while O'Neill called up the North Plainfield police. Another explanation had to be given and once more the journey was resumed.

At Cranford and Elizabeth, Haymaker barely escaped mobbing at the hands of indignant citizens and two or three times he was on the point of heaving the youngster as far as his muscular arms could throw him. His better judgment prevailed, however, and as they began the trip over the Newark meadows, Rodensky subsided from sheer exhaustion. He was as meek and innocent as a lamb when he was landed under the parental roof and Haymaker only stopped long enough to tell father and mother how near their young hopeful came to a violent death at his hands before he started back home.

It was said today that Haymaker would present a good-sized bill to the borough council for the kindness he received and the danger of lynching to which he was exposed.

Praise for P. H. S.

At the opening of the 153d year of Columbia University's St. Barnard College, the woman's branch, were admitted as freshmen, four of the class of '06, Plainfield High School, Miss Gertrude L. Hunter, Miss Antoinette D. Hill, Miss Lina Bohan and Miss MacMurray. The standing they attained at entrance was most honorable to themselves and creditable to their instructors in the High School. On Saturday, through the kindness of Miss Mary Lock, they were presented to the dean of the college by whom they were most cordially entertained and assured of the high regard felt by the officers of the college for the pupils of the P. H. S.; as in the past, they school has furnished the college students who have taken high rank and proved an honor to it.

TAX RATE FIXED AT $1.35 PER $100

The State School Rate .09296; County .027998; Agreed Upon by Union County Board of Equalization of Taxes.

VALUATION 20 MILLIONS

Entire Valuation of Union County Over $100,000,000—Last Year's Rate $2.48.

The Union County Board of Taxation completed its work of revising the various books of the county Friday, and announced the tax rates for the different municipalities, after determining the State, school, county, city and other valuations. Plainfield's tax rate for the coming year will be $1.35 per one hundred. Last year it was $2.48.

The total valuation for the county is $106,000,000, and of this Plainfield's valuation is $20,963,975. The amount to be raised for State school purposes is $19,488.11, and that for county purposes $58,694.92.

The State school rate is .09296, the county rate, .027998, and for city purposes the rate is $1.20958 per hundred.

It is argued that the State school and county rates have prevented lower rate for Plainfield. The Plainfield assessors closed their books at Elizabeth yesterday, thereby showing that no further changes would be made. As regards the assessment in Plainfield while the field work is done individually by the assessor in each ward, they have to be passed upon by at least three members of the board of four. The assessment on no property can be cut or raised without a majority vote of the board. Thus no one man is held responsible for the result, neither is his judgment alone taken in determining valuations.

LEACH IS LOOKING FOR HIS MISSING CLERK.

Lunch Wagon Man Misses Nine Days' Receipts—McGilvray Disappears the Day Bobby Returns.

Bobby Leach, the lunch wagon man, has had a warrant sworn out before Justice Mosher against John McGilvray, of Westfield, charging him with the larceny of $125. McGilvray, who worked for Leach, is said to have disappeared with the money, gathered during nine days in which he was left in charge of the lunch wagon, on East Second street. Leach left McGilvray at the head of the wagon the week before last, when he went away from town on a trip. He came back Thursday night, to find McGilvray gone, it is said, and with him the receipts for the past week and a half. McGilvray is said to have stuck to the wagon until he heard Leach was in town, and then jumped out. He is said to have been implicated in the robbery of the Westfield depot several years ago.

TWICE HYPNOTIZED WOMAN DECLARES.

Says Doctor She Asked to Remove Influence Exercised It on Her.

Miss Rosina Fisher, thirty-nine years old, of No. 239 Jamaica avenue, Long Island City, was held yesterday by Magistrate Smith in the Long Island City Police Court for observation as to her sanity.

For some time past she had been annoying Dr. Paul O. Meyer, of No. 269 Steinway avenue. She first went to him and told him that he had been hyptonized by a New York physician and wanted the influence removed. The doctor tried to humor her, and this worked for a time, but later she complained that Dr. Meyer had hypnotized her, and three weeks ago she sought a warrant for his arrest.

Last Wednesday she went to the doctor's office and raised such a disturbance that he caused a summons to be issued for her.

STRIKERS TO OWN MILL.

Trenton Shirt Workers Organize Independent Plant.

Trenton, Sept. 29.—Several operators who left the Trenton shirt mills on a strike have organized a shirt manufacturing company. The capital stock is $125,000, divided into 12,500 shares of $10 each. The principal office is at West Hanover and Chancery streets.

The incorporators and the number of shares held by each are: Paul Urken, 35; Joseph Spector, 35; Robert Thorn, 36; Joseph Gordon, 36; Hyman Rosenthal, 36; Jacob Levine, 3*; Harry Spector, 36.

Thirty-five machines for the new plant arrived yesterday and are being placed in position. The plant will probably be in operation next week.

C.N. FOWLER RENOMINATED

Lone Candidate For Congressional Honors Named By Republicans.

MR. FISK CHAIRMAN

R. B. Cissel Makes Nominating Speech—W. N. Runyon Acts As Secretary.

Charles Newell Fowler was re-nominated as Representative from the Fifth Congressional District, at the Congressional convention held in Jacobs' theatre, Elizabeth, Friday afternoon. The nominating speech was made by Robert B. Cissel, a Colbyite. Dr. C. B. Holmes, of Rahway, called the convention to order at 12:30 o'clock.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, was selected as temporary chairman and he appointed the usual committees. City Judge William N. Runyon, Colbyite, was made secretary. He called the roll. After the temporary organization was effected, adjournment was taken to Turn Hall for dinner.

The convention re-convened at Jacobs' theatre at 2 o'clock. The first business was to make the temporary organization permanent.

Early in the day it was known that there would be no opposition to Congressman Fowler and arrangements were soon made to have Mr. Cissel nominate the Elizabeth man for another term. Following the nomination there were speeches by James Sherman, chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee and also by Lee Fairchild.

During the afternoon reports were received from the various committees and the adoption of the customary resolutions took place. The presence and activity of so many Colbyites at the convention is taken to indicate that they intend to support Congressman Fowler.

The following Plainfield delegates attended the convention:

First ward—J. B. Coward, F. S. Cutter, E. B. Maynard, W. C. McNaughton, N. F. Rogers, S. Smalley; Second ward—Colbyites—L. M. Booth, F. W. Butler, R. H. Depew, W. N. Runyon, J. G. Bicknell, R. E. Hall; Third ward—Colbyites—S. C. Baker, M. L. Clawson, C. J. Fisk (R.), D. W. Taylor, J. S. Higham; Fourth ward—John Curry, Elmer McCray, Alfred Prudhorn, W. S. Angleman, C. C. Gallup, J. MW. Mitchell, regulars, and N. B. Briggs, Alexander Gordon and F. T. Woodhull, Colbyites.

SOME TAX FIGURES ABOUT UNION COUNTY.

How County and State School Taxes Are Apportioned In the County.

The total valuation of the county is $106,257,427. The county rate is a little less than twenty-eight one-hundredths of one per cent., and the State school tax a little more than nine one-hundredths of one per cent., a total of .37 per cent.

The total State school tax is $98,-773.51, divided as follows:

Clark	$ 477.90
Cranford	4,104.76
Elizabeth	44,118.40
Fanwood Township	1,041.36
Fanwood Borough	446.62
Garwood Borough	1,056.73
Linden Township	3,000.60
Linden Borough	423.17
Mountainside	250.36
New Providence Bor.	231.47
New Providence Bor.	432.26
Plainfield	19,488.11
Rahway	3,957.66
Roselle Borough	1,990.30
Roselle Park	1,875.00
Springfield	787.05
Summit	8,141.80
Union	2,798.70
Westfield	4,161.26
The total county tax is	$297,000,
divided as follows:
Clark	$ 1,439.84
Cranford	12,360.87
Elizabeth	132,874.14
Fanwood Township	3,136.40
Fanwood Borough	1,345.14
Garwood Borough	3,182.71
Linden Township	9,037.32
Linden Borough	1,274.53
Mountainside	754.05
New Providence Town'p.	697.15
New Providence Bor.	1,301.90
Plainfield	58,694.93
Rahway	11,919.80
Roselle Borough	5,994.44
Roselle Park	5,647.85
Springfield	2,370.50
Summit	24,521.77
Union	8,414.14
Westfield	12,533.02

Apgar Broke 82 Targets Straight.

Neaf Apgar, of this city, made a great record at the fall snoot of the New York City Gun Club, York, Pa., Friday, when in his second hundredth he broke 82 straight. The day was dark, but good scores were the rule. Grove led the shooters with a score of 174; Glover pushed pretty hard, however, for the honors. Apgar, 193; Glover, 174; Deardorff, 174; Jackson, 171; Grove, 174; Betts, 64; Nevin, 156; Dick, 127; McSherry, 125; Somers, 88; Lauber, 19; Miller, 122; Blessing, 39; Willis, 97.

Mrs. Margaret Mullin, of this city, who has been visiting her parents at Somerville, has returned home.

LAID THE CORNER-STONE

Many Ministers Attend Ceremony on Site of Warren Chapel Edifice.

A SILVER TROWEL USED

Rev. Alexander McKelvey, Father of Pastor, Makes Address—Contents of Corner-Stone.

With a ceremony extremely simple but none the less impressive, the corner-stone of the new Warren chapel, now being erected at Watchung and Fairview avenues, was laid Thursday. Pastor J. O. McKelvey put the block in its place and while the members of his congregation circled about him deftly made it firm with a silver trowel. The implement was especially prepared for the occasion and bore the inscription: "This trowel used by Rev. J. O. McKelvey in laying the corner-stone of the new Warren chapel, September 27, 1906."

The ceremony was announced to begin at 4 o'clock and by that time a large gathering was about the ground. A temporary floor had been placed on the cross beams of what is to be the main floor of the new chapel and it accommodated many of Warren's members and their friends. Those participating occupied seats in the north-west corner, where the stone was placed and induced Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, the parent of Warren; Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel; Rev. D. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, and Rev. Alexander McKelvey, of Boonton, father of Rev. J. O. McKelvey. In the gathering were Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; Rev. Edward Love, E. B. Perrin, superintendent of Warren, and Alexander N. Lovell, a former superintendent and for years identified with its work.

Dr. Zelie presided and at the hour set for commencement, gave the salutation and led a responsive reading. Invocation was offered by Pastor McKelvey and the gathering united in singing, Whitney Frazee accompanying on the cornet. The congregation also recited the confession of faith, this leading to the actual ceremony of placing the stone. It was quickly accomplished by Mr. McKelvey and he finished Dr. Zelie led in prayer.

According to the custom, a box was put beneath the stone and in this was the following articles: The semi-annual year books of the Crescent Avenue church for 1904 and the last issue, containing some interesting information regarding the church; current copies of the Plainfield Daily Press, the Couriers-News, the Plainfield Constitutionalist and the North Plainfield Weekly Review; some his*torical matter presented by Leander* N. Lovell; a fifty-cent piece of fractional currency; two United States coins given by Francis Whitely, photographs of the old chapel, taken and given by William Demarest; other photographs given by chapel members, a Bible from the old chapel and a prayer meeting topic card for 1906.

Rev. Alexander McKelvey was introduced by Pastor McKelvey as the speaker of the occasion, in doing so remarking that he was one who had ever been before him in laying the corner-stone of his life. Mr. McKelvey, sendly, expressed pleasure at having been selected to deliver the address and declared the event was brought about through God's providence and grace. He had permitted the congregation to worship in a place for many years and then guided them to the point where they could *expand and continue to uphold Chris*tianity.

Continuing, the speaker said there was much below the surface in laying the corner-stone. It is a memorial of work already accomplished in the old building and was an acknowledgement of the glory and presence of God. It is also symbolical in its consecration and dedication of the worship of the Father; a symbol of continued faith and honor.

In conclusion he expressed the hope that the new building might be the habitation of precious souls and besought his hearers to make Christ the corner-stone of their lives and prove themselves worthy of His love.

Following Mr. McKelvey's address, an offering was taken and the congregation sang the doxology. The benediction was pronounced by Mr. McKelvey, Sr.

It is hoped to have the new chapel ready for dedication next Easter and the occasion will be celebrated by an elaborate service. The structure will cost about $28,000, exclusive of the pipe organ and furnishings.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

Monroe Ave. M. E. Epworth League Marks 15th Year.

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church held its fifteenth anniversary Thursday. N. Mansfield Smith made a short address and introduced the speaker, Rev. Herbert Munson.

Rev. Munson was the first pastor of the church and held the pastorate at the time the church was made a branch of the league. He called attention to the improvement made in work since it was first begun, and spoke encouragingly of the work at the present time.

Refreshments and a social hour followed.

CLOCKWORK CONVENTION

Re-Nomination of Fowler Accomplished With Calm and Smoothness.

CHAIRMAN IS PLEASED

Proud of the Way the Convention Got Through Its Work—Platform Adopted Contains Nothing Startling.

Smoothness was the distinguishing feature of the Republican congressional convention Friday at Elizabeth. Everything having been decided beforehand, the delegates and their offices had nothing to worry over, nothing to work out—nothing to do but start Congressman Fowler toward his fifth term.

There was a goodly amount of noise at the proper periods for applause, but enthusiasm was not unduly rampant. Chairman Charles J. Fisk was pleased over the smooth way in which the think went through.

James T. Sherman, chairman of the congressional campaign committee, be of the dollar contribution bureau, made an address and Lee Fairchild essayed a spellbinding effort. Mr. Fairchild was not in form, and the spell he cast was more somnolent than anything else. Mr. Sherman made the usual convention speech, with the flag waving above everything and Abraham Lincoln in constant service.

Mr. Fowler made the closing address. He thanked the convention for the honor and pledged himself to advance the interests of the people and the party.

The platform adopted by the convention reaffirms the National Republican platform of 1904; enthusiastically endorses the administration of President Roosevelt; points with pride to the acts of the fifty-ninth congress in establishing Government power to establish railway rates, in bringing about Packingtown reforms, in legislating for pure food, for taking the duty off denaturized alcohol, for admitting Oklahoma and Indian Territory into the Union, and for cutting off the immunity privilege from trust prosecutions; continuing, *the platform echoes President Roose*velt's declaration that it is "square deal," for corporations as well as labor unions and for the rich as well as the poor; it maintains that the Republican party is justly entitled to be continued in power, because it is the one party that has consistently planned and conferred benefits on the people; it points with pride to the abolition of slavery and all the rest of the noble things done by the party.

The record of Congressman Fowler was cited as worthy of the honor of every American citizen, and United States Senators Dryden and Kean were praised for their uniformly successful service in the Congress of the country in behalf of good government for the people. The platform ended by commending the New Jersey Senatorial Primary Bill, consideration of all right-thinking people, and pledg*ing the hearty support of the Repub*lican voters of Union county for the return of Congressman Charles N. Fowler to the seat in the councils of the Nation which he has for successive terms filled with credit to himself, his country, and the people of New Jersey.

AUDIENCE JOINED IN.

Shouted "Ship Ahoy!" When Blanche Ring Sang Her Latest Success.

"Miss Dolly Dollars," the Victor Herbert-Harry Smith musical comedy, was presented at the New Plainfield theatre last night, the Mc-Dillingham's other pretty production, "Princess Beggar," seen here last Saturday, was enthusiastically received. The company was admirably cast and comprised "top-notch" comedians and singers.

Miss Blanche Ring scored a personal hit and the audience hated to let her leave the stage. On one occasion she was encored five times and when she sang the song she introduced, "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," the whole house joined in shouting "ship ahoy." Her imitations of Edna May and Fay Templeton were splendid and in many ways she showed herself to be one of the most versatile actresses that has ever visited Plainfield.

The original English Pony Ballet was also a big feature and verified advance notices as to nudity and grace of the young women.

LEVIED ON HOUSE.

Big Judgment Executed Against Mrs. Alice H. Sandford.

Legal difficulties still upset the even tenor of the way of Mrs. Alice H. Sandford, of New Market, whose marital and domestic troubles recently occupied considerable space in the newspapers. Deputy Sheriff R. L. Pierce, of New Market, levied on her property in that village yesterday to execute a judgment for $532 against her.

The judgment was obtained for the First National Bank, of this city, in the Supreme ourt, on a note. H. C. Runyon represented the bank.

New Glee Club.

One of the new features of Y. M. C. A. activity this season will be a glee club. The organization will be headed by H. R. Lodor. The club will take a prominent part in the special religious services.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Attractive New Books Recently Added to the Public Library.

Andrews, Mary Raymond Shipman.—Bob and the guides.

"Can be read aloud and out of doors—two severe tests for a book." Independent, June 7, 1906.

Burnett, Frances Hodgson.—Dawn of a tomorrow.

"The little story is tenderly told, leaving the reader with a softened heart and broader sympathies." N. Y. Times.

White, Stewart Edward.—The mountains.

"Altogether this is one of the most entertaining and best written of hunting books that we recall.'

Stories of the Sea.

Alden, W.—Cruise of the Ghost.
Brady, C. T., ed.—Sea stories.
Connolly, J. B.—Deep sea's toll: short stories.
Connolly, J. B.—Out of Gloucester.
Connolly, J. B.—The Seiners.
Cooper, J. F.—Afloat and ashore.
Cooper, J. F.—Homeward bound.
Cooper, J. F.—Jack Tier.
Cooper, J. F.—Miles Wallingford.
Cooper, J. F.—Pilot.
Cooper, J. F.—Red rover.
Cooper, J. F.—Two admirals.
Cooper, J. F.—Water-witch.
Couch, A. T. Q.—Blue pavilions.
Hamblen, H. E.—Yarn of a bucko mate.
Hugo, V. M., Comte.—Toilers of the sea.
Janvier, T. A.—In the Sargasso sea.
Marryat, F.—Frank Mildmay.
Marryat, F.—Jacob Faithful.
Marryat, F.—King's own.
Marryat, F.—Masterman Ready.
Marryat, F.—Mr. Midshipman Easy.
Marryat, F.—Newton Foster.
Marryat, F.—Peter Simple.
Marryat, F.—Poor Jack.
Marryat, F.—Privateersman.
Marryat, F.—Snarleyyow.
Pyle, Howard.—Within the capes.
Reid, Mayne.—Boy tar.
Reid, Mayne.—Ocean waifs.
Russell, W. C.—Emigrant ship.
Russell, W. C.—Jack's courtship.
Russell, W. C.—List, ye landsmen.
Russell, W. C.—Romance of a transport.
Russell, W. C.—Wreck of the Grosvenor.
Scott, Michael.—Tom Cringle's log.

Stories by English authors: the sea.

Verne, Jules.—Wreck of the Chancellor.

LIFE A CENTURY AGO.

One hundred years ago a man could not send a telegram.

He could not ride a bicycle.

He had never struck a match.

He had never ridden on an elevator.

He had never crossed an iron bridge.

He had never taken a ride on a steamboat.

He had never seen his wife use a sewing machine.

He had never used anything but a wooden plow.

He had never received a typewritten communication.

He had never seen a reaper or a self-binder in harvest.

He could not call in a stenographer and dictate a letter.

He could not go from Washington to New York in a few hours.

He had never seen an electric light or heard of an electric car.

He couldn't take an anaesthetic and have his leg cut off without feeling it.

He never looked pleased before a photographer, or had his picture taken.

He couldn't talk through the telephone and he had never heard of the hello girl.

He had never heard a phonograph talk or seen a kinetoscope turn out a prize fight.

He never saw through a Webster's unabridge dictionary with the aid of a Roentgen ray.

He could not buy a paper and learn things that happened the day before all over the world.

He had never purchased a ten-cent magazine which would have been regarded as a miracle of art.

In short, there were several things that he could not do and several things that he did not know.—Watch-word.

She Had to Remind Him.

"Oh, William," she exclaimed after they had got comfortably seated in the sleeper and were waiting for the train to start, "do you remember what this is?"

"What what is?"

"What today is. Don't you know? This is the fourteenth anniversary of our wedding."

"Ah, indeed! Why couldn't you have let me enjoy the trip?"—Houston Post.

Far Off.

"I understand Bjenks is a distant relative of old Goldrocks."

"Yes."

"How distant?"

"About $2,000,000."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Evident Proof.

"They say that 'ignorance is bliss.'"

Began the love-lorn chappie.

"I guess that's true," the pert young miss Replied, "for you look happy."

is no surface work in his novels. He lays bare the anatomy of character. He is an unflinching realist but his realism is of the large things of life, not of its mere circumstance. Nor is "The Undying Past" without its message—that Nemesis is relentless, that sin carries with it down into its mustrom the innocent as well as the guilty; that the only safe repentance is to repent before your wrong is done. Repentance is too late, a lifetime of it cannot undo—lesson too sternly taught by life, too seldom by lips or pen. It is a powerful drama in humanity, with a depth of tenderness relieving its tragedy. N. Y. Times.

White, Stewart Edward.—The mountains.

"Altogether this is one of the most entertaining and best written of hunting books that we recall.'

Stories of the Sea.

Alden, W.—Cruise of the Ghost.
Brady, C. T., ed.—Sea stories.
Connolly, J. B.—Deep sea's toll: short stories.
Connolly, J. B.—Out of Gloucester.
Connolly, J. B.—The Seiners.
Cooper, J. F.—Afloat and ashore.
Cooper, J. F.—Homeward bound.
Cooper, J. F.—Jack Tier.
Cooper, J. F.—Miles Wallingford.
Cooper, J. F.—Pilot.
Cooper, J. F.—Red rover.
Cooper, J. F.—Two admirals.
Cooper, J. F.—Water-witch.
Couch, A. T. Q.—Blue pavilions.
Hamblen, H. E.—Yarn of a bucko mate.
Hugo, V. M., Comte.—Toilers of the sea.
Janvier, T. A.—In the Sargasso sea.
Marryat, F.—Frank Mildmay.
Marryat, F.—Jacob Faithful.
Marryat, F.—King's own.
Marryat, F.—Masterman Ready.
Marryat, F.—Mr. Midshipman Easy.
Marryat, F.—Newton Foster.
Marryat, F.—Peter Simple.
Marryat, F.—Poor Jack.
Marryat, F.—Privateersman.
Marryat, F.—Snarleyyow.
Pyle, Howard.—Within the capes.
Reid, Mayne.—Boy tar.
Reid, Mayne.—Ocean waifs.
Russell, W. C.—Emigrant ship.
Russell, W. C.—Jack's courtship.
Russell, W. C.—List, ye landsmen.
Russell, W. C.—Romance of a transport.
Russell, W. C.—Wreck of the Grosvenor.
Scott, Michael.—Tom Cringle's log.

Stories by English authors: the sea.

Verne, Jules.—Wreck of the Chancellor.

To say that the book is the work of Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Castle is to provide it with certain passports to the affections of the public, for these writers have more than most of their contemporaries, the power to command smiles and tears commingled, and to transport us into the rapturous regions of delight. The new book is one of their best. It has an historical setting. . . It is a story throbbing with life, instinct, with poetic feeling and bearing the stamp of a creative power that is closely akin to genius." Dial.

Churchill, Winston.—Coniston.

"Coniston can hardly fail to give its readers food for thought. Well will it be for our government if these readers are many, and if they straightway proceed to run according to the reading. N. Y. Times.

Crawford, F. Marion.—Fair Margaret.

"If there were nothing else in this book than the portrait of the big-hearted Junoesque voluble French woman . . it would still be one of the books that Mr. Crawford might justly be very proud of."

Crawford, F. Marion.—Valve Venetia. 2v.

These volumes . . are neither history nor romance, but a blend of both. If we judge them as history, their value is small; as romance they are entertaining. Nation.

Fogazaro, Antonio.—The saint.

The best read and the most discussed book in Italy in the last ten months. The work by the most eminent living Italian novelist. Saturday Times.

Glasgow, Ellen.—Wheel of life.

There are broader contrasts of character than in the "House of Mirth" though not quite the same sureness of touch, the same sense of intimacy with the most illusive aspects of a well-defined though loosely-knit social group. Outlook.

Howells, William Dean.—London films.

"Impressions of London gathered by Mr. Howells during a recent sojourn there."

Humphrey, Seth K.—Indian dispossession.

I have found it very interesting and I hope it may be beneficial in promoting a true history of sad and tragic events. Gen. Miles.

It produces with the accuracy of the photograph phases of the gradual dispossession of the Indians. Secretary Long.

Hyde, William D. W.—From Epicurus to Christ: a study in the principles of personality.

Long, John Luther.—Way of the gods.

Mr. Long has succeeded in conveying in this romantic yet thoroughly modern story a fine impression of the marvelous persistence of hereditary ideals of honor and sacrifice among the Japanese. Outlook.

Montgomery, Helen Barnett.—Christian Science.

Nicholson, Meredith.—House of a thousand candles.

A story bristling with adventure. N. Y. Times.

The story is told with spirit and the people in it are alive—in one case, even though dead. Outlook.

Schillings, C. G.—Flashlights in the Jungle.

"It is probably no exaggeration to say that this is the most remarkable book of wild animal photography that has ever been printed . . but we can hardly praise the author's narrative or descriptive skill."

Scott, Capt. Robert H.—Voyage of the "Discovery." 2v.

The freshness and novelty of the subject matter command an immediate interest and the charm of the narrative, the well balanced perspective, and above all the manly record of heroic endeavor here revealed bid fair to make Captain Scott's modest account one of the classics of polar exploration."

Sinclair, F. Hopkinson.—Tides of Barnegat.

"This is the greatest story that F. Hopkinson Smith has ever written. Against the strong and stormy background of the Barnegat shore he has drawn a pitiful and absorbing tale of love and self-sacrifice, of tragedy and comedy, leading up through sunshine and storm to a tremendous ending.

Stimson, Frederick Jesup.—In cure of her soul.

Not only is the finest thing he has done but a noteworthy addition to our literature. Dial.

Sudermann, Hermann.—The undying past.

Mr. Sudermann sees deeply; he penetrates to the vital spot. There

LITERARY.

One of the notable features of the October Everybody's is the opening instalment of Jack London's new serial, "Before Adam." This promises to be the literary sensation of the year. All of the author's daring and virility of style are there, and yet neither Mr. London nor any one else has ever before attempted such a venture into the realm of fiction. The same number of Everybody's contains an unusual array of special articles of far-reaching interest. Charles Edward Russell continues his series, "Soldiers of the Common Good," with a vitally interesting presentation of Labor's political ascendency in Australia. A stone-mason is a premier, day-lobarers are running parliamentary committees, and Mr. Russell studies the result's of their administration. "The Burning Insurance Issue" is Mr. Lawson's final appeal to policy-holders to defeat the corrupt influences still controlling the great insurance companies. It is a logical and effective outline of the situation.

McClure's for October is full of keen vigorous articles and delightful fiction. First of all comes Lincoln Steffens's history of the Juvenile Court of Denver, with its picturesque stories of "bad kids," and its vivid, human portraiture of Judge Lindsey, the man who has created a new method of dealing with juvenile offenders. Burton J. Hendrick continues his history of the Insurance in "The Raid on the Surplus," a remarkable story of extravagance, waste, and graft. George K. Turner tells how Galveston has cut down her city expenditures, cleaned and lighted her streets, and controlled disease and vice under a new form of city government—a political experiment which every citizen of America ought to study. C. P. Connolly, in the third chapter of "The story of Montana," relates the dramatic story of Whitside's exposure of Clark's bribery of the Montana legislature—a narrative of exciting incident and splendid movement.

ECHO OF OLD ROMANCE.

J. W. W. Brewster's Rich Chinese Father-in-Law Dies.

Elizabeth, Sept, 29.—Cablegrams were received here today announcing the death in China of Wing Afong, the father-in-law of James W. W. Brewster, of this city, whose wedding under romantic circumstances to Melaine Afong in September, 1903, occasioned a small sensation in this city and New York. Brewster, who is the son of U. S. Brewster, of 235 Grier avenue, met Miss Afong at a dance given in one of the Honolulu hotels, and immediately fell in love with her. He was presented to her at 9 o'clock, and at five minutes after 11 walked up to her mother and asked her consent to their marriage. He is now living in New York.

Honolulu, Sept. 28.—Wing Afong was one of the best known merchants in Canton and Hong Kong at the time of his death, and reputed to be worth several million dollars. He came to Honolulu in 1860, and amassed much wealth as a dealer in silks and Chinese curios of all kinds, and married a beautiful Kanaka girl who had strains of English and Portoguese blood in her veins. The couple had one son and thirteen daughters. The girls were the handsomest in Honolulu.

As the wealth of Afong increased his wife became a leader in Hawaiian society. The girls were all good musicians and vocalists. Nearly all of them married men of prominence in the islands. One became the wife of Rear Admiral Whiting.

In 1892 Afong returned to China with his son, leaving $1,000,000 invested in Hawaiian securities for his wife and daughters. For a long time it was expected that he would return, but the same later that he had decided to stay in Hong Kong. The ample funds left by Afong enable Mrs. Afong to give each of her daughters a good education in the United States and a handsome dowry when she married.

EATS BREAKFAST
THEN RIFLES SAFE.

The home of Fred Zwingli, on North Cortlandt street, Belleville, was entered yesterday morning by a thief, who, after helping himself to the contents of the larder, rifled the safe of about $18. The deed was committed between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Zwingli went away from the house at the former time, leaving the other members of the family reclining, but the same later that he had decided to stay in Hong Kong. The ample funds left by Afong enable Mrs. Afong to give each of her daughters a good education in the United States and a handsome dowry when she married.

Inspiration.

Farmer Kornfop—The editor o' the "Clarion" talks some hysterical in his paper this week 'bout "voicin' the power o' the press."

Si Peters—H'm—yeh; the power o' the cider-press. Joshua Medders left a gallon jug of it in the editor's office last week.

DENIES MARRIAGE.

Penny Clerk Is Sued by Wife for Alimony.

Jersey City, Sept. 28.—A woman claiming to be Mrs. Theresa Carroll has petitioned Vice Chancellor Garrison for alimony pending her suit for divorce against James Carroll, a clerk in the Pennsylvania Railroad offices, who denies that they were ever married.

The woman asserts that on November 6, 1902, she went with Carroll to the home of the Rev. Arney S. Biddle, pastor of the Summit Avenue United Presbyterian church, and was married to Carroll.

She declares they took false names, and that she cannot remember either the name she annexed or the name Carroll assumed. Before this the woman was Mrs. Garrett Bannon, widow of a well-known Jersey City politician and business man. She claims to have lived with Carroll until 1902, when they separated after the birth of a child.

The following year she had Carroll arrested, charged with non-support. When he was arraigned in the First Criminal Court the Rev. Mr. Biddle appeared with his two sons, who testified to nearly all marriages solemnised by their father at his home. All three recalled the former Mrs. Bannon, but were unanimous in asserting that the man to whom she was married was darker, heavier and taller than Carroll. Carroll lives at 195 Montgomery street, this city.

JERSEY ROADS SAMPLE AT JAMESTOWN EXHIBIT.

Commissioners of This State Hold Meeting and Discuss Plans for the Virginia Exposition.

Trenton, Sept. 28.—The New Jersey commission of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition met Wednesday in the Governor's office at the State house. A report on the erection of the New Jersey building on the grounds was received. The report stated that the building was almost completed.

The commissioners discussed the State exhibits to be shown, but no definite action was taken on the matter. A sample of road building in this State will be among the exhibits.

Some of the manufacturers of the State will have a number of private exhibitions. The commissioners present were C. E. Breckenridge, Maywood, Bergen County; Wallace M. Scudder, Newark; Alfred Cooper, Cape May; James Harper, Harper Smith, Somerville; Richard W. Herbert, Wickatauk; James F. MacMurray, Plainfield; Dr. Thomas K. Reed, Atlantic City; Colonel Lewit T. Bryant, of Atlantic City, secretary of the commission, was also present.

An Unfortunate Moment.

"Bingley is too fastidious for any reasonable use."

"I heard he was to be married."

"He was. But it's all off. Lovely girl, too. Bingley would certainly have married her if he hadn't seen her when she looked her very worst."

"What was she doing?"

"Eating corn off the cob."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

IF LIFE'S A DREAM.

If Life be but a wayside dream
Of certainty or doubt,
Pray heaven Death do not wake us up
Until the dream's dreamed out!
—Atlanta Constitution.

Great Men Who Drank.

Cato was a hard drinker, while, in the language of one writer, old Ben Jonson was constantly "pickled." The poet Savage used to go on the hard, evil kinds of drinking, and Rogers observed, after seeing his own statue, "It is the first time I have seen him stand straight for many years." Byron says of Porson, the great classical scholar, "I can never recollect him sober, but he was jolly, and generally both." Keats was on a spree once that lasted six months. Horace, Plato, Aristophanes, Euripides, Alcaeus, Socrates and Tasso of the old times and Goethe, Schiller, Addison, Pitt, Fox, Blackstone, Fielding, Sterne and Steele were all hard drinkers at intervals.—London Times.

Many Elephants Stolen.

The teak industry of Siam is being interfered with by the stealing of elephants, reports the British consul in Chiengmai, the headquarters of that industry. The teak trade there is practically monopolized by four firms, three British and one Danish, and large numbers of elephants are employed in the forests in shifting the logs. These huge beasts are big propositions, of course, kidnapping. The three firms report the loss in 1905 of 33 animals, worth $35,000. Recovery of a stolen animal is rare.

Wedding Day Approaches.

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Ulher have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Madeline, to Philip Cuyler Langdon, of Brooklyn, at Grace church, Saturday afternoon, October 6, at 3:30. Miss Ulher will be attended by Mrs. William Cram, of Boston, as matron-of-honor; Miss Lilla B. Cornell as maid-of-honor; Miss Arline B. Pearsall, all cousins of the bride, and Miss Jessie Douglass, of Brooklyn; Miss Lillian Fanchee, of Fanwood, and Miss Beulah Bailey, of Boston. Frederick Langdon, brother of the groom, will be best man.

Miss Anna Cooper, of Plainfield, has been visiting her grandmother at Raritan.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Oct. 7 (Christian Stewardship Day): "The Grace of Giving"—II Cor. viii: 1-, 6-9.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

This is a truth recognized by all real Christians that all we have, whether talents of mind, power of body, wealth or ability of any description, is a gift from God. This endowment is given as a matter of stewardship to be administered among men in the service of God. In its use there will be much of incidental pleasure and personal advantage, but it is not by any manner of means a matter of individual ownership. The title ever remains with God. He does not vacate it, however any man may claim it, abuse it or misuse it.

In all our financial and property gains we have a clear duty to use all for the best interests of God's kingdom. This calls for careful discrimination in regard to claims on us for aid, as well as willingness to assist where they would be worthy.

We are coming to a clearer idea of the best form of stewardship. Indiscriminate giving of alms has in time past had too large a place among Christians. This has been from a variety of causes. A half fanatical fear that some of a beggar might somehow injure our standing with God or a superstitious notion that giving to beggars was "lucky" and "a good sign" has had its influence. Pressure of duties, lack of time for investigation or the want of needs, lack of skill and knowledge of how to go to work are all responsible in a measure for the haphazard modes of the past. Impulse and emotional appeals, with their inevitable reaction and regret for overliberality, have also been known.

A better day has dawned. The church is coming to believe in the advice of Paul to the church at Corinth.

Paul had preached to the heathen of Macedonia and Greece and organised churches of the converts. Some were more rich. In Jerusalem was always a large company of poor dependent on the care of the church. The churches of Macedonia, moved by Christly sympathy, wished to show their fraternal feeling by a gift to the poor of Jerusalem. They wished Paul to go with their messengers to the mother church. He had decided to do so and writes to the wealthy church of Corinth to assist in this contribution. As a result of this collection we have in this letter the best exposition anywhere to be found of the principles of Christian stewardship and the practical methods for a cultivation of the real spirit of benevolence.

In these days of rapid and large increase in wealth and luxury our young people need to give special heed to the developing of the spirit of responsibility to God for all possessions and of helpfulness to fellow Christians in all ways. Particularly should habits of systematic and proportionate giving of one's means be cultivated.

No false sentiment should keep preachers and laymen from speaking plainly and persistently on these vital matters.

Religion and Morals.

Some preachers, as well as a great many church members, seem to think that religion is one thing and morals another. Preaching discusses the gospel plan and expound creeds and dogmas. The church members go to church and observe all the rules and regulations of the church, but both seem to forget that a good Christian will be a good citizen in business, social and political life. No greater mistake was ever made. The man who has religion will be moral. He will carry his religion from the church into his everyday life. He can be depended on in every transaction, on the store or in the office, just as much as he can be trusted in the church edifice. He will conduct himself in the home, in the social gathering, in the place of amusement with just as much decency as he will in the church. He will be as conscientious regarding his vote at the polls as he is about his ballot for a pastor. The church needs such men just as much as the world needs them, and a little more if the church is to do the world real good.—Christian Work and Evangelist.

How to Win Men to Christ.

Christ won men by loving them, not by judging them. He preached of judgment, it is true, but the central point of His preaching was always love, fulfilled in law, but far transcending it. We shall reach other people and make Christians of them in Christ's way better than in any other way. Denunciation never yet reformed anybody. It is the cross of Christ, His dying love, that touches hearts to a new life and not the rod of judgment, certain as it is.—Forward.

Father, Guide Me.

[Invocation.]

Dear Father, may my soul aright
Within Thy righteous way
That I may follow in Thy path
And never stray astray.
Oh, when my mind is sore perplexed
And knows not how to turn,
Then let me hear Thy loving voice,
For which my soul doth yearn!

Be ever dwelling in my heart
To teach me what is right,
That every deed I may not do
Which others' lives may blight.
And keep me from e'er doing aught
To cause another pain,
But let me always help mankind
Sweet happiness to gain.

Oh, if Thy love shall be my guide
How can I go astray
When I attentively to Thy voice
And willing to obey?
Oh, do not let me be so weak
That I shall ever resist
The teachings which I know are Thine
And have life's joy thus missed.
—Martha Shepard Tapscott in Christian Work and Evangelist.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 7.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Christ's Life X. The commandments He left us; our obedience. John xv, 1-17.

The fifteenth chapter of John forms a part of the last address of Christ to His disciples. It followed the institution of the Lord's supper and preceded His agony in Gethsemane and His death upon the cross the next day. It was most fitting that at such a time Christ should, among other appropriate subjects, remind them of their close relationship to Him and speak to them of the things which He wanted them to do after He should leave them. The parable of the vine and its branches was used to illustrate the relationship existing between Christ and His disciples, and immediately following that He has considerable to say about commandments and obedience to them. Let us ever bear in mind that these are the dying commands of Christ and that this fact should make it impossible for us to disobey them.

The commandments of Christ, as left to us here, are summed up in one command—"Love one another." The laws of God, as given at extreme length, yet they were all summed up in the Ten Commandments. Thus the commandments of Christ are summed up in but one commandment, and that may even be limited to one word—love. Love includes all. The character and the life of the disciple of God are summed up in the expression "God is love." The man who will obey this command of Christ will find that he must obey all other commands of Christ. If we love each other we shall do unto each other as we would that we should be done by. We must be honest and just and upright with our fellow men if we love them as Christ uses the word love. His own love for us is His standard of our love for others. "Love one another, as I have loved you." And what was the supreme characteristic of Christ's love? It was a self sacrificing love. He gave His life for those He loved. The cross is the interpretation of Christ's love, and he who loves his fellows with such a love will fulfill all the commandments of Christ toward them.

Christ also has something to say on this occasion on the subject of obedience to His commandments. (1) He gives a promise for obedience. "If ye keep My commandments, ye shall abide in My love." If we want, therefore, to have an abiding place in the love of Christ we must keep His commandments, and abiding in Christ carries with it the promise of power in prayer. "If ye abide in Me, and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." (2) Christ declares obedience to be the test of friendship with Him. "Ye are My friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." The friendship of Christ is greatly to be desired. He is the friend who "sticketh closer than a brother." Of Him it has been written:

One there is above all others
Well deserves the name of friend.
His is love beyond a brother's
Costly, free and knows no end.

Do we want such a friendship? Then we must obey the commandments of Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xx, 1-17; Eccl. xii, 13, 14; Matt. v, 43-48; vii, 12; xxv, 31-46; Matt. vii, 21; John iii, 16; Acts v, 29; I Pet. i, 18-22; I John iv, 7-21.

Great Demonstration In Ohio.

Ohio has never had such a demonstration in behalf of the Junior Christian Endeavorers as was that in connection with the state convention recently held at Tiffin. One platform at 3 o'clock a procession was formed in front of the Methodist Protestant church. The Junior O. U. A. M. juvenile drum corps headed the line. Then followed carriages and automobiles, in which rode the state officers. Then came a long line of boys and girls, followed by a company of well drilled boys clad in white, with wooden guns. This procession marched through the city streets out to Hickly chapel, at Heidelberg university, where it came out on to the sidewalks and watched the procession of children with great interest. At the chapel a splendid programme of music, fancy flag and marching drills, together with recitations and a story by Miss Prayser, was given to a large and enthusiastic audience. This exercise is called "The Juniors' Love of Country." It was well planned and executed, and in perfect keeping with the general programme of the convention.—Rev. A. A. King in Christian Endeavor World.

Ohio's Banner.

Ohio is the proud possessor of one of the handsomest of the "increase campaign" banners. It was given to the union by the United society, was made in Yokohama, and at present represents quite 400 per cent increase on the part of the Buckeye Endeavorers.

What Our Initials Should Mean.

J sous always first;
U ffer little for self;
N ever disloyal to Christ;
I nterested in helpless and needy ones;
O rganized for winning work;
R elying on the Holy Spirit's power for

C onsecrated lives;
H eaven begun on earth;
R emedying evils;
I mplored always to repent;
S tudying the Bible;
T elling the gospel story;
I nterested in saving children;
A nswering duty's call;
N ever doubting Jesus.

E ndued with the Holy Spirit;
N ever neglecting home
D oing God's will;
E nlarging our missionary offerings;
A t tending our church;
V owed to be best young Christians;
O ver before given a living sacrifice
R eviving weak Christians.

—Kate M. Hamm.

SHOT WHIZZED BY HEAD OF PHIL DAAB

BULLET PASSED THROUGH WINDOW AT WHICH HE WAS SITTING.

Philip Daab, proprietor of the Hoboken Inquirer, and formerly manager of the Plainfield team, was sitting Friday afternoon in his office in that city, when a bullet crashed through the window and whizzed past about a foot from his head.

Mr. Daab was talking at the time to Reswick Speers, who is connected with the newspaper, and the two men hurried into the street, but saw no one running away nor any suspicious looking person. They met Policeman Lane and told him what had happened and he reported the matter to Police Headquarters. The police are making an investigation.

Mr. Daab says that while he may have enemies he knows of no one that would be likely to seek his life, and the shooting appears to him to be mysterious.

The front window through which the bullet passed was closed at the time. Had it been made in the office for the bullet, but it could not be found and it is believed that it went out of the rear window which was open in a direct line with the other window.

The building in which the newspaper is published is in Hudson place; opposite is the shaft of the Hoboken end of the McAdoo tunnel. The office are on the first floor and the window through which the bullet crashed was of heavy plate glass.

BAD SLEEPING HABITS.

Snoring, Grinding the Teeth and Nasal Whistling.

Man is the victim of bad habits in his sleep as well as in his waking hours. So distressing are some of these bad habits of sleep that they oblige wife and husband to occupy separate rooms, even at times causing divorce.

Snoring is of course the commonest if not the worst of sleep's bad habits. Snoring may be remedied. There are a dozen patented devices to stop, holding the mouth shut tight, prevent the snore.

Grinding the teeth is a disagreeable habit of sleep. It is impossible to sleep in the same room with any one who emits at irregular intervals this hideous sound. The trick is said to be simple, but is to a lober cap worn on the teeth renders the grinding almost noiseless.

Nervous persons sometimes leap in their sleep a foot or more in the air, shaking the bed and the whole room. The man who gives eight or nine of these leaps in the course of the night soon becomes an intolerable bedfellow. Nerve tonics and exercise should be prescribed for him.

Nasal whistling is a habit less easy to cure than snoring. The sleeper keeps his mouth closed, but breathes with a distressing sound through his nose. The sound resembles a low whistle and, heard in the small hours, is guaranteed to madden.

ONE FIRE IN FOUR TOWNS.

Property Is in Newark, Orange, East Orange and South Orange.

Fire departments from Newark, Orange, East Orange and South Orange has a spectacular fire to contend with last night on the property of Harry T. Ambrose. It is located in all four municipalities at 3 o'clock a procession was formed in front of the Methodist Protestant church. The Junior O. U. A. M. juvenile drum corps headed the line. Then followed carriages and automobiles, in which rode the state officers. Then came a long line of boys and girls, followed by a company of well drilled boys clad in white, with wooden guns. This procession marched through the city streets out to Hickly chapel, at Heidelberg university, where it came out on to the sidewalks and watched the procession of children with great interest. At the chapel a splendid programme of music, fancy flag and marching drills, together with recitations and a story by Miss Prayser, was given to a large and enthusiastic audience. This exercise is called "The Juniors' Love of Country." It was well planned and executed, and in perfect keeping with the general programme of the convention.—Rev. A. A. King in Christian Endeavor World.

Ohio's Banner.

Ohio is the proud possessor of one of the handsomest of the "increase campaign" banners. It was given to the union by the United society, was made in Yokohama, and at present represents quite 400 per cent increase on the part of the Buckeye Endeavorers.

What Our Initials Should Mean.

J sous always first;
U ffer little for self;
N ever disloyal to Christ;
I nterested in helpless and needy ones;
O rganized for winning work;
R elying on the Holy Spirit's power for

C onsecrated lives;
H eaven begun on earth;
R emedying evils;
I mplored always to repent;
S tudying the Bible;
T elling the gospel story;
I nterested in saving children;
A nswering duty's call;
N ever doubting Jesus.

E ndued with the Holy Spirit;
N ever neglecting home
D oing God's will;
E nlarging our missionary offerings;
A t tending our church;
V owed to be best young Christians;
O ver before given a living sacrifice
R eviving weak Christians.

—Kate M. Hamm.

Water-proof Glue.

A waterproof glue may be made from three parts of gum shellac and one part of India rubber, these being dissolved separately in either under the influence of heat, and the two solutions mixed and kept for a time in a sealed bottle. According to The Iron Age, water, either hot or cold, and most acids and alkalies, will have no effect on the glue.

Will Live at Daytona.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White have vacated their house on Fairview avenue and are now staying at the Hotel Kensington for a few weeks prior to going to their winter home at Daytona, Florida. Mr. White is having his household goods there and during his country home at Dunellen he plans to spend about each year in Florida.

The Constitutionalist.

A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.

Published at

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Terms: $2.00 per year.

A. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor.

THURSDAY, OCT. 4, 1906.

"M. O." A FAILURE THERE.

Municipal ownership has proven a failure in Cleveland, Ohio, where the local government controls the electric light service. A few years ago, $63,000 was invested in a plant. Since then nearly $460,000 has been spent in improvements. When $100,000 was appropriated a short time ago it was declared that the plant would be the finest in the country, but now the director of public service, who has charge of it, says that unless more money is forthcoming at once, it will have to be shut up. The city council refuses to sanction any further bond issues for the purpose. Consequently it is likely that the plant will be abandoned so far as the municipality is concerned.

TO MR. NEW YORK MAN.

Mr. Charles F. Hughes will now kindly walk into the Empire State's gubernatorial chair.

By the platform on which he is nominated, Charles J. Fisk, the Republican mayoralty candidate, is pledged "to administer and conduct the affairs of the city in the interests of the people free from any taint of bossism or of servitude to any corporate or private interests," and "to promote honest elections and prevent political corruption in any form." That he will carry out these promises to the letter, if elected, there can not be the slightest doubt. Anyone who knows the man knows full well that he always means exactly what he says and says exactly what he means. He is a man who always has the best interests of the city at heart and a man who has contributed liberally in time and ability to its service.

If John Moody should become Charles N. Fowler's opponent in the Congressional campaign, the marble man will have a fight on his hands. Mr. Fowler is not any too strong in Union county and an adversary like the Cranford man ought to be able to poll a big vote.

That joint debate in Morris county does not appear to have any result other than to have afforded an opportunity for some political letter-writers to spread themselves.

Judging by the returns throughout the State, La Follette was as big a success in New Jersey as he was in Wisconsin.

They used to ask of Croker "where did he get it?" No one but Murphy knows how Hearst got it and he won't tell.

SEVENTH DAY BAPTISTS

HOLD A BIRTHDAY SOCIAL.

Informal Programme of Readings and Music a Feature.

Under the auspices of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, a birthday social was held yesterday afternoon in the church parlors from 4 to 6 o'clock. The parlors were appropriately decorated with golden-rod and autumnal foliage. Every member of the society was invited to contribute to the society as many as she was years old and in this way a satisfactory sum was realized for the treasury.

The programme, which was under the direction of Mrs. Charles H. Dunham and Miss Jessie Utter, consisted of piano duetts by Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard and Miss Ethel Titsworth; readings by Dr. Martha Stillman, vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Stillman, of Westfield, while Mrs. William C. Hubbard gave a very interesting and full account of the "Women's Hour," a feature of the Seventh-Day Baptist church conference at Leonardsville, N. Y., a few weeks ago. This told of the needs of the women's board of the denomination.

After the programme refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Mrs. T. C. Smith and Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, assisted by a number of young women.

MRS. MARY P. STELLE.

Passed Away Yesterday in Her Eighty-fourth Year.

Mrs. Mary P. Stelle, widow of Samuel M. Stelle, died Sunday afternoon at her home on West Front street at the advanced age of eighty-three years and a few months. She was a member of an old established family in Plainfield, as was her husband, both having been born here. Most of their life was spent in the west where business took them shortly after marriage. Her husband died in 1900 and for the past few years Mrs. Stelle had been living with her sister on West Front street.

She is survived by a son, George Stelle. Her late brother, Alexander Bothwell, will be remembered by many of Plainfield's older citizens.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes will start their season's work next week. The season will be a busy one.

AMUSEMENTS.

David Warfield, in "The Music Master," opens his road tour at the Majestic theatre, in Boston, October 1. His work will be seen only in a number of the leading cities this season, as, owing to the great popularity of the artistic Belasco attraction, his engagement in the large cities will be for longer periods than usual.

The second act of "The Girl of the Golden West," in which Belasco's inspiring play of early California, in which Blanche Bates has entered upon the second year at the Belasco theatre, New York, is said to be one of the most thrilling realistic pictures ever seen on any stage. The great moment when the audience holds its breath comes when Jack Ramce, the gambler sheriff, who has pursued the Girl's lover, his rival, to her cabin, after wounding him, has his suspicions allayed by her and holds out his hand to say good-bye. In the moment of her triumph, as Rance is about to go, believing that his prey is not concealed there, he discovers blood trickling down through the rafters of the loft and discoloring his extended hand and white handkerchief.

"Oh!" says the sheriff, in his cold, metallic, matter-of-fact tone, looking up, "he's there!" Then his hand wanders to his pistol. He lets down the ladder, and in that same hard, unsympathetic vocie, he exclaims "Come down, Mr. Johnson!"

It is in the prelude to the great poker-game to which the Girl challenges Rance, with her lover as the stake, which is so thoroughly characteristic of Belasco's knowledge of inspiring effects.

"Mrs. Wiggs" and the curious folk who make their residence in "The Cabbage Patch," put in appearance at the New York theatre last Monday evening and went through their lives on the stage just as they did in the famous books, "Mrs. Wiggs" and "Lovey Mary." That cherry optimist, Mrs. Wiggs herself, did what she could to further the cause of happiness, incidentally correcting her daughters, Asia, Europena and Australia, and dragging them up in the way they should go. Even "Cuby," the famous horse that was dragged back from the equino happy hunting grounds by the indefatigable Mrs. Wiggs, wended his way through the play, and Chris Hazy, pug-leg and all, stumped rollicksingly along in company with the others. Not since the remarkable engagement of three months at the Savoy theatre three years ago has "Mrs. Wiggs" been seen in New York and the enormous New York theatre was crowded to its capacity. There is a homely philosophy about the character of Mrs. Wiggs that is irresistibly humorous in its appeal to the American people and its performance Monday night was greeted throughout by storms of laughter and applause. Nearly all the famous epigrams were received as though they had personal application to every one in the audience. Madge Carr Cook played the character of Mrs. Wiggs and was supported by Edith Tallaferro, Vivian Ogden, Myrtle Tannehill, Anna Fields, Charles Carter, Oscar Eagle, Argyle Campbell, Robert Stanley and Noble Morrison.

"My Lady's Maid" had its premiere at the Casino, New York, on Monday evening, September 24, and proved to be a most delightful and enjoyable entertainment. This much was to be expected, for this musical comedy bore the stamp of London endorsement. "My Mady's Maid" was first produced by George Edwardes, director of the famous London Gaiety theatre, and Globe theatre, Walsel theatre, and was finally moved to the Apollo, where it ran with great success for over a year. The lyrics are from the pens of Paul Rubens and Percy Breenbank, two of the most successful lyric writers of England. All of the music was written by Paul Rubens, who composed the four best hits of "Florodora," "Tact," "I am a Lady," "The Queen of the Philippine Islands," and "Inkling." With such a combination of talent, the success of "My Lady's Maid" was assured from the start, and this without taking into account that the cast is one of the very best that has been brought together in recent time. Joseph Coyne, one of the most finished and lecetable of American comedians, Orrin Brown, otherwise Trooper Smith, is provided with a mirth-provoking role. Mr. Coyne has not been better suited in a long while. Madge Crichton, an exquisitely dainty comedienne, a London importation, proved delightful as Lady Betty Framingham. As Alan Dale said in the "American," referreding to Miss Crichton's performance of "My Lady's Maid," the madcap. "She is honest, reliable and ought to suit." Elsa Ryan and Della Mason, who with Miss Crichton were the three little maids of "The Three Little Maids," scored in congenial roles. Other players to meet with special success were Frank Rushworth, Robert E. Graham, and George Carroll—a diminutive comedian from London.

Henry W. Savage, who had delayed opening his Garden theatre until "The Stolen Story" should finish its Chicago run, has fixed on Tuesday, October 2, as the date for introducing to New York what is being talked about play on American newspaper life. "The Stolen Story" will also introduce to New York theatregoers a new playwright in the person of Jesse Lynch Williams, who first attracted attention with his college stories while he was a student at Princeton and whose short stories in Smart Set and other magazines have been immensely successful. Mr. Williams comes from the West and the George Ade, Booth Tarkington, Henry Blossom and other successful playwrights who found their first producing friend in Mr. Savage, is a graduate from the newspaper ranks. While this new play is described as a most charming, heart-thrilling modern romance, it is best known for its scenes wherein the author has graphically pictured the exciting incidents concerned with the "going to press" of a great metropolitan newspaper. The hero is Billy Woods, an absent minded reporter, who has been discharged from one office and employed on a rival paper. He secures a sensational "scoop" and rushes back to his old office where his former city editor discerning the absent-minded writer's mistake and realizing the importance of his discovery, takes the "copy" from him a page at a time and rushes the paper to press. "The Stolen Story" is in reality a political romance and the methods of grafting financiers in the New York Legislature. That superb emotional actor, James Lee Finney, has the role of Billy Woods and Edwin Holt, one of the hits in the original "College Widow" company, gives a most realistic picture of the brainy city editor. R. Peyton Carter gives one of his fine artistic characters in the victimized statesman, another New York favorite, have fetching roles. "The Stolen Story" requires a company of over fifty people.

Rose Stahl's success in James Forbes' comedy, "The Chorus Lady," at the Savoy theatre, is causing her to repeat the experiences of Miss Maxine Elliott in "Her Own Way" and Arnold Daly in "Candida," attractions which two seasons ago were moved from one Broadway play house to another. Henry B. Harris having been unable to secure an extension of her engagement at the Savoy theatre owing to contracts calling for Lillian Russell's appearance there the week of October 8th, has arranged with Charles Frohman to present "The Chorus Lady" at the Garrick theatre for one week commencing Monday, October 8th. On the following Monday, October 15th, Miss Stahl will be transferred to the Hackett theatre for a limited engagement. The triumph of the star and the play is described by the press as "the just reward that waits on work well done." The Sun reasons that the play has won success because the characters "have the very breath of life." The World describes the play as "four acts of keen enjoyment." The Evening World says that "Mr. Forbes' collection of slang makes George Ade seem stingy." The Globe describes Miss Stahl's Patricia as "a wonderful creation," and the entire press pronounce "The Chorus Lady" to be the success of the season.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The boom of State Treasurer Frank O. Briggs for the Republican gubernatorial nomination is growing and has now assumed such large proportions that it will require a political giant to beat him. Former Senator William M. Johnson, of Bergen county, was in the running up until last Tuesday, and had the Colbyites made more of a showing, he might have landed the gubernatorial nomination, he having been spoken of as a compromise candidate between the regulars and the Colby people. Senator Johnson, it is said, however, has leaned a little bit too much towards the Colby movement to make his candidacy good now with the regulars.

The slate that has been fixed for the officers of the next Legislature seems to be a good one. According to this slate, which, however, is subject to change, Senator Thomas J. Hillery, the eloquent young man from Monmouth, is to be the president of the Senate; Senator John Boyd Avis, of Gloucester county, father of the act providing for the county boards of equalization of taxes, which is becoming popular in New Jersey, is to be the majority leader in the Senate; Assemblyman Alfred N. Bacher, of Trenton, who was renominated Saturday for the assemblyman and who showed himself last winter to be a man of remarkably good judgment, is to be speaker of the house; William Penaington, one of the regular Republican nominees in Essex and a former assemblyman, is to be majority leader of the House.

The Summit Record of last week, in a leading editorial urges the candidacy of Hon. William J. Curtis, of that city, for United States Senatorship. Mr. Curtis is a prominent lawyer, an able man, and a good Democrat, and it would be an honor to Union county and the State of New Jersey to have such a representative in the highest legislative body in the United States.—Rahway Democrat.

Scouts' Good Work on Bicycles.

During the French autumn maneuvers two privates, owning bicycles, were taken from each company of the Thirty-first infantry to act as scouts, estafettes and sentinelles mobiles, in t ehabsence of cavalry. They afforded more rapid and precise information that could be obtained by the adversary.

Strange.

Small nephew (to his uncle who has taken him out hunting)—Look, uncle, how the rabbits all run away from you! Yet you have never done them any harm, have you.—Simplicissimus.

GOLF CUT STANDING.

Stover, Murphy and Morgan In Lead at Country Club.

Following is the standing for the golf committee cup at the Plainfield Country Club:

C. A. Stover	10 3-4
A. Murphy	10 1-2
C. B. Morgan	10 1-2
D. H. Barrows	9 1-2
D. H. Barrows	9 1-4
R. Abbott	9
E. A. Stevenson	8
H. W. Beebe	8
S. H. Patterson	7 1-2
F. C. Talmadge	7 1-2
W. D. Riggs	6 1-2
E. H. Barrows	6
G. F. Schoonmaker	6
F. O. Reinhart	5 1-2
L. A. Chase	4 1-2
H. D. Hibbard	4 1-2
E. B. Shoemaker	4
W. B. Tyler	3 1-2
E. H. Hutchinson	3 1-2
W. E. Iremonger	3
C. F. Abbott	3
C. A. Reed	3
J. E. Erickson	3 1-2
Arthur Peck	2
H. B. Rogers	2
J. A. Hutchinson	2
George E. Cathcart	2
H. F. Fox	2
W. L. Glenney	1 1-2
Alex. Gilbert	1 1-2
J. P. Murray	1 1-2
M. J. Dumont	1 1-2
J. A. Lane	1
L. H. Van Buren	1
E. T. Willson	3-4
L. L. Tweedy	3-4
D. W. Taylor	1-2
W. P. Boggs	1-2

MISS LOUBELLE GILLIES

WEDDED TO E. C. PLUM.

Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. Parsons at Home of Bride's Parents.

Miss Loubelle Gillies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gillies, of Grove street, and Edward C. Plum, of Brooklyn, were married Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, performed the ceremony. The only attendant was a flower girl, Miss Anita Woods, a niece of the bride. The home was attractively decorated with cut flowers, palms and ferns.

The bride was gowned in a blue cloth travelling dress with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held during which congratulations were offered and supper was served.

The bride received a number of gifts, including cut-glass and china.

Later the couple took a train for a wedding journey, which will be spent at Middletown, N. Y., and Crystal Run. They will reside in Brooklyn, where the groom is employed.

FLEMINGTON NINE WINS

THE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Defeats Somerville in a Rattling Good Game, Making Series Three to One.

The deciding game of the series of five between the Flemington nine and the West Ends of Somerville for the championship of Hunterdon and Somerset counties was won Saturday afternoon by Flemington, after one of the finest games of the season, by a score of 1 to 0. The West Ends were reinforced by a number of Lackawanna league players and Joe Wiltse, formerly with Baltimore in the Eastern League, but the Lackawannas were helpless before the masterly pitching of Wearner, of Garwood, who was in the box for the visitors.

Lon Wiltse pitched one of his best games, striking Flemington only one hit, a two-bagger, in the eighth. He fanned fourteen and gave but one full pass. Flemington won three games and the West Ends one.

The score was:

	R.	H.	E.
Flemington ..0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—	1	3	1
W. E. ..0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—	0	2	2

Batteries, Wearner and Brunner; Wiltse and Norton.

Reduces Passenger Rates.

To take effect November 1st, or as soon thereafter as possible, the maximum rate per mile on the Lehigh Valley Railroad will be on the basis of 2½c. This will not change passenger rates now based on charge of less than 2½c. per mile. Interchangeable mileage books, which are now sold at $25.00, will be sold at $25.00 with a rebate of $5.00 on each 1,000 mile book instead of $10.00, as at present.

Differences of Iron and Steel.

There are three prominent differences between iron and steel which ought to cause a difference in their rapidity of rusting: First, blow holes; second, manganese, and, third, the presence of cementite in the steel and of cinder in the wrought iron.

Autobuses in Paris Streets.

The first line of Paris autobusses between the Hotel de Ville and Neuilly is shortly to be followed by two others. The Prefect of Police has, with the approval of the Compagnie Generale des Omnibus, appointed a semi-official Commission for studying a better method of suspension.

—Peaches will soon be gone for the season but Neuman Brothers are still receiving nice ones. A fine lot of white and yellow fruit to select from tomorrow.

MORGAN SURPRISES HIS FELLOW GOLFERS

HIS WORK SATURDAY PUTS HIM IN 2D PLACE FOR CUP.

The weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup furnished another surprise on Saturday, when C. B. Morgan, by winning first honors and three points, was tied with Arthur Murphy for second place, each now having 10¼ points, while Charles A. Stover holds first position by the small margin of a quarter of a point. Morgan returned a net score of 74. Under some conditions his gross score of 77 would have won three points, but there were others out with low scores on Saturday.

The point-winners were as follows: C. B. Morgan, 77, 2—74; Hugh F. Fox, 97, 18—79; Laureus H. Van Buren, 99, 18—81.

There were many more competing for the cup, but their scores being high they did not put them. Another event decided was the September Handicap cup. Arthur Murphy was the winner, his score of 82 being the best for the day. On Saturday play will be started for the October Handicap cup, under the same conditions.

Besides the play on the course Saturday other attractive features included the dinner-dance. As usual there were many dinner parties and all remained in the evening for the dance.

In the competition for the President's and club trophies at the Park Golf Club on Saturday, Leon R. Thurlow won first honors for the handicap cup with a net score of 72, while Rev. J. O. McKelvey and Charles A. Reed finished second and third. For the scratch cup, Mr. McKelvey won first honors with a gross score of 89, Mr. Thurlow finished second and Mr. Reed third.

The best scores returned in the competition follow:

Leon R. Thurlow, 92, 19—73; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 89, 2—26 Charles A. Reed, 97, 6—91; John L. Watson, 107, 17—92; A. W. Kenworthy, 113, 18—95.

A GRIDIRON ELEGY.

Now comes the megaphoneless hour of day—
The hoarse-voiced crowd begins to twenty-three;
The rooters homeward plod their weary way,
And leave the field to doctors and to me.

In yonder ambulance, that rumbles o'er the hill,
Full many a senseless giant, bleeding
And to the hospital went battered Tom and Bill,
To count the many bruises of the day.

For them no more the umpire's whistle calls,
No more the megaphones will bid them kill;
No more they'll have those thrilling dives and falls
That have their sequal in the doctor's bill.

Perhaps to this neglected ground there creeps
Some chap who last year played the game;
He takes a look—ah, how the poor chap weeps!—
Across the field where he lost gore and fame.

For many a star of purest ray serene
The white bed of yon hospital now bear;
Full many a player's born to groan unseen
And waste much arnica—likewise much swear.

Far from the madding crowd's ignoble cheers
Hereafter they will limp their way along,
And play high five, or shake the dice for beers—
Or stick to that most quiet game, ping pong.

—Denver Republican.

Radium Radia

Is admitted by the thousands who have used it to be

THE GREATEST REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF

RHEUMATISM

LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA, COUGHS, COLDS ON CHEST, SORE THROAT, PNEUMONIA, SPRAINS, SWELLINGS, ETC.

IT NEVER FAILS TO CURE

Hundreds have been cured with one Application.

Recommended by Eminent Physicians

APPLIED EXTERNALLY

Sold at Drug Stores and 13 W. 26th St., N.Y. City

PRICE $1.00 and 50c. Write for Booklet

MAILED ANYWHERE ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

SCHEDULE COMPLETE FOR Y. M. C. A. FIVES

SEVEN TEAMS IN LEAGUES WHICH STARTS PLAY.

The North Jersey Y. M. C. A. Basketball League, which is composed of teams from the Plainfield, Montclair, Orange, Newark, Passaic, Hudson City and Rahway associations, will open the season on November 17 with Passaic at Montclair, Newark at Hudson City and Orange at Rahway. There will be twenty-nine games and the schedule will run until early in March. The scheduled games follow:

November 17—Passaic at Montclair, Newark at Hudson City, Orange at Rahway.

November 24—Montclair at Newark, Hudson City at Orange.

November 26—Rahway at Plainfield.

December 1—Plainfield at Passaic, Newark at Montclair, Hudson City at Rahway.

December 3—Orange at Plainfield.

December 8—Passaic at Orange, Plainfield at Newark, Montclair at Hudson City.

December 15—Orange at Hudson City, Rahway at Newark, Plainfield at Montclair.

December 17—Passaic at Plainfield.

January 5—Orange at Montclair, Newark at Rahway.

January 7—Hudson City at Plainfield.

January 12—Plainfield at Rahway, Passaic at Hudson City.

January 14—Newark at Plainfield.

January 19—Newark at Orange, Montclair at Rahway, Hudson City at Passaic.

January 26—Orange at Passaic, Rahway at Hudson City.

January 28—Montclair at Plainfield.

February 2—Hudson City at Montclair, Plainfield at Orange, Passaic at Newark.

February 9—Orange at Newark, Rahway at Passaic.

February 16—Montclair at Passaic, Rahway at Orange, Plainfield at Hudson City.

February 23—Rahway at Montclair, Hudson City at Newark.

March 2—Montclair at Orange, Newark at Passaic.

March 9—Passaic at Rahway.

RALLY DAY EXERCISES.

AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Special Sermons Preached by Dr. Parsons in the Morning and Evening.

The members of Grace M. E. church and Sunday-school conducted their fall rally day exercises Sunday. At all the services there were large attendances and the result was very helpful to Dr. Parsons and his assistants.

At the usual morning gathering, the pastor preached a special sermon, "The Qualities of a Good Soldier," in which he pointed out how much good could be accomplished by a soldier in the Lord's army. In the afternoon, the Sunday school pupils met and in addition to their own exercises and singing, they were addressed by Professor H. C. Krebs, superintendent of the borough schools, and former Secretary J. H. Manning, of the Y. M. C. A. A violin solo was contributed by Mrs. Wm. Schwartz, of Brooklyn, a member of the Hanson Place Methodist church in that borough and of which Dr. Parsons was pastor at one time. The main room was strikingly decorated in honor of the occasion.

In the evening, Dr. Parsons concluded his series of sermons to young people on "The Right Objection."

Reason For Small Cars.

The officials of the Public Service Corporation give as their reason for operating small cars on the main line during the day the falling off in travel. They say that just as soon as the travel gets heavy the big cars will be used. Some of the small ones now run over the line are in poor condition and very unsatisfactory to the patrons of the road.

New Jersey Central

Passenger Stations in New York—West 23d St., N. R., Foot Liberty St., N. R.

In Effect Sept. 9, 1906.

For New York—2.17, 3.17, 4.26, 6.02, 6.30, 6.37, 7.07, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night. Sundays—2.17, 3.17, 4.26, 6.02, 6.30, 7.07, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.30, 10.00, 10.30, 11.00, 11.30 a. m., 12.00 noon, 12.30, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00, 2.30, 3.00, 3.30, 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30, 11.30 p. m., 12.01 night.

For Newark—2.36, 3.47, 6.47, 7.08, 7.36, 7.55, 8.07, 8.11, 8.47, 9.07, 9.30, 9.55, 10.07, 10.11, 10.47, 11.07, 11.30 a. m., 12.07, 12.30, 12.55, 1.07, 1.11, 1.47, 2.07, 2.30, 2.55, 3.07, 3.11, 3.47, 4.07, 4.30, 4.55, 5.07, 5.11, 5.47, 6.07, 6.30, 6.55, 7.05, 8.30, 10.15, 11.16, 11.36 p. m.

For Flemington—7.11, 11.00 a. m., 1.11, 5.25, 11.31 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.27 p. m.

For Phillipsburg and Easton—5.25, 8.21, 9.55 a. m., 1.11, 4.15, 6.40 and 9.21 p. m. Sunday—8.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Bethlehem, Allentown and Mauch Chunk—5.25, 9.55 a. m., 4.15, 6.40 and 9.21 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 2.02, 5.47, 7.05 p. m.

For Wilkesbarre and Scranton—8.58 a. m., 5.11, 5.47 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 5.47 p. m.

For Long Branch and Asbury Park, etc—2.27, 8.11, 9.30 a. m., 1.18, 2.44, 4.47, 6.53, 11.25 p. m. Sundays—8.45 a. m., 4.47, 6.22 p. m.

For Red Bank—8.27, 8.58, 9.11, 11.56 a. m., 1.18, 2.44, 4.47, 6.53, 11.25 p. m. Sundays—8.52 a. m., 2.39, 6.15 p. m.

For Lakewood and Toms River—8.27, 8.58 a. m., (2.44 Atlantic City Express Saturdays only) 1.18, 2.49 p. m. Sundays—2.02, 5.47 p. m.

For Toms River and Barnegat—8.27, 8.58 a. m., 1.18 p. m.

For Philadelphia—2.36, 7.44, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 3.39, 5.42, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 12.01 night. Sundays—2.36, 8.50, 10.26, 11.42 a. m., 12.28, 2.45, 5.42, 4.55, 5.39, 6.44, 7.45, 9.46 p. m., 11.35, 1.17 night.

For Trenton—2.36, 7.44, 9.39, 10.51, 11.42 a. m., 12.42, 2.57, 5.44, 8.50, 9.46 p. m., 12.01 night. Sundays—2.36, 8.50, 10.26, 11.42 a. m., 12.28, 2.45, 5.42, 4.55, 5.39, 6.44, 7.45, 9.46 p. m., 11.35, 1.17 night.

For Reading and Harrisburg—5.25, 9.55 a. m., 2.11 (5.47 through train). Sundays—2.02, 5.47 p. m.

For Pottsville, Sunbury and Williamsport—5.25, 9.55 a. m., 2.11 p. m. Sundays—2.02 p. m.

For Baltimore and Washington—1.17, 5.47, 10.43 a. m., 12.28, 1.46, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night. Sundays—2.02, 5.42 a. m., 12.32, 5.40, 6.44, 7.46 p. m., 1.17 night.

*Change cars at Bound Brook.

W. G. BESLER, Gen. Pass. Agt. W. C. HOPE, Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Lehigh Valley Railroad

Time table in Effect May 13th, 1906.

LEAVE SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

1.55 a. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Mauch Chunk.

8.48 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Rochester, Buffalo, and principal intermediate stations.

9.55 a. m. daily for Easton, Wilkesbarre, Ithaca, Buffalo and Chicago.

1.57 p. m. daily, local for Easton, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre, Scranton and Shenandoah.

4.34 p. m. daily (except Sunday) "Wilkesbarre and Scranton Express" Solid vestibule train to Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Buffalo, Toronto and Chicago and principal intermediate stations except Rochester.

6.49 p. m. daily, solid vestibule train to Buffalo, Toronto and Chicago and principal intermediate stations except Rochester.

8.21 p. m. daily (except Sunday) local to Easton.

FRANK E. ROWLEY, City Ticket Agent. 215 West Front Street, Plainfield, N. J. Telephone 178.

Arrival and Departure of Mails.

PLAINFIELD POSTOFFICE.

Offices open 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.
On Saturdays close half hour later.
Arrive—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 8.30 p. m.
Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m.; 1.00, 2.30, 6.00, 7.00, 8.30 p. m.

ELIZABETH—Direct.

Arrive—6.40 a. m.; 1.24, 3.15 and 7.00 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.45 and 5.30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON.

Arrive—6.40 a. m.; 2.30 and 7.00 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.00, 4.00 p. m.

PENNSYLVANIA—West of Easton.

Arrive—8.30 a. m.; 2.30 p. m.
Close—7.30 a. m., 1.00 p. m.

NEWARK—Direct.

Arrive—6.40 a. m.; 1.25, 3.30 p. m.
Close—7.30, 8.30 a. m., 1.00, 2.30 and 6.00 p. m.

PHILADELPHIA—Direct.

Arrive—7.30, 8.40, 11.30 a. m., 2.30 and 7.00 p. m.
Close—7.15, 7.30, 8.30 a. m., 12.35, 4.30, 7.45 p. m.

Through fast mail for West and South close 30 minutes earlier p. m.

Through fast mail for East, close 1.00 and 7.15 p. m.

WASHINGTON, WARRENVILLE AND GALLIA (Mt. Bethel).

Arrive—1.30 p. m. Close—8.00 a. m.
Washington—Arrive—8.30 a. m. Close 5.00 p. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 8.30 to 10.30 a. m.
Mail closes at 8.45 p. m.

E. M. BIRD, P. M.

T. J. MUMFORD BUYS

THE OLD LANE FARM.

To Have Summer Home Adjoining that of George P. Mellick.

T. J. Mumford, of West Ninth street, has purchased the old Lane farm, on Woodland avenue, adjoining the property of Councilman George P. Mellick, comprising ninety acres of fine rolling land, where he will probably locate a summer home. The development of land in that section of the city during the past few years has been remarkable.

Councilman Mellick's farm consists of seventy-three acres, while the Plainfield Country Club owns 110 acres adjoining the property of Mr. Mellick and Mr. Mumford, all of which extends from the Hillside cemetery to a point not far distant from the Oak Tree station on the Lehigh Valley Railroad. This land is naturally of a rolling and picturesque character. On a clear day, Princeton Hills, twenty-four miles away, and Staten Island Hills to the East, can be seen from Mr. Mellick's farm.

A Deep Dig.

Cholly—Of course, I admit I talked about myself, but they talked about trade all the time and, of course, that was worse.

Miss Peppery—You were perfectly right. It's better to talk about nothing than talk about trade.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE

Colbyites Prevent the Convention's Choice Being Made Unanimous.

A PLATFORM ADOPTED

Pledges Made to Run City Affairs Free From Bossism and to Have Water Question Investigated.

The Republican City Convention ratified the verdict of the primary election, at the Casino, Saturday night. Charles J. Fisk was nominated for mayor and Samuel P. T. Wilbur and J. Herrey Doane for freeholder, defeating the Colbyite candidates, R. Henry Depew and J. Fred MacDonald and Dr. W. F. Gaston. Collector John W. Murray, Jr., was renominated without opposition, and Floyd T. Woodhull was renominated for the school board as the choice of both divisions of the party.

The convention was not largely attended. The seventy-five or a hundred in the gallery seemed largely of a regular cast, Mr. Fisk's name was received with abundant handclapping.

The two factions had full delegations out—sixteen regular delegates and eleven Colbyite. The latter stuck to their guns. They refused to make Mr. Fisk's nomination unanimous, and although they voted for Mr. Murray it was noticed that none of the reform delegations seconded his nomination.

The convention was called to order by Mr. Fisk, as chairman of the City Convention, at 8:30 o'clock. Albert E. J. Matthews was made chairman, and he appointed W. C. Kinney and Frank L. Holt secretaries. The following committees were appointed: Rules, A. R. Raymond, Arthur L. Case, F. W. Frost; resolutions, George S. Ring, C. W. Runyon, J. H. Craig.

The following platform was adopted as presented by the resolutions committee:

"We, the representatives of the Republican party in the city of Plainfield, in convention assembled declare that we are in favor of the following principles, and intend to support the same:

"First. To promote the best interests of all the people of the city of Plainfield.

"Second. To administer and conduct the affairs of the city in the interests of the people, free from any taint of bossism, or of servitude to any corporate or private interests.

"Third. To encourage a popular interest in primary elections and such other progressive measures as may seem necessary to the interests of the people.

"Fourth. To promote honest elections and prevent political corruption in any form.

"Fifth. To promptly take such measures as may be necessary to bring before the voters the facts regarding city ownership of a water supply in such form as to enable them to vote intelligently thereon, and have same submitted to the people at a special or general election as soon as such facts can be prepared."

An attempt by the Colbyites to kill the rule that all resolutions be referred to the resolutions committee without debate was defeated. Howard C. Tracy, chairman of the Second Ward Colbyite delegation, made a motion that the convention be left free to suggest and act on resolutions as a committee of the whole. It was lost by the sixteen to eleven vote.

When nominations for mayor were called for, the First ward waived to the First district of the Third, and E. H. Ladd presented the name of Mr. Fisk in a brief speech. Mr. Fisk was ably fitted to fill the office, he said, and the people were to be congratulated on having the opportunity to vote for him. His election would be a guarantee of a wise and business-like administration of the city's affairs. Mr. Fisk's name was received with a sustained burst of handclapping.

Mr. Tracy placed Mr. Depew in nomination in a speech even briefer than that of Mr. Ladd's. Mr. Depew was ably fitted for the office, Mr. Tracy said, and the people of his ward had declared in no uncertain terms for his nomination.

When the vote was announced, a motion to make the nomination of Mr. Fisk unanimous was made. Mr. Tracy opposed it. The campaign waged by the Plainfield members of the Equal Taxation League, he said, had been fought as a matter of principle. The delegates it sent to the convention were expected to support Mr. Depew without faltering. Without intending any discourtesy, they felt that they could not, without being unfaithful to their constituents, vote to make the nomination unanimous.

The nomination of Wilbur, Doane, Murray and Woodhull was accomplished rapidly. There were no nominating speeches, and no applause.

The chairman appointed Charles W. Runyon, Howard Tracy and John Gallagher a committee to escort Mr. Fisk to the platform. Mr. Fisk took the arm of Mr. Tracy, and there was considerable laughter as they walked down the aisle. Mr. Tracy joined heartily in the applause that greeted the mayoralty candidate as he stepped to the platform front. He hadn't wanted the nomination, Mr. Fisk said in opening, but he thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him. He felt that a great responsibility had been put upon him. A bitter fight had preceded the nomination, but he felt that he faced a reunited party. (Applause.)

He stood firmly on the platform, he said, and would even go further. If elected, he would try to do his duty to the whole people of the city, doing the best he knew how in the office. Many important questions were pending. The municipal ownership of water was perhaps the most important; he had already expressed himself as to that, but he was perfectly willing to stand on the plank in the platform, because it was his intention, should he become mayor, to take steps immediately to have the question thoroughly investigated and laid before the people in such a way as to give them an intelligent idea of the subject.

He was not responsible to any faction, individual or set of men, Mr. Fisk continued, but would do everything for the interests of the people. He would try to give everyone, rich and poor, the humble as well as the prominent, his just rights. No man need ever be afraid to approach C. J. Fisk on any matter of public interest or communal good. He considered all men on a plane of equality. (Applause.)

Concluding, Mr. Fisk said he considered all the delegates and their constituents as members of the Republican party. He considered that the nomination had been made after a full and clear majority of the people had expressed their choice, and that a majority of the party wanted him to be the nominee for mayor. He wanted them all to stand with him, and he believed that when the campaign was over they would have clasped hands and become solidly united as a party. He would do everything possible to bring that condition of affairs about. He considered every man in the party, of whatever faction, a Republican and on his side. (Sustained applause.)

Albert E. J. Matthews, H. C. Tracy, C. W. Runyon, E. H. Ladd and J. T. MacMurray are the committee on vacancies.

CHURCH CLUB PROGRAMME.

Grace P. E. Men Plan for Eight Social Evenings During Season.

The Men's Club of Grace P. E. church will hold its opening meeting of the new season at the parish house, October 8. A musicale and smoker, with sleight-of-hand tricks by an expert, will mark the occasion.

The following schedule of special programmes has been prepared by the programme committee, of which J. Paul Nolting is chairman:

November 12, illustrated talk on Scotly, by J. M. Whiton; December 10, lecture by former State Senator Charles H. Russell of New York; January 14, women's night; talk by Mrs. Davis and music by Miss Angie Kuhl; February 11, minstrel show, by club talent; March 11, bowling at the Casino; April 8, musicale, glee club, refreshments; May 13, annual dinner and election.

WEATHER FOR SEPTEMBER.

Weather Sergeant Neagle Prepares Statistics for Past Month.

Weather Sergeant John Neagle has compiled the statistics for September weather as follows:

Maximum temperature 91, dates 10-13; minimum temperature 44, date 25; mean temperature 68.1 degrees; normal temperature for the month, 65.8 degrees; greatest daily range, 32 degrees; total precipitation, 2.82 inches; greatest in twenty-four hours, 1.77 inches; normal precipitation, 4.89 inches; number of rainy days, 8; number of days clear, 14; number of days partly cloudy, 11; number of days cloudy, 5; days of thunder storms, 3, 12, 13, 19; dense fog, 17 and 18. The mean temperature for the month was 2.3 degrees above the normal. The precipitation was 2.07 inches below the normal for the month.

Boys' Department Officers.

The following officers were elected by the T. M. C. A. boys' department Saturday morning: President, Russell Morris; vice president, Fred Smith; secretary, Stanley Robins. The president will appoint his cabinet and the heads of committees this week.

Organ Club's Reception.

The reception, being planned by the Organ Club, of the St. Olive Baptist church, in honor of the pastor, Rev. M. A. Alexander, will be held on Thursday night, October 11, instead of Thursday night of this week. At that time Mr. Alexander will deliver a lecture. The committee of arrangements consists of Mrs. Peter Gordon, chairman; Mrs. A. Green, assistant. Mrs. W. E. Dempsey is president of the club.

Albert Koch, of Kensington avenue, is again able to be at his place of business after an absence of several days, caused by a heavy cold.

STRIKE SYMPATHIZERS AND "SCABS" CLASH

NON-UNION MAN IS FINED FOR CARRYING A REVOLVER.

Another manifestation of the labor troubles in town, this time from the Scott Press Works, appeared in the city court this morning, when Albert Carlson and Charles Gordon, molders at the press works, were arraigned, charged with disturbing the peace on East Front street Saturday night.

John Taylor, a young moulder and strike sympathizer, testified that Carlson and Gordon started a row in the Hotel Waldorf, and that Carlson displayed the butt of a revolver in his hip pocket. Both the prisoners are non-union molders at the Scott works, where a strike is supposed to be on. The shop managers say they refuse to recognize the existence of a strike.

Carlson and Gordon said they had been threatened with a beating ever since they came to town and Manager F. S. Shuster and Assistant Superintendent Palmer of the Press works, corroborated them. Carlson said he got the gun because he feared for his life. Palmer swore that Taylor was a ring leader in the dogging of the non-union men. Gordon told the court that he believed the row to have been "planted" to get him and Carlson arrested.

Judge Runyon vigorously spoke on the right of any man to engage in a lawful occupation wherever he desired and got the police, but condemned Carlson's action in arming himself without a permit. He fined Carlson $3 and suspended sentence on Gordon. Shuster paid Carlson's fine.

After the hearing, Assistant Superintendent Palmer made a complaint before the judge against alleged pickets and union sympathizers, who, he alleged, have been steadily annoying and threatening him and his non-union help.

GAMES WANTED.

Holy Cross Boys' Team Issues a Challenge.

Holy Cross Club boys are rejoicing over the prospective arrival of new uniforms and other paraphrenalia of football warfare which has been presented by friends interested in the team. As a reputation intercollegiate football, the gift of one of the club, is the storm centre on Wednesdays and Fridays when the boys line up with their coach for practice.

At the practice game with N. P. H. S. it was found that the new rules which are in force with the eleven makes for greater safety and more general kicking of the ball. The boys are ready to accept challenges from teams of the average age of fifteen years, weight of 110 pounds. Games to be arranged through William Little 417 East Third street, City.

Miss Beach To Wed.

Miss Bell Beach, well-known as a teacher of riding and exhibitor of saddle horses and jumpers in the show ring, who will be remembered by the patrons of the Plainfield Horse Show and William Charles Bain have taken out a license to marry at Newport, R. I., but as they have chosen to envelop their plans in secrecy, definite details could not be obtained. They made a request of the officials at the City Hall there that nothing be said of the matter of the license, and Mrs. Emily Beach, mother of the young woman, declined last evening to affirm or deny a statement that was current that the wedding had taken place.

Attached Firms' Goods.

In behalf of Bourin & Farrin, a New York produce firm, Constable Pierce served an attachment on goods belonging to Max Scudder & Co., as they were being loaded on cars at South Plainfield preparatory to moving them to Pennsylvania. Judgment had been entered against the local concern through Justice Von Minden's court, the amount claimed being for supplies furnished. Scudder came to Plainfield and paid the money, thus securing the release of the goods. Bourin & Farrin were represented by W. L. Hetfield, Jr.

Lipton Will Challenge.

New York, Oct. 1.—Whether Sir Thomas Lipton, who arrived Saturday night on the steamer Celtic from Liverpool, will issue a fourth challenge for the America's cup, will depend upon the development of his present visit to the United States. This much Sir Thomas announced when questioned at quarantine Sir Thomas said: "I shall stop a short time in New York, but must be in Chicago next Wednesday. From there I shall go to Milwaukee. The question of my challenging again for the American cup will depend upon what develops later in my visit. I hope to have the opportunity to come here again."

Attempt to Burn Pier Building.

Long Branch, Sept. 29.—An attempt was made to burn the old pier building on Ocean avenue early yesterday. The blaze did about $150 damage before being discovered. The building is owned by Louis B. Schram, who has been offered $7,500 for the property by the city. Mr. Schram wants $25,000. The property will be taken by condemnation proceedings by the city in order to improve Ocean avenue between Broadway and Seaview avenue.

CLINTON AVE. WINS, 4-3

Defeated by Scotch Plains Twice, Plainfielders Win at Last.

ON CRESCENT OVAL.

Both J. Scott and A. Frents Pitch Good Ball—Wrangle Over Decision.

The Clinton Avenue ball team defeated the 'Plains team Saturday afternoon at Crescent Oval by the score of 4-3. The game was an interesting one, as both teams were on their mettle, and presented their strongest lineups. The C. A. C. was strengthened somewhat, as the two defeats already administered by the 'Plains aggregation convinced Manager Kriney that to take the third game of the series he would have to strengthen up in several weak points in his team.

The 'Plains team started scoring in its half of the second, both teams having been blanked in the first. Schhirenbeck up, hit to short, ball was fumbled and Schrienbeck was safe at first. Gordon followed with another infield hit, doubling Schirenbeck at second; short stop to second base. Eller stole second, A. Frents came to the rescue with a clean two-bagger, bringing Eller over the rubber. Baldwin hit to pitcher, who threw wild to first and Schrienbeck second from second base on the throw. H. Alberts hit to second and was thrown out at first, retiring the second.

The C. A .C. had their chance in its half, before the 'Plains team settled down had secured three runs. Barclay, the first man up, was hit by the pitcher, and stole second. R. Scott struck out and A. Scott hit. Three-base error of Schrienbeck found Scott on first and Barclay at third. Barnes hit clean single to centre field scoring Barclay. Whitly met up was struck and walked. J. Scott fanned three times; O'Loughlin followed with a timely hit to left field, scoring Barnes and Scott. Giles hit to short stop and was thrown out at first.

In its half of the third the 'Plains team tied the score, with a safe hit to left field by G. Frents, who stole second. Reick advanced him to third with a sacrifice. Schirenbeck struck out, O'Loughlin muffed the ball and Frents scored on the throw to first. Both teams settled down and goose eggs were in order until the eighth, when the C. A. C. started with a safe hit to left by R. Scott. A. Scott struck out. Barnes was walked. Whitly up hit a clean single to centre field, scoring R. Scott; Barnes also tried to score but was thrown out at home plate. Umpire Murphy called Barnes safe and this caused a wrangle, which lasted fully five minutes. The matter was finally settled by the C. A. C.-agreeing that Murphy's decision was wrong and Barnes was called out. Whitley hit to second and was thrown out at first. The 'Plains team could do nothing in its half of the ninth, H. Alberts getting as far as third base on a hit to third base, who threw wild to first base. Alberts got to third on the throw and would have scored but for his falling down while making the turn for home plate. This gives the game to Clinton Avenue by 4-3.

J. Scott, who was in the box for the C. A. C., pitched fine ball as did Frints of the 'Plains team, the former striking out eight men and allowing but only five hits. Frints struck out six and allowed six hits.

Following is the line-up and score by innings:

—C. A. C.—O'Loughlin, c; Giles, 2b; Barclay, cf; R. Scott, ss; A. Scott, lf; Barnes, 1b; Emery, 3b; Whitley, rf; J. Scott, p.

'Plains—J. Alberts, 2b; Baldwin, ss; H. Alberts, c; G. Frents, 1b; Vanderbilt, rf; Reick, lf; Schirenbeck, 3b; Eller, cf; A. Frints, p.

'Plains ..... 0 2 1 0 0 0 0 0—3
C. A. C. ..... 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1 x—4

Umpire, Mr. Murphy.

MISS ANNA SEARING

CHARLES ZIMMER'S BRIDE.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Officiates at Wedding of Popular Couple.

Miss Anna A. Searing, daughter of James H. Searing, formerly of this city, but now of East Orange, and Charles Zimmer, also a former Plainfielder, were married Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at his home in West Front street. Only the members of the two families were present to witness the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Sadie Searing, while Edward C. Searing, a brother of the bride, was best man.

Both the bride and groom have been residents of Plainfield for several years and they have been especially active workers at Trinity Reformed church, in the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Society, where they will be greatly missed. The groom was a former employe of The Daily Press office and later was employed by the Aluminum Press and Plate Company.

Mr. Zimmer now holds a position in New York and he and his bride will reside in East Orange, where he has a home at 205 Amherst street.

WON POULTRY PRIZES AT THE TRENTON FAIR

SCOTCH PLAINS AND SOUTH PLAINFIELD EXHIBITIONS WERE SUCCESSFUL

South Plainfield and Scotch Plains fowls won prizes at the Trenton State fair last week. Benjamin Elliott of Scotch Plains, got eight prizes with eight entries, and the Sunswick Poultry Farm, managed by George J. May, got ten ribbons with as many entries. Three of Mr. Elliott's entries, Andaluvians, Buff Leghorns and Golden Wyandotts, took first prize in their class; a second prize was awarded him in the Organdon class. Mr. Elliott's stock is considered among the finest in the State and is generally among the prize winners wherever exhibited.

The Sunswick prizes were awarded as follows: First and second prizes for black Orpington cockerels; first and third for black Orpington pullets; first and second for white Orpington cocks; first for white Orpington cockerels; first and second for white Orpington pullets, and first prize for exhibition pens; also a special for best pullet, fed and put in show condition on Speatts food.

PLATTS MAY PART.

Reported that Senator and Wife May Seek Divorce.

Impending legal proceedings threaten to bring to light the alleged unhappy outcome of Senator Thomas Collier Platt's marriage with the dashing Mrs. Lillian T. Janeway, of Washington, D. C. That the union would end in the divorce court is not altogether a surprise to the friends of the aged Senator in private and public life, who were inexpressibly shocked by his marriage to the Washington widow October 11, 1902. Rumors of Platt's living at the Hotel Gotham, in New York, while Mrs. Platt is at her husband's country seat, Tioga Lodge, Highland Mills, N. Y. They are said to have separated and to have consulted counsel. Pacing legal actions by her husband and her son-in-law, Col. Francis J. Carmody, Mrs. Platt is said to have decided to strike the first blow by bringing suit for divorce.

MRS. CRUIKSHANK'S FUNERAL.

The Service Conducted by Rev. Edward L. Stoddard.

With a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of Mrs. Simeon A. Cruikshank was held at her late home on Belvidere avenue, Sunday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Edward L. Stoddard, rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, of Jersey City Heights. The choir of the church was present and rendered several selections. Interment at the union of Mrs. Cruikshank.

The floral tributes were unusually numerous and included many handsome set pieces, from friends and business associates of Mr. Cruikshank. Following the service the body was placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery.

BOY CHIME RINGER.

George R. Rogers Will Play Garden City, L. I., Church Bells.

George E. Rogers, a bright fourteen-year-old boy, grandson of D. W. Rogers, of West Second street, has been appointed official chimes ringer of the Incarnation Cathedral at Garden City, L. I. For a time he has been silent for fifteen years. They are connected with the keyboard of the organ.

Master Rogers is the son of Mrs. Grace Randolph Rogers, who formerly lived here. He is a natural musician. He is being educated in music, and is a member of the Cathedral choir; he has a strong soprano voice.

Hard on Clothes.

"You look so nice in your new Fall suit," said Mrs. Drowse, "don't you think you'd better come to church with me this morning?"

"Not on your life!" replied Mr. Drowse, "it doesn't do a new suit any good to go to sleep in it."

Traitor to Her Sex.

"O! she's not at all nice," said little Elsie, "she's always wishin' she was a boy."

"Well," replied Mabel, "I wish I was, too."

"I know, but she wishes it out loud, so the boys can hear her."

Conundrums.

Why had a person better lose his arm than a leg? Because losing his leg he loses something "to boot."

What did Adam first plant in the garden? His foot.

Why is a stick of candy like a race horse? Because the more you lick it the faster it goes.

Why is a peach stone like a regiment? Because it has a kernel.

An Invitation Dance.

A party of local young men will conduct an invitation reception and dance in the Casino on October 11. The committee making the arrangements consists of T. Astley Weaver, William Deslaman and George Finger.

New Station at Towanda, Pa.

The construction of a modern passenger station at Towanda has been authorized by the Lehigh Valley R. R., the contract let and work will be commenced very soon.

Death of John Briscoe.

John Briscoe, aged thirty-two years, died Saturday afternoon at his home in South Second street, following a two weeks' illness with Bright's disease. He was born in Newark and lived there up to three years ago, when he removed to this city. He was well-known here in a large circle of acquaintances. He is survived by a mother, three brothers and two sisters.

Hobokens Lose, 5 to 4.

The Frankford team defeated the Hobokens at St. George's Cricket Grounds yesterday by a score of 5 to 4, after 9 innings. "Willie" Deegan was touched for ten hits, while the Deabsters were credited with a total of seven off of Barger.

—Prof. J. R. Evans, instructor of chemistry at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., has taken charge of the laboratory on the State University of Georgia.

DIED.

WILLITS—On Thursday, September 27, 1906, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. A. M. Runyon, 416 Madison avenue, Maria P., daughter of the late Samuel and Permelia Willits.

DRAKE—On 9th month, 29th, 1906, Phebe Belden, widow of John Hallock Drake.

BLIMM—Suddenly, on Monday, October 1, 1906, Peter C., son of Jacob and Sarah A. Blimm, aged 35 years, 5 months, 6 days.

CRUIKSHANK—At her home, Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, 1906, Mary Elizabeth Moore, wife of Simeon Agres Cruikshank.

STELLE—On Sunday, Sept. 30 1906, Mary P., widow of Samuel M. Stelle, in her 84th year.

BRISCOE—In this city, September 29, 1906, John Francis Briscoe, in his thirty-third year.

DRAKE—On 9th month, 29th, 1906, Phebe Belden, widow of John Hallock Drake.

DRAPER—On Friday, September 28, 1906, Elisabeth A., wife of Richard Draper, in her 64th year.

BRICK—At South Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 29, 1906, Annie, wife of Albert Brick, in her 36th year.

BOWERS—On Wednesday, September 26, 1906, Esther, wife of Peter Bowers, aged 78 years.

CORIELL—Suddenly, on Tuesday, Sept. 25, 1906, Richard E. Coriell, in his 65th year.

WANTED.

WANTED—By Chicago wholesale and mail order house, assistant manager (man or woman) for this county and adjoining territory; salary $20 and expenses paid weekly; expense money advanced; work pleasant; position permanent; no investment or experience required; spare time valuable; write at once for full particulars and enclose self-addressed envelope. Address General Manager, 134 E. Lake St., Chicago.

c 7 19 11

Jack Henderson Series

For Summer Reading

Mirthful Books in Up-To-Date Slang

A series of books by Reed. H. Cobb, written in the catchy slang vein which today is so prevalent. These books are the best humorous and fancy books, with wit and humor. Bound in cloth, gilt tops, with seven half-tone illustrations. The titles:

Jack Henderson Down East.
Jack Henderson Out West.
Jack Henderson Down South.
Jack Henderson Mashing.
Jack Henderson on Tipping.
Jack Henderson on Matrimony.

Nothing like them for driving away the blues and keeping down doctor bills. Your choice, any one, $1.00, postpaid. For sale at booksellers or write to publishers

HURST & COMPANY
205-209 Broadway, New York.

Send for complete Catalogue of Popular Priced Books.

Sanitary Plumbing

Brick and Portable Furnace
Gas Fitting, Tin Roofing,
Etc., Etc., Etc.

I am prepared to do any of the above branches in strictly first-class sanitary and workmanship manner.

Having associated myself with the Master Members Association of New York City, I employ none but first-class mechanics and non-union men. I believe in every man running his own business, at all times and in cases.

D. W. L[illegible]

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

NEW IN EVERY DETAIL!

My new barber shop at

143 NORTH AVE.

is now open ready for business. All the latest appointments in the tonsorial line.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD.

CARNEY BROS.,

MADISON AVENUE,

Between Front and Second streets

Tinners,
Plumbers
Gas Fitters,

Grates and bricks for all kinds of stoves cost no more here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your linware mending to us. The best tinners, the best plumbers, and the best gas-fitters in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction. Keys of all kinds are made here. Tinware made to order. Ranges, brick and portable furnaces. Sanitary plumbing.

DIME

Savings Institution,

Of Plainfield, N. J.,

Is now receiving deposits with interest, allowed on all sums from $5 to $3,000.

J. Frank Hubbard, President.
Wm. P. Arnold, Vice-Pres
Jeremiah Manning, Vice-Pres
J. C. Pope, Sec'y and Treas.

Money deposited on or before January tenth will draw interest from the first.

Guaranteed Salary $900 YEARLY.

Men and women of good address to represent us, some to travel, appointing agents, others for local work looking after our interests. $900 salary guaranteed yearly, extra commissions and expenses, road or workers, established house, splendid chance for earnest man or woman to secure permanent, pleasant position. Liberal income and future. Write at once. Write at once. STAFFORD PRESS, 21 Church St., New Haven, Conn.

W. R. CODINGTON,

Counsellor-at-Law

Commissioner of Deeds, Master-in-Chancery, Notary Public. Office: Corner of Park avenue and Second street.

ALBERT HEDDEN

Livery & Boarding Stables

FOURTH ST.,

between Watchung and Park avenue First-class Livery. Horses boarded by week or month. Telephone call No. 114.

Wm. A. Woodruff

Fire and Life

INSURANCE AGENT

OFFICE,

In Chancery of New Jersey.

TO JOHN BROWN—

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 29th day of the date hereof in a cause wherein Catherine Burke Burke is petitioner and you are defendant, you are required to appear and answer the petitioner's petition, on or before the eighth day of November next, or in default such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

WILLIAM M. BYRLEMAN,
212 West Front Street,
Plainfield, New Jersey.

Dated, September 29, 1906. 10 12 and

"Beautify Your Home"

The Burr McIntosh Monthly

"Pictorial Perfection"

"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD"

Ask your newsdealer for this superb magazine. If he does not handle it send us his name and address with your name and address and 10c. for sample copy. Regular price 25c. Mention this paper.

Burr Publishing Company
4 West 22d Street New York City

PERKINS, TILLMAN AND MOXON ARE NOMINATED

Choice of Republicans For Assembly Who Select Lufburrow For Coroner.

FRANKLIN CHAIRMAN

Colbyites a Hopeless Minority But Prevent Making Nominations Unanimous.

Randolph Perkins and Peter Tillman were renominated for the Assembly by the Union County Republican convention at Elizabeth Thursday afternoon, and John R. Maxon, an Elizabeth young man, was named as their running mate. He takes the place of Everard H. Tucker. Dr. C. H. Lufburrow, of this city, was nominated for coroner. The Colbyites refused to make the nominations unanimous.

The convention was not interesting. The Colbyites, who might have furnished spice under other circumstances, were hopelessly in the minority. Perkins and Tillman were nominated on the first ballot, but an extra poll was necessary to clear Moxon, who was the choice of the county organization, from the cluster of favorite sons who hampered the voting.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith called the convention to order in the Lyceum theatre at 3:30 o'clock. Ruford Franklin, of Summit, was made temporary chairman. The vice presidents appointed were Gilbert Fletcher, of this city; W. F. Hall, Cranford, and Henry Clause, Elizabeth. C. H. Dunham, of this city, and Joseph Cahill, of Elizabeth, were appointed secretaries. The temporary organization was made permanent.

After committees had been appointed, the convention took a recess for half an hour. Plainfielders on committees were as follows: Herbert Buxton, on Rules; C. B. Morse and Amos Andrews, on Organization; W. H. Coddington, on Resolutions.

Before the convention opened the twenty-six Colbyite delegates held a conference, over which Judge Runyon presided, and decided to present planks expressing their principles for adoption in the platform. Before the convention went to work Dr. Edwin Davis, of Elizabeth, presented the planks decided upon to the chair, for consideration by the Resolutions Committee.

The planks favored the enactment of laws by the next Legislature to enable the people to nominate candidates directly at primaries; to bring about the taxation of the values of public utility franchises in streets at local rates; to permit of popular selection of United States Senators; to bring about a thorough legislative investigation of life insurance companies and their relations to financial institutions; to investigate the capitalization of corporations, to enable the Legislature to enact intelligent laws to prevent over-capitalization; to bring about the repeal of the statute protecting fraudulent promotors; to bring about rule whereby each house of the Legislature may be compelled to vote on bills at the written request of twenty per cent of the members; to compel Legislature agents and lobbyists to register; to bring civil service to apply to all subordinate public positions to take them out of politics; to allow municipalities to own electric light and gas plants; to separate municipal and general elections; to vest in the courts the power of summary review of all elections, and power to order a recount.

Mr. Franklin made a humorous speech in accepting the chair. He referred satirically to the Colby movement. The tail had tried to wag the dog, he said, and, as usual, the tail had not succeeded. He said the movement was honest enough in the beginning, but in the latter days of the campaign it had passed into the control of disappointed office-seekers and people who made it not a campaign in the party but against the party. He had kind words for the defeated, and he expected a ready acceptance of them. He looked for the support of honest Colbyites for the ticket. The speech, and particularly its few conciliatory passages, was roundly applauded.

The following platform was adopted, with the addition of two olbyite planks:

"Under the wise, energetic and fearless course of President Roosevelt, followed by a loyal Senate and House of Representatives, the Republican party has accomplished, during the year since last its representatives of Union county met in convention, more that is valuable in legislation for the best interests of all of the people than has been done at any of the thirty years last past.

"In National affairs the party stands more strongly entrenched in the confidence and good wishes of the American people than ever before.

"Once again it confidently appeals for the support of all who believe in a conduct of State affairs at once safe and sane and yet at the same time progressive — a management which will meet the approval of all its citizens.

"The record of the party for the year in legislative enactments is proof of the sincerity of its premises and evidences the good faith in which such promises have been carried out.

"In a masterly, fearless and statesman-like message, Governor Stokes took advanced ground and pointed the way for radical and yet at the same time practical reforms in State affairs. A Republican legislature responded, enacted laws and inaugurated changes which are beneficient and lasting in their effect.

"We commend our Representatives in the Legislature for the commanding position by them therein taken. Every measure which promoted the interests of the people received their approval.

"We especially commend them for their courage and independence in securing the passage of the Equal Taxation law, the law limiting public franchises and that providing for lessening the burdens of local taxes by the distribution of the State's revenues for the support of our public schools.

"We hereby pledge our aid to the nominees of this convention and for them confidently bespeak the approval of the citizens of Union county."

Judge Coddington, reporting for the Resolutions Committee, said that the planks submitted by the Colbyites contained two propositions too important to be decided at short notice and others that were already covered by law. Two were deemed desirable: The civil service and over-capitalization planks. They were added to the platform and adopted.

C. B. Morse, of the Plainfield Colbyite delegation, moved, after a tangle of technicalities had been cleared out of his way, that the other planks of the Colby faith be read. The chorus of nays that killed the motion was vigorous and sustained. On Chairman Smith's motion, the convention then hustled to the business of nominating.

Nine candidates were offered. Besides Perkins, Tillman and Moxon, tuere were Benuis F. Murphy, D. J. Burke, of Elizabeth; William F. Hall, of Cranford; G. W. Bower, of Linden borough, and the Colby candidates, W. N. Runyon, William P. Groves and B. J. Henchaus. Perkins was nominated by C. N. Codding.

Mr. McCready, of the Second ward, nominated Judge Runyon.

F. E. Mygatt seconded the nomination.

Seventy-one ballots were necessary for choice. On the first ballot, Perkins and Tillman came out, the former getting 102 and the latter 72. Moxon got 65; Burke trailed a bad fourth with 36; Hall got 31; Runyon, Groves and Fleuchaus got 26; and Brower got one.

Little eruptions of enthusiasm marked the balloting. Perkins was hotly applauded by the Plainfield regulars, but the mention of their fellow townsman was received in stoney silence. The Colbyites, how*ever, made up for the manual in ac*tivity.

On the second ballot, the small delegations fell aboard the Moxon band wagon and the Elizabethan arrived with 87 votes. Runyon got 17 on that ballot, the two Rahway Colbyites sticking to him.

A motion to make the nominations unanimous was blocked by the Colbyites. Mr. McCready voiced their objection in one format sentence. No comment was made on the motion and its defeat by either faction.

Dr. Lufburrow was nominated for coroner by Herbert Buxton. William H. Donaldson, of Linden, was nominated against him, but he ran a bad second. Lufburrow got 83 votes, Donaldson 45. Linden gracefully moved that the nomination be unanimous.

The twenty-six Colbyites cheered Judge Runyon's name lustily. The regular 117 maintained a stoney silence.

The assembly candidates were presented to the convention. Mr. McCready was one of the committee of three appointed to escort them to the platform. Tillman and Moxon made the usual remarks, but Perkins sounded a keynote or two.

He would go to the assembly, he said—for he regarded the nomination was equivalent to election—as the representative of the people and of nobody else. Further, he would go absolutely unpledged to any man for United States Senator. He would cast his vote for the man who seemed the best-fitted for the office among the candidates before the House and the Senate.

The delegations had thinned a lot when the candidates came to the platform, but the Westfield delegation was there and made much noise. Three cheers and some tigers sounded for Perkins several times.

From a box on the upper left hand tier, Charles J. Fisk and Representative Charles N. Fowler watched the convention. Fowler was not mentioned during the proceedings, and no official recognition of his presence was made. He did some handshaking before and after in his usual cold manner.

The committee appointed to fill vacancies is made up of F. H. Smith, Dr. Williams, of Summit, and R. B. Cissel, of Elizabeth.

MISS M. P. WILLITS A WIDELY KNOWN TEACHER

HAD TAUGHT IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY SCHOOLS FOR THIRTY-FIVE YEARS.

Miss Maria P. Willits, who died Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. M. Runyon, of Madison avenue, was one of the best known public school teachers in New Jersey. She began her career in this city, having a class in the building at Fourth street and Arlington avenue, afterward burned down. From here she went to Small Lots, near Paterson, and thence to the Middlesex county schools, where she began her work in 1870. Among the schools she taught in were those at Harris Lane, Fieldville, New Market, also Bound Brook and lastly South Amboy, where she remained. It was her intention to retire within two years.

Miss Willits left her class at South Amboy last Friday to go home and in alighting from a trolley car was thrown heavily. It brought on an illness and she came to Mrs. Runyon's home. She grew worse rapidly and from Sunday was in a comatose state. The end came early yesterday afternoon.

Miss Willits was the daughter of the late Samuel and Permelia Willits, her mother being a direct descendant of Penelope Stont, the first white woman to step on New Jersey soil. Mrs. Runyon is the only near relative living, a brother, Hiram B. Willits, of Madison, having died in 1890 and a sister, Mrs. Richard A. Ross, of Bound Brook, in 1897.

The funeral and interment were private.

MISS WESEMAN WEDS A PHILADELPHIAN

PLAINFIELD GIRL BTCOMES MRS. WESTON MORRIS WEINTRAUB.

Miss Ethel Weseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Weseman, of East Sixth street, and Wistar Morris Weintraub, formerly of this city but now of Philadelphia, were married Wednesday night at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony. The affair was attended by the relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Margaret Weseman, as bridesmaid, and Miss Helen Weseman, as flower girl. The best man was Paul Weintraub, of Philadelphia, a brother of the groom. Mr. Weseman gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a white crepe de chine, trimmed with Rennaissance lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid's gown was of white batiste, trimmed with lace and she also carried white roses. The flower girl was gowned in white and carried a basket of flowers. The home was very prettily decorated with palms, asparagus fern and cut flowers, the arrangement being very effective in the parlor, dining room and the reception hall.

A reception followed the ceremony and later supper was served. The bride received a large number of gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Weintraub left that evening for a wedding journey and upon their return they will reside in Philadelphia, where the groom has a position in a chemical works.

FIFTEEN YEARS MARRIED.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Force Entertain Friends in Honor of Anniversary.

In celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Force, of Mercer avenue, entertained a gathering of friends at their home Wednesday. The guests numbered fifty in all from this city, Elizabeth, Somerville and Dunellen. Games and music were enjoyed and in conclusion refreshments were served. The house was very prettily decorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Force were married at Arlington on September 26, 1901, the bride being Miss Carrie Fenner, of Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. Jamison and some of those who witnessed it were present last night. The celebrants received a nice collection of cut glass in honor of the occasion.

New P. S. C. Official.

George Luhr, of Elizabeth, has been appointed district superintendent of the Public Service Corporation to succeed William J. Adgate, Bayport. He will be located at the offices of the company on Watchung avenue. Mr. Davenport contemplates a western trip, and he will probably be accompanied by William Randolph, his assistant, who has also resigned.

Miss Allen a Bride.

Miss Beatrice Evelyn Allen, daughter of Mrs. Sarah A. Allen, of East Second street, and Arthur Rushford Rice, of Waterloo, Iowa, were married on Wednesday night by Rev. George M. Brown, pastor of the South Street Memorial M. E. church, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Rice is chief electrician and wireless instructor at the electrical school in the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

NUTLEY MAN OWNS CHERISHED RELICS

VREELAND PRIZES A HORSEPISTOL AND A CUPBOARD.

A horsepistol, bearing the date of 1776 and the initials of J. V., is one of the relics cherished by Warren Vreeland, of Nutley. The barrel is made of iron, inlaid with brass. The stock is of black walnut, also inlaid and ornamented with the same material. The weapon was carried in the Revolutionary War by John Vreeland, grandfather of the present owner. The old gentleman, now enjoying his eighty-fifth year, held the weapon in his hand as he related with much feeling: "My grandfather carried two of these in the army; one on each side of his saddle in a holster, where they were convenient for quick action."

An old Holland cupboard, brought to this country in 1720, is also the property of Warren Vreeland. It is a massive piece of furniture, six and one-half feet high, six feet broad and a little more than two and one-half feet in depth and is made mainly of solid cherry.

Below the top shelf there is a shallow drawer, in which were kept various valuable documents. There were two deeds most beautifully and evenly written upon parchment, bearing the date of 1784, still in the drawer when the cupboard passed into the possession of its present owner in 1854.

Among some of the ancient things that were kept in the cupboard are still to be found a linsey-woolsey blanket and some fine linen spun, woven and made into sheets about 125 years ago. The linen which formed the warp of the blanket was left white, but the wool was dyed blue and black and woven in alternate stripes about an inch wide.

The front feet of the cupboard are massive wooden balls and the knobs on a large lower drawer are made in the same design. The key to the cupboard is six inches long.

Mr. Vreeland told how he remembered crawling under the old cupboard when playing hide-and-seek with his brothers and sisters. He said reflectively, "Yes, I remember getting under there when it was a tight squeeze."

The cupboard was brought over from Holland by the first dominie who came to Bellerville, New York, at that time called Second River. Mr. Vreeland stated that it is his intention to present this antique piece of furniture to the public library of Nutley as soon as the new school building now in course of erection is completed, and where one or more rooms will be devoted to the use of the public library.

Going somewhat farther back into the early history of his family, Mr. Vreeland recited some interesting incidents connected with an old griddle which was made to order in 1700.

It was first owned by Mrs. Altjie Vreeland, wife of Michael Vreeland. She was the mother of John Vreeland (the owner of the pistol previously described), grandmother of Abraham and great-grandmother of Warren Vreeland, its present owner.

The griddle is fourteen inches in diameter and weighs fifteen pounds. It is made of wrought iron with a handle which can be described as an arm (quite different from those in use a few years later), fastened to one side only, extending about ten inches above the griddle, then bent at a right angle and extending above the centre of the plate, where it is finished with a swivel to permit turning so that the cakes would bake evenly over the open fire.

COL. LUSK A SUICIDE AT FORT HANCOCK.

Husband of Former Plainfield Woman Takes His Life by Cutting His Throat.

Col. J. L. Lusk, of the United States Engineers, who, while on a six month's sick leave was visiting his daughter, the wife of Lieut. J. B. Dimard, of the Ordnance Department, who is residing in the officers' quarters at Fort Hancock, died suddenly Wednesday from wounds self-inflicted while temporarily deranged.

His son-in-law was aroused by a noise in the bathroom and on investigation found Col. Lusk hacking at his throat with a knife. Aid was hastily summoned from the hospital ward and it took the combined efforts of three nurses and the son-in-law to disarm the Colonel. He was quickly removed to the hospital of the post and died a short time after.

Col. Lusk was born in Pittsburg on February 1, 1855. He was the son of Lieut. Col. and Adjt. General Sherrett Clow Lusk. He was graduated from West Point in 1878, and was made a second lieutenant of engineers. On October 16, 1883, he was married to Miss Mary E. Webster in this city. From second lieutenant he was advanced to a first lieutenancy on June 24, 1881. He became a captain in June, 1888, and major on July 5, 1898, in the corps of engineers. His residence was the Mendota, at Washington.

Necessary.

First Lieutenant—I congratulate you, old chap; your fiancee is charming.

Second Lieutenant—Rather: I have already begun a course of pistol practice.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

FASHIONABLE THRONG WITNESSED WEDDING

CEREMONY UNITED MISS MARY L. MASTERS AND GEORGE H. CHAPIN, JR.

Miss Mary Louise Masters, second daughter of Col. Hibbert B. Masters, of West Seventh street, and George H. Chapin, Jr., of Boston, were married Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's father in the presence of a large and fashionable throng of guests from this city, New York, Brooklyn and many distant points. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur R. Kinsolving, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal church, Brooklyn, where the bride was formerly a communicant.

The bride was gowned in chiffon cloth, trimmed with point lace and she carried a court bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Adelle Masters, as maid-of-honor, who wore a gown of pink crepe de chine, and Miss Minna D. Behr, of Brooklyn, as bridesmaid, whose gown was of Dresden silk. Both the maid-of-honor and bridesmaid carried bunches of Killarney roses.

The best man was E. Copeland Lang, of Boston, and the ushers were William Vanderbilt, of Brooklyn; Charles Knickerbocker, of Chicago; Earl B. Perry, of New York, and John Harold Foster, of Witham, Mass.

The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, palms, ferns *and potted plants, there being a pro*fusion of flowers in the parlor, reception room and hallway. The prevailing colors in the parlor were pink and white, while green and pink predominated in the other rooms.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at 5:30 o'clock, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Chapin departed on a wedding journey. Upon their return they will reside in the suburbs of Boston. Both the bride and groom belong to old and distinguished families. The groom, who is a graduate of Harvard University, is connected with one of the oldest real estate firms in Boston and is socially prominent. The bride formerly lived in Brooklyn, where she was a favorite in society circles. She was the recipient of an unusually large collection of gifts of use and great value. The exchange of handsome gifts among the members of the bridal party was a pleasant feature of the occasion.

WEST END GIRL WEDS GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE

MISS MARY SHIMER BRIDE OF BENJAMIN MARTIN, JR., OF WASHINGTON.

Miss Mary Daisy Shimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shimer, was married Wednesday afternoon to Benjamin Martin, Jr., of Washington, D. C. The wedding was held at the bride's home, 852 West Fifth street, before a large gathering of friends and relatives. The house was prettily decorated with potted plans and cut flowers.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, at 5 o'clock. Miss Shimer was attended by Miss Mildred Tyrell and George Martin, a brother of the groom, was best man. As the bridal party entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, Miss Emily Brackman, of Newark, played the bridal wedding march on the piano. The bride was given away by her father.

The bride's gown was of silk Batiste, trimmed with duchesse lace; she wore a spray of orange blossoms in her hair and carried a cluster of white roses. Miss Tyrell was gowned in white satin, trimmed with applique and carried a white ostrich feather fan.

A reception followed the ceremony. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for an extended honeymoon tour. They will make their home in Washington, where the groom is employed in one of the government departments.

ADIEU.

Good-bye, dainty peekaboo!
Guess it's twenty-three for you.
Yet, this much I will avow,
Speaking boldly, here and now,
You have played a happy role,
Giving pleasure, as a whole,
Both to Maids who wore you and
Many men throughout the land.
Poets, too, have sung of you,
Ventilated peekaboo,
Paragraphs had their say,
Waxing pertinent and gay.
Posing pictures, too, and there,
Spoke harsh words—as if you care!
You were talked, both up and down,
Winning fame and great renown.
You were honored by the bugs,
Biting where the suitor hugs.
You were voted a golden theme,
Half a garment, half a dream,
Waking envy in the mind
Of us wilting human kind,
Wreaking havoc in men's hearts,
Who observed by fits and starts,
Stirring up a deal of bliss
That a fellow couldn't miss.
Yet, the season's changed, and so,
Now it's time for you to go,
On your way, but promise to Come again, sweet peekaboo.
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

LEFT HIM $40,000 "TO USE IN LORD'S SERVICE"

Wealthy Missouri Woman Bequeaths Big Sum to Benjamin T. Fawcett in Trust.

A BRETHREN WORKER

Plainfielder Met Benevolent Woman Two Years Ago—Left Like Sum to Another.

According to the provisions of the will of Mrs. Eleanor Hood, a wealthy Christian woman, who died at her home at Webster Groves, near St. Louis, a few weeks ago, Benjamin T. Fawcett, of Washington avenue, the borough, and William H. Coppard, a travelling man of Evansville, Ind., have each been left $40,000 to be used by them as they think best "in the service of the Lord." The bequests are not of a personal nature, but are to be used for the spread of the Gospel, and both Mr. Fawcett and Mr. Coppard will act in the capacity of trustees in making use of the money as directed by Mrs. Hood.

Mrs. Hood was a member of the Brethren and for a great many years had attended the meetings of that religious society. She had known Mr. Coppard for a number of years, too, being actively engaged and identified with the same religious work. It was two years ago that Mrs. Hood became acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Fawcett, while they were visiting in Chicago. They met at one of the meetings of the Brethren and Mrs. Hood became greatly interested in the religious work being done by Mr. Fawcett in the East. It was no doubt largely through her knowledge of the work being done by Mr. Fawcett and Mr. Coppard that she selected them to make use of a portion of her great wealth. Besides she had but few near relatives. She remembered them generously in her will and then decided to set aside $80,000 for religious purposes.

While Mrs. Hood possessed great wealth and owned a handsome home at Webster Groves, she lived a plain and simple life, devoting as much of her time and strength as possible to the advancement of her religious principles. Her husband died about ten years ago. He, too, was identified with the Brethren and up to the time of his death was an active member of that society.

According to the laws of Missouri it will be almost a year before the money will go to Mr. Fawcett and Mr. Coppard, as the usual nine months' notice to persons having any claim against the estate must be given.

When inquiry was made at the home of Mr. Fawcett concerning the matter the members of the family were a little reticent about talking of it, but did not hesitate to confirm the story. Mr. Fawcett has known Mr. Coppard a little less than two years. The former is engaged in the linen business in New York as an inspoter and Mr. Coppard being a traveling salesman they met in New York. Neither of the men are relatives of Mrs. Hood.

RECEPTION TO OLDEST MEMBER

W. C. T. U. Honors Mrs. Mahala Sims as Earnest and Faithful Worker.

In honor of Mrs. Mahala Sims, who is the oldest member of the organization, a reception was held in the W. C. T. U. rooms Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance of White Ribboners who came to congratulate the aged member who is nearing her ninetieth year. Despite her years, Mrs. Sims enjoys excellent health and her faculties are unusually good. She thoroughly enjoyed the affair and entered heartily into the festivities.

During the reception Mrs. T. M. Tomlinson, president of the Union, and other members, related helpful incidents in the life of Mrs. Sims, telling of her devotion and good work for the cause of temperance. There was also an informal programme of music.

An hour was devoted to sociability and the serving of cake and ice cream. A feature was a birthday cake, made and presented to Mrs. Sims by Mrs. M. C. Dobbins.

PASTOR'S RECEPTION.

Congregation Meets With Rev. Chas. E. Herring.

Under the auspices of the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, the fall reception was tendered to Rev. Charles E. Herring, in the chapel of the church, last night. There was a large attendance and all enjoyed the informal programme provided for the occasion. During the evening Mrs. A. Korff's orchestra rendered an attractive programme of music.

The chapel was elaborately decorated for the reception with a profu*sion of cut flowers, greens and* potted plants. Mrs. David Young, president of the society, assisted by other women of the church, had charge of the affair, acting as a reception committee and serving refreshments.

GEORGE FELLER WEDS A SOMERVILLE GIRL

THE CEREMONY WITNESSED BY 100 FRIENDS FROM CITY AND BOROUGH.

In the presence of a large gathering of friends George Feller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Feller, of Pearl street, and Miss Anna Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rich, of Somerville, were married at the bride's home Wednesday. Rev. E. F. Koechli, former pastor of the German Reformed church in the borough, performed the ceremony. The guests included 100 friends from the city and borough who made the trip to and from Somerville by special trolley.

Miss Ella Rich, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Frank Feller, brother of the groom, was best man. The wedding march was played by B. A. Paroubek and Herbert Harold on the violin and piano. Pretty floral decorations were in all the rooms, those in the parlor being especially elaborate.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Feller left for Philadelphia on a wedding trip. At its conclusion they will make their home on Pearl street. The groom is employed by John B. Partridge, of Netherwood, and is a member of the Arion Social Club and other organizations.

MISS MAY ETTA CARR NOW MRS. HARRY WILLIAMS

FORMER PLAINFIELDER WEDDED AT NEWARK LAST NIGHT.

Miss May Etta Carr, daughter of David Carr, and Harry Dunbar Williams, son of Mrs. Kate Williams, formerly of this city, but now of Roselle Park, were married Wednesday at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's father in Newark. Rev. D. W. Lusk, of Newark, performed the ceremony. There were guests from this city, New York, Hartford, Conn., Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Somerville. Outside of the relatives of the two families only the single friends of the couple were invited.

The bride was gowned in silk crepe de chine, trimmed with baby Irish lace and chiffon. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Anna Riley, as bridesmaid, whose gown was of lavender silk mull, trimmed with taffeta. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and the bridesmaid a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Henry Q. Hessel and the wedding march from Lohengrin, was played by Arthur Lee Holland, both being business associates of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held and the bride and groom received the congratulations of all. Mr. and Mrs. Williams left last night for a short wedding journey and upon their return will reside at 217 Chestnut street, Roselle Park. They will be home to friends after October 14.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leifke, of West Front street, and has been a frequent visitor here, where she has many friends. The groom is employed in the Thompson & Bedford department of the Standard Oil Company at the New York offices, where he holds an excellent position. He is a member of the vestry of the Holy Cross church and since the organization of the Plainfield Opera Company, has taken part in the several operas given by that company. Mr. Williams formerly lived in Hartford, Conn., and resided in this city three years. In August last he moved to Roselle Park.

DOREMUS NEARLY NAMED AGAINST EXPRESSED WISH.

Newark Republicans Select Walton S. Howarth as Candidate For Mayor.

The Republican City Convention, of Newark, nominated, last night, Walton S. Howarth, President of the Common Council, for Mayor. The nomination was made on the first formal ballot, it being apparent before the vote was announced that Howarth was far in the lead.

Mayor Henry M. Doremus was presented for renomination against his expressed desire, by Major Carl Lentz, but when 22 votes in the Electoral delegation were swung to him from Alexander M. Lindabury, and there was some indication that the Mayor would be named in spite of his declination, Major Lentz withdrew his name from the contest.

That left a clear field for Howarth and he was declared the nominee. The nominees before the convention were Howarth, Doremus, Lindabury, Dr. Herman C. H. Herald and Alderman Alfred N. Dalrymple.

For members of the Board of Works the convention nominated Alderman Henry J. Theis and former Alderman Harry C. Dodd.

Dr. Emil Gunther was named for Trustee of the Newark City Home.

Louis J. Beers presided at the convention.

AN OVERWHELMING DEFEAT

Regulars Swept Every County Defeating Colby Even in His Own District.

GOVERNOR'S REBUKE

"New Idea," He Says, Was Struggle for Office—Verdict Against Spectacular Politics.

The overwhelming defeat of the reform movement at Tuesday's primaries caused jubilation among the organization Republican leaders at the State House at Trenton yesterday. Governor Stokes was among those who were surprised at the completeness of the rout of Senator Colby and his forces. When asked to express his views as to the political effect of the primaries he said:

"The people have spoken, and their verdict is clear and unmistakable. I confess to some surprise at the unanimity of the result. There seems to be a strong reaction against 'spectacular politics.' Last year a movement was started in this State which declared for reform, and the people gave it their approval. This year that movement assumed a new phase. Confusion seized its councils. Its safe, conservative and disinterested advisers were unheeded, and it fell under the domination of a few, who appeared to be striving more for the realization of their personal aspirations than for the public good. When the New Idea apparently became the 'old idea' of a struggle for office, the people were as quick to condemn as they were a year ago to approve.

"The moral of the lesson is plain. The people want good government. They want a progressive, disinterested, conscientious reform, and they trust in the good faith of the Republican party to these ends.

"The responsibility of the victors is great. They must, without hesitation or cavil, continue the work of progress and improvement, of good government, and they must at all times preserve untrammelled and unhindered the right of the people to control their own affairs. This victory is the victory of party, therefore alone, and it must be used in their interests solely.

"The Republican party came into power as a reform party; it has retained power by faithful performance; it has responded quickly to wise public sentiment and enacted the popular will into law. It will not falter in the future, but will continue its good work and rise to higher purposes and higher ideals, and so long as it pursues this policy it will have the support of all good citizens."

So complete and sweeping was the machine victory that United States Senator John F. Dryden, who is seeking re-election and had figured as one of the potential factors in the State fight, will have easy sailing. There will be a general house-cleaning in the House of the Assembly, and not a single Colby Assemblyman will be returned.

Most of the interest centered upon Essex county—the home of Senator Dryden—where the opposition to him was most pronounced. It was hoped to discredit the Senator in his own home. There the results showed that Major Carl Lentz, the "boss," and his henchmen had secretly entrenched themselves and were able to "deliver the goods" when the time came. In this county the New Idea received its most telling setback, and Lentz got the upper hand to go into the county, city and Congress conventions with safe majorities of the delegates. Of more than four hundred delegates, the Colbyites are able to muster only about 170. Colby was defeated in his own district in West Orange.

In Hudson county Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson kept apace with his colleague, Lentz, and succeeded in getting large majorities both in the city and county conventions. Fagan was completely routed. In the 9th and 10th Congress districts he was also a winner. The colonel will be able to nominate twelve Assemblymen, a county supervisor and a surrogate. In the Jersey City convention he will have the naming of two candidates for the Board of Works.

Burlington county, with General H. Burd Grubb at the helm of the New Idea ship, returned an easy victory for the organization. Ex-Assemblyman George C. Wilder, the Colby choice for State Senator, went down to defeat at the hands of Samuel C. Robbins, also of the House. Mr. Robbins expects to have at least seventy delegates at the convention to be held Saturday. The Colbyites made their strongest showing in Burlington county in the towns of Riverton and Palmyra—the home of opposition to George N. Weemer, a member of the County Board of Taxation, by his own workers helped the New Idea men.

Ex-Assemblyman Alexander Fordyce, of Middlesex, who while in office, refused to do the bidding of "Boss" Strong, was overwhelmed by State Senator Jackson for the nomination as State Senator. Mr. Jackson, who is a "regular," and Mr. Fordyce has been waging an apparently fierce contest. The result was no surprise to the organization men, they declare. Jackson carried New Brunswick by a safe majority.

The "regulars" also administered defeat to their opponents in Bergen county and surprised them by capturing more than two-thirds of the delegates.

Morris county rejected the "New Idea" and Daniel S. Voorhees, the county boss, gathered additional laurels for himself and was among the first to report his county as safe to the leaders. Frederick R. Kellogg, of Morristown, was the Colby candidate for Assembly.

Reports from Union county showed the "regulars" had won at ease.

In Monmouth county the latest returns gave the Colbyites twenty-two of the 110 delegates.

State Senator Wood McKee, of Passaic county, defeated Assemblyman Henry Marelli, the Colby candidate for Senator. Yesterday's estimates gave the reformers fifty out of 216 delegates.

In Camden county the Colby followers, known as the Equal Rights Republicans, were completely showed that the "regulars" would be able to nominate all their candidates.

SUES YOUNG FIANCEE.

Old Man Says Girl Eloped and Took His Cash.

York, Pa., Sept. 28.—Twenty-one-year-old Sarah Ahland is the defendant in an embezzlement suit instituted by Edward M. Bissel, her former 60-year-old fiance.

It is alleged that after the plaintiff had purchased a diamond ring and a wedding trousseau for his intended bride she ran away with her admirer taking $115 of the old man's money. Miss Ahland left a note behind which read:

"I would rather be a young man's slave than an old man's darling any day. By-by, papa."

PERSONAL NOTES.

Mrs. Esther S. Damon, of Plymouth, Vermont, is the only living widow of any revolutionary soldier. She is 92 years old.

Dr. Jose de Aguilera, director of the Mexican Geological Survey, has been elected president of the International Geological Congress which has just been in session in Mexico City.

James Polnyard, the last direct surviving relative of Paul Revere, of Revolutionary War fame, has just died at Taylorsville, Ky. He was a great-grandson of Revere, and was 76 years old.

Sarah Bernhardt says Patti is foolish to retire if she can sing at all. "This would be the time she is admired," says Bernhardt, "and I do not mean to retire when I am 70 years old if I am still able to act."

Lord Radstock is notable as one of the few members of the peerage who on at once takes an interest in religious work, but who delights to sermons themselves. He has preached frequently both in London and the provinces.

Cleon C. Shoff, of Cleveland, has undertaken the gigantic task of conducting a class for the training of office boys in the boys' department of the city's Y. M. C. A. He will teach them proper deportment and office duties.

The new president of the South Dakota University at Vermillion, is a well-known educator and has been connected with Western colleges for the past eighteen years. He is 65 years old, and is a graduate of Cornell College.

Prof. Dugald C. Jackson, head of the department of electrical engineering at the University of Wisconsin, has been elected professor of electrical engineering and head of the electrical engineering department in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Century in 1907.

The fiction of The Century for the new magazine year is to include novels by Mary Hartwell Hodgson and Elizabeth Robins, besides the "Running Water" of A. E. W. Mason, which will continue for a number of months. Mrs. Burnett's new story will be called "The Shuttle" and is described as an international novel of English and American life. "Come and Find Me" of Elizabeth Robins will have its scenes laid in California and the far North. The Century in 1907 will have a strong Civil War thread in its preparation are a series of articles on "How the Civil War Was Financed" by Ellis Paxson Oberholzer; an account of "Lincoln in the Telegraph Office" by David Homer Bates, and General O. O. Howard's recollections of distinguished men, Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, Grant, Lee, and others. An important historical and literary study by Theodore Roosevelt will be a feature of an early number of The Century.

Heard After Meeting.

"How is it, Br'er Williams," said an old deacon, "dat you preach f'um de Bible today, w'en ev'ery body could see you wuz a-holdin' it upside down?"

"You mus'n inquire too close into de mysteries er Providence," replied Brother Williams, "but dis much I'll tell you: No matter how you look at de Bible, hit's de same thing all roun'd."—Atlanta Constitution.

Jealous.

Mother — What's Tommy been fighting about?

Little Sister—Oh, he's mad because Jimmy Smith has to wear spectacles, and he doesn't.—Detroit Free Press.

Charles Eoff, of Crescent Avenue, who has just returned from a four month's trip abroad, has decided not to return to Lea!'s School. He will enter a business college in New York.

COUNT YCONVENTION ON

Perkins, Tillman and Moxon to Be Named By Republicans For Assembly.

LITTLE OPPOSITION

Colbyites Control Only 26 of the 140 Delegates—Smith to Call Convention to Order.

Three Assemblymen and a coroner will be nominated at the Union county Republican convention at Elizabeth this afternoon. The convention is called to order at 2 o'clock, the place of meeting being Jacob's theatre. According to accepted custom, the county chairman, Frank H. Smith, will call the convention to order. The secretary of the county committee will read the call, and then a presiding officer will be chosen. To whom this honor will be accorded will not be known until after the county executive committee meeting just before the convention is called to order.

Mayor Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, the floor leader in the lower house at Trenton, and Peter Tillman, of Rahway, will be renominated for the Assembly. It is not settled who the third nominee will be put in more than likely that John R. Moxon, of Elizabeth, will be chosen. There is no fight over the coronership and anybody that wants the honor can have it for the asking.

There are 140 delegates in the county. Of this number only 26 favor the Colbyites Assembly candidates, W. N. Runyon, of this city; Benjamin Fleuekhaus, of Summit, and William P. Groves, of Elizabeth. Fourteen of these delegates came from Plainfield, which is entitled to twenty-six delegates in all; two come from Summit, which has eight delegates; two come from Rahway, which has eleven delegates; six come from Elizabeth and sixty-two delegates, and one comes from New Providence, where the regulars put up no candidate.

Very little interest is taken in the convention inasmuch as the result is a foregone conclusion. As in all other counties of the State, the Colbyites will cut no figure inasmuch as they made no formidable showing at the primaries.

MISS DEARBORN IS ONCE MORE A BRIDE.

Divorced Wife of Conchman Is Married at Her Mother's Home.

Miss Cornelia Hatch Dearborn, daughter of the late Dr. Henry Dearborn, of Montclair, and John Holland, of Boston, were married Wednesday by Rev. William Morgan, at the home of the bride's mother, No. 53 Orange road, Montclair. Miss Marie Deververa, of Manhattan, was maid of honor. The bridegroom was unattended. The ceremony was private, it being the wish of the bride's family to avoid publicity, owing to the notoriety occasioned a year ago when Miss Dearborn, who is about twenty-three years old and good-looking, married Henry Gill, a fine-looking coachman in the employ of the family of a friend at Concord, N. H.

The couple eloped to Boston. After living together about ten days, Gill informed his bride that he had another wife and three children. She immediately left him and went to her home in Montclair. Later she secured a divorce from Gill in Brooklyn, the decree being granted by the late Supreme Court Justice Wilmot Smith. Mrs. Gill was allowed to resume her maiden name. What became of Gill is not known.

The bride is slightly lame and younger than her new husband. They will live in Boston.

Washing Honor Roll.

Following is the roll of honor for September in the Watchung, N. J., school: Primary grade—Anna Riester, David Riester, Helen Schmidt, Daisy Schmidt, Richard Schmidt, Isabel Dietz, Marion Bartels, Catherine Bartels, Clara Mobus, Emma Mobus, Helen Mobus, Elva Meyers, Edna Titus, Olive Titus, Grace Titus, Celia Wormser, Alice Willis, Hippolyte Texier, Charlie Snoden, Emile Perret; grammar grade—Edith Wersing, Charlie Wersing, Mary Texier, Lorentine Texier, Gertrude Willis, Clara Kelm, Elsie Schmidt, Clarence Schmidt, Marie Jensen, Ruth Johansen, Ferdinand Blume, Minnie Blume, Lottie Gunn, Victor Clementz, Theodore Wormser, Henry Reister, Emile Racine, Raymond Kellogg, Edward Bodin.

THE UNEXPECTED.

Pa your subscription
When it falls due,
For the poor editor's
Pleasures are few.
Hand him a dollar,
Boost him a bit,
Then you will see him
Fall in a fit.

—Birmingham Age-Herald.

P. H. S. Girls' Association.

The Girls' Athletic Association of the Plainfield High School held a meeting yesterday at the morning assembly and elected these officers: President, Eleanor VanTuyle; vice-president, Mildred Berry; secretary and treasury, Elizabeth Pound.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, Sept. 6, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present—20.

The minutes of the previous meeting (reading of bills being omitted) were, on motion, approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

From the Union County Board of Taxation, four communications, as follows, viz.:

Aug. 29, 1906.

Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen—We have consulted with our attorney relative to assessing the grounds upon which the county buildings are located, and he has decided that the law requires that the land must be assessed by the local assessor.

Yours truly,
C. C. Pollard, Chairman.

On motion of Freeholder Cady, received and placed on file.

Sept. 6, 1906.

Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—We beg to say to you on Aug. 29 that the grounds upon which the county buildings are located would be taxed by the local assessor. In order that the record may show reason for this tax we would state that the grounds have been assessed for $41,800.

Yours truly,
Union County Board of Taxation,
Per Thomas Hanna, Sec'y.

On motion of Freeholder Cregar, received and placed on file.

Aug. 29, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders:

Gentlemen—Owing to the radical change in the tax laws of this State, and the duties imposed upon the County Board of Taxation recently constituted in this county, we find considerable difficulty in arriving at the actual value of various properties within the county, and the purpose of more satisfactorily doing the work imposed upon us, we deem it best to employ the services of capable and impartial person to assist in estimating the value of factory and other properties which are out of the ordinary dwelling and business properties, we realize, too, that we are not authorized to employ such assistance without your approval.

We beg to refer you to the third section of Chapter 120 of the laws of 1906.

Trusting that you will grant us the request herein expressed, we beg to remain, very respectfully yours,
Union County Board of Taxation.
Per Thomas Hanna, Secretary.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

Sept. 6, 1906.

Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen—In order to carry out the purpose of the act creating this board for the proper equalization of taxes, we find it necessary to have proper clerical help, which can be decided, subject to the approval of this board, to hire an extra clerk experienced in the work of taxation for one month at the salary of $125, and respectfully ask this board to appropriate the same. Very respectfully,

Peter H. Meisel, Chairman.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee on bridge, St. George avenue, Rahway:

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 6, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your committee on repairs to bridge on St. George's avenue, Rahway, near Jaques avenue, would respectfully report that the repairs will cost $315 instead of $300 as heretofore authorized.

Your committee would therefore request an additional appropriation of $15.

(Signed) Adolph H. Gruener, W. A. Westphal, Henry Krouse, Dennis S. Murphy, Committee.

Freeholder Wahl moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the committee on bridge, Westfield, N. J.:

Sept. 6, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee would respectfully report that they have examined the bridge and find it to be an old wooden bridge, laid on logs in place of abutments. The present structure is dilapidated and in decay, and in view of this fact, and the bridge being in close proximity to the opening of adjoinihl property for building, we would respectfully recommend that a new steel bridge of sufficient width to allow for stone or concrete walls be built, the bridge to be built diagonally, to follow the general line of the stream, and to be 16 feet in width by 60 feet in length. The cost of the bridge not to exceed the sum of $1,400.00.

(Signed) Joseph Perry, Adolph H. Gruener, W. A. Westphal, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and recommendation be adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By committee on bridge over Morse' Creek, Linden Township:

Sept. 6, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen — Your committee would respectfully report that they have the plans and specifications drawn, and have received bids for the work of reconstructing the southerly wall, and of making repairs to the northerly wall of this bridge and have awarded the c ontract for the work to the lowest bidder, Albert Weber, of Linden, N. J., at $975.00.

The appropriation asked for and authorized for this work by the board was $500. Owing, however, to difficulties in construction, much of the work being under high-tide level, the lowest bid was as above stated, $975.

Your committee would request that the board authorize the additional expenditure, viz., $175, and confirm the award of the contract by the committee.

(Signed) Henry Krouse, George B. Kline, John Robison, Committee.

Freeholder Cay moved that the report be received, the additional amount asked for be granted, and the award of contract be confirmed, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the Committee on Bridge over Van Winkle's Brook, at Springfield, N. J.:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, N. J.:

Gentlemen — Your committee would respectfully report that, owing to the building operations near the bridge, it is desirable to extend the bridge out on the northeast side, about four feet, to the true side line of the county road, and build a new iron fence in connection with the improvement. Also to lay a concrete sidewalk over the bridge. The whole work to cost not more than $400.

(Signed) Peter H. Meisel, S. P. T. Wilbur, W. H. Swain, Dennis S. Murphy, Committee.

Freeholder Krouse moved that the report be received and the work authorized as stated, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the Committee on the "Simpson" Claim for Damages, etc.

Sept. 6, 1906.

To the Board of Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen—The undersigned committee to whom was referred the matter of Simpson claim for damages alleged to have occurred by reason of the breaking through of a plank on the bridge over Passaic River at Millburn, on bridge being a county bridge between Union and Morris counties, would respectfully report that they have investigated the matter and find that Simpson is not withstanding the original claim of said Simpson for said damages amounted to seven hundred dollars, that a proposition has been made to accept one hundred dollars in full settlement, one-half of the same to be paid by Morris county and one-half by Union county but that we have ascertained that a satisfaction and release to Union county has been executed for delivery upon the payment of said amount of fifty dollars and being advised by the county attorney that notwithstanding the collection of said claim by suit by said Simpson was doubtful, but that under the circumstances the county in his opinion, would not be justified in contesting so long as the matter could be settled for the amount above specified; we would therefore respectfully recommend that a warrant be drawn for said fifty dollars in full settlement of said claim.

Respectfully submitted,

Peter H. Meisel, Adolph H. Gruener, Joseph N. Perry, Committee on Legal Questions.

Freeholder Cady advised, W. R. Codington, County Attorney.

Freeholder Cladek moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By Freeholder Cady:

Whereas, By reason of the recent changes in the laws of this State, it is now necessary that the county of Union pay tax upon the lands owned by said county; and

Whereas, It is also necessary to make provisions for the additional expert and clerical help to the County Board of Taxation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee's report on appropriations, adopted May 31, 1906, be amended by adding to the County Board of Taxation, Joseph Kingston $508|20, T. W. T. Kirk Co. $276, Manus Johnson $286, Fred Ayers $78.02, $73.38, $68.75, $20.22, Arthur Bowers, $68.75, Wm. Avery $250, J. L. Bauer $27.50, George Ball $100, The W. T. Kirk Co. $620, Wm. Paynter $685, J. L. Bauer $45, John W. Hudson $17, F. J. Hubbard $45.55, James G. Moore $20, The W. T. Kirk Co. $73, James G. Moore $1.-, $99, Wm. Young $9.28.

Report was moved to adjourn, which was carried, and the Director declared the Board adjourned until Thursday, Oct. 4, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

INSURANCE ON PLAYS.

If You Don't See the Show You Get a Premium.

New York, Sept. 27.—Plans are being discussed for the formation of an insurance company to protect against loss when postponements are made in big theatrical productions.

It will be the object of the Actors' Liability Company, as the concern will be called, to protect actors, managers and the public and eventually to insure managers, actors and authors against the failure of plays. The company will insure the public in such a way that they can be absolutely assured when they buy a theatre ticket that they will either see the performance on the night for which the ticket is purchased or receive twice the amount of the purchase money.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

Plainfield Deeds Filed in Register's Office.

Carrie Dow et al. to Emma C. Baldwin, southwesterly side DeKalb avenue, 50 feet northwesterly of North avenue.....$1,500

Augustus L. C. Marsh to Edward J. Brookins, easterly side Hillside avenue, 254 feet southerly of Watchung avenue $1

Going to Russia.

Eric Moraller, of East Fourth street, has accepted an appointment to Y. M. C. A. work in St. Petersburg, Russia. He will sail for Europe next week. He graduate a graduate of the Y. M. C. A. training school at Springfield, Mass., and of De Pauw University.

Thirsty Weather.

"You have had quite enough beer now, Karl."

"Quite right, my dear. Waiter, bring me the wine list."—Fliegende Blatter.

PARTNERS IN A MIX-UP

Couln't Prove a Defendant Partner of Plaintiff Who Recovers Claim.

IN SOMERSET COURT

Frank Dealaman Wins Case Against Frederick Dealaman and John F. Mundy—Verdict for Plaintiff.

Before Justice Abram Q. Garretson and a jury in the Supreme Court at Somerville, Wednesday, an interesting case, in which a number of fine legal points were involved, was tried. The case was that of Frank L. Dealaman against John F. Mundy and Frederick W. Dealaman, partners, and the suit was to recover $858.57 for butchers' supplies sold the defendants by the plaintiff from October 15, 1902, to September 1, 1903. One of the defendants, John F. Mundy, filed a plea in the case alleging that the other defendant, Frederick W. Dealaman, was really in partnership with Frank L. Dealaman, the plaintiff, and should have sued with him for the sum due; that they had been in partnership in the wholesale business at the time Frederick W. Dealaman and John F. Mundy were partners in the retail business.

The plaintiff filed a replication to that plea, denying that Frederick W. Dealaman had been a partner with him in the wholesale butcher business at the time the goods were sold and delivered, but that he was the only one who had any interest in this claim.

The defendant produced William L. Smalley, Jr., to show that he had dealt with Frank L. Dealaman and Frederick W. Dealaman as partners in the wholesale butcher business during the period in question. The defense also produced a note for $200 signed by Frank L. Dealaman and Frederick W. Dealaman, during this period of time, which, it was claimed, showed they were in partnership. It was also proved that a butcher wagon had been purchased and lettered with the names of Frank L. Dealaman and Frederick W. Dealaman.

The contention of the plaintiff was that the note was the sole issue of the wholesale business and dealt with Mundy and Frederick W. Dealaman as partners, and that the debt had been recognized by Mundy on two occasions.

The jury, after a deliberation of half an hour, rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount. Former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer was counsel for the plaintiff and the defense was represented by Reed & Codington. All the parties to the suit live in North Plainfield.

GEN. M'COOK SICK AND DEPENDENT ON CHARITY.

Commander of Cavalry Forces Under Sherman in "March to the Sea" Is in Chicago Hospital.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Cooped up in a little ward of the Baptist Hospital with three other patients, General Edwin McCook, commander of the cavalry division in the "march to the sea," and for eight years Governor of the Territory of Colorado, is suffering the tortures of inflammatory rheumatism. Racked with pain and financially helpless, the famous commander is dependent on the fraternal help which his old army comrades give, but he is far from despondent over his trials. For six weeks the general has been confined to the hospital ward. He is seventy-three years old, his right eye is sightless and his right arm is useless, but he is still buoyed up with the indomitable courage and the fire and spirit that carried him to the head of Sherman's cavalry in the sixties.

General McCook is a son of Dr. John McCook, a brother of former Congressman McCook, of New York, and a nephew of Major Daniel McCook, who sent eight sons to the Union army, three of whom were killed, while four of them attained the rank of general. Major McCook himself was killed in battle by Morgan's guerillas.

General E. N. McCook went to the Civil War with an Ohio cavalry regiment that became a part of the Army of the Cumberland. His military life in the many campaigns in which his troops were engaged carried him through various promotions to a general's rank, and it was as commander of the cavalry forces that formed the right flank of General Sherman's army that he participated in the "march to the sea." After the war he was Governor of the Territory of Colorado until it became the "Centennial State" in 1876. He was made United States Minister to Hawaii.

Justice Port's ... COUNTY
Two prominent ... ied ... of young men are to ... ublisher of tober. Leslie H. ... ed Tuesday, the Lakewood ... Court Smith and a son of ... be married at
J. J. Franklin ... tober 18 from East Orange ... Mildred, of Helen Oa ... ember of the Ocean
Manahawk ... of Taxation, will be County ... Leah French, daughter marcia ... ate County Clerk Lee of ... New Orcha, on October
Pr ...
24 ...

HITCH OVER PAY RAISE AGAIN POSTPONE "M. O."

Petition of City Employees May Not Come Up For Voters Approval.

COUNCIL MAY ACT

Mr. Tyler's Argument Results in the Matter Being Laid Over Until Adjourned Meeting.

It is doubtful whether the question of raising the salaries of the regular firemen and policemen, as proposed, under the provisions of a Legislative enactment, will be voted upon by the people at the election to be held November 6.

There was evidently a little misunderstanding if seems on the provisions of the enactment, for it appears to be the impression that if the voters decided in favor of an increase that it would be optional with the city fathers to put the act in force here. This is not the case, according to Mr. Tyler, who explained at the Common Council meeting last Monday that if the vote was in favor of the increase, it would be compulsory with that body to give the raise and that by so doing their action would take the matter forever out of the hands of that body.

The remarks of Mr. Tyler followed the presentation of a resolution by Mr. Mellick, chairman of the fire committee, that provision be made to submit to the voters at he election to be held on November 6 the question whether they favored an increase of pay to the regular members of the fire department, by having the question "for" or "against" an increase of pay to fire department employers printed on the ballots.

Mr. Tyler stated that he was away when the question was first presented. He did not want to be understood as being opposed to an effort to increase the pay of the firemen or policemen, but he said that the adoption of the act of the Legislature in the particular case under discussion would mean that the pay shall be permanent and that it would take the matter out of the hands of the Common Council for all time.

It was not like the question of voting for a municipal water works, Mr. Tyler said, a pure matter of administrative policy. It would take the power out of the hands of the Common Council, preventing any future increase or decrease in salaries. Mr. Tyler argued that the members have the same power to fix salaries as the Legislative enactment provides, and it seemed to him that the act is a joker put up for the occasion.

Continuing Mr. Tyler said: "Last year I was pretty close to the police department and I know that there existed a feeling between the police and the firemen as to salaries. It is important that he police committee through the Common Council regulate these salaries. We labored a long time over the salary question last year and the Chief asked for the present arrangement of salaries in the police department. He favored it. I speak of this to show the administrative policy. The Legislative act gives us nothing we cannot do now, whereas its adoption here takes away the power of the Common Council and adopts one rigid rule. While I am not opposed to an increase in pay, I do think it would be most unfortunate to take advantage of the act."

Mr. Mellick in reply said that he was sorry that Mr. Tyler was not present when the question was first introduced, for he agreed with a great deal that he had said on the subject. Personally he favored the increase in salaries for the police and firemen. In the case of the firemen it would mean a total annual increase of $2,100 in the pay roll. Mr. Mellick said that if he was assured that the Common Council would favor the increase he would vote against the resolution to put the question before the people.

Councilman Frank Randolph, chairman of the police committee, was of the opinion that by allowing the people to vote on the question it would relieve the members of any responsibility for if the scheme should be adopted it would not commit the members to grant the increase if they thought it unwise.

When Mr. Tyler assured Mr. Randolph that such was not the case, that if the question was adopted the Common Council would be compelled to give the increase, it was decided to take a recess to further consider the matter. No recess was taken after Mr. Meilick withdrew his resolution, which was still before the Common Council for a vote.

During recess the members thought best, under the circumstances, to lay the matter over for the present, consultation with the corporation counsel, and Mr. Randolph, chairman of the police committee, stated, when the members reconvened that he had intended offering a similar resolution to the one presented by Mr. Mellick, on behalf of the policemen, but that after the consideration of the matter he would agree to having it laid over until more information was secured.

Sounded Grand to Her.

He told her the old, old story,
And caused her heart to stir.
That tale was a blaze of glory,
For it was new to her.

Councilmanic Committee in Lengthy Report States Why Matter Should be Deferred.

INVESTIGATION FIRST

Preferable to Vote On Scheme at Special Election When All the Facts are Known.

Keeping the promise he made several days ago, Councilman Herbert Buxton, chairman of the committee on public affairs, presented a report at the October meeting of the Common Council, Monday, regarding the question of municipal ownership of the water supply. The report, which was signed by all the members of the committee, except Mr. Daniel, who was not present, is as follows:

"The Public Affairs Committee beg to report that a conference of the Council was held during last week, at which time the question of controlling Plainfield's water supply was discussed at length. It must be remembered that in the early spring, by a majority vote of the members of the Council, it was decided that at that time no action should be taken toward a special election on the subject, the consensus of opinion at that probability the opportunity for the voters of Plainfield to express their opinion as to whether Plainfield should or should not own its own water supply would be given at the fall election to be held in November. Since the date of this meeting it is more clearly understood by the members of this committee that if the election should be in favor of adopting the principles of the act, the city would thereupon immediately have power to purchase the present water works, or to condemn the present water works, or to build its own water works, and would also have power to borrow for any such purpose not exceeding $1,500,000 and to issue bonds therefor not exceeding five per centum per annum.

"Attention has been called to this point in an opinion recently given by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, and this committee concludes that it is unwise to place in the control of the Common Council for an unlimited period such power, which does not expire with this Council or next year's Council, but continues operative forever.

"In view of this fact, the committee will not ask for the vote of the people without first being in a position to submit facts and figures such as to enable a voter to intelligently decide as to whether in his judgment Plainfield should or should not own its water supply. The Public Affairs Committee believe that opportunity to vote on this question should not be afforded the citizens until such information can be and is procured, therefore no effort will be made as far as the committee is concerned to place the matter before the people at the coming election.

"Upon inquiry it is learned that a complete vote is not easily obtained on a special question when voted upon at a regular election. When this question was voted upon at the last election, many people, particularly those voting at polling places where the voting machine was used, forgot to cast their vote, therefore a more thorough expression of the people's will can be obtained at a special election.

"Within the next thirty days a decision will be reached by the committee as to its proposed action regarding this water question. At the present time there is every reason to believe that a general committee will be appointed consisting of legal advisors, engineers and public citizens, to make a thorough investigation into the entire question in order that the taxpayers of Plainfield may know just what the proposition of municipal ownership of the water supply will mean. The Common Council will be asked to appropriate a sufficient sum to meet the cost of such an investigation. This committee asks that the members of the Council and the citizens of Plainfield be patient, and believe that in due time energetic work will be accomplished, with the end in view that the taxpayers of our city will accept with satisfaction the efforts of the Common Council in relation to the municipal ownership of Plainfield's water supply."

TRINITY ENDEAVORERS.

Elect Officers and Vote to Hold Meetings on Sunday Night.

Officers were elected Monday by the Trinity Reformed church Christian Endeavor Society as follows: President, William Krimey; first vice president, Miss Mamie M. Poltwer; second vice president, Miss Harriet Randall; corresponding secretary, Miss May Randolph; recording secretary, Miss Eliza Dufford.

It was voted, almost unanimously, to continue Sunday as the meeting night. The Sunday meetings have been tried for three months.

At the next sociable, the date for which has not been set, annual reports will be read.

Real Estate Bargain.

Charles Westphal has purchased a house on East Third street from Joseph Angerbauer. The consideration is said to have been $2,200.

Falling Under the Wheels Peter C. Blimm Has His Life Crushed Out.

AT SMALLEY QUARRY

Team Afterward Ran Down Hill and Landed in Confused Heap With Plucky Italian Beneath.

Falling beneath a heavy wagon loaded with stone, the combined weight aggregating four tons, Peter C. Blimm, of Somerset street, was instantly killed at Smalley's quarry in the "Notch," Monday afternoon. One wheel of the vehicle passed directly over his head, crushing it like an egg shell, while another went over the chest, though life was extinct before the second reached him. He was picked up within a few minutes after the accident happened but it was seen that medical attention was not needed.

Blimm had been working for John C. Cooper and went to the quarry shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a load of stone to be used in the construction of A. G. Hooley's barn on Roerler avenue. He secured what he wanted and started down the decline from the quarry proper to the weighing scales, the descent at this point being very steep. It is the custom to have two men on all wagons, one to do the driving and the other to hold a brake. The foreman placed Frank Gonzetti, an Italian, on Blimm's vehicle for this purpose, and to all appearances they were all right as they moved away.

They had gone but a short distance when Blimm's seat, a spring-board affair placed loosely on top of the stones, slipped forward and he was seen to fall beneath the vehicle. Gonzetti was standing on the pole and narrowly escaped being knocked from his perch, the driving was suddenden. The horses became frightened and with the reins dangling at their heels they started on a mad run, the Italian pluckily sticking to his post and doing everything possible to lock the wheels.

A team of horses belonging to the quarry and, in charge of Charles Johnson were on the weighing scales as the runaways came plunging down. Johnson leaped on of harm's way but his cart was struck, the impact throwing the Cooper rig over an embankment ten feet high. Horses, wagon and stone landed in a confused heap with Gonzetti beneath, but to the great surprise of the on*lookers he emerged* without a scratch. The animals were quickly cleared from the wreckage and it was found that they had also escaped.

Johnson and other quarry men hurried back to where Blimm had fallen and they saw at a glance that he was beyond aid. Mayor Boehm was one of the first to reach the scene and at his instruction the proper authorities were notified in order have the body removed. He also conducted a strict investigation and found that the accident was due to no carelessness on the part of the employees, every precaution having been taken to get the wagon down safely. The slipping of the seat was no doubt due to the steepness of the hill.

Blimm was thirty-five years old, unmarried, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Blimm, the former the well-known hotel proprietor. He had been a resident of Plainfield practically all his life and was widely known in this borough. He is survived by three brothers, Jacob C., Jacob, Jr., and Harry, and two sisters, Mrs. Edward Clark and Miss Katherine Blimm.

NEWARK FIRM GETS STORM SEWER CONTRACT.

Harrison Construction Co. to Build Section to Richmond Street Sewer.

The Harrison Construction Company, of Newark, was awarded the contract for building the proposed further extension to the Richmond street storm sewer, running from Richmond street to East Firth street, and North avenue, at the October meeting of the Common Council, last night. The contract price is about $2,500. There was only one other bid, that of W. B. Travell, of this city, father of Miss W. Travell, principal of the Plainfield High School.

Through an oversight in not placing advertisements in the local papers, Chairman Gloak, of the street committee, was obliged to postpone to receiving of bids for the proposed southside sanitary sewer. The advertisements were placed in New York trade journals, but the ordinance requires that they shall be inserted in the local newspapers, which was overlooked. On motion by Mr. Gloak the five bids received were returned to the bidders with the explanation as stated. The members took as adjournment to Monday night, October 23, at which time another attempt will be made to receive bids.

Patternmakers to Gather.

The local division of Branch 1, Association of Patternmakers, will hold a smoker and general gathering in this city on October 20. Delegations will be in attendance from New York, Easton, Philadelphia, Yonkers and Newark. The details of the affair are being arranged by a committee.

CITY SCHOOL BOARD HAS ROUTINE SESSION

ONLY MATTERS OF MINOR IMPORTANCE CONSIDERED AT MEETING.

The city Board of Education transacted little beyond routine business at its regular monthly meeting Monday night. It was resolved that part of the city flag pole that was taken down recently had been donated the board and that it is in condition to be erected. It will be placed on the school grounds on the Arlington avenue side.

C. T. Waring informed the board that bicycle sheds for the use of the High School pupils could be erected on his property, providing they were placed back of his automobile house. In altering the plans for the new school so that it would come within the appropriation, the bicycle room was left out and as yet the pupils have no accommodations for their wheels. Mr. Waring's offer was acknowledged but no definite action was taken.

On motion of Mr. Abbott, $2,000 was order borrowed in anticipation of taxes and the appointment of Miss M. Rachael Best as cooking teacher was confirmed. She is a graduate of the Pratt Institute and has been teaching in Brooklyn. Superintendent Simmons announced the school terms for the coming year as follows:

Fall term ends Friday, December 21; winter term begins Monday, January 7, 1907; winter term ends Friday, March 29; spring term begins Monday, April 15; spring term ends Thursday, June 20; fall term begins Tuesday, September 10; fall term ends Friday, December 20; winter term begins January 6, 1908.

OPERATIC CLUB PLANS 2 OPERAS; 2 CONCERTS

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED—A CHORUS OF SIXTY VOICES.

The first fall meeting of the Plainfield Operatic Club was held at the Camera Club rooms, Monday, and judging by the large attendance and enthusiasm shown, the coming season will be a successful one. The club has lost some members who have moved from the city, but the vacancies will be filled in their place and there is every assurance of having the full chorus of sixty voices.

A noticeable change decided upon was to give two operas and two concerts during the season. The first opera will be "The Chimes of Normandy," to be given on some date during the week beginning February 14. The other opera will be chosen later. One concert will be given this year before the first opera, and the second concert will be given between the first and second opera. An attractive and varied programme of selections will be rendered at the concerts. It was also decided to give the operas at the New Plainfield theatre and the concerts forever the executive committee thought best.

The same officers will govern the club this season and the same rules will apply to the organization. Wm. Holmes will have full charge of the training of the chorus and soloists and for the rendition of the operas and concerts. The club will meet every Monday night for the present at the Camera Club rooms. The first rehearsal last night of "The Chimes of Normandy" was very satisfactory.

EXEMPTS TO PARADE WITH SILVER CARRIAGE

PLAINFIELD VETERAN FIREMEN TO TAKE PART IN ELIZABETH OUTING.

At a meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association, Monday night, the members finally decided that they would take part in the parade of the Elizabeth firemen on Thursday, October 11. The famous silver hose carriage will be given as thorough an overhauling as can be done without any great expenditure of money, and it will be seen in the procession with a good-sized escort of Exempts. Because of lack of funds, no music will be engaged by the Plainfielders but it is thought the Elizabethians will put them near a band or drum corps.

The association has had the invitation to take part in the parade under discussion for several months and it was thought at first that it could not be accepted because of the expense that would be entailed. The silver carriage has not been in public for a long time and the members wanted it put in first class shape before they took it out. A committee looked the costly relic over and it was then learned that by general polishing it could be made presentable. This will be done and the favorable action to parade was taken last night.

Talked to W. C. T. U.

Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of Faith Chapel, had charge of a well-attended meeting of the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon. His talk was much enjoyed.

COUNCILMANIC ROUTINE

Many Petitions Considered, Some Being Granted While Others Are Referred.

REPORTS ARE FILED

Building Inspector Granted Twenty-eight Permits and Street Commissioner Sixty-seven During September.

There was a great amount of detail business of more or less importance discussed at the October meeting of the Common Council Monday, and lengthy one. All the members, except Councilman Daniel, were present.

George Mehl asked for permission to build an extension to his house, 137 West Second street, and on motion of Councilman Mellick the request was granted.

Assessor Charles H. Hand petitioned for permission to move a house from 1022 South avenue to 726 East Seventh street, stating that the work would obstruct the Netherwood trolley line for about one day. The matter was referred to the fire and building committee and later Mr. Mellick moved that the permission be granted, provided Mr. Hand would agree to move the house within six days and protect the city against any action or damages that might result from the work. The motion was adopted, Mr. Hand previously agreeing to the will of the members as expressed in it.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., informed the Council that he had paid a personal tax amounting to $15.81 twice, and asked that that amount be returned to him. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

E. M. French petitioned for four hydrants, one at George street and Leland avenue, another at George street and Summer avenue, a third at East Second street and Leland avenue and the fourth at East Second street and Summer avenue. The matter was referred to the fire committee.

At the request of Callahan and Chamberlain, who have the contract for extensions to the sewer in the East End, the Common Council granted an extension of time from September 28 to November 28 to complete the work. The contractors gave as their reason for asking for the additional time, that there is a scarcity of labor which has delayed them.

The Highland Park Realty Company, which is developing a section of the East End, petitioned for sidewalks and crosswalks near the property, it being understood that the property owners will pay for the improvements. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

A communication was received from the directors of the Jamestown Exposition asking that the city, through its Board of Trade, or some other public body, arrange to advertise the advantages of the municipality at the exposition. The matter was referred to the Public Affairs Committee.

Building Inspector Doane reported that twenty-eight permits were granted during September and thirty-one permits during August.

Clerk Horace G. Adams, of the district court, reported the receipts for the past month to be $126.48, and the disbursements $3546. The report was filed.

Mayor J. F. Buckle suggested that John G. Staats be appointed a regular member of the fire department, and upon Mr. Mellick's motion the appointment was confirmed.

Mr. Giana offered resolutions providing that $3,000 be borrowed for sewer improvements, the same to be secured by notes, and that in anticipation of collection of taxes $14,000 be borrowed for the fire department, and $3,400 for the poor fund. The resolutions were adopted.

On a motion offered by Mr. Mellick, George Cook was granted a permission to erect a concrete block building to be used for bowling on Elm street, near Ther's pond, to be used as a skating rink, providing the work is approved by the building inspector. The motion was adopted.

On motion offered by Mr. Hibbard an electric light was ordered placed on East Sixth street, between Richmond street and Scott avenue.

Mr. Gloak reported on several matters petitioned for at a previous meeting. Regarding the request for sewers on East Fourth street and the macadamizing of that street between Leland avenue and Terrill road, he stated that they would have to be laid over for the present as the city has not the funds to make the improvements. As to the macadamizing of Ravine road he said that would be provided for in the next ordinance for that kind of work. He also reported on the request to have cesspools treated with lar, stating that the use of Tarvia on East Front street is an experiment here and that a report would be received soon as to the advisability of its use. He suggested that the avenue be treated with a top coating first and this will probably be done.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution which was adopted providing for the usual notice to property owners who have failed to lay sidewalks when requested, and now the city will do the work and charge it up against the property.

A STEP TOWARD UNION VOTE TO VACATE STREET

Common Council Appoints Gilbert and Woodhull as Its Consolidation Commission.

OPPOSITION DEVELOPES

Councilmen Mellick, Tyler and Giana Object—L. B. Woolston Given Privileges of the Floor.

When Councilman Herbert Buxton, chairman of the committee on public affairs, moved that the recommendations of the report on the proposed consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield, drafted by the joint committee, composed of members of the Board of Trade and the two councils, be adopted at the October meeting of the Common Council, Monday, and that two commissioners be appointed to confer with similar commissioners from the other bodies, there was a spirited discussion pro and con. His motion finally prevailed and Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert and School Commissioner Floyd T. Woodhull were selected as the two commissioners to represent the city.

The above action was taken after a communication was received from Councilman Charles A. Lee, who is secretary of a committee appointed by the Borough Council, stating that that committee had appointed two commissioners, E. S. Hooley and Elston M. French, to take up the question of consolidation with others to be appointed from the Plainfield Council and the Board of Trade.

Councilman Mellick was the first one to speak on the question and he stated at the outset that while he is deeply interested in the proposed action of uniting the city and borough that he would vote against the motion offered by Mr. Buxton. In the first place he said that he thought the two places should not be consolidated without a change of the county lines and furthermore he was informed by one of the men named as commissioners from the borough that he had not been informed of his appointment and was not in favor of consolidation as proposed at present.

Mr. Mellick went on to say that he thought the question should be freely discussed, that North Plainfield should make all the overtures if a union is desired, and can be effected on an equal basis. He admitted that the proposition looked attractive but that financial questions of great importance are involved requiring mature consideration. He thought the people should know more about the matter and that the governing bodies should be thoroughly acquainted with the will of the people.

Mr. Buxton explained that it was not North Plainfield that brought up the question of consolidation, but the Board of Trade, then at the request of the board the Common Council and the borough each appointed committees to meet with a similar committee from the board, and the committee on public affairs was appointed to represent the city, while the Borough Council appointed a committee from among its members. Mr. Buxton expressed the opinion that Plainfield should not look to the borough until a commission is appointed to consider the question.

Mr. Tyler said that he would vote against the appointment of commissioners. He could not see what advantage there would be in the appointment of commissioners, until it could be shown what was to be gained by the consolidation as proposed now. He did not think it would be right to ask busy men to devote their time to a consideration of so important a question unless the details were in such shape as to be considered in a favorable light. He thought the present conditions unfortunate but that it would be unwise to appoint a commission just now.

Former Councilman L. B. Woolston, of the borough, who was in the lobby, asked for the privileges of the floor, and spoke earnestly in favor of the appointment of commissioners, adding that possibly the members did not realize how much time and effort had already been expended on the proposed consolidation.

Councilman Montgomery also urged the appointment of commissioners. He said that there are a sufficient number of public spirited citizens who are willing to give their time to the consideration of the subject and he believed that consolidation would be a good thing.

Mr. Buxton then moved that the resolution offered by him be adopted. Councilmen Tolles, Frank Randolph, Gloak, Buxton, Charles Randolph, Montgomery and Hibbard voted in favor of the resolution, while Councilmen Ginna, Mellick and Tyler voted in the negative.

Another resolution by Mr. Buxton providing that Alex Gilbert and Floyd T. Woodhull be appointed commissioners was unanimously adopted, and Clerk MacMurray was instructed to notify the appointees of the action taken.

An Indication.

Thingumbob—Well, I guess old Jigley is beginning to make his pile.

McJigger—What makes you think so?

Thingumbob—He's been going around lately bragging about how much happier a man is when he's poor.

A STEP TOWARD UNION VOTE TO VACATE STREET

Another Unopened Thoroughfare to be Abandoned By the City.

TYLER ALONE OBJECTS

